A ROUSING MEETING.

The Townsend Meeting Last Evening Was an Enthusiastic One.

The Republican meeting held at the town hall last evening was so largely attended that the audience could not all get inside. A great many came in on the electric cars and with teams to hear what Congressman Smith's successor would have to say. F. P. Glazier, candidate for senator from this district, was chairman of the meeting.

The speakers were Charles E. Townsend, Rev. O. O. Reilly, and Fred B. Green, chairman of the county committee.

Mr. Townsend's speech was a fine piece of oratory and argument and was most favorably listened to by his hearers.

During the evening vocal music was given by James E. Harkins, of Ann Arbor, and the Aeolian Quartette, of Ypsilanti.

SOMETHING ABOUT BEES.

A Correspondent Claims Bee Stings Are a Cure for Rheumatism.

In a short communication a few weeks ago I promised at some future time if I got the pointers I would write more of my experience with bees this summer.

Well, I began this spring with nine swarms in all kinds of hives from a double door, glass front, to a Larkins soap box. They were wintered in an open shed, open to the east, and filled between with dry rye straw. During May, June and July they increased to 24 swarms. I used the Bowdish hive for new swarms. Some of the old swarms have made three supers of honey and swarmed three times. The new early swarms have given two supers and swarmed twice, so that now I would have quite a large apiary if I had always been at home, to have them when swarming. The harvest of dark honey has been very light as the wet weather and early frosts hindered the bees working, shut off the flow of honey, and discouraged the workers so that they became indolent and allowed the moths to get into the hives and turn them out of house and home.

I have found four swarms ruined by this greatest of all bee enemies. Anyone who can discover a remedy for moths will be a great benefactor to the bee-keepers of this moist climate, as they put in their destructive work when the weather is damp and cloudy.

When I commenced keeping bees I had rheumatism very bad, and had for years suffered with it. Although not entirely cured I am a good deal better. Other beekeepers claim to have been entirely cured by the stings of the bees. Don't scowl! Why it's easy to take what the little doctor gives you gratis with his hypodermic syringe. I have taken several big doses this season, besides now and then a pointer.

What Theodore Roosevelt Says.

An article on "The Presidency," by Theodore Roosevelt, to be published in the November 6th issue of the Youth's Companion, will be of great public interest. When the article was written Mr. Roosevelt had not even been nominated for the vice presidency.

Nothing was then further from his thought than that he would so soon exercise the great powers which are entrusted to the president of the United States.

In view of the circumstances the article possesses an importance more than ordinary, and it will be eagerly looked for.

The number of the Youth's Companion containing it, and all the subsequent issues of 1902, will be sent free to new subscribers from the time their subscription of $1.25 is received for the 1903 volume. The new subscriber will also receive the Companion Calendar for 1903, lithographed in twelve colors and gold. Full illustrated announcement of the new volume and sample copies of the Companion will be sent to any address free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith, of Davis, Ky., "is Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from throat and lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and Glazier & Stinson guarantee satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes, 50c and $1.

THE DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Good Speeches Made by the Gentlemen Who Were Present.

The Democratic rally at the town hall, Tuesday evening, was attended by a fair sized audience. Jas. S. Gorman was chairman of the evening and introduced J. F. Bible, of Ionia, candidate for lieutenant governor, D. A. Hammond, of Ann Arbor, candidate for auditor general, and Col. John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti, candidate for representative from this district. All three gentlemen made speeches that were attentively listened to, with favor by many of the audience and with doubts by others.

Gen. Fred B. Wood, the candidate for congress from this district, was unable to be present, much to the regret of the audience.

More Tuneful Than Ever.

Here and there is a graphophone or other talking machine that is out of commission for the reason that the supply of records is worn out or broken. Now is the time to make your neglected machine more tuneful and entertaining than ever. The new High Speed Moulded Records made by the Columbia Phonograph Company, the pioneers and leaders in the talking machine art, are far superior to all other small records ever produced. They are loud and full, devoid of the metallic harshness that formerly offended the ear, and notable for their sweetness, naturalness, and every other quality that is desirable in records. They fit any and all machines using small records and they are nothing short of a revelation. Try them and judge for yourself. 50 cents each, $5 per dozen. Write for catalogue. Ask about the new reproducer. The Graphophone and Columbia Records were awarded the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition of 1900.

The Columbia Phonograph Co., 238-240 Woodward avenue, Detroit, headquarters for graphophones and talking machine supplies of every kind, will send you catalogues on application.

A Successful Social.

The Junior Star supper and entertainment at the opera house Friday evening was a well attended and successful affair. The supper was excellent and was well served, everybody being well waited on by the attentive boys. An auction sale of different articles that had been given the boys followed, after which came the entertainment. Miss Ethel Bacon, Floyd Ward and T. S. Hughes sang pretty solos which were warmly applauded, then the comedienne "A Bunch of Roses," was put on with the Misses Mabel and Edith Bacon, Mabel McGuinness and Ethel Cole, Messrs. Floyd Ward, Henry Mullen, Ralph and Oren Thacher in the cast. The play was well given, each one taking their part in good style. The net proceeds were $40.

The Junior Stars return their sincere thanks to all those who so kindly helped them to make the entertainment such a success.

Got After the Officers' Bills.

At the Thursday session of the board of supervisors, on motion of W. D. Harriman it was unanimously resolved "That after Jan. 1, 1903, the county of Washtenaw will pay no bills of constables or deputy sheriffs for searching for lost or stolen property, unless such property is secured, or a written order for such search is issued from the prosecuting attorney."

The total amount of personal assessed by the supervisors in 1892 is $7,993,592, and the total amount of the real estate assessment is $26,862,999, making the total assessed valuation of the county $34,776,581. The board decided to equalize the county on the basis of the assessed valuation, the same as has been done in the past two years.

The board adjourned Friday to meet the first Monday in January, 1903.

On the Verge of Bright's Disease.—A Quick Cure that Lasted.

CASE NO. 30,611.—C. E. Boies, dealer in grain and feed, 505 South Water Street, Akron, O., made the following statement in 1896, he said: "Ever since the Civil War I have had attacks of kidney and bladder troubles, decidedly worse during the last two or three years. Although I consulted physicians, some of whom told me I was verging on Bright's disease, and I was continually using standard remedies, the excruciating aching just across the kidneys, which radiated to the shoulder blades, still existed. As might be expected when my kidneys were in a disturbed condition, there was a distressing and inconvenient difficulty with the action of the kidney secretions. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Lamparter & Co.'s drug store, brought such a decided change within a week that I continued the treatment. The last attack, and it was particularly aggravated, disappeared."

Three Years After.

Mr. Boies says in 1899: "In the spring of 1896 I made a public statement of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy cured me of a terrible aching in the kidneys, in the small of my back, in the muscles of the shoulder blades, and in the limbs. During the years that have gone by I can conscientiously say there have been no recurrences of my old trouble. My confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills is stronger than ever, not only from my personal experience but from the experience of many others in Akron which have come to my notice."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Boies will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

Coal to the amount of 1,119,000,000 tons was exported from England to Hamburg last year.

