TO BUILD CEMENT PLANT

FOUR-MILE LAKE SITE OF WORKS.

Michigan Central Putting in the Sidetrack—Orders Have Been Placed for Material and Work Will Soon Start.

A few days ago a representative of The Standard was informed by Attorney Kalmbach that without a doubt, the Portland Cement Co., who will build their plant at Four-Mile Lake mean "business and are arranging their course to have every thing move without a halt.

During the past few days they have paid $14,000 for the marl lands owned by William and Elmer Beach, John Lucht, H. J. Holminger, Jacob Bahmiller, Chris. McGuffee, the McGuire estate and will take the land of the Clark estate as soon as the necessary papers can be obtained from the Probate court.

The M. C. at present has a force of men engaged in building a sidetrack leading into the grounds where the plant is located and the company has placed an order for 900,000 brick for immediate delivery. The brick will be used in the construction of kilns. A quantity of field stone has already been delivered and some of the trenches for foundations of the buildings dug and work will be commenced in the spring as soon as possible.

The company will work upon the plan known to cement manufacturers as the dry process, and in order to carry out the idea it will be necessary to install a large pumping station which will lower the water to a uniform depth of 20 feet, in the lake, and this will in a measure be beneficial to the other owners of land around the shores of the lake.

President White of Cleveland, has instructed the general manager of the company, H. O. Millan, to build the largest and best cement manufacturing plant in Michigan regardless of cost, and judging from what Mr. Kalmbach says of the present outlook the mandates of the president will be complied with. The work as laid out, it is thought, will take nearly one year to erect the buildings and equip the plant.

THAT COLD NEW YEARS DAY

TERRIFIC DAY IN THE SIXTIES

Memories of That Terrible Experience Recalled and Narrated for The Standard's Readers by One Who Remembers.

This winter's weather has been the subject of much comment, inasmuch as it is said to be the real, old-fashioned kind. The calling to mind of the winters of '20 and '30 years ago has frequently resulted in mention of "That cold New Year's." To very many this is nothing but a phrase, but that there is foundation for it seems, certain, and accordingly the management of this paper has been at some pains to find some one who definitely remembered the "Cold New Year's."

At length a lady was found whose memory of that day still remains very vivid and what she says concerning it seems decidedly worthy of publication. As she remembers the date it was January 1, 1863. On that day she, with her parents and a number of cousins and uncles and aunts, expected to go to the home of another relative to celebrate the day. A number of this company had driven from a distance and accordingly made her parents' home a stopping place for the night until they should all go on next day. The house being filled and the beds likely to do full duty she, as a young girl of 14, went to stay that evening with one of her girl friends, in telling her remembrance of the time she mentions how, as she left the house on New Year's Eve, the thought occurred to her of how filled with water was the great quantity of snow and how the dripping eaves seemed to promise disappointment on the morrow in that the ride in the big sleigh would not come off as the sleighing seemed likely not to last until morning.

But about midnight the change came. When next morning she started to return home it was already very cold, the wind was blowing fiercely, and the air filled with fine particles of ice snow. Our friend who tells this for The Standard says that she fell down twice in traversing the yard while she had been exposed. Her fingers had been badly frosted.

As the day wore on the cold became more and more intense; and, using the vernacular of the day, our friend describes it as "ferce." All day she says the most persistent effort was made to keep up the fires, and that her father and brothers frequently went to the barn to look after the stock, but that they ventured out only after the most careful preparation. Her father on his way back from the barn heard some fowls making a strange sound as they hovered for shelter near a wood pile. On looking closely he found that nearly a dozen had gathered where the snow had drifted around them and, in spite of all they could do because of the combined warmth, were freezing to death. The fowls he brought inside and their beaks were found to be filled with clear ice where the moisture of their breath had congealed. Their little red tongues could be readily discerned in the mass of crystal. Most of the fowls were so badly frozen that they either afterwards died or had to be killed to put them out of their misery.

Another bit of data that gives an idea of the cold was that the house girl, it being her usual day for such procedure, undertook to mop the big kitchen. As big a fire was burning in the kitchen stove as was possible to make, but in spite of it the water froze on the floor. "Even to this day do I remember how white the marks looked on the icy floor where our people had slipped as they stepped on it," remarked our witness of the cold day.

That night the most extensive preparations were made for sleeping. Everything that could be heated and carried to the beds was brought into requisition and in this way the time was safely passed. The company mentioned in the beginning had remained at this house, but on the second day it was deemed best to send one of the young men back home, as only one person had remained there. "Well do I remember," says our narrator, "how we all gathered around at parting, all seeming to realize that it was possible he would perish before he could complete his journey. He was bundled up beyond all semblance of a human being."

But the very extreme cold only lasted for the one day. As soon as the weather began to moderate reports came in from all over the country of the terrible loss of life. Our soldiers in camp, even though they wore all quite a way south, suffered, it is said terribly on that day. So it seems apparent that the cold wave included much territory other than Michigan.

Taken all in all the day must have been terrific, inasmuch as it is frequently spoken of even to this day.

DOCTOR HOLMES TELLS US

Many persons seem to be in doubt what appellations to apply to women who have engaged in occupations formerly denied them. To such persons, editors and teachers especially, we wish to make the following suggestions.

The termination man, when used to designate a person engaged in a certain employment, of one skilled in a certain art, is not intended to indicate the gender of the person employed. A woman who is skilled in any industry is a good workman, not a good work woman. A woman who uses a pen skillfully is not a penwoman, but a penman.

A woman employed in setting type is a compositor, not a compositress. A woman who superintends the printing is a foreman, not a forewoman; and a woman who writes editorials is an editor, not an editress. The woman who practices law is a lawyer; she who preaches the gospel is a minister; she who delivers lectures is a lecturer; she who makes speeches is an orator; and so on to the end of the chapter.

A NEW LAW FIRM.

