COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Eight Chelsea High School Students Graduate in the Class of 1903.

Another school year has come and gone, another commencement has been held, and eight more young people have passed another milestone on the road of life and have passed on to win fresh glory in the fields of the great unknown future.

The baccalaureate address to the class of 1903 was delivered by Rev. E. E. Caster, D. D.; at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. The church was filled with the large audience that had gathered, and they listened attentively to the excellent address, full of timely advice to the young people starting out on a new phase of life's journey.

The commencement exercises were held at the opera house last evening and were unique in their excellence and brevity, no one getting tired or bored by the length of the speeches or selections. The hall was filled with the friends of the class and school.

The stage was very prettily and tastefully decorated in the class colors, pink and white. Bunting of those colors was festooned overhead and draped at the sides and back so as to form a regular room. In each of the rear corners was a large mirror draped in white. The floor was covered with pretty rugs and dainty pieces of furniture added to the general good effect. The floral decorations were potted palms and pink and white roses. The piano used was loaned by the Ann Arbor Music Co.

At 8:15 o'clock to the strains of a march played by Miss Natalie Fischer, the class of 1903, preceded by Prof. Gifford, the speaker Hon. M. P. Bourke, and Revs. W. P. Considine and F. A. Stiles, marched on the stage and took their seats.

The program opened with a well played piano solo by Miss Fischer. Rev. F. A. Stiles offered an earnest prayer. Mrs. H. C. Rankin, of Leslie, rendered the pretty song "Robin's Come" in a pleasing manner. Prof. Gifford then introduced Hon. M. P. Bourke, of Lansing.

Mr. Bourke gave a brief but pointed address, in the course of which he congratulated the class on their success, praised them for their ambition for future achievements, and advised them to aim high and persevere. He cautioned them not to think at any time that they know it all, as all through life they will find something new to learn. Success will not come at a bound, he said, but through patient endeavor. If you cannot get all you aim for, do the best you can. Be true to yourself, your God and your neighbor, and be not lacking in ambition. Do not be sordid or mercenary, for that shows a lack of true spirit.

Miss Fischer played Nevins' "Tournament" in a bright, sparkling manner.

Prof. W. W. Gifford then stepped forward to present the diplomas for the last time as superintendent of the Chelsea schools. In doing so he thanked the people for their many kindnesses during his six years' service here, which is as long a term as anyone who had preceded him had held the office. He alluded feelingly to the death of Miss Hemens, congratulated the class on their preferment, and bade one and all "Farewell."

Mrs. Rankin sang the touching words of Lohr's "Friends," which seemed to fit in exactly with the words of farewell spoken by Prof. Gifford.

The exercises were closed with the benediction by Rev. W. P. Considine, who before pronouncing it congratulated the class and invoked God's blessing on them one and all.

A Beautiful Religious Service.

The annual procession in honor of the Blessed Sacrament was held last Tuesday evening at St. Mary's church in the presence of a very large congregation. The altar were beautifully decorated with choice flowers and many lights. Sixteen little girls of the Sunday school, dressed in white and blue and carrying baskets of lovely flowers, were conspicuous in the procession, which was made up of the children of the Sunday school. At the benediction, which concluded the devotions, Mr. Burg sang an "O, Salutaris" in fine style, and the "Tantum Ergo" was sung by the entire choir with great devotion and spirit. The hymn of thanks giving "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," was sung by the entire congregation.

RICH HOLDINGS IN OIL.

H. S. Holmes, and C. E. DePuy and W. J. Dancer, of Stockbridge, Have Large Blocks of Canadian Oil Stock.

There was organized in Detroit, Monday, May 19, a company, which from all the Herald can learn of it and its affairs has a bright and successful future from a business standpoint, and in which our fellow townsman, H. S. Holmes, has a large holding as well as being one of its officers. The company is known as The International Oil Company, of Detroit, is capitalized at $1,000,000, and its officers are as follows: President, Gen. D. B. Ainger, of Detroit; vice president, H. S. Holmes, of Chelsea; secretary, C. E. DePuy, of Stockbridge; treasurer, Geo. T. Courtney, of Detroit.

The Stockbridge Sun gives the following account of how the gentlemen in this neighborhood first became acquainted with these oil prospects:

"Early in the year there came to C. E. DePuy's attention what he regarded as a bright prospect for oil development at Thamesville, Ontario. The conditions offered by a few others, notably among them being Gen. D. B. Ainger, of Detroit, struck Mr. DePuy so favorably that he and his fellow townsman, W. J. Dancer, and old friend H. S. Holmes, of Chelsea, ventured with him and became three of a company of six to pursue prospects either to success or failure."

Having secured lease privileges on 511 acres of land near Thamesville, 61 miles from Windsor, the company began operations in the early part of last month and the success of their first well is told by the Thamesville Herald of May 14 in the following words:

"The most thoroughly satisfied crowd of oil speculators and experts ever seen in this country were those present at the test made of the well lately struck on the Routledge farm just north of here. A vein of oil was struck at a depth of 200 feet and as the hole began to fill with the wonderful black liquid it was decided to let well enough alone. On Wednesday a pump was put in and in just a few minutes less than four hours a 24 barrel tank was filled with solid crude oil."

Encouraged by their first effort the company, right after its organization, sunk two other wells a short distance from the first well, of which the Detroit Tribune of June 7 had the following to say:

"The Thamesville field is keeping up its reputation as an oil district," said John P. Glendon yesterday. "While there have been a couple of dry wells this week, they are offset by two more good ones coming in. One on the Routledge farm, controlled by the International Oil Co., is practically a gusher, since the hole filled up and overflowed. The other two wells drilled by this company on the Routledge farm showed a production of 120 and 200 barrels per day, but they are away in the shade compared to this well, which is confidently predicted will produce over 300 barrels per day."

Mr. Holmes says the company's leasehold rights embrace some of the best oil lands in the Thamesville district and they will keep right on developing them. A complete pumping plant with stationary engine and boiler to work it has been ordered and will be installed as soon as it can be got on the ground. At present a traction engine is being used to furnish the power to pump the oil.

On Monday of this week the drillers who were at work on one of the new wells kept on pumping after they had got through drilling and in three hours they had pumped 24 barrels of oil, which is a remarkably good showing. In fact these wells are said to be the best oil producers in Canada.

As crude oil is worth $3.15 a barrel at the well in Canada, which is over $1 a barrel more than it sells for in this country, it looks as though the company should make some money.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR

Author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," "I, Thou and the Other One," "The Maid of Malden Lane," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Dodd, Mead & Company. All rights reserved.)

