BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

It Was a Hot One in Chelsea Monday.— Citizens Elected William Bacon Assessor.

The village election Monday was one of the warmest and closest that has been held in Chelsea in many a long day. Those who predicted an overwhelming defeat for the Citizens' ticket and a correspondingly large majority for the Glazier men were decidedly chagrined as the count proceeded and it was seen that the Workingmen's ticket was elected by very narrow majorities, ranging from 2 to 22, while William Bacon, the Citizens' candidate for assessor was elected by the large majority of 51, again demonstrating his ability as a runner.

While the Citizens' ticket was defeated as a whole it can yet be regarded as a victory, for it showed that the people are getting thoroughly aroused to the necessity of a different conducting of the affairs of the village in the future.

The vote, which was the largest ever polled at a village election is given below:

March 19, at 10 a. m. The program will be as follows:

Roll Call—Responded to by naming a favorite fruit, giving a fact or quotation about it.

plementary Questions.

crab apple and the common apple?

Russian apple?

grown in this state.

you hybridize apples?

varieties of apples come into bearing.

mixture?

How is each treated?

What purpose do cover crops serve?

A Destructive Fire.

Fire broke out in the rear part of George Wackenhut's house on South
Main street Tuesday night at 11:30 o'clock, and before the flames were extinguished the interior of the house and much of its contents were ruined. The fire eat in between the plaster and the clapboards and into the garret, necessitating a large quantity of water being poured on it to put it out. Mr. Wackenhut and his daughter were both sleeping in upstairs rooms and would have been burnt up if they had not been awakened by the fire whistle, as the fire had gained quite a headway before they woke up. The loss will be a serious one as the insurance is not for a large amount.

Kalmbach-Seeger.

Mr. Charles Kalmbach and Miss Mary Seeger were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seeger, west of Francisco, on Tuesday afternoon,
March 15, in the presence of a company of 40 guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. Heininger, of Toledo, Ohio, grandfather of the bride. A bountiful wedding supper was served and the presents given to the young couple were numerous and useful. After spending a couple of days with an aunt of the bride in Scio, they will go at once to housekeeping on the Wm. Long farm in Sylvan.

ARRESTED A HORSE THIEF.

The Jackson Officers Bold Attempt to Steal the Credit from Two Chelsea Men.

Frank Leach and Wm. Denman arrested a negro named George Curtis on the hill on the Territorial road by Wilson West's farm in Sylvan Friday night about 10:30 o'clock having driven out there to meet him. He had stolen a horse and buggy belonging to Jas. McGill, of Leoni, about 4 o'clock that afternoon from in front of a store in Jackson, and Sheriff Gauntlett on being notified of it started out his deputies in search of the thief.
Officers Lewis and Rosencrans, of Jackson, came to Chelsea, and on the return of Messrs. Leach and Denman with their prisoner took him to Jackson.

The following story of his arrest told in the Jackson Patriot of Tuesday was evidently manufactured out of whole cloth by the Jackson officers to swell their importance, as they had nothing at all to do with his arrest, being in Chelsea at the time:

"In half an hour Officer Rosen-crants had phoned all points east and took the next Hawks-Angus car, keeping a sharp lookout on the highway. About three or four miles from Chelsea the pursuers saw their quarry jogging along, the horse being almost in a state of collapse from a 23-mile drive. The car was stopped and the rig halted. Curtis made no resistance. He was comfortably clothed with overcoat and a jag. The outfit was taken to Chelsea and the horse given care and attention. The next trolley car brought the party to this city."

As related above Frank Leach and Wm. Denman made the arrest and are entitled to the credit for it. As to the statement that the Jackson officers saw the man from the car, that would be an impossibility for the railroad track is a good half mile north of the road on which the negro traveled all the way from Jackson.

The James Gaunt Estate.

The defendants in the suit brought by John Gaunt and five other residents of England for a share in the estate of James Gaunt, deceased, of Lyndon, have filed their answers.

They deny that James Gaunt left a brother and several nephews and nieces, and say that the widow, Anna Gaunt, is the sole heir at law. They deny any attempt to defraud in the affidavits made at the time of the administration of the estate.

The complainants stated in their petition that John Gaunt was the brother of the late James Gaunt and that J. G. Whithan, Isaiah Whithan, J. G. Smith and Arthur
Smith were his nephews.

They placed the valuation of the estate at $5,000, but the defendants claim it is only $3,000.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, an effective nerve and the greatest all

THE NEWS OF MICHIGAN.

Work of Fire Bug.

Holy Rosary seminary, a school for young girls in Essexville, a frame building of three stories, was fired, supposedly by an incendiary about midnight Saturday. Thirteen sisters of the Dominican order and 45 pupils were sleeping in the building. The alarm brought hundreds of villagers to the rescue, but their fire fighting apparatus was helpless. Most of the sisters and 10 pupils, two of them ill, slept in the third story. Sister Alexia, aged 53, was obliged to jump, sustaining a compound fracture of the right leg, and other injuries. Amott Parker and Anthony Szymanski aided the sisters in saving the children. While this fire was in progress another of supposed incendiary origin was discovered at the home of John Tennant on Main street, which was speedily extinguished.

Flood Damages.

On account of a high ice blockade in the Shiawassee river north of the Main street bridge, Owosso, the stream changed its course Tuesday night, overflowing the bank of the regular bed and took its way down River street and across Shiawassee street. At midnight a large district was cut off by the stream and the help of the police and the fire department was summoned. The rescuers had a hard time getting the people out of the houses. Great damage may be done as thus far comparatively little ice has come down, and no ice has moved out below the city.

