Valedictory.

It is with a feeling such as I never experlenced before that I announce that after a continuous ownership of buta few weeks short of twelve years, The Standard has passed from my ownership.

To all who have so kindly assisted both by patronage and cheering words during that time I wish to extend my sincere thanks.

The new proprietor is Mr.G. C. Stimson, gentleman who has been in the newspaper business for the past ten years, and I bespeak for him as generous patronage as has been accorded me.

All back subscription accounts are to be paid to Mr. Stimson, and all advertising and printing accounts should be paid

O. T. HOOVER.

Salutatory. No doubt the readers of the Standard regret to learn of the passing of the management of this paper from the hands of local history and set it forth to you in these columns. However, it seems pertinent to say at his time that a newspaper is something more than the person who conducts it. The Standard in valued it aside from any personal element in thematter. Therefore we would say to our readers at thistime, Hold fast to The Chelsea Standard as your friend tne friend of your interests, town and of the surrounding community. As to our personal acquaintance make that later at your earliest convience feeling yourself properly introduced through our mutual friends, The Standard.

Mr. Davis who for six years past has efficiently assisted in conducting The Standard will remain with the office thus eliminating the many barrowing little details following a change of management that otherwise might arise, and so, aside from your regret at the stepplng aside of Mr. Houver we shall hope to make the change with out annoyance and come to you regularly on every publication day just as of yore.

We have some new plans in mind for the advancement and betterment of The loss. Standard and we promise our readers a continued growth and activity and connent interest to all

Respectfully, G. C. STIMSON.

Harrison West Suffering From Severe Wounds Received This Morning.

A fatal accident was narrowly averted by merest chance this forenoon in the case of Harry West, the son of Russell J. West, who is at present suffering from severe and dangerous wounds resulting from the explosion of a large calibre cartridge which he was attempting to remove from his rifle, while in pursuit of ducks which he had sighted.

The cartridge upon exploding threw a large piece of the brass shell which inflicted a severe wound just over the heart being luckly prevented from penetrating further by striking a rib. Grains of ible a board of three auditors elected on powder completely filled and burned his face and painfully lacerated the balls of one day each month and audit all bills his eyes, those organs being probably Mr. Hoover, who, for twelve years, has against the county. The wounded boy was brought to town mmediately by his mother and placed under the care of Dr. W. H. Schmidt, who dressed the wounds and took steps toward saving the eyes. Other than the wounds the lad appeared to be suffering from severe nervous shock when seen by The Standard as well he might after

In a Hansom.

How many women know where to sit in a hansom? Not the large majority, as seen in the streets tooling about in what Lord Beaconsfield calls the "London gondola," and which is as popular here to-day as with our English cousins across the water. To sit properly in a hansom a woman driving alone never should occupy the middle of the seat. To do so is, according to Mme. Grundy's decrees, very bad form, for it makes her conspicuous, particularly when she shows a tendency to lean forward on the doors, man fashion. Such a trick is not to be indulged in by the woman who desires a reputation for the correct thing. For her the proper place to sit is in sons of propriety, but safety as well. In case the horse stumbles, or other accident occurs, the woman who sits preventing herself from being thrown out of the cab, for she has the pillar on which the door is hung, as well as the side of the cab, to protect her. Time was when girls were not permitted to ride alone in a hansom, but that has passed. Mme. Grundy's only restriction now being that they shall occupy the vehicle in what she decrees the right way .- N. Y. Herald.

That Arthur R. Pennell, or his bired assassin, killed Edwin L. Burdick, of Buffalo, was the statement Charles S. Parke, Burdick's business partner, made on the witness stand at the inquest. That both Burdick and Pennell had reached a state of mind so desperate that murder was the logical outcome of their strained relations was emphasized by Mrs. Seth T. Paine and Mr. Parke. Mrs. Paine, in ber testimony, revealed the fact that Burdick had thought of murder himself. She said that when he was talking of Pennell's breaking up his home Burdick said: "Who would there be to take care of my children if I had a murder on my hands?" Mrs. Paine further stated that Burdick blamed Pennell for Mrs. Burdick's wrong-doing more than he did his wife. -Mr. Parke related Burdick's being threatened by Pennell and Pennell's threats to kill both Mrs. Burdick and himself if Burdick insisted on proceeding with the divorce case.