Canada's annual consumption of anthracite coal from Pennsylvania has been 3,000,000 tons.

Exports of dried apricots were, for the first time, stated separately from other "green, ripe or dried" fruits in the reports of the treasury department for the fiscal year 1901-2. They are given at 1,928,367 pounds, valued at $178,143.

Imports of coffee into the United States have almost doubled within the past ten years, having increased from 563,469,668 pounds in 1892-3 to 1,091,004,252 pounds in 1901-2. Imports of tea, on the other hand, have declined during the same period from $9,061,287 to 75,579,125 pounds.

There were exported from the United States in the fiscal year 1901-2 horses to the number of 103,200 head, valued at $2,692,298. These were the heaviest shipments ever made from this country and exceeded the previous high record in 1900-01 by 20,770 head. Almost 60 per cent. of the 1901-02 exports were consigned to South Africa.

Imports of bananas into the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902, exceeded all previous records and amounted in value to $7,307,437, an increase of $757,251 over the previous year. The principal increase was in shipments from the British West Indies, the trade with Central America increasing only three per cent., and that of Cuba 11 per cent. over the previous year.

Felt and Fur Toques for Winter

FELT and fur are combined in many of the early winter hats that are now being seen, and the combination is at all times a charming one. Any number of attractive shapes may be found in the felt models for winter wear, and among these is what may be called the Tam-o'-Shanter toques, which are made piquantly pretty by the presence of a bandeau which tilts them up in front and gives full effect to the presence of a soft drapery of soft silk through which are thrust two curving quills.

A soft gray-green Tam-o'-Shanter, for instance, will be contrasted with pale turquoise blue silk, and tawny brown quills; another is a study in scarlet with a relieving touch of white in the pattern of the soft silk; while again a nut-brown with trimmings of forget-me-not blue is quite charming.

One model which is likely, I think, to be specially popular, represents one of the leading and most becoming shapes for the coming season, the outer folds of soft white zibeline felt, giving place towards the center to vivid emerald green velvet, so arranged as to suggest a crown, though it is not raised at all above the level of the brim, while then the two effectively contrasted fabrics are draped low down at the back, and finished off with graceful scarf-like ends. Of course this toque can be obtained in any other desired colorings that are in vogue this season.

A decidedly piquant little hat displays the fashionable union of blue and green, the dark but bright blue of the felt being flecked with a green, which is repeated in the velvet drawn round the crown, and forming two ear shaped loops at the back, divided by a long slide of shining paste, while then the plumage of the bird poised so jauntily at the left side, shades from blue to green.

One of the notable novelties has a crown of cream cloth, while the up-turned brim is of fawn chenille, interplaited with white, this quaint and pretty fabric being caught together over the white cloth at the back by interlacings of gold and steel, and finally finishing off towards the left side in a quaintly knotted bow. Quite a new effect this, while for a finishing touch there is a bird of many hued plumage poised on the crown, its dominant tawny tint merging into purple and green and black.

One model I have seen is a smart little hat of hairy white felt, with two long and beautifully marked quills curving right across the front, while, at either side, comes a chou of turquoise tinted satin, with a striped bordering of black, this pretty ribbon being looped together at the back, so that it droops over the hair in the graceful manner demanded by fashion.

Elaborate Winter Coat Models

Coats for the winter season are showing an elaborateness that has seldom been equaled, and the new models are destined to be unusually popular because of this elaborateness coming, as they do, at a time when the American woman feels that she can afford to indulge in some of Madame Mode's best offerings.

But while the fashionable coats are elaborate they are in no ways loud or gaudy. For the most part they are studies in soft shades of tan and fawn, or delicate biscuit and ivory tones—colors, these, which can be depended upon to harmonize with any costume and to do equally decorative and useful duty for day or evening wear, while it is wonderful to note what a variety of effects are secured in these similar shades by the cleverly devised trimmings.

Illustrations of two of the many attractive models are shown here. The first, a graceful three-quarter coat, made of satin soft cloth in the coloring of old ivory, the saque shape just suggesting the lines of the figure at the sides and fastening down the front with a bordering scroll design, which makes background for a silken braiding in two paler shades of fawn and brown, this design giving place about the knees to a bolder and more decorative device of vine leaves, and of clustering grapes, which are wrought in string-colored lace and embroidery with clever touches of black here and there.

Then the wide, bell-shaped sleeves and the deep collar also bear the bordered device, and, in addition, an edging of fur which introduces the darkest brown of all, the lining of white satin brocaded with scattered roses and leaves being the last dainty detail of a charming coat.

The second is of soft biscuit-colored cloth lined with ivory satin brocaded with a design in delicate turquoise-blue, while, for its outer decoration, bands of cut cloth bring the career of the gracefully hanging garment to a decorative career at the knees, and are also a distinctive feature of the bell-shaped sleeves, and the deeply pointed cape collar, which is laid about the shoulders, and so cleverly combined with a yoke and bordering flounce of ivory lace.

Then the fastening in front is effected in quite a new way by means of three sets of rosettes in soft satin centered with blue enamel and gold buttons.

GETTING DOWN TO WORK.

Many Additional Mines Throughout Pennsylvania Anthracite Region Resume Operations.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 28.—More coal was mined and more men were employed in mining Monday than any day since the mines in the anthracite region resumed work. The only districts that lag behind in the output are Lehigh and Mahanoy. The individual operators and their employees in those districts are still at loggerheads. In the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions all the collieries are in operation with the exception of a few which are still under water. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the Delaware & Hudson, the Lehigh Valley, the Temple Coal & Iron company, the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre, the Erie and the Ontario & Western all had large outputs to-day and heavy trains of coal were moved rapidly to seaboard points. The miners and laborers who left the region during the strike are returning in large numbers.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 28.—Of the 108 collieries operated by the five big companies having headquarters here, only 13 are still idle. The individual operators are rapidly getting into line, and before many more days all of them except a very few will be in operation. About 80 per cent. of the old employees of the collieries in the Lackawanna region are back at work. By Wednesday the companies expect to be getting out 70 per cent. of their normal output. During the strike, the National washery, operated with 40 imported men. They have been quitting daily since the strike ended, and Manager Sharkey states that there is not one of them remaining. The old employees have all been taken back. Manager Sharkey says that most of his "imports" were strikers from the Schuylkill region, who ostensibly left home to work in the soft coal regions.

Tamaqua, Pa., Oct. 28.—Park Place colliery, operated by Lentz & Co., situated between Mahanoy City and Delano, did not resume Monday owing to the fact that the operators refused to take back 15 union men discharged because of the claim that they were ringleaders in the disturbances which occurred during the strike. The union held a meeting Sunday and the members decided by a unanimous vote to stay out unless these men were reinstated. This strike affects nearly 1,000 men and boys.