The Flint river and tributary creeks are very high and more damage is threatened by the water backed up by ice jams.

Rice's New Story.

At the hearing of Mrs. Clara A. Rice, who is charged with receiving a sum of money from her son, C. M. Rice, the janitor of the Old National bank of Grand Rapids, who ran away with $1,100, Charles Rice contradicted his story that he had given the money to his mother. He now says that instead of him having to take care of the old lady she frequently gave him money, at one time as much as $1,400, which he spent in drink. Two witnesses who board in the same building with Mrs. Rice testified that the woman displayed a roll of bills of large denominations the day after the robbery. Hearing adjourned till next Wednesday.

More Paroles.

Gov. Bliss has commuted the sentence of Edgar E. Vannoy, sent to Jackson for 25 years from Kent county, in December, 1897, for assault with intent to kill. The sentence was commuted to 15 years. The following prisoners were paroled: Viola Stackard, sent from Kent county, June, 1902, to the Detroit house of correction for three years for keeping a disorderly house; William Braden, sent from Macomb, Nov. 14, 1900, to Jackson for 10 years for criminal assault; William D. Pier, sent from Osceola county, Dec. 18, 1898, to Jackson for 12 years for the same offense.

A Valid Pardon.

The supreme court has sustained the validity of the pardon granted by Gov. Bliss to Herbert R. Spafford, the deputy game warden who was convicted of manslaughter in the Benz circuit court. The pardon was granted before sentence was pronounced, and Judge Chittenden, of the circuit court, refused to recognize it, ordering Spafford to appear for sentence. A writ of habeas corpus was secured and the case brought to the supreme court bench, resulting in a victory for Spafford.

Fair Location.

The location committee for the state fair will inspect six Michigan cities that have made bids for the plum. The cities are Saginaw, Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Charlotte, Jackson and Grand Rapids. Directors Young of Paw Paw and Hoffman of Kalamazoo will go to Grand Rapids and consider the advantages offered by the western town. It is now expected that the final meeting, at which the location of the Michigan state fair for all time will be decided, will be held in Kalamazoo early next week.

Beet Sugar.

The German-American Sugar Co., of Bay City, the first co-operative company organized for that industry in this country, has just declared a dividend, although the last two seasons have been quite unfavorable. Over 300 farmers are stockholders, paying for their stock in sugar beets instead of cash. It is found that on the average the stockholders ran 15 tons each behind in their beet deliveries the past two seasons, and yesterday they were given an extension to make up their unavoidable shortage.

The State Camp.

"No decision in regard to the location of the state camp of the National Guard will be reached for several months," said Gen. McGurrin after his return from Lansing, where he was in conference with Quartermaster General Kidd. There are several sites in view, and these will be visited by Gen. McGurrin and Mr. Kidd, shortly before the next meeting of the military board, which will be held in Lansing March 15.

Jap Soldiers in Negaunee.

Secret agents of the Japanese government have been securing recruits for their army among the Finns in Negaunee. There being about 30,000 in the upper peninsula, the work has been quietly done, and is said to have been very successful, as about 1,000 will leave for Japan by April 1, going by way of San Francisco.

In a saloon row at the Soo one of the pugilists had his ear bitten off. Cold weather killed about 80 per cent of the honey bees at West Ogden.

The Wheat Crop.

The state crop report says that in answer to the question, "Has wheat during February suffered injury from any cause?" 174 correspondents in the southern counties answer "yes," and 175 "no." In the central counties eight answer "yes," and 133 "no;" and in the northern counties none answer "yes," and 91 "no." The crop is passing through a critical period at the present time, the outcome of which depends largely on climatic conditions during March.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Desperate Battle.

The desperate character of the battle between the Russian and the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers in the action of March 10 off Port Arthur is revealed in Admiral Togo's reports. The Japanese torpedo flotilla opened the action by boldly steaming in under the batteries and successfully placing a number of mechanical mines at the mouth of the harbor. Following that there was a desperate bow-to-bow encounter between the torpedo boat destroyers, in which the Japanese appear to have scored a clear victory.

A Brilliant Move.

The Japanese have most cleverly turned the flank of the Russian army on the Korean border, if dispatches received by London papers are correct. According to the Tien Tsin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph the Japanese advanced from the Yalu river, captured Fung-Wang-Chang and drove out the Russians in the vicinity to the Taku Bing eastern pass, and are in force 70 miles east of New Chwang. The Russians, with 35,000 men, are entrenched strongly at Liao Yang and Hai Chang, where fighting is imminent. Some small engagements already have been fought, the Russians retiring with losses.

This correspondent says further that the Japanese are using the same tactics and advancing along the same road they followed during the Chinese war.

A Yin-Kow correspondent also vaguely reports the Japanese to be 50 miles northwest of Au Tung, and well to the westward of the Yalu river.

Military critics think it inconceivable that Japan really can have executed such a sudden, unexpected and successful turning of the Russian position on the Yalu river.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting on these reports, says that if the news of this strange and marvelous collapse of Russian power on land is true, there is nothing to prevent the Japanese from seizing Mukden and the railroad. There has been nothing to compare with this move, the paper continues, since Napoleon staggered Europe by appearing in the plains of Italy, having descended from the Alps as from the clouds. Its effect throughout the east will be stupendous.

