Farmers' Club Meeting.

The Western Washtenaw Union Farmers' Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Spaulding at their home in Sylvan Friday. This was the first meeting to be held on that day of the week and many present expressed themselves as much pleased with the change, for, said they, had the meeting been set for Thursday the storm would have prevented anybody coming. As it was there were about 40 people present, although the traveling was very bad.

One of those good dinners that you always get at the farmers' club meetings was served at noon, after which a brief season of visiting followed.

When the meeting was called to order for the business session by President Chapman, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the music committee was authorized to purchase singing books suitable for the use of the club.

The literary part of the program opened with roll call and quotations which brought out a good many happy and humorous things.

Mrs. Hiram Lighthall gave a pretty instrumental selection which was followed by a select reading from Miss Mantie Spaulding, both being well received.

Mrs. Emma Boynton's excellent talk on "What can be done to make life more pleasant for women on the farm?" contained many good thoughts and showed all through it that the speaker was well satisfied that her life had been spent among the happy scenes of farm surroundings. The gentlemen seemed to lead in the discussion of this peculiarly woman's subject, and all seemed to be only too willing to see the women have as pleasant and easy a time as it was possible for them to have.

A vocal duet, "Those Village Bells," by Mrs. Fannie Ward and Miss Abbie Chase was very pleasingly rendered and was warmly applauded.

S. A. Mapes read a good paper on "Is carelessness a greater hindrance to commercial success than laziness?" In the discussion that followed he complained that the speakers talked all round the subject, but did not speak to the text. In this they were a good deal like many popular preachers.

After singing "America" the company separated for home well pleased with the day's pleasure.

St. Paul's Church Confirmation.

Next Sunday morning, March 27, at 10:30 o'clock, a class of 20 will be confirmed in St. Paul's Evangelical church by the pastor Rev. A. Schoen.

In the evening there will be a reunion of all the confirmants connected with the congregation, when a special address will be delivered by Rev. J. B. Meister, of Dexter. The service will begin at 7 o'clock.

Last Sunday morning the candidates for confirmation were examined, the examination taking the place of the regular services. For an hour and a half Rev. A. Schoen plied the class with questions and not one of the young people failed in a single instance, although the answers to some of the questions took 15 minutes or more to recite them.

Will Treat Deformed Children Free.

Any child of Michigan birth that is born deformed is entitled to free treatment at the hospital in connection with the medical department of the University of Michigan, provided the doctor present at the child's birth will certify that he was so present, that the child was born deformed, and that in his judgment it can be helped by treatment; and further provided that the mayor of the city, the president of the village, or the supervisor of the township in which the child lives will order the child cared for at the hospital.

A Happy Surprise.

About the most surprised man in Chelsea Friday evening was Chas. M. Davis. It was his 70th birthday anniversary and he did not place any particular significance to the action of his relatives bringing into the house handsome bouquets of cut flowers and other ornamentalations, thinking they only wished to do him a little honor by doing so. But when the door bell rang and the first delegation of his Maccabee brothers and their wives put in an appearance and the delegations kept on coming until 87 people had assembled, he was completely knocked out of the box and has hardly recovered from it yet. A very merry evening was spent in a social manner interspersed with the serving of a profusion of toothsome refreshments. As a memento of their visit and of the occasion the Macs presented him with a handsome solid oak leather upholstered mammoth rocking chair. The company dispersed about 10:30 well pleased with the success of their surprise.

Alleged Violation of an Injunction.

Judge Kinne has issued an order citing Jacob Rummel, Judson Armstrong and Bridget Howe to show cause on March 31 why they should not be punished for contempt of court for alleged violation of an injunction issued December 2, 1903, in which among other things it was ordered that the parties or agents absolutely desist and refrain from closing the gate at the outlet of Mud lake and from interfering with or impeding the natural flow of the waters in and over and along the outlet of Sugar Loaf lake and Mud lake.

The alleged contempt consists in closing the gate at the outlet of Mud lake.

