A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Part of the New Hotel at Jackson Collapses and Kills or Injures Five Men.

Saturday morning the news flew round the village that 12 men, some said 18 men, had been killed by the collapsing of the floors of the new Otsego hotel at Jackson.

Happily such was not the case, although the accident was a bad enough one after all. There were 18 men working on the floor of the building when it fell, five of whom went down with the cement floor and the mass of brick and mortar to the ground.

Henry Giltner, of Grass Lake, was killed outright, Patrick W. Coughlin, of Grand Rapids, was so badly injured that he may yet die, and three others received terrible injuries. The architect, Harrison Albright, of Charleston, W. Va., had pronounced the structure all right so far as it had gone just the day previous.

There are various theories as to the reason of the collapse. A full investigation is to be made at the inquest on the body of Henry Giltner, which began this morning. It is believed that the walls of the building that are left standing will have to come down as they have been weakened by the strain put upon them.

The section of wall that fell down was about 60 feet long.

THE PINKHAM CURES

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE STRIKE TO END.

Mine Operators and Railway Officials Agree to Arbitrate.

President Roosevelt Believes Terms Will Be Satisfactory, as They Cover Proposition Made by President Mitchell.

Washington, Oct. 14.—By authority of J. P. Morgan who, with his partner, Robert Bacon, and Secretary Root, were in conference with President Roosevelt at the temporary white house for an hour and a half Monday night, a statement was given out at an early hour this morning, by Secretary Cortelyou, in which the presidents of the coal carrying railroads and mine operators propose a commission of five persons to adjust the differences and settle the coal strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. The proposition is believed by the administration to be satisfactory to the miners as it covers the proposition made by President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers' union, with additional conditions which it is believed the miners will accept. The agreement is as follows:

The Agreement.
The operators have agreed to the appointment of a commission to be appointed by the president of the United States, to whom shall be referred all questions at issue between the companies and their own employees, whether they belong to a union or not, and the decision of the commission shall be accepted by the operators. The commission is to consist of an army or navy engineer officer; an expert mining engineer not connected with the coal mining properties; one of the judges of the United States courts of the eastern district of Pennsylvania; a man of prominence, eminent as a sociologist, and a man who by active participation in mining and selling coal is familiar with the physical and commercial features of the business. The operators also make a part of their proposition that the miners shall return to work as soon as the commission is constituted and cease all interference with nonunion men. The commission to name a date when its findings shall be effective and to govern conditions of employment between the companies and their own employees for at least three years.

Way Open for Settlement.
While no official statement was made at the white house after the operators' agreement was made public by Secretary Cortelyou, the opinion was expressed that the way is now open for a complete settlement of the strike and that the mines would soon be in operation once more.

Conference at White House.
The issuance of the statement followed a conference at the white house, which assembled very quickly after Mr. Morgan and his partner, Robert Bacon, had reached Washington on a flying trip from New York. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Bacon arrived in Washington about ten o'clock Monday night in a special car over the B. & O. railroad, and drove at once to the Arlington hotel. They met Secretary Root and the three gentlemen walked over to the white house and were shown at once to the president's room. They remained with the president until ten minutes of 12 o'clock, and then came downstairs.

Secretary Root Happy.
Secretary Root's face was beaming, and although he would say nothing as to the conference except that Mr. Cortelyou would give the press a statement later, he seemed so satisfied that those who saw him believed that good progress had been made toward a settlement of the great question which has been giving the administration so much concern. The three gentlemen on leaving the white house went to the Metropolitan club, where they remained in conversation until a late hour, while the president retired immediately to secure some needed rest.

Agreement Made in New York.
The proposition of the coal operators was a result of the visit of Secretary Root to New York and his conference with Mr. Morgan on Saturday. Mr. Morgan at that time expressed a keen interest in the situation and a desire to bring about an adjustment if possible. Following this talk with Secretary Root, there was a conference in New York Monday at which the proposition of the coal operators was agreed to, and Mr. Morgan was delegated to bring it to the president, in the belief that such would be the courteous course and the best way of promulgating the offer of settlement.

The next move will be the presentation of the matter to the miners and it is probable that President Mitchell will be invited to Washington to consult the president. It is believed here that he will at once accept the proposition.

Features of the Strike.
Strike declared.....May 12, 1902
Duration of strike.....153 days

GUESTS OF THE KING.

Americans Given a Lunch in Buckingham Palace—Warm Praise for President Roosevelt.

