MONDAY'S ELECTION.

William Bacon Defeated for Supervisor by His Own Party.

The largest vote ever polled in any township election in this county was polled here Monday, there being 707 votes cast, and it did appear as if every voter in the township recorded his vote, but there were still a few scattering ones that did not put in an appearance. It was a bitterly fought battle, the distinguishing feature of it being a Republican state senator's (F. P. Glazier) determined "knocking" of the head of his own party ticket, William Bacon, in favor of the Democratic nominee Frank H. Sweetland. Every influence was brought to bear against Mr. Bacon, but even then he was only beaten by 20 votes. The balance of the ticket was solidly Republican, with the exception of clerk, highway commissioner and one constable, Bert B. Turnbull being re-elected clerk, Jas. Geddes, sr., highway commissioner, and Frank Leach one of the constables. The result of the ballot is given below:

Pronounced My Case Incurable,
Said I Would Die Of Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Brought Good Health.

"I have every reason to recommend the Dr. Miles Remedies as the Heart Cure saved my life. I am a large man, considerably over six feet in height, weigh nearly three hundred pounds. Some years ago my heart was so seriously affected that I never expected to get well. Doctors pronounced my case incurable. I noticed your advertisement in some paper, and bought six bottles of the Heart Cure. I felt great relief and improved so I continued until I had taken twelve bottles. My trouble was organic and I never expected to be permanently cured, but thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, I have kept in good health and have been able to follow my profession continuously since first taking the remedies eight years ago. I am a musician, teacher of instrumental and vocal music, musical conductor, etc. I have taught all over the state of Michigan and have recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to thousands of persons in all parts of the state and have heard nothing but good reports of it. I have induced dozens of persons in my own county to take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as my word is never doubted by those who know me."—C. H. Smith, Flint, Mich.

"I am a druggist and have sold and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me, and I wish I could state more clearly the splendid good health I am enjoying now. Your Restorative Nervine gives excellent satisfaction."—Dr. T. H. Watts, Druggist, Hot Springs, S. D.

One of the most enjoyable socials of the season was that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schultz, Friday evening. The next social will soon follow and be at the home of Fred Glenn.

A large flock of wild geese in flying over the lake discovered it a few days ago and made a dive to light in its waters, but were brought up standing when they came in contact with the thick ice. After giving their leader a good scolding they made the best of their disappointment by promenading around for an hour or two, then started north hoping to find open water and green feed. Have got the rifle ready now should they come again.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR

Author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," "I, Thou and the Other One," "The Maid of Maiden Lane," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Dodd, Mead & Company. All rights reserved.)

"I have only been in London three days. I was ill at de Wick. I became unconscious at my father's burial. You remember Anthony Lynn, the tanner and carrier, Jane?"

"Yes."

"He has bought de Wick from the so-called Parliament. He was very kind to me, and he knew his place; but on my faith! I nearly lost my senses when I saw him sitting in my father's chair. Well, then, I am now in London, and all roads lead from London. I shall not longer spoil my eyes for the Fen country. But, oh, Jane, the melancholy Ouse country! The black, melancholy Ouse, with its sullen water and muddy banks. No wonder men turned traitors in it."

And Jane only leaned close, and closer to the sad, sick girl. She understood that Matilda must complain a little, and she was not unwilling to let the dreary meadows of the Ouse bear the burden. So the short afternoon wore away to Jane's tender ministrations without one cross word. Early in her visit she had yielded to Matilda's entreaties, had sent home her carriage, and promised to remain all night. She dismissed Delia, and herself undressed her friend as tenderly as a mother could have done, and when the tired head was laid on the pillow she put her arms under it and kissed and drew the happy, grateful girl to her heart, and said some of those sweet, foolish words which, alas! too often become a forgotten tongue. Matilda answered them in the same tender, broken patois—"Dear heart! Sweet heart! Darling Jane! Go to the little drawer in my toilet table and bring me a picture you will find there. It is in an ivory box, Jane, and here is the key." And Jane went and found the miniature she had once got a glimpse of, and she laid it in Matilda's hand. And the girl kissed it and said, "Look here, Jane, and tell me who it is."