CHAPTER XV.—(Continued.)

The Bastille! She had heard of it in Paris of that stone hell to which she had been sent. All she had heard of it, but in the morning she was resolved to throw the terrible burden on some one more able to bear it. But on whom? Sir Thomas would not have the subject named in his presence. It would be to tell Jane, but there was Cromwell. There was the Protector. It was his business to look after England, else what was the use of Protector? Besides which, Cromwell loved Neville.

Matilda could not tell how much or how little Cromwell knew of her meddling in a variety of plots against his government, but she expected her father's name would secure her audience. Her first request, however, was met with a prompt refusal. He was not to be daunted. If her name was not sufficient, she had others more potent. So she wrote on these words: "Lady Matilda Wick has important information regarding Lord Cluny Neville, and for the sake of Jane Swaffham's sake she has an interview."

This message was instantly effective. While Matilda was telling her father that "she would not do the least damage to the Usurper," the door opened hastily, and he entered her presence. In the twinkling of an eye her resolves vanished. She fell at his feet, and taking his hand kissed it, either in homage or in entreaty, she knew not.

"My lord," she said, and then she began to sob. "My lord, I crave of you so many pardons—so much forgiveness—I will never offend again." He raised her with an imperious movement, and leading her to a chair, remained standing at her side. "We will forget—the past is to be forgotten—your dear father's sake. Quickly tell me what you know, I am in a great hurry."

Without one unnecessary word she dictate the following letter to Mazarin:

"To His Eminence Cardinal Mazarin, 'Sir:—In a manner most providential it has been made known to me that Lord Neville is at this present moment in the Bastille prison. I know not why my friends should be treated as enemies, seeing that I have been faithful to you in all difficulties. Truly my business is now to speak things that I will have understood. The danger is great, if you will be sensible of it, unless Lord Neville be put at once in charge of those by whom I send this message. For if any harm come to him, I will make inquiry for his life—for every hair of his head that falls wrongfully to the ground. And in regard to sending more troops to Boulogne against the Spaniards, look not for them, unless, by the grace of God and your orders, Lord Neville is presently, and without hindrance, in England. Then, I will stand with you, and I do hope that neither the cruelty, nor malice of any man will be able to make void our agreement: concerning the Spaniards; for as to the young man's return, it is the first count in it, and I shall—I must—see that he is restored to that freedom of which he has been unjustly deprived. It cannot be believed that your eminency has had anything to do with this deed of sheer wickedness, yet I must make mention of the jewels which disappeared with Lord Neville, and the money, and the papers. I have some reluctance to write further about them, believing that you will look more particularly than I can direct, into this matter. By the hand of my personal friend, General Swaffham, I send this; and in all requisites he will stand for 'Sir,'

"Your Eminency's
"Most Humble Servant,
"OLIVER P."

When this letter was sealed, he sent for Israel, and telling him all that he had heard, bade him take twelve of ated all, and then put into his hands Prince Rupert's letter, with her finger directing his attention to the striking postscript. And she saw with fear the rising passion in his countenance, and for a moment trembled when he looked into her eyes with such piercing inquiry that she could not resist nor misunderstand their question.

His comrades bore him through the streets of Paris.

"Sir," she cried, with a childlike abandon, "in this matter I am single-hearted as I can be. I wish only to do a great wrong right."

"You tell me the truth, I believe," he answered; "and I will take care to see that it is done. Say a word to Jane Swaffham until she be a surety in the matter."

Then she rose, and looking with the full of tears into his face, said, "I remember the day you pulled me from the hazelnuts for me in the park. My father walked with me, arm in arm, and I had your hand on my shoulder as you lifted me at the gates and kissed me. Sir, I entreat you, forget all that has come and gone since that hour, and dismiss me now, as I am, and she lifted her lovely face, and with the tears of contrition, and Cromwell took it between his broad, strong hands, and kissed it, even as he had kissed it in her childhood.

"No home, my dear," he said softly, "all that can be done I will do, and without delay."

Matilda curtsied and went out. There was in her heart a strong belief that this time Cromwell's inquiries would be as effective as they were sure to be prompt. Indeed the first thing the Protector did, was to sary order for the release of Lord Cluny Neville,—"If such a prisoner was really in the Bastille,"—and sending a body of his own musketeers with it, directed Israel to accompany them.

The Governor of the Bastille had so forgotten Cluny, that his name called up no recollection. He did not know whether he was in the prison or not. He did not know whether he was alive or dead. The very books of the prison had forgotten Cluny. Their keeper grew cross, and positive of Neville's non-entering, as volume after volume refused to give up his name. But Israel and his men, standing there so determined and so silent, forced him to go back and back, until he came to that fateful day when, before the dawning, the young man had been driven within those terrible gates.

"On whose order?" asked Israel, speaking with sharp authority.

"On the order of his eminency, Cardinal Mazarin," was the answer.

"I thought so," then turning to the head gaoler he added, "you have the order for release. We are in haste."

"Time is not counted here. We know not haste," was the answer.

"Then," said Israel, flaming into passion, "you must learn how to hasten. I give you ten minutes to produce Lord Neville. After that time, I shall return to his eminency and report your refusal to obey him."

The gaoler had never before been accosted in such language. As word by word was translated to his intelligence, he manifested an unspeakable terror. He left the chamber at once, and within the time named there were sounds heard which made all hearts stand still—the slow movement of feet hardly able to walk, the dismal clangor of iron, and anon the mournful sound of a human voice. But nothing could have prepared Cluny's comrades for the sight of their old companion. His tall form was attenuated to the last point; his eyes, unaccustomed to much light, would not at once respond, they looked as if they had lost vision; his hair straggled unkempt over his shoulders, and the awful pallor of the prison on his face and neck and hands was more ghastly than the pallor of death. His clothing had decayed; it hung in shreds about his limbs; but there was a glimmer of his old self in the pitiful effort he made, as soon as conscious of human presence, to lift up his head and carry himself without fear.

"Cluny! Cluny! Cluny!" cried Israel; and then Cluny distinguished the buff and steel uniforms, and knew who it was that called him. A long, sharp cry of agony, wonder, joy, answered the call, and he fell senseless into Israel's arms.

They brought him wine, they lifted him to the open window, they laid bare the skeleton form of his chest, they called him by name in voices so full of love and pity that his soul perforce answered their entreaties. Then the Governor offered him some clothing, but Israel put it passionately away. They were worse than Babylonish garments in his sight; he would not touch them. He asked only for a public litter, and when it was procured, they laid Cluny in it, and his comrades bore him through the streets of Paris to their lodging on the outskirts of the city.

