SYLVAN SELECTS CANDIDATES

Republicans Hold a Big Caucus and Democrats Follow.

Monday of this week was caucus day in Chelsea, both the republicans and democrats holding their primaries. The republican's meeting was certainly the star attraction of the day. There were 558 votes cast in the contest to name a candidate for supervisor and such a crowd in itself is always interesting to say nothing of the fact that nearly every one appeared to be taking the occasion very seriously. Not so, however, a few good natured democrats in the gallery. To them apparently it seemed like a huge joke even if the 558 votes cast by the republicans supposedly only left them less than 100 votes. The arithmetic of the situation did not appear to trouble them greatly. But while the few democrats looked on and had a good time those on the floor below struggled to untangle themselves from an unorganized mass and organize themselves into a single file and march past the tellers and John Kalmbach. Before the march past began Bernard Parker called the meeting to order and named as chairman W. J. Knapp; and then, after clerk and tellers were appointed, the depositing of the ballots began. When this was accomplished the officials of the meeting elevated themselves to the stage which was cleared with the exception of the Hon. Michael J. Noyes who filled the gap in the back scenery apparently to add solemnity to the occasion. The tellers for a time appeared to be indulging in an exclusive little tale a tete. The crowd below thrusting to learn the result finally bubbled over and a scramble for the stage began. Then everybody had to go way back and stand up, again. At length the counting began and after a tedious wait the result was announced. After this the interests lagged and the crowd melted away and the rest of the ticket was put through in a hurry.

As they sat at the show, immediately after the circus will be the concert, and so after the big pow-wow was over the few faithful democrats put a ticket in the field. This meeting was as a tea party along side a barn raising compared to the republican caucus and the only cloud to cast a shadow was the challenge offered by Attorney Withersell who charged that one of the would-be participants had just taken part with the republicans. This matter was, after a bit, adjusted and the whole ticket named and is apparently, just as good as the republicans even if it didn't cost such a strenuous effort.

The result of the deliberations will be found on page 8 along with other township nominations.

The Hostlemann Concert.

The concluding concert of the Peoples Popular course was given Friday evening at the opera house. By many it was pronounced the most enjoyable entertainment of the course. Certain it is that the Hostlemann String Quartet understand well what is wanted in a popular entertainment. Their program was a demonstration that there is some excellent music that is of such a nature that it appeals readily to an audience that is professedly not educated to the highest appreciation of classical music. It was nevertheless good music and delightfully rendered.

Carl Crance, the vocalist, also deserves special mention. He was down for two numbers and each time was given a double encore which he richly deserved. It is reported that he was much pleased with the cordial manner in which he was received.

It is safe to say that the Hostlemann aggregation would be warmly greeted if it should ever return to Chelsea.

Annual Church Meeting.

The Baptist church will hold its annual meeting Saturday. There will be a preaching service at 10:30, following which a dinner will be served at 12 o'clock for which a free will offering will be taken. The public at large are most cordially invited. There will be an afternoon service at 2:30 of the church and congregation. Interesting reports will be given by the different societies of the church and each member is expected to respond to roll call. Plan to get your dinner Saturday at the Baptist church. The men of the factories especially invited.

A Serious Accident.

Dan Cory is suffering from a severe injury received Sunday morning while returning from church. The cause was a defective side walk. He was thrown violently and his face cut, but the more severe injury was suffered internally and is considered serious because of the spitting of blood and other symptoms. He is attended by Dr. Robinson who is hopeful of his recovery.

Gin "for Personal Use."

Soon after Senator Tillman's dispensary law went into effect in South Carolina the United States court declared that liquors brought into the state for personal use could not be seized by the constables. Naturally, every shipment was marked "for personal use," and, respecting the Federal authority, the officers would not seize it. A few days after the announcement of the court's ruling, a machinery establishment in Charleston loaded a cotton gin for the interior, and it went out on a big truck. Five miles from the city the truck broke down, and the cotton machine was left on the road until another team could be provided. Before it was moved a man drove by. Taking a pasteboard box from his buggy he tore off a wide strip and wrote this inscription, leaving it on the machine: "This gin is for personal use." It was not seized.—N. Y. Times.

Now Early Staves Were Made.

From history we learn that the boys in the time of George III. consisted of sleds made of a small board with beef bones as runners, but these dropped out of sight when an inventive genius built one out of a barrel stave, for his invention was extensively copied. The barrel staves were called "jumpers" and "skippers," and were made of a single barrel stave of moderate width to which was nailed a 12-inch seat-post about midships. A piece of barrel head constituted the seat. To navigate this craft required no little skill, the revolutions and convolutions performed by the rider while "getting" the hang of the darned old thing being akin to the antics of a tendifoot on a bucking broncho. A more stable and docile jumper was made by fastening two or three staves side by side, but these were not considered as fast travelers as the single staves.—Outing.

CHARLES E. FOSTER, Republican Nominee for County School Commissioner.

Quick-Change Artist.

"Marlo," began Mr. Stubb, "last night I played poker and—" "Played poker!" interrupted Mrs. Stubb. "How dare you spend your money gambling, sir?" "As I was saying, I played poker and won enough to buy you a set of furs—" "You did? Oh, John, you are so good! I knew those sharps could not get the best of you." "And just as I was about to quit I dropped it all and fifty more—" "You brutal! To think I should have married a gambler!"—Chicago Daily News.

Ants Know Colors.

Experiments lately made by Lord Avebury (Sir John Lubbock) show that ants not only distinguish colors, but show marked preferences. He placed slips of red, green, yellow and violet glass over an ants' nest, and after 12 trials found that 800 ants had collected under the red glass and only five under the violet, though this was as dark as the red.—N. Y. Post.

A Kicker's Head Position.

"Yes," said the meek-looking woman; "I'm glad Mr. Barker isn't on jury duty any more." "Did he find it irksome?" "Very. Mr. Barker couldn't express an opinion without appearing to agree with some of the other men, and it irritated him terribly."—Washington Star.

Home Preaching.

Rev. Dr. Goodman—I'm so sorry your husband isn't here, Mrs. Smith. I'm afraid you forgot to tell him I intended to preach to-day on municipal problems. Mrs. Smith—Indeed, I did not. I told him that the last thing, but he said he would stay home and read his Bible.—Town and Country.

The Color Line.

Palface Pugg—An' wot size is do black bloke dat wants t' tike me on? Manager—Six foot two, with a awful reach. Fights at 175. "Wot's in record?" "Sixteen mills; ditto decisions." "I draws de color line, see?"—Baltimore American.