Attorney John Kalmbach, of this village, has associated himself in the practice of law with Frank A. Stivers, who has practiced his profession during the past nine years at Ann Arbor. Mr. Kalmbach commenced practice in Chelsea immediately after his admission to the bar, nearly two years ago, and in the meantime has proven himself capable and painstaking in all matters entrusted to his care. Mr. Stivers will continue to have his office at Ann Arbor coming to Chelsea only as occasion may demand, and will give his special attention to the litigated business of the firm. By means of this partnership Mr. Kalmbach will be enabled to give closer attention to his office practice, while matters requiring attention at the county seat will, for the most part, receive the attention of his associate.

Race Prejudice in Mexico.

In a recent report to the state department United States Consul LeRoy, at Durango, Mexico, refers to "race prejudice" as "a common American tendency, which militates against us in this country (Mexico)." He says that Americans who go there to invest, to push business connections or to locate and make their own way, are too prone to show contempt for the people of the country. "It is a narrow, short-sighted idea of 'patriotism,'" says Consul LeRoy; "and a not well-founded race prejudice, which is, speaking of this particular district at least, a drawback to the extension of American commerce. Whatever Americans may choose to think of the Mexican peon class, it is undoubtedly progressing, even in relatively backward parts of Mexico. A well-defined middle class is already apparent and the building of factories, railroads, etc., and the work of the schools are constantly increasing it."

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mr. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough feebly and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It is absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, lagging bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Glazier & Stimson drug store.

Matters in Congress.

The senate has adopted Mr. Goeman's resolution on requesting of the president information as to the use of United States troops on the isthmus of Panama in the past.

The house passed 200 pension bills Friday and also resolutions calling on the secretary of war and the attorney general for information as to the number of horses and carriages furnished at government expense for the use of these respective departments.

A bill providing for the withdrawal of articles donated to religious, scientific, educational or literary institutions also passed.

The house committee on rivers and harbors has decided that there should be no river and harbor appropriation bill at the present session of congress, although a few surveys may be authorized.

The bill providing for this action was the very large balance appropriated for river and harbor improvements which is now being in the treasury unexpended.

This balance at the end of last year was somewhat in excess of $38,000,000. In addition to this it is expected that $5,700,000 or thereabouts will be appropriated at this session in the sundry civil bill for the continuance of work on rivers and harbors where improvements are progressing under continuing contracts.

William D. Gordon was shot in the back by David Stanford while attempting to escape from the fort reservation Monday afternoon and died on Monday in the post hospital.

In connection with Warren, Kiplinger Arthur Richardson attempted to escape but was recaptured after a fist fight with sergeant Webster, and returned to the guardhouse in shackles.

Under command of Col. Duggan, Guard Stanford who fired the fatal shot, is a regular duty. Col. Duggan says he simply did his duty.

Investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Warren, was necessary for a warrant to issue against Stanford.

Stanford will probably be charged with murder, said Assistant U. S. District Attorney J. V. D. Cox.

According to section 5330 of the United States revised statutes, the penalty for murder within the fort reservation is death.

Progressive Altruism.

William B. Merrill, who for the past three years has been a inmate of the hospital at the house of correction where he was serving out a life sentence for robbing the mails in Idaho suddenly died Friday.

The man was suffering from progressive atrophy a wasting of the body that cannot be checked. Three years ago the first symptoms of the trouble appeared in his arms and it was thought for a time that he was suffering from rheumatism.

Gradually, however, his right body was attacked, and he began to waste away under the strange and deadly disease.

He had been in the hospital for some time when he died. He was a native of Ohio and had lived in Idaho, where his alleged crime of robbing the mails was committed.

Small Confessions.

Hubert K. Estill, who was brought back from San Francisco to Kalamazoo, has made a complete confession of a crime of forgery and larceny which though it has covered only a brief period of a year and a half, has been most spectacular.

He is a young man, now that he has the game in his hand, frank enough as to his career. He said that he is the son of J. Hubert Estill, of Savannah, who was a candidate for governor of Georgia last year.

Young Estill, up to the summer of 1902, was a respectable traveling salesman.

A WOMAN'S COMPLEXION. It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greenishness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the beauty doctors. The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists. Glazier & Stinson.

FARM ORCHARD AND GARDEN

M. J. Wragg invites contributions of any kind from readers of this department. Contributions should be sent to M. J. Wragg, Editor, Farm, Orchard and Garden, Des Moines, Iowa.

COMMUNICATED.

Morning Sun, Ia., Dec. 15, '03.
I would like to know through your valuable columns the proper time to top-graft apple trees, and also how you make grafting and the proper time. I would appreciate an early reply. Yours respectfully,
T. E. M.

I have for years done most of our top-grafting in the latter part of March and the first week in April. If the weather is favorable, and the ground is not frozen, I have had just as good success in grafting the middle of March as later. I prefer doing top-grafting on limbs not over one-half to one inch in diameter and that by cutting the limbs off and inserting from one to two grafts in the end, doing the work so neatly that the bark of the clone will fit nicely in the wedge-shaped incision made so that as soon as growth starts a complete circulation of sap will be taken up. The following recipe for making wax is the one that I have found best for this climate:

Take one pound of tallow or raw linseed oil, two pounds of beeswax and four pounds of resin. Slowly melt all together, stir well, and when partially cooled pour into pans which have been moistened or oiled to keep the wax from clinging too tightly to them. When thoroughly cooled break into convenient pieces. For use it should be melted and applied carefully over all the exposed cuts and open cracks around the grafts. A small paint brush is the most convenient for this purpose. It can be applied safely much warmer than can be borne by the hand, but should be used not to have it very closely approaching the boiling point of water.

Now that our colleges are giving the farm boys the advantage of this short agricultural course during the winter, would it not be well for you to see that your boys attend them this winter? Suppose it does cost you $50 or $60, don't you know that the opportunity given the boy will raise the value of agriculture many times in his estimation? It will open up a new world of thought for him, and bring him in touch with new ideas and theories, and he will have ample time to demonstrate and prove their value the coming season.

IOWA'S APPLES.

