THE TALENT FROM EUROPE

WE DRAW HEAVILY FOR THE THEATRES

Grand Opera Stars Who Are With Us This Year for the First Time—Singing in English—Returned Americans.

For our entertainment we continue to draw from Europe the best theatrical talent that continent produces. Among the importations of the winter a prominent place should be given the array of singers in the English Grand Opera company, which met with a notable success in Boston and throughout the east, and is now playing to Chicago audiences at the Studebaker theater in that city.

It is some six years since Henry W. Savage conceived and carried out the idea of grand opera in English as a popular form of amusement for the American public. To many people the beauty of grand opera is lost because of a failure to understand the lines, and it is to this class that Mr. Savage has attempted to appeal with varying degrees of success. "Amateurish" was the verdict of several critics of the earlier ventures, and, when compared with the efforts of Melba and her class it was a fair criticism at that time. But this year Mr. Savage has secured from Europe seven new stars of very close to first magnitude. Some of these, however, are but returned travelers from America originally, who have made marked successes in Europe. Notable among this class is Miss Rita Newman, the California mezzo-soprano. Miss Newman has had eight years on the continent, with three years' grand opera work in Hamburg and Berlin. The last three years she has spent in Paris, devoting her entire time to study with such teachers as Marchesi, Marie Rose, whose former American triumphs in English opera are remembered by the older generation of opera-goers, and Mme. Weinschenk, the great mise-en-scene teacher of Paris and one of the few mistresses of the art.

Another of this class of more than passing interest is Miss Jean Brooks, whose father, the late Gen. Brooks, and whose sister, Miss Madeline Brooks, of concert and oratorio fame, are well remembered in army and musical circles in the country. Miss Brooks is a brunette beauty, in her early twenties, and is a product of the west. She was born in Fort Scott, Ark., and lived until a young woman in Denver. From childhood her training was the special pride of her sister. Two years ago she went to Paris and placed herself under Julian. Without a thought of returning to America for several years, she sang for Mr. Savage during her recent trip to Paris, and her fine dramatic soprano created such an impression on the Boston Impresario that her name was secured to a contract on the spot.

A genuine importation, who has attracted attention at Covent Garden, at the opera in Berlin and in far-away Stockholm, her native city, is Mme. Jennie Norrell. Mme. Norrell was a high coloratura soprano of much sweetness and more than usual volume in the upper register. During her early life she spent a number of years in

THEY MARRY THE BUNCH.

Guy Lighthall Home From a Sight at the Mormons Tells How They Evade the Law—The West Past Developing.

Guy Lighthall, well known in Chelsea, but for the last few months engaged in electric construction work in and near Baker City, Oregon, returned to this town very unexpectedly—so far as most of us are concerned—late last week and was heartily welcomed.

He has some interesting observations to relate of what he has observed in the West. He has come considerably in contact with the Mormons and is able to speak of many of their practices from first hand observation. He says contrary to the general notion, that the Mormon sect is not decreasing, but is rather gaining in numbers and influence. And as to the practice of polygamy that is by no means a practice of the past either. Whether or not a man shall have a plurality of wives depends almost wholly on his income and his inclination. The making of local laws is almost wholly in Mormon hands in Idaho as well as Utah and they are accordingly very favorable to the sect and even if they are not there is at any rate a very lenient enforcement.

An amusing form of evasion of the law against polygamy in Idaho is that the man with a plural matrimonial intent gathers his herd of sweethearts together and appear before their proper clerical functionary and is married collectively so to speak. That he is not married to any one but to all at one time. It is readily apparent therefore how difficult it is for the law to say which of the collection is the really truly one according to civilized nations.

The rank and file of the sect, Mr. Lighthall says, appears to be recruited from a people of a very low order of intelligence.

Other than of the Mormons he has some interesting things to tell of the development of agriculture by irrigation and of mining lumbering and other industries.

REV. BAILEY, DECEASED.

A Former Chelsea Pastor After a Short Illness Succumbs to a Fatal Attack of Pneumonia in Springfield, Mass.

Rev. O. C. Bailey, at one time pastor of the Congregational church of this place, and recently of Emmanuel church of Springfield, Mass., died at his home in that city Thursday morning February 11.

The illness which resulted in death was pleuro-pneumonia and was only of a week's duration. He was on what was supposed to be the road to recovery when he suffered a relapse. In his delirium Mr. Bailey arose from bed and it is believed at that time caught a cold which brought on fatal relapse.

The deceased was well known in Chelsea. He came here early in his ministerial career and remained until called to a church in Worcester, Mass. from whence he had only recently gone to his work with Emmanuel church in Springfield.

Mr. Bailey was a native of Palatine, Ill., being born there December 13, 1861. Most of his boyhood was spent in Wheaton, Ill., where he attended school and later attended college.

He was ordained to the ministry Oct. 13, 1885 in Dexter, Mich., and after remaining there for a time went to Perry, Shawassee county, this state. From there he came to Chelsea.

He was married December 4, 1884 and leaves beside his wife one daughter Stella May.

After a service in the church at Springfield the remains were taken to Worcester and after a memorial service there were taken this week to Shrewsbury for interment.

EARLY RAILROADING.

When Twenty-Three Miles an Hour Was Fairly Flying and suggestive of Death.

From the diary of Thomas Creevey, who lived in England during the early part of last century, says the Chicago News, the following is quoted: "Lady Wilton sent over yesterday from Knowsley to say that the Loco Motive machine was to be upon the railway at such a place at 12 o'clock for the Knowsley party to ride in if they liked, and inviting this house to be of the party. So, of course, we were at our post in three carriages, and some horsemen, at the hour appointed. I had the satisfaction, for I can't call it a pleasure, of taking a trip of five miles in it, which we did in just a quarter of an hour—that is, 20 miles an hour. As accuracy upon this subject was my great object, I held my watch in my hand at starting and all the time; and as it had a second hand I knew I could not be deceived; and it so turned out there was not the difference of a second between the coaches or conductor and myself. But observe, during these five miles the machine was occasionally made to put itself out or go it, and then we went at the rate of 23 miles an hour, and just with the same ease as to motion or absence of friction as the other normal pace. But the quickest motion is to me frightful; it is really flying, and it is impossible to divest yourself of the notion of instant death to all upon the least accident happening."