London, Oct. 14.—Ambassador Choate and Generals Corbin, Wood and Young were the guests of King Edward at a luncheon at Buckingham palace in honor of Lord Kitchener, prior to the latter's departure for India, where he is to take command of the British forces. Lord Roberts also was the guest of the king.

Gen. Corbin delivered to the king a message from President Roosevelt expressing the hope that King Edward would lend his assistance in creating interest in Great Britain in the St. Louis exposition. The king replied that he would answer the message personally in the same kindly spirit in which it was sent.

At the conclusion of a rather elaborate luncheon his majesty arose and proposed the health of President Roosevelt. The king spoke in most admiring terms of the president and expressed his delight at seeing such distinguished Americans present. Before any other toast could be proposed his majesty announced an adjournment to the smoking room, where he had a long talk with Gens. Corbin, Young and Wood and personally expressed to them his gladness to see them in England. "because," he said, "I feel we are not only friends, but relations."

The king asked many questions about the American army.

HAVE NO CLEW.

Detectives Are Prosecuting a Still Hunt for the Robbers Who Held Up a Burlington Train.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 14.—Detectives are prosecuting a still hunt for the robbers who held up a Burlington train near this city Saturday morning, pursuit across country having failed to develop a tangible clew. Several arrests have been made at several points in the eastern section of the state, but the prisoners in all instances were able to tell satisfactory stories and were released.

The theory that the bandits traveled hastily by a circuitous route and returned to this city, where they are in hiding, is accepted by the officials of the Burlington as the most plausible yet presented. The statement that the robbers secured booty to the value of $50,000 is pronounced absurd by both the railroad and the Adams Express company. Officials of the latter reiterated their previous utterances that the booty did not amount to as much as $1,500.

TORNADO CAUSES RUIN.

Several Houses and Other Buildings at Macon, Mo., Destroyed—People Are Homeless.

Macon, Mo., Oct. 14.—A disastrous windstorm visited Macon Sunday evening about 5:30 o'clock. Several houses and buildings were destroyed in the southeast portion of town. The devastated region was thinly populated or greater damage would have been done. Darkness settled down during a terrific rainstorm. The hillsides were dotted with the lanterns of the homeless householders. As far as can be ascertained no lives were lost. The telephone wires are down and no news can be had from suburban points.

The storm gathered northwest and seemed to be passing to the south, when it suddenly whirled to the northeast, passing through the southeast part of town.

Sixty Venezuelan Troops Drowned and Over a Hundred Killed in Battle—British Cruiser Arrives.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Oct. 14.—The troops of the Venezuelan government have been repulsed while attempting again to occupy Coro, capital of the state of Balcon, and sustained heavy losses. A schooner with 60 men on board was sunk.

An engagement was fought at Goya-bo, three hours from Caracas, and the government force was defeated, losing 112 men. The revolutionists have almost completely encircled Caracas.

The British cruiser Indefatigable arrived at La Guaira Sunday. Other British vessels are to follow. The United States gunboat Marietta has returned to La Guaira from Curacao.

Judge Killed.

Booneville, Ky., Oct. 14.—Judge Allan Hyden, of Owsley county, was killed from ambush near here as he rode to town to attend court. The assassins were hidden in a group of bushes on the roadside and as Judge Hyden approached they opened fire upon him. The assassins, who are believed to be political enemies, made their escape.

Will Stay in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 14.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt are not to return to Dyster Bay this fall. The great amount of important work and the approach of the session of congress will make it necessary for the president to remain here.

STEWART ELECTED CHIEF.

Pennsylvanian Is Selected as New Commander of G. A. R.—Encampment Closes.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Roosevelt Wednesday reviewed the Grand Army parade in his carriage. He was carried downstairs from his room on the second floor of the temporary white house in an invalid's chair at 11:10 o'clock, and, amid the cheers of a large crowd, was placed in the carriage, in which there was a board to support his injured leg. He was accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou and Col. Bingham, his military aid. His carriage was guarded by a platoon of mounted police, under command of Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police. As the carriage appeared on the avenue, the president was greeted with loud cheers. The president stopped at the reviewing stand for a moment until the marshals of the parade and Rawlins post of Minneapolis, the right of the line, had passed, and then drove down the avenue to the Peace monument at the foot of the capitol. The veterans faced the carriage as the president drove by and saluted him. There was continuous cheering from the crowds as the president drove along.

GEN. T. J. STEWART.
New Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The parade was the climax of the thirty-sixth encampment of the order. The occasion was in every way worthy of the grand army. More than five hours' time was consumed by the procession in passing the reviewing stand in front of the white house. There were at least 25,000 men in line, and the estimate of Commander in Chief Torrance ran as high as 30,000 men. At night the veterans held camp fires in the big tents in the White lot.