Then Jane looked earnestly at the handsome, melancholy, haughty face; at the black hair cut straight across the brows and flowing in curls over the laced collar and steel corselet, and wandering, I know not where. Remember that with my father's death died all my own hopes regarding my lover. And when father had been three days in his grave, and I lay at point of death, Anthony Lynn came with his Parliamentary title to our house and lands. I was at his mercy, at his charity, Jane."

"Well, and if so, many favors he and his have received from your family. All he is worth he owes to your father."

"He was kind and respectful; I am very sensible of that."

Then, speaking with her old peremptoriness, she said suddenly, "But for God's sake let me ask when you heard anything of Prince Rupert?"

"You know that he was made admiral of the Royalist navy; but, indeed, he is said to be nothing else but a pirate, robbing all ships that he may support the Stuart family at The Hague."

"He is the bread-finder of the King as well as his defender. So much I knew, and 'tis well done in him."

"The latest news is the drowning of Prince Maurice."

"That is the worst of news. Rupert loved this brother of his so tenderly. They were not happy apart. Poor Rupert! That affliction will bring him to shore, and then what will the King do for money?"

"He is said now to be in great need of it, though Prince Rupert sent home a rich prize this past summer; and 'tis further said he resigned his own share of it to his cousin, Charles Stuart."

"'Twould be most like him." This conversation had many sides and deviations, and the night was far spent when Matilda was willing to sleep. And in the morning, while they ate breakfast together, the subject was renewed; for sorrow is selfish and Matilda forgot that she had never even asked after the welfare of Jane's family.

Jane returned to her home soon after breakfast, and her mother met her with a smiling face. "I was going to send the coach for you," she she lifted her eyes to Matilda's, but she did not like to speak. Matilda smiled rapturously and said:

"It is not impossible, Jane, though I see you think so. He loves me. He has vowed to marry me, or to marry no one else."

"But—but he cannot marry you. He will not be allowed. Half a dozen kings and queens would rise up to prevent it—for I am sure I know the fact."

"Who is it, Jane? Whisper the words to me. Who is it, dear heart?" And Jane stooped to the face on the pillow and whispered:

"Prince Rupert."

And as the name fell on her ear, Matilda's face grew heavenly sweet and tender, she smiled and sighed, and softly echoed Jane's last word—

"Rupert."

CHAPTER VII.

Two Love Affairs.

Matilda's confession brought on a conversation which lasted many hours. The seal of silence having been broken, the sick and sorrowful girl eagerly took the consolation her confidence procured her. She related with an impulsive frankness—often with bitter, though healing tears—the story of her love for the gallant Royalist leader.

"Jane, think of my father and mother dead of grief, and of my three brothers—two slain in battle, one said, "for there is to be company to-night," and then she looked at Jane so intelligently that the girl understood at once what was meant.

"Is it Cluny?" she asked, blushing brightly.

"Yes. He has asked for an interview with your father, and I suppose that it is granted, for I was told of the matter."

"Mother, dear, will you speak in our favor?"

"If needs be, Jane. But I am of this opinion—some one has spoken already."

"Do you mean the Lord General?"

"I wouldn't wonder if he has said the two or three words that would move your father more than any woman's talk or tears. Keep your bravery, Jane; father likes women that stand up for themselves."

It was evening when Cluny came, and he was taken at once to the room in which Gen. Swaffham was smoking his good-night pipe.

"Good evening, sir," he answered to Cluny's greeting. "Sit down. You have requested speech with me; talk straight out, then."

"I am here, General, to ask for your daughter's hand. I love her. I have enough for our necessities and somewhat for our comfort—and we are both willing to take love as security for our contentment." And though the words were such ordinary ones, the young man's heart throbbed in them, and the father felt it.

Gen. Swaffham looked at Neville silently for a few moments and then said, "I will not be unkind to either you or my daughter; but there must be no leap in the dark, or in a hurry. Take five years to learn how to live together fifty years. I waited six years for my wife; Jacob waited fourteen for Rachel."

