street, of this village, Tuesday night; and while the house is not burned to the ground yet, considering all the damage, both by fire and water, the wreck very nearly approaches a total loss.

Two alarms were blown. The first was turned in about 11:30 and the second soon followed. When first discovered the fire had not made dangerous headway and was confined apparently to the extreme near corner of the house. In the ten or fifteen minutes which elapsed before the arrival of the firemen and the hose the rear wing became all ablaze and the fire had penetrated to without either natural or artificial irrithe attic of the upright.

In all places where the flames openly beaten down by the tremendous pressure of water turned on. Only one hose was for a time available as the nozzle of the second was frozen and the back pressure burst the pipe and one section had to be taken out. At length, with both streams playing, the flames were stayed beyond possibility of spreading to nearby property. Only in the attic where the flames were hard to get at did they persist to burn.

The family is indeed to be congratulated that the result is no more disastrous than it is for the possibility of their all being smothered and burned to sounded they were all in bed and asleep. The first member to wake found the smoke pouring in rapidly.

ON RUSSIAN RAILWAYS.

There Are More Accidents Than o System.

Although railway traveling in Rusia is slower than in any other country of Europe, there are more accidents on the Russian than on any other continental system, says an Odessa correspondent of the London Times. The average speed of a passenger train is 36 miles an hour, and that of the so-called "fast expresses" 42 miles. Approximately speaking, there are now about 29,000 miles of railway in European Russia: According to an official return lately published, the number of accidents last year amounted to 9,890. Of these 1,212 were collisions, and 1,521 derailments. One thousand five hundred and twenty-nine persons were killed, and 7,908 injured. The damage done to railway stock was estimated at 1,600,000 rubles, a paltry sum as compared with the terrible loss of life and the number of peo-

The greater part of the permanent way n this country is laid without either chairs or fish-plates, the old and insecure method of rivets staples being still in vogue, a fact which largely accounts for the enormous number of accidents.

MRS. SARAH EVERETT.

Passed to a higher life February 11th 1904. Sarah Hun Everett, wife of John Everett, of Richland township, Miami county, Kansas.

The deceased was born March 8th 1837, in the township of Lodi, Washtenaw county. Immediately following her marriage to Mr. Everett they moved to Illinois where they remained two years. From there they went to Kansas in May 1857 and settled in north Richland township, and there preempting the farm upon which they lived for many

The deceased was the mother of nine children Six of whom survive her, and there are 18 living grandchildren. The funeral of the deceased was fittingly marked by a beautiful sermon and floral offerings.

The early years of married life for Mr and Mrs. Everett on the frontier were years filled with all the hardships incident to pioneer life. The struggle was long and hard. But side by side they battled, gaining by thrift and industry the ease and comfort enjoyed by them in later years. In the dark days of border warfare later pursuit in the of Price through Missouri and Arkansas.

During his absence on his duty, the stout hearted wife and mother planted and gathered, plied the needle and shuttle, tended her young family and kept alive the fire upon the hearth.

With the tide of emigration came labor saving machinery and better market facilities. Rapidly years of scarcity and hardship gave place to years of A very disastrous fire visited the plenty. WORKINGMEN'S TICKET WINS

A Spirited Contest Monday After a Lapse of Two Years in Which There Has Been Nothing Doing---Tabulated Result.

The village election of Monday was spiritedly contested. This was in decided contrast to the uncontested elections of the last two years. The same party, the Workingmen's, however, still remains in power in spite of the effort made to displace it. A very full vote was polled there being a total of 487 votes cast. Considerable interest was displayed in the count in the evening at the town hall which resulted as follows:

ONLY NATION OF HUSTLERS.	70

No Other People Work with the Feverish Industry of Americans-Fact Suggests a Question.

We are the only nation of hustlers, and the idea suggests itself that all the rest of the world cannot be entirely wrong and we alone right in the conduct and object of life, says the Hartford Times. The Germans and the French work for a certain number of hours with a steady but not a feverish industry, and then they enjoy themselves in what we would consider a rather childish way. They gather in their cafes or beer gardens with their families and chat good-humoredly about trivial subjects. Even the English, though abounding in physical energy, take life easily.

They seem to us to make too much of their leisurely game of cricket. But all these nations have accomplished great things, not only in science, art and literature, but in the material advance of civilization. They do not expend nervous energy as rapidly as we do, and in consequence the period of life work among their men is longer. They do not consume life so fast. May it not be that they, in their old-fashioned way, are wiser than we? They have emboused their views of life in proverbs like these: "More haste worse speed." "He who goes slowly goes far." "It's the pace that kills," and others to the same purport, and proverbs are entitled to respect, because they embody the wisdom of humanity. There is no proverb enjoining the necessity of continuous restless activity.