Gov. A. T. Bliss, of Michigan, was thrown from his horse near Washington circle during the parade and suffered several bruises about the body. He was treated at the Grand Army hospital and later removed to his hotel. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The greater part of the afternoon session of the grand army encampment was devoted to the election of national officers, the result being as follows: Commander-in-chief, Gen. Thomas J. Stewart, of Pennsylvania; vice commander-in-chief, William M. Olin, of Massachusetts; junior vice commander-in-chief, James M. Averill, of Georgia. The election of other officers went over until to-day.

The most interesting feature of the session was the report of the pension committee of the G. A. R. This committee severely scored the medical division of the pension bureau, declaring that it was a dead line where were executed the claims of veterans seeking pensions. It accused the personnel of this division of approaching the reports of the examining surgeons throughout the country with suspicion and distrust and as made in bad faith. It denounced the reports that extensive frauds were practiced in pension claims as absolutely baseless.

The report of Adj. Gen. Silas H. Towler, of Minneapolis, shows that on the 30th of June last, the muster roll of the grand army contained 263,745 names of members in good standing and that there were 6,511 posts. The figures as to membership show a net loss since the preceding year of 5,804. The adjutant general says that the high-water mark of membership was attained in 1890, when it numbered 409,489 and that there has been a gradual decline since that date.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for 1902 came to a close Friday, although a few social gatherings may assemble to-day. San Francisco was chosen as the next place of meeting and the election of officers begun Thursday, was completed. Resolutions were adopted by the encampment having in view liberal treatment of veterans in the matter of public office and pensions. The kindred bodies to the parent organization also brought their several conventions to a close, the Sons of Veterans, Women's Relief Corps and other bodies choosing officers for the ensuing year.

TRADE REVIEW.

Indications Continue Favorable in Spite of Numerous Adverse Factors.

New York, Oct. 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Favorable symptoms still predominate, and the business outlook is encouraging despite the adverse factors of labor controversies, fuel shortage and tight money. That these drawbacks have not seriously checked industrial progress testifies to the strong position attained during recent months of uninterrupted activity and growing confidence. Manufacturing plants dependent upon steam for motive power are finding profits curtailed by the high prices for fuel, and, unless normal conditions are soon restored, it will be necessary to secure better quotations for products. The problem of adequate transportation is also disturbing, as there is already congestion in the coke region. When anthracite coal mining is fully resumed and grain shipments attain expected dimensions, the railroads will find great difficulty in meeting all requirements, despite vigorous efforts to increase facilities.

"Failures for the week numbered 245 in the United States, against 231 last year, and 21 in Canada, compared with 34 a year ago."

LYNCHED.

A Mob at Newbern, Tenn., Hang to a Telegraph Pole Two Alleged Murderers.

Newbern, Tenn., Oct. 9.—Garfield Burley and Curtis Brown, negroes, were lynched here Wednesday night by a mob of 500 persons. Burley on Saturday last shot and killed D. Platt, a well-known young farmer near Dyersburg. A posse had been hunting the murderer, and located him in a negro cabin at Huffman, Ark. While being brought to Dyersburg Burley confessed to the killing, implicating Curtis Brown as an accomplice. Both men were lodged in Dyersburg Wednesday. A mob soon appeared and forcibly took possession of the prisoners. The two men were taken to a telegraph pole, where they were securely tied, face to face. At a given word they were strung up.

ANGER WAS DEADLY.

Enraged School Teacher Shoots Three Trustees, Three Scholars and Commits Suicide.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—A dispatch from Grand Forks, N. D., says: A school teacher at Watertown, N. D., a town near the Canadian border, on Thursday shot three pupils, three school trustees, and then committed suicide. The teacher had been having trouble with the trustees, who visited the school for the purpose of a conference with him. A quarrel ensued, and in his rage the teacher drew a revolver and began shooting indiscriminately, with the awful result as stated.

REVIEW OF TROOPS AT WASHINGTON AT CLOSE OF CIVIL WAR.

The parade of the G. A. R. veterans at their annual encampment at Washington recalls the review of the federal troops in the same city at the close of the civil war, a picture of which is here reproduced, when over 250,000 soldiers, fresh from the fields of victory, passed before the president. Wednesday the spectacle of 37 years ago was repeated, but instead of the firm step of young manhood the halting tread of age was very evident. It was estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 veterans marched in the parade.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

"We shall recommend to the next legislature," says Chairman Horatio S. Earl, of the state highway commission, "that the office of state highway engineer be created with an annual appropriation of $10,000—$2,500 for salary and $7,500 for expenses. He is at the head of the Ellis Publishing company, the Phelps Sanitarium, the Malta Vita Food company and many other manufacturing institutions.