Japanese warships bombarded the forts at Talien-Wan (Port Dalny) on the night of March 8 and then attacked Port Arthur, says a Tokio dispatch, adding: It is believed here that there has already been a decisive naval engagement in the vicinity of Vladivostok and tidings of it are anxiously awaited. The Japanese fleet did not, it is said, go to Vladivostok for the purpose of bombarding the town, but to locate and attack the armored cruisers Gromoboi, Rossia, Rurik and the cruiser Bogatyr, the Russian fleet stationed there. It is understood that when the Japanese fleet arrived there on Sunday last it found the Russian squadron absent. If this is true it gave the Japanese squadron advantages in the way of avoiding battle close to the inshore batteries, at the same time putting it in a position to prevent the Russian ships re-entering the harbor. It is doubted that the Japanese withdrew their entire squadron unless the location of the enemy had been discovered, as it meant surrendering the advantage of being in a position between the enemy and the enemy's base. There is a strong possibility that the Japanese found the Russian ships in the vicinity of Possiet bay and gave them battle there.

The Russian Nightmare.

The undefined misgivings existing in very high quarters here regarding the ultimate aims and purposes of the foreign policy of the United States were voiced in St. Petersburg Wednesday in the following remarkable statement to the Associated Press: "Were not for a single unknown quantity the European situation at present would be as perfect as possible. For the avoidance of one thing every chancellery in Europe has been straining every nerve—namely, to prevent the entanglement of an outside power in this war. That unknown quantity is your state department. The situation following the outbreak of hostilities was exceedingly delicate and surcharged with dangerous possibilities to the peace of the world, and the level-headed statesmen of Europe instantly co-operated to make a general catastrophe impossible, when almost at the inception Secretary Hay's circular note for the neutralization of China almost ditched them."

"We are at sea as to what to expect from Mr. Hay. American diplomacy in these later days is so aggressive, so startlingly sudden in the way it makes propositions to the remainder of the world that we have not time to prepare for the shock. It is a veritable nightmare to Europe. The present situation is like an algebraic problem—every quantity of the equation is known except one, and that one is Mr. Hay. He represents 'X.' If we knew what he stood for or what he intended to do the solution would be easy."

"The note might have proved disastrous did not the present moment find all of Europe practically in accord as to what should be done. The only place where uncertainty exists is Washington."

Two Boats Sunk at Port Arthur.

The Russian torpedo boat flotilla left Port Arthur at broad daylight Friday morning and attacked the Japanese fleet. One Japanese torpedo boat was sunk and one Russian torpedo boat destroyer, the Bezposhtedno, was sunk. The fate of the latter's crew is not known.

Berrien cherry growers say save the robin, for he earns what he eats. The 6-year-old son of Guy Straud, of Bedford, was drowned by breaking through rotten ice at the mill pond. The body was recovered.

A General War Coming.

A dispatch from Paris, which tells of the arrest of a French traitor who attempted to sell French naval secrets to the Japanese, makes revelations which indicate that a great war with Russia and France on the one side and England and Japan on the other is again being seriously considered in military circles during the lull in the receipt of important news from the far east. The secrets which the traitor tried to sell to Japan, it is said, had particular reference to joint naval action on the part of France and Russia. It is positively stated that such plans exist, and the treaty obligations of Great Britain toward Japan in the event of any other power joining Russia are so well known that the discovery of the alleged plot has created a sensation on the continent.

The Tagelblatt, in Berlin, asserts that the conviction prevails in Russia that war with England will be the inevitable outcome of the war with Japan, and that active preparations are being made for such a contingency by Russia, including measures for the defense of the Baltic coast. Russia, meanwhile is straining every nerve to overcome the advantage against her in the far east. There is an ominous note in the notice which she has caused to be served upon the Chinese government by her minister at Peking, with regard to the activity of Chinese troops along the Manchurian frontier. Vlceoy Alexieff, it is understood, has been intrusted with the work of formulating repressive measures if the depredations spread to the extent of endangering Russian interests.

It is reported that the Russians have set fire to the town of Wiju, on the Korean side of the Yalu river, and have retreated across the river into Manchuria. A complete Russian evacuation, according to the report, is proceeding, due to the Japanese advance north.

Nothing Doing.

There is no truth in the rumor that the Russians have abandoned Port Arthur. Admiral Abaza, secretary of the commission on far eastern affairs, authorizes the Associated Press to deny the story. He says the situation at Port Arthur is unchanged, and that nothing of importance has occurred there in the last 24 hours.

To Be Hanged.

Hanging for all was the verdict of the jury in the first murder case against the so-called Chicago "bar bandits." Harvey Van Dine, Peter Niedermeier and Gustav Marx, who attained notoriety by a desperate all-day battle that started in a "dog-out" near Liverpool, Ind., where the trio had taken refuge after a series of remarkable crimes, including the murder of two employees of the Chicago City Railway at one of the company's barns in that city, the motive in each instance being robbery. They are three beardless youths under 21 years of age, are charged with six murders and many saloon robberies besides the hold-up of the Chicago City Railway barns August 30, 1903. It is the latter crime for which they are sentenced. At 3 a. m. on that date the desperadoes armed with automatic magazine revolvers. They visited the barns while the cashiers were counting $2,250, early in the morning, and robbed the place after shooting to death Clerk Frank Stewart and Motorman J. B. Johnson and wounding Henry Biehl and James Edmond. The robbers divided their spoils and left Chicago. Van Dine going to Cincinnati, and the others to Denver.

An Illegal Trust.

The U. S. supreme court handed down a decision favorable to the government in the Northern Securities case, Monday, declaring the merger to be in violation of the anti-trust laws. The decision was read by Justice Harlan. The suit was instituted by the United States against the Northern Securities Co. and the two railroad companies, the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern and their leading stockholders, for the purpose of dissolving the merger of the two roads, which, the United States claimed, had been created by the formation of a holding company, the Securities company. This consolidation was claimed to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It was claimed on behalf of the government that this consolidation was in effect a pool created to promote the interests, not of one system at the expense of the other, but of both at the expense of the public. The railroads claimed that the transfer of the stock of the two companies to the Securities company was in the nature of a sale and perfectly legitimate.

