DECORATION DAY.

It Will Be Observed with Appropriate Services and Exercises in Chelsea.

The annual Memorial Day services in connection with R. P. Carpenter Post, No. 41, G. A. R., will be held this year at the Baptist church next Sunday morning, May 24, at 10:30 o'clock. It will be a union service of the churches and there will be no services at the Congregational and Baptist churches. The sermon will be preached by Rev. F. A. Stiles. The members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. will attend the services in a body.

Saturday, May 30, the Decoration Day exercises will be held in the opera house, commencing at 9 o'clock. The program of exercises will be as follows:

Music by the Chelsea band.
Reading of general orders by Comrade T. E. Wood.

Vocal music by male quartette.
Prayer by Rev. C. S. Jones.
Vocal music by the quartette.
Address by Rev. Wm. P. Considine, pastor of St. Mary's church.
Vocal music by the quartette.
Benediction by Rev. A. Schoen.

At the close of the exercises the parade will be formed on West Middle street and will proceed to the soldiers' monument in Oak Grove cemetery, where the G. A. R. ritual service will be conducted and the graves of deceased comrades in both Oak Grove and Mt. Olivet cemeteries will be decorated with flags and flowers. John A. Palmer will be marshal of the day.

The order of the parade will be as follows:

| Band, |
| Chelsea Tent, K. O. T. M. M. |
| R. P. Carpenter Post, No. 41, G. A. R. |
| Speaker and Clergy in Carriages. |
| W. R. C. |
| L. O. T. M. M. |
| Flower Wagon. |
| Carriages. |

It being the Maccabee decoration day the K. O. T. M. M. and L. O. T. M. M. will also have their ritual services and decorate the graves of their deceased members.

Those who have flowers they are willing to donate for decoration purposes are requested to take them to the opera house by 9 o'clock Saturday morning, May 30, where a committee will be present to receive them.

The Late Mrs. John Cook.

Mrs. Jane Cook, widow of the late John Cook, died at her home on Jefferson street Tuesday, May 19, of heart disease, aged 65 years. The funeral services were held at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock and the remains were interred in the Vermont cemetery. The funeral services were conducted at the house by Revs. C. S. Jones and F. A. Stiles, and at the grave the ritual service of the Eastern Stars was conducted, the chapter attending in a body.

Mrs. Cook was born in Seneca county, New York, in 1835, her maiden name was Jane Coe. She came to Michigan with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coe, when only a year old. They settled in the township of York, and in 1853 she was married to John Cook and moved with him to the farm in Sylvan, south of town, in 1863. This was her home until 1892 when they moved to Chelsea. One son N. H. Cook survives her.

Struck by an Express Engine.

Peter Youngs, of Sylvan, met with a serious accident Thursday afternoon last. He was driving over the Sylvan road crossing of the electric and Michigan Central lines and was looking out for the electric car. He is very deaf and neither saw nor heard the fast express on the Michigan Central coming along. The engine struck the hind end of his buggy and Mr. Youngs went sailing through the air on to the Michigan Central right of way. His horse was thrown into the cattle guard and was held there by the hoof as if it were in a vice. Some stout prying had to be done before it was extricated. Mr. Young received some bad scalp wounds and was otherwise bruised and shaken up. The train was stopped at Wolf's crossing and backed up and brought the injured man to Chelsea where he was cared for by Dr. Palmer. He was removed to his home on Sunday.

Give the children Rocky Mountain Tea, this month, makes them strong, makes them eat, sleep and grow. Good for the whole family. A spring tonic that makes sick people well. 35 cents. Glazier & Stimson.

GENUINE EXCURSIONS.

Metropolitan Pleasure for Everybody Next Tuesday, May 26.

Nearly everyone living in this community will doubtless want to visit Ann Arbor, Tuesday, May 26, when the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Great Consolidated Shows, comprising double circus, double menageries, double museums, double hippodromes, will appear there. The menageries contain the greatest number of rare wild beasts ever seen in one collection. In the circus there are 300 star performers, and in addition to all the standard circus acts there are a score or more of sensational features. There is not space to enumerate them here, but prominent among them may be mentioned the world-famous Diavolo, who performs the exceptionally wonderful feat of looping the loop on a bicycle, an act which has astonished the world; then there is Minting the unicycle marvel; the famous Aurora Zouaves, wonderfully drilled soldiers; La Belle Leona, the renowned equestrienne; 23 champion bareback riders; Starr, the shooting star, and the seven Ryan-Zorrellas, the world's greatest aerialists, and numerous other great features. All lines of travel will offer especially low rates of fare and provide all the necessary accommodations for the throngs who wish to go to see them. The agents of these lines of travel will furnish all necessary information as to time of trains and rates of fare. There is one thing certain, and that is that these excursion arrangements will enable people who live here to see identically the same show as seen by those who live in the metropolitan cities.

Baseball Notes.

Bleachers will be erected on the K. of P. park before the games of May 30.

Next Saturday will be ladies' day at the game between Stockbridge and the Stars. Ladies will be admitted free, gentlemen 10 cents, children 5 cents.

The lineup of the Stockbridge and Junior Stars for the game to be played Saturday next, May 23, at 2:30 p. m., will be as follows: Stockbridge—P., Mat. Hynes; c., Emmet Berry; 1b., Gilmore; 2b., Gilbert May; 3b., Arthur Codd; s. s., Springman; r. f., H. Gildart; c. f., Haviland; l. f., Hall. Junior Stars—P., Chandler Rogers; c., LaMont BeGole; 1b., Gus BeGole; 2b., A. Raffrey; 3b., Howard Holmes; s. s., Russell McGuinness; r. f., Wirt McLaren; c. f., Guy McNamara; l. f., Paul Bacon.

The coming of the Detroit Juniors to play the Stars on May 30 has caused more talk than any former game. They will come in two special cars, bringing a band, and 18 players. They have never met defeat and have beaten all teams around Detroit. They average 18 years. They will play two games, one at 10 a. m. and one in the afternoon, the time of which will be announced later. For these games the admission will be 15 cents each game for gentlemen, 10 cents for ladies, 5 cents for children.

The ball game last Saturday, if it could be so called, between the Junior Stars and the Detroit Houghtons, resulted in a regular slaughter of the Detroiters by a score of 40 to 0. In the first four innings not a Detroit boy saw first base, Rogers not allowing a single hit in those innings, and only three in the whole game. On the other hand Gibson for Detroit was easy, our boys scoring at will, hitting singles, two and three base hits and home runs with great frequency. An old fan estimated that the home team made 30 hits and stole 50 bases.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepherdstown, W. Va.; says "I had a severe case of bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible for croup, whooping cough, grip, pneumonia and consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson, druggists. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c, $1.00.

A man will sit contentedly all afternoon with the crowd at a baseball game and then go home to complain that the noise of the children makes him nervous. He is like the man who can play golf a day, but can't beat a carpet 10 minutes without becoming exhausted.

CHAPTER XIII.

Changes at De Wick.

When Matilda received a letter from Anthony Lynn, she was immediately certain that the old man's conscience troubled him in the presence of death, and that he wished to return de Wick to its rightful owner. Sir Thomas and Lady Jevrey were of the same opinion, and the two ladies started for de Wick at once.

Anthony Lynn stood at the door to meet them. He looked ill and frail, but hardly like death, and when he witnessed the delight of the ladies at the changes made in de Wick, his face grew almost young in its pleasure. Every room in the house was a fresh surprise; for through all that was venerable through age or family association, and all that was valuable and beautiful had been preserved, yet so much of modern splendor and worth had been mingled with the old that the rooms were apparently newly furnished. Matilda said enthusiastically:

"Mr. Lynn, seeing that the de Wicks had to leave their ancient home, I am glad it has fallen to you—and I am sure my father is glad, also."

Then the old man burst into that thin, cold passion of weeping so significant of age, and so pitiful in its helplessness. "It is your father's doing, Lady Matilda," he sobbed. "It is my dear lord's wisdom. Pardon me now. This evening I will tell you all." He went away with these words, and the two women looked at each other in amazement.