"Sir, we live not by centuries, as Jacob did—if it would please you to say two years."

"I have said five, and verily it shall be five. Cannot you wait and serve for five years? If not, your love is but a summer fruit, and Jane Swaffham is worthy of something better."

"Sir, I entreat. I am no coward, but I cannot bear to think of five years."

"I have said my say. There is nothing to add or to take from it."

Then Cluny perceived that entreaty would only weaken his cause, and he advanced and offered his hand, saying, "I am much in your debt, sir. 'Tis more than I deserve, but Love must always beg more than his desert." And Gen. Swaffham's voice trembled perceptibly as he answered: "You have time and opportunity to win your way to my heart, then I will give you a son's place. Go and ask Jane; she will tell you I have done kindly and wisely." And Cluny bowed and went silently to seek his betrothed.

"Your father says we are to wait five years, sweet Jane; and 'tis a hard condition. I know not how I am to endure it."

And Jane smiled and began to talk over with her lover the hard condition, and somehow it became an easy and reasonable one. They soon saw it through Love and Hope and Wisdom, and so at the beginning of their probation, they rejoiced in the end of it.

Life soon settled itself to the new conditions of the Swaffhams: The General, in spite of his wife's and daughter's disapproval, bought the Sandys House near Russel square, and some of the most precious heirlooms of old Swaffham were brought up to London to adorn it.

Mrs. Swaffham was well content in London. Social by nature, fond of the stir and news of life, enjoying even the shadow of her old friends' power and splendor, and taking the greatest interest in all public events of the time, she was pleased rather than otherwise at the Lord General's determination to keep her husband near him.

Neither was Jane at all averse to London. Cluny was in London, and Matilda was there, and most of the girls whom she had known all her life long. And if Jane accepted willingly this change of life, Matilda took her phase of it still more enthusiastically. She was not long in discovering that it was in her power to be virtual mistress of the Jevry mansion. Her youth, her beauty and her many sorrows inclined Sir Thomas Jevry's heart to sympathy, and this prepossession grew rapidly to devoted affection. She was considering one morning a string of Orient pearls, wondering if they could be worn with her new damasse gown, when Jane entered her dressing room.

"Jane Swaffham," she cried with delight, "I'll swear I was just wishing for you. Stephen is here. Will you see him?"

"I will not," answered Jane positively. "I will not come to question about him if he is discovered. Do not ask me to put myself in such a strait, Matilda. It is far better I should be able to say, 'I have not seen him.'"

"Jane, I will tell you a piteous tale. 'Tis of our late Queen. She is so wretchedly poor, and since her son returned to their miserable little court in the Louvre, so broken-hearted, 'twould make you weep to hear of her. Stephen came with Sir Hugh Belward to get some money on Belward."

"How does Sir Hugh Belward hope to get money on Belward? He is proscribed."

"His younger brother joined the Parliament, and he left the estate in his care. And his brother has turned traitor to him, and would give him nothing but permission to ride away as secretly as he came. But oh, Jane! the poor, poor Queen!"—and then Matilda went into some details of the piteous straits and dependencies and insults the widowed woman had been obliged to bear.

Jane listened silently, but there were tears in her eyes; and when Matilda said, "I have given her the jewel the gracious King sent me by my beloved Prince Rupert, and also, what moneys I could get from my Uncle Jevry," Jane added:

"I have ten pieces of gold that are altogether my own, I will give them to her. I will send the gold by a sure messenger to-day."

Matilda did not urge her to remain, and Jane was eager to get away.

When she reached home, her father was walking about the parlor and talking in an excited manner to his wife. He showed much discontent, and as he walked and talked he rattled his sword ominously to his words.

FALMOUTH, VA.—I suffered over twelve months with pain in the small of my back. Medicines and plasters gave only temporary relief. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me.—F. S. BROWN, Falmouth, Va.

WEST HAVEN, CONN.—Eight months ago I took a severe pain in my back. The sample box of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me so much I purchased two boxes; am on my second box. My heart does not bother me as it used to and I feel well.—SARAH E. BRADLEY, No. 377 Elm Street, West Haven, Conn.