The United States court has decided that circus posters are works of art, within the meaning of the statutes. They certainly bear no resemblance to nature.

GOOD TIMES SURELY COMING

Dr. Reilly Sees the End of Seven Centuries of Strife.

Seldem, if ever, does anything occur in foreign politics that has the interest for so many people in and about Chelsea as has the introduction of the Wyndham land bill in the British Parliament, a measure calculated to bring to an end the seven centuries of Irish rebellion and English misrule. The bill is aimed specifically at the landlord-and-tenant problem. It is hoped that it will be made possible for the Irish tenant to own their lands and homes and thereby give them an inspiration such as they have not known for centuries.

Under the provisions of the bill the tenants will be allowed to purchase their land and the government will advance the funds necessary. Probably between $500,000,000 and $750,000,000 will be necessary to carry out the project.

In regard to the above measure Rev. Charles O. Reilly was interviewed by the Detroit Free Press at the Harper hospital, Detroit, where he is at present lying suffering with a broken leg. Dr. Reilly was for seven years treasurer for the Irish National League of America and is well acquainted with conditions there. In replying to the interviewer he said in part:

"As far as I can see this will do away with the long agitation for Irish nationality by the operation of the natural law of selfishness. You cannot revolutionize a people with full stomachs, with three square meals per day. People starving are easily aroused. The Irish recognize a good thing when they see it, as well as any other people."

"I look on this as the real consummation of the whole agitation, reaching over centuries, and marking the end of an epoch in history."

"I look for a great awakening of energy and industry that will amount to industrial revolution in Ireland. Ireland will become a great producer like Canada. With the Englishman and his money, the Irish ingenuity and the Scotch craftiness, Great Britain will have a strong combination to oppose the industrial onslaught of American commerce. We will find, instead of dejected opposition over there, a united competition."

"In case of foreign disturbances Ireland, instead of being a source of weakness, will be a tower of strength. It will be to the advantage of the Irish to aid England, for the Irish farmers will look to England for their market, and will want all of it, and even more."

Hackless Dogs.

To teach a dog not to bark would seem to be as impossible a task as teaching a child not to cry or a boy not to talk loud. But there is a case on record where a dog was so taught, though it took the trainer three years to accomplish it. Then he thought he had a dog that differed from all other dogs in the world, but in this he was mistaken, for there are at least three varieties of dogs that never bark—the lion-headed dog of Tibet, the shepherd dog of Egypt, and the Australian dog. These would be the right kind of pets, so that nervous people would not be disturbed at night. The law in some countries is very severe on night-barking dogs. In Japan, for instance, the owner of one is liable to arrest and to a penalty of one year's work in the complaint of anyone who has been disturbed by the barking.—Nature.

His Offer.

The kindhearted fireman dropped two pieces of money into the Salvation army jar, his contribution respectable and fervently wiped away a tear of sympathy for the poor he was doing his little all to help.

The lynx-eyed inspector spoke to him, saying:

"How much money did you leave in that box?"

"Two 25-cent pieces," meekly replied the fireman, wondering.

"And you asked anyone if you might give that amount?" continued the inspector, sternly.

"I had not," replied the fireman, still wondering.

"Then you must go before the chief for reprimand on the charge of leaving quarters without permission."—Baltimore American.

"Inkies-Out of Site."

Until a day or two ago pride in the anticipation of citizenship and his business prosperity have been about equal in Antonio, an upper west side bootblack, with a street stand and a basement annex. A new pride has been growing in him, however, through observation of the effects on his patrons of a sign card devised by himself as the result of his study of English under the tutelage of the boys who play about his corner. The sign was posted with the advent of cold weather, and reads:

"Shine Inlute—Out of site."—N. Y. Times.

ABANDONS HIS CRIPPLED CHILD

Michigan Men's Dwarf Daughter Is New in the Perchouse. The cruel abandonment of a dwarf daughter to the charity of the state in the charge that is made against a man named Evans, who a few weeks ago with his family left Berlin township for California. On reaching there it seems he concluded to send the dwarf daughter back to their former home, and supplied with a half fare ticket and ten cents in money, it is asserted, she was put aboard the cars. Along the way fellow travelers contributed to her comfort, and she reached Capac. There were no friends there that desired to care for the girl and she was taken to the porchouse. The officers will look into the matter, and, if possible, compel the father to support the crippled girl.

GIRL DRIVES STUDENTS AWAY

Plucky Little Miss Routs Hazers with a Revolver. The foolish hazing of students at Ann Arbor came near resulting in a tragedy. A bunch of students burst into a boarding house to capture a prospective victim, who had taken refuge inside. They forced open the door and a determined fight took place without regard to the portable property they were damaging. The landlady's daughter ordered them out, but they paid no attention to her, and in her desperation she got a revolver and fired. Fortunately her aim was poor, but it brought the scoundrels to their senses—if folks indulging in such idiotic practices have any—and they vanished.

SUPREME COURT ENDS DOG CASE

Holds That Bitches Are Property in the Eyes of the Law. Thomas O'Neil of Lansing recovered a judgment in a justice court against A. C. Newman, and again in the circuit court for the sum of $12, for the killing of a dog. The case was appealed to the Supreme court and it was affirmed. Hence dogs are property. The case possessed one amusing feature. In the declaration filed in the case the dog was described as a "beagle hound dog," while the plaintiff testified that it was a cross between a beagle and a common hound. The defendant admitted killing the dog, but claimed that plaintiff could not recover because the hound was improperly described in the declaration. The question of whether the dog was property was left to the jury and decided by it. The court holds that the appeal in the case was not vexatious.

Denies Famine Story

Swedes and others of the upper peninsula who have been contributing the past winter to a fund for the relief of the famine-stricken in Sweden will be interested in the statement made by Captain Ingar Olson, a prominent Swede of Milwaukee, who has just returned from a three months' stay in Norway. During all the time he was there, Capt. Olson says, he heard nothing about an unusual famine in either Norway or Sweden, notwithstanding the fact that he spent much of the time he was there right in the city of Christiania.

MEN SETTLES FOR BUGGY RIDE

Troy Bird Lays a Double-yolked Egg in Vehicle. William Parks, a wealthy farmer who lives in Troy township, has a hen that evidently is looking for newspaper notoriety. The other day when the farmer drove to Birmingham the hen was found under the buggy seat busily engaged in laying an egg. She remained undisturbed, and when the farmer reached home he dug her down to the ground and an investigation showed that she had laid a double-yolked egg, to pay for her six-mile ride.