CAPTIVE BALD EAGLES

ARE NEVER THOROUGHLY TAMED

The Story of Its Mountain Home, Its Young, Its Capture and Its Fight for Liberty—Two Men Wounded.

Early last spring, a pair of bald eagles sat upon a huge dead tree near a lake in the far west. Beneath them, where three great branches parted, a dark mass of sticks marked the spot where for several years the birds had reared their young. The nest was not a new one, however; it represented the accumulated remains of several old nests, and apparently the eagles had come to consider the advisability of repairing it for another year's service. At any rate, they soon flew away, and next morning they were busy bringing new material to the old nesting site. They brought, besides large sticks, turf, moss and dried plant stalks, and when the structure was completed it measured five feet in height and six feet across the top. For two or three days the female bird sat upon the newly-made nest, as though trying it, before she ventured to lay her two white eggs.

One morning, while the eggs were still unhatched, a man came down the lake in a canoe, and, spying the large nest, put ashore to examine it. Seeing that it was occupied, he determined to rob it, and started to climb the tree. But he never reached the nest, for the parent birds, screaming fiercely, swooped at him in so menacing a manner that he decided to retreat. Perhaps it is well for him that he did not persist in the attempt, for the talons of a bald eagle, hurled with all the fury of a savage bird having both speed and weight, might easily tear a man from his best hold upon a tree.

So the eggs remained, and after having been sat upon for about a month, I am told, were hatched. The young, which were covered with grayish down, now claimed the undivided attention of the parent birds, who foraged for them all day long.

The eaglets grew rapidly, and in the course of some weeks they were ready to leave the nest and scramble off into the near-by woods, where their parents still supplied them with food.

About this time the man who had tried to rob the nest, and who had kept an eye on the birds ever since, landed once more on the shore of the lake. This time he had in his hand a steel trap, which he attached to a long cord. Then he climbed a tall dead stump near the shore, and set the trap, baited with fish, on the top. Next morning, the male fish hawk, setting out for the river, saw the bait, and swooped down upon it. There was a "click" as the wicked jaws flew together, and the great bird arose in the air and endeavored to shake himself free. But when he reached the full length of the cord he fell sprawling on the ground. All day and all night he lay, with the steel jaws of the trap biting deeper into the fish and with his foot swelling to twice the size it should have been. Again and again he attacked the trap savagely with his bill, but for once he had found something on which that powerful hook made no impression.

On the following day the man appeared, and was overjoyed to see the captive, which he rushed forward to seize. But he was too eager to be cautious, and he had scarcely touched the prostrate bird, when he uttered a yell, for the eagle struck like lightning with his one free foot, and the good talons passed each other through the palm of his tormentor's hand. Luckily for the writhing wretch, he had left a companion in the canoe, and this man, hearing the yell, came running up and finally liberated the eagle's captive, but not until the latter had received wounds which later almost caused the loss of his arm.

The eagle was secured and carried off in the canoe, and his captors held an interesting discussion concerning the disposal of him. The one with whom he had left a souvenir of the occasion favored killing him and selling his claws to The Eagles, a society whose members have actually created a market for eagles' claws, to be worn, I understand, as insignia. The other man, however, thought that more money could be made by selling the bird alive to a dealer, so it was sold alive. The first dealer sold it to a second, and with this man it saw its last day.

Five minutes later he was mine, and in half an hour he was on his way to a new home. I kept him for some time, and, although he became somewhat calmer, I could neither tame him nor break him of his habit of fighting the bars of his cage. So one day I took him out upon a hill-top, and from the summit of a rock I tossed him into the air. For an instant he sank, but then his mighty wings smote the air, and he arose, and I watched him gradually fade away on the horizon, once more an emblem of liberty.

STUDY JAPAN'S VICTORY

Europe Wonders at the Astounding Success So Easily Won by the Mikado's Navy.

Land Battles with the Armies of the Czar May Yet Turn the Tide of Conflict.

Every successive detail from the far east emphasizes the significance of the astounding success won by Japan, says a dispatch from London. It is pointed out that the mikado's squadrons are sweeping the sea as triumphantly as did that Dutch admiral who rode the channel with a broom at his masthead. In less than forty-eight hours the balance of the naval power in the far east was entirely upset.

Russia, one expert says, is in the position of a chess player who loses his queen in the first half dozen moves. The naval position of the Russians at Port Arthur is considered absolutely desperate, and it is thought most unlikely that Vladivostok's squadron of four powerful armored cruisers will be able to go to the assistance of the battered fleet at Port Arthur.

Admiral Stark's position there is likened to Cervantes's at Santiago. He is described as being between the horns of a dilemma. He must either submit to be held under the guns of Port Arthur in a posture intensely humiliating to Russian pride and prestige, or he must come out and fight in a condition of inferiority which would render defeat almost a foregone conclusion. Whatever now happens, the Japanese empire is thought safe from attack. It is, however, recognized that the war is by no means over.

The Russian newspaper in general denounces the action of Japan as being treachery, declaring that it is only Asiatic, but insisting that the issue of the conflict will not be decided by the naval engagements, as the Japanese will have to meet Russia on dry land, when the score will be equal.

The Novoe Vremya says it is quite possible that the whole of Korea has been overrun by Japanese soldiers in disguise, and that Russia may first have to assume the defensive, but when her forces in southern Manchuria and Korea are increased the Japanese will realize what they have done.

"The right and international law on our side," says the paper.

"One hundred and thirty million Russian hearts are beating in unison the desire to expunge the traitorous Russian traitors."