HOUSTON, TEX.—I took the sample of Doan's Kidney Pills with such great benefit I bought a box at our druggist's. Used over half and stopped, because my urine which before had only come dribbling, now became so free. I had medicine enough. I had lumbago and the pills rid me of it. I should have written sooner, but you know how soon a well person forgets about being sick.—MR. C. H. HORNOKS, No. 2319 McKenny Ave., Houston, Tex.

THE IMPRESSIONS OF A WOMAN.

What a Woman Says About Western Canada.

Although many men have written to this paper regarding the prospects of Western Canada and its great possibilities, it may not be interesting to give the experience of a woman settler, written to Mr. M. V. Melnes, the agent of the government at Detroit, Mich. If the reader wishes to get further information regarding Western Canada it may be obtained by writing any of the agents of the Government whose name is attached to the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper.

The following is the letter referred to:

Hilldown, Alberta, Feb. 5, '03.

Dear Sir—I have been here now nearly five years, and thought I would write you a woman's impression of Western Canada—in Alberta. There are several ranchers in this district who, in addition to taking care of their cattle, carry on farming as well; their herds of cattle number from 100 to 200 or 300 head, and live out all winter without any shelter than the poplar bluffs, and they come in in the spring in good order. Most of the ranchers feed their cattle part of the time, about this time of the year, but I have seen the finest fat cattle I ever saw that never got a peck of grain—only fattened on the grass. You see I have learned to talk farm since I came here—farming is the great business here. I know several in this district who never worked a day on the farm till they came here, and have done well and are getting well off.

I think this will be the garden of the Northwest some day, and that day not very far distant. There has been a great change since we came here, and there will be a greater change in the next five years. The winters are all anyone could wish for. We have very little snow, and the climate is fine and healthy. Last summer was wet, but not to an extent to damage crops, which were a large average yield and the hay was immense—and farmers wore a broad smile accordingly.

We have good schools, the government pays 70 per cent of the expense of education, which is a great boon in a new country. Of course churches of different denominations follow the settlements. Summer picnics and winter concerts are all well attended, and as much, or more, enjoyed as in the East. Who would not prefer the pure air of this climate with its broad acres of fine farms, its rippling streams, its beautiful lakes, its millions of wild flowers, its groves of wild fruit of exquisite flavor, its streams and lakes teeming with fish and its prairies and bluffs with game, to the crowded and stiff state of society in the East. I would like to go home for a visit some time, but not to go there to live, even if presented with the best farm in Michigan. Beautiful Alberta, I will never leave it. And my verdict is only a repetition of all who have settled in this country. This year I believe will add many thousands to our population. And if the young men, and old men also, knew how easy they could make a home free of all incumbrance in this country, thousands more would have settled here. I would sooner have 160 acres here than any farm where I came from in Michigan, but the people in the East are coming to a knowledge of this country, and as they do, they will come West in thousands. All winter people have been arriving in Alberta, and I suppose in other parts as well, which is unusual, so we expect a great rush when the weather gets warmer.

We have no coal famine here. Coal can be bought in the towns for $2 to $3, according to distance from the mines, and many haul their own coal from the mines, getting it there for 50 cents to a dollar a ton. Very truly yours, (Signed) Mrs. John McLachlan.