Thos. Fleming is the complainant and swears that Judson Armstrong closed the gates and raised the water 36 inches and this overflowed the lands of Fleming.

A Farewell Party.

About 50 of the relatives and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wackenhut went to their home in Sylvan Tuesday evening and gave them a farewell surprise party, they being about to leave their farm home. A merry time was spent in playing games and visiting and a bountiful supper was spread from the good things with which each went well provided. Mr. and Mrs. Wackenhut will be greatly missed among their circle of neighbors and friends as their home has always been a great place for social gatherings both large and small.

Broke His Hip.

Harry Shaver is lying at his home on East street suffering with a badly broken hip. He had occasion to get out of bed at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and in some way fell down and broke his hip. He lay there calling loudly for help, but unable to make anyone hear him, until his daughter Mrs. Sam Tucker came to town at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. An entrance was effected into the house and Drs. Palmer & Gulde were called who fixed him up as comfortably as possible. It is a bad accident for Mr. Shaver on account of his old age.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following are recent real estate transfers in this vicinity:

Catherine Keenan to Henry Stofer, n e 1/4 of s e 1/4 sec 22, Lyndon, $700.

Very Delicately Put.

"I cannot live without you," he urged. "Do you know," she returned, thoughtfully, "I am very fond of experiments." "Experiments?" "Yes, So, just as an experiment, suppose you try it and see. I do not want to flatter you, but I have sufficient confidence in you to believe you will succeed." Thus it was demonstrated to him how delicately a thing may be put.

THE NEWS OF MICHIGAN.

Death Rate Increased.

The total number of deaths in Michigan for the month of February was 3,389, an increase of 263 over the total number in January. The death rate rose from 14.7 per 1,000 in January to 17.1 in February. There were 1,158 deaths of persons 65 years old and over, and the principal increase was in this class. Diphtheria was less prevalent. Pneumonia and meningitis increased, the latter nearly doubling. There were three fatal cases of smallpox and one of chickenpox. The sources of most deaths were tuberculosis of the lungs, 189; typhoid fever, 42; diphtheria and croup, 57; scarlet fever, 32; measles, 21; whooping cough, 27; pneumonia, 487; influenza, 195; cancer, 128; and accidents and violence, 155.

Miraculous Escape.

The Battle Creek yardmaster, Perry Hicks, of the Grand Trunk Western, had a miraculous escape from death Friday. He was switching and an engineer misunderstood his signals. Two freight cars came together as the result, and the drawbar of one being broken, Hicks's head was caught between the cars. By a miracle his skull escaped fracture, but his jaw was broken and left ear nearly torn off. Hicks was carried five feet with his head thus caught and so great was the pressure that blood spurted through the pores of his cheeks. The police quickly removed him in an ambulance to Nichols hospital and he will survive.

Pinkey Little Woman.

To the heroism of a little school teacher who was returning afoot from her day's teaching at Melita, Arenac county, Moses Steinburn, a peddler, owes his life. At the risk of drowning herself, Miss Anna Pearl Cunningham rescued the north-country merchant as his benumbed fingers were slipping edgeward on the broken ice in Rifle river, he having driven into a place where ice cutters had been harvesting. Steinburn, desperately tugging to get the horse out, slipped in himself, and there was no hold on the broken ice to hang to and get out.

More Boogie Trials.

All the water cases were called Tuesday in the Grand Rapids superior court at the opening of the March term. Appearances were all entered, and the cases were put over for one week. It is expected that the first case to be taken up will be that of ex-Senator Burns. Mr. Burns will probably fight for a change of venue on the ground that Judge Newham has expressed an opinion concerning the guilt of Burns. Those who have pleaded guilty will not be sentenced for some time. Sentence on Salisbury was deferred this morning until some time during the May term.

Benton Harbor Blaze.