When they left the gates of the prison there was a large gathering of men, and it increased as they proceeded—a pitiful crowd, whose very silence was the highest eloquence. For they understood, Cluny lay prone and oblivious to their vision. They had seen him come from the Bastille. He was dead, or dying, and these angry, weeping soldiers were his comrades. They began to mutter, to exclaim, to voice their sympathy more and more intelligibly. Women, praying and weeping audibly, joined the procession, and Israel foresaw the possibility of trouble. He felt that in some way order must be restored, and inspired by the wisdom within, he raised his hands and in a loud, ringing voice, began the favorite hymn of his troopers; and to the words they had been used to sing in moments of triumphal help or deliverance they carried Cluny, with the solemn order of a religious service, safely into their camp.

CHAPTER XVI.

Oliver the Conqueror.

"Cheer up, Jane! You and Lord Neville will yet arrive at the height of your wishes. This is my judgment, and if it be not true, you may burn me in the ear for a rogue."

"And you will marry Cymlin?"

"Faith, I know not how I am to help the catastrophe! But in all sobriety, I think Cymlin loves me, and you do, too, dear Jane! Oh, I could weep my eyes dry when I think of your dear lover, and all he has so innocently suffered. It is intolerable!"

In her way, Matilda was doing her best to console and encourage Jane as they talked over the sad fate of her rescued lover. Both had been weeping, and there was a more affectionate confidence between them than had existed for many years.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD

King and Queen Murdered

Early Thursday morning King Alexander of Servia, and Queen Draga were assassinated in the royal palace, together with the queen's brother, Nikodem, her sister, the prime minister, three members of the cabinet and several of the palace guard. The list in detail is as follows: King Alexander, Queen Draga, Nikodem the queen's brother, the queen's sister, Premier Markovitch, Minister Petrovitch, Minister Tudorovitch, former minister of war Gen. Pavlovitch, the captain of the palace guard and several of his command, all of the nobility. The assassins were army officers who were followers of Prince Peter Karageorgievich, the son of the Montenegrin family Czemy, who has long been a pretender to the throne, and who after the tragedy was enacted was proclaimed king, and a new government was promptly formed.

That two such persons as Alexander and his queen, both persons of a coarse, passionate, vindictive character, could not live together in harmony was conceded, but nobody ever expected the violent quarrels that have been of constant occurrence ever since the disappointment of the king's expectations of an heir. Their open, violent quarrels became the scandal of the capital, and indeed, of the whole country. The language they used to each other would better have befitted peasants. It was the queen's moral character which aroused the animosity of the people. She had been lying openly with the king for years before they were married, and when the engagement was announced the ministry resigned in a body by way of protest, declaring the proposed marriage to be a menace to the state. Ex-King Milan, father of Alexander, was a profligate who had to abandon the throne to his son. The whole family history is one of scandals, profligacy and immorality.

Startling Reports Made.

The arrest is contemplated by the postoffice department inspectors of a man who bears a name made famous in American history by one of its bearers, and which even persons who want to see the postal scandals proved to the bottom and the rascals punished, would deplore to see dragged down to disgrace. But one link in the chain of evidence against this man to warrant his being placed in custody is said to be lacking. The inspectors hope through information to be furnished by a person now being closely watched to obtain this missing link, and speedy action will follow. Three arrests, in addition to the person specifically referred to here, are reported to be under advisement in this connection.

Kansas City Needs Help.

Kansas City, Kas., is still sorely in need of aid for its flood sufferers. A second urgent appeal to the country at large has been issued by the relief committee of that city, which says that local charity is totally inadequate to meet the situation. Outside assistance is imperative. At least 23,000 souls out of a population of 60,000 in the entire city are homeless and dependent. Hundreds of their homes have been swept away and those that remain have been left with a deposit of filth, both inside and out, of from one to three feet in depth. In most instances persons were able to save only the clothing they wore. Their household goods and clothing have been swept away or destroyed by water and mud.

A Great Graft.

The alleged "graft" of walking delegates in the building trades unions, revealed by District Attorney Jerome, of New York, in the arrest of Samuel J. Parks on charges of accepting bribes to end strikes, is assuming alarming proportions. Mr. Jerome says: "Workmen have been called out on strike and have lost $100,000 in wages while a leader was trying to extort $1,000 for himself from their employer. In one instance a great firm was approached by a labor leader who declared that if he received $15,000 as a present the wages of the employees might be cut from $4.25 to $4 per day and that he would guarantee that there would be no strike within a year."

The Assassins Will Escape.

The prosecution in the case of Curtis Jett and Thomas White, the Breathitt county, Ky., assassins, charged with killing Attorney J. B. Marcum, was compelled to close without the attendance of material witnesses to prove conspiracy. It is conceded that these witnesses, in some cases, have fled and in other cases are in hiding. It is claimed that they are afraid to testify and there is a general impression that jurors are also apprehensive for the future. Many reasons are advanced for the current opinion that there is not likely to be a conviction in the case.

The Missing Crown Prince.

The Marquette, Wisconsin, Star is authority for a story to the effect that Prof. Hoffman, who recently resigned from the faculty of the University of Iowa, is Crown Prince Rudolph, of Austria, who was supposed to have killed himself 15 years ago. Hoffman's resignation at the university was requested because he refused to reveal his identity after admitting that he was going under an assumed name.

The Destruction of Heppner.

News from Arlington, Ore., state that the town of Heppner, Ore., was destroyed by a great flood of water that rushed down Willows creek between 6 and 7 o'clock Sunday evening. Reports from Ione state that from 350 to 500 people are believed to have been drowned. Heppner is a town of about 1,250 inhabitants, the seat of Morrow county, Ore., at the terminus of a branch of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. Farming and stock raising are the chief industries. Willows creek, which is given as the cause of the disaster, is ordinarily a small stream, and early reports indicate the flood was caused by either one or two cloudbursts.

Re-elected Parks.

Samuel J. Parks, the walking delegate of the housewives' and bridge-men's union, who is under criminal charges for receiving bribes to call off strikes, etc., was renominated for his office by his union. In a resolution which condemned District Attorney Jerome for prosecuting Parks, the latter was commended for his work for the union. After the meeting Parks was carried on the shoulders of four men to a saloon surrounded by 400 or more admirers, cheering, shouting and singing for Parks and Devery.

Escaped Lynching.