The Bourse Gazette says: "Yesterday we were for peace. Now we are for war. The world soon will be startled by Russia's heroic Japan has placed herself before the pale of civilization. The upstart, plucky Japan, would not have attacked the giant Russia without the encouragement of England and America."

In this connection the Russ claims authority for saying that the new Japanese warships, the Nisaka and Kasuga, were saved from capture by the Russian squadron when they were under Admiral Wrenn's command by the action of a British battleship in the Suez canal and holding a signal of distress, thus delaying the Russians two days. Gen. Dragomirov has arrived in St. Petersburg. He is one of Russia's greatest fighters and may be appointed commander in chief, as Gen. Kourapatkin, the war minister, probably cannot be spared.

FARM ORCHARD AND GARDEN

CONDUCTED BY M. J. WRAGG

WHOLE ROOT VS. PIECE ROOT GRAFT.

The question of the propagating of nursery stock is one that is of much concern to the farmer or fruit grower. This is true for the reason that many agents attempt to make capital out of the different methods of propagation, citing as a fact where trees are root grafted the whole root grafted tree is more satisfactory, harder, stronger and longer lived than trees that are piece root grafted. By a whole root graft is meant the use of the whole root in which one scion is inserted and only one graft is made out of one seedling. A piece root is a small piece of root or seedling, possibly three or four inches long. If the seedling root is long and of sufficient size two or three grafts can be made from one root. There is no particular advantage in buying to secure whole or piece root grafts. From careful tests it has been fully shown that trees piece root grafted make as vigorous and thrifty a growth as those grafted on whole roots. Whenever trees are offered for sale and special emphasis is put on the whole root graft being more satisfactory the buyer should not be induced to pay more for them than for piece root grafted trees.

Grape vines should be planted about eight feet apart each way and about ten inches deep, cutting them back to two or three buds above ground. A crop of potatoes or strawberries may be grown in between the rows the first two years. An excellent plan is to allow two canes to grow the first year, cutting back each year to three buds, again allowing two canes to grow. When the vines are five or six years old, from three to five canes may be left. Always cut the old wood back to about a foot of the ground if the stocky vines are required. It is the young wood that bears fruit.

VALUE OF ALFALFA.

Of the ordinary crops alfalfa most nearly resembles red clover in its habits and feeding qualities. It contains the largest amount of protein or flesh forming material of any of the forage crops. It is for this reason extremely valuable to combine with such material as wheat straw, corn fodder, and timothy hay, which are deficient in protein. As a practical illustration of the feeding value of alfalfa, it may be stated that a great many work horses in the alfalfa growing sections of the southwest receive no other feed. It is not recommended to feed alfalfa alone, however, as better results can be secured by combining it with other foods less rich in protein. Alfalfa, timothy and corn make an ideal combination.

Alfalfa is one of the deepest rooted of cultivated plants. This gives it a great advantage over surface feeding plants, such as wheat, as it is able to draw on a much larger body of soil for its food. It is for this reason an excellent soil crop, the deeply penetrating roots enabling the plant to draw up food material from the subsoil, and store a large amount of it in the large roots and crowns near the surface. The stubble and roots on an acre of mature alfalfa contain something like $35 worth of fertilizing material, at current market prices. As a soil crop, however, it has the disadvantage of being slow to start and difficult to plow up when once thoroughly established.

Alfalfa is more desirable for hay than pasture, as it is easily trampled out and will not stand close cropping. It is even worse than clover to cause bloat, and should, therefore, be fed to cattle with caution, especially when green.

As to fertilizers for alfalfa, the power of the plant to draw nitrogen from the air should be utilized to provide most of that element. If the soil is deficient in phosphoric acid and potash, these elements should be applied in the form of commercial fertilizers or otherwise. If the land has any tendency to acidity, lime should be applied liberally, as the plant is particularly adapted to alkaline soils well supplied with lime—Arthur Goss, Director Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

COSTLY BUGS.

An entomologist estimates that bugs cost this country about $250,000,000 a year. The grasshopper eats up $90,000,000 worth of vegetation if he is feeling well, the Hessian fly $5,000,000, the chinch bug $10,000,000, and the potato bug $8,000,000 worth. Tobacco worms, moth, squash bugs, beetles, etc., make up the rest. Entomologists have been studying the problem of bug destruction for many years, but progress toward the desired end is not as rapid as it should be.—Ex.

The wise farmer will learn all he can this winter from farmers' institutes, bulletins and books about forage crops and catch crops that help out in droughty times and fill the barns so full that they do not become empty before stock food crops again.

We are certain, after the finding of this committee, which was composed of men who were qualified in every sense of the word to set in judgment on this matter, and who are recognized as the best horticulturists in the state of Missouri.

It is bad, and to be regretted, that fruit growers and pomologists will allow little petty differences and jealousies in such matters to cause them to carry on such an unprofitable discussion and wrangle, as there has been over the virtues and qualities of these two supposed different varieties.

We hope that the public will have gained much by the finding of this committee, and that all true lovers of the correct naming in the horticultural field will forever eliminate the name of Black Ben Davis from their lists and call it by its right name, as set forth by the committee—Gano.

A Professional Nurse Tells Her Experience With Doan's Kidney Pills.

Montague, Mass. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen—I heartily wish those who are suffering from backache and disturbed action of the kidneys would try Doan's Kidney Pills. As was the case with me, they will be more than surprised with the results. I had been troubled for years with my spine. I could not lie on either side. Spinal cramps would follow, and words could not explain the agony which I would endure. While in these cramps I could not speak or move, but by making a great effort after the cramp had left me I could begin to speak and move a little, but my whole back was so sore and lame that I could not even have the back bathed for some time. My nerves were in a terrible state. I would rather sit up at night than go to bed, dreading the cramps and the terrible backaches. I consulted physicians, but got only a little relief for the time being. Seeing your advertisement, my mother urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box I was better, and have ever since been on the gain. I have no backache and no cramps now and I feel like a new person. My nerves are better and I know my blood is purer. Words cannot express my thanks to you for what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. In my work as professional nurse I have a chance to recommend them, and they did me so much good that I will do so on every possible occasion.