The entire half block known as the Avery block, in Benton Harbor, and the Avery dock, were burned at 4 a. m.; loss, $25,000. The dock was a two-story structure, known as the old Milwaukee dock. It was built in 1861. The front of the structure was occupied on the ground floor by a Chinese laundry, feed store and carpenter shop. The Avery block was a brick, two-story, double front, occupied on the ground floor by a saloon and billiard hall. It was built in 1867.

Misfortune Extreme.

With his wife lying dead in one room, himself with both legs crushed and amputation necessary and his five children seriously ill with scarlet fever, Frank Johnson, of Muskegon, seems to have more than his share of afflictions. Two of the children are twins, born two weeks ago, for whom the mother gave up her life. Johnson's case has excited the sympathy of the entire city, and nurses have been employed to care for the bereaved family.

Michigan Left Out.

The state military board has advised that indicate the passing up of Michigan as one of the states for a permanent military camp for the regular army. The committee on military affairs, at Washington, has reported favorably on the purchase of sites in Wisconsin, Texas, California and Pennsylvania, and if the report is accepted it will certainly cut off all hope of Michigan obtaining a permanent regular army camp.

May Lose His Feet.

John Elliot, of Meridian township, was on a straw stack when it began to slide. To avoid being buried in the straw he jumped to the ground. He struck with such force that both legs were broken at the ankles, the bones protruding through the flesh. Amputation may be necessary to save his life.

A sock social netted $65 for Lansing Methodist church.

Smallpox has broken out in the camp of the Mishelson & Hancock Lumber Co. in Oshtemo county.

A new postoffice has been established at Loxley, Roscommon county, with Frank H. Kirkland as postmaster.

In comparison with the same period last season there is more ice in all the lakes and the fields are more expensive.

Sybrant Wessellius, ex-state railroad commissioner, was nominated at the Republican primaries in Grand Rapids for mayor.

Jim Collins, a Petoskey bartender, stabbed William Riley with a pocket-knife. The latter was taken to a hospital and will die.

A Coldwater minister surprised his congregation last Sunday by requesting that the ladies remove their hats during the services.

An old-time revival was started in Three Rivers Monday night, and Satan will be given a merry time for the next few weeks.

Survives a Broken Neck.

William H. Gray, aged 37, who has been at a Detroit hospital for several weeks hovering between life and death as a result of a broken neck, will be discharged from that institution in a few days cured. Dr. E. B. Smith has had charge of the case with the physicians at the hospital. Gray's wife is now confined to her home by illness. While Gray is considered cured, he will never be able to do heavy work again, and the only thing that worries him is the fact that he has not a cent, and will have to make a living for himself and wife.

Wicked Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo bears an evil reputation throughout the state, and it is growing stronger each day. Scores of young girls who go there in the expectation of finding work, are led astray, and in a short time are picked up in an intoxicated condition, or upon the verge of suicide. A number of philanthropic societies are taking steps to establish an institution for this class of girls, as at present most of them have to be taken to the jail for lodging.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

Hiram Lopper, of Ionia, pleaded guilty in the United States district court to raising $1 bills to $5.

Fruit growers and shippers in the western part of the state are getting ready for the coming season.

A 17-year-old girl from Avoca fell in bad company in Port Huron, was arrested for intoxication and sent home.

A girl charged with truancy by her mother in a Kalamazoo court turned the tables by introducing her husband.

The voters of Montrose at the recent election turned down a proposition to bond the village for $700 for the erection of a city hall and engine house.

Those who have been subscribing for a home paper, paying $1, and promised a set of dishes, receive a receipt later signed U. R. Dumaglin.

The barn of A. J. Cook, of Valley Center was burned recently. Several cows, one horse and some farm machinery were destroyed. No insurance.

Ludington is waking up to the fact that the town needs schools and factories and $65,000 will be raised this spring to begin work on new buildings.

Frank C. Andrews has gone to New York, with Gov. Bliss's consent, for the purpose of negotiating his Mexican concession, which he claims is valuable.

Miss Hannah Greenwood, an employee of the state public school, Coldwater, died from blood poisoning caused by cutting her hand.