A lynching in Ohio was narrowly averted by officers splitting a murderer away from Crestline to Bucyrus. George Cook, a plasterer, aged 28, was shot and instantly killed by Frank Dilling, a section employe on the Pennsylvania railroad. Cook's friends overpowered Dilling and beat him with clubs and left him for dead. The police conveyed him to the station, where he revived. A crowd again collected and threatened to lynch the prisoner, but the police succeeded in eluding them.

Cupid in Boats.

During the flood at St. Louis Mathew J. Ryan, of Chicago, rescued Miss May Cooney from the second story of a house in a rowboat. Before they reached safety he proposed that they get married and go to Chicago and she agreed to the plan. Charles H. Lindell was doing military service at East St. Louis and had occasion to row Miss Birdie Mitchell to her abandoned home and before they returned he had proposed and they were married Sunday.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Sentiment in favor of local option is said to be growing in Iowa county.

Joseph Thurer, the Chicago millionaire, is himself tending bar since the strike of the restaurant employes.

Miss Lura Angsbury, an employe of the Centerville knitting mill, was taken suddenly sick while at work, and has been unconscious for more than 56 hours.

St. Louis, Mo., is swarming with lizards and snakes that have been driven up by the floods, and thousands have been killed as they crawled up on the railway tracks.

William Lemarand's only means of support was a team of horses and the animals started off at South Rockwood when his back was turned, ran straight to the Huron river, jumped off a bank eight feet high and were drowned.

The bodies of A. L. Carr and Clarence Benjamin, who were drowned in Muskegon lake on the evening of Memorial day with Dr. Benjamin, father of Clarence, and son-in-law of Mr. Carr, have been recovered as well as that of the doctor.

Arthur Lyons, the slayer of his step-mother, who has been a fugitive from justice for several days in Shoals, Ind., pursued by a posse of several hundred, shot himself through the heart as he stood hemmed in on every side by a band of enraged farmers.

The Newport News Shipbuilding Co. has been awarded the contract for building the new 16,000-ton battleship Minnesota at $4,110,000. The New York Shipbuilding Co. gets the Kansas at $4,170,000, and the Vermont goes to the Fore River Mfg. Co. for $4,165,000.

Floods amounting to a cloudburst in the Jemez mountains, caused the Rio Grande to rise so suddenly that Albuquerque, N. M., was seriously threatened. The town of Los Cerrillos was completely submerged, the people fleeing to the hills. Alameda is also under water.

Henry Kaiser is literally pumping up a stream of gold out of his little island on the Yellowstone river, near Livingston, Mont. He bought the island for a song and sank a well in front of his door. The water showed free gold, and he has been cleaning up $100 a week with almost no trouble.

A sea romance ends in the marriage of Miss Pauline Schroeder, of Omaha, Neb., and Capt. Frank W. Irvine, of the Ward line steamer Seneca, at New York. Miss Schroeder first met the captain when she boarded the steamer at Tampico, Mexico, returning from a visit to her father and brother.

Grip

Brought On Sciatic Rheumatism.

Nervous Prostration Followed.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Gave Back Health.

"I was laid up during the winter of 94-95 with sciatic rheumatism and nervous prostration brought on by a severe attack of La Grippe. The rheumatic pains were so severe at times that it was impossible for me to turn in bed. I was unable to sleep. I had two of our best physicians in attendance, took all the advertised remedies for troubles of this kind but got no help whatever until I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Six bottles restored me to health; I am better than for years; in fact am entirely relieved. I can say with a clear conscience that it was Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine that restored me to health. When the pains of sciatica and rheumatism were most severe I secured almost immediate relief by the use of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. I have recommended Dr. Miles' Remedies to many people."—Fred Myers, Redfield, S. D.

"I was taken with pain in my heart and under the left shoulder; with such heavy oppressed feeling in my chest that I could hardly breathe. I had palpitation so bad and my heart would throb so that it would shake my whole bed. I also had a weak, all-gone feeling in the region of my heart. My doctor treated me for liver and stomach trouble but I failed to receive any benefit until a friend recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. I used both and one box of the Anti-Pain Pills. I believe I am completely and permanently cured."—Mrs. J. W. Golding, Noblesville, Ind.

Two weeks from Saturday is the Fourth of July.

Gregory bean pickers are on strike for an increase of wages.

All the departments of the Chelsea schools have closed for the summer vacation.

Next Sunday, June 21, is the longest day of the year. Half the summer gone practically, and very little warm weather so far, certainly not enough for making a good corn harvest.

A stock raising company capitalized at $15,000 has been organized in Jackson. It will operate farms located in Grass Lake. Besides raising stock the company will conduct a general farming business.

W. E. Stevenson, of North Lake, recently bought a pair of matched bay horses from Norris Bott, of Stockbridge, for which he paid $400. Mr. Stevenson believes in having good horseflesh around his premises.

Jackson proposes to celebrate the glorious Fourth of July in a very elaborate manner this year. Grand military, civic society and brass band parade, fireworks and other features are on the program. An effort is being made to hold the celebration Monday, July 6.

Stockbridge Sun: How the "Stars" twinkled and glimmered last Saturday. The sky was resplendent with twinklers. A cluster of nine, of Chelsea, after hovering over this village settled down upon us about noon and staid by us the rest of the day. They were only the "Junior Stars" of that village, but never mind the Seniors, you needn't send them over. Score, 15 to 2 in favor of the "Juniors."

A new time card went into effect on the Michigan Central Sunday. There are many changes in it. Those that effect this place are: Going east—No. 8, Detroit night express, leaves here at 5:50 a. m. instead of 6:09 a. m.; No. 12, Grand Rapids express, and No. 2, mail and express, remain the same, 10:40 a. m. and 3:15 p. m. Going west—No. 11, Michigan and Chicago express, leaves here at 6:00 a. m. instead of 7:50 a. m.; No. 5, mail and express, and No. 18, Grand Rapids express, remain as before 8:35 a. m. and 6:50 p. m.; No. 37, Pacific express, leaves at 11:05 p. m. instead of 11:52 p. m.

You feel mean, cross, ugly, down in the mouth, nothing goes right. Bad liver. Better take Rocky Mountain Tea. Drives away the blues. 35 cents. Glazier & Stimson.

Mrs. Chas. List, of Bunker Hill, spent the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Heeschwerdt.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Northwest Sylvan.

Edward Fisk, of Lima, spent Sunday at home.

Miss Adaline Scouten spent Sunday in Manchester with friends.

Miss Myrta Weber attended a wedding in Jackson one day last week.

Adolph Alber, of Chelsea, spent Sunday with his brother William Alber.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Heschewerdt spent Sunday with her brother, Fred Schauble, of Sharon.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heschewerdt and daughter Lizzie visited relatives in Jackson Friday.