Convicted of Bigamy.

Joseph N. Reynolds was convicted of bigamy by a jury in Detroit. As a result of the jury's finding wife No. 3, who was formerly Della M. Frost, of Chicago, is held to be Reynolds' legal wife, the jury evidently placing no credence in his protestations that the Buffalo woman was his common law wife. Wife No. 4, Ella M. King, of Detroit, was in court when the jury came in, but made no manifestation of approval or disapproval at the finding.

Confessed His Guilt.

The body of Julia Kachiney, aged 10, who mysteriously disappeared from Menominee, was found buried under the rear steps of the blacksmith shop of Joseph Beck. Physicians discovered evidences of strangulation. Beck was arrested, and confessed that he murdered the little girl, and said he had no accomplice. The fact of the confession was withheld by the officials for fear citizens would attempt to lynch the prisoner.

Health in Michigan.

Consumption was reported at 221 places, measles at 19, typhoid fever at 100, whooping cough at 16, scarlet fever at 72 and smallpox at 16 places.

Thrown from His Horse.

Gov. Bliss was thrown from his horse in the grand army parade in Washington, and suffered several bruises about the body. He was treated at the Grand Army hospital and later removed to his hotel. His injuries were not regarded as serious. The horse became frightened and made a bolt, which unseated the governor.

Advice to Hunters.

TWO PLANS PROPOSED

To Supply Ann Arbor's Poor and Improvident With Fuel.

Mayor Copeland has called a meeting of the Ann Arbor common council to take action on the coal situation. A suggestion has been made by Col. Henry S. Dean that the city borrow a sum not to exceed $20,000, purchase timbered land near the city or on the line of a railroad and go into the wood cutting and hauling business. The wood to be sold to the poor people at cost price.

In regard to this proposition William Judson has this to say: "I will buy $10,000 or $20,000 worth of wood, deliver it here, and sell it to the poor and improvident at actual cost, and I will give bonds, if asked for, to the extent of $100,000 that this will be done."

"There is no need of bonding the city or any special election. I mean business, and if any proposition is agreed to I will go to work at once and perform the work. I can buy the wood as cheap as any man in Michigan, and will pay net cash for all the wood I buy."

The Epworth League social was a grand success. The League cleared over $35. We beg to inform the editor that the crowd did not entirely eat us out, as, after going out and begging what the ladies had prepared for breakfast, there was one chicken pie and one biscuit left. [Our correspondent refers to the item in last week's Herald about this social, in which it was stated that the social was so largely attended "the ladies were about cleaned out of provisions."—Ed]

WE look to London as a rule only for models of tailormades, and even for these we are turning our attention more and more to Paris, or to our own American designers. But London still provides us with some of our more elaborate toilettes, and there is one costumer in New York who makes it a point to import a number of London models each season. In speaking of this fact to him a few days ago, he said he found it paid him for two reasons. First, because London designers really produced some excellent examples of fashionable modes which were in no way copies of those from Paris. Second, because there were a certain percentage of Americans who courted the favor of the English nobility, and with this element of our society folk English designed gowns were popular.

Among the models which he is showing this fall are three or four taken from the gowns of Miss Ellis Jeffreys and Miss Marie Tempest, who are just now the favorites of the English theater-going public, winning a remarkable success in "The Marriage of Kitty."

crepe de chine with ivory-tinted guipure lace deftly manipulated into bolero form on the tucked and pouched bodice and threaded through with a scarf of filmy black lace, which is drawn into a long-ended bow in front. The sleeves, too, can boast of the decorative presence of other scarves and bows of black lace, and at the back of the bodice the jaunty little coat tails show the effective contrast of black lace medallions applique on the white lace, while above them cabochon centers of jet gleam out from the flower-like rosettes of white satin, finishing off the waistband. The skirt, whose tucks follow faithfully the graceful curves of the figure, has an applique of guipure in a design of clusters of grapes to trim the flounce.

Soft white chiffon and lovely yellowish lace combine to produce the altogether novel effect in another which you can study in the illustration, noting how cunningly the lace is introduced to form a curved corslet on the bodice, and then continued as a panel on the front of the skirt, and at the back to sweep out into long sash ends, over the deeply vandyked points of the plisse chiffon with their applique edging of lace.