New York, Oct. 28.—With tracks comparatively free from passenger traffic, all the anthracite roads rushed trains eastward on Sunday to fill the gap in the coal marts caused by the great strike. More than 10,000 tons reached the receiving yards and piers in Jersey City and its neighborhood. That coal will be divided into small lots and put on the retail market with the understanding that consumers shall not be required to pay more than $6.50 a ton for it in any instance. Some dealers even went so far as to promise they would sell it to the poor at the rate of ten cents a bucket, which really would be $6.60 a ton. Many dealers who still have coal bought at high prices during the strike will still charge $2.50 a ton more than the dealers who are handling the new supply.

CREATES TERROR.

Indications in Mexico of Volcanic Eruptions Cause Great Fear Among Inhabitants.

Mexico City, Oct. 28.—There is no little consternation felt by the inhabitants of many towns in the remote south country on account of showers of ashes falling in the extensive region from San Juan Bautista, capital of the state of Tabasco, as far north as Salina Cruz. It is believed that a hill near Palenque, where there is a great prehistoric city of ruins, has suddenly been transformed into an active volcano. The ashes falling at Palenque have hidden the sun, and also at Comitán, and a great fear has come on the people. Palenque is the center of the disturbance, as the burning mountain is said to be near there. There is some anxiety felt for Chiapas. Indians arriving at San Cristobal las Casas, say a hill in the Guadalupe Sierra is vomiting fire and smoke. People in many towns have been running about in terror and offering prayers publicly for the safety of themselves and children.

WU TING FANG RECALLED.

Chinese Minister Ordered to Return Home by Most Direct Route.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, has been recalled to his country by a special edict which was received by him Monday. He is ordered to return by the most direct route to Shanghai and will leave as soon as he can pack his effects, probably within two weeks. He will become minister of commerce and will also be a member of the joint commission to negotiate commercial treaties.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Farmer Missing.

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of William J. Rosebrough, a farmer living a few miles south of St. Joseph, in Buchanan township. Rosebrough was last seen when he went to a bank in Buchanan and drew out $500 and journeyed into the country with a horse and buggy to buy live stock. Many citizens are entertaining the idea that he has been murdered for his money. Rosebrough was a large, portly man, 55 years of age, and his family affairs have always been pleasant.

Mine Disasters.

Mine Inspector Joseph Tregooning has just issued his annual report, which shows that 20 men employed in the mines of Marquette county were killed within the year. This is one less than the total number of fatalities last year. Ten of the number were victims of the catastrophe at the Negaunee mine, January 7 last, when the mine caved in from surface. The inspector says that a majority of the fatalities was due to carelessness on the part of the victims.

A Triple Murder.

A triple murder was the tragic sequel of the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Archie Woodin charging her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment. Woodin shot and killed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Gulick, his wife's parents; shot his infant daughter while the child lay in his arms, and was overpowered just as he turned the revolver on himself and inflicted a wound that will not prove fatal. The tragedy occurred on the Gulick farm, four miles from Mount Pleasant.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 76 observers in various portions of the state indicate that during the past week influenza increased and smallpox, whooping cough, consumption and measles decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 223 places, measles at 18, typhoid fever at 80, whooping cough at 13, scarlet fever at 72 and smallpox at 15 places.

A Bad Fire.

Fire destroyed the greater part of the business portion of Mass City, on the Copper Range road, entailing a loss of $50,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire started from an explosion of gasoline in A. Trivenin's tailor shop. Three hotels and several other buildings were burned. The fire was checked after some buildings were dynamited.

Veteran Navigator Dies.

Capt. William Dulac, a veteran navigator and one of the best known masters on the great lakes, died at Mount Clemens, Mich. At the time of his death Capt. Dulac was chief owner and manager of the Tonawanda Barge company. Death followed several months' illness, closing the career of a man who had followed the lakes from boyhood.

Indian Skeletons.

While throwing up earth to fill in about the Macomb Sugar company's building workmen came upon two Indian skeletons, one of which was practically perfect. Buried in the grave were a number of iron kettles, flints and tomahawks, while one of the arms of the larger skeleton was adorned by an armlet.

Miner Murdered.

John Johnson, a miner of Amasa, a small mining village near Crystal Falls, was found dead in his own dooryard, murdered by strangulation, and his wife and a Finlander, named Martin, who were in the house, have been placed under arrest, awaiting an investigation of the facts.

Dividend Ordered.

On petition of the Union Trust company, receiver of the wrecked City Savings bank, of Detroit, Judge Donovan ordered a dividend of 20 per cent paid to savings depositors of the bank on or before November 20. This is the first dividend since the bank closed its doors.

News Briefly Stated.

J. D. Carmody, of Berrien Springs, has been elected school examiner of Berrien county for the next two years. An additional rural free delivery route will be established on November 1 at Onsted, Lenawee county. It will be 24 1/2 miles long, cover an area of 26 square miles, and serve a population of 567. The records of Benzie county show that during the past two years more mortgages have been raised than in the 15 years preceding. Of nearly 200 Russian families brought into the Saginaw valley by the Pere Marquette last spring to work in the sugar beet fields fully 60 per cent. will make their homes there permanently. Louis E. Giles, of Detroit, has been appointed as an assistant examiner in the patent office at Washington. Land Commissioner Wilkey states that the state forestry commission has just planted a large number of North Carolina poplar trees on the forestry reserve in Crawford county.

FALLIBILITIES OF SCIENCE.

Lord Kelvin Was Puzzled Over the Impossible Angle of a Ladder Which Couldn't Fall.

At a certain favorite resort in London a conversation among a number of financiers turned upon cable shares and wireless telegraphy. One confirmed cable worshipper quoted Lord Kelvin's opinion that the companies had no need to be alarmed at the progress of Marconi, relates a London paper. "Oh," exclaimed another, "Lord Kelvin he hanged! It is not the first time he has made a mistake. Why, I remember years ago, when he was plain Billy Thomson, he was out in the country for a ride with his brother. You know he was always like the old fish hag that O'Connell tackled. He slept on a parallelogram, shaved with a spheroid, watched the process of an ellipse and generally took his mathematics to bed with him. Anyhow he never passed anything without making a calculation about it. This time it was a ladder standing against a wall at an angle which according to all known laws ought to be impossible, especially as it stood on smooth concrete at the bottom. He called his brother's attention. They both got down, took measurements, made endless calculations, and considered various theories to account for the absence of slip. At last they fixed on some far-fetched explanation just as the farmer hove in sight. Then they casually called his attention to the strange circumstance. 'Oh, ay,' says the old man, 'the ladder? Yes, I put it there for my hens, and it's pretty tight with the holdfast at the top!'

St. Jacobs Oil.