Shutdown Hurts Trade

The long shutdown of the tinplate mills and the closing of the rolling mills are seriously affecting business interests of Muskegon. Merchants are feeling the loss of the immense semi-monthly distribution of wages among the 1,000 employes of the two concerns. The prospects for the opening of the rolling mills are not very bright and many of the former employes are leaving the city.

County Must Pay

In the mandamus case brought by Health Officer Cowles, of Durand, to compel the board of supervisors of Shiawassee county to allow his claim for the treatment of persons ill with smallpox, the Supreme Court modified the decision of Circuit Judge Smith and directed that Cowles' claim for $157.75 be allowed. Another claim for $520 was declared not to be a legal claim against the county, but that the village may pay it if it sees fit.

Job Lot of Rifles

Quartermaster General Kid, acting under authority of the state military board, will dispose of the old Springfield rifles formerly used by the National Guard, but discarded when the modern magazine rifles were adopted. He will advertise for proposals for the purchase of these arms in lots of not less than twenty and the proposals will be opened at Lansing April 18.

Lacks Fire Protection

Mendon is without a fire department. On night of the recent fire two members of the department were engaged to assist in ridding the engine. A bill for the services of these two men was sent in and the council refused to pay it. The entire membership then resigned in a body.

An effort is being made to effect a consolidation of the Menominee and Marinette men who saw service in the Spanish war into one organization. At present the Menominee men are in the National Army and Navy Veterans and the Marinette men in the Spanish-American War Veterans. The members of the latter are gradually dropping out and joining the Menominee organization.

Cat in the Organ

The large organ in the St. James' church, Birmingham, had been out of order for a few days and on being overhauled by an expert the cause was found to be a cat which had in some way got inside the organ and could not get out again. The poor thing when taken out was nearly starved, but still alive.

The local papers are now calling on the council to invest in some signs that will be of use to someone."

What Is Doing in All Sections of the State

A School Riot

The high school pupils of Benton Harbor revolted Tuesday, the climax of a row with the teachers. The students took possession of the big assembly hall of the Broadway building, locked all the doors, put down the shades and lighted the gas. The place was brought into use, the seats were moved to the sides of the room, and the boys and girls were loudly dancing the two-step to red-hot ragtime when Supt. Wilson, Prof. Dolle and other members of the faculty arrived at the outer door. After great difficulty they gained admission when they found all the students were in the place. The room was highly decorated with overcoats, hats, rubbers, etc. The high school skeleton sat in a dignified attitude upon the principal's chair; it wore a pair of spectacles and an old hat and appeared to be devouring a book which was propped up in its hands. The principal was unable to determine who was most to blame for the riot, so he has made a report to the board of education. An investigation is to be conducted, and there are threats of wholesale expulsion.

In Cured by Drinking Water

Peter J. O'Neill, a prominent merchant of Port Huron, who some time ago decided to remove to another climate for the benefit of his health, and had closed out nearly all his real estate holdings for that reason, reports a remarkable recovery of his health by following the advice of a friend. He was advised to drink plenty of water. Accordingly he changed from tea and coffee to water, and finds such an improvement in his condition that he has reconsidered his determination to seek a healthier climate.

Wife Desertion

Houghton county is taking more interest, perhaps, than any other locality in the state in the bill before the legislature to make wife desertion a felony. Houghton county has more cases of wife desertion in proportion to population than any other county in the state, and would welcome the enactment of the bill into a law. At present all that can be done with wife deserters is to send them to the county jail for a few months, which is not only slight punishment for the offender, but an additional burden upon the taxpayers.

Pays the Piper

Some time ago A. W. Wilson of Lake City shot and killed a dog belonging to S. W. McChesney, a neighbor. The latter brought suit for damages and got a verdict of $30, but the supreme court reversed the decision and assessed upon McChesney the cost of the litigation, which had reached $100.

SWEETLAND AND LOWER TAXES.

The election of Frank Sweetland to the office of Supervisor next Monday, means lower taxes for every person in Sylvan township, with few exceptions.

Last year our taxes were reduced by the payment of $1,015.40 taxes by the two electric roads running through the township. Next year they will be reduced again if the taxes of Mr. Bacon's business partners are placed on a basis that will equalize with other assessments throughout the township, or even brought back to the amount they paid before Mr. Bacon was first elected supervisor.

During Mr. Bacon's administration Mr. C. H. Kempf's taxes have been reduced about two-thirds or in their neighborhood of $1,200.00 per year.

Every taxpayer in Sylvan township is paying his proportion of this $1,200.00. Do you want to keep on paying Mr. Kempf's taxes for all time?

Mr. H. S. Holmes taxes have been kept at a ridiculously low figure compared with other assessments.

The name of R. Kempf who is stockholder and director of the Kempf Bank does not appear on Mr. Bacon's tax roll and he goes scott free and does not pay a dollar of taxes in Sylvan township.

Why are these things thus? Do you want to continue to pay the taxes of men who should be on the tax roll but are not there? Men who put up such a huller about taxes that a stranger would think they paid the entire tax of the State of Michigan but who in reality do not pay a dollar. Are they sincere, or do they hold their tongues loudly, simply to mislead people and conceal the fact that they themselves are the real tax dodgers.

Facts Stranger Than Fiction. The following figures giving the amount of taxes paid by four persons in Sylvan township last year may interest you:

Table with 3 columns: Name, Village, Township, Total. Rows include E. P. Glazier, O. B. Kempf, H. S. Holmes, R. Kempf.

The above figures include the taxes of the Glazier Stove Co. and also the Bacon, Holmes Hardware Co., but do not include the Holmes Mercantile Co., as their village taxes for the year 1901 are still unpaid.

It seems as if a little equalization applied to the above assessments would be no more than fair.

Mr. Glazier does not ask any reduction in his taxes and says he does not intend to move out of the town to get rid of paying them. As he was the first man to pay his taxes to the township treasurer last fall we believe he means just what he says.

Then why not place Messrs. Holmes and Kempf's taxes where they properly belong and thus reduce the taxes of every taxpayer in Sylvan township this year, the same as they were reduced by the $1,015.40 paid by the electric roads last year.

A vote for Frank Sweetland next Monday means a vote for peace, prosperity and lower taxes.

Remembrance.

Day after day
Work, work, always!
O time, a moment tarry!
Let us forget
The fume and fret
Of life, and just be merry!