Mrs. John Schauble and son Fred, of Manchester, spent part of the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hayes.

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, faith, to a married woman, hope, and to an old maid, charity.

West North Lake.

E. L. Glenn's new barn is completed. Miss Alta Skidmore spent Saturday at Gen. C. Reade's.

Clarence and Oliver Teachout are working at carpentering.

Work on Harry Singleton's new barn was commenced last week.

Blanche and Jay Glenn visited relatives at North Lake and Chelsea last week.

Eugene Heatley, who has been spending some time in the west, is home for a visit.

Mrs. L. W. Allyn is busy delivering P. W. Watts' strawberries to Chelsea customers.

Mrs. Geo. C. Reade and daughter Nora left the first of the week to spend a couple of weeks at Grand Rapids.

Miss Rosa Glenn returned home last week after staying five weeks with her brother E. L. Glenn and family.

Justin Hadley, agent for the Hawkeye Incubator Co., has sold quite a number of the chicken hatches in this vicinity.

The baseball team did not play in Chelsea last Saturday. On account of rain the game was postponed until next Saturday.

Worst of all Experiences.

Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Newson, Decatur, Ala. "For three years" she writes, "I endured insufferable pain from indigestion, stomach and bowel trouble. Death seemed inevitable when doctors and all remedies failed. At length I was induced to try Electric Bitters and the result was miraculous. I improved at once and now I'm completely recovered." For liver, kidney, stomach and bowel troubles Electric Bitters is the only medicine. Only 50c. It's guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson druggists.

Unadilla.

Frank Birnum spent Sunday with friends at Pontiac.

Miss Sillers, of Stockbridge, visited Miss Kate Birnum last week.

Mrs. Elmer Barton and son of Battle Creek, are visiting relatives here.

The Chattanooga Advertising.

The Chattanooga Medicine Company with laboratories and general offices at Chattanooga, Tenn., and branch houses at St. Louis, Mo., and San Francisco, Cal., has become one of the largest proprietary medicine concerns in the world. In the growth of this great business two factors have been dominant: The merit of its products—Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black Draught—has been widely recognized and the original advertising methods adopted have excited great comment. The publicity for these medicines does not consist of the catch phrase and extravagant statement, too often employed in advertising today, but instead the plain story of experience with the medicine given in the plain language of the people themselves. The following letter is a fair sample of the thousands of Wine of Cardui testimonials published during the past 20 years:

2088 Eastern ave., Cincinnati, O., May 20, 1902.
I consider Wine of Cardui a most excellent woman's remedy. It is certainly a specific as a tonic and regulator. For eight years I suffered with female trouble. I had intense pain in the back and head, leaving me so weak that I was unable to stand at times. Medicines did not seem to help me, but after all remedies had failed me Wine of Cardui proved my one great, true friend. What a relief I experienced! It came only a few days after I started taking. I used it faithfully for four months and gradually grew stronger and better. I am now regular to the day and for the past two years have enjoyed blessed good health. I certainly wish every sick and suffering woman could know of your blessed medicine. How much pain and suffering it would prevent, and what a difference it would make in thousands of homes where there is sickness and sorrow today, if they had Wine of Cardui it would bring relief and joy instead.
MARGARET GREENMYRE.

Children's Day Exercises.

Children's Day exercises were held at the Congregational church Sunday morning. The church was decorated very prettily with roses and asparagus ferns, and was well filled with an appreciative audience. The children had full charge of the exercises which comprised the program sent out by the Pilgrim Press, Boston, Mass., embracing songs and recitations. Rev. C. S. Jones made a short address on "Keeping the heart pure," which he illustrated with three hearts formed of white, black and red cardboard. Three children received the rite of baptism. The offering, which was for the benefit of the missionary department of the publishing house, amounted to $14.66.

No Woman Wears Corsets

Just for Fun;
Certainly not.

Yet, one might suppose so, from the way some merchants try to sell corsets. A good corset means a good form and proper support, and incidentally a good figure on the street. We know the makes of corsets shown in our department are the very best for the price because these makes are absolutely the best sellers the country over, are sold by the largest stores because they are just what the women always select. We can fit any form and figure as we have no less than thirty different shapes in all the sizes.

Tears.

These are the blown spindrift that is lashed from the face of the waters
That cover the Soul with Care;
These are the Children of Sorrow, these are the sons and the daughters
Sped forth from thy house, Despair!

Spray that is flung on the desolate cliffs from the depths of the sea-sources
To lie, like a veil, on our biers;
Children that follow the plumes and the step of the stately black horses;
Slow mourners, sure comforters—Tears!
—Will H. Ogilvie, in Spectator.

He Made Amends

When Ned Dalton married Una Perkins the village gossips reaped a harvest.

Every one had something to say except the man whose heart was smarting under the wrong dealt him by the friend and schoolmate of his boyhood and the woman he had loved ever since she was a wee lass.

When some of his friends came to him to offer sympathy, Tom Reed met them with an impenetrable reserve. He turned with renewed fervor to his work upon a wonderful invention, which he never ceased to believe would one day make his fortune.

Una and Ned went to housekeeping in a cozy little cottage on the edge of the village, and for a time it seemed as if the dark prognostications would prove false.

Then Ned got into bad company and neglected his wife and home. After the baby came it was worse. Una exostulated, entreated, rebelled.

They quarreled bitterly and one dark, dismal November night Ned took the midnight train to Greenfield and the next morning was speeding away on the Northern Pacific express to Seattle, the gold fever in his veins and the Klondike a dazzling vision before his eyes. He left a letter for Una:

"I've gone to make my fortune in the gold fields. If I never come back, marry Tom. He always loved you, and it will be some amends for the wrong we both did him."

"NED."

Una read the note with blinding tears, and fancied her heart was broken. But as the months passed and grew into years, and no word came from her husband, it was Tom she thought of most.

For the first year after her husband left she watched every mail, hoping that it would bring her some message. Now five years had gone, and she had given up all hope.

One day as she came home from work, her mother met her at the door. "Una, we have heard at last," she said, as she put a western paper in her daughter's hands, and pointed to a small notice marked in blue pencil.

Died—in Denver, May 18, Edward Dalton, aged 32. Westbrook, Conn., papers please copy.

"Now Tom will surely come," Una thought. But he did not.

One day she learned that he was ill, in dire poverty in a neighboring city. She went to the address that had been given her, and stumbled up the dark, ill-smelling stairs to the wretched hall bedroom that he occupied. Knocking

Una read the note with blinding tears.

timidly at the door, she received no response. She opened the door softly.