There is going on in Iowa a steady development of the apple growing industry. An indication of the rapid increase of this branch of horticultural activity is seen in the two last census reports by the national government. In 1880 the number of apple trees reported was 1,115,000. In 1900 the number of trees reported in number of 1,900,000, showing an increase of 70 per cent. It is noted that the great bulk of these trees are in the southwest portion of the state. Moreover, the orchard plantings follow the courses of the rivers and most of them are found along the banks of the rivers. The quality of the apples produced is very good. In fact, the better than in some states more advantageously situated for the growing of fruit. The cause of the orchards being found largely along the streams is probably that there is a less distinctive prairie soil. On some farms in the localities mentioned the apple crop is the great money maker.

These are the days when the thoughtful farmer and his equally thoughtful wife will pay especial attention to the "hired help" on the farm. Don't forget that the persons who do your work for wages are human beings. A little friendly interest, a little generosity in treatment, a little care for their comfort, will work wonders for both them and you. They will appreciate your kindness, and their appreciation will take expression in greater watchfulness over your interests.

The quality of the milk depends primarily upon the cows producing it, and then upon the food and care given the cow.

Much depends upon the early training of a horse, whether he is a fast walker or not. Of course, his breeding has something to do, but more often the early training does much in establishing his habits. If you want a good walking team, never trot them. We believe that these trotters are largely acquired and depend almost wholly upon the early training of the animal.

THE VIRTUES OF THE MULE.

The mule is an easy animal to raise. He doesn't eat much as compared with a horse. An energetic mule will make a trip quicker than a horse, though he may not go so fast. The secret of his speed is his uniform gait, steady and persistent. You hardly ever see a sick mule. He is practically immune from the diseases which attack horses. A mule can endure more hardship than a horse and will pull more in proportion to his size and will "stay with it" longer. A mule is easier "broken" or trained to work than a horse, and is more reliable after initiation. If a team of mules run away, they look out for themselves, and though they may make some close turns and go through a needle's eye, they usually come out unharmed. We would rather plow corn with a team of mules than with horses. They break down less corn and turn around quicker. Hot weather affects the mule less than the horse. A good, honest, business mule is worth and will command, a good price any day in the week. The mule is not handsome, doesn't make a good roadster, isn't stylish, doesn't "do himself proud" if hitched to a handsome yellow road wagon or car, but what he lacks in appearance he makes up in actual usefulness on the farm.

To keep turkeys successfully do not try too many in the same place. Dig a pit two feet square and fifteen inches deep. Put in the turkeys, covering them up well, and cover with loose dirt, leaving it all down among the turkeys. Cover with three or four inches of dirt and put down with the shovel to turn the water. After the ground freezes down to the turkeys, much with any straw material to keep the ground from thawing. Turkeys will not keep well in cellars in large heaps or when covered with straw.

DON'T SELL THE FARM.
Talk of the monetary of farm life! As it seems to us, it is not comparable to that experienced by the farmer who has sold his country-homesite and has gone to live a life of ease in a small, cosmopolitan town. How he longs for the fresh air to which he has been accustomed and how wistfully he calls to mind the early matin of the song birds which nestled in the trees surrounding his farm home. Instead of the fresh milk from the cows on the blue grass pasture, he buys that which has been watered, preserved, colored, etc. A radical change has come to all his food and now stale fruit and vegetables are his portion, as well as dusty eggs. Oh, how he wishes for a fresh laid one to satisfy his want of appetite. It is not to be wondered at that the old man in his heart of hearts wants the old home, the one he made with his own hands—back again, but alas! that same as a possession from him forever. The savings laid away for a rainy day, which came through his own and his good wife's economical management, have not only been surely been slipping away until now they can not buy back the dear old spot they desire. Fuel, repairs, taxes, water, rent and the necessities of life have been gnawing away at their well-earned hoard and anxious thoughts begin to arise lest they may not have enough to take them through.

The farmer should take the boy along with him whenever he can do so. Explain the work of the farm to him. Get him to asking questions and answer those that can be answered. When going to town let him go, too, and see and understand the business transactions done. Take him to the bank, the lumber yard, the hardware store, the blacksmith shop or wherever business calls and see that he observes and knows about what is going on. The boy will more than repay the trouble in a few years' time.

If there is a lack of vegetable matter in the soil of the land devoted to truck, sow rye thickly now, say two or three bushels per acre. Early sowed clover is better on the score of increasing fertility, but it is apt to harbor cutworms that will destroy the crops when the clover is plowed under.

Next to knowing your own business, it's a mighty good thing to know as much about your neighbor's as possible—especially if he's in the same line.—Swift.

A large increase in the production of canning works is good proof that practical businesslike methods are being more and more applied to agricultural practice. It is better to realize a small figure for surplus produce at the cannery than to allow it to rot.

The man in the country who improves his home surroundings not only benefits himself, but the entire community in which he dwells. Good examples are catching, like the mousie, and when such a man forces the contrast between the looks of a place well cared for and the looks of his neighbor's uncared for, it becomes a great and effective object lesson. Try it and see.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Young trees should not be trimmed too liberally, as too much foliage taken from the tree weakens its feeding power. In many instances apple trees bear only every other year. Were it not for this fact the trees would be very short lived. Many uncultivated fence corners might be growing a tree if set there. In a few years it would be a source of beauty and comfort. The bed for sweet peas should be prepared as soon as possible, and the peas planted as soon as the ground can be worked in the spring. Keep the pigs on the ground as much as possible. During the summer they should always run at pasture. In the winter let them out on all fine days. Keep the sheds dry by placing them on high ground and keeping them well littered. Give the sheep plenty of air. Open sheds are the best where there are no little lambs. As a roughage, clover hay is the best for the sheep; next, shredded corn fodder, then pea vines and mixed grasses; last of all, timothy hay. The long timothy heads often prove fatal when fed to sheep. Do not keep old sheep that are passing out of usefulness. Put young growing ewes in their places. Don't allow your hens to mope during the winter; provide them with plenty of dry earth for a dust bath.

If you are thinking of leaving the farm and going to town to educate your boys and girls remember this one thing, that if you expect better schools in town, they cost more. If the streets are lit, the sidewalks paved and water and gas at your door, remember that they all have cost something, and for this you must pay. Do not go to town and commence grumbling about municipal taxes, etc., as some farmers do. Know for if you are going to grumble, just stay on your farm, where you will bother no one, and let your children grow up in ignorance for the demand of the town is the energetic, wide-awake, progressive, public-spirited man, and we are happy to say that these men are generally the progressive farmers.