HOW SHELLFISH TALK.

Warn One Another of Danger by Weird Clicking Sounds, Says a Distinguished Naturalist.

Most seamen will tell of curious clicking sounds heard on calm nights at sea and the origin of the noise seems so altogether unaccountable that it has often created some alarm among superstitious fishermen, says the Chicago Tribune.

A distinguished naturalist made a careful study of the sounds on many occasions, and found that it was not a sustained note, but made up of a multitude of tiny ones, each clear and distinct in itself, and ranging from a high treble down to a bass. When the ear was applied to the gunwale of the boat the sound grew more inense, and in some places, as the boat moved on, it could not be heard at all.

On other occasions the sound resembled the tolling of bells, the booming of guns, and the notes of an Aeolian harp. For a long time he was unable to trace the cause, but at length discovered that the sounds were made by shellfish, hundreds of them opening their shells and closing them with sharp snaps. The noise, partly muffled by the water, sounded indescribably weird. He was finally led to the conclusion that, as the shellfish made the sounds, they probably had some meaning, and that the clicks might possibly be a warning of danger when the shallow water was disturbed by the boat.

Goes to the State. Judge Hosmer, of the Detroit cir cuit court, blasted the hopes of surviving members of the old Detroit fire department and the heirs of former members by deciding that the funds in trust should revert to the state. He says the association was a public charity with a public function of excinguishing fires, and therefore the money left should not be for private distribution. There is about $21,000 in the fund, and after legal and other expenses are paid there will be between $10,000 and $15,000 left for the state.

What purpose do cover crops serve?

THE GREAT ST. LOUIS FAIR.

The time for the opening of the world's fair at St. Louis is now only a few weeks away and yet very few seem to understand how this fair will eclipe other expositions of recent years. By comparison it is shown that the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia covered 236 acres; Paris, France, exposition covered 336 acres; Columbian exposition at Chicago covered 633 acres; Pan-American exposition at Buffalo covered day. 350 acres; while the St. Louis Louisiana Purchase exposition will cover 1,240 acres. Comparison of the cost of construction also shows that the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia. required $8,500,000; Paris, France, exposition, $9,000,000; Columbian exposition at Chicago, $18,332,000; Pan-American exposition, at Buffalo, $10,000,000; St Louis Louisiana Purchase exposition, estimated, $40,000,000. Before the exposition gates are open the city of St. Louis alone will have expended the enormous sum of $20,000,000. Of this amount $5,-000,000 was appropriated to the Fair chrough the Municipal Assembly, her sitizens raised $5,000,000 additional by private subscription, and by popular vote and special election city charter amendments were carried, which will

SURE TO SUIT

neen FAMOUS SHOF FOR WOMEN

T takes all kinds of women to make a world and all kinds of shoes to please them. Still they can all be suited with "Queen Quality." It is an entirely different construction from the ordinary shoe. It is fitted to the foot, not at the toe and heel, but around the instep. It gives free play to the ball of the foot, yet the foot cannot slip forward in the shoe, being firmly held at the "waist" or arch of the instep.

In appearance it is most artistic. It has more than style; it has a distinction all its own. It is made of an extra grade of light, strong leather with great wearing qualities. Then to make the "Queen Quality" a very easy shoe, it has specially flexible soles.

Yet all this dose not increase its retail price.

That afternoon Gardiner came down again to the Barbary Coast, and had another talk with Shanghai Smith. "What, another of 'em?" asked "Him as is payin' for Gawthrop?"

Gardiner nodded "And who's payin' for Hunt?" Gardiner took him by the greasy lanel of his coat. "I'll tell you-it's Gawthrop!"

Gardiner, who was doing the dramatic criticism for the Chronicle that night, saw Gawthrop and Hunt in Miss Atherton's box at the opera house. They appeared to be on very good terms, and were both in an excellent humor. For all that he had planned, George Gardiner was in no great good temper when he in:agined that Edith showed more favor to Sibley than to his rival.

"He's not a bad sort, but he's not the sort to marry a girl like that," hitch. said Gardiner: "if she only knew the life he has led, she'd give him the mitten right off. And I could let her know. It's doing him a favor to send him to sea. And as for Hunt, he's really mean. Life won't be all pie to him as he's laid it out to be. She'll think they've shied off, and will be mad, and more ready to listen to a man who has loved her for years, as sails. she knows. "I shouldn't be in the least surprised to hear he had gone to Europe," he said. "He's very flighty. I suppose that is the reason he didn't marry while he was young."