STATE LEGISLATURE

Brief Chronicle of Matters of Importance

The passage of the primary election bill was attempted by the senate on Tuesday and delayed by the passage of the upper peninsula bill. The evident intent of the senate is to defeat the bill by a vote that may be worked, and the game seems to be to delay till near the close of the session so that the bill will die. The game was played by Representative Galbraith, of Marquette, who offered his substitute and then moved to put the whole matter over, in order that the Galbraith measure might be printed and properly considered by the members. Galbraith acknowledges that he has his substitute in hand for a week or more and he could have had it printed at any time, but he waited. There were just enough members of the senate who were willing to play into the hands of the convention men to prevent immediate action of the bill. Galbraith's direct voting advocates had a majority when it came to a roll call. The feature of the situation is that the Democrats of the house demand that the bill be amended so that voters at the primaries will not be compelled to swear that they will support the party whose ticket they wish to vote in the primaries, and that the proposition that only such parties as have 5 per cent of the vote in the last previous election shall have their ballots printed, be cut out. Colby and other friends of the measure have by all means given up the fight, but they probably defer to the wishes of the Democrats in order to make sure of the passage of their bill. The measure was made a special order for next Wednesday at 2:30, and 500 copies of the Galbraith substitute were ordered printed. This latter bill would retain all conventions except those for non-union candidates for local offices. It provides a uniform day for the election of delegates to conventions in order that "snap" caucuses may be done away with and delegates to conventions be elected directly by the people.

Representative Rodgers, of Muskegon, wanted to cut down the appropriation for the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids from $134,000 to $114,000, and in support of his motion he declared the larger amount is not needed. He pronounced the sum asked for "a bare faced robbery." He declared that deaths are constantly mounting down the number of inmates, and the sums asked from the state for the support of the institution are growing right along. Rodgers declared that the home is being used as a boarding house for the whole Judd family. He said that the commandant's daughter-in-law is employed as a matron and pays nothing for her food, and Rodgers had also heard that Judd's son has taken his meals at the home for four years without paying for them. His motion was defeated.

State land office bills are not proving very popular in the legislature. One of them, by which the commissioner would be empowered to lease state lands, has already gone down to defeat in the house. Another one, introduced by Rep. Stone, of Lenawee, was passed by the house by the small majority of 15, and is now on the general order of the senate. Some of the opponents of this measure say the members of the house did not thoroughly understand what they were voting on, or results would have been different. Representative Sheldon, of Bay City, is frank in expressing his interpretation of the motives by which the bill was passed. He feels he has not had fair treatment in not being given a hearing by the senate committee before the bill was reported out, although one had been promised him.

A proposal bill which, it is understood, was drawn up by former Representative F. C. Wells, provides for a $2,000 state veterinarian, and prescribes at length for the preventing the spread of disease among cattle. It would permit him to hire help at $10 a day for each assistant, and the scope of the measure may be seen in this clause: "The state veterinarian shall have power to employ, at the expense of the state, such persons, and purchase such supplies and materials as may be necessary to carry into full effect all orders by him given."

Henry Russel, of the Michigan Central, talked to the house and senate committees on railroads for half an hour in opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to create a railroad tariff commission. Harry K. Gustin and Frank W. Fletcher, Alpena lumbermen, appeared to argue for a rate-fixing commission, citing as instances of inequalities in rates the log rates, which they declared had nearly doubled of late.

The senate on Tuesday devoted considerable time to a discussion of the bill appropriating $125,000 for a Michigan exhibit at the world's fair and at the evening session the bill came up for third reading and the vote stood 17 to 10, but President Fuller ruled that it would take a two-thirds vote to pass the measure on the ground that it provided for an appropriation of state money for private purposes. The bill was tabled.

The house committee of the whole agreed to the bill prohibiting telegraph or telephone linemen from trimming shade trees without consent of the owners of the property. It does not apply to cities where the matter is regulated by ordinances.

Senator Thompson, of Detroit, in addressing the senate the other day, pointed out this warning: "I believe that this legislature will be known for its omissions rather than for what it has done, and my advice to you is to adjourn and go home. One session in five years is enough. You will not do an injustice to Wayne county, or any other part of the state, by adjourning now. Of all the measures introduced affecting the county of Wayne, about nine out of every ten should be thrown into the wastebasket."

The ways and means committee of the house will visit Jackson prison this week, when Gov. Bliss will be there, to attend a meeting of the board of control. The committee will go to pass on the proposition of rebuilding the west cell wing. It is expected the question of having the staple manufactured supplies of the state institutions made in prison at cost price, will be taken up. Thomas J. Navin is one of the members of the board who prefers this plan to the contract system, at present in operation.