He Was Crazy Drunk.

Frank Ward, a Britton farm hand 37 years of age, is in Adrian jail on the serious charge of tiring a double barreled shotgun at Mrs. Thomas Wilson, the wife of his employer. Why he committed the deed Ward is unable to say. It seems that Mr. Wilson had gone to Milau to attend a meeting of the Odd Fellows' lodge, and his wife and the hired man went to Britton, a distance of three miles and a half, to awards. do some shopping. While in the village Ward got drunk and, returning home in the evening, became abusive and offensive. About 9 o'clock he threatened to "shoot the heart ou of her." and she, becoming frightened started for the home of Ed Auten, half a mile distant. Mrs. Wilson says that when about half way to the neighbor's house. Ward came up behind her and fired both barrels of the shotgun at her. The shot took effect in one hip, but she managed to get to the house.

Burned to Death.

A tank of gasoline in Henry Smith's greenhouses, a mile west of Grand Rapids, exploded at 5 o'clock Monday morning. Fireman Danie! McQueen, a brother of ex-Sheriff McQueen, who slept upstairs, was burned to death, and another employe, named Bailey, inhaled so much smoke that he may not recover. Almost the whole plant is in rulns.

The senate ratified the Cuban treaty by a vote of 50 to 16 on Thursday and then adjourned sine die. Several amendments which were acceptable to the committee on foreign affairs, were tacked onto the treaty, but the one that threatens its final defeat is the provision that the change in the existing tariff rates shall not become effective until action has been taken by the next congress. It will now b necessary to send the amended treaty back to the Cuban senate for ratificaments, the treaty will remain in statu quo until next session, when the real battle will be waged by the Democrats against it.

A very pleasant wedding occured at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Breitenwischer. when their eldest daughter, Miss Catherine L. was united in marriage to Samuel P. Feldkamp.

In the presence of about sixty-five relatives and friends of the contracting party at 3:30 p. m. Miss Bertha Breitenwischer, played the wedding march and the wedding party took their places under a beautiful arch of curtains decorated with smilax and pink roses. Rev. Julius Reichert of Freedom performed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a gown of white brother, Edson in Leslie Sunday and satin lumineux trimmed in white silk applique in the grape pattern and white panne velvet, and she carried a bunch of cream bridal roses.

Miss Clara Feldkamp, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid. She was gowned in a dress of pale green silk musline de soie trimmed in sunflower valenciennes lace and pink and green panne velvet. Gus Breitenwischer, brother of the bride, attended the groom. After all had extended their congratulations to the happy couple, a sumptuous supper was serv-

The presents to the bride were handsome and numerous and go to show the high esteem in which she was held by her friends. The afternoon and evening were happing spent with the young couple and their many friends heartily join in extending to Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Feldkamp their best wishes for a happy and prosperous life.

stomach troubles. Glazier & Stimson. A BOY S WILD RIDE FOR LIFE. With family around and expectin him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs, and colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma; but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of consumption, pneumonia, bronchitis, coughs, colds, and grip prove it matchless merit for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Fred Breustle attended the funeral at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

Consumption is a human veed flourishing best in weak ungs. Like other weeds it's asily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes imossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win. Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, will have in stock a choice line of rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., N. Y

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

(Copyright, 1900, by Amelia E. Barr)

CHAPTER IV .- (Continued.) "My dear, dear grandfather, carry wisdom with you! Oh, wise, wise grandfather! You have made me happy to a degree!"

"Very well, but say not that I gave you such counsel. When your ather speaks to me, as he is certain to do, then I will say such and such words to him; but my words in your mouth will be a great offence, and very justly so, for it is hard to carry words, and carry nothing else. Your dear mother-how is she?"

"Well and happy. But my father is not so happy. I can see that he is wearied of everything."

"Not here, is his heart: It is in England. If of Liberty I now speak tion. to him, he has a smile so hopeless that both sad and angry it makes me. No faith has he left in any man, except Washington; and I think, also, he is disappointed that Washington was not crowned King George the First."

At this point in the conversation Van Heemskirk was called to the door about some business matter and George was left alone with his grandmother. She put the cups quickly down, and going to George's side, said:

"Cornelia Moran spends this evening with her friend Arenta Van Ariens. Well then, would thou like an excuse to call on Arenta?"