ATTRACTIVE NOVELTY COATS for LATE FALL

EVERY style of woman may be suited with the season's wraps, so great is the variety offered from which to select. The modes in wraps are but in keeping with the modes in every other kind of garment in that they show a lavish disregard for economy. Dame Fashion seems not to care whether the price of bread, meat and coal are high or no. She takes her cue from the general prosperity and arranges our fashions for us in such manner that we must part with a full proportion of our dollars for clothes if we are to be in style, without which we had better be dead.

In many kinds of material, and especially white cloth and cloth of light tints the three-quarter coat is a leading style and one which will no doubt become very popular both for day and evening wear. It is a most useful garment, since it can be worn with any gown, and in white cloth decorated with embroidery, pendant ornaments down the front and a deep cape collar of heavy lace, it is perfection as an evening wrap.

One very elegant model shown in the illustration is of white cloth embroidered all over with grapes and vine pattern, the former, in large bunches, made of white taffeta silk stuffed into the shape of the fruit. A cape collar of embroidery and lace is the finish.

Pretty for young women are the shorter loose coats ending at the hip line, and made of silk, cloth and velvet. Double and triple collars are a feature of the coats, both on long and short, and pipings of silk are sometimes the finish.

As for long coats, their name is legion, since there is no limit to the variety. They are made loose like the shorter ones, with plaits and abundant fullness, or half fitted to the figure, if you like. Others seem to have been cut circular in shape and set into yoke at shoulder line.

In dark cloths for traveling use these coats are something on the order of a Newmarket, slashed up high at the back and sides to give opportunity for holding up the gown underneath. The finish is a stitched band, triple collars and a cord and tassels ornamentation at the front.

RECOGNIZED RESEMBLANCE.

Father of Smart Young Man Had Good Reason to Doubt His Own Judgment.

Not long ago a youth residing in the city of churches had adopted the pompadour method of combing his hair, and his father didn't like it. The latter had an idea that there was only one sensible and manly way to comb the hair, and that was to part it on the side—either side. Everything else was dudish and affected, in his opinion. Only a woman was privileged to take liberties with old established methods, relates the Chicago Chronicle.

"Young man," he said, as he looked the youth over, "you look like a fool."

There was no discussion, and shortly thereafter an old friend of the family came in.

"It's startling," he said, by way of pleasant comment, "how much you resemble your father."

"So he's just been telling me," answered the youth.

The old gentleman looked hard at his son for a moment.

"Well," he conceded at last, "I guess your brain hasn't been affected by your fool notions of hairdressing as yet."

BOOKS ON ECONOMICS AND THE PEOPLE WHO WRITE THEM

Elisha Morgan, the slender, gray-haired active president of the writing paper trust, would never have tried the experiment in economics that recently landed his son, Daniel Harris Morgan, in a Boston police cell. The young man and a friend, disguised as tramps, started from their home in Springfield, Mass., and beat their way to Saratoga, and from there across to Boston, where they were promptly arrested and had some difficulty in convincing the authorities that they had "visible means of support."

"Boston is a hard place for strangers, especially tramps. I have a friend who went there recently for the first time. Being seedy from journeying, he beckoned to a boot-black and was amazed to find himself presently the center of a crowd, with a policeman arresting the boot-black for having no license. Next my western friend bought some bananas and began to eat one, dropping the peeling in the gutter, which is still New York fashion, by the way. "Here," said another man in blue, running up, "pick up that banana peel and go put it in that box across the street, or I'll run you in!" My friend obeyed—and took the first train for New York half an hour later.

Springfield has been for some years famous as a center for amateur sociologists. It was there that Franklin Giddings, while managing editor of the Springfield Union, began the social studies that brought him to Columbia university as professor of sociology.

Business men of the former generation would never have taken so much trouble to find out "how the other half lives." A good many of them knew from experience in their "shirt-sleeves days."

Romance in Old Clothes.

I suppose Wyckoff, "Flynt" and Riis are the three best authorities upon that "other half" at present. Their stories are different.

Wyckoff, a man of independent wealth and old family, was a theological student in Princeton when the wander-fever took him. Curiously enough, it was from the country house of J. Pierpont Morgan that he set out upon his trip across the continent, working his way in many trades.

Mr. Wyckoff is now a professor in Princeton. I doubt if, with all his experience in hard toil in the McCormick works in Chicago, on farms and in lumber camps, he really understands workingmen as well as others who have never taken all that trouble. His attitude toward them is that of an outsider.