A fight for the possession of a gold mine in Alaska that has yielded over $1,300,000 in five years, is being settled by arbitration in Chicago. A TALE WITH A MORAL.

"Twas a gloomy glade mid the lowering shades
Of a forest dank and dark;
And every decent creature slept,
For the gray of dawn had scarcely crept
Over the morning sky. But hark—
Amid the silence there may be heard
The drowsy chirp of the Early Bird.

Lo, a twig that lies beneath his eyes
Of a sudden appears to squirm!
And there comes from under his very feet
A faint fine sound that I can't repeat—
The voice of the Early Worm!
And the glade is still, though still can be,
At thought of the coming tragedy.

"It is up to me," sobbed the worm, "to flee,
Were I not such a sleepy thing."
But the bird was wobbly on his feet,
"I am far too drowsy," he sighed, "to flee."
And his head fell under his wing.
And sweetly mingled, there soon were heard
The shrill chirp of the worm and the early bird.

THE COMPOSITE

By GRAHAM NORTH.

Copyrighted, 1908, by The Authors Publishing Company.

John Patterson was in love. No unusual thing in the case of a good-looking young fellow of five and twenty. But strangely enough he had never yet seen the lady of his heart.

One evening he was carelessly turning the leaves of his sister's photograph album, scanning each face with the glance of a connoisseur. He stopped and gave his undivided attention to a page from which a pair of eyes looked straight into his own.

The picture was finished in a style unfamiliar to him. A soft, dreamy haze surrounded the features, making them doubly alluring; but what attracted him most was the clear eyes. They were not quite like any others he had seen before.

It was love at first sight, or, to be more exact, before first sight.

Naturally he wanted to learn all about the unknown girl without arousing suspicion. His sister, to whom he affectedly careless inquiries were addressed, with a woman's intuition in such matters, and with an equally feminine deign in tantalizing a man suspected of being in love, was most provokingly obtuse to his clumsy subtleties and stratagems. And when at last, in sheer desperation, he openly asked the lady's name, she displayed an innocent surprise, and, after baiting him to her heart's content, left him with no better satisfaction than a vague promise of an introduction at some future time.

This was poor consolation to John, but it was the best he could get. And so, consumed with love and curiosity, he passed his days in suspense.

One thing, however, he secured, that was at the same time a joy and a vexation to him, namely the picture itself.

It was given the place of honor among his most cherished possessions, and she became at once the goal and the center of his thoughts.

And now began a season of misery for John Patterson.

He had confided his secret to his most intimate associate, Harry Follansbee. Harry prided himself on being a second Sherlock Holmes, and many were the plans that he laid with his friend to discover her identity; but all came to naught. At the end of three months the unknown still remained obstinately unknown. They had not even been able to find out whether or not she was a resident of the city.

The strain began to tell on John. He lost his appetite and grew hollow-eyed, and when in Nan's presence he threw out hints of declining health.

Whether or not these tactics were instrumental in bringing matters to a crisis he could not tell; but one afternoon just as Harry Follansbee was leaving his bank, he met John in a high state of excitement. His sister had at last relented. She was to give a whist party that evening, at which, to his inexpressible joy, she assured

"Miss Black, my brother!"
"Nor Miss Black; though the curve of the eyebrows was like hers."
"Miss Brown!"

"Nor Miss Brown; something in her features seemed familiar, but then her hair couldn't be red."

"And so it went. In every one of those girls I saw something to remind me of the face above my mantel. But not one of them looked exactly like it. Not one had her eyes. I was expecting that she would be the next. But she wasn't there. At the end of the list I brought up with a mental jolt, and dropped into a chair beside a girl with glasses, who began to chatter about cards. In a few minutes the game began. You know I abominate whist. How intelligent people can waste hours on the spots and pictures on fifty-two gaudy squares of pasteboard, is a mystery to me. The game is well enough for sick persons, children and idiots, but I don't see how anybody, whom nature has endowed with brains can waste his time over it.

"Well, I played like a dummy. My eyes were studying the faces of my partners, and my thoughts were trying to solve the riddle of that photograph. I led from a sneak, trumped my partner's ace, played second hand high and third hand low, and in short, I broke every rule of the game."

"At last the intermission gave me a respite. I took my sister aside, while the others were busy with the refreshments."

"See here, Nan," I said, "this nonsense has gone far enough. The chase you've led me for the past three months convinces me of that. I pity the man who marries you if you treat him as you've treated me. You pledged your word that a certain young lady would be here to-night. Now, unless you can give me some good reason for the way you've deceived me, I shall quit the house at once, and I shall not be in a hurry to come back."

"I saw that what I said about deception had nettled her a bit, as I intended it should; for if you can get a woman to lose her temper, the truth is coming out."

"John," she said, looking me straight in the eyes, "what were the exact words of my promise to you?"

"You told me that the original of that picture would be here to-night. And she isn't here!"

"John," she said again, and her eyes snapped a little, "the original of that picture is in the room this minute."

"Now, I've studied that photograph so carefully for the last twelve weeks that every feature is printed on my memory, and I'm sorry to say I lost my own temper, and contradicted her flatly."

"That is not so," I said, "and you know it!"