In cases where bronchitis has become chronic from want of proper treatment in the earlier stages, there is nothing so good as Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea, in conjunction with which is strongly advised the use of St. Jacobs Oil as an outward application, along the front of the throat, from close up under the chin to well down to the top of the chest; the one remedy assists the other, and, as intended, they work in complete union. The wonderful penetrating power of St. Jacobs Oil enables it to reach the adhesion of foreign matter which lines the bronchial tubes and which makes breathing more and more difficult. As these adhesions become inflamed and enlarged, St. Jacobs Oil causes such adhesions to break away, making expectoration easier and more free. Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea, drank slowly and very hot, soothes and heals the parts, is comforting and quieting, stops the cough and relieves the breathing. This manner of treatment (and there is no other two remedies that will work together so successfully) reaches the difficulty from the outside and the inside at the same time. St. Jacobs Oil reaches the roots of the adhesion, and assists Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea in clearing them; then both remedies act in unison in healing and curing. The above remarks apply with equal force in cases of asthma, croup, whooping cough, enlarged tonsils, and all bronchial affections. Every family should have St. Jacobs Oil and Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea always in the house in order that they may be promptly used in the first stages. Often the maladies develop with wonderful rapidity, and complications take place with equal suddenness.

An Ideal Woman's Medicine.

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never during the lifetime of this wonderful medicine has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and throughout the length and breadth of this great continent come the glad tidings of woman's sufferings relieved by it, and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women saying that it will and positively does cure the worst forms of female complaints.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.

LaGrippe Caused
Heart Trouble,

Nervous Prostration
and Dyspepsia.

My Friends Know Heart
Cure Cured Me.

Mrs. C. O. Hurd, 118 W. Third St., Muscatine, Ia., is well known throughout her section of Iowa as an ardent worker in the M. E. Church. She says: "LaGrippe left me with a severe case of nervous depression and nervous dyspepsia, which soon affected my heart. I suffered from sleeplessness, headache, extreme nervousness and twitching of the muscles. The slightest exertion would cause shortness of breath, a numbness of my body and hot flashes with pain. I will tell you what I am constantly telling my friends—that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me so that all these disagreeable symptoms left me. I may add that for severe pain I have never found anything to equal Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and think the Nerve and Liver Pills are a wonderful stomach remedy."

"Our son was stricken down with heart trouble in his twentieth year. For two months we got no sleep with him at night, so we commenced to use Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve and the Nerve and Liver Pills and today he is sound and well. In fact he passed a physical examination since his sickness and is with the Army in the Philippines. I desire to add that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have certainly been a boon to me. I am frequently troubled with sick and nervous headaches and I have never found anything that would relieve me so quickly and leave me feeling so well thereafter."—Mrs. Alice Moad, Buffalo, Mo.

Chas. E. Townsend made a good impression on the voters of Sylvan by his speech last evening.

There will be elections in 42 states next Tuesday. In every case congressman will be elected and in 22 states full state tickets are in the field.

Over 90 per cent of the anthracite collieries are again in operation and the daily output is 75 per cent of the normal quantity. The prospects for a speedy relief from the chances of suffering for lack of coal grow brighter every day.

Prof. Bradley M. Thompson, of the U. of M., talked on the "Legal Aspect of the Coal Strike" before the Y. M. C. A. at Ann Arbor Monday night. He declared that the coal strike had been ended too soon to impress on America the real danger of strikes. Prof. Thompson proposed as a remedy for strikes that labor organizations should be "legalized," that is, compelled to organize under state laws, the same as corporations. He proposed an arbitration tribunal to adjust differences which might arise over the contracts which these "legalized" labor corporations might make with capital. Finally, he proposed a law making it a criminal offense for employers to lock out employees and for employees in turn to strike.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

Capt. Chas. H. Manly, formerly of Ann Arbor, has been chosen as official abstractor of Jackson county by the board of supervisors. He will have charge of the new set of abstract books which the county has recently had completed by him.

Two students at Ann Arbor were out in the woods shooting at a mark with a revolver one day last week. One of them fired the last shot in the revolver. The bullet struck three trees in succession, glancing from one to the other, and lastly struck the young fellow in the face half an inch below his eye. Beyond a badly bruised face he suffered no harm as the force of the bullet was nearly spent.

And now Manchester talks of having a cement factory. R. T. Van Valkenburg and Charles Cooley have secured options on 500 acres of land in and surrounding Low's lake, Cran's lake, Iron Creek saw mill property, land of Thos. Holmes and others, insuring them material enough to run a factory for a lifetime. The articles of incorporation have been drawn and sent to the stockholders to be signed, and as soon as they come back they will be sent to Lansing to complete the organization. The capital stock is $350,000. The name is The Rockford Cement Co. with Manchester as headquarters. It is not decided whether the plant will be erected at Iron Creek where the marl and clay deposits are, or in Manchester.

O ye people! have ye wasted the golden moments of never returning time in taking a substitute for the genuine Rocky Mountain Tea made by the Madison Medicine Co. Glazier & Stimson.

Aroused Her Curiosity After All.
"Don't want any," said a North Broadway housekeeper from her second story window to a street vender whose wagon was standing a few steps away and who had just pulled the bell.
"Don't want any what?" gruffly asked the arab, who hadn't had even a chance to tell what his wares were.
"What have you got?" asked the housekeeper, whose curiosity was getting the better of her annoyance.
"Oh, never mind. You don't want any. Git up, Bob!"
"Now, I wonder what that exasperating man is selling, anyhow?" she exclaimed as the wagon disappeared around the corner.—Baltimore Sun.

It stands alone, it towers above. There's no other, its nature's wonder, a warming poultice to the heart of mankind. Such is Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Glazier & Stimson.

FRANK P. GLAZIER.

Republican Nominee for Senator, Tenth Senatorial District.

Grass Lake News: The people of this senatorial district, comprising the counties of Jackson and Washtenaw, are to be congratulated upon the fact that a practical and thorough going business man has consented to become a candidate for state senator. Frank P. Glazier, whom the Republicans have nominated as their candidate, is a resident of Chelsea, where he has resided since childhood, and where he has been actively engaged in business for a number of years. To his enterprise and business ability is largely due the present prosperous condition of that thriving little city. He has interested himself in a number of business enterprises there and has given of his time and fortune to build up and improve the appearance of that village. He is the chief owner of the Glazier stove works, and a number of other enterprises owe their existence to him. Mr. Glazier is a busy man. He is a man familiar with business methods and he will be a valuable member of the state senate.

Mr. Glazier is not an office seeker—his friends and acquaintances about the district urged him to accept the nomination and after much solicitation he was persuaded to permit his name to be presented before the convention. He is now serving as president of Chelsea village, a position he has held for a number of years. He will bring to his new duties a ripe business experience and a good knowledge of men and affairs. He will guard the interests of this district, and they are extensive, no district in the state having greater interests, in the same careful and watchful manner he has guarded his large business enterprises. He is in favor of the enactment of a primary election law, and of the adjustment of taxation upon business principles, so that all will bear their just share. A vote for Mr. Glazier will be a vote cast for a thorough business administration of state affairs.

CONE E. SPERRY.

The Republican Nominee for County Treasurer.