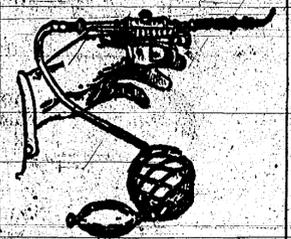

Hard in the fate
That will not wait
For happiness or laughter,
And leaves the best
Of life to rest
In some remote hereafter.

O time, be fair!
Let not dull care
Life's mystic meaning measure!
Work is for man,
The wisest plan—
But crowned with peace and pleasure!

POPULAR SCIENCE

Improved Hot Air Syringe.
Dentists and physicians frequently have use for a device for heating air or vaporizing medicaments, the former for drying cavities in the teeth previous to filling them, and the latter in treating catarrh and diseases of the ear. There has been in use for years a simple instrument for this purpose, consisting of a rubber bulb and nozzle, through which the hot air is drawn from the flame and dis-

Whips Dust From Garments.
As is well known, there are certain kinds of cloth in which the nap is easily injured by frequent brushing to remove the dust, and the use of a beater for this work is about as harmful, since the blows may fray the garment if much force is exerted. It is the object of the device here presented to remove the dust from garments without injury from either of the above causes, the invention being devised by Winfield Harbough of Santa Barbara, Cal.

For Physicians and Dentists.
The illustration we show an improvement over this arrangement, in which the air is heated by a flame in conjunction with the tubing, through which the jet of air passes before being discharged to accomplish its purpose. The portion of the device which is grasped between the thumb and finger is used as a reservoir for the storage of alcohol or other volatile liquid, with a wick tube lying beneath a coil of pipe to heat the air in its passage. The flames and heated coil are surrounded by a non-conducting shield to protect the hand. To force the air through the heating and drying coil a rubber bulb is compressed in the hand, and in the picture we show a reservoir below the bulb arranged to contain a liquid medicine to be vaporized and discharged from the nozzle by compression of the rubber bulb. The apparatus was designed by a Californian.

Electrical Fish.
In a recent lecture Dr. F. Gotch, a professor of Oxford university, dwelt upon the subject of electrical fish and pointed out that no such fish existed in British streams. They were comparatively rare objects, he said, and were possessed of singular interest. There were at least four groups of electrical fish in which an extraordinary organ had been developed. Some of these fish could give shocks strong enough to knock a man down, and if the current they were capable of generating could be maintained, it would be sufficient to light a whole town. The electrical eel and the torpedo fish were alluded to as species possessing this remarkable phenomenon. The lecturer described the electrical organ found in the tail of the common skate. "Physiologists," he said, "had been dissecting this fish for years, but had generally passed over the tail as an object unworthy of study. It is here, however, that the interesting structure is situated, immediately below the skin. It consists of a whole series of columns, which have taken the place of muscles. These columns contain translucent material and in the fresh state are most beautiful objects. The columns are crossed by lines which divide them into compartments including a most wonderful arrangement of nerves. The electrical discharge occurs as the result of a nervous impulse communicated to the fish to the nerve ends, causing an electrical charge. An electrical organ may include as many as 2,000,000 of these compartments."

The lecturer continuing said that a formidable species of electric fish which inhabits the rivers of North Africa, including the Nile, belongs to the genus gymnotus and is capable of giving a very powerful shock. An easily recognizable picture of this fish has been discovered in an ancient Egyptian tomb. These electric organs were the most remarkable examples of nerve mechanism known to exist. They had been developed as a means of defense—the first consideration for the maintenance of any species—and also as a means of attack.

Simple Shower Bath Outfit.
Most people are apt to regard the shower bath apparatus as an expensive luxury, not to be afforded in every home, but a Chicago inventor has sought to devise a means for placing the cost of the outfit so low as to be within the reach of many who could not before afford it. How well the man has succeeded is shown in the illustration of the apparatus presented herewith, the mechanism being easily placed in position for use on any ordinary bath tub. The

"Kidney Colds"
Nothing will "lay you up," "play you out," "put you to bed" quicker than a kidney cold. Thousands feel the first effects of colds in the kidneys; backache, rheumatism, pains, urinary disorders, retention of the urine, infrequent and too frequent urinary discharges tell of kidneys out of order. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills from common backache to dangerous diabetes.

A. T. Ritzdorf, owner of the wood yard at 135 East Cork street, Winchester, Va., says: "Ever since I had a gripe I have been a sufferer from kidney troubles, which made themselves apparent in racking pains through the region of the kidneys and across the small of my back. The pains were always severe, and sometimes so sharp and biting that they compelled me to take to my bed. The kidney secretions furnished further evidence of disorders. They were of color, irregular, and painful of passage. Added to this there was an annoying weakness."

"The newspaper advertisements of Doan's Kidney Pills attracted my attention, and I procured a box of that remedy at Frank Baker & Sons' drug store. The relief I experienced was magical. The pills lifted me from my bed of sickness, placed me on my feet, and made me a well man. I can work as well as ever. Doan's Kidney Pills, I believe, saved my life. They are a great remedy to stop kidney troubles resulting from colds."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Ritzdorf will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Egyptian Paint Palettes of 5,500 B. C.
Prof. Petrie has recently described some of his discoveries at Hierakonpolis in Egypt among the tombs of the first pre-dynastic kings about 5,000 to 6,000 B. C. Among the finds are paint palettes used by the royal ladies for grinding face paints. The artistic execution of the carvings is excellent and shows very high skill. Curiously enough the carvings are of interest to zoologists as they exhibit animals long since extinct in Egypt—the hartbeest, etc. The warriors are bearded, and are armed with bows and arrows, javelins, double-headed axes and with weapons like boomerangs. Two have lassos. That the race who made these objects had very high artistic taste and a knowledge of technique which proves long practice is apparent from an inspection of the objects themselves, which are eminently superior to any later Egyptian work.

Progress of Invention.
Successful experiments have been made for obtaining alcohol and sugar from pine and birch sawdust. French cabinet makers have learned a way of preparing sawdust and making it into articles of ornament that resemble carved wood-work. A Canadian inventor claims to have invented a system of telephoning between stations, utilizing the railroad tracks instead of a line of wire for the transmission of messages. The Automotor Journal, London, describes a new traction engine called the "pedrail," which literally "walks upstairs with the stride and surefootedness of an elephant" and hauls loads far in excess of those the wheeled traction engine can move.