Fire in the governor's private office at the state capitol Wednesday destroyed the governor's desk and the carpet before it was put out.

The last of the smallpox cases in which the Branch county supervisors refused to pay the amount charged by physicians two years ago was settled Wednesday, the county allowing Dr. J. H. Anderson his bill in full—$800—the plaintiff throwing off the interest.

Mrs. Willard Pugh, of New York, tells the attorney general that a Lansing Shylock charged her 70 per cent interest. She paid $30 on a loan of $17. Congressman Lucking, of Detroit, has expressed his willingness to introduce a bridge bill as soon as the railroads agree to its light, approach and location.

Frank Coe, the Gogebic county prisoner who escaped from the penitentiary and boarded an eastbound train, was captured at Shingleton and returned to prison.

Joshua Calhoun, of Marshall, who claimed to be 116 years old, died in the poorhouse Saturday. The superintendent, who had long known Calhoun and his family, fixes his age at 107.

John Macauley, aged 28, attempted to catch on to a moving freight train at Sterling. He fell and both legs and one arm were cut off. He cannot survive.

Postmaster Thomas Williams, of Dryden, will soon be in receipt of his pension. The bill has passed both houses of congress, has been signed by President Roosevelt.

Negotiations are being carried on with a view of getting the Hank Lumber Co. to rebuild its plant at Cheboygan instead of on the former site at Haakwood, near Wolverine.

Col. J. Jay Drake, of St. Joseph, now over 70 years of age, who cast his first vote for Fremont, is a candidate for justice of the peace this spring. He is at present supervisor for the third ward.

The village of Armada, in Macomb county, failed to hold an election this spring, so the old officers will hold over. The voters forgot all about it, it is said, and no caucuses were called or nominations made.

Francis Schetterly, who was born in Peninsula township 50 years ago, is dead of paralysis on the same farm where he was born. His father, who survives him, was one of the first settlers of the township.

Charlie Ross, a poor unfortunate with a face so hideous that he had been exhibited as the "original wild man," died in the Genesee county house Wednesday. He was exhibited last fall at the state fair.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Port Huron will try what effect a vigorous kick will have on the proposition of the Michigan State Telephone Co. to raise rates from $18 and $24 to $24 and $30.

Only six bids were received for the $100,000 bond issue for Oakland county's new courthouse. Two were thrown out, not being accompanied by the necessary certified check. The other four were disappointingly low.

Farmers around Honor are losing cattle in large numbers from a strange epidemic. Some people think water from the brooks on which the chemical works are situated poisoned the cattle. An investigation will be made.

Twelve residence blocks in Kalamazoo are overflowed and the inhabitants are moving about in the district in row boats. Cellars are flooded and some houses have shifted on their foundations. The water is subsiding.

A blow from the fist of Wm. H. Warren, a blacksmith of Hermanville, caused the death within a few hours of George Stalken, 65 years old, from concussion of the brain. Both had been drinking. Warren is under arrest.

The Kalamazoo beet sugar factory will be moved to Chippewa Falls, Wis., at once, having been sold to the Chippewa Falls Sugar Co., a corporation capitalized for $700,000, a controlling interest in which is held by Kalamazoo men.

H. E. Tremain, of Bay City, has bought three square miles of land in Alpena county, and will go into cattle and sheep raising on a large scale. One sheep raiser in Roscommon county cleared 30 per cent on his investment last year.

Congressman Lound will have the appointment of two cadets to the naval school at Annapolis this spring, one principal and three alternates being named for each appointment. The first examination will be held April 19 at Saginaw or Grand Rapids.

Farm hands are scarce. Every day farmers come to Dryden hunting for help without success. Conservative farmers say the wages demanded are practically prohibitive and more than the equal percentage of farms are rented and being offered for rent.

After being out 19 hours the jury in the Kalamazoo circuit court brought in a verdict convicting Claude Russell of criminal assault on Mary Prole. The parties to the suit are all prominent residents of Brady township. The girl is deficient intellectually.