HATTIE BRIGHAM, Nurse.

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold at 50 cents per box. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for a free trial box.

To Wash China Silk Dresser.

China silk dresses may be quite successfully washed. Remove all spots with benzine. Then wash in warm soapsuds, rubbing between the hands, rinse through several waters. Use Ivory Soap and do not rub the soap on the dress. Wring as dry as possible, wrap in a sheet or clean cotton cloth and, when partially dry, iron.

FRED M. WARNER.

Fred M. Warner, the present Secretary of State, and also avowed candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, is at present putting himself to some pains to inform the various papers of the state his position in the matter of the so-called primary reform movement. What Mr. Warner has to say touching the matter is eminently sensible, yet at the same time he need scarcely have been to the trouble, for whatever he may or may not think about this matter that is being so freely used in a demagogical way, is of small importance as compared with the general character of the man we want for governor; and in his case that he is a reliable man of demonstrated ability, one of the every day sort of successful business men, in which people invariably have confidence, is an already well known fact.

As to the primary reform matter, why, of course, everyone is for that so far as is needed and is helpful, but there is no real demand for some of the measures that have been proposed which say in effect that government by representation is a failure; and that is practically the contention of the "no-convention" crowd.

Mr. Warner, as above stated, is an every day sort of man with good practical ideas who has demonstrated himself fit to be governor and of course we expect he will help along such legislation as needed. His record is good enough to bank on without issuing manifestos.

THE YELLOW ANARCHIST.

People, whose patriotism outweighs their party spirit, are desirous that no such man as Willie Randolph Hearst ever receive the presidential nomination of either party, and we therefore give place to the following editorial from the Detroit Tribune of recent date. It is clever and true.

"The presidential candidacy of W. R. Hearst, which is now kicked about like a football and harpooned with good matured derision may yet make good through the imbecility of its opponents. Even Kunkel Wattahson is in the ranks of the feeble minded and thus shoots his shining arrow: 'We read in history how once upon a time a cocked hat and uniform, perched on a wire frame, was proclaimed king. Why may not a figure of speech be elected president?' When Julia A. Moore, 'the Sweet Singer of Michigan,' began the publication of her poems, they were so atrociously bad that the public voted them very good indeed, and this encouraged Mrs. Moore to keep right on writing more, and the more Mrs. Moore wrote the more popular she received, which so popularized the good soul that before the hilarious public knew what she was about the 'Sweet Singer' had sold enough of her 'poems' to pay off a $5,000 mortgage on her husband's sawmill and invest him with a nice working capital besides—the very thing she was driving at. 'The devil' was as much as most of the merrymakers could say, when this became known. Then Mrs. Moore smiled in her turn while her husband kept on 'sawing wood.' Do the Hearst jokers see anything Moorish in the situation?"

SENATOR HANNA.

Clearly the death event of the week that has been of the widest interest is that of the passing of Senator Marcus A. Hanna. His life has been that of the highly successful American. He was born to poverty but at a very early age began to battle against the limitations of his position and so forceful and well directed were his efforts that fortune yielded to his endeavors and he died leaving an estate valued at $7,000,000. However, it was in the capacity of political leadership that he was best known. He came to prominence as McKinley's campaign manager both for the presidential nomination and in the ensuing campaign of '96. In that year, because stepping from comparative obscurity and plunging at once into such active management of party affairs, he was seized on as a target at which were aimed all the missiles of vituperation. So successful was this attack that in the year 1896 he personified about all his own party could stand. He was regarded as the limit in the direction of plutocracy. But since that time he has steadily grown in the respect of all winning new laurels by his efficient help in connection with the arbitration board of the Civic Federation which has for its aim the settlement of labor difficulties. And from the position of a party manager, he had steadily made his way to a place among statesmen. If not of the scholarly type at any rate among the hard headed practical school of statesmanship.

Whether or not he was ever seriously a candidate for the presidency will probably never be known.

The most remarkable feature of his career is the fact of his having risen so in the estimation of the American

SCHOOL NOTES.

Cold weather and measles will lower the attendance records for February in nearly all grades.

The subjects discussed at teacher's meeting in February are Language and Jean Mitchell's school.

The eight grade were entertained by Miss Pickett from 2 to 4:30 p. m. on Saturday February 6th.

A concert for the benefit of the senior class is being prepared and will be given shortly after Easter.

Each child in the seventh grade has prepared a very pretty pillow cover in pen and ink work as a part of the work in drawing.

Among the magazines sent to the High school library are The Inlander U. M., Pleiad Albion, College News, Normal, Echo Olivet, Collegian Hillsdale.

On Wednesday morning the following program was given before the high school.

On February 26 the books in the library may be drawn with the following regulations.

Library Hours: Fridays from 3 to 5 o'clock p. m.

Books may be drawn by any patrons of district or members of their families and may be retained two weeks.

Any one keeping a book longer than two weeks shall pay a fine of five cents per week and no more books may be drawn by such persons until fines are paid.

No one shall loan books of the library.

Any one who may deface, injure, or lose a book shall pay such damages as the librarian may deem just.

The Washtenaw Union-Record this week contained the following: "Walter J. Bookwalter, a freshman law student, fainted after reading over the examination questions. He later recovered and wrote the examination. The young man had been up all night for several nights 'booming' for exams, and finding several questions he could not answer, the strain proved too great for his over-taxed nerves."

We wonder if the faintness of any of Mr. Bookwalter's future clients, at the sight of a statement of his fees, will ever be the subject of a newspaper paragraph. An overtaxed pocket is just as efficient a cause of prostration as over-taxed nerves.

OF THE PAST WEEK FOR THE STANDARD'S READERS.

Ernest Foster and wife now make their home in Milan.