Advantages of New Lamp.
It is claimed for the mercury vapor lamp, which illuminates by the incandescence of mercury converted into vapor in a vacuum tube by electricity, that it will take but one-third the energy required for the arc light and but one-eighth the energy used by the incandescent filament.

Invents a Wireless Piano.
A resident of Bloomington, Ill., has invented a wireless piano. He first constructed a five octave comb reed of steel, placed it upon a bridge and soundboard and by degrees discovered a way to make a very fine harp note. He has been working for eighteen years on his invention.

Good Reason for Not Trading.
Those who know Dr. Wilder, father of Marshall P. Wilder, appreciate that humor is hereditary. The doctor approached a friend in the Waldorf Astoria last Saturday and asked: "Did you know that the Times publishes every day a list of the names of people who will never trade at So-and-So's (naming a prominent department store) again?" "No, you don't say. Why, I should think that would be ground for a damage suit." "Well, you see," replied the doctor, "the names are under the heading 'Died Yesterday.'"

EFFECT OF THE OPERATION.
Part of Nature of Sheep Grafted on Farmer.

An operation was performed recently by a local surgeon on a farmer living near Norristown, says the Philadelphia Telegraph, and the peculiar methods pursued will go down on record as a marvel of science, if the tiller of the soil should get perfectly hate again. The man had been suffering from cancer of the stomach for many years, and considered his case hopeless, until he conferred with the surgeon, who promised that an operation might cure him. Accordingly it was agreed to perform it at the farmer's home the next day.

The sufferer was laid upon a table side by side with a healthy sheep. The stomach of each was cut open, and the part affected by cancer was transferred to the sheep in exchange for a good slice of its intestines. Both patients were sewed up and soon revived from the effects of the anesthetic used during the extraordinary operation. The sheep was turned loose and its master put to bed. For a week the farmer was nourished on goat's milk, and after ten days was allowed to sit up in a chair, as everything was progressing favorably.

A Remarkable Statue.
An Italian sculptor finished for a family in Logansport, Ind., a statue for the local cemetery which exemplifies the longing of the bereaved for an exact literal reproduction of the dead, and at the same time affords the most complete bit of realism known. In order to get the statue the family had a photograph taken of a man exactly the size of the deceased, dressed in the latter's clothes. These include a mackintosh over an ordinary business suit, trousers crammed to the tops of rubber boots, loose tie, turn-down collar, and soft, broad-brim hat. The photograph and a head of the deceased were sent to Italy, and the result is a counterfeit presentation of the father of the family in white Carrara marble standing on a tall pedestal in the cemetery. The rubber boots recall the business of the deceased; he was a contractor of ditches.—New York Times.

Electric Plant for Mexico.
It is reported that the English contractors, Sir Westman, Pearson & Son, who have large investments in Mexico, have obtained concessions from the Mexican government for the establishment of an extensive system of electrical energy. They announce that they have the necessary plans completed for expending $12,000,000 gold in constructing an electric generating plant in the mountains of the state of Puebla, where there is an abundance of water power.

Recent Spouse is Taken Back After Spending Money on Another.
Milwaukee, Wis., dispatch: After having sent his wife $400 with which to pay her expenses from Germany to America, Michael Kitka of Chicago found that she had used the money to elope with a German professor to Milwaukee. When, however, she was taken into custody and confronted Kitka, who wept so copiously and pleaded so hard for forgiveness that he relented and took her back.

In The Secret Service

"Yes, danger is an ever-constant companion of men who follow my business," said the old secret service man. "We know not at what hour we may be called upon to face death in a violent form. But we get used to experiences of this nature, and learn to keep a cool head on our shoulders and to think quickly."

"It is strange," continued the veteran of the service, "that secrets, however carefully guarded, will sometimes leak out. I remember on one occasion I was in search of a man wanted for robbing the mails. I had been selected for the job because I was an absolute stranger to the man and his friends, and could freely mingle with the latter without being recognized or suspected."

"Within an hour after receiving my orders I took a train out of Chicago for a Western city, from where I was to take a circuitous route to another place, where I expected to pick up some clues upon which to proceed. But before I had traveled fifty miles from Chicago I received a telegram from my chief informing me that the man I wanted had just arrived in a certain small city in Iowa. A new code, which we had but recently adopted, was made use of by the writer of the message, and it seemed impossible that any one on the outside could know anything about my business."

"So I immediately took another train for the town mentioned. As the train was pulling into the station I took a position on the platform of the rear car, and before the train stopped scanned the faces of all those at the station, as I thought it possible my man might be planning to take the same train out of town and might slip aboard without my seeing him."

"While I was thus engaged I heard some one climb upon the platform behind me and, turning, had the pleasure of looking down the muzzle of a big revolver and of recognizing the man behind the gun as the man I was seeking. 'You don't want to get off here,' he said. 'You want to go on.' 'All right,' said I. 'I'll go on.' And I did. He stood guard over me until the train had gained considerable speed and then he dropped off, waving his hand at me as a token of farewell. 'Oh, I'll see you again,' I yelled. And he laughed."

"As soon as possible I stopped the train and got off with my gun in my hand. He was not to be found. But six months later, after a weary chase of thousands of miles, I caught him, one fine morning, while he was digging for gold on a lonely Colorado mountain. The old secret service man laughed heartily over the recollection. "But the lightest place I was ever in," he continued presently, "was in Cincinnati, a good many years ago."

"You don't want to get off here," he said. "You want to go on." If it hadn't been for that, and he felt of the hard muscles of his good right arm, proudly, "it is hardly likely I should be spinning these yarns to you now. It was another case of counterfeiting. I had been on the trail of the gang for months, and had at last located their headquarters in a rear room of an old tumble-down building in the Ohio city. 'Well, I had my game treed all right, but I wanted evidence. So, posing as a desperate man out of a job I worked my way into their confidence and soon made an agreement with one of the gang to 'float' some of their 'bogus' on commission. 'In accordance with a prearranged plan I met them one evening in their room. We were gathered around a table upon which a quantity of the counterfeit money was piled, and I was in the act of concealing a portion of it on my person when the door was suddenly opened and another man