In the evening he came to them. "When these dreadful words first began," he said, "Earl de Wick foresaw their ending, and after Marton Moor he said to me, 'I know this man, Oliver Cromwell, and there is none that will stand against him. It is my duty to save de Wick; will you help me?' And I said to him, 'My dear lord, I owe you all I am, and all I have.' Then it was agreed that I should join the Puritan party, that I should pre-pers closed with large red seals, and these she instantly seized. They were all directed to the sheriff of Ely, and she felt sure they were the authority for Stephen's arrest. She took possession of the whole three, bade Yupon set loose the horse, and leaving the other contents of the rided mail bag on the grass by the side of the bound carrier, she slipped away into the shadows and darkness of de Wick chase.

There was still fire on her hearth, and she pushed the dying logs together, and lit a candle by their blaze. Then she opened one of the letters. It was a warrant for the arrest of Squire Mason. The next opened was a warrant for the arrest of Lord Frederick Blythe; but the third was, truly enough, the warrant for the arrest of Stephen de Wick, for treason against the Commonwealth and conspiracy against the life of the Protector. She drew her mouth tightly, and tore the whole three warrants across, and threw them into the flames. When they were ashes, she turned quickly, divested herself of her brother's clothing, and put on her own garments. Then she carried Stephen's suit to his room, and afterwards put out the candle and went to bed.

Matilda's plan had, however, been too hastily formed and carried out to admit of a thorough consideration, and in her hurry of rifling the mail, it had not occurred to her that one of those small, unimportant looking letters might also be for the sheriff. This in fact was the case. When daylight brought rescue to the bound carrier the rejected letters were gathered up, and one of them was a letter of instructions regarding the three warrants to be served. It directed the sheriff to take Mason and Blythe to Ely for trial, but to bring Stephen de Wick to the Tower of London.

The sheriff was in a passion of disappointment, and hastily securing a warrant to arrest Stephen de Wick for mail robbery, he went to de Wick to serve it.

It was Della who, about the noon hour, came flying into her lady's presence with the news that the sheriff was in the stables talking to Yupon Slade, and that he had two constables with him.

"What do they want, Della? I suppose I must say whom do they want? Is it Mr. Lynn, or Lady Jevrey, or myself?"

"I think it will be Earl de Wick they are after, my lady."

"'Tis most likely. Bid them to come in and find Earl de Wick."

The men were about an hour making their search, and during this interval Lady Jevrey had been summoned, and Anthony Lynn had received the stimulating drug on which he relied. But he was very ill, and Lady Jevrey, who adored her nephew, was weeping and full of anxious terror. Matilda vainly assured her Stephen was safe.

At this point the sheriff re-entered the room. He was in a vile temper, and did not scruple to exercise it. "The man has gone," he said to Anthony Lynn; "and I believe you know all about the affair. You are none of Cromwell's friend. Many people beside me say that of you."

"I am glad they do me so much honor. Cromwell! Who is Cromwell? A man to joy the devil. No, I am not his friend!" and with a radiant smile, "I thank my Maker for it."

The sheriff turned to his attendants. "You hear the traitor!" he cried. "You heard Anthony Lynn turn his back on himself! I knew him always for a black heart and a double tongue. We must have a warrant for him, and that at once."

"Fool!" said the trembling, tottering old man, with a superhuman scorn, as his clay-like face suddenly flamed into its last color. "Warrant! warrant! Oliver Cromwell has no warrant to fit my name. I go now on the warrant of the King of kings. Matilda! Stephen! I am going to my dear lord—to my dear King—to my dear God!" and as a strong man shakes off a useless garment, so Anthony Lynn dropped his body, and in that moment his spirit flew away further than thought could follow it.

"What a villain!" cried the sheriff. "Villain, in your face," answered Matilda passionately. "Out of the presence of holy death! You are not fit to stand by his dead body! Go, on this instant! Sure, if you do not, there are those who will make you!"

With these words she cried out for her servants in a voice full of horror and grief, and the first person to answer her cry was Cymlin Swaffham. Matilda went to his side, clung to his arm, pointed to the dead man on the hearth and the domineering figure of the sheriff above it, and cried, "Cymlin, Cymlin, send him away! Oh, 'twas most unmercifully done!"

"Sir," said Cymlin, "you exceed your warrant. Have you arrested Stephen de Wick?"

"The man has run, Mr. Swaffham, and madame there knows it."

"You have nothing to do with Lady Matilda. If the house has been searched, your business here is finished. You can go."

A REMNANT OF OLD NEWGATE.

Where Savage Torture Was Inflicted in Ancient Times.

The most notorious part of the whole structure—and which yet remains—was the press yard. Here it was that peine forte et dure was inflicted upon prisoners charged with felony who, with the view of saving their property from confiscation, refused to plead at the bar. This dreadful punishment of being pressed to death was, however, abolished in 1772. A Major Strangways, who was indicted for murder, having refused to plead, was condemned to this savage peine forte et dure. He died in eight minutes, and many of those who witnessed the dreadful sight threw stones at him to hasten his end.

Bear Worshipers in Japan.

The queerest and perhaps the oldest people of the earth are the Ainos, the bear idolators, who are found in the Japanese islands of Kouriles, Sakhalino and chiefly in Yezo or Honnaido. They number not more than 18,000 souls in all and they are fast disappearing. They have the broad nose and the oblique eyes which characterize the Chinese and Asiatic races generally, but there the resemblance ends. The Ainos are a large and powerful people, straight as an arrow. All the Ainos declare they sprang from the Great White Dog—the bear—and a princess of the south. The bear is their chief god.

An Old Lady's Discovery.

Garnett, Ark., May 18th.—For 18 years Mrs. Mary Dunlop of this place has suffered with Kidney trouble, which was so bad at times that it made her life a burden. She tried much medicine and many treatments, but got no better.

At last, however, Mrs. Dunlop claims to have found a perfect remedy, and she is so pleased at the wonderful cure she herself has received, that she is telling all her friends and praising the medicine to everyone she meets.

The name of this medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills, and it has done wonderful work for Mrs. Dunlop. Everybody is talking about it, and some people are claiming to have been cured of Rheumatism by it.

A Mrs. Garrett who lives in Brazil, this state, was at the point of death with some Cerebro-Spinal trouble and was saved by Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is certain that no other medicine ever introduced here has done so much good in such a short time.

Had Missed Him.

When a shot was fired in the wings of an opera-house during the third act of "Carmen" on Zelle de Lussan's opening night in San Francisco a disappointed spectator, who considered Tenney's Don Jose about "the limit," remarked with a sigh of relief, "Thank God." Those about him, who shared his feelings, snickered sympathetically. But their smiles were turned to peals of laughter when Don Jose presently bobbed up serenely, and the talkative wag exclaimed tragically: "Ye gods, her aim was bad. She missed him!"

CHICAGO, ILL.

When I received the sample of Doan's Kidney Pills I was suffering terribly with my back, was sick and unable to do anything. The several remedies I had used, though highly recommended, did no good, but rather irritated, the trouble and made it worse. Before I had used up the sample I was feeling so much better that I got more from the drug store. I could not sleep at night. Had to get up six or eight times, and the urine was so red, would almost think it was part blood—there was a thick sediment, like brick-dust and one-half that I suffered, nor how good I feel now that I am cured by Doan's Kidney Pills; but here I am, sixty-six years old, able to do my own work, feeling well as I did twenty years ago, for which I thank Doan's Kidney Pills ten thousand times.—Mrs. E. T. Gould, 914 W. Lake Street. Doan's Pills cure when others fail.

HOUSEWIVES HEADACHES

You don't know why you suffer from headache and you are apt to believe you have some dire female trouble, but its dollars to doughnuts that you are wrong. Women are prone to put off the duties of Nature to attend to the duties of the home and when they do get time to go, the feeling has passed. Constipation results and then the awful racking headache. Take a spoonful of every night before going to bed. Keep it up for a few weeks.

A. F. Klopf, of Troy, Ohio, Miller at Harper's Distillery, writes under date of June 18, 1901: "My wife and self suffered off and on for three or four years with Constipation and Sick Headache, and we received almost instant relief by taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The use of several bottles restored our digestive organs to normal condition, and although we are free from any gastric trouble, we do not consider being without a bottle for a minute."

CONSUMPTION

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing woman's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse.

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Prahl's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

TROUBLES OF TWO ARTISTS.