Randall appeared before the house committee to talk on his bill to limit the amount of the appropriation for the State University to $350,000 a year. He advanced no new arguments, however. It is likely that the committee will report against the bill, and that Randall will have to make his fight on the floor of the house.

The bill of Representative Paddock providing that surety bonds may be accepted from liquor dealers was on the general order, and he had it sent to the judiciary committee, in accord with the compromise agreement entered into between the liquor men and the "dry" members.

A joint session of the two branches was held in the afternoon in Representative hall to pay respects to the memory of the late Senator James H. McMillan. Tributes were paid by ex-Senator Patton, Senators Alger and Burrows.

HOW A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY USE OF PE-RU-NA.

Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh--Spring Fever is Spring Catarrh.

MISS HELEN WHITMAN.

Miss Helen Whitman, 308 1/2 Grand avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "There is nothing like Peruna for that tired feeling, which gives you no ambition for work or play. After a prolonged illness, about a year ago I felt unable to regain my health, but four bottles of Peruna made a wonderful change and restored me to perfect health. As long as you keep your blood in good condition you are all right, and Peruna seems to fill the veins with pure, healthful blood. I thoroughly endorse it."

MISS HELEN WHITMAN.

Have you got nerves? Well, you ought to have nerves. But they ought to be strong nerves, good nerves. Does your hand tremble? You are living too fast. Does your heart flutter at times? You had better call a halt. Americans live too fast. They crowd too much into a single day. They have too little leisure. The hospitals and insane asylums are filling up. The quiet, pastoral scenes of yore are becoming rare. It's time that we quit this sort of business.

How to Get Strong Nerves.

First, repair the injury already done to your nerves. The way to do this is to do exactly as did Mattie B. Curtis, Secretary of Legion of Loyal Women, Hotel Salem, Boston, Mass. She said in a recent letter: "I suffered for over a year with general weakness and debility manifested in severe headache and backache. I took four bottles of Peruna, and for two months have been entirely free from these maladies."

Nervous Prostration.

Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has been used to rescue people from the perdition of deranged nerves, and put them on the good, solid foundation of health. The County Auditor of Erie County, New York, Hon. John W. Neff, in a recent letter written at Buffalo, New York, stated: "I was persuaded by a friend to try a bottle of your great nerve tonic, Peruna, and the results were so gratifying that I am more than pleased to recommend it."

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, of Lynchburg, Va., who in a recent letter, made use of the following words: "I always take a dose of Peruna after business hours, as it is a great thing for the nerves. There is no better spring tonic, and I have used about all of them."

Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective. A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years. Everybody should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on catarrh. Address the Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Lulu Larmer, Stoughton, Wis., says:

"For two years I suffered with nervous trouble and stomach disorders until it seemed that there was nothing to me but a bundle of nerves. I was very irritable, could not sleep, rest or compose myself, and was certainly unfit to take care of a household. I took nerve tonics and pills without benefit. When I began taking Peruna I grew steadily better, my nerves grew stronger, my rest was no longer fitful, and to-day I consider myself in perfect health and strength. My recovery was slow but sure, but I persevered and was rewarded by perfect health."—Mrs. Lulu Larmer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Weight vs. Wait.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Slobo, "I suppose he's trying to get even on account of the long wait I give him for his money."

Robbed the Grave. A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

Not a Luxury. From the Salem, Oregon, Sentinel: About 20 years ago persons who were privileged to hear Edison's first crude phonograph thought it a wonderful thing, but little did they dream that these machines in improved and perfected form would within a few years be available to every home. Then the records were made on tin foil and it was impossible to preserve them. Later the recording was done on wax and by delicate handling the records were good for considerable service. Today the records are perfect, being molded from hard wax. With proper handling they will last for years. The Columbia Phonograph Co. is turning out first class graphophones so cheap that no family can afford to do without the pleasure and satisfaction of owning one. The writer has had one in his family three years and looks upon it now as a necessity rather than a luxury.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. BLOOD POISON On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itching of the skin, eruptions or blotches, sores in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogey" treatments that neglect the cause—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD THE K&K METHOD is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics. Be sure that you get the original The Ford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages. Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