"The game's up, partner, and you don't want to get caught," entered. I immediately recognized him as a party I had arrested several years before, and I trembled in my boots for fear the recognition might be mutual. "When his glance fell upon me he paused. Then he advanced a step or two and, with an oath, said: 'Boys, that fellow's a fly cop. I knows 'im. He sent me to de pen on it.' 'For a brief moment there was an ominous silence—the awful silence that precedes a storm. I realized my danger. I knew my life wasn't worth a penny if the man's statement was believed. Something had to be done, and done quickly. So I followed the first impulse that popped into my mind and trusted to luck. 'With the force and ferocity of an enraged lion I sprang upon the newcomer. 'Call me a fly cop, will you?' I cried, striking him a powerful blow with my fist and knocking him down. Try to queer me when I want a chance to earn some money, will you?' I yelled falling on top of him and pommeling him about the head. 'Still rolling with him upon the floor I placed my mouth to his ear as though trying to bite him and whispered: 'The game's up, partner, and you don't want to get caught. In five minutes a dozen officers will be here. You'd better skip!' Then adding in a loud voice, ringing with indignation, 'be careful who you call a fly cop next time,' I let him up. 'I was mistaken, boys,' he said, quite humbly. 'I never saw this man before.' And he opened the door hurriedly; they had greatly enjoyed the incident. 'I began taking the money out of my pockets and laying it on the table. 'What are you doing?' asked the leader, surprised. 'Why,' said I, innocently, 'you fellows ain't got no confidence in me now, and I—' Oh, fiddlesticks! exclaimed the other, impatiently. 'Jim was drunk. Go ahead. Don't go back on us now.' 'So I kept the bogus. I had them beaten, and a few hours later they were all behind the bars, including the man I had thrashed. But it was a pretty tight squeeze.'—New York Times.

"In diseases that come to women only, as a rule, the doctor is called in, sometimes several doctors, but still matters go from bad to worse; but I have never known of a case of female weakness which was not healed when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used faithfully. For young women who are subject to headaches, backache, irregular or painful periods, and nervous attacks due to the severe strain on the system by some organic trouble, and for women of advanced years in the most trying time of life, it serves to correct every trouble and restore a healthy action of all organs of the body. 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound' is a household reliance in my home, and I would not be without it. In all my experience with this medicine, which covers years, I have found nothing to equal it and always recommend it." Mrs. LAURA L. BARNES, 607 Second St., N. E., Washington, D. C. 1898. Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

MRS. RATH'S BABY

Tired Mother's Touching Story of Anxiety and Suffering.

Cuticura Brings Blessed Cure to Skin Tortured Baby and Peace and Rest to Its Worn Out Mother.

It is no wonder that Mrs. Helena Rath was taken sick. Single-handed, she did all the housework and washed, cooked and mended for her husband, Hans, and their six children. After a plucky fight to keep on her feet, Mrs. Rath had to yield, and early in 1902 she took to her bed. What followed she told to a visitor, who called at her tidy home, No. 327 Tenth Ave., New York City.

"I hired a girl to mind the children and to do whatever else she could. I couldn't stay in bed long. Sick as I was, it was easier for me to crawl around than to lie and worry about my little ones. So I got up after a few days, and let the girl go. I had noticed that she had some sores on her face, hands and arms, but I paid no attention to them until Charlie, my youngest, began to pick and scratch himself. He was then ten months old, and the girl had paid more attention to him than to any of the others. Charlie was fretful and cross, but as he was cutting teeth, I didn't think much of that. Even when a rash broke out on his face I wasn't frightened, because everybody knows that that is quite common with teething babies. Several of my others had it when little, and I thought nothing about it. 'But the rash on Charlie's poor little face spread to his neck, chest, and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before. The skin rose in little lumps, and matted curls out like a porcupine's quills, and how he did suffer! He would lie on the floor with him weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores."

"I believe he had caught some disease from the girl, but some of the neighbors said he had some, and that is not catching, they told me. Yes, I gave him medicines, and put salves and things on him. I don't think they were all useless. Once in a while the itching seemed to let up a bit, but there was not much change for the better until I laid across the street asked me why I didn't try the Cuticura Remedies. I told her I had no faith in those things you read about in the papers. She said she didn't want me to go on faith nor even to spend any money at first. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charlie and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. 'I wouldn't have believed that my baby would have been cured by a little thing like that. Not all of a sudden, mind you. Little by little, but so surely. Charlie and I both got more peace by day, and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away. I shall never forget one blessed night when I went to bed with Charlie beside me, as soon as I got the supper dishes out of the way and the older children undressed; when I woke up the sun was streaming in. For the first time in six months I had slept through the night without a break."

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window, in Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snowflake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and also the Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

The agonizing, itching, and burning of the skin as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair, and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk curd, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent are such stand proved beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

It is the petty, unlooked-for things in life that annoy. A man may be walking along as happy and unconscious of evil as a new bride who has not yet shaken all the rice out of her black hair; when, lo, and behold! a brick will drop fourteen stories and hit him in the ear. He prepares to dress for a function of tea, roses and curl papers, and can't find a white tie to save his standing in the community. Then his collar button comes out and rolls under the dresser. He finally gets to the station and the guard on the elevated train won't open the door in time to let him aboard. Thirty minutes later he steps on a banana-peel and is "all in" as the street-vocabulary has it. Now all these things are unimportant in themselves, but bunched, they make a man grow old. He goeth forth in the morning elated and full of hope. The wind catches his hat amidships and bloweth it careeningly down the street. He pushes after it and is outdone. This reminds of "Ironquill" Warr's Kansas breeze: "Once a Kansas kaysar strayed White a cross-eyed bull pup played. And the foolish canine bowed Semblable to a swag."

Then the zephyr in about Half a jiffy took that pup. Turned him over wrong side up, Then it turned him wrong side out; And it calmly journeyed hence With a barn-and-string-of-fores.

Once we owned a dally paper. Those who have heard George Ade's "Peggy from Paris" will recall that "Helms played with Sousa once—just once." In this at least we were like Helms. A carrier boy is a small thing, a petty and a trivial circumstance, and yet he can do more to cause woe than even "Ironquill's" zephyr. One night he forgot to carry his papers. In a moment of unguardedness he had allowed the town telephone man to place a hello-box on his happy home. On this occasion the phone rang—not once—but several times. Then it pealed some more, and with a sad heart we skulked to the office, and in the darkness we delivered those papers. We, the editor and owner of a public thought moulder, the proud possessor of a three-story brick building, a gasoline engine and a shooting stick, delivering our own aristocratic thoughts at the door-sills of the constituency. We humbled our pride and carried the edition, but there sunk deep into our heart a shaft that ever and anon pricks us to the realization that the little things of life are responsible for the gray hairs in our wife's head.