"This was, of course, extremely impolite, even considering the plain speech our customs allow among members of the same family. But instead of being very angry, as I expected she would, and while I was feeling sorry for my rudeness, Nan began to laugh. 'John,' she said, 'I presume you've looked at that picture once or twice since I let you take it. Didn't you ever notice anything peculiar about the finish? I told you I'd introduce you to its original to-night, and I've kept my word. That is a photograph of the Idlers' Whist Club; it's a COMPOSITE!"

"Well, you might have knocked me down with a feather. I was in a daze the rest of the evening, and as soon as I could get away, I came here."

"Now, what in the name of common sense am I to do?"

"Well," said Harry, "I see just two ways out of it for you. Marry them all, and emigrate to some Oriental country."

"Bosh!" exclaimed John.
"Or," continued his mentor, "you might pick out the girl who comes nearest to the picture, and see if you can't get her to look at the matter in the same light that you do."

"By Jove!" shouted John, "I'll do it."

And he did.

NOVEL THEORY ABOUT STONES.

Newsboy's Explanation as to Why They Had Stopped Growing.

Henry W. Oliver, the Pittsburgh capitalist, who died recently, took a profound interest in the children of the poor. Hence his gift to Pittsburgh of a magnificent public bath, and hence his frequent and friendly conversations with newsboys, bootblacks and messenger boys.

It is said of Mr. Oliver that one day, after buying a paper from a very little chap, he thought he would test the lad's intelligence by putting a few questions to him. Accordingly he pointed to a pile of paving stones and said:

"How were these stones made, son?"
"They wasn't made; they grewed," replied the boy.

"Growth?" How do you mean 'growth'?" said Mr. Oliver.

"They grewed the same as potatoes grow," the boy explained.

Mr. Oliver shook his head. "No, my lad, you are wrong," he said. "Stones can't grow. If you were to come back to these stones five years, or ten years, or twenty years from now, they would still be the same size."

"Of course," said the little newsboy, sneering. "They've been taken out of the ground now and have stopped growin', same as potatoes would."

Laughter Reveals Character.

"If," said a gentleman whose forte is the delineation of character, "if I could not gain a clue to the true nature of a man in any other way, I should wait until I heard him laugh."

He might alter his expression, his voice, and his manner, but his laugh would infallibly betray his inner self. Laughter, in fact, gives a marvelous insight into character. If there is anything false, weak or malicious in a man it always discloses itself in this direction, and we have the inane 'tee-hee' of the feeble-minded, the harsh, grating laugh of the coarse, sordid nature, and the half-suppressed chuckle of the plotter.

"It is the more curious, because crafty people often laugh to cover their real feelings, but to the acute ear the false note is readily apparent, whether the laugh be real or assumed."

"Frank, honest laughter is a sign of sterling character, and can be confidently relied upon."

Futility of Corporal Punishment.

Flogging is still allowed in English prisons as a punishment for mutiny or violence, but recently published statistics make it doubtful whether even in these extreme cases corporal punishment serves the purpose for which it is intended. It is shown that since the number of prison offenses for which flogging was allowed was reduced in 1898, the number of offenses against prison discipline has decreased from 147 to 131 per 1,000 prisoners, while there has been an increase in the number of those offenses for which the "cat" is still the penalty.

Schools in Russia.

According to the latest statistics, there are 84,544 public schools in the empire of Russia, out of which number 40,131 are under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Public Education, 42,558 under the jurisdiction of the holy synod, and the remainder under other departments. Of the pupils, 73,167 were adults, 3,291,694 boys and 1,203,902 girls. The teachers number 172,000. The maintenance of all these schools costs more than $25,000,000. The average school tax for city schools is $9.50 and for village schools $5 a pupil.

The Night Voyage.

Silent we sailed the phosphorescent seas,
Our ship a craft with shadowy masts and spars,
While gloomed above, in glorious gales,
The phosphorescent stars.

The breeze that breathed about us bore
the balm
Of coral cove and long land-locked lagoon,
While glistened o'er the tall, linaeaed palm
The Caribbean moon.

A distant pharos from its hidden height
Across the waters flung its beckoning beam,
And so we glided through the violet night,
Bound for the bourn of dream.

New Ways to Whiten Teeth.

Up-to-date dentists have several new wrinkles for whitening and polishing the teeth.

One of these is to first dip the brush into salty water and then apply the powder, which should be of the finest quality. After three or four minutes' brushing rub a little dry salt over the teeth, and in time they will become perceptibly whiter. If you want to have teeth like polished ivory, take a piece of camelskin, dip it in lemon juice and rub the teeth until they are hot to the touch.

SUNNY, LAZY JAMAICA

IDEAL SPOT IN WHICH TO SPEND A HAPPY SUMMER.

Mountain Ranges Afford Visitor the Chance to Choose as He Likes His Climate—Picturesque Scenes in the Market Places of Kingston.

(Special Correspondence.)

It is summer in the sunny, happy island of Jamaica, but the fierce tropical heat is so admirably tempered by the cool breezes of the trade winds that, just as one is about to swelter, lo! such a delightful breeze is wafted over the land that one gives himself up to blissful comfort of its enjoyment.

Jamaica is so traversed by mountains, some of whose peaks attain as great a height as 7,000 feet, that one can spend a summer in the island and choose as he likes his climate. In the country parts the summer is ideal. On every side one rests the eye upon the undulating hills, studded with verdure of palest green, that gradually rise one above the other until they lose themselves in the deep blue of the mountains that stand silhouetted against the paler blue of the sky.

A Jamaica house, like most of the houses built in tropical countries, has the appearance of being all windows and doors, or else all blinds and doors, and it is not uncommon to find the main room of a large house having as many as a dozen windows, with a door leading into the front garden and another leading into the rear garden. For a Jamaica house does not stop at one, there are often several surrounding the house. And the windows are never closed.