Is well fitted for the position to which he aspires. He is a graduate of the Ann Arbor high school; has held the office of treasurer of Pittsfield township; has always been a Republican and has taken an active part in politics. His training has been such that, if elected, the people of Washtenaw county can rest assured that the work in the treasurer's office will be in good hands and will be carefully looked after. He requests that you cast your vote for him.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will have their annual entertainment Friday evening, Nov. 21.

The subject of Rev. C. S. Jones' sermon at the Congregational church next Sunday evening will be "What is the home?"

The regular meeting of the L. O. B. A. will be held next Thursday evening, Nov. 6. All members are requested to be present.

A. M. Slay, of Battle Creek, has been appointed great record keeper of the K. O. T. M. M., to succeed Thomas Watson resigned.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's church congregation will be held next Thursday evening, Nov. 6. All members are asked to be present.

Twelve or fifteen Chelsea people will go to Chicago to see the football game between Michigan and Wisconsin universities Saturday.

Dan Morris Sullivan's Comedy Company and Hibernicon give entertainments at the opera house this afternoon and evening and tomorrow evening under the auspices of St. Mary's parish.

The members of Progress Tent, K. O. T. M. M., of Jackson, will visit the Chelsea tent next Thursday evening and confer the third degree. During the evening the L. O. T. M. M. will serve supper to the party.

If you are not registered and wish to vote next Tuesday you must not forget that the board of registration for the township of Sylvan meets Saturday, Nov. 1, at the town hall and will be in session from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Thirteen of the members of St. Mary's Literary Club went out by the electric car to Miss Rose Conway's last evening and a most delightful time was spent, during which dainty refreshments were served. They returned home in good season on the 10 o'clock car.

At the presentation of "Mr. Jolly of Joliet" at the Athens Theater, Ann Arbor, next Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, the election returns from both county and state will be read from the stage between acts. It will be a fine opportunity to see a good show and hear the news.

John Boyer showed the editor of the Herald on Friday a cluster of 13 Baldwin apples which had grown in the space of a foot long on one small limb of a tree. All the apples were of fair size and some of them large size. They were grown in the orchard on L. S. Embury's farm in Lyndon.

The Woman's Guild will serve dinner in the dining room of the Congregational church, on Friday of this week, Oct. 31. A cordial invitation is extended to the delegates and visitors of the Sunday school convention, also to our town people and from the surrounding country. Price of dinner 15 cents.

The Boland company has purchased the Red Mill property at Albion from the Albion Milling Co for $36,000. The water power is taken from the milling company's dam in the Kalamazoo river, and has a fall of about six feet. This power will be utilized to furnish motive power for the line between Jackson and Battle Creek.

At the evening service of the Congregational church next Sunday Mrs. James E. Kerr, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, Ohio, and who is now attending the University School of Music, at Ann Arbor, will sing "Eye hath not seen," from Gaul's "Holy City," and Bartlett's "O, Lord, be merciful." Come to Congregational church next Sunday evening if you are a lover of good singing.

Loomis W. Allyn died at his home in Lyndon Sunday morning of heart trouble aged 76 years. He was one of the old pioneers of the township and was highly respected. The funeral services held at the Unadilla M. E. church yesterday morning were largely attended by his relatives, old friends and neighbors. His brother C. D. Allyn and his daughter Mrs. Alfred Kaercher are residents of Chelsea.

America's Famous Beauties.

Politics, Bribery and Vice as Known in New York City

For the vote of a "chicken," $2,000; for that of a "mechanic," $5,000; that of a "gorilla" comes according to circumstances; he is understood to be for sale all the time.

This is the scale of prices for aldermanic bribery in the board of aldermen of New York for the passage of a "big matter" like the Pennsylvania tunnel. The Pennsylvania people figure upon spending $75,000,000 in their improvements about New York, and it seems hard to a politician bred in the old school to see such sums falked of without a share coming his way.

Yet times have changed. "Jake" Sharp spent about $1,000,000 in bribes and kindred expenses to get the Broadway street railway "greased" through the board. That upheaval caused a half dozen men to flee to Canada, where they for years lived in exile; it overturned the city government; it led to the curtailment of the powers of the board.

When the Low campaign began last year, opposition boddlers saw that on the main issue they were beaten, and combined to swap votes for aldermen. The result is that the board is pretty evenly divided, though the upper officials are all fusion, and honest. There is talk that bribery was used in the matter of the Rapid Transit extension matter, but the sum used was a beggarly $20,000—little enough by comparison with the golden floods that used to pour out when capitalists wanted anything.

As to the tunnel, the president of the Long Island railroad, Mr. Baldwin, is also a prominent member of the reform movement. He swears—and evidently means it—and other officials of the company back him up—that he won't spend one cent in bribes. It looks as if this might be true. It costs the Pennsylvania $1,000 a day to have its plans delayed. It would be cheaper to pay bribe-money at the modest rates quoted for members of the different "combinations" and go ahead; but the company stands firm.

So New York sees a great public benefit held up by the greed of a few men. And still it is not wholly dissatisfied; the situation marks an advance upon that which ruled when bribery was a matter of course.

Literary Men in Politics.

The political ambitions of Booth Tarkington in Indiana, "J. S., of Dale," in Massachusetts, Winston Churchill, in New Hampshire, and R. H. Davis, in Connecticut, are matched by the rise to prominence in this city of Francis Burton Harrison.

Mr. Harrison is not a famous writer; but his mother, Mrs. Burton Harrison, is the author of well known society novelettes; his father, as Jefferson Davis' secretary during the war, wrote many famous documents, rather historical than literary.

The bluest blood of the "F. F. V.'s" flows through Mr. Harrison's veins. His father's is the Virginia family which has given two presidents to the union; Carter Harrison, mayor of Chicago, is a distant relative. Mrs. Harrison, the young man's mother, was, as Constance Cary, the ornament of another Virginia family almost equally well known. Mr. Harrison, senior, is a lawyer, not wealthy but well to do. The younger man recently married Miss Crocker, of the bonanza California family. You may be sure the Tammany "leader" in his district watched that marriage with much interest. When the campaign opened the astute statesman "discovered" Harrison and he was nominated for congress. He is a veteran of the Spanish war, handsome, athletic, popular, a favorite in society, a man of ability. If objection is made to his candidacy it must be because of the manner of his getting it—neither by party services nor public prominence, but by the expected liberality of his contribution to the fund for legitimate expenses.

Unknown as they are in Washington, most of the New York congressional candidates are rich men. "Tim" Sullivan confesses to an income of $45,000 a year. Ruppert is a rich brewer; Phelan is a banker and an able man; Butler has money as copious as his language.

However, New York ought to reform now. The "morality play" is all the talk of the stage.