Why Both of Them Have Aversion to Badly Warmed Halls.

A concert company in which Mr. Seeboeck was the pianist had been playing in some of the smaller towns during February and had suffered considerable inconvenience through insufficiently heated halls. One evening, after an unusually cold experience, Seeboeck related an incident which had occurred on a tour some months previous. The violinist of the company had received notice of the time of departure at such a late hour that in the haste of packing he neglected to include in his wardrobe his dress trousers. The omission was not discovered until an hour before the concert. Naturally he was greatly disconcerted upon realizing that he would be forced to appear in dress coat and gray trousers. In this dilemma he called Seeboeck into consultation. Both men were nearly of a size and Seeboeck hit upon the plan of both using the same trousers, performing a "lightning change" between appearances. The plan was adopted, Seeboeck appearing first. As quickly as possible after reaching his dressing room he divested himself of his trousers and the violinist donned them with equal haste. The first selection of the violinist's was long, difficult and was so well received that an encore was demanded. "It was then that I fully appreciated the criminal neglect of improperly heating halls," said Seeboeck. "When the time for my next appearance arrived and with it my trousers I was in a half-frozen condition. Some consolation, however, was to be derived from the thought that the violinist was shivering in the dressing room during my number, which also received an encore. But on the whole it was a wretched evening. Eight times we alternately wore and went without those trousers. If the audience had known the cost of that performance in physical discomfort to at least two of the performers I believe it would have been even more appreciative than it was, though I could have well dispensed with several of the encores accorded the violinist."

TIRED OF THE MONOTONY.

Why George Grossmith's Butler Was Leaving His Service.

Many and various and weird are the reasons given by servants for wanting a change of place. Here is a tale told by George Grossmith, which adds a rare and wondrous instance to the long and eccentric list:

His butler, who had been with him for nearly twenty years, went to him one day and said:

"If you please, sir, I want to leave."

Mr. Grossmith was sorry, and asked the man his reason.

"I would rather not say, sir," was the mysterious reply.

This was uncomfortable, and Mr. Grossmith pressed the question again.

"Come," he said, "you have been with me for so long and have never complained before. Surely I have almost a right to know why you wish to leave. Your secrecy is unpleasant, and I must really beg of you to tell me your reason for leaving my service."

The butler thought a moment and then said:

"Well, sir, as you insist, I must tell you. But I don't want to. (A pause.) The fact is, sir, I've been with you for close upon twenty years, and I'm tired of the sight of you and all your family!"

Success of the Solemn Ass.

Look about you, gentle reader, and consider the solemn ass in every walk of life. Who so respected, so admired, so influential? He never takes sides. He never is partisan. He goes along with knitted brows, his thoughts too deep for utterance. Smaller men may abandon themselves to hasty inclinations, to rash preferences, to robust views. He never does. If he speaks at all it is with such profundity and circumlocution and complexity that the most recondite cryptogram ever rescued from a pyramid would seem to burst of innocent and childish candor in comparison. Yet he wears fine raiment every day. He enjoys the respect and confidence of the community. He prospers. The oil of opulence anoints him. He is the incarnation of success!—Washington Post.

The Little Weak Child.

My little son, my little son,
In heaven canst thou rest?
And which of all his children does
The High God love the best?

Thou art too weak to stand all day
And glorify his name;
Ah, pray him let thee stray awhile
And play some foolish game.

Thou art too young to know him great,
So whisper to him this:
Thou art just big enough, sometimes,
To hold and fold and kiss.

—Anita Fitch in Century.

Cutting It Short.

"How would you like your hair cut, sir?" asked the barber, "with the scissors or clippers?"

"Both," replied the victim. "Use the scissors on my hair and the clippers on your conversation."

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

St. Paul, Minn. }
621 Wabasha St.
Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

Dear Sir:

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down, and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—Bess F. Healy.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Relish for food and the ability to digest food seems to be lost.

Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, biliousness, coated tongue, fitful, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

NEVER KNEW WHEN TO QUIT.

Judge Promptly Saw the Point in Politician's Advice.

One of the most hospitable citizens of Sioux Falls was Judge Fuller of the Supreme Court. He was introduced to the president's attention with the following incident of his career:

The judges made a strong campaign to get the legislature to raise their salaries. The bill met with great opposition. Judge Fuller, who had no small political influence, went up to Pierre to see about it. He was met by one of the leaders of the party.

"How about this thing?" said the judge.

"Judge," said the other politician, gravely, "you better drop this salary business. I tell you as a friend. You don't want it to go through. It is not in your interest."

"Why ain't it?"

"Don't you see, judge," explained the politician, "that if we put the salaries of the judges up to the figure you want, the people will turn around and elect real lawyers to the bench."

The point of the story is that the judge dropped the amendment at once.—New York Sun.

Her Equanimity Disturbed.

On one occasion Mrs. Patrick Campbell was playing in "The Trumpet Call" at a London theater. In the middle of a strenuous scene the audience was horrified to see that the skirt of her dress had "come undone." It slipped until it had almost reached her knees before Mrs. Campbell noticed it. Then she grabbed and pulled back the garment, at the same time fairly hypnotizing the spectators with her blazing black eyes. The act was concluded somewhat hurriedly and the orchestra was instructed to play fortissimo in order to drown the remarks Mrs. Campbell was addressing to her maid.

The Young Critics' Idea.

Friends of E. J. Couse, the artist, are laughing over a remark made by some seminary girls who attended an exhibition where his picture, "The Peace Pipe," took the Hallgarten prize. "I like that Couse canvas better than anything I've looked at," said one, "and I want mamma to come and see it." "Which one was that?" her friend inquired. "Oh! That Peace-Pipe Dream," was the reply.

Pain

From Inflammatory Rheumatism

Would Have Killed Our Son.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills Saved Him.

"We began to use Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills six years ago. My wife had liver trouble and a neighbor gave her some of your liver pills to try, after which we bought a bottle of them and my wife used them until cured. Since then I have used them and I must say that I have never used any pills that gave me the satisfaction these have. We also use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with greatest satisfaction. Three years ago our son Harry had inflammatory rheumatism. He had suffered so much that I believe if we had not given him Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills which relieved him almost instantly he would have died. I am always glad of the opportunity for praising Dr. Miles' Remedies."—James Everett, Alton, Ill.

"I was afflicted with neuralgia for years and never found any permanent relief till I began using Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are a sure cure for headache and neuralgic pains. Only this morning I recommended them to a friend with a severe headache and in a half hour he came into the store smiling. The headache was gone. We use them in the family and find them excellent for the women folk. This high altitude makes them very nervous. Grandma says I should tell Dr. Miles she could not live here were it not for the Anti-Pain Pills that she takes occasionally."—L. B. Morris, Helena, Montana.

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1903.

The Detroit Evening News correspondent at Lansing gives as an interesting bit of gossip from that city the statement that Senator F. P. Glazier is pulling the wires to become the next state treasurer.

Martin J. Cavanaugh, who is a member of the Ann Arbor board of education, is a warm advocate of woman's rights. He claims that if a woman does the same work as a man she should be paid the same salary for doing it. The women teachers will rise up and call Mr. Cavanaugh blessed, for his words.

The Ann Arbor Argus says:

"Considerable adverse comment is heard on Senator Glazier's vote on the primary reform bill. The advocates of primary reform expected to find him enrolled in favor of it."

We miss our guess if a good many of those anti-primary reform senators do not hear something drop if they could come up for re-election in the fall of 1904.

A Pinckney schoolboy was required to apologize to his teacher for some act of meanness he had committed before he could return to school. His mother said she would kill him if he did apologize and the boy is still out of school. A woman who has no more sense than that should be disciplined herself. She is in a fair way to be in that most unenviable of positions, the mother of a criminal. As the training of a child for good begins in the home, so the training of a child for bad begins there also.

On account of the slim chance for a peach crop W. E. Stevenson will pasture his orchard this summer.

The Hello fever has struck nearly every family on Maple avenue, North Lake. Only a few have escaped so far.

Little Clayton Webb got his little finger caught in the cogs of a corn sheller and jammed the flesh very badly the other day.

Mrs. Edward Brown, an old resident of this place, moved to Chelsea last week to make her future home there. Her daughter Flora will live with her for a while.