Mrs. Fred Eisenmann of Freedom is reported very sick.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Roland Waltrous, Monday, a girl.

Ernest Fitzmaier has moved from Grass Lake to the Frank Everett farm in Sharon.

Mrs. C. E. Whitaker gave a pedro party Monday evening. About 20 ladies were present.

The first meeting of the creditors of the Chelsea Manufacturing Co. is set for today in Detroit.

A regular meeting of Olive chapter, O. E. S. will be held Wednesday February 24th. Initiation.

Prof. S. B. Laird of Ypsilanti will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist church of this place next Sunday morning.

Miss Mary Haab will leave Monday for the east where she will make her purchases of spring millinery.

John Howard Boyd now conducts his cigar business from a brand-new, oak-frame, bevel-plate-glass, up-to-date show case.

Next July when we dig out of the sawdust ice 26 inches thick we will remember how Winter registered here in a firm legible hand.

The Methodist ladies Lincoln day celebration by elaborate supper and appropriate program was a well attended and deserving success.

Miss Nellie Hall entertained six lady friends at dinner Wednesday. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in playing finch and croquet.

Mary Eisenmann was married Tuesday of this week to William J. Kaufmann. Rev. Mr. Lederer officiated and the wedding was at the groom's home.

The nearness of Lincoln's birthday anniversary gave direction to the Sunday evening discourses at both the Congregational and Methodist churches.

However, the freezing to death of 600 Russian soldiers does not call for a revision of Gen. Sherman's definition of war contradictory as it may seem.

The postoffice will be closed next Monday, Washington's birthday--from 9:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. The rural carriers will not make a delivery on that date.

"How many years until spring?" is an unanswered question on file at this office. Anyone wishing to risk their reputation as a prophet can have chance at it.

Dr. Steger, the dentist, announces that he has installed a new gas machine. Whether for illuminating, inflating or anesthetic purposes we are unable to state.

Miss Frances Noyes was home this week having returned from her school at Paynesville, Ohio, to attend for the third time the so-called "J-Hop" at Ann Arbor.

Misses Margaret and Anna Miller leave today for Toledo and Cleveland where they have gone to buy millinery goods and look up the matter of spring styles.

Charles Bachman, of Allendale, was in town this week on his way home from a visit to Lima, Ohio, where he had been to attend the funeral of his uncle John Thompson.

A number from this place went down to Ann Arbor to witness the gay festivities known as the "J Hop." There were likewise some participants from this place.

The Ann Arbor Daily Argus, of Thursday, last week, announced that Mary Tennent has begun suit against Perry C. Depew for alleged back wages to the amount of $1,000.

A large party from Chelsea were in Ann Arbor Wednesday evening to hear the Pittsburgh orchestra under the leadership of Victor Herbert one of America's greatest conductors.

Providence apparently wishes to appear in a wholly nonpartisan position. The death of the prominent democrat Whitney is almost immediately followed by that of the great republican Hanna.

Mrs. George Stiffan gave a Valentine luncheon to a goodly number of her lady friends at her home on South street one day last week. The Valentine idea was carried out in the table decorations.

Our Lima correspondent mentions in another column the injury of Miss Schultz, of this place, received Saturday evening while attempting to signal the electric car at Dancer road crossing.

The ladies of the Research Club are to again attempt their excursion to Jackson tomorrow night. They plan to see William H. Crane in his satirical play on New York City life, entitled the "Spenders."

Those "people" who read the Detroit Tribune lost a day last week. The papers for both the 11th and 12th were both dated the 11th. It was kind of a "Peck's-Bad-Boy" trick.

At the last review of the L. O. T. M. M. held last week, Mrs. Lila Campbell was elected as delegate and Mrs. Minerva Davis as alternate to the bi-annual review to be held at Battle Creek.

The last of the series of the L. C. B. A. pedro parties was held in Woodman hall Tuesday evening. The attendance was not equal to the splendid gathering of the Friday evening before because of the severe weather.

Five new courses have been established at the University of Michigan within the past three years: administrative law, naval architecture, higher commercial education, forestry, and insurance.

The various strategy boards, one find now a days, huddled about some available fire, divide attention between the weather and the Russo-Jap war. The ultimate outcome of both appears to sidestep the usual lines of reasoning.

The Stockbridge Sun of last week persisted in announcing the lecture of Dr. Caster, of this place, as that of Dr. Castor. While the doctor is a pretty smooth article we resent in the name of this town the insinuation that he is oily.

Revs. Kerr and Johns, the two most noted evangelists and most effective gospel singers in the state, will conduct the services at the Methodist church both morning and evening next Sunday. Everybody cordially invited to be present.

The local R. F. D. carriers so far this winter have not missed making their trips. This beats the record, so far as we have been able to learn, for this county and also as regards other carriers of nearby places. It is a performance to be proud of.

Mrs. F. E. Wilcox entertained the ladies of the Review Club at her home Monday evening. The meeting was unique in that the members were attired in the dress of their childhood days and had again taken up the childish things, actions, foolishness and practices which they are supposed to have put away.

It is authoritatively announced that Rev. P. M. McKay will become the pastor of the Baptist church April 1st. Enthusiastic praise is spoken of the gentleman both as to his ability as a preacher and his social characteristics in church work. He comes to Chelsea from successful work in Aurelius.

A big auction is set for February 25. On that date Robert C. Glenn will sell six head of horses, 13 head of cattle, a fine collection of farming implements and household goods. E. W. Daniels will act as auctioneer and the sale will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. There will be a substantial lunch at noon.

Some renewed interest has been manifested of late as to what are the old spoken of seven wonders of the world and the list is therefore appended here: they are the pyramids of Egypt, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the statue of Jupiter Olympus, the temple of Diana at Ephesus the moleseum of Helicarnassus, the Pharos at Alexandria and Colossus of Rhodes.

Report of school in district No. 5, Lyndon, for the month of January. Margie Goodwin, Anna Young, and Frances Boyce have not missed a word in spelling during the month, Inez Collins missing but one. Mrs. Lucy Stephens, teacher.