The "morality play" is 200 years older than Shakespeare. It is called "Mr. Everyman"; its scene is in part Heaven, in part earth; it is presented in a hall; it represents the fear of Everyman of Dethe; his appeals to Fellowship, Kinrede, Cosyn and Goodes drive away the visitor; his rescue by Good-deeds, aided by Knowledge, Confession, Beauty, Strength, Discretion, the Five Wits, etc. In the end an angel takes his soul away and a person called Doctor sums up what it all means.

The allegory is in spirit like the much-written-about "Passion Play" at Oberammergau, though from a literary point of view it is more like "Pilgrim's Progress" dramatized. The quaint, old-world and old-time costumes of the players, the simplest language, the meagre studied stage settings, made the play more impressive than anyone would have imagined. A capable English company is concerned in its production, though for once no "star" is put forward.

Of dramatic novelty there is for the rest but little. Pinero's "The Story of Iris" is dull, dirty and depressing, but that's nothing new. Mrs. Pat Campbell is presenting her wonderful beauty in the familiar Drama of Dirt and trying to get free advertising by her lap-dog Pinky Panky Poo, who has the worst dog name in Christendom.

Perhaps the three new things which cultured people most affect are Mascagni, the author of "Cavalleria Rusticana" as an opera leader, with a fight on his hands with the musicians' union; Ethel Barrymore, delicate girl of 23, who as "Carrots" in the play of that name makes a pathetic appeal to the sympathies; and Henrietta Crossman, who, in doublet and hose, swings "The Sword of the King." Miss Crossman makes a handsome picture, but as usual he who would enjoy the play must first surrender his reason—which New York audiences are always ready to do for favorites of the stage.

"The Wickedest Man in New York." Talk of "morality plays!" What drama of the imagination can equal the closing career of "The" Allen, 40 years known as "the wickedest man in New York?"

Allen always used to say that he was persecuted by the police ever since he was falsely accused of murder, years ago. That he killed his friend he did not deny, but he insisted that it was an accident. For years he has been a gambler and a keeper of gambling houses. He has been arrested many times, but by legal subtlety or bribery or other means he always got clear. Hounded by the police for a third part of a century he beat them in the end and only succumbed to nervous diseases which drove him to a sanitarium.

There were queer contrasts in this man's life. His wife, devoted to him always, has been for years a church member and a leader in charity work. Allen himself has been surrounded by the children of the neighborhood, with whom he was a favorite; his kindness to them was acknowledged by parents who themselves had no use for gambling. The poor of his district idolized him. His courage was magnificent. The police "broke" poor old Harry Hill at last, but "The" Allen defied District Attorney Jerome as he had defied everybody. He did as he pleased in New York until the doors of the sanitarium closed upon him and ended his active career.

The Vanishment of the Wicked. Allen was about the last of the men who traded upon their wickedness.

In his day Harry Hill was the most famous of these characters. He was a jolly looking Englishman, who kept a place in Houston street and another in Flushing in the country chiefly for prize fights. In Harry's city place no one need be robbed. The old man was proud of that. It used to happen him to have a guest complain of the loss of a "sparkler." Harry would waddle away, lecture the thief soundly, restore the pin with an elaborate orate apology and say for the $35,648th time: "Nobody need never say that 'lost hant' think in 'Arny' 'ill's' place, sir." Curiously, the walls of Hill's place were decorated with Hogarth's powerfully moral prints, "The Rake's Progress."

For a while Owney Geoghegan tried to make capital of wickedness, but the pace killed him and two widows squabbled over the remains at the biggest funeral the East side had ever known. Billy McGlory won temporary fame for his "Armory Hall." But McGlory's crowning feat was to go uptown and engage a "swell dinner" for himself and about 40 friends at the Brunswick hotel. The "friends" when they appeared were the guests of Armory hall, the most degraded characters in the city. From that blow the Brunswick, then a rival of Delmonico's, never recovered; it is now given over to trade. Sherry's restaurant was almost as hard hit a few years ago by the Seeley dinner held there. Of course the manager of the Brunswick did not know McGlory, who looked like an undertaker; of course Sherry did not know how far young Seeley proposed to go at his dinner. But it was their business to know.

Allen's successors as the "wickedest men" are Corey, of the Haymarket, and Ackron, but they're poor substitutes. Corey is often closed up by the police; Ackron has been driven out to a dull suburb, where he runs a small bicycle and automobile roadhouse and occasionally gets his name obscurely into the papers by beating some one.

Old New York is changing.

OWEN LANGDON.

KNOWLEDGE WAS POWER.

How Familiarity with the Chinese Language Made a Woman a Countess.

One of the unmarried women in diplomatic circles at Washington is Countess Marguerite Cassini, the accomplished niece of the Russian ambassador, who is a countess in her own right, not by heredity, but by special grace of the czar, and a curious story is told of the manner in which she won her title. It was when Count Cassini had his fateful conference with Li Hung Chang at Peking, long before the Boxer trouble. The count's interpreter was away, for Li's call was unexpected, and as the Chinese statesman could not speak Russian and the Russian diplomat did not understand Chinese the conference came to a deadlock. The count's niece, who had picked up something of the language, stepped into the breach and the affair was arranged to the satisfaction of both parties. The Chinese empress loaded her with presents, the czar's government made a note of the service performed, and when there was a question a couple of years ago of the young lady's precedence at Washington, where the count was then ambassador, the czar himself counfounded her rivals by making her a countess. This was something like rapid promotion for the lady.

TO REMODEL HISTORIC PILE.

The Hotel Des Invalides at Paris Likely to Be Made Into a Museum.

The Hotel Des Invalides, Paris, the historic institution which for many years has sheltered the veterans of the French army, will gradually be converted into a series of museums. This step, which is hotly opposed by many officers of the army, has long been under consideration by the government and was practically decided by the recent death of Gen. Arnaux, governor of the home. It is said that no one will be appointed in his place.

Only about 100 veterans have homes in the hotel, although its pensioners and employees number 3,000. This, it is urged, is too large an establishment for so few soldiers. The institution is now under the direction of a sub-officer.

The traditions of Louis XIV., its founder, and of Napoleon I., who was deeply interested in its support, make the military party loath to part with the old pile, which is still a suitable shelter for veterans of the war of 1870.

GIFT FOR GRAND DUCHESS.

Czar Sends Cast of Famous Paris Staircases for Palace of His Sister Olga.

The czar has just made a truly royal wedding present to his sister, Grand Duchess Olga, bride of Duke Peter of Oldenburg. He asked permission to make a cast of the balustrade of the magnificent staircase at the Chateau de Compiegne, and the lower part of the staircase of the Petit Trianon, which will be placed in the Seriguw-Kaya palace, which his majesty gave to the newly married couple. This was reproduced in green, bronze and gold, and recently sent to St. Petersburg.

Right to the Point. Timkins—Miss Biffkins is certainly a matter-of-fact young lady. Simkins—She certainly is. When she refused me she said she did it because her income wasn't sufficient to support us both.—Chicago Daily News.

DURABLE WIRE FENCE.

Most Important Point in Constructing One Is the Secure Anchoring of the Posts.