THE BIRDS AND THE FORESTS.
In the economy of nature the feathered branch of the animal kingdom and the major portion of the vegetable world are ever one and inseparable; one was created for the other; the life and well-being of each depends upon the ability of its mate to protect it from insidious foes, unless in their efforts to destroy first one and then the other.

While we are aware that upon the air plains a few birds exist and that some are born in the frozen, treeless arctic wastes and follow the billows of the sea in search of food, apparently as free from attachment to forests as the fish upon which they daily feed, yet upon general principles, and in general terms, forests are as necessary to the well-being of birds, as are the birds indispensable for forest preservation.

I propound a mathematical proposition which is capable of conclusive demonstration. Given an old field, a worm fence and a boy of birds; the inevitable result will be a hedge row of trees and shrubs, bearing fruits and nuts, edible to the winged tribes of the locality. The birds, creators of the forests, become also its protectors, and as a sequence their existence is maintained by the fruits of their own labors.

When the winter has come and green leaves have gone, white hedges and hedges are all bare, then the overgrown stands in its glory of green. An emblem to save from despair. "The beautiful birds love its sheltering boughs." "The children's bright Christmas green." When Santa Claus comes with his pack of new toys. "It crowneth the 'green Queen'."

It was Josh Billings who said: "My son, observe the postage stamp. Its usefulness depends upon its ability to stick to one thing until it gets there." While stick-to-itiveness is a good thing, it is sometimes over-developed with many farmers and their wives. They stick so close to the farm, they finally get the idea in their heads that they cannot get away. This is a good thing to pay that long-delayed visit to wife's folks or husband's mother. Do not be like a certain wealthy farmer's wife who refused to go with her husband on a few weeks' visit for fear the chickens would all disappear during her absence.

The man in the country who improves his home surroundings not only benefits himself, but the entire community in which he dwells. Good examples are catching, like the mousie, and when such a man forces the contrast between the looks of a place well cared for and the looks of his neighbor's uncared for, it becomes a great and effective object lesson. X Ray Outlanded. Johnny is a German town school boy, and he kept his eyes open. Sometimes he sees too much, as his sister discovered the other evening when company was present. "Cut it out!" said the dark, said Johnny, "so can Sister Mary. Mr. B. walked into the parlor the other night, where sister was sitting all alone in the dark, and I heard her say, 'Why, George, you didn't have to-day'."

WHY HE WAS DISEASIFIED.

Widow's Young Son Felt He Had Many Grievances. That one must beware of cultivating the imagination in children who are naturally of an imaginative turn is the opinion of one thoughtful woman. She thinks it tends to make them dreamy and over-sensitive. The imagination is an excellent handmaid, but a poor master. The other day she told this anecdote to illustrate her contention: A young widow with one son, a little boy, was about to embark on the sea of matrimony a second time. When she confided this piece of news to the lad he received it with apparent satisfaction, but after a little while he began to sulk. This went on day after day until his mother called him into her room and said with severity:

"While what is the matter?" "omplaining the 'is.'" "It is about that marriage," said Willie. "In the first place I don't want to change my name. My name's Willie Brown, and I don't want to change it to Willie Smith." "Well," said his mother. "And I don't want to change my church. I'm a Congregationalist, and I don't want to have to become an Episcopalian." "Well," said his mother. "And I don't want to go on a wedding tour."—New York Tribune.

WOMAN'S AVERSION TO INDEXES.
"Talk about the inclination to study the envelope to discover the sender instead of opening the letter being a trait of womanhood," said a Brooklyn man the other day, "it isn't in it with a woman's aversion to indexes. Give a woman a book of poems, like those of Burns, for instance, and she'll turn the pages for twenty minutes or more to find the piece she is after rather than look in the index. Suggest the index to her and she'll say, 'Oh, I'll find it in a second, and away she'll go turning the pages again.'"

THE LITERAL WITNESS.
John B. Stanchfield of Elmira, speaking of literal men, tells a story of a shock he had in a case in which he was recently associated. Several witnesses had sworn that there was a hole in a certain road. Then to the surprise of counsel the principal witness, a farmer of whom they mainly depended to establish their case, swore that there was no hole in the road. After Mr. Stanchfield and his associates had recovered from their astonishment they sought to draw the witness into some explanation of the remarkable testimony. What they eventually got was this:

"There wasn't any hole in that road. Here's my hat. If I jam my hand into the top of it without pushing it through it does not make a hole. It makes a dent. That's what was in that road—just a dent."—New York Times.

What aprons have you brought?" "Well, snow and ice and bought. I'm sure the park has never looked so beautiful as now." "My cousin's well, really. I believe I've just a little hicough, which somehow in the morning's spin I have contrived to pick up."

SIGNALS USED BY INDIANS.

Savages Had Primitive but Effective Form of Telegraphy. The Red Indians in their palmy days were experts in long-distance signaling. For this purpose they made ingenious use of smoke-rings and fire-arrows. By day the wary Indian, by a clever manipulation of his blanket over a small camp fire sent up wreaths of smoke, which said to all friends within a radius of thirteen miles, "Look out! Enemies are near." Two such circular puffs meant "Camp here," and three meant "Danger."

At night similar warnings were conveyed by a system of fire-arrows, which flashed across the sky in glowing tracks, shooting upward and promptly falling, each with its particular significance, which an expert only could decipher. The arrow-heads were specially treated and prepared with gunpowder and fine bark, and as they blazed against the dark background of night two meant danger, and three gave token of most urgent need. Thus these quick-witted children of nature anticipated in rude but effective fashion the modern methods of long-distance signaling.—Montreal Herald.

This reproduction from an old English print shows how men used to wrestle while mounted on the backs of other men.