"Oh, grandmother! Do you indeed know Arenta? Can you send me there?"

"Since she was one month old I have known Arenta. This morning, she came here to borrow for her Aunt Jacobus my ivory winders. For thy pleasure I will get them, and thou canst take them this evening to Arenta."

"O you dear, dear grandmother!" and he stood up, and lifted her rosy face between his hands and kissed her.

"Get me the winders, grandmother; for now you have given me a reason to hurry.'

Then she went into the best parlor, and opening one of the shutters let in sufficient light to find in the drawer of a little Chinese cabinet some ivory winders of very cur ous design and workmanship. She folded them in soft tissue paper and handed them to her grandson with a pleasant nod; and the young man slipped them into his pocket, and then went hurriedly away. Doubting and hoping, he reached the Van Ariens' house soon after seven o'clock. It was not quite dark, and day which we call dawn. The noises Jacob Van Ariens stood on the stoop, smoking his pipe. "Good evening, sir," said George with smiling politeness. "Is Miss Van Ariens within?"

"Within? Yes. But company she has to-night," said the watchful father, as he stood suspicious and immovable in the entrance. "I have come with a message to Miss Van Ariens." "A very fine messenger!" answered

Van Ariens, slightly smiling,

"A fine lady deserves a fine messenger. But, sir, if you will do my errand for me, I am content. I have brought from Madame Van Heemskirk some ivory winders for Madame Jacobus." "Come in, come in, and tell my ut half-past nine, a negro came with Cornella's cloak and hood, George ded the warm circular round Cornelia's slight figure; and then watched her tie her pretty pink hoos, managing night like sweetest music in her heart. At the leave taking he heard a few words which gave him a delightful assurance of coming satisfaction. For as the two girls stood in the hall,

Arenta said: "You will come over in the morn ing, Cornelia?" "I cannot," answered Cornelia. "After breakfast I have to go to Richmond Hill with a message from my mother to Mrs. Adams."

And George, hearing these words, could hardly control his delight. For he was one of Mrs. Adams' favorites, and so much at home in her house that he could visit her at any hour of the day without a ceremonious invita-

He took a merry leave of Arenta, and went directly to his rooms. "Tis my destiny! 'Tis my happy destiny to love her!" he said softly to himself. "I shall tell Mrs. Adams how far gone in love I am," he continued. "I shall say to her, 'Help me, madame, to an opportunity'; and I think she will not refuse. As for my father, I heard him this morning with as much patience as any Christian could do; but I am resolved to marry Cornelia. I will not give her up; not for an earldom! Not for a dukedom! Not for the crown of England!" Joris Hyde allowed the sweet emotions Cornelia had inspired to have, and to hold, and to occupy his whole being. Sleep was a thousand leagues away, and he flung open the casement and sat in a beatitude of blissful hopes and imaginations.

And after midnight, when dreams fall, the moon came up over Nassau and Cedar streets and threw poetic glamors over the antique churches, and grassy graveyards, and the pretty houses, covered with vines and budding rosebushes; and this soft shadow of light calmed and charmed

"It is a sign to me! It is a sign! So will I put away every baffling hindrance between Cornelia and myself. Barriers will only be as those vaporous clouds. I shall part them with my strong resolves-I shall-I shall-I-" and he fell asleep with this sense of victory thrilling his whole being.

CHAPTER V.

Turning Over a New Leaf.

When Hyde awakened, he was in that borderland between dreams and finally woke him thoroughly. "I am more alive than ever I was in my life," he said; and he laughed gayly, and went to the window. "It is a lovely day; and that is so much in my favor," he added, "for if it were raining. Cornelia would not leave the house."

Then he fell into reverie about his proposed visit to Mrs. Adams. Last night it appeared to him an easy and natural thing to do. He was not so sure of his position this morning. But there are times when lafssezaller carries before it, and Hyde was in just such a mood. "I'll run the chance," he said. "I'll risk it. I'll let things take their course." And after all, when a man is in love, to be reasonable is often to be cowardly. When he was dressed he went to his hotel and breakfasted there. Early as it was, there were many members and senators present-eat. ing, drinking coffee and disputing. Hyde took no notice of any of these disputes until a man-evidently an Englishman-called Franklin "a beggar-on-horseback-Yankee." Then he looked steadily at the speaker, saying with the utmost coolness and firmness:

"You are mistaken, sir. The beggar-on-horseback is generally supposed to ride to the devil. Franklin rode to the highest posts of political honor and the esteem and affection of across the street from O. K. Davis, the worthy men in all the civilized New York Sun's war correspondent in world."