It's different with Riis. He came to this country an immigrant from Denmark, and for years fought with a desperate battle. Since he won out by getting work as a police reporter, he has never once put on a disguise or undertaken to work with his hands among workmen. He hasn't needed to. He knows them.

President Roosevelt once called Mr. Riis "the most useful man in New York." His record almost justifies the praise. Yet he never held office. It has been his unique experience to furnish the promptings and inspirations from which other men work. It was Riis who advised Roosevelt, when police commissioner of New York, to abolish the iniquitous police lodging houses that disgraced the city. It was he who caused the cleaning of the water supply of New York, the sweeping away of the old rookeries of Mulberry bend and the opening of Mulberry park; he who led in establishing small parks and playgrounds, in opening neighborhood houses and boys' clubs.

By the way, Mr. Riis is a police reporter no longer. It is only a year ago that the most famous investigator of the problems of poverty in modern cities began to receive enough from his books and lectures to support him and his family in their little country home in Richmond Hill. It is no secret that Mr. Roosevelt offered him a public office, which he refused.

"Josiah Flynt" has studied another problem in vulgar fractions—not how the "other half," but the "other five percent." His topic is the tramp; for study he is a tramp himself.

When the Police "Wanted Flynt."

"Flynt's" real name is Josiah Flynt Willard; he is a nephew of the late president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, Frances Willard. He has tramped and stolen rides on freight cars in nearly every state of the union and in most of the larger European countries. Even in Russia and Germany, which have the name of being severe with tramps, Mr. Flynt has ventured in rags. He has often been nearer arrest than he was when, rather more than a year ago, he published in a magazine an account of the corrupt collusion of New York detectives with thieves—a now admitted though of course not common abuse.

That was in Tammany days. Devery was chief of police. At once went up a cry that Devery was going to have "Flynt" arrested and punished for his libels. For a week or so—and that is long for a sensation to last in New York—newspaper men would goad Devery to rage by asking: "Have you caught Flynt yet?" Then they would go uptown to dine with Flynt, who was perfectly well-known to most of them and who happened to be in New York at the time, in a Bohemian restaurant. Riis and Wyckoff are serious men. "Flynt" is "one of the boys," and, I fancy, rather likes vagabondage, with such an excellent excuse.

Passing of the Old Hotels.

The United States hotel and the Stevens house are so old that you can't expect a New Yorker to remember much about them. They've simply "a ways been there" and are being torn down.

Sharing the fate of the Metropolitan and the St. Nicholas, which were for years before the war favorite staying places of southerners in New York; of the Colonnade, whose famous Greek pillars supporting its portico were so beautiful that art lovers tried to have them set up elsewhere when the old place went down in dust; of the Brunswick, which was as fashionable as the Waldorf-Astoria is now until "Billy" McGlory ruined it by giving there a complimentary dance to the patrons of his dance hall; of the St. James and the St. Cloud, where the steam drills are making bigger holes in the ground for new buildings.

The old Brevoort has now received its death sentence. For years it was one of the most prosperous, quiet places in New York, a favorite resort of traveling Britons. With it goes crumbling into the dust the Hotel Martin, next door, which has a history. It was founded by Mme. Larue as a French table d'hôte place. An Irish-American named Martin, whose name was ever afterward called "Martang," after the French manner, bought out Mme Larue and conducted the place for a time. It was the favorite hotel for French people while in this country. When Delmonico moved uptown Mr. Martin moved into the old Delmonico stand and began the most successful of the newer restaurants in New York. Meanwhile the old place struggled along a little longer as the Hotel Lafayette. But the building boom has got it at last. It is eight stories high; but that isn't enough. It must go.

More famous than Billy McGlory's dinner in the Brunswick was Martin's farewell in the old place. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good.

The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good.

The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good. The dinner was, as usual, very good.

nue is different. People who go to restaurants there want them decorous. They know where to go for the riotous kind when they feel so inclined.

Murphy and His Associates.

Much of the talk upon the republican side in New York is about the attitude Brooklyn will take in the campaign in consequence of the turning down of "Tim" Woodruff.

Rise of a Tammany Statesman.

On the democratic side the gossip is mainly about the new boss of Tammany, Murphy comes from the famous "gas-house district," the seat and source of Croker's rise in politics. And Murphy rose as Croker did, by force of physique proven in many a hot fist fight. Made a leader in a small way by his fists, Murphy went on like Croker to become the leader of his district. Then he won commendations by emulating Croker's silence. For Croker was successful until he began talking. Murphy doesn't intend to talk. He is but little past 40, less convivial than Croker, taller, slender in build, more typically Irish in face, smooth-shaven, impassive and generous in money matters—in spite of which he has accumulated considerable wealth. Herein he is unlike Croker who, when he became leader of Tammany, was a poor man. He's rich enough now, is Croker, though the only public office he held as leader was that of city chamberlain.