"Una!" He had awakened and recognized her.

"Una, why have you come?"

"To ask your forgiveness, Tom."

"You had that long ago. Do you think I don't know what you have suffered?"

"Then why have you stayed away

all these years, Tom?"

"Can you ask? Look around. What have I to offer any woman. You've had enough of poverty, my girl."

"But your invention. Surely, Tom, you can interest some one in that."

"I've tried, Una—every friend I know."

"But have you tried our manager, Mr. Norton? He made a fortune in oil

Under the window he paused and looked in.

last year, and has plenty of ready capital."

"Why do you think he would help me?"

"From something his wife told me. You know, she has been such a friend to me, Tom."

That was the beginning of Tom's good fortune. Mr. Norton was interested in his behalf and advanced funds. Soon Tom had regained his former strength and was working all day and long into the night at the factory which bore the name of Norton, Reed & Co.

Una and Tom were married on the day that the factory wheels first started to run, and even the village gossips admitted that they would surely be happy at last.

And so they were until the tide turned. A wealthier firm than Norton, Reed & Co. manufactured sweaters and caps at prices with which they could not hope to compete. Tom was in despair, for again ruin stared him in the face.

One drizzling night a stranger alighted at the station, took the only cab the village afforded and told the driver, Old Bill Streaker, to take him to Thomas Reed's. On the way they conversed.

"Did you know a fellow who lived here once by the name of Ned Dalton. I met him out west," the stranger said.

"Did I know Ned Dalton? Well, I guess I did. Every one knew him. Good hearted as the day was long, but shiftless. Just about broke Una Perkins' heart, and played Tom Reed a mighty dirty trick. Tom and Ned were chums till Tom fell in love with Una, and then Ned cut him out. Darned if I know how he did, though, even if he was a handsome cuss."

"But she got her reward all right. She and Ned lived a cat and dog life, and one night he sneaked off to the gold fields. She never see hide nor hair of him after that, till one day she heard he was dead."

"Then she married Tom. That's just about a year ago. They were happy as clams at first, but they've had mighty mean luck of late. They're poor as a church mouse, they say."

When they got in sight of the house the stranger gave the old man a dollar and dismissed the cab. Lights gleamed from the little cottage. The stranger stood a long time leaning over the gate, smoking his cigar. Then he threw it aside, set his jaw, squared his shoulders, opened the gate and walked up the path. Under the window he paused and looked in.

Tom sat at the open fireplace staring in at the fire. Una sat at his feet, leaning against his knee. Her boy, sprawled at full length beside her, played with a kitten. Una's face was turned toward the window, and it looked wan and white in the firelight. Tom's hand was resting lightly on her head.

A cold December rain was falling but the drops on the cheeks of the stranger were warm. Then he turned and walked rapidly away in the darkness.

A week later Mr. Norton came to Tom, his face radiant with good news. "An order for 1,000 sweaters, caps and leggings from Messrs. Lucky, Strike & Co., Chicago, Tom!"

After that orders poured in so rapidly that Tom could hardly fill them, and with every order came a check in payment. Other firms, seeing the output of the factory, gained confidence in them, and gave them their orders, and in a few months the business was on a paying basis.

Then one day Tom read the following article, clipped from a Seattle paper:

"The proprietor of the Lucky Strike mine, on the upper Yukon, who is said to have taken out some $5,000,000 of gold in the last three years, owes the discovery of this rich claim to the Indians. He has repaid them in the following original manner: Every man, woman and child of the entire tribe has received the present from him of a woolen sweater, cap and leggings. These garments are of as many colors as Jacob's coat, and the tribe is not only the most comfortably clad, but the most picturesque Indians we have in the far west."

Tom took the paper to Una. "Can it be—" His lips failed to speak the name.

Some few months ago a San Francisco paper printed the report of a steamer lost en route to Alaska. Among the passenger list was the name of Ned Collins, who was once the proprietor of the Lucky Strike mine, and who was known as Lucky Ned Collins.

He had squandered a fortune in wild plunging on the New York stock exchange and was returning to Alaska to retrieve his fortune. He was said to have been worshiped by the Indians, who would erect a monument to his memory on the site of the old mine now deserted.

They did, and though the inscription on the rude stone only commemorates the generosity of Lucky Ned Collins, Una and Tom read between the lines, "I've made amends to you."—Helen Farr Hunter in Boston Globe.

OLIVE OIL IN ARIZONA.

The Rise of a Great Industry in the Southwest.

"Olive oil is now being shipped by the ton from the Salt river valley of Arizona and the business is on the boom," said B. F. Franklin of Phoenix, Ariz., to a Washington Star man. "The entire valley is becoming dotted with olive orchards, and at this season of the year the trees are covered with thousands of tiny little starlike buds, which will soon be followed by the fruit formation, which when matured on the tree will amount to hundreds of pounds of fruit. Olives remain on the trees until they are thoroughly ripe before they are picked to have the oil squeezed and pressed from them."

"When the olives are ripe it requires a large number of hands to pick them, for the work must be done quickly. This is usually done by spreading large canvas sheets around the trees, upon which the pickers throw the olives as they are plucked off the branches. Once they are picked the fruit is carried to the crushing machine, which breaks the fruit up much as apples are crushed for cider. The pulp is then put into a machine which presses the juice from it, which runs off into a tank, where by force of gravity the oil proper rises to the top and is skimmed off and put away for several months to settle before it is bottled ready for the market. It requires about seventy-five pounds of fruit to produce a gallon of oil."

Beware.

O friend, when doubts assail thy mind,
When dark the way before,
Remember to be doubly kind
To those of lesser store
If they believe, what'er it be,
Try not to prove it wrong,
Think how their love has made them free,
Their faith has made them strong!

And thinking thus how others fare,
Upheld by simple creeds,
Of thine own unbelief beware
Lest it shall curb thy deeds,
For better 'tis to wish life well,
To help each brother man,
Than to dispute o'er heaven or hell,
Or frame a better plan.

We do not know, we can not tell,
The way that lies ahead,
Not one who knows futurity,
Not one by wisdom led,
The humblest faith may far outreach
Proud reason's highest call,
And in its gentle service teach,
To love is best of all.

—Charles W. Stevenson.

Good Definition.

Little Willie—"Say, pa, can you tell me what anarchism is?"
Pa—"Anarchism, my son, is some kind of a mouth disease, if I understand it aright."

THE ODD CORNER

Harbor Bar.

All in the feathered palm-tree tops the bright green parrots screech. The white line of the running surf goes booming down the beach;

But I shall never see them, though the land lies close aboard, I've shaped the last long silent tack as takes me to the Lord.