The vital point in wire fence construction is the manner in which the ends are secured. Especially is this true of the stronger kind of fences, where several strands of heavy cable or elastic wires are used. It is desirable that the material used in anchoring the ends used should be placed in such a manner as to secure as great a degree of permanence as the fence itself. The most common method is to attach a stay wire to the ground line of the end post, running to near top of second post, with a brace of timber from top of end post to bottom of second, or to a point near the ground. The objection to this bracing is that the stay wire and brace each assist the post to lift the end post out of the ground.

Another fault is that the whole strain of the fence is placed on the end post at the ground line, the point first weakened by decay. These objections are obviated in the method which I have used with perfect satisfaction for several years. I use an end post 7½ feet, of good size, say six to eight inches in diameter; second post also a pretty good one, seven feet long. A trench is dug directly in front of the position of end posts to a depth of 2½ feet, and across the line of the draft. End post is notched around the lower end to receive four strands of No. 8 or 9 galvanized wire, of length sufficient to reach and attach securely to the second post one-third way down from top, to be twisted into a cable later on. Then set end post in a place dug in the wall of the trench to receive it, which should be six inches deeper than the trench.

A narrow cut should be made to allow the stay wire to pass in a direct line, as shown in cut (Fig. 1). Place "dead man" (any rough piece of sound timber will answer; a log 12 inches in diameter split in quarters is satisfactory) in trench on top of stay wire and fill in with solid earth or stones, being careful to pack snugly; insert horizontal brace and twist stay wire by a short durable stick put through the center. This can be made fast to the fence after it is put on.

My way for leaving space for a gate in a line of fence is to set two good, large posts each side, nine feet apart; use a horizontal brace one-third way down from top and a stay of four heavy wires running from that point on second post to "dead man" buried in center of gateway. Over each end of "dead man" drive a pair of strong stakes in such a way that they cross and form a crotch, in which lay a piece of timber and bind it to the center of the "dead man" with a piece of wire. Then fill in and tamp earth and stones well around the "dead man," and if properly done your fence will not come loose or gate drawn away from its fastenings. In setting line posts I scatter the dirt (removed with a post-hole, spade) and pack small stones around the post with an iron bar. The frost never pulls them out.—Don B. Husted, in Ohio Farmer.

The Special Crop Idea.

The need of adapting special crops to special localities and of determining the fitness of the soil for their successful culture is becoming daily more and more evident. For instance, the soil and climatic conditions in the vicinity of Dorra, Allegan county, in southwestern Michigan, are such that 400 acres of land are devoted to the raising of cucumbers for pickling purposes. Fifty cents a bushel is the prevailing price this season. The storage rooms are of sufficient capacity to store 50,000 bushels.

Over 50 different commercial products are manufactured from corn.

THE HEN'S IMPORTANCE.

She Is, According to Census Reports, the Commercial Queen of Industrial America.

The National Provisioner pays the following tribute to the industrious hen

"If you hear a hen cackling respect her; she keeps down food prices. Besides, she never cackles unless she is about to do something or has done something. The hen is the commercial queen of industrial America and the 'feathered tribe' has more to do with our prosperity and domestic economy than at first seems possible. Poultry and eggs control meat prices at certain seasons and influence them at all times. The hen and her product, along with other fowls, are meat's persistent competitors all over the world. This competition is especially felt in this country during the late spring and early fall.

"We now eat last year's fresh eggs and last year's fresh poultry just like we do last year's fresh meats. Cold storage is the wizard in the case. It keeps them on tap. The census enumerators found all the hens, ducks, and geese setting the day he was around. The figures sent in showed that the barnyard fowls of America laid 167,000,000 dozen or 2,000,000,000 eggs a year for consumption. At an average of 15 cents per dozen they were worth $25,050,000. To the above must be added the hatching eggs, or, better, the hatched birds that are sold as spring or other poultry. Last year this amounted to $220,000,000 worth!

"In comparison: Our much vaunted wheat crop the same year realized $303,000,000; our cotton crop, $325,000,000. It beats our production of gold for the year three times over. The sum realized by the poultry industry would have paid all our public school bills for that year and have had a surplus of $112,000,000 to spare. There are a lot of other crops which the hen could beat in sets of three each. This showing enhances the importance of the chicken and makes the poultry yard a strong competitor of the stock yards."

SOD POULTRY HOUSE.

Kansas Farmer Considers It Healthy and Convenient for Quite a Large Flock.

The house shown in the illustration was built by E. D. Smith, of Kansas, who has found it healthy, convenient and large enough to accommodate 75 to 100 hens. He writes: In a bank sloping southwest I made an excavation 12 feet east and west by 22 feet north and south. At the southwest corner the excavation was on a level with the surface of the ground; at the north side it was two and one-half feet deep. Around the edges I built a sod wall, making its upper edge five feet above the floor. I roofed the north half with boards and covered with tar paper. A border of sod was placed all around the edge, then the whole overlaid with six inches of gypsum taken from a pit near by. In the south half of the roof I put two hotbed sashes three by nine feet and covered the remainder of the space the same as the north side. In the walls were placed two glass windows and a door with glass in the upper part. In the north wall there is a window, level with the roosts 18 inches high and five feet long. It is used for ventilation in the summer. In the winter it is covered with boards and banked with earth. The windows are hinged and covered with heavy wire netting. I have an extra lattice door for summer.

The walls were given two coats of gypsum, or poor man's plaster (very abundant in the southwest), and when dry a heavy whitewash was applied to fill all cracks. Roosts occupy the north half. The south half under glass is reserved for nests and a feeding ground during stormy weather. The floor under the roosts is made of gypsum, cement and sand. From this the droppings can be readily taken. I feed boiled wheat in the morning, dry wheat at noon and a feed of meat at least once a day in winter. I have kept 75 to 100 single comb Brown Leghorns in this house for three winters without having a frozen comb. The hens lay well also. The bank feature is not essential; walls made entirely of sod will answer.—Farm and Home.

At the Ontario experiment station the production of sunflower seed per acre for four years was 64.8 bushels by the Mammoth Russian sunflower, 62.7 by the White Beauty and 53 bushels by the Black Giant.

FIRST OPEN SESSION.

Coal Strike Commission Completes Preliminary Arrangements.

Will Begin Its Investigations Into the Subject Before It at Scranton, Pa., on Thursday Next.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The anthracite coal strike commission met at two o'clock Monday afternoon in the hearing room of the interstate commerce commission. All the members of the commission were present, occupying seats upon the bench. Mr. Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, and District President Fahey appeared for the miners, and the coal carrying roads were represented as follows: President Baer, of the Philadelphia & Reading; E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of the Pennsylvania Coal company and Hillsdale Coal and Iron company; Alfred Walter, president of the Lehigh Valley; W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; David Wilcox, vice president of the Delaware & Hudson; John B. Herr, vice president of the Scranton Coal company and Elkhill Coal and Iron company; J. H. Torrey, attorney for the Delaware & Hudson, and Francis I. Gowan, attorney for the Lehigh Valley company.