Murphy has been a dock commissioner, and in that office "stood for" some doings which are now of the past, but are returning to trouble him in the campaign. However, he's respectable by comparison with "Big Tim" Sullivan, his chief supporter, or with "Ice-man" Carroll, his chief opponent. His money, of which there is said to be more than a half million, was made in the liquor business, in which he was actively engaged up to two years ago.

Some of the people up in Saratoga didn't like the liquor dealing aspect of the "Boss." But it might be so much worse! OWEN LANGDON.

SOME QUEER PEOPLE.

Inhabitants of Different Parts of the Globe Who Are Unknown to the Rest of Humanity.

If a person were confined to one textbook, the best one to choose would be a dictionary, since it gives an inkling of every art, science or profession known to mankind. A study of the dictionary is always interesting and instructive, and a simple turning of its pages will acquaint us with many things of which we have never previously heard. Notice what a fund of information is contained in the following definitions:

Amphiscians are the people who inhabit the tropics, whose shadows in one part of the year are cast to the north and in the other to the south, according as the sun is north or south of their zenith.

The Antiscians are the inhabitants of the earth living on different sides of the equator, whose shadows at noon are cast in contrary directions. Those living north of the equator are antiscians to those living south of that line, and vice versa. The shadows on one side are cast down toward the north and upon the other toward the south.

The Ascians are the people who live in a land where, at a certain time of each year, they have no shadows at noon. All the inhabitants of the torrid zone are Ascians, they having a vertical sun twice a year.

The Periscians are the inhabitants of the polar circle, whose shadows, during some portion of the summer, must in the course of the day move entirely around and fall toward every point of the compass.

SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS

With Catarrhal Derangements of the Pelvic Organs.

Miss Kate Brown.

Miss Kate Brown, Recording Secretary of the L. C. B. Association of Kansas, in a letter from 605 N. Seventh st., Kansas City, Kan., says:

"For seven years I have not known what it was to spend a well day. I caught a severe cold which I neglected. It was at the time of menstruation and inflammation set in and prostrated me. Catarrh of the kidneys and bladder followed, my digestive organs gave way, in fact the cold disarranged my whole system."

"I spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and medicine, but derived but little benefit until I began treatment with Peruna. I kept taking it for nearly nine months before I was completely cured, but I kept growing better gradually so that I felt encouraged to continue taking Peruna until my health was restored. I send my thanks and blessings to you for Peruna."—Miss Kate Brown.

Hundreds of Dollars Spent In Vain—Peruna Cured.

A neglected cold is frequently the cause of death. It is more often, however, the cause of some chronic disease.

There is not an organ in the body but what is liable to become seriously deranged by a neglected cold. Diseases of the kidneys, bladder and digestive organs are all frequently the result of a neglected cold.

Hundreds of dollars are spent on doctors and medicines trying to cure these diseases, but until the true cause of them is discovered, there will be no use in using medicine.

Dyspepsia medicine, diarrhea medicine and constipation medicine is of no good whatever when catarrh is the cause. The catarrh must be treated. The cause being removed, the derangements will disappear.

Peruna cures catarrh of the digestive organs, the urinary organs or any of the internal organs.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

TAG ENDS OF THINGS.

Trial by jury in Britain dates from the reign of Ethelred I., 866-871 A. D.

Factory girls in Leeds, England, go to work fashionably attired, numbers of them on cycles.

Only five outbreaks of yellow fever in English ports are known to have occurred in the last century.

The records of the Great Bank of Newfoundland show that the cod leave there entirely two months every year, December and January.

Of 93 emperors who have governed the whole or a large part of the Roman empire 62 were murdered or died under suspicious circumstances.

The island of Newfoundland—a territory as large as the state of New York—has only about 250,000 inhabitants, and these are sprinkled along the coast line.

Mackerel are notable as migrants. They appear on the middle Atlantic coast in the spring in poor condition, but they work their way north with the sun, feeding and improving as they move.

Modern science is making itself felt in Persia. A traveler from that country reports that prisoners arrested for offenses against the state are branded by means of acids imported for that purpose.

Recovered.

Mrs. Newife—Why, you're the man I gave a pie to last week.

Wear—Yes'm; I thought I'd come around and relieve your mind, showin' up perfectly healthy agin.—Chicago American.

HELEN MOON'S CASE.