Give me the Scriptures, Jakey, 'n' the pipe atween my lips. I'm bound for somewhere south and far beyond the track of ships;

I've run my rags of colors up and clinched them to the stay. And God the pilot's come aboard to take me up the bay.

You'll mainsail-haul my blits o' things when Christ has took my soul. 'N' you'll lay me quiet somewhere at the landward end of the Mole, Where I shall hear the steamers' sterns a-squattering from the heave. And the topsail blocks a-piping when a rope-yarn fouls a sheave.

Give me a sup of lime-juice; Lord, I'm drifting into port. The landfall lies to windward, and the wind comes light and short.

And I'm for signing out, and off to take my watch below. And—prop a fellow, Jakey—Lord, it's time for me to go.

—John Masefield.

Travels 8,000 Miles to Get Married.

Miss Sara Thompson, a young music teacher of Clarksville, Pa., is now on her way to the gold fields of Alaska to marry the man she loves. She is unaccompanied and in spite of this has no fear of the 8,000-mile journey.

Miss Thompson's fiance is Rev. M. Egbert Koonce, who is stationed at Rampart City. The romance began when the couple lived on adjacent farms near Clarksville. Miss Thompson left home to study music in New York and meantime Mr. Koonce graduated, became an ordained minister of the Presbyterian church, and then went with the American army to Porto Rico as first lieutenant. He was afterward sent as missionary to Alaska, and it was on his return home that the engagement was announced.

Land Dispute 200 Years Old.

Down on the fish wharves of Chester, Pa., where Edgemont avenue runs to the Delaware river, are a number of historic houses that are now attracting the attention of historians. Particular interest centers around the old David Lloyd house, which is fast falling into decay.

Just how old this house is nobody knows, but when on May 4, 1703, Lloyd deeded the property to William Pickles the presence of the structure was noted.

It is supposed Lloyd built the house soon after he gained possession of Old Lloyd Homestead.

the land, Dec. 28, 1693. This soon became known as "the disputed Lloyd tract."

Lloyd obtained his title by deed from the church wardens of the Swedish congregation at Wicococo, which act on his part is criticised severely by Rev. Mr. Ross in his letter of June 21, 1714, to the Society of the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts.

"Ye glebe lands," he said, alluding to this tract, "was irregularly sold by some Swedes, under ye name of church wardens, to a powerful Quaker, who now plows and sows it and disposes of it at his pleasure; but it is hoped his precarious title will be one day inquired into, and the church restored to her rights again."

This tract, which had been given to the Swedes' church by Armgardt "Pappagayo," could not be wrunged out of the strong grasp of David Lloyd, and notwithstanding the determined opposition of Jasper Yeates, he succeeded in having the land confirmed to him by the proprietary government.

TREE THAT DRIES UP SPRINGS

Eucalyptus Should Not Be Planted in Their Vicinity.

At a recent meeting of the National Agricultural Society of France M. Lamey reported, according to Comos, that the eucalyptus is a dangerous tree in the neighborhood of springs, which it dries up rapidly.

"Have seen," said he, "a eucalyptus whose roots had penetrated into the pipes of a sink."

The fountain that supplied the house had been destroyed by the roots of neighboring eucalyptus trees, which it was necessary to cut down. At the forestry station of St. Ferriand, built near a spring that issues from a natural grotto, the roots of the eucalyptus trees planted above have penetrated the fissures in the rock and have completely covered the interior of the grotto with a thick velvety layer formed by an innumerable quantity of tiny rootlets, short and tufted, similar to those by which the ivy clings to walls. Owing to their energetic absorptive power, these rootlets, greedy for water, had also invaded and choked the conduits so that the outflow from the spring was greatly reduced. We may say, then, that although certain species of eucalyptus are valuable aids in drying marshy land it is prudent to keep from planting them in the neighborhood of springs used for domestic purposes or irrigation.

A Maryland Wonder.

Upper Cross Roads, Md., June 15th. —Never in the history of medicine in this state has anything created such a sensation by its marvelous cures of the most extreme cases as Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This wonderful medicine seems to know no limit in its wonder working power. Long-standing cases that have defied the most expert medical treatment, seem to yield easily to this new conqueror of disease.

Hundreds have testified to the virtue of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They tell of severe cases of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Female Trouble, Nervous Diseases and even Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease cured by this medicine.

Among those who have been benefited may be mentioned Mrs. John Cooney of this place.

Mrs. Cooney says:

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills the best remedy ever known for Kidney Trouble and weak back."

"They are without exception the best medicine I have ever used."

"I will always praise them highly, for I know that they are good."

Mrs. Cooney is only one of many who say of Dodd's Kidney Pills:

"The most wonderful remedy we ever heard of."

Pair of Them.

Canvasser—Is the lady of the house in?

Domestic—Yes, sor; there is two av us; which wan do yez want to see?

Bess—Why do you say that Mr. Old-beau is in the springtime of life?

Nell—Because he gives me that tired feeling.

Mrs. Laura L. Barnes, Washington, D. C., Ladies Auxiliary to Burnside Post, No. 4, G. A. R., recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"In diseases that come to women only, as a rule, the doctor is called in, sometimes several doctors, but still matters go from bad to worse; but I have never known of a case of female weakness which was not helped when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used faithfully. For young women who are subject to headaches, backache, irregular or painful periods, and nervous attacks due to the severe strain on the system by some organic trouble, and for women of advanced years in the most trying time of life, it serves to correct every trouble and restore a healthy action of all organs of the body."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a household treasure in my home, and I would not be without it. In all my experience with this medicine, which covers years, I have found nothing to equal it and always recommend it."—Mrs. LAURA L. BARNES, 607 Second St., N. E., Washington, D. C.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

"I received the free sample of Doan's Kidney Pills. For five years I have had much pain in my back which physicians said arose from my kidneys. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills have entirely cured the trouble. I think I owe my life to these Pills, and I want others to know it." SADIE DAVIS, Baxter Springs, Kans.

FALMOUTH, VA.—"I suffered over twelve months with pain in the small of my back. Medicines and plasters gave only temporary relief. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me." F. S. BROWN, Falmouth, Va.

Cream Thickening.
From Farmers' Review: A dairyman writes that he is selling cream to a grocer and a restaurant, that the cream tests from 25 to 27 per cent fat and is delivered daily. His customers complain that the cream is too thin, and he wants to know if there is some other way than by ageing the cream to get the desired body. He writes that by giving the cream age it is not fresh enough to endure the carelessness of the restaurant help and there are always complaints about the cream being sour when he attempts to hold the cream a day or so in order to thicken it before delivery to his customers.