A young man of this town slowed up Monday forenoon like a fly on sticky fly paper. His rubbers had been standing in a little pool of water and were consequently just in condition to freeze fast to the stone-cold cement walk. They did so; and the young man only escaped the part of a wooden Indian by having the presence of mind to step out of his overshoes. If he had been in his bare feet he would have had to remain frozen fast until spring.

Charles Samp has just been granted a patent by the U. S. patent office on a hay loader. By actual test the machine has been demonstrated to be of great value in not only loading hay, but also corn stalks, bean pods and every other loadable thing of that description. While it is efficient it is not at the same time an expensive and complicated piece of mechanism. It is a farm apparatus within the reach of any farmer and so useful as a labor saver that the cost of one will soon be saved. Mr. Samp is already manufacturing the loader and expects to dispose of a good number this season.

Report of school district No. 10 Lyndon for month ending February 12, 1904. The following have an average of 95: Leo Heatley, Ralph Collings, John Sullivan and Howard Marshall; 90, Fred Marshall, Roy Ray, Ralph Pearl and Lewis Hadley; Esther, Louis and Ethelbert Heatley; Stella Collings, Fred Hudson, Edward Sullivan and Willie Birch; 85 Graham Birch, Ralph Hadley, Ralph Collings, Howard Marshall, Leo and Ethelbert Heatley have not missed a word in spelling during the month. Genevieve Young, teacher.

SURE TO SUIT

Queen Quality

THE FAMOUS SHOE FOR WOMEN

It takes all kinds of women to make a world and all kinds of shoes to please them. Still they can all be suited with "Queen Quality." It is an entirely different construction from the ordinary shoe. It is fitted to the foot, not at the toe and heel, but around the instep. It gives free play to the ball of the foot, yet the foot cannot slip forward in the shoe, being firmly held at the "waist" or arch of the instep.

In appearance it is most artistic. It has more than style; it has a distinction all its own. It is made of an extra grade of light, strong leather with great wearing qualities. Then to make the "Queen Quality" a very easy shoe, it has specially flexible soles.

Yet all this does not increase its retail price.

Try it once.

BRADDOCK HOUSE STILL STANDS

This part of the old fort still forms the plaza out upon which the main hallway leads; and it was there, Washington's days, that the young people gathered in the summer evenings to chat and to watch the moon rise over the river, then in plain view and it was there, too, their elders used to discuss the questions of the day when the wharves beyond were crowded with trading craft and littered with the richest barter of England and West Indies.

To-day the Braddock House, which is not without its civil war history for it was there that Col. Ellsworth of the zouaves was shot in '61—practically deserted, only the sweep of its ground floor, which once was the scene of many a ball and important function, is now littered with mahogany relics of every section of Virginia. The work of preparing to furnish for the market is fast marring the walls and injuring wainscoting and the like, and the Carlisle House suffers in common with more recent neighbor.

"A market cart was instantly constructed, and regularly three times a week, sent off to Belhaven, filled with nice roasters, kidney-covered lamb and veal, green geese, fat ducks-a gobblers, chickens by the basket, from butter, new laid eggs, vegetables and fruits of all sorts. Country gentlemen dining with their friends in a very moon remarked the welcome change of diet. 'Bless us all!' cried they, 'what's the meaning of this?' They invited us to family fare and here we have given us a republican's feast." Yes, a republican, others, "Thank God for sending us to Washington into our neighborhood."

"The cat was thus let out of the bag to the extreme mortification of some of the 'little Great Ones,' that of Washington should ever have run a market cart."

And she made a biggish wave with her hand, and the decks below slipped and slid, and she steadied herself and put her hand on the rail to take a look at the outside world. And at that moment, as he lay on his back, he saw the Sloop Yda. His eyes were wide open, and then thumped furiously shut. In the still of the hies of the night, and the windy roar of the rigging and the sound of his pulse in his ears, he heard the sound of a pump. He was paralyzed, and yet he knew that there was a pump. Palembang was rushing on to destruction.

"Herd a stirboard!" he said out loud, but in a shouting voice.

"Look here, you didn't run the P qualities. Apples being rich in phosphorus aid the brain and nervous system. Pineapples not only work wound strengthening the digestion, but soothe sore throats. Oranges are invaluable to the liver and a mixture of lettuce and lemon juice is a specific thing for the jaundice.

Difference in Soils.

One field of a farm may have that which will hold but half an inch of water, while another will hold six inches out of the ten inches that fall. Crops grow differently on the two soils.

I was very surprised at the time my nerves became weaker, strong, I can do all my work at a typewriter and typewriting weight has increased 35 pounds since I am a new man and a better name given by Postum Co., Creek, Mich.

THE TALENT FROM EUROPE

America, and sings in English with as distinct enunciation as in her native Swedish tongue.

Another of this class is the new French tenor, Pierre Riviere. Mr.
Riviere made his Paris debut at the Opera Comique six years ago. Prior to and since that time he has sung at The Hague, Ghent, Liege, Geneva and other foreign cities. Riviere's appearance in America revives memories of the days when Marie Rose was a great feature of the English opera season, for he has been not only her pupil in Paris, but her protegee. She had entire charge of his studies after he signed to sing in English with Mr. Savage last spring, and spent his time in her studio surrounded by the many souvenirs of her former American triumphs.

A singer appearing for the first time in this country, and around whom the public are inclined to weave somewhat of romance and adventure, is Remi Marsano, the Dusseldorf baritone. Mr. Marsano spent 12 years in the Austrian navy, and has been singing in opera only the last four years.

He is a finely built,
soldierly looking fellow, and a good actor with a powerful voice. Having been through the Greek war and spent 12 years at sea, during which time he visited every important port in the world and expended a small fortune while keeping up the honors of a captaincy in the navy, he determined to get out of reach of further military commands by coming to America. The baritone carries numerous scars obtained while leading charges of the Austrian marines, and has a hole through his breast made by a Turkish bullet.