PECULIAR HABIT OF BIRD.
The white tern has the curious habit of never bringing less than two fish at a time to its young. It carries the fish crosswise in its bill and sometimes returns from its excursions with no less than four fish thus carried. It is easy enough to understand how it captures the first fish, but naturalists are unable to comprehend how the bird manages to retain it while securing additional ones. Its ability to hold three fish in its bill and still capture a fourth is particularly puzzling.

LASTING RELIEF.

J. W. Walls, Superintendent of Streets of Lebanon, Ky., says: "My nightly rest was broken, owing to irregularities of the kidneys. I suffered intensely from severe pain in the small of my back and through the kidneys and was annoyed by painful passages of abnormal secretions. Doctors failed to relieve me. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and I experienced quick and lasting relief. Doan's Kidney Pills proved a blessing to all sufferers from kidney disorders who will give them a fair trial." U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.
Gives to Salzer's Oats its highest endorsement. Salzer's New National Oats yielded in 1903 from 150 to 300 bushels per acre in 30 different States, and you, Mr. Farmer, can beat this in 1904. If you will, Salzer's seeds are pedigreed seeds, bred up through careful selection to big yields. Per Acre: Salzer's Beardless Bailey 321 bu. Salzer's Home Builder Corn 320 bu. Salzer's and Macaroni Wheat 300 bu. Salzer's Victory Flax 60,000 lbs. Salzer's Testine 60,000 lbs. Salzer's growing fodder wonder 380,000 lbs. Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass 50,000 lbs. Salzer's pedigree Potatoes 1,000 bu. Now such yields pay and you can have them. Mr. Farmer, in 1904, send 10c in stamps. and this notice to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., and you will get them free of charge and lots of farm seed samples free. (W. N. U.)

WHERE BIRDS ARE TAME.
Inhabitants of Pacific Islands Unused to Humans. Naturalists commissioned by the United States government have discovered on the distant island of Laysan in the Pacific some new birds and many novel traits regarding known species. The visiting scientists were perhaps the first human beings, whom the myriads of birds that crowd this tiny speck of land had ever seen. In consequence, birds representing species which in other lands wing hurriedly away at the sight of man came up to the naturalists, looked curiously into their faces, perched on their writing tables, wonderingly inspected the tripods and other accessories of the cameras, and permitted themselves to be stroked. The fact that these birds are ordinarily regarded as the wildest species made a profound impression on the visiting scientists.

FOR A SCRAPBOOK, $12,500.
Record Price Given for Volume Many Centuries Old. A tiny book of voluminous old and beautifully illustrated, with a hand-painted miniature, was sold yesterday at Messrs. Sotheby's auction rooms for the record price of $2,500. The manuscript was part of the celebrated collection of the Rev. Walter Steno. Its size is 14 inches by 3 inches, and its age is something over 600 years. It has no title, and may be described as a literary and pictorial medley on philosophical and Biblical subjects, many of the illustrations, which are the chief value of the volume, having no connection with the text. There are in all 150 leaves, containing 267 miniatures.

DR. FED HIMSELF.
Found the Food that Saved His Life. A good old family physician with a lifetime experience in saving people finally found himself sick unto death. Medicines failed and — but let him tell his own story. "For the first time in my life of sixty-one years I am impelled to publicly testify to the value of a largely advertised article and I certainly would not pen these lines except that what seems to me a direct act of Providence, saved my life and I am impressed that it is a bounden duty to make it known."

A CALENDAR WATCH.

The First One—Cost $2,000—Made for Napoleon Bonaparte. A watch that tells the second, minute, hour, day of the week, day of the month, and changes of moon is a timepiece that until recently could be owned only by the nobility because of the high cost. The first one cost $2,000 and was made entirely by hand and contained over two years' time in construction. About fifty years ago a Swiss concern placed some on the market, which could be sold in this country for about $200 each.

This watch that has hitherto been sold at a price which only the wealthy could afford, has just been put on the market at a low price and it is a watch which fills a long-felt want. If a watch tells you the hour and the minute of the day, why should not the same machine tell you the day of the week, day of the month, and month of the year? A prominent manufacturer has realized the usefulness, if not the actual necessity, of such a timepiece, and arranging to turn them out in large quantities, has after several years of work and the expenditure of a large amount of money, succeeded in producing a watch which is a perpetual calendar as well as a timepiece, and what is of more interest to the public, is sold at a price, but a fraction above that of an ordinary watch of like grade.

Contrary to the supposition of the uninitiated, it is not an intricate assembly of complicated parts, but is as simple as any regular timepiece. On the dial, in addition to the small second dial, it has three small dials of like character, one showing the days of the week, another the day of the month, and a third showing the month of the year. By an ingenious attachment to one of the wheels, when the hour and minute hands show midnight, the small hands indicating the days of the week and the days of the month, move forward automatically one day, thus saving the wearer the necessity of changing the calendar attachment, and in consequence the watch needs no care or attention after being once correctly set except to be wound regularly. The manufacturers have been quick to appreciate the certainty of a large demand for this article in this country and have arranged to market it through Messrs. J. W. Walls, and Traders, Exchange Promoters, New York, who, as an introductory measure, will furnish their direct to the public. An article that so completely fills a want has seldom been seen, and has hitherto been utterly disregarded by manufacturers. If a consistently be said that for usefulness and reliability this is one of the most attractive articles in the watch line.

An advertisement setting forth the merits of this watch appears elsewhere in these columns.

ARKANSAS TRAVELER-RESPONDED.
Got Back in Rhyme at Missouri Pacific's General Passenger Agent. H. C. Townsend, General Passenger and ticket agent of the Missouri Pacific with headquarters at St. Louis, sent out a novel holiday greeting to patrons of the road and was surprised to receive a response in rhyme from a man in Arkansas. Here is the greeting followed by the answer:

This is the train that runs to West—
This is the train that runs to West—
And keeps its service up to date.
This is the train that runs to West,
And takes you there for work or rest.
This is the train that runs to the land
Of mountain, high and canyon grand;
This is a true and honest train,
It serves to you the best of grain;
It serves the train with lowest rate,
St. Louis and the country all about.
If you should wish to go that way,

Over in Camden there is a 6-year-old youth with the unhappy faculty of letting the cat-out of the bag at inopportune moments, says the Philadelphia Press. He inspected the beautifully spread board with a critical eye, and then unable to contain himself, piped out:

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often afflict women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a real blessing for me when I took the first dose for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did. —Miss GILDA GANNON, 350 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association. —$1000 for first original of above letter proving genuineness of product.