Thursday last Drs. Palmer and Bush operated on Mrs. Matie Schultz, taking from near the lungs a large quantity of pus, which gave immediate relief, and it is hoped will be permanent as well.

Mrs. Matie Griffith, of Chelsea, has been the welcome guest of her parents for a few days past, accompanied by her little daughter Golden.

Only one bud in a thousand on peach trees is alive and about one in a hundred early strawberries are alive. The late ones will have a few it is hoped.

Quite a few farmers around here have run short on hay for doing the spring work, others are lucky enough to be able to supply them at reasonable figures.

Monday evening, May 11, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glenn gave a reception for Mrs. Twamley and Harry Twamley, of Detroit, and Miss Lena Parshall, of Ann Arbor. Miss Parshall furnished the company some excellent music, vocal and instrumental. Altogether it was a most pleasant occasion. It is now 15 years since Harry Twamley left home for Detroit where he has been engaged nearly all the time as foreman of a department in a large factory.

One of the pleasantest, happiest and wholly unsuspected surprises occurred at W. H. Glenn's on Saturday, May 9. The relatives met there by appointment laden with all the things eatable and many tokens of their love and regard for Mrs. Glenn, who on that day added another year to her list on earth. I won't speak of the number or the date of her birth, instead will say that all wished her many more happy years with them before the record is completed.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

The man who borrows his neighbor's newspaper must glory in the freedom of the press.

It is now unlawful to hunt rabbits with a harrow in Washtenaw county. The bill for their protection has passed the legislature.

Regular service was established Tuesday of last week by the Jackson and Battle Creek electric railway between Marshall and Battle Creek.

Miss Floy Gilmore, a 1901 graduate of the U. of M. law department, has been appointed assistant attorney general for the Philippine Islands.

Governor Bliss has signed the bill raising the salaries of probate judges throughout the state and Judge Watkins now gets $2,100 instead of $1,800.

Miss Flora Kempf, who has been teaching Latin and German in the Charlevoix school the last two years, has been engaged to teach the same subjects in the Albion school the coming year.

At the meeting of the grand lodge K. of P. at Saginaw last week the report of the grand chancellor showed that six new lodges had been added during the year, and the net membership had increased over 1,500.

Fred Moeckel, a well known and prosperous farmer of Waterloo township, died very suddenly Saturday, while doing some work about his barn. He was about 58 years old. Heart disease is supposed to have caused his death.

"Father, what do printers live on?" "Why do you ask such a question as that, Billy?" "Because you said the other day that you had taken our home paper for four years and never paid a cent on it." "Jane, spank that child."—Ex.

A Vermontville girl was caught kissing her sweetheart a few days ago. Her mother took her to task for such actions, but the girl silenced her by this quotation: "Whatever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." The old lady wilted. Memories of old were brought forcibly to mind.

William Bacon and Judge Harriman, of Ann Arbor, went to Lansing Tuesday and met Representative B. C. Whitaker, where as the committee appointed at the last session of the board of supervisors, they presented to the legislature the bill prepared to establish a board of county auditors in Washtenaw county.

All signs point to an early resumption of work on the Boland electric line east of Grass Lake. The track was relaid into the gravel pit just this side of that place last week and the switch was put in. The elevated platform on which the wheel scrapers are run up to dump their loads into the gravel cars beneath is also being erected.

Probate Judge Watkins has filed a protest with the county clerk against paying the building committee of the board of supervisors the customary $3 a day. One of the committee states that he believes this has been done by the judge to get even with the supervisors for having the court house clock set on standard time, the judge being violently opposed to it.

Drink water and get typhoid. Drink milk and get tuberculosis. Drink whisky and get the jimjams. Eat soup and get Bright's disease. Eat meat and encourage popplexy. Eat oysters and acquire terna. Eat vegetables and weaken the system. Eat dessert and take to paresis. Smoke cigarettes and die early. Smoke cigars and get catarrh. Drink coffee and obtain nervous prostration. Drink wine and get the gout. In order to be entirely healthy one must eat nothing, drink nothing, smoke nothing, and even before breathing one should see that the air is properly sterilized.

Roedel to Timothy Drislane, Sylvan, $175; Fred E. Richards to National Peat Fuel Co., Sylvan, $350.

Next Sunday evening, May 24, the 14th anniversary of the organization of the Epworth League will be observed at the Methodist church with appropriate services. There will be a sermon by the pastor and a paper will be read by Geo. J. Jackson. The Epworth League was founded in Cleveland May 14, 1889.

The annual convention of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Ann Arbor district of the Methodist church was held here Tuesday and yesterday. About 80 delegates were present and the sessions were full of interesting features in the way of papers and discussions. Rev. E. S. Ninde, of Ann Arbor, delivered a stirring address Tuesday evening.

House bill No. 55 changing the date of the March and August examinations of school teachers to the second Thursdays and Fridays of those months has become a law and has been given immediate effect. Consequently the August examination of this year will begin on August 13. The reading examination for August, 1903, will be based upon "The American Scholar," by Emerson.

Miss Clara B. Hemans, teacher of the eighth grade, has been seriously ill with a gathering in her head for several days past. Dr. C. G. Darling, of Ann Arbor, operated on her Tuesday evening and took away a quantity of pus and again last night it was taken away. She is reported to have had a fairly good night last night and although somewhat improved is still in a serious condition.

Rev. C. S. Jones has come off with high honors in his first year's work for his doctor's degree at Oberlin college. Although he has not missed a Sunday in preaching at the Congregational church here and has had to get along with one day's less work a week than many of his fellow students, he secured one of four fellowships of $75 each awarded to students who had an average standing in their work of over 90 per cent.

The Chelsea Manufacturing Co., Limited, will have a frame building 24x30 erected on land leased from M. C. Updike, which they will use for a painting and trimming shop for the bodies of their Welch touring cars. They have now on hand ten bodies and other automobile parts which they will assemble and get ready for the market. The recent exhibition of their car in Chicago and the west was a most satisfactory one and showed them that they will have no trouble in selling their cars.

Mr. Drake will go to Chicago the last of the week to buy five more teams, which will make ten teams of his own that he has at work on the job. Mr. Davis has charge of ten teams and has averaged moving 300 yards of dirt every day since he has been with the outfit. Mr. Drake is also negotiating with parties south for a large contract and if he succeeds will move the whole outfit there for the winter season.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at Glazier & Stinson's.

Good clothes and impudence often pass for riches and education.

The fashionable sleeves this year look like those a little girl cuts for her doll.

Mr. Carnegie gave away $2,000,000 and then went to Europe. Few of us could do that.

In former days school teachers occasionally struck; now it is the school children who strike.

Sir Henry Irving has appeared in London as Dante. It must have been a cheerful performance.

Thirty circus elephants marched in single file over the Brooklyn bridge. And the bridge is still there.

The New York Ledger was sold for a sum less than it used to pay Sylvanus Cobb for a single story.

Prosperity has been good to the Indians. It has given them money faster than their white brothers can steal it.

Count Speck Von Sternberg and his wife will spend the summer at Dublin, N. H. Is the count after the Irish vote?

The example of J. B. Ford of Pennsylvania, penniless at 79 and a millionaire at 91, shows that nobody is too old to earn.

The people of Somaliland may not have read the papers. Somebody ought to tell them what happened to the Boers.

Reggie Vanderbilt succeeded in cornering the market on lilies, but under the law he can only claim one American beauty.

A Chicago man traveled 14,000 miles and spent $5,000 for the purpose of winning a $20 bet. Some people are very hard losers.

Diaz is nearly seventy-three, and has begun to feel the weight of his years. It will be a sorry day for Mexico when he lets go.

It cannot be denied that the Russian policy of taking what you want and asking for it afterward has its own peculiar advantages.

Denmark has positively refused to sell the West Indian islands. This will give Uncle Sam $5,000,000 more to spend on the canal.

"Why," asks an exchange, "does a tree on a hillside grow straight up?" Never mind that. Why does a pigeon bob its head when it walks.

It was an old maid, of course, who said that marriage is the Siberia of womanhood. And very likely she would be glad to go to Siberia if she could.