With these words he rose, pushed aside his chair with a little temper, and, turning, met Jefferson face to face. The great man smiled, and put killed." his hand affectionately on Hyde's shoulder.

"You spoke well, my young friend. Now, I will give you a piece of advice -when any one abuses a great man in your presence, ask them what if the field was swept with bullets. kind of people they admire. You will certainly be consoled."

Hyde, casting his eyes a moment cold blue eyes and red hair emphasized the stern anger of his whole appearance, was well disposed to leave the scurrilous Englishman to his power of reproof.

Riding hard, it was quite half-past of Richmond Hill. Thus far, he had suffered himself to be carried forward by the impulse of his heart, and he still put firmly down any won-

"We were talking about the off cial title proper for Gen. Washington. What do you think, Lieutenant? Or have you heard Gen. Hyde express any opinion on the subject?"

"Sir, I do not presume to under-stand the ceremonials of government. My father is of the opinion that 'The President of the United States' has a Roman and republican simplicity, and that any addition to it would be derogatory and childish."

"My dear young man, the eyes of the world are upon us. To give a title to our leaders and rulers belongs to history. In the Roman republic great conquer its assumed even distinctive titles, as well as national Roger Sherman is of the opinion that neither 'His Highness' nor 'His Excellency' are novel and dignified enough; and Gen. Muhlenberg says Washington himself is in favor of 'High Mightiness,' the title used by the Stadtholder of Holland."

He flung open the casement. shall. Your Majesty is a very good prefix. It would draw the attention of England and show her that we were not afraid to assume 'the majesty' of our conquest."

"And if you were to please France," continued Mrs. Adams, "which seems the thing in fashion, you might have the prefix 'Citizen.' 'Citizen Washington' is not bad." "It is execrable, Mrs. Adams, and

I am ashamed that you should make it, even as a pleasantry." "Indeed, my friend, there is no foretelling what may be. An l. after all, I do believe that the President regards his citizenship far above his office. What say you, Lieutenant?" "I think, madame, that fifty, one hundred, one thousand years after this day, it will be of little importance what prefix is put before the name of the President. He will be simply George Washington in every heart and on every page."

"That is true," said Mrs. Adams. Fame uses no prefixes. It is Pompey, Julius Caesar, Pericles, Alfred, Hampden, Oliver Cromwell."

"Washington will do for love and for fame," continued Hyde. The next generation may say Mr. Madison, or Mr. Monroe or Mr. Jay; but they will want neither prefix nor suffix to Washington, Jefferson, Franklin-and, if you permit me, sir-Adams." The Vice President was much pleased. He said "Pooh! Pooh!" and stood up and stepped loftily across the hearth rug, but the subtle compliment went warm to his heart.

"Well, well," he answered, "heart ily, and from our souls, we must do our best, and then trust to Truth and Time, our name and our memory. But I must now go to town-our affairs give us no holidays."

THE FACE AND THE COLLAR.

Easy Means by Which a Stout Man May Make Himself Look Thin.

"The stout man who wants to look as thin as he can," said the haberdasher's clerk, "ought to wear a tie of the kind known as a four-in-hand. Preferably it should be dark in color and drawn tight. That carries down the line of the face and lengthens it to a degree that tends to make the face look thinner. "Another aid to making a man look

How Little One Obtained Absolution for a Fib. Little Dorothy Perkins was usually a truthful child. When she was not

No amount of persuasion or reasoning wavered her statement one hair's breadth, so at night, when she slipped down beside her knee, her mother said: "Ask God to forgive you for that fib. Dorothy." Dorothy hid her face for a minute; then she looked straight into her mother's eyes with her own shiping like stars, and said: "I did ask him. mamma dearest, and he said: 'Don't mention it, Miss Perkins. That big dog has often fooled me."

> The Workings of Trusts. An eminent English student of economics, Prof. Smart, regards the trusts in Britain "as, in the main, the elimination of the unnecessary—the unnecessary persons, the unnecessary processes, the unnecessary machinery of production and distribution. They mean smaller cost of raw materials, the dispensing with costly advertise ments, larger shipments, fewer middlemen and a smaller staff." He does not refer to the elimination of unnecessary profits.