Procedure Outlined.
Before opening the proceedings the members of the commission and the representatives of the contesting parties were photographed. Judge Gray, the president of the commission, then read the order of the president creating the commission and in a general way outlined the procedure to be followed in the presentation of the issues. He stated that in accordance with the immemorial practice among English-speaking people the commission would first receive the statements and demands of the miners who were to be regarded for the purposes of this case as the prosecutors. The reply of the other side would then be heard. Judge Gray said, in order that the commission might have before it a definite issue.

Baer Objects.
President Baer objected to the appearance of Mr. Mitchell as a representative of the United Mine Workers of America, but said he had no objection to offer against Mr. Mitchell's appearance as a representative of the anthracite coal miners generally. Mr. Baer's object was to avoid the recognition of the Mine Workers' union as an order. Mr. Mitchell replied that the objections raised as to his status were not involved in the case. He said that he appeared as a representative of the anthracite coal miners and distinctly refrained in his reply from mentioning the union.

Presidents Baer and Thomas suggested to the commission that it proceed at once to the coal fields in order that it might be informed at the outset as to conditions there.

To File Statement of Claims.
It was agreed that Mr. Mitchell should file with the commission next Monday a detailed statement of the claims of the miners. The statement he read Monday was a preliminary statement of the case. The representative of the operators announced that they would file an answer to the statement to be filed by Mr. Mitchell on Monday within three days of that time. It was suggested that each side to the controversy appoint an expert to go through the books of the coal companies for the purpose of securing data upon which to work, but President Baer and other representatives of the companies immediately objected and suggested that they would furnish whatever information is needed.

Is a Work of Arbitration.
Mr. Thomas, of the Hillsdale Iron and Coal and the Pennsylvania Coal company, said he noticed that the word "arbitration" had been applied to the commission's work, while he wanted it considered as an investigation.

Judge Gray said that the president's instructions settled that it is an arbitration.

The commission decided to begin its investigation into the conditions in the anthracite coal regions Thursday of this week, commencing with District No. 1, in which Scranton is located, and adjourned at 3:40 to meet in Scranton next Thursday morning. Before adjourning it was agreed that the operators should submit sworn statements of their payrolls, etc., and that Mr. Mitchell should have an opportunity of verifying them through the miners. If discrepancies were found it was agreed that the commission should appoint an auditor whose findings should govern the board.

While the commission was in session the mine operators proposed to place a special train at the disposal of the commission if it was decided to visit the mines. After adjournment the commission, in executive session, decided to reject this offer of the operators.

The exchange of views which followed brought out the fact that the commissioners expect personally to pay all of their expenses, accepting no favors, and relying on the government to reimburse them if so disposed.

Not So Very Crazy.
An Emporia (Kan.) sportsman was out gunning a few days ago, the Gazette says, and happened to go by the poor farm. One of the crazy men they keep out there saw him and began asking him questions. "What have you killed?" asked the crazy fellow. The Emporia man said he had a meadow lark and two doves. "What did you pay for that gun?" "Sixty dollars," "How much is the dog worth?" "Twenty-five dollars." "An $85 hunting outfit to kill 25 cents' worth of game! They keep me locked up in here because they say I'm crazy, and they let you run loose. It isn't fair," said the crazy man.

Lionel Ardon.
One of the new novels of exceptional merit, built along historical lines, is "Lionel Ardon," by Malcolm Dearborn. Like many of the novels of the time it takes its name from that of the hero. The scene is England and the time that of Henry VIII., and through to Queen Elizabeth. The hero, Lionel, is the son of Lord Ardon, who is killed in a duel with Lord Raven, and his death is quickly avenged by the young son. The story follows the entrance of the hero into English court life, and contains some brilliant descriptions of the gayeties and festivities of those times. One of the principal characters is Lady Jane Grey, who is, in fact, the real heroine. This is the only novel that has ever brought to the sympathy and admiration of story readers that woman of purity and exquisite womanliness. Published by G. W. Dillingham Company, New York. Price, $1.50.

GOVERNOR OF OREGON

Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family For Colds and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

Pe-ru-na is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Pe-ru-na as a catarrh remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest.

The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher—all agree that Pe-ru-na is the catarrh remedy of the age. The stage and rostrum, recognizing catarrh as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures catarrh, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for coughs, colds and so forth. The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

STATE OF OREGON,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SALEM, May 9, 1898.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.

It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, la grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

The Order Was Rescinded.

When William E. Chandler was secretary of the navy he issued an order that officers should not permit their wives to reside at the foreign stations to which their husbands were attached. The order was promptly rescinded upon the receipt by the secretary of the following from Commodore Fyffe, in command of the Asiatic squadron:

"It becomes my painful duty to report that my wife, Eliza Fyffe, has, in disobedience to my orders, and in the face of regulations of the department, taken up her residence on the station, and persistently refuses to leave."—Indianapolis News.

In the Proper Order.

"But can you cook?" asked the prosaic young man.

"Let us take these questions up in their proper order," returned the wise girl. "The matter of cooking is not the first to be considered."

"Then what is the first?" he demanded.

"Can you provide the things to be cooked?"

The Preferred Stock of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company pays better than Savings Banks or Government Bonds. Every dollar of stock offered the public has behind it more than a dollar's worth of actual assets. W. L. Douglas continues to own one-half of the business, and is to remain the active head of the concern.

This business is not an undeveloped prospect. It is a demonstrated dividend payer. This is the largest business in the world producing Men's Goodyear Welt (Hand Sewed Process) shoes, and has always been immensely profitable. There has not been a year in the past twelve when the business has not earned in actual cash much more than the amount necessary to pay 7 per cent annual dividend on the preferred stock of $1,000,000.

The annual business now is $5,500,000. It is increasing very rapidly, and will equal $7,000,000 for the year 1903. The factory is now turning out 7500 pairs of shoes per day, and an addition to the plant is being built which will increase the capacity to 10,000 pairs per day.

The reason I am offering the Preferred Stock for sale is to perpetuate the business.

If you wish to invest in the best shoe business in the world, which is permanent, and receive 7 per cent on your money, you can purchase one share or more in this great business. Send money by cashier's check or certified check, made payable to W. L. Douglas. If there is no bank in your town, send money by express or post office money order.

two circuit court commissioners; two coroners, and a county surveyor.

You are also hereby notified that there will be submitted to popular vote at the general election to be held in this state, on the 4th day of November, 1902, proposed amendments to the state constitution as follows:

1. A proposed amendment to Section
35 of Article IV, of the constitution, relative to the publishing of all the general laws of any session in a newspaper, and the compensation to be received therefor.

2. A proposed amendment to Article
IV, of the constitution, by adding a new section thereto, to stand as Section 47, empowering the legislature to enact a law imposing indeterminate sentences as a punishment for crime, and to provide for the parole and return to prison of persons imprisoned on such sentences.

His Life in Peril.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them.