Hunt was thirty, and his rival was twenty-six.

"And don't you want to see Europe?" asked Edith who wondered what was in the wind.

"Ah, some day, but not alone," answered Sibley. "I shall never go without a companion."

"You should go with Jack Hunt," said Edith mischievously. "I certainly wonder none of you travel more. Now, Mr. Gardiner down there has been all over the world."

"Ah, poor Gardiner!" said Sibley. "How is it so clever and good-natured a man should be doing what he is?" And much to Sibley's astonishment. Edith Atherton turned on him with an odd question

WOMEN WHO CARE FOR DOGS.

Those Who Will Nurse Them Tenderly Are in Demand in England. An advertisement recently printed in a London journal devoted to interests of the kennel brings to light the fact that women who will devote their attention to the nursing of dogs can find an abundance of employment. In answer to this advertisement, a hundred applicants have already come forward, but it is believed the tests to which they will be put will prove too severe for a majority of the number. "It is no easy matter," the London Mail explains, "to take the temperature of a toy spaniel when the little animal is in high fever, and the administration of medicine and distasteful diet to a fractious bloodhound involves some risk."

The nurses for the first six months will be required to wear blue overalls, surgical aprons and goloshes, but at the end of this probationary period they will be graduated into becoming blue serge dresses, with "D. P. L."signifying Dogs' Protective Leagueworked in red letters on the collar. He instanced as object lessons two points in his career. When incandescent mantels were introduced the magnate hesitated about adopting them in the counting room because of the expense involved. Only when it was demonstrated that economy could be effected would he apply them to gas jets. depression. Can't be restored to health until the kidneys are cured. Read how one woman was restored by using Doan's Kidney Pills:

Mrs. H. A. Van Sickle, 311 6th Ave., S. W. Roanoke, Va., says: "Kidney trouble was hereditary in our family and I had been so continually afflicted with the disease that I began to despair of even temporary relief. Sometimes I suffered so severely that I was confind to my bed. The aching in my back was intense and the kidney disorder caused an excess of uric acid in my blood which impaired my digestion. I was compelled to deny myself of many of the little delicacies of diet. The doctors diagnosed my case as congestion of the kidneys. I had about given up hope when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but I took only a few doses when their curative powers were proven to my satisfaction. I have never been without them in the house since."

Superstitions of the Indians and the Resultant Tragedies.

Roasting Alive of Mother and Babe at the Instigation of a Peaiman Turns Public Attention to British Possession.

The burning of a mother and one of her twin babies in British Guiana as reported recently by the commissioner in whose district the horrble religious sacrifice took place, has directed attention to the peculiar forms of superstition which still prevail among the aboriginal Indians of that country. All disease and evil is believed to be the work of kenaimas or spirits. In the district where the mother and babe were roasted alive considerable sickness prevailed, and the peaiman, the Indian doctor and priest, was called in to discover the cause of the epidemic. Prior to the epidemic a woman gave birth to twins and such an occurrence is rarely or never known among the Indians, the peaiman at once declared that one of the twins was the child of a kenaima, as a woman could not naturally produce two children at a birth, and was the cause of the sickness.

The next step was to discover which babe was the child of the kenaima. One night ore of the babes awoke and be-

Men Houseservants. Male "housemaids are the most recent contribution to the solving of the servant problem in Great Britain, it seems. Several thousands of foreign young men have recently been transported to London to engage in general domestic work in British households. So far nothing but commendation is heard on the subject. These menservants, say their employers, do the work ing in his chicken coop and went out to that has generally been allotted to women in a cleaner, quicker and more thorough fashion than the sex they have displaced. They waste less time, have no grievances, no "visitors," ask no high wages, and do not bother about "evenings out." GERMAN SYRUP. We want to impress on our readersthat Boschee's German Syrup is positively the only preparation on the market to-day that does relieve and cure consumption. It contains the specifics, such as pure tar, extracts of gums, etc., which have been so highly endorsed for the cure of coughs, colds and consumption by the great medical congresses. The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectoration in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. Small bottles, 25 cents; regular size, containing nearly four times as much, 75 cents. At Glazie

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught

a good medicine for liver disease.
It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion Thedford's Black - Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept

"I used Thedford's Black Draught for liver and kidney com-plaints and found nothing to excel it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Mar-blehead, Ill.