New Providence, Ia., Oct. 13th.—The wonderful case of little three year old Helen Moon continues to be the talk of the neighborhood and everyone is rejoicing with Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Moon, the happy father and mother.

It will be remembered that this sweet little girl was given up by the doctors with Dropsy. She was so far gone that her eyes were closed up and her body bloated till it was purple.

After everything else had failed Dodd's Kidney Pills were used and to the joy and surprise of everyone she commenced to improve.

This improvement resulted in complete good health and she continues to keep strong and well without the slightest symptom of the Dropsy left.

The doctors are as much bewildered as anyone at the wonderful cure of this desperate case.

GLITTERING TRIFLES.

The pearl is the only precious stone that can be skinned. To skin it is often the only way to restore its milky color.

One of the prettiest of hair ornaments is a lily, with leaves made of shimmering silver sequins. This is fastened in the pompadour and is very effective.

Coral is the fad of the hour and coral lorgnette chains are being worn. They can be found in the uncut coral or in coral beads of varying size that range in color from the palest pink to dark red.

Among all the dazzling array of bead, pearl, coral and jet chains are those of gold and platinum, which are to be much worn. The prettiest ones are made like a serpent's scales and end in a serpent's head, with ruby or diamond eyes.

Valuables.

"Don't you think we had better get a safety deposit box for our valuables?" asked the prudent Mrs. Bliggins.

"What's the use? They don't make any safety deposit boxes big enough to hold a ton of coal."—Washington Star.

Almost Gratifying Revelation.

The talking machines using flat records which were sold, in past years, in competition with the graphophones using cylindrical records were famous for their scratch and numerous other disagreeable features. But the advantage of flat indestructible records, if they could be made acceptable in quality, were long since recognized and in the hands of the Columbia Phonograph Company, pioneers and leaders in the talking machine art, this type has been perfected and the records so greatly improved that they are now a most gratifying revelation. The supply of these goods has been unequal to the demand but plans are now perfected to produce them in unlimited quantities and orders will be promptly filled.

The Disc Graphophone is made in three types, selling at $15, $20 and $30. Seven inch records 50c each, $5 per dozen; 10 inch records $1 each, $10 per dozen. The Graphophone and Columbia Records were awarded the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition of 1900.

The Columbia Phonograph Co., 238-240 Woodward avenue, Detroit, headquarters for graphophones and talking machine supplies of every kind, will send you catalogues on application.

On the People's Popular Course.

It would be a mistake to suppose that only the colleges and labor unions are deeply interested in Mr. Debs' economic discussions. No class of people are more keenly awake to the fact that his subject is the question of the hour than the business and professional people. Literary clubs are also interested. When he visited New York city in March he spoke before the Nineteenth Century Club, founded by the millionaire Cortland Palmer, and the richest club of its kind in America. The club holds its sessions at Delmonico's and we may be sure that in the midst of all the luxuries gold could command Mr. Debs drew some word pictures that must have stood out from such a setting like living flame. But he never uselessly offends and we may be equally sure that he touched the vulnerable spot in his listeners in a way that left an impression for life. People's Popular Course, Chelsea.

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kas., Oct. 28, 1901. The American Lyceum Union:

GENTLEMEN:—The Wesleyan Quartette were so far beyond what we expected and anything we ever had before that the people say the other numbers cannot possibly be as good. Every one is enthusiastic in praising the entertainment. The only criticism is that the boys did not keep it up all night.

Congressman Charles B. Landis, of Indiana, is about the brightest of the men who have recently entered the House. Of all the new men in Congress he is the only one who has made a record for oratory of the kind that tells. He did not jump in at the beginning of his first term, in order to catch the attention of the House, but he bided his time till something came up in which he was really interested and concerning which he knew he had something to say. Then he glided into the debate and captured everybody—Boston Sunday Journal. People's Popular Course, Chelsea. Season tickets $1.00.

Dexter vs. Lima.

A good game of baseball was played Oct. 12 between the Dexter and Lima nines at the cement factory grounds near Four Mile Lake. Had the game been errorless the score would have been 3 to 3 at the end of the ninth inning, but Lima allowed Dexter to score seven runs in the sixth and eighth innings on errors. The following was the score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Dexter, Loeffler and Clark; Lima, Stocking and Strieter. Earned runs—Lima 3, Dexter 8. Struck out—By Loeffler 9, by Stocking 14. Bases on balls Off Loeffler 6, off Stocking 2. Umpires—Alexander and Murray. Time of game—1 hour and 40 minutes. Attendance—240.