HANNA AND HIS HASH.

Solicitude of a Serving Man Lest He Indulge in It Too Freely.

As is generally known, Senator Hanna is inordinately fond of corn beef hash, and whenever he takes lunch at the capitol restaurant he orders that dish, which he has taught the cook to prepare in a manner peculiarly his own. As a result he has had many imitators and "corned beef a la Hanna" is a favorite luncheon dish with many senators. When Shaw, the head waiter of the senate restaurant, wants it prepared with unusual care he orders it this way:

"One corned beef hash for Senator Hanna."

The restaurant was doing a great business one day and everybody seemed to want corned beef hash. Fourteen times the order for "corned beef hash for Senator Hannah" was shouted to the chef. When the fifteenth order went down there was a rumbling noise in the kitchen and the chel shouted:

"That's fifteen orders for Senator Hanna. He better watch out or he'll founder hisself."

He vouch safed no explanation, but betook himself to bed, where he slept for fourteen hours, waking with a rich brown taste in his mouth.

"The matter got noised abroad, and eventually the minister and a brother elder called upon him.

"Brother Parker, said the minister solemnly, 'It appears to us that some explanation is due the church of events which have recently transpired, and we have called to see if you have anything to say about them.' "The old man pondered awhile and then asked: 'How long hev been a member of the church, boy and man?' "'Forty-six years, my brother.' "Hey I walked in the ways of the Lord pretty perpendicular during that time? "'Yes, Brother Parker, you have served long and faithfully.

I used it faithfully for two weeks and it completely cared me. I have not had any pains since, anywhere, but feel like a new woman. I am truly thankful for what Peruna has done for me."—Bar-MRS. EVA BARTHO.

There are a multitude of women, especially housewives, and all other women obliged to be on their feet constantly, who are wretched beyond description, simply because their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges from the pelvic organs. These women get up in the morning tired, drag themselves through their daily duties tired, only to go to bed at night as tired as before.

Mrs. Eva Bartho, 133 East 13th Street' N. Y. City, N. Y., writes:—"I suffered for three years with what is generally known as leucorrhea, in connection with ulceration of the womb. The doctors advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Reading of the value of Peruna, I thought it best to give this well-known remedy a trial, so I bought three bottles of it at once. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am to-day in perfect health, and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

MISS LOUISE MAHON.

Miss Louise Mahon, 3 Glen Baille Street, Toronto, Ont., Can., Secretary of the King's Daughters and Secretary of Lady Macca-bees writes:—"If all women knew of the benefits to be derived from taking Peruna we would have many happier and more healthful women. My health has never been too robust and I am easily to be derived from taking Peruna we would have many happier and more healthful women. My health has never been too robust, and I am easily fatiaued and can not stand much. About a year ago I was fo run down that I had to take to my bed, and became weaker and weaker. A friend advised me to try Peruna, and I have great reason to be grateful, for in two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was perfectly well, and I now find that my health is much more robust than formerly, so that I take Peruna once or twice a month and keep well."—Louise Mahon.

Peruna is such a perfect specific for each case that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, the digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the weakening drains are gradually cured. These results certainly follow a course of treatment with Peruna. Barbara Alberty, corner Seventh and Walnut streets, Appleton, Wis., writes as follows in regard to Peruna:

'For years I have suffered with backache and severe pains in the side. I doctored so much that I became discouraged. A school friend told me how very much Peruna had benefited her and I sent vnich did more to relieve me than all the other medicine I have ever

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure, Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Glasier & Stimson.

"There was a dog fight going on just around the corner out of sight," ex-plained the man who was telling the story, and who always sees the funny side of life. "Back of me, coming as fast as his little legs could carry him, was a small dog not much bigger than a rat. As a matter of fact the biggest thing about him was his bark, but his every action seemed to say: 'Oh, I do hope that scrap won't be over before I get there!' I and that small dog came in sight of the fight at the same moment. There were six dogs in the mix-up, and not one of them was smaller than a calf. The way that small dog suddenly stopped, took one look and then turned and legged it for home caused me to laugh aloud. He acted as if he had suddenly remembered that it wasn't his day to fight." -Detroit Free Press.