It is in the city of Kingston that one gets the best idea of what a Jamaican is like, for it is here that he meets all classes. There is a pronounced class distinction in the island, the upper classes having nothing whatever to do with the servant class socially.

There is a Jamaican aristocracy composed of the most refined and intelligent element, and of those who can trace their ancestry back to English and Scottish aristocracy. They are the landed proprietors of large estates, the merchants, or they are the men in offices of trust or those who occupy the most influential positions.

The middle-class Jamaican is a good-natured, sunny dispositioned, happy creature. They include, among others, conductors, motormen, bus drivers, tailors, shoemakers, keepers of tiny shops, policemen and peasant proprietors of small holdings. The middle class is always well dressed, well behaved and without doubt takes life easy.

The peasant class are the pure blacks who live in the country parts or the island in small huts, in the white jacket trimmed with gilt braid, with a round, red cap surmounting the head, and a long supple stick carried in the hand; the bus drivers with their two-seated buggies, each one on the alert to secure a passenger; the large shops on King street and Harbor street, with show windows and counters that are quite American, and the tiny shops without show windows and counters, where one enters the little barn-like establishment through big wooden doors thrown back from the street, making the entire store wide open to the passers-by, and revealing its one narrow high counter and the wares piled on shelves or in wooden trays back of the counter. There is no attempt to make the shops attractive to the buyer. The articles are heaped in sight of the purchaser with no eye to an artistic arrangement of the goods.

But there is no place of greater interest in the city than the markets.

BLU IS WOMEN'S FAVORITE.

Care More for It Than Any Other Color.

"Colors in dress often reveal the heart secrets of women, though they know it not," remarks a woman writer. "Men would unconsciously do the same thing, if custom permitted them to wear colors as it does women, but if they are barred out in a general way, specifically their neckties frequently tell things about them. Yellow is the color of light cheerfulness, and the girl who is fond of wearing it is usually of a light, cheery nature. Pink is the color of love, and it is really remarkable to see how an engaged girl, deeply enamored of her fiancé, will, without knowing just why, take to wearing pink ribbons and begin to speak of gowns either wholly or partly pink as 'such loves of things' that she wished she owned."

"Blue is the color of the good and true, and I am glad to know that most women are fond of it, and usually have at least one blue gown in their wardrobe. The average person has never noticed it, but the woman without honesty in her nature cares little for blue. If there is a fad for the color, she will wear it under protest, but the woman who is good and true loves it, and confesses openly to it. Even if she doesn't do this the unconscious affinity of her nature for that color expresses itself in the touch of blue she will give her costumes, or in the blue ribbons with which she will adorn her lingerie. Did you ever hear of a bride's trousseau having red ribbons among its adornments? It is usually found that blue and pink predominate, nay, they are generally the exclusive ornaments of the lingerie especially."

Won His Gift Back.

The fact that cats always instinctively find their way home is rather remarkably illustrated by a story told by a young man who lives in Germantown, says the Philadelphia Record. He is an expert in the art of pyrography, and about a year ago he presented a girl of his acquaintance with a burnt-wood box, which seemed to be highly appreciated as a specimen of his own handiwork. One evening last week the young pyrographer attended a euchre where the ladies had presented the prizes for the contest. The young gallant, taking a hand, won the identical box he had presented to the young lady. On recognizing his own handiwork, and being somewhat of a wag, he took the box home, and on the under side burned a grotesque figure of a cat, with the inscription over the head, "The cat came back," and at the feet, "You can't lose me." With this addition to the already much ornamented box was returned to the girl who had so kindly donated it to help make the euchre a success.

Her Aim.

Mrs. Frallington was downcast and trembling now, and it seemed hardly possible to realize that only a few hours before she had, single-handed, faced a couple of desperate burglars and vanquished them. Such, however, was the case, and a detective was questioning her as to the circumstances.

"And I understand that after you had warned the man not to attempt to break into your house, and as had disregarded the warning, you, without more ado, raised your pistol and fired?"

"Yes," she answered. "It was awfully wicked of me, but I did."

"What became of the man you shot?"

"The other burglar carried him away."

"Which other burglar?"

"Why, the one I aimed at," she said, simply.

Live Nobly.

I will make use of life.
Full use, best use. Let come what will,
"Tis life, and life my cup shall fill.
Or sweet, or bitter be the draught,
Boots not, but how cup is quaffed,
What but of aloes or sweet wine
Doth enter in, beneath mine
From t's, my God-appointed fate,
What good shall I appropriate?
Be such my spirit's enquiry:
God fixed my lot—but left me free!

Out of all stress and strife,
Out of all disappointments, pain,
What deathless profit shall I gain?
If sorrow cometh, shall it slay?
Or shall I bear a song away?
When wave and tide against me lift,
Shall I still steer my course of drift?
Soul, nerve thyself to such as these Deep problems: sacred destinies!
It matters not what fate may give:
The best is thine—to nobly live!
—John Buckham.

King Has Good Memory.

King Edward's memory for faces is (as generally known) extraordinarily good, but equally so is his power of promptly recalling the names and where and when he has met persons he is suddenly confronted with—gifts which do not always go together. An evidence of the king's accuracy in both respects once occurred at Newcastle, where his majesty (then prince of Wales) was attending a show. Stopping on his progress through the crowd he accosted a gentleman by name, reminding him that they had been introduced at a certain public function in another provincial town some years previously.

One More Mistake.