"Are thou the bird whom man loves best?" The pious bird with the scarlet breast. Our little English robin? There is a belief, more marked among the country folk than in the city's confines, that good luck comes to the one who first sees and hears a robin redbreast in the spring. The arrival of the adventurous bird is heralded proudly to the local paper by the fortunate discoverer. The editor, with thoughts aglow and seeing the green and budding earth in the approaching distance, goes full merit to the local Christopher Columbus and his welcome find. Meanwhile others have heard these adventurous songsters from the southland, and the annual dispute arises, the editor having, on more than one occasion, contradicted the glory misapprehension of the alleged discoverer, undeniable proof having been furnished by a more previous Porce de Leon.

Indeed, the coming of the robin in the last waning days of winter creates a sensation. The grown folks feel a quickening of the heart and pulse at the cheery cry of their feathered friend, the babies press their faces to the window-pane to see the winged messenger from a warmer clime, and during the chattering days that usually follow the advent of the first redbreast, all feel a touch of pity while

"Poor robin sits and sings alone, When the showers of driving sleet, By the cold winds of winter blown, The cottage casement beat."

When robin comes it is a sign, in the village, to begin holding town meetings for the advancement of the town. Heroic grave and fiery speeches are made and paper rails are laid for imaginary railways miles and miles in length. Then, before the stock is subscribed, wife begins to talk about new bonnets, new whirlwinds and new outfits for the children. The result is hard on the railroad. The Braton legend of the red iris upon the robin's breast is a pretty one. It is well told in the English lyrics thus:

"Bearing His cross while Christ passed forth forlorn, His gaitlike forehead by the mock crown worn, A little bird took from that crown one then, To soothe the dear Redeemer's throbbing head, That bird did what she could; His blood, Down dripping, dyed her tender bosom red, Since then no wanton boy disturbs her nest, Weasels not eat will her young molest; All sacred deem the bird of ruddy breast."

When the American hen begins a series of domestic duties in the glad spring time, the manufacturers of health foods are compelled to grow more strenuous in the pushing of their products. There is something about a nice fresh egg for breakfast that nothing can equal, unless it be another egg. Thus the cereals are pitted against a palatable foodstuff that has a determined hold on the average citizen. To emphasize the value of the hen, a laying contest has been inaugurated in Australia, where Uncle Sam's hens (excuse the gender) will be pitted against hens from the antipodes. Some of the American hens that will take part in the egg-producing rivalry, have records of 240 eggs per year, enough to make President Elliot of Harvard, cry out for joy at their fecundity. Not one of the champions from the States has a record of less than 200 eggs per year. The Australian government has offered to purchase the best layers at $25 per head, and if the American hen abroad behaves anything like she does when she sneaks under the barn to lay her eggs far from the curious eye of the housewife, she will never come back to America. The American hen sets a good example for American women, but if one is to believe President Roosevelt and the advocates of more babies, the example is little emulated. Here's hoping the Acar-spangled-banner-hen wins, anyhow—even if we do have to get along with pug dogs for babies at home.

A TALKING ALARM CLOCK.

It is Guaranteed to Get Any Man Out of Bed.

"Ring-ding-ding-ding! Get up, you lazy loafer! It's 7 o'clock!" Those strenuous words, preceded by the tinkling of a brass little bell, caused a visitor in a West Philadelphia hotel to hop out of bed the other morning with immense suddenness. The words were so authoritative that he had the same feeling of submission he had had when a schoolboy and his father called him. So he jumped up now without question.

What had awakened him was a phonographic clock, an ingenious arrangement devised by his host, which was so set that the same spring which started the alarm started, a moment later, a phonographic attachment. The maker of the phonographic clock said he thought of patenting it. "You see," he said, "the phonograph, speaking to you after the alarm awakes you, can be made to say different things—can be made, for instance, if you have an important engagement, to tell you of it—can be made to state emphatically to you, don't you know, the reason why you should arise. Usually my phonograph says to me: 'Get up, it's 7 o'clock. Get up, or the boss will dock you for being late.'"

Lancaster, N. Y., March 30th.—Postmaster Remers is still in receipt of many letters asking if his cure has held good.

It will be remembered that some time ago the particulars of Mr. Remers' case were published in these columns. He had been very low with Diabetes. Physicians could do nothing to save him and he grew worse and worse till someone recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills. A treatment of this remedy was begun and when eight boxes had been taken Mr. Remers began to see an improvement, which continued as the treatment proceeded till he was completely restored.

He has since enjoyed perfect health and is as robust and able a man as any in Lancaster. Interviewed the other day he said:

"Many people wrote to me when the story of my case was first printed and some write to me yet asking if the cure was only temporary and if the diabetes has returned. I have only one answer to everybody. Three years ago I was very low with diabetes. The best physicians failed to help me and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I am well and strong and have not had the slightest return of the old trouble."

Imagine his greater astonishment a moment later when he found three dollar bills which he could not account for as his property. Next morning he was amazed to discover a $5 bill and a $10 bill in the drawer when he had left no paper money there the night previous. For several days his bank account was thus added to and at last the citizen concluded the rat was stealing money from some nearby store or bank, the rodent's ultimate intention being, no doubt to make a nest of the crisp currency. The merchant is still at a loss to know where his long-tailed friend secured the money, but he is zealously endeavoring to make a five years' contract with the active animal.

Not one of the champions from the States has a record of less than 200 eggs per year. The Australian government has offered to purchase the best layers at $25 per head, and if the American hen abroad behaves anything like she does when she sneaks under the barn to lay her eggs far from the curious eye of the housewife, she will never come back to America. The American hen sets a good example for American women, but if one is to believe President Roosevelt and the advocates of more babies, the example is little emulated. Here's hoping the Acar-spangled-banner-hen wins, anyhow—even if we do have to get along with pug dogs for babies at home.

When the American hen begins a series of domestic duties in the glad spring time, the manufacturers of health foods are compelled to grow more strenuous in the pushing of their products. There is something about a nice fresh egg for breakfast that nothing can equal, unless it be another egg. Thus the cereals are pitted against a palatable foodstuff that has a determined hold on the average citizen. To emphasize the value of the hen, a laying contest has been inaugurated in Australia, where Uncle Sam's hens (excuse the gender) will be pitted against hens from the antipodes. Some of the American hens that will take part in the egg-producing rivalry, have records of 240 eggs per year, enough to make President Elliot of Harvard, cry out for joy at their fecundity. DAN GROSVENOR SAYS:

"Pa-ru-na is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy—I am as Well as Ever."