SPORT WITH KINKS IN IT.

Queer Things That Have Happened to Players of Golf and Cricket in the Field.

It is a gorgeous story that comes from the golf links of Cairo, and every good golfer will herafter carry a gun in his bag of clubs if he wishes to overlook no fine points, says the Illustrated Sporting News. After a splendid drive, a Cairo player watched the ball roll over the distant turf, when to his horrified amazement, a crow swooped down and carried it aloft. The golfer and the caddy put off in chase, the caddy cursing in fluent Arabic.
Then, to the delight of the golfer, the crow dropped the ball on the green, and he holed out in two strokes, which put Col. Bagey out of commission. The opponent was threatened with apoplexy.
As in the case of the Indian football trick of sticking the ball under his jersey, there was every kind of a rule in the book, except one to cover the unexpected, and the golfer's record, ably assisted by his crowship, had to stand.
Many years ago in England, before a rule was made to fit a similar emergency in cricket, it is related that a batsman knocked a ball into a tall tree, where it lodged in the crotch of a limb. There was no climbing the tree, and the nearest ax was a half mile away. Before it could be obtained and the tree chopped down, the man with the bat made more than 700 runs, hurtling between the wickets like a human shuttlecock. He stopped scoring runs then, only because he ran himself out of strength and breath, and fell on the turf still feebly trying to pile up another run, with one weary eye cocked on the tree and all the opposing side frantically trying to chop at once.

The London Mail recalls a supper party given two or three years ago in honor of the birthday of Mme. Amy Sherwin, on whose menu card the late Phil May made an exquisite little drawing. This was seen by a wealthy woman present, who sent the waiter with a ten pound note to the artist, asking him to do a similar drawing for her. Mr. May, disgusted at the woman's impertinence, took a good look at her and then made an appallingly truthful caricature of her features on the back of the bank note, which he returned.

RELIEF IN ONE MINUTE.
One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbe which tickles the mucus membrane, causing the cough, and at the same time clears the phlegm, draws out the inflammation and soothes the affected parts. One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of coughs, colds and croup. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take, harmless and good alike for young and old. Sold by Glazier & Stimson.

A Millionaire's Cigars.
A parcel of the dearest cigars in the world, 1,500 in number, has been dispatched from the famous Vuelta-Abajo tobacco fields in Cuba for the consumption of a New York multi-millionaire smoker. The price of one of these cigars is about $4.50. None but the most faultless leaves are used in their production; the making of them is restricted to the most experienced workers, who can only make eight cigars in a day. Every cigar is wrapped in fine Japanese paper and enclosed in a small air-tight box of perfumed wood.

NOTICE.
The time has about expired for the payment of taxes. The books will close on the 27th of this month. Jacob Ham-

NEARBY NEIGHBORS

A WINTER PLAYGROUND.
The playgrounds are covered with ice and the boys are making good use of it, as it is smooth enough to allow skating.
—Salline Observer.

COOPERATIVE FARMERS.
The Parma Creamery Co. had a big time Tuesday, when nearly 400 of their patrons and friends sat down to a banquet which reflected the spirit of the company. —Jackson Citizen.

LOVE SUFFERETH LONG.
Mr. Love deserves credit for cleaning off the walks in vicinity of his home Sunday. If more citizens had the same spirit, life in the old town would be less of a misery at such times. —Pinckney Dispatch.

WATERED STOCK.
The Mills, Bachelor & Co. in coming to their store last Saturday morning found the west end of their store badly flooded and a large amount of goods soaked and ruined from the roof leaking. —Stockbridge Brief.

A SUGGESTION OF SUMMER.
Miss Elsie Boynton received a box containing holly, roses, moss and blossoms picked from a century plant from Miss Lucy G. Leach, who is spending the winter at Upland, Cal. Miss Leach's many friends will be glad to learn that her condition is very much improved.
—Grass Lake News.

ACQUIRING HORSE SENSE.
At a recent banquet in Paris in which all the dishes were of horse meat, one particularly attractive dish was made of brains stewed in vinegar and butter. If every part strengthens a part, the partakers of that dish should have carried away from the feast better sense than they took to it. —Ypsilanti.

GOOD FOR HORSE AND MAN.
Culver & Son have a safe and convi-ent shoeing frame in their shop for holding vicious and awkward horses while they are being shod, the device was invented for the safety of both the animal and the blacksmith, and fills the bill of its inventor's intentions in every way.
—Livingston Herald.

BUT THE YPSI ANN GETS THERE.
No cars will be running to Grass Lake over the Jackson & Suburban Traction company's line for some time yet. Ice is reported several inches thick over the tracks east of Michigan Center and in the village of Grass Lake. The company stated that a large force of men would have to be employed to remove it.
—Jackson Patriot.

NOT AS COLD AS IN '42.
The old inhabitants now come forward and claim that in 1842 Michigan had a severe winter. Snow came in October and lasted until after the April election. B. G. English informs the Enterprise that he went to Clinton on that day and men were going to Tecumseh to town meeting in sleighs. Clinton was at that time in Tecumseh township and elections were held alternately at Clinton and Tecumseh. —Manchester Enterprise.

Boy Lost.
George A. Lowe, the student from Milan who disappeared wearing his cadet uniform after attending military drill Monday afternoon, has not been located. He recently received money from home. No reason has been found for his disappearance. The young man's friends fear that some accident has befallen him. Special dispatch from Agricultural College to Detroit Journal.
George is a son of Mrs. Albert Bond, of London. —Milan Leader.

SMART, AND FELT SMARTER.
Clifford Ward of the Hillsdale Standard conceived the idea that to let down the string of the electric light and carry the bulb into bed on retiring would keep him warm, and it did have that effect.
He was awarded $12 by an insurance company for his discovery, but so much of it had to be spent for courtier that his net profit was not what it should have been. Mr. Ward is one of the smartest members of our craft, in Hillsdale. —Detroit Tribune.