Not long ago I was passing along a back road just outside the city, and looking to one side, could just see the outline of a buggy. Suddenly, and with no apparent propelling force, the vehicle moved rapidly around the corner and disappeared into the darkness.

Fearing that the possible occupant of the buggy might figure in a runaway, and wishing to prevent an accident, I called very loudly four or five times "Whoa!" at the top of my lungs. The carriage stopped slowly, and a hoarse voice replied, "Shut up, you fool; can't I run my buggy into my own shed?"—Providence Telegram.

Carelessly turning the leaves of his sister's photograph album.

Six hours later, while Follansbee was dreaming over the adventures of his favorite detective, he heard a knock at the door, and John entered with a most woebegone and bewildered face.

"You can imagine that I dressed with extra care this evening, and so came down stairs a little late. Nan pounced on me and dragged me into a room full of young ladies. And then it began."

"Miss White, let me present my brother, John."
"No, it wasn't Miss White; it was her chin, but she didn't have a pug nose."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

The Citizens ticket made a great run at Monday's election, and not a man on it has cause to be ashamed of his defeat. The trouble was they could not offset the Glazier "persuasion."

William Bacon is a candidate for the nomination for supervisor on the Republican ticket at the caucus to be held Saturday, March 26. If you are tired of one man dictation and boss rule show it by turning out to the caucus and voting for him.

Speaking of the Pinckney village election last Monday, the Pinckney Dispatch said: "No politics enter into this election, and everyone can vote as they please and no questions asked." Wouldn't it be a blessing if such a state of things existed in Chelsea and Sylvan?

Governor Bliss granted another bunch of three paroles last Thursday, and it does beat all how he seems to pick out all the nastiest of criminals as the recipients of his executive clemency, alias weakness. Two of the men were under sentence for criminal assault and the other for keeping a brothel.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

David Schultz is in this neighborhood quite often getting tools together for farming.

Mrs. L. M. Wood and Fred Schultz, wife and baby made a pleasant call here one day last week.

It is said the man owning the Fred Warner farm intends putting it all out to fruit trees, mostly apples.

A good time was enjoyed at the social at Mr. Gilbert's the other evening although the company was not a crowded one.

Young Mr. Gilbert, who spent the past winter in the northern lumber camp, has now returned to take up farming this summer in company with his brother. Good fortune attend them.

Who has tried the maples to see if sap has started? Now that so many bees are dead that sweet comes next to help to railroad warm biscuit and pancakes to the stomach, their home, sweet home.

R. C. Glenn went to Albion last week to get acquainted with his youngest granddaughter Miss Lucy Glenn, now about a month old, the daughter of E. C. Glenn and wife, second in line in the family.

Lawrence Rabbit, a lifelong resident of Dexter township died at his home Saturday last. He was taken to Dexter village where the funeral was held. The deceased was a quiet retiring bachelor, about 65 years of age, a member of the Catholic church, and was well to do in worldly goods. He leaves two sisters and other distant relatives.

Many boys on the farms are getting $25 a month, and some better than that, besides horse keep and board, as well as many half days off. Yet it is said, the chances for the young man to get a start in life are all past. In these parts I know of three young men at least, not grey haired yet, that have from $1,000 to $2,500 laid up ready to start in on a wider scale. All they lack now is a partner, which will soon be forthcoming or I guess amiss.

Is it the improved machinery that is driving the boys off the farm? We might believe it if all were on a par with the corn harvester and shredder. But when we consider the many other safe helps and conveniences we can but ask again why will the boys go to town to be bossed around at low wages and often dirty work and long hours. We have made up our mind there is no accounting for tastes, for a choice we will kiss the cow awhile if she don't object or take us for a calf.

This spring you will need a nerve food, one that will cleanse and reconstruct your nerve centers and wasted energies. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do it. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Glazier & Stimson.

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't shy away from medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—Mrs. LAURA EMMONS, Walker, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation.

"I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—Mrs. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham. If there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

A Warm Time.

Bristow's report involving members of congress in the postoffice scandal brought out a whirlwind of protests when it was taken up in the house Wednesday.

"That document is the production of a liar and a scoundrel," shouted Representative Hill, of Connecticut, in making an explanation of his connection with certain leases. He added that he should vote both to investigate himself and also the fourth assistant postmaster-general.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, said: "The Bristow report was conceived in iniquity, born in sin and has traveled its course until it has struck the public of the United States as a great attack on a body of men as free from wrongdoing, corruption, crime and irregularity as any equal number of men on the face of the earth."

Mr. Hepburn (rep. Ia.) said that any investigation of the postoffice department would not elicit any facts not brought out by the committee report.

"I say an investigation would elicit further facts, and that these facts have been suppressed," retorted Wm. Alden Smith, of Michigan, amid loud applause from the floor and galleries.

"But I undertake to say," replied Hepburn, the members' meanwhile crowding around him, "that the situation will be met by these opponents of ours when the time comes for them to embody these views in a minority report on the postoffice appropriation bill. I imagine they will give the gentlemen an opportunity to get alleged suppressed information."

Smith, with great vehemence, said: "We ought to have that opportunity on this side."

"Yes, sir," answered Hepburn, "and I undertake to say there is no member of this house who desires to screen anybody in this matter."

He was applauded at his remark, and continuing said:

"I want to go to the very bottom. We have shown our willingness."

"Where," he continued, "has there ever been a time when the efforts of this government have been so strenuously exerted to bring criminals to justice as in this matter?"

Mormon Power.

That Reed Smoot could not have been elected to the United States senate without having first been chosen as an apostle of the Mormon church and that after he was so chosen he could not have been defeated, was asserted by Judge Ogden Hiles, assistant United States attorney from 1886 to 1890, and later a judge of the district court of Utah, who was a witness to-day in the Smoot case before the committee on privileges and elections.