HON. DAN A. GROSVENOR, OF THE FAMOUS OHIO FAMILY.

Hon. Dan A. Grosvenor, Deputy Auditor for the War Department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy."

DAN A. GROSVENOR.

In a recent letter he says:—

"I consider Peruna really more meritorious than I did when I wrote you last. I receive numerous letters from acquaintances all over the country asking me if my certificate is genuine. I invariably answer yes."—Dan A. Grosvenor.

A County Commissioner's Letter.

Hon. John Williams, County Commissioner, of 517 West Second street, Duluth, Minn., says the following in regard to Peruna:

"As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."—John Williams.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. H. W. Ogden, Congressman from Louisiana, in a letter written at Washington, D. C., says the following of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy:

There is no great achievement that is not the result of patient working and waiting. The skies are never so bright as when they have been washed by a shower.

Stops the Cough and Works Off the Cold

Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. Price 25c.

Adversity borrows its sharpest sting from our impatience.—Bishop Liorne.

The misfortunes hardest to bear are those that never come.—J. R. Lowell.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

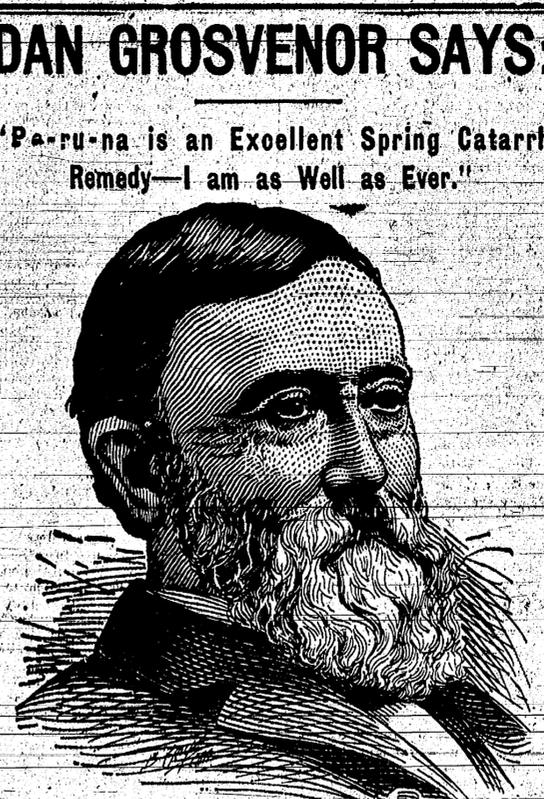

Disasters are but disguised blessings to His children.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives, or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, and colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to, some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

"I can conscientiously recommend your Peruna as a fine tonic and all around good medicine to those who are in need of a catarrh remedy. It has been commended to me by people who have used it, as a remedy particularly effective in the cure of catarrh. For those who need a good catarrh medicine I know of nothing better."—H. W. Ogden.

W. E. Griffith, Concan, Texas, writes: "I suffered with chronic catarrh for many years. I took Peruna and it completely cured me. I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world for catarrh. My general health is much improved by its use, as I am much stronger than I have been for years."—W. E. Griffith.

A Congressman's Letter.

Congressman F. Bowen, Ruskin, Tazewell county, Va., writes:

"I can cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy, Peruna, to any one who is suffering with catarrh, and who is in need of a permanent and effective cure."—F. Bowen.

Mr. Fred D. Scott, Laure, Ohio, Right Guard of Hiram Foot Ball Team, writes: "As a specific for lung trouble I place Peruna at the head. I have used it myself for colds and catarrh of the bowels and it is a splendid remedy. It restores vitality, increases bodily strength and makes a sick person well in a short time. I give Peruna my hearty endorsement."—Fred D. Scott.

Gen. J. C. Abbott, 906 M street N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:—

"I am fully convinced that your remedy is an excellent tonic. Many of my friends have used it with the most beneficial results for cough, colds and catarrhal trouble."—J. C. Abbott.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, brator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N. E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh of the bowels. I took Peruna for a month and now I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures Mrs. Elmer Fleming, when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet, winter weather often retards the cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A LOVE LETTER. Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed saved for, burns or piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at Glazier & Stimson's Drug Store."

Warren H. Smith. The delegate in county convention yesterday made a mistake in the nomination of Warren H. Smith for county commissioner. Mr. Smith is a product of the schools of Washtenaw county. He is a graduate of the Ypsilanti high school and of the literary department of the University. He has had years of experience as a teacher. He spent some years as principal of the high school at Pontiac, Lansing and Flint. He is experienced not only in classroom work but in supervising the work of teachers. He not only knows what good school work is when he sees it, but is entirely competent to do that kind of work in the classroom himself. He is a man of good presence and is a good speaker. He is easy to make acquaintances and generally agreeable and well liked. As commissioner of schools, he will be entirely able to competently command that which is good in our rural schools and outposts that which needs improvement. He will make a leader for the teachers of the county, whom they can follow with entire safety. The public schools are our greatest public interest. Their management brings them into closer relations with the people generally than any other public interest. This great interest is one, therefore, which requires in a commissioner, personally, moral qualities, educational equipment and experience such as to constitute him a competent leader for the great body of teachers over whom his jurisdiction extends. He should be a man, too, who when occasion demands it can speak intelligently before teachers, pupils and patrons on any subject pertaining to his work. In all these lines Mr. Smith is competent for the duties of the office for which he has been nominated. He ought to be elected. The Argus believes the good of the schools will be best conserved by his election. -Ann Arbor Argus March 31th.

A Card of Thanks. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wallace wish to thank the parties who went to the trouble of sending a complaint to the State Public School at Coldwater, and would say when we find we are not competent to attend to our own affairs we will have a guardian appointed of our own choice. We would suggest that the next time you write, write to headquarters. Alfred and Cynthia Wallace. Lyndon, March 27, 1903.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends who so willingly gave their help and sympathy during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. U. H. Townsend, Mrs. A. Beach, D. D. Dixon and C. B. Dixon.

ASWEET BREATH. Is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Critch, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been dyspeptic for years - tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored to weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet." Glazier & Stimson.

For liver troubles and constipation there's nothing better in creation than Little Early-Risers, the famous "They always effect a cure and save doctor bills. Little Early-Risers are different from all other pills. They do not weaken the system, but act as a tonic to the tissues by arousing the secretions and restoring the liver to the full performance of its functions naturally." Glazier & Stimson.