A BASIS FOR GUESS WORK.
The work of surveying the Huron river and the lakes has given rise to a great deal of speculation as to the object thereof and all kinds of theories are advanced. One rumor was to the effect that ultimately a big power plant is to be erected at Dexter, but so far as can be learned there is nothing to substantiate it. The work is being very thoroughly done, however, and when completed, the reports will contain a great deal of valuable information concerning the water levels of Huron river and the lakes and streams tributary to it.
—Dexter Leader.

AS TO SEEING ROBINS.
The man who saw a robin in a tree a day or two ago has called a liar by one of our county papers. Robins and meadow larks have been seen by several people here this winter, in fact they have been seen here all winter for several years, and there was just as much cold weather as if no robins had been seen. It has become quite common for the lark and robin to stay with us all winter. But the most uncommon thing known in the way of a bird story is seeing a blue heron, commonly called sand hill crane, at this season of the year. R. V. Wilson has seen two of them recently, but made no mention of it for fear someone might think his pipe needed cleaning and a different brand of tobacco recommended. There are a good many lessons to be learned from the birds, but it shows there are foolish birds as well as people. —Tecumseh News.

SUICIDE PREVENTED.
The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide has been discovered will interest many. A run down system, or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nervine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It's also a great stomach, liver and kidney regulator. Only 50c.
Satisfaction guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson druggist.

The Mosquito Destroyer.
The recent announcement of a mosquito destroyer is commented upon in Popular Science Monthly in no very unfavorable terms. It is pointed out that the original paper published in bulletin 13 of the public health and marine hospital service hardly justifies the newspaper claims which were made for it. Dr. Stiles, the author of the investigation, simply discovered a new parasite of the mosquito, several of which were already known, and pointed out that these organisms might be of value in hold in check the mosquito plague. There are many technical difficulties in the way of a practical utilization of these "destroyers," and there was in the original article no intimation that the public health service is breeding the germs in order to infect mosquitoes.

If it isn't how much cold cream a woman

Mountain Tea she takes, the latter

Conferred a Favor.
It is said that Mark Twain was standing in a crowded street car, hanging to a strap, the other day. As the car swung around a corner the strap broke, dumping him into the lap of a well-dressed woman. The humorist arose and bowed. "Madam," said he, "this is the first time the street car company ever conferred a favor on me."

A CURE FOR ECZEMA.
My baby had eczema so bad that its head was a solid mass of scabs, and its hair all came out I tried many remedies but none seemed to do any permanent good until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The eczema is cured, the scabs are gone and the little one's scalp is perfectly clean and healthy, and its hair is growing beautifully again. I cannot give too much praise to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Frank Farmer, Bluff City, Ky. In buying Witch Hazel Salve look for counterfeits. DeWitt's is the original and the only one containing pure Witch Hazel. The name E. C.
DeWitt & Co. is on every box. Sold by Glazier & Stimson.

Likes the Cold.
A cold-loving earthworm — Melanchrocha traues solifugus — has been brought to notice by Russell and Filippi. It lives on Mt. St. Elias, Alaska, and by night swarms on the snow of the Malaspina glacier, but when the sun shines burrows under the surface to a depth of 18 inches or more.

A WOMAN'S COMPLEXION.
It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the beauty doctors. The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood poisoning. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists. Glazier & Stimson.

END OF BITTER FIGHT.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now I've entirely regained my health. "It conquers all coughs, colds, and throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson drug store.
Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

"Telelogue."

For the benefit of a clerk who complained that he had to write over and over again, "referring to our conversation over the telephone," an English journal suggests that he say "tele-logue," which means "a word from a distance." It is not yet in the dictionary, but it is as correctly derived as "telegram" or "telephone," is not slang, and saves several words, thus hastening the happy day when we shall all talk shorthand.

INDIGESTION

"I was troubled with stomach trouble. Theodor's Black-Draught did me more good in one week than all the doctor's medicine I took in a year." —MRS. SARAH E.
SHIRFIELD, Ellenville, Ind.

Theodor's Black Draught quickly invigorates the action of the stomach and cures even chronic cases of indigestion. If you will take a small dose of Theodor's Black Draught occasionally you will keep your stomach and liver in perfect condition.

THEODOR'S

lieves constipation but cures diarrhea and dysentery and keeps the bowels regular.

Features like the following explain its popularity:

Melara Methods of Finance by Henry George, Jr.
President Roosevelt, at Concord, N. H. August 26th, 1903. "I am not at all sure that I have a right to expect from Government is that it will see that the country is not swamped by the great industrial combinations." A view to showing the methods pursued in the organization and management of many of the great industrial combinations. PEARSON'S will publish a series of articles by Henry George, Jr. on the subject of industrial combinations, the history of the American Campaign, and many other articles presenting vivid pictures of the times when history was warm in the making, will shortly appear.

Tom Nast, Cartoonist.
Gen. U. S. Grant said he considered Tom Nast the greatest single figure that had come out of the Civil War. Sir Albert Bigelow Paine has prepared for PEARSON'S a series of articles from scrap books and memoranda a gift to him by Tom Nast shortly before his death. "This most important set of papers, which includes the Overthrow of the Second Ring, the Civil War Period, the Horrors of Slavery, the Court for said county of Washenaw, helden at the Probate office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on the 22nd day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and four.

Present, WILLIAM L. WATKINS, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of William W.
Kilham, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Julia L. Kilham praying that admi-stration of said estate may be granted to herself or to some other suitable person, and hearing notice by the said petition, thereupon it is ordered, that the 22nd day of February next, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, said estate, of the hearing of said petition, and all other persons interested in said estate shall appear at a session of said court then to be held at the Probate office, in the city of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, that said petition, or notice to the persons interested in said estate, to receive, examine and adjust said claims against said estate, and against the estate of Henry C. Stegman late of