When one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the thousands which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

"EDUCATED ABROAD."

THE RIGHT DOCTOR

By JULIA ELEANOR ANDERSON. Copyrighted 1928 by The Authors Publishing Co.

All day the clouds hung low and heavy, as though reluctant to yield their precious contents to the dusty sun-parched earth; but at last, unable to contain themselves, burst with furious splash against the window panes. Consequently Bobby was obliged to forego the wild Indian fight in which he had been engaged on the lawn, and was assigned to the nursery, with his mother's last injunction to be as quiet as possible, so that he would not disturb Eugenia.

Quiet games to Bobbie meant build his block houses, and in obedience to his mother's advice, he played at erecting a mighty tower of Babel; but, as in ancient days, long ere his tower had reached its proper height, down came the work of patient little hands, and the block-eyes winked very fast to keep back the over-ready tears.

"Oh, dear, I've so tired of building towers! I wish Sister Genee wasn't sick, 'cause even if she is growed-up, she allus plays wif me when the sky makes rain." The pathetic little wail was caught by mother's ears, and she passed the nursery door.

"Baby," said she, "mamma is obliged to go away for an hour or two. How would you like to be Genee's little nurse and sit with her until mamma gets back? If she wants anything you can ring for Martha; do you understand?"

The little hands clapped gleefully, for if there was anything on earth that Bobbie loved to do, it was to make himself useful. The tiny feet fairly flew up the stairs, tiny knuckles tapped softly on the door which led into his sister's sleeping apartments.

"Come," said a faint voice from within as the sick girl turned her eyes toward the door. "Why, baby, you, what are you doing up here? Sister's head aches dreadfully, and she hasn't slept for ever so long; but she is going to try and do so now. Give her a pretty kiss, and then run down to the nursery."

"But—but—mamma—said—I might be your nurse," the winks came red-lips, and again the tiny feet were very fast, but in spite of his brave little effort, two great briny tears trickled rapidly down the chubby cheeks.

"There, never mind, darling. You may stay and bathe sister's head. Can you pour some water from the pitcher on the stand into that little glass bowl?"

The water was poured—not without an effort—but never a drop was spilled. Then the little nurse immersed my fault—and that I am sorry. I dreamed just now that you had forgiven me—and that you loved me again.

"God knows how much!" fervently whispered Dr. Jack, as he bent to press his lips to her forehead. "But you must not talk, dear; let us not refer to the past again. How's the poor head? Aching much? Strange! I had not heard you were ill until Bobbie came for me—"

"Bobbie" faintly repeated Genee, questioning. Upon which followed a full account of that young man's proceedings.

"Where is he now?" "Sure enough, where was he? In his anxiety over his patient, and afterwards in the joy of knowing that his treasure had been restored to him, the doctor had never once thought of his little messenger. But at that very instant came floating up from the driveway the sobbing of a child, mingled with a firm, reprimanding voice, as out of the carriage stepped Mrs. Vaughn and Master Bobbie—the latter with little mud-bespattered shoes, and crying lustily now at the top of his healthy lungs.

With a tender caress, Dr. Maynard left Eugenia and hastened below. After a few hasty words of explanation to Mrs. Vaughn, which called forth a smile from the tired, over-strained mother, Bobbie—much to his surprise—was hurled by a strong arm upon Dr. Jack's shoulder and carried in triumph to the invalid. With all the wisdom of his four summers, Bobbie failed to comprehend why she kissed away his tears "when he had been naughty and runned off," or why Dr. Jack called him "a brave little man," and gave him "all for his very own," a bright, round, silver dollar!

DEATH DUE TO MOTHERS. Their Failure to Nurse Babies Causes Increasing Mortality.

Prof. Bunge of the University of Bale, who has been making researches for many years on the increasing incapacity of women to rear their infants, has just published an alarming report on the subject. He states that the mortality among children afflicted by scurvy is far greater than among those nursed by the mother; also that once the power of feeding is lost it is never recovered. If the mother had not nourished her children the daughter is equally incapable.

Prof. Bunge, in order to obtain the opinion of the leading medical men in Europe, issued a circular on the subject and out of 3,000 questions received 1,629 satisfactory replies. After an examination of the opinion of the European doctors, Prof. Bunge adds that he finds that in 1,629 cases only 519 women are capable of feeding their children and 1,110 have entirely lost the faculty.

Studying the causes of the diminution of the ability to nurse among women, the professor adduces, as the principal, alcoholism which habit, he adds, is increasing to a frightful degree among women.

Didn't Like the Password. In spite of its annoying features, an amusing incident occurred in connection with a review of Pennsylvania state troops by ex-Governor Pattison and General Guthrie. The governor and adjutant general had been outside the lines one night, and when they returned it was raining cats and dogs.

The sergeant halted them for the countersign and General Guthrie gave it, " Chattanooga." The sergeant promptly pronounced this wrong, and the corporal of the guard was called. He, too, pronounced " Chattanooga" incorrect, in spite of General Guthrie's assertion that he gave it out that evening. Then a lieutenant was summoned, and with the same result. All this time the rain was coming down in torrents and the two dignitaries were thoroughly drenched. Finally the officer of the guard was produced, and General Guthrie gave him " Chattanooga." "That was the countersign early in the evening, General, but I didn't like it and so substituted 'Antietam' as being more euphonious."

The asthetic young man sought for euphony in the guard house for the rest of that night—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A SIGN OF OLD LONDON. Insignia of Business House Has Stood for Centuries.

One of the signs pictured in Julian King Colford's "The Sign of Old London" in the January St. Nicholas has peculiar interest for all Americans. What is called "The Crown and Three Sugar Loaves" was the sign of the historic house which exported to America the celebrated chests of tea that went into Boston harbor in December, 1773, the first overt act of rebellion in the revolution.