Pat Crowe is circulating through Missouri. Perhaps he is responsible for the flood of $1,000 bills that is causing the legislature so much uneasiness.

Terry McGovern is still talking about "licking" Young Corbett. But Terry should be convinced by this time that the Denver boy is not postage stamp.

The paragraph now in circulation declaring that eating large quantities of common salt will cure or prevent cancer may have been originated by the salt trust.

The suburban backyard farmer may be personally interested to know that a man turns 112,000 spadefuls of earth in digging an acre, and moves in all a weight of 850 tons.

Gen. Sierra, ex-president of Honduras, was killed by a detachment of troops sent in pursuit of him by Gen. Borilla. Ungrateful as this republic is, it doesn't treat its ex-presidents like that.

Mrs. Burdick has her $25,000, but even that will hardly make her forget that some of the papers were mean enough to say at the time of the inquest that she was homely and looked her years.

It appears that a large percentage of the American people are still interested in professional baseball. The great beauty of baseball is that a lazy man can thoroughly enjoy it without exercising a bit.

We are glad to see that the Amalgamated Poultry association has decided that one egg per day per hen is enough. A hen that would lay two eggs per day is simply throwing some other hen out of a job.

THE MICHIGAN NEWS

What is Doing in All Sections of the State

STATE APPROPRIATIONS

The Work of the Ways and Means Committee.

The house ways and means committee practically finished its work when the St. Louis fair bill was reported at $50,000, and Chairman Neal issued the following statement:

Amount reported out by ways and means.....$4,246,645 82
General budget bill, est. 1,000,000 00
University mill tax..... 795,050 00
Agricultural college mill tax..... 209,000 00
Military fund..... 241,808 20
Naval brigade..... 24,298 00

$6,697,801 22

Less amount not passed by the legislature..... 14,000 00

Total appropriations.....$6,583,801 22

In the $4,246,645 allowed by the committee on ways and means the committee cut off exactly $200,000. All of the appropriations passed by the committee, except $297,000, was for educational and charitable purposes. The large bills on hand are the following:

Addition to capitol.....$250,000
Soldiers' and sailors' monument..... 250,000
Executive mansion..... 50,000

Chairman Neal said it is not likely that any of these latter bills will be reported out, but the bill for a $325,000 binder twine factory at Jackson prison is still to come from the special committee.

Thus far for the amount appropriated is $150,000 more than the session of two years ago allowed. The amounts given do not include the regular amounts allowed for the dairy and food department, the state dairymen's association, state library, board of health and weather service, amounting to about $65,000 more. The estimate for the general budget includes expenses of the legislature, state departments, etc. The amount allowed two years ago was $1,200,000, and expenses have by no means been reduced.

Brought Back for Trial

The sheriff has brought back to Flint from southern Ohio Leonard Denningberg, the Saginaw ex-bartender who stabbed and came near fatally wounding Fred Parkhurst in a saloon row in Flint seven weeks ago. The prisoner was arraigned on the charge of attempted murder and his examination set for May 23. In the meantime he is in jail in default of bail in the sum of $2,000. He admits the stabbing, claiming that he was under the influence of liquor at the time, and that as he was in a strange crowd he thought it was up to him to fight his own way out.

Minnie Griffen's Death

The body of Minnie Griffen, the 17-year-old daughter of Michael Griffen, of Port Huron, who died last week, was disinterred Saturday, and a post-mortem examination had which disclosed unmistakable evidence of treatment of a criminal character and that death had resulted from blood poisoning, but the officers are doubtful whether they will be able to fasten the guilt on any one. It is said that the girl made an ante-mortem statement, admitting the facts, but exonerated all but herself of complicity in the operation.

Five Passed Examination

The commandant of the naval academy at Annapolis has announced that H. H. Levine, A. A. Corwin, C. R. Murphy, C. A. Chapman and B. H. Bruce, candidates for admission to the academy from Michigan, have passed the mental examination held by the representative of the civil service commission on April 21. They have been ordered to report at the academy June 10 for physical examination.

Due to Alcoholism

The case against A. B. Troxel, of White Pigeon, who was held accountable for the death of Whiting B. Street, was dismissed. The coroner's jury decided that Street's death was due to alcoholism and heart failure and not to the blows given by Troxel. The latter was then arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, to which he pleaded guilty and accepted a fine of $45 and costs.

New Furnace in Blast

The fine new "Pioneer" charcoal furnace of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., built during the past two years at North Marquette, is now blowing for the first time, and is working very satisfactorily. The furnace is of 150 tons capacity, and has ample carbonizing capacity, both in kilns and retorts, with large chemical works for the acid. The entire investment is about $1,000,000.

Was Tired of Life

Asa H. Heath, of the Old People's home, in South Haven, committed suicide Saturday by drowning himself in a barrel of water. He was a cripple, having both legs cut off below the knees. He wore leather on the stumps, moving by use of crutches. The barrel was nearly full. He had used a nail keg to stand on to jump into the barrel.

ABOUT THE STATE

The lockout of carpenters in Jackson is ended and the men have returned to work.

Labor is very scarce at Niles, and the factories are unable to get as many men as they want.

The increase in Battle Creek's population has made it necessary to have a larger police force.

There are but 12 Jewish families in Lansing, but they formed an organization for the purpose of establishing a Sabbath school.

French coins worth $35 were found in an old bureau by a young woman who was sorting rags in the Water-viet paper mill.

The Southern Michigan Hotel, in Coldwater, has been closed for lack of business by the proprietor, Roy S. Judd, of Saginaw.

The Ottawa and Chippewa Indians held a conference at Fern Sunday and decided to demand $500,000 from the government under the treaty of 1795.

Cornelius Murphy, an old resident who lived in the Northwestern Hotel, in Bessemer, fell downstairs Sunday night and broke his neck. He died instantly.

A tramp stopped at a farm house in Hager township and asked for food and the privilege of sleeping in the barn. As he made the request he dropped dead.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer & Historical Society will be held in the senate chamber at Lansing Wednesday and Thursday, June 3 and 4.

Bernard Fingleton and Mrs. Jennie Fohn, charged with the murder of John London on a farm in Ada township, were Saturday held to the Grand Rapids Circuit Court for trial.

A new scheme has been adopted by the Benton Harbor pharmacists for dodging the grand jury's order. They sell whisky in 10-cent packages, but the buyer must not drink the stuff on the premises.

Farmers in the vicinity of Grand Rapids, and, in fact, throughout southwestern Michigan, are daily complaining about the scarcity of farm help and the high wages necessary to retain the laborers they already have.

As a result of the recent floods in Battle Creek, houses on Shepard street are being raised on walls from four to six feet above the ground. When next year's high water arrives Battle Creek will have a "little Venice."

Fire Thursday night destroyed the lumber sheds of Dewing & Sons, Kalamazoo, with a loss of $5,000. Piles and carloads of lumber worth $30,000 in all, were about the sheds, but were saved by the hard work of the firemen.

When Mrs. Carl Blume, of Ionia, who weighs 200 pounds, stepped out on a platform at the rear of her rooms in the second story of the Liverton block, the boards gave way and she fell 16 feet. She was seriously injured.

Detroit coal dealers are inclined to hold pessimistic views on the coal situation, and say that while it will probably not reach the acute stage it did during the strike, the supply for next winter will fall far short of the demand.

The aldermanic representatives of Bay City and West Bay City have reached an amicable arrangement as to consolidation, a city charter has been approved and a committee sent to Lansing to have it given legislative approval.

T. G. Young, a blacksmith in the Wolverine mine, in Calumet, and his wife and three children, were made seriously ill by eating canned rhubarb. Mr. Young's presence of mind in treating himself and the others with an emetic saved their lives.

Albert Kewayoshi, a full-blooded Chippewa Indian from the Sarnia reservation, has rented a farm near Alpena and will pick and buy berries during the summer. He will take a course in medicine at the U. of M. when he has secured the funds.

A resident of Grand Haven, whose name is kept a secret, claims to have a machine that will take gold out of the lake shore sands. This man also says that there is $25,000,000 in gold in minute particles on the shore between Grand Haven and St. Joe.

Engene A. Wallin, who died in New Boston, Va., Thursday, was formerly publisher of the Davison Index, and left for the south about a year ago. He was about 55 years of age and is survived by his widow and three children. He was a soldier of the civil war and a member of the order of Elks.