New York Grippes.

Influenza and la grippe, which have been epidemic for the past several months, have taken a tighter hold on New York and the number of pneumonia victims is increasing at an alarming rate. There were 500 deaths from pneumonia last week, and 1,010 deaths from the same cause during February. There is not a street in the city of Greater New York that does not have its grip victims, and doctors of the city estimate that there are at least 50,000 cases of grip. The death roll each day this week will number 80 and probably more.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I used Theford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my liver and I had spent $100 with doctors. It is the best medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Theford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Theford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Theford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Theford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to excel it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill.

Obituary.

Died, Feb. 11, 1904, Sarah Ann Everett, wife of John Everett, of Richland township, Miami county, Kansas. The deceased was born March 7, 1837, in the town of Lodi, in this county. Immediately following her marriage to Mr. Everett they moved to McHenry county, Ill., where they resided two years. They went to Kansas in May, 1857, and settled in North Richland township, pre-empting the farm upon which they lived for many years.

Mrs. Everett was the mother of nine children, six of whom survive her, three having died in infancy. The dead were Emma, Grant and Summer, the living are Adelaide, John P., Julia, Ann, Maude and Lillian, of Emporia, Kas. Her living grandchildren number 18.

Preceding the interment in Antioch cemetery a beautiful sermon was given by Rev. I. T. Stephens, of Wellsville. The floral offerings were many.

The early years of married life for Mr. and Mrs. Everett were spent on the frontier and were years filled with all the hardships incident to pioneer life. The struggle was long and hard, but side by side they battled, gaining by thrift and industry the ease and comfort they enjoyed in later years. In the dark days of border warfare John Everett was one of the militia that guarded Kansas from marauding guerilla bands. He participated in the battle of Westfort and later in the pursuit of Price through Missouri and Arkansas.

During his absence from home the stout hearted wife and mother planted and gathered, plied the needle and the shuttle, tended the little ones, and kept alive the fire upon the hearth.

With the tide of immigration came labor-saving machinery and better market facilities. Rapidly years of scarcity and hardship gave place to years of plenty. They approached the evening of their lives toiling, rejoicing and sorrowing. The beloved wife was the first to see the sunset. After but a few days of illness she passed away without a sign of conscious suffering, the last scene of a noble and well spent life. Her brethren of Antioch Baptist church have lost in her an active, zealous co-worker in the cause of Christ, which she loved so well. No words are needed to publish the character of Grandma Everett, her countless kindnesses to the needy attest her charity. The comely characters of her children proclaimed her duty well done, and for these and manifold other virtues accorded her the love, the reverence, the honor of all who came under the benediction of her smiles.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by Glazier & Stinson, druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

An effort is to be made to reorganize the Grass Lake baseball club.

Jacob Horning, of Francisco, recently lost a valuable horse through it becoming paralyzed.

Wm. Locher, of Francisco, will build an addition to his house as soon as the weather will permit.

Omar Moore has sold his farm in Dexter township, consisting of 240 acres, to John Gutekunst from Iowa.

Grass Lake Chapter, O. E. S., will go to Jackson the evening of April 19 to exemplify the work of the order.

A new R. F. D. route will start from Pinckney April 1. The route will start south and west returning by the Dexter road.

Henry Hoffman, who has been working the Hindelang farm in Dexter township, has rented the Warren farm in Webster.

Jas. A. Parkinson, of Jackson, has been nominated by the Democrats of that county to succeed the late Judge Erasmus Peck.

Geo. Minser, of Jackson, is the new landlord of the Lake House, Grass Lake, having bought out John G. Schmidt, the former proprietor.

George M. Rank's fine residence in Grass Lake was destroyed by fire Thursday night. Part of the contents were saved, but nearly all the clothing of the family burned. House insured for $2,500, contents for $1,600.

The question "Commercial fertilizers: Is their use a benefit or a detriment to the farmer in the long run?" was discussed by the Pittsfield Union Grange at their meeting last week. The majority of those who talked on the subject thought them a detriment.

A Manchester man found a skunk under his chicken coop and a neighbor came over with his shotgun to help him kill it. Both of them were glad to seek shelter behind a 12-inch board, after the animal was driven out into the yard, before the man with the gun was able to get in a shot that killed it.

Hiram Daniels, of Williamsville, Ingham county, has a pair of gold bowed spectacles left him by his father. They are 100 years old and cost $12 in gold when new. They have been handed down from one generation to another, have been in use most of the time, but have never been broken or mended.

The Lakeside Elgin Butter Co. at Grass Lake is endeavoring to get farmers who live such a distance from the village that it is not practical to have a milk route pass their door install Empire cream separators. The company will pay a price per pound for the cream equal to two cents a pound less than it receives each month for its butter.

A spirit of lawlessness on the part of students in the Ann Arbor high school, and which is said to be on the increase, is causing considerable thought on the part of the superintendent and the school board. They should give a well applied dose of hickory to these youthful law breakers, it would take some of the foolishness out of them.

The Grass Lake Farmers' Club at its annual meeting elected the following officers: President, M. L. Raymond; vice president, N. M. Davis; recording secretary, Miss Olive Cadwell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Minnie Clark; treasurer, Wm. Hopper; literary committee, Mesdames Madison Davis, Minnie Clark, M. L. Raymond and Messrs. M. K. Preston, Madison Davis, E. M. Sanford; entertainment committee, Mesdames Geo. Ferguson, M. K. Preston, Chas. Hickman.