Herbert Spencer's Ear-Stoppers. The philosopher had an infirmity common to great minds and little. He was selfish in regard to conversation which bored him; and he carried this selfishness to such a pitch that he bought a pair of ear-stoppers and applied them regularly. When conversation in which he had taken part went on too long for his patience, he, when some unmerciful talker held his ear-stoppers and hastily put them in place, not removing them till he believed all danger to be past.—Saturday Review.

Gold and Wagner. Herman Klein tells of Anton Reid's first interview with Wagner in the library at Wahnfried. Reid found the room dark, and, imagining nobody was there, he began rehearsing the speech he had prepared. Suddenly, from out of a gloomy corner, Wagner appeared and Reid was so nervous that he could not bring out a sentence of his speech. This proved to be his salvation, for Wagner, declaring "If you can work as well as you can hold your tongue you will do," engaged him on the spot.

A Dentist's Advice. Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 25th.—Mr. Harry L. Lewis, Dentist, 607 Summit street, this city, says: "I certainly advise anyone, no matter how severe they may have Kidney Trouble to take Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I was troubled with Kidney Disease for several years and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I had used many so-called remedies without any benefit. Four months ago, I was fat on my back with this painful trouble and must say that I almost gave up hope of ever getting any better. Through a friend's advice I purchased six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"At first I could see but little benefit; but after two weeks, I could see an improvement. I had been getting up several times at night and pains in my back were very severe. When I had taken six boxes I felt better than I had for years. The pain had all gone and I didn't have to get up during the night at all. I continued the treatment until I had used several more boxes, and now I am glad to say that I am completely cured."

Fertility of Nile Valley. The secret of the inexhaustible fertility of the Nile valley, which has long been credited to the annual deposit of silt from the overflowing of the river, has been discovered by Mr. Arthur, agricultural explorer of the United States government, to be the nitrifying powers of the plant beresem—Bersem is a species of Trifolium, which has the power not only to consume saline and alkaline properties in the land, but also to enrich it with nitrates. Something of a composite of alfalfa and clover, it is in every way more delicate in flavor and succulent than either.

10,000 Plants for 10c. This is a remarkable offer for the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., makes. MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Other Prominent Physicians Use and Endorse Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who for three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peru-na:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peru-na will cure you."

A constantly increasing number of physicians prescribe Peru-na in their practice. It has proven its merits so thoroughly that even the doctors have overcome their prejudices against so-called patent medicines and recommend it to their patients.

Peru-na occupies a unique position in medical science. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession to-day. Catarrh, as everyone will admit, is the cause of one-half the disease which afflicts mankind. Catarrh and catarrhal diseases afflict one-half of the people of the United States.

Robert R. Roberts, M. D., Washington, D. C., writes: "Through my own experience as well as that of many of my friends and acquaintances who have been cured or relieved of catarrh by the use of Hirtzmann's Peru-na, I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from such disorders, and have no hesitation in prescribing it to my patients." Robert R. Roberts.

Dr. R. Robbins, Muskogee, I. T., writes: "Peru-na is the best medicine I know of for coughs and to strengthen a weak stomach and to give appetite. Besides prescribing it for catarrh, I have ordered it for weak and debilitated people, and have not had a patient but said it helped him. It is an excellent medicine and fits so many cases."

"I have a large practice, and have a chance to prescribe your Peru-na. I hope you may like to go good to the sick and the suffering." Dr. M. C. Geo. writes from 515 Jones St., San Francisco, Cal.

Penalty for Smoking. The earliest instance known of penalizing smoking in the streets is in the court books of the mayor of Methwold in England. There is the following entry on the record of the court held Oct. 14, 1695: "We agree that any person that is taken smoking tobacco in the street shall forfeit one shilling for every time so taken, and it shall be lawful for the petty constables to distrain for the same, for to be put to the uses above said. We present Nicholas Barber for smoking in the street, and do amerse him one shilling."

Toosinte and Million Dollar Grass. The two greatest fodder plants on earth, one good for 14 tons hay and the other 80 tons green fodder per acre. Grows everywhere, so does Victoria Rape, yielding 60,000 lbs. sheep and swine food per acre.

and ovarian troubles, and builds up the entire system. I also consider it one of the finest catarrh remedies I know of. M. C. Geo., M. D.

Peru-na is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peru-na does.

Peru-na immediately invigorates the nerve centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

CATS ON OCEAN STEAMERS. Needed to Keep Vessel Free from Fleets of Rats—Seldom Seen by Passengers. Few people are aware of the fact that cats form an important part of the crews of all ocean lines and that no steamer would dare to leave port for a trans-Atlantic voyage without a full complement of these useful animals, says an exchange. A comparatively small number of the passengers on one of these craft ever see a cat at sea. Recently a cat that mysteriously found its way into the cabin saloon of the St. Paul while the usual concert for aged sailors was in progress was hailed with as much astonishment as a messenger from Mars might have been. Some of the passengers seemed to think she had come from the sea, like a mermaid. A steward seized pussy by the scruff of the neck and she promptly disappeared.

Every big liner carries from 15 to 20 cats on a voyage. As a general thing they find plenty of occupation scampering after the mice in the hold, but if any of them come lurking around the pantry they are bountifully fed. The only duty imposed on the stewards is to see that the cats do not get into the sleeping cabins or the saloon. A cat once broke up a game of poker in the smoking cabin of the Germania. It had eaten some poisonous stuff in the hold and reached the smoking cabin in great distress before going into convulsions. When the cabin was cleared an armed man from Kentucky shot the cat and threw it overboard.

CALIFORNIA'S CHARM. Visitor from East Will Miss Much, But After a Year There is Ready to Capitulate. You will not find everything in southern California. You will miss the wide stretches of green in the open places, far removed from the dusty cities, the noble trees, the clear streams of water, the blue lake nestled in among the pine-clad mountains; you will miss that splendid miracle, the change of the seasons, when your whole nature comes into closer touch with the great mother heart of nature than at any other time in all the year. Says H. S. Harwood in the World Today.