Friday morning fire destroyed a considerable portion of the Pere Marquette railway trestle crossing the marsh at the head of Muskegon lake. The bridge is down for several hundred feet, and mails to the Pentwater and Big Rapids branch will be delayed a day or so. The work of rebuilding the burned section began at once.

Charles McClellan, of Grand Rapids, a director of the McClellan banks in Auburn and Kalamazoo, and, it is alleged, a heavy borrower from the bank funds for use in his business enterprises, has made a proposition to pay his share of the creditors' claims. The liabilities of the two banks are thought to be $121,000, and the assets $38,000.

The Detroit Railway Horror

The coroner's jury, which considered the matter of the killing of Toledo excursionists in Detroit at the Canfield avenue crossing, recently, brought in this verdict:

"The said person came to his death on the night of the third of May, 1903, at a point near where the Grand Trunk railroad crosses Canfield avenue, in the city of Detroit, by being struck with train No. 8, drawn by engine No. 1,150 of Grand Trunk Railroad Co., causing compound fracture of the skull."

"We believe the said Tony Pofek's death was caused by the loose management of the Grand Trunk Railroad Co., in running their trains between Lake Shore junction and Brush street station, Detroit, Michigan, at a rate of speed in violation of an ordinance regulating the speed of trains between said points."

The prosecuting attorney's opinion is that he cannot indict or prosecute any of the railroad employees under the state laws, but he calls the mayor's attention to certain conclusions: The speed ordinance has been ignored by city officials; enforcement would have prevented the accident; the police commissioner and the corporation counsel, both appointed by the present mayor, are fully authorized to enforce it; the ordinance should be repealed, modified or enforced.

Wixom Farmers Speak

At the meeting of the Wixom Farmers' club, the following resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the outlook from the farmers' standpoint is a hopeful one, but we believe that the outlook will be more hopeful when he is in a position to demand and enforce or secure legislation. And we believe that he will never be as long as he is tied to party. We believe that a direct primary election law is a step toward his emancipation from his present degrading political servitude.

Resolved, That Senator Waterbury has betrayed the confidence reposed in him by the people who elected him, and we pledge ourselves to remember his treachery and treat him accordingly. He fully fails to either present a substitute to the Colby bill or give a good and valid reason for not supporting the said.

Lord Minto in Detroit

The visit of Lord Minto, governor-general of Canada, and Lady Minto in Detroit on Wednesday, though short was a grand spectacle. The escort was composed of the old fighting First Regiment, U. S. A., just returned from the Philippines; seven companies of the First Infantry, M. N. G., and two divisions of the Naval Reserves. A reception was given the distinguished guests at the Russell House followed by a lunch. The welcome on American soil extended the governor-general was a most pleasing event to him and he expressed his thanks for it in a brief address.

Harry Williams, a 12-year-old boy of Hastings, was sent into the country to work because his mother could do nothing with him. He positively refused to labor, saying that his father had hung himself to get out of work and he would do the same thing.

The first car on the Jackson & Battle Creek Traction Co., railroad was run from Albion to Battle Creek Saturday afternoon, and commencing this week, cars will run on scheduled time between these two points.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE

After debating the matter four hours the senate on Tuesday passed the Baird primary election bill, with one or two minor amendments, by a vote of 27 to 5. This is the same bill which Rep. Galbraith offered in the house and which was voted down by 79 to 17. It provides only for the direct nomination of city, village, and township tickets. Simons demanded the yeas and nays on his amendment to include candidates for governor. Fuller paid no attention to the demand, but called a show of hands, and the Simons amendment was not considered. "I voted for the Baird bill on its passage," Simons explained, "because I would have been defeated if we had not. Then the primary issue would have been absolutely dead, and there would have been no chance to consider it after once being voted down. Now we can cast a solid may vote on the result of the conference committee we wish." The bill provides for the direct nomination of all candidates for office in all townships, villages and cities and of all delegates to county conventions. All the caucuses of a party must be held on the same day throughout the state. Party registrations are to be held three weeks before the caucus day.

The senate, by a vote of 17 to 5, passed the Sanderson bill, providing for a trip of the governor and staff, the president or president pro tem, of the senate, the speaker of the house and eleven members of the legislature to Andersonville, Ga., to dedicate the monument which is to be erected to commemorate the death of 700 Michigan soldiers in Andersonville prison during the civil war. When the bill came up for passage, Senator Scripps moved to strike out all after the enacting clause. He was voted down by a vote of 17 to 2—Scripps and Scripps. Speaking upon his motion, Senator Scripps said: "This junket contemplates the expenditure of an amount nearly two-thirds the sum appropriated for the monument. The monument is a worthy object, but the plan to expend $3,000 or $4,000 to dedicate a $6,000 monument located at so long a distance from Michigan is wrong; hence my reason for the opposition to the bill."

The senate committee of the whole considered the Adams liquor bill, permitting the making of wine in prohibition counties, this afternoon. Senator Bangham, on behalf of the men interested in the grape juice factories in Van Buren county, the locality this measure affects, offered an amendment providing that companies may manufacture wine in local option counties, but prohibiting them from selling within such counties. The amendment also provides that such products must not be sold at wholesale within the county. Senators Bangham, Scripps and Brown favored the bill and Senator Woodman opposed, endeavoring to have action upon the measure indefinitely postponed. The bill was passed to third reading.

After a stubborn fight by Rep. Hunt, which consumed a good part of the afternoon, to provide for the appointment of an osteopath as a member on the state medical board, the house passed the Nottingham bill practically as reported out by the health committee. Hunt finally withdrew his amendment to substitute an osteopath for one of the two eclectic members. The object of the Nottingham bill is that Michigan may participate in the general movement of the medical profession of all the states to bring about uniformity and reciprocity, so that the licensed physicians of one state may practice in other states. Six states have laws similar to the Nottingham bill, and it is hoped that all will come into line.

Representatives Galbraith, Herkimer and Higgins were the only members of the house who voted to concur in the senate's substitute for the primary election bill. The substitute was rejected by a vote of 82 to 3. On Rep. Colby's motion, the speaker was authorized to appoint a conference committee of three. Speaker Carton immediately named Colby, of Wayne, chairman of the conference committee, and Rep. Wade, of Allegan; H. E. Powell, of Ionia, were named as the other members.

Two hours of the time of the house were consumed in the killing of Rep. Shea's boiler inspection bill. The measure proposed the appropriation of $15,000 a year for inspection, to be carried on under the direction of the labor commissioner. A chief inspector was provided for at $1,500 a year, and deputies at $1,200 each. "Talk about your game-wardenship graft," said Rep. Rodgers, "that isn't a marker to the graft this bill would make possible."

The committees of the house and senate having in charge the matter of harmonizing the two branches on a primary election bill are Representatives Colby, Wade and H. L. Powell; Senators Baird, Smith and Jones. The house members are all strong for primary elections covering nominations from governor down and senate members are equally as strong against it.

The house ways and means committee has reported out the St. Louis World's Fair appropriation bill. The figure recommended is $50,000. The bill, when it passed the senate, provided for $125,000. An attempt will be made to increase the figure on the floor of the house.

Social Problems.

Has conversation grown less refined? Are we too wedded to cards and sport? Are all our morals the slipshod kind? Lately described in a certain court? Do we behave like a rowdy crowd? When we are met at a social crush? Is too much freedom to girls allowed? Have we forgotten the way to blush? These are the things that our critics claim. Still, though we might be improved, I know; Doubtless our grandmothers said the same Sixty or seventy years ago! -London Tatler.