He asks if I cannot recommend some preservative, or preservative that is harmless and will not interfere with the whipping of cream. He says, "I have tried to get the grocer and restaurant man to use more care with the cream, but it is useless, hence the necessity for some sort of a preservative that will somewhat prolong the keeping qualities of the cream."

My reply to this letter is that there is a law in this state forbidding the use of any kind of a preservative in either milk or cream. I do not know of anything that has been found, up to the present time, to be absolutely harmless to the consumer. I mean by this, that I do not know of any preservative that is offered by the trade that is harmless. There is a substance, however, which has been prepared for thickening cream and I think very likely it will answer the purpose of this man. It is what is called "Wisconsin Viscogen" and it can be obtained by writing to Chas. S. Baker & Co. Grand Crossing Station, Chicago. This is a powder that is sold in pound boxes and sent by mail. The powder is dissolved in water and the solution added to the cream. Directions for using it are sent with the powder.

It is a fact that separator cream usually looks thinner than gravity cream which contains the same per cent fat. There is something about the mechanical separation which breaks up the cream and makes it look thinner than gravity cream. After such cream is a day or more old its thickness resembles that of gravity cream, but many dealers can not wait for the cream to age for the same reason given by this man.—E. H. Farrington, Wisconsin Dairy School.

Milk Exposed to Foul Odors.
Besides bad fermentations, there is another cause of poorly flavored butter, says Oscar Erf. This comes from cream or milk having been exposed to foul odors, which are absorbed and given to the butter. The theory that milk does not absorb odors when warm and cooling has long been abandoned. Experiments show that milk in that condition is even more susceptible to odors than in any other state. In the ripening process this odor can be partly eliminated by aeration or by pasteurization of the cream, but in case of a bad fermentation some antagonistic germ must be added in order to check the progress of the undesirable one. This antagonistic fermentation is commonly known as a starter, and if properly prepared contains the right kind of flavor producing bacteria.

Percheron Breeders Meet.
A special meeting of the directors of the American Percheron Horse Breeders' Association was held at the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago on Wednesday, May 20. Reports were presented by the secretary and treasurer showing the association to be in good financial condition and that the registrations for the past four months were in excess of those received in the corresponding four months of last year. Resolutions were passed authorizing the treasurer to pay all outstanding bills for advertising, etc. It was voted that $500 in medals be given to the American Royal Show to be distributed as special premiums for Percheron exhibit at their show to be held at Kansas City, Mo., this coming fall; it was also voted that this be duplicated for special premiums to be awarded to Percherons exhibited at the International Live Stock Exposition to be held in Chicago in December. A resolution was carried unanimously recommending that the association give $1,000 in cash to be awarded as special premiums at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to be held at St. Louis, Mo., 1904.—S. D. Thompson, secretary.

As the diffusion of soluble matter in the soil water is probably much hindered by the friction of the soil particles, the roots of plants need to travel farther after food than do the branches, which develop in a freely circulating medium. Especially is this true of plants growing in poor soil.

DOCTOR ADVOCATED OPERATION--- PE-RU-NA MADE KNIFE UNNECESSARY.

CATARH is a very frequent cause of that class of diseases known as female weakness.

Catarrh of the pelvic organs produces such a variety of disagreeable and irritating symptoms that many people—in fact, the majority of people—have no idea that they are caused by catarrh.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply with complete directions for treatment, free of charge.

Mrs. Eva Bartho, 133 East 12th street, N. Y. City, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for three years with leucorrhea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am today in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

Miss Maud Steinbach, 1399 12th Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

"Last winter I felt sick most of the time, was irregular and suffered from nervous exhaustion and severe bearing down pains. I had so frequently heard of Peruna and what wonderful cures it performed so I sent for a bottle and in four weeks my health and strength were entirely restored to me."—Miss Maud Steinbach.

Everywhere the women are using Peruna and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female disease.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

MRS. EVA BARTHO.

BABY'S FUTURE

Something for Mothers to Think About

Lives of Suffering and Sorrow Averted

And Happiness and Prosperity Assured by

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills When All Else Fails.

Every child born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering, but because of the dreadful fear that the disfigurement is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence, it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest and most effective treatment available, viz., The Cuticura Treatment. Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, to cool the blood in the severest cases, are all that can be desired for the speedy relief and permanent cure of skin troubles of infants and children, and the comfort of worn-out parents. Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands, for annoying irritations and weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, the German of Chocoma's Cuticura Pills, 50c. per box of 50. Cuticura Soap, 25c. per box. 222 South Peoria St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Surgical Dancer

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

Startling Evidence.
Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonville, Va. serves as example. He writes: "I had bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all lung and throat troubles, consumption, pneumonia and grip. Guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson, druggists. Trial bottles free, regular sizes 50c and $1.00.

A Splendid Recital.
The recital given by the pupils of Miss Helene Steinbach in the Congregational church last Friday evening was a most pleasing and, from the musical standpoint, successful affair. The auditorium of the church was completely filled with the friends and parents of those taking part. The program as printed in last week's Herald was carried out in full. There was a finish and touch in the playing of even the smallest of Miss Steinbach's pupils that revealed a careful training and studious attention to the technical that makes for true art and reveals the artist. Both in solo work and in the duets the children reflected great credit upon their instructor. The vocal numbers of Mr. Floyd Ward were well received by the audience, but especially pleasing were the selections rendered by Miss Pauline Burg. Miss Burg has a voice of rare sweetness and compass and the hearty applause bestowed was well merited. All in all Miss Steinbach is to be congratulated upon the success of the evening's entertainment. A party of 14 Ann Arbor people were among the audience. Three of the pupils who took part in the recital were from Ann Arbor.

Baseball Notes.
This afternoon the Junior Stars and Dexter city team play on the park if the weather permits.
Saturday afternoon the Junior Stars played the Saline high school at that place and literally extinguished them in a three inning game. The score being 20 to 1.
Friday afternoon the Grass Lake team and the Independents, of Jackson, played a game at the K. P. park. It was a stormy game, marked by a good deal of vocal and pugilistic argument. The final score stood 10 to 5 in favor of Grass Lake.
Saturday afternoon there will be two games played for one price of admission, 15 cents. The stove works nine will play the North Lake boys at 1 o'clock, and at 2:30 o'clock the Junior Stars and Detroit Banners will try conclusions. Last year the Detroit boys beat the Stars two games out of three.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, in excess, and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treated with scientific physicians and cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear, and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommended him from the bottom of my heart."