Yes, you will miss much, but when you have been here a year, when month after month of rare and beautiful weather blends into each other, when the sea winds you and the flowers charm you and the brown mountains beckon you and the soft air soothes you, after a year has passed you find there are some compensations for the lovely things you have left behind you, you come to realize that nature has done more for this stretch of sea and mountain land than she has done for any other spot on the globe. You may have been charmed with California when you came, you may have been captivated after you had been here a year, you may capitulate and consent to be captured by the time two golden summers have stolen over you.

COLD STORAGE A BLESSING. Regulates the Market Prices of Perishable Commodities, Especially in the Line of Fruit. Few householders appreciate the debt they owe to the cold-storage system now so generally in use throughout the country. It has become a necessary adjunct to the rapidly developing commercial orcharding of the country. It is the reservoir in which the temporary over-supply of fruit is placed and from which it may be uniformly distributed throughout the year. From the earliest times it has been recognized that some provision must be made to store up the temporary surplus and distribute it in time of greater need. If an industry is to grow into permanency and stability, and if violent fluctuations in supply and demand are to be avoided, says the Chicago Chronicle.

The danger of so-called overproduction is greatest in an industry when no provision is made to equalize the distribution of the products throughout the year. There can be no general overproduction when the majority of the people of the world are still under-supplied, and an industry becomes safe and attractive when man masters the art of handling the temporary over-supply and of converting it into a steady uniform supply to an increasing number of people.

WITFULLY VENTURED. A case came in light that for persistent and unmerciful tortoise has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Goiner of Colusa, Cal., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth. For the great-a few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me. It's the best for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson druggist."

FOREIGN DOINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

A UNIVERSAL SITUATION. The Northville Record is giving a list of eligible bachelors of that town. It would take a whole issue of the Ypsilantian to publish a list of the eligibles hereabouts. Ypsilantian girls seem to prefer the imported article.—Ypsilantian.

WE RETURN THE COMPLIMENT. Are people are getting down to business and the old bugs of our neighboring towns will not be allowed hereafter to come here any old time and fill up our beer, cider or booze. The officers will see that good order is maintained.—Manchester Enterprise.

THE LAND OF FAT CATTLE. E. Jeele says he has bought stock here for 28 years, but last week he bought a farmer in Webster 10 of the best cattle he ever saw, and which showed the least shrinkage. They averaged here 1410 pounds each and weighed in Detroit 1402 pounds each.—Manchester Enterprise.

HONOR HAVE OPINION OF PINCKNEY. Three hobos were given lodging and breakfast at the expense of the village one night last week. They were the first to visit us for some time. Had they been invited to saw a little wood or break a few stones they would give Pinckney a wide birth next time.—Pinckney Dispatch.

A NEW CRIME IN THE CALENDAR. James Willis, the Mason colored man who was arrested sometime ago, charged with putting poison oil into Justice James Ferguson's litter, was yesterday bound over to the circuit court for trial at the January term. Bail was fixed at $2,000, which Willis has not been able to furnish.—Williamston Enterprise.

LO! THE POOR INDIAN. Thomas Popham, a Kansas Indian, is in Monroe to push the claims of Puck Kee and Oak-Puck-Quah, also Kansas Indians to 400 acres of land, worth $75 an acre, in Dundee township, 12 miles west of Monroe. They say the government gave a patent for the land in 1839 to their ancestor, Chief Moran.—Millan Leader.

EASY MARKS NOT ALL DEAD. Clifford Ward went to bed with "cold feet" Monday night and endeavored to warm them by putting an electric light "next" under the bed-covering. It proved successful in warming, beyond his fond dream, The covers and the "cold feet" were scorched—the loss fully covered by insurance.—Hillsdale Leader.

A SPARROW'S MAQUARDE. A News reporter saw a robin in an apple tree, Tuesday morning, as lively as a cricket and warbling a joyous refrain. Perhaps, though, it had to hop around lively and keep its throat clear to keep from freezing to death. They say all signs fall some times, but we hope this harbinger of an early spring will not prove a misnomer.—Peuness News.

MORE SUGAR BRET TALK. Farmers are being convinced that it pays to raise sugar beets and are signing contracts readily. On Saturday the local agents for the company at Manchester and Clinton will accompany Mr. Granger, the general agent, to Lansing to inspect the plant, and get information regarding the business. Those from here are C. E. Lewis, Dan Gage, Paul Kress.—Manchester Enterprise.

LET'S GET THE JOB. Willie R. Haatinge, mail carrier on route number 41, was on his route yesterday, when he came to J. M. Hague's Mrs. Hague came out with a large server loaded with hot coffee and fried cakes and held it while the carrier did ample justice to the same for which he was very thankful, and all this time it was snowing so hard you could not see your hands before you. He says such people are the kind he likes to get acquainted with.—Stockbridge Brief.

SECOND TIME MOTION. The mayor and aldermen are going to make a strong effort to laud the State Fair for Ypsilanti next year, and certainly this city is easily accessible and in itself worth a visit. If we cannot get the state fair, we should be able to get-up a county fair that will allow Ann Arbor what such a fair should be. In the old days when Chelsea, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti all had fairs, the one here was better than both the others put together. We have good grounds and buildings. Push the scheme along.—Ypsilantian.

A JACKSON COUNTY ITEM. The banquet to be given by the Lincoln Club of Jackson county this year promises to be one of the best ever held in the county. The banquet will be held in the armory, which will afford plenty of room for all who desire to attend. Congressman Townsend will orate as toastmaster and among the speakers so far engaged are Congressman Hamilton and Gardner of Michigan and McJannet of Minnesota. Those desiring tickets will do well to notify Postmaster Preston or E. E. Brown. Tickets will be the same prices as last year, 75 cents.—Grass Lake News.

Jeune Stiller, Omaha—"I have gained thirty-five pounds in two months. Nothing did me any good until I used Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea." A blessing to sickly women. Glazier & Stimson.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, weak throats, weak lungs, consumption, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Always keep a bottle of it in the house. We have been saying this for 60 years, and so have the doctors. "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 20 years. It is the best medicine I know for all throat and lung troubles." Mrs. J. E. Nonhouse, Waltham, Mass. Sold by Druggists.