At the Baden Corral

Juan Sylva leaned from his saddle and gazed into the lovely face lifted to his own. "Why weren't you at the corrals today, Bonita? I watched all day and got not one sight of your beautiful face rewarded me." "No, señor, I was busy in the garden. You must remember that this is violet time, and the time is short, so they must be watered and gathered each day. But I thought of you—often, and the violets whispered to you." Then, with a swift blush, she dropped her eyes shyly, and—saw her lacy shoes and coarse skirt. When she looked up again, Juan was shutting his lips firmly. He had started to speak, but now, sitting erect, he gathered up the riata which hung from his saddle and remarked cheerily: "Well, the father must surely let you come to-morrow. We are to have a great time at the corrals, for we have 500 new cayuses and a newspaper reporter will be there to write up and take cut pictures. Maybe you would like to see how she does it?" "She?" questioned Bonita breathlessly. "Is she pretty?" "No, I believe not," answered Juan carelessly. "At least—well, you can see her for yourself to-morrow." Then swinging the sombrero from his handsome head, he put the spurs to his horse and was soon out of sight. Bonita stood with tightly clasped hands, watching the fog as it rolled up from the sea to swallow the strong, erect figure on the galloping horse. "Yes, I will go to-morrow, if only to see this girl. Something tells me—but no, you must love me. You must—you have loved me always. I know it, I know it," she sobbed passionately. And Juan Sylva? He, too, was murmuring to himself, "No, not beautiful as Bonita Alvarez is. She is lovely, a dark-eyed queen, but as untutored as the violets she grows. While you—you make me think of those other days, of the life—

"You shall not go! I love you and you must stay here with me!" that might be mine, if it were not for my old father. Why did he give me that taste of civilization, only to snatch me back to this? And yet, in his heart, he knew that only the sight of Mildred Ayres, special reporter on the New York Blazer, had caused the old restlessness to reassert itself. The next morning the corrals presented an animated scene, and Miss Ayres, with her camera, was on hand early.

The foreman who received her spoke English, but poorly, so, after trying in vain to secure the information she desired, she asked: "Where is the young man I talked with yesterday—the one with black hair and eyes? He rode a black horse." The foreman shrugged his shoulder. After all she was a woman. "Juan Sylva?" "I believe that was his name. Can you spare him?" "It is for him to say. He owns it all." Then, noting the smile in Miss Ayres' face, he added: "Juan's father is the richest ranchero, yes—and Juan he sent East to college. Now he is back, and the father is old and ill, and Juan is master. And the senorita shall talk with the master if she will." All that day Juan walked at Miss Ayres' side. Late in the afternoon Bonita left her violet garden long enough to make a hurried trip to the corrals, but she stopped only a few moments. Juan had forgotten her coming. He was on the other side of the big corral, talking with Miss Ayres. And so, leaving the cowboys behind with their significant glances, their shrugging shoulders and pitying eyes, she took her embittered way back to the little garden, where she could pour her grief into the ears of her violets. And while Bonita suffered and grew pale and lost the golden light in her midnight eyes, the intimacy between Juan and Miss Ayres grew. There came a day when, as they walked toward the tiny depot where she was to take the train for San Francisco, she said to Juan: "I think this will be my last trip to Baden, Mr. Sylva, for day after to-morrow I start East. How much you have done to make my stay pleasant and how much your excellent stories have helped to advance my position on my paper, I cannot explain to you, but, believe me, I am most grateful." Upon these impersonal, conventional words broke the voice of Juan. "You shall not go! I love you and you must stay here—with me. In my glorious West, where you shall never write for money again, but only the most beautiful things, as you feel them." Then came a torrent of half-English, half-Spanish love phrases that fairly stunned the New York girl. What should she say? It all sounded so peaceful, so inviting, to one who had fought her way for several years. The train came and went, and she still stood, gazing out to the sea, where the evening fog and the setting sun were battling for supremacy. At last she sighed and turned back to the man. "To-morrow I will tell you. Come to my hotel in San Francisco, and you shall have your answer. And now that I have missed my train, while we wait for another, let us see one of those beautiful violet gardens of which I have heard so much. No; we will not talk of—love, but of violets." And so it happened that the unthinking Juan led her to the home of Bonita Alvarez, whose violets were the talk of Baden and beyond. But when he saw Bonita's face, he remembered, and cursed himself for a fool, that he had brought this other woman to her whom, in an idle moment, he dreamed of loving. So he excused himself on the plea of wishing to see Alvarez, and left the two girls alone. Of Bonita, Mildred Ayres knew nothing. She plunged into the intricacies of violet culture and was amazed to feel suddenly a burning hand clasped on her wrist. "No, you shall not write. You shall listen. Why have you done this to me—you who have so much and I so little? He loved me first—yes, he would have loved me always, but for you. And it is not you he loves, but your fine ways, and your costly clothes, and the life you live that once was his. Why—why could you not go back to that life—and leave my Juan for me? You could live without him—could forget him—but I—I will die." Mildred Ayres drew away from the frantic clasp and the tragic eyes upturned to hers. She almost wished that she had given Juan her answer at once. She had decided in her heart that it should be "yes," but with a woman's perversity, she had wished to defer surrender. And now— "He was mine always before you came. Never, even when he went away to school, did he care for another woman—only me. And now, if you will go away, he will forget—and come back to me." That night Mildred Ayres reasoned with herself. "The girl is right. I do not love him as she does. And I can live without him. I love him for what he can give me—surcease from anxiety, responsibility and drudgery. She loves him for his own splendid self. I might tire of him, or tire him. She never would. And so—" Then she wrote a curt little note, which belied the tears she had to wipe away lest they blot the words. "The next evening, with that curt note crushed in his burning palm, Juan

"No, you shall not write! You shall listen!" Sylva rode back from San Francisco to Baden. Disappointment, wounded pride and a fiery temper gave the black horse a hard run, and it took only an hour to reach Bonita's garden, where, in the twilight, she gathered violets. On an east-bound express, a woman looked backward toward the setting sun and murmured: "I wonder if the girl was right? Will he go back?" For how could she know that in the violet garden tremulous lips were praying for her, Ave after Ave, and the midnight of those dusky eyes was once more shot with golden lights?—Lenora Bechler in Boston Globe.

MAYOR SCHMITZ'S APT REPLY.

How City's Chief Executive Got Rid of a Bore. Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco tells of an untrusting politician who demanded a position. To escape him and kindred men the mayor hid himself to the suburbs. And in the suburbs the applicant halted the mayor. The politician placed his cane behind him and rested on it as a seat. Better opportunity had never been presented for arguing his just claim. His fidgeting caused the cane to move slightly. "Yes, sir," said the office seeker. "I am entitled to a position in the city's service and am looking for an opening." "Is there any kind of work to which you are adapted?" asked the mayor. The man took courage from the question and said that any kind of an opening would suit. By this time the man's unsteadiness had brought the cane, which was bearing his weight, precariously near a knot hole. The mayor thought. In expectancy the applicant shifted his position. The next instant he was endeavoring to follow his cane through a hole in the board walk. "There," said the mayor, "very much relieved, 'is an opening for you. Try and fill it; if you don't succeed, see the board of public works.'"—Boston Post.

Prayer.

Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer Than this world dreams of. Wherefore let thy voice Rise like a fountain for me night and day. For what are men better than sheep or goats, That nourish a blind life within the brain, If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer Both for themselves and those who call them friend? For so the whole round earth is every way Bound by gold chains about the feet of God. —Tennyson

NEWS OF THE WORLD

Brief Chronicle of Matters of Importance

America Through German Eyes.

Baron von Potenz, kaiser's deputy, who traveled through the United States to make a study of the country, has submitted an interesting report. He says: "The more I saw of America the less I sympathize with our German jingoism, but I do hope that the United States may some day be forced to fight for her very life. The victory over decrepit old Spain was far too easily won. "Unless I am very mistaken about the temper, the ambitions and the political destiny of the Americans, their admirable talent for assimilation and for attracting other peoples and countries will result in the annexation of Canada, Mexico and all the neighboring island world. Already they have achieved commercial and industrial supremacy in Mexico. It seems to be the mission of the United States to create an empire radically different from any Europe ever produced. "The American easily forgives and forgets, the after-history of every war the United States ever engaged in proves that abundantly. To my mind, the ways of the American courts are far from ideal, but I make haste to add that their mode of inflicting punishment is most humane. "American young men are singularly well bred for the obvious reason that they are brought up with the girls and under the influence of women of refinement, education and energy. German young men ill-compare with their American brethren. How could they, seeing that they receive their social education at the beer table?"

A Panic Predicted.

Dr. Herbert J. Davenport, of the economics department of the University of Chicago, in his class in economic history, made the statement that within five years the United States would see another panic. He bases this statement on the fact that wages are rising, causing a lessening of profits, which in its turn causes a slump in stocks, and on the fact that in the last century panics have occurred periodically; one every ten years on an average. He said: "Panics have been occurring at intervals of about ten years during the nineteenth century. It is to allow ourselves to be misled by our hopes to suppose that no more panics are to come. In recent years they have visited this country in 1857, 1866, 1873, 1884 and 1893. We are due for another now. The squeeze of last fall in the stock market may postpone for a year or two the time that a panic might have otherwise occurred. This movement, if successful, will have a bearing on the case in that it will tend to lower profits and to squeeze some water out of stock valuations."

Horror of the Kishinev Massacre.

Additional details of the Kishinev massacre of Jews give the number of victims thus far buried in the Jewish cemetery at 44 and say that 84 persons seriously wounded are still in the Jewish hospital. The horrors reported scarcely bear repetition. In one instance spikes were driven through a woman's head into the floor and cases of bodily mutilation have been authenticated. About 800 to 1,000 persons were arrested, an energetic official having been sent from Odessa to deal with the situation. The apathy of the local authorities during the two days of rapine and murder appears to have been fully established.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Mormons may not preach on the streets of New York, Mayor Low having refused them licenses. The battleship Iowa is now totally disabled at Pensacola, Fla., having burst a steam pipe which tore away the steering gear. Postmaster General Payne announced that there would be no more establishments of rural free delivery postal service until July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year. Back wages amounting to about $300,000, are being paid employees of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. at Wilkes-barre, Pa., in accordance with the strike commission award. Grave diggers at New Haven, Conn., laid down their shovels and refused to dig a grave in St. Bernard's cemetery because Undertaker Sisk would not accede to the demands of the striking hackmen. The undertaker himself and a friend had to dig the grave.

Awful Cruelties.

Dr. Doroschewski, the head physician of the National hospital at Kishineff, has given the following specific instance of hideous cruelties of the Russians in their massacre of the Jews: "A Jewess named Sura Fonarschl was brought here with two nails, seven inches long, driven into her brain through her nose. "One Jew was brought in with one hip, both ankles and wrists broken, his severed hands and feet dangling by the skin. "A Jew named Charifon had lost his upper and under lips, which had been cut away with a kitchen knife, after which his tongue and windpipe had been pulled out through his mouth with pincers. "The ears of a Jew named Seizer had been cut away and his head battered in 12 places. He was a raving maniac. "A carpenter was surprised at work and both of his hands were sawed off with his own saw. "A Jewish girl was assaulted by several brutes, who then cut her eyes out with a pocketknife. "One woman, after trying to defend her children was thrown upon the pavement, disemboweled, and feathers and horsehair from her bed were stuffed into her body. "Small children were flung out of windows and trampled upon by the mob. "Forty-seven were killed on the spot, 80 died of their injuries and 300 are under treatment. Many will be crippled for life. "Four thousand Jews are without food or shelter and it is impossible for them to get away."

A Severe Libel Law.

Gov. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, has approved the newspaper libel bill, and at the same time issued a long statement giving reasons for his action. The bill is aimed to suppress the caricature and cartoon which touch the susceptibilities of the politicians and others, and is so far-reaching that any misstatement, whether intentional or by negligence, is punishable by severe penalties. It was notoriously the work of Boss Quay, and intended primarily, it is said, to throttle opposition newspapers.

ITEMS FROM EVERYWHERE.

Miss Minnie Summers, 84 years old, died at her home in New York. While entertaining friends she laughed heartily at a funny story. Suddenly she ceased, her head dropped forward on her breast, and she died in a few minutes. Oliver T. Sherwood, until recently cashier of the Southport, Conn., National bank, is missing, and there is said to be a shortage of $100,000 in the bank. Another cashier has been elected. Friends of Sherwood attribute his troubles to unsuccessful ventures. Tom Collins, a tramp, exhausted and starving from a long ride on the bumpers of a train, dragged himself up the high steps of a Newark, N. J., residence, to beg some food. Becoming utterly exhausted he toppled over the balustrade and was impaled on the sharp picket of an iron fence. He will die. A destitute family of 12 children was the story which brought a check for $15 from Mrs. Roosevelt to a Buffalo woman. She then communicated to a charity society which found the woman in a well furnished house with two children and her husband earning $3 a day. Payment of the check was stopped. Immigration continues on the increase. For the 17 days of May, this year, 36,077 aliens passed through Ellis Island, as against 45,486 last year and 36,371 in the same period of 1901. This is an increase of 4,591 over the same period last year and 23,000 are expected this week. It is predicted that the month will show fully 100,000 as against 84,600 last year. Because he wore a silk hat, Philip Buntz, of New York, traveling agent for a Bible house, was killed in Logan, Tex. Another offense that stirred the cowboy anger was ordering a glass of lemonade at a bar instead of good "red licker." A cowboy threw a lariat around Buntz's neck. He was felled to the floor by a blow from the butt of a heavy revolver, his skull being fractured. Death followed in a few minutes.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Theford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, siccachae, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Theford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in manmoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Theford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Ilwaco, La.

A Pertinent Inquiry.
 Do you know that for a little more than it costs to take your family to the theater once, you can have a Graphophone, which is equal to a dozen theatrical performances rolled into one, for with it you can reproduce all the songs, speeches and musical selections that you wish to hear? You get a combination of an orchestra, theater, concert and no end of novel and delightful entertainments. Nothing is truer than the assertion that the Graphophone entertains everybody everywhere. Those who are not familiar with this wonderful instrument have much to learn that will add to their pleasure.

The Columbia Phonograph Company, 37 Grand River avenue, Detroit, headquarters for graphophones and talking machine supplies of every kind, will send you catalogues on application. 42

Notice.
 The Board of Review of the Township of Sylvan will meet in the town hall on May 25 and 26, 1903, and will continue in session from 9 a. m. until 12 m. and 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. of said days for the purpose of correcting and reviewing the assessment roll of said township for the year 1903.
 F. H. SWEETLAND, Supervisor.

COUNTY CLEANINGS.
 There were 19 births in the township of Freedom last year.
 The salary of the Manchester postmaster has been increased from $1,400 to $1,500.
 The salary of Postmaster Pond, of Ann Arbor, has been increased from $3,000 to $3,100.
 Geo. C. Page, for 70 years a resident of Dexter, died at the home of his son Jas. B. Page, in that village Wednesday night, May 13, aged 93 years.
 The machinery with which Josiah Sloat, of Sharon, was building wire fence gave way one day last week in some unaccountable manner and cut off one of his fingers.
 Ex-Marshall Frank Warren, of Ann Arbor, has been presented by the Ann Arbor Humane Society with a gold medal for good work done by him in the cause of humane treatment of children and animals.
 John Schafer, a Sallie saloon keeper on Friday paid $300 damages to Mrs. Anna James on account of her husband becoming drunk at his saloon and falling out of his carriage. He also paid over $300 costs in the case.

Maud—Last night Jack told me that he wouldn't marry the best girl living, unless—what—unless she took Rocky Mountain Tea. Sensible fellow. 35 cents. Glazier & Stimson.

Cards of Thanks.
 We desire to thank those friends and neighbors who by their kindly acts and words of sympathy were of such material assistance to us during the sickness and death of our father, the late Peter Hindelang, believing that their good deeds will not go unrewarded in the time to come.

A. B. Chase Pianos.
 There is a great big difference in some pianos regarding their relative merit and value as a musical instrument, and where an agent or dealer tells you that he has a good piano as the A. B. Chase he is deceiving you. Madame Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler, who was in Ann Arbor last week and appeared in the May Festival concert, showed her appreciation of the A. B. Chase by ordering one from Root's Music House for her use at the Cook House in her final preparation for the concert.

Notice.
 The board of review of the village of Chelsea will meet in the council room of the town hall in said village, on Monday and Tuesday, the 25th and 26th days of May, 1903, and will continue in session from 8 until 12 o'clock in the forenoon and from 1 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon of said days for the purpose of correcting and reviewing the assessment roll of said village for the year 1903.
 Dated this 14th day of May, A. D. 1903

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of no time to lose. Beware of "old fogey" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poisons from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CURE GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 25 Years in Detroit. 250,000 Cured.