While Arthur Eddy, of Saranac, was doing the chores the horse kicked the lantern over, setting fire to the barn. The loss on building and contents will reach $1,500 with small insurance. The barn was a new one, Eddy was badly burned in attempting to put the fire out.

Sister Alexis, who was so seriously injured in the fire which destroyed the Holy Rosary academy in Essexville a week ago, died of her wounds. Nothing is known of her, not even her real name. She had been a sister 27 years and came from Brooklyn, where it is said she has relatives.

Black River was a town, but is now a thing of the past. All winter teamsters have been busy moving the houses across the ice of Lake Huron and distributing them about on the farms throughout Alpena county. The moving of the houses was made easier in the winter and the town was moved from its foundations in the course of a few weeks.

Through the death of her uncle, John Jones, of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Matthew Lyon, of Mason, becomes one of 10 heirs to $200,000. She has already received a check for $10,000, and will receive $50,000 next week. She says that her brother has just died and she will also receive his share. Mrs. Lyon is of French descent and her husband is a Negro.

Rev. Nathaniel G. Phares, colored evangelist, was sentenced to 18 months in the Detroit house of correction by Judge Waddy, for raising a pension voucher for $7 87 to $17 87. He was holding revivals in Grand Rapids when the crime was committed.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Russians Win Victory.

Reports have reached London through Russian sources that there has been a collision between considerable bodies of Russian and Japanese troops and that the Japanese have suffered a reverse losing heavily in killed, wounded and captured. One report has it that 1,800 of the Japanese were taken prisoners. The reports do not state where the alleged battle took place, but it is supposed to have been near Wiju as the Japanese have been advancing on that point for some days.

The report that the advance guards of the two armies have at last come together is regarded as probably true, but in the opinion of experts the fighting, if there has been any, is a matter of outposts, the impression being that the Russians will not risk anything like a general engagement south of the Yalu. The ice in that river is about to break up and a defeat south of the river, unless the line of retreat has been kept open, which would be difficult if the ice is breaking, would mean the annihilation of the entire Russian force.

It is believed that the Russian troops in northern Korea are there for the purpose of forcing the Japanese to move slowly rather than to fight, and unless the Japanese have reached the Yalu and have attempted to cross, it is not believed there has been anything like a general engagement. According to the latest authentic advices received from the front it is not thought to be possible that the attempt to cross the Yalu has been made or can be made for several days to come.

Sailors Tell of Havoc.

Three Norwegian steamers which were released from Port Arthur have arrived at Shanghai. The officers refuse to tell anything, having been sworn to secrecy by the Russians, but members of the crews talk. They say: During the last bombardment last Sunday the Argo lay alongside the battleship Retvizan in the harbor, and one of the Norwegians confirmed previous reports to the effect that a Japanese shell fell on the Retvizan's deck where it exploded, killing 19 officers and men.

Scarcely a residence in the new part of the town escaped damage. Many of the inhabitants attempted to construct rude bomb-proof shelters. One shell fell among a crowd of sight-seers who gathered at a point of vantage and were gazing out to sea at the attack fleet. The shell killed 25. Three government clerks were killed while hurrying from the port admiral's office.

A cruiser lying at anchor a cable's length from the Retvizan, probably the Diana, was struck on the water line and set on fire. The sailors declare that 80 persons on board perished.

Slaughtered in Port Arthur.

News has been received from Port Arthur that several officers of the garrison, under the strain caused by the bombardment, have committed suicide, says a dispatch from Shanghai. The total number of casualties in the town to date is 265.

Nothing has reached London to confirm the report that a battle has taken place on the Yalu in which the Russians are alleged to claim that they captured 1,800 prisoners.

Advices from St. Petersburg say: Beyond the movement of troops to the far east, which is progressing satisfactorily and in accordance with Russian plans, the government's advices indicate little change in the situation. No official telegrams announcing collisions with the enemy had been received up to noon. The government had no information to substantiate the reported capture of 1,800 Japanese near the Yalu river and it is assumed that it would immediately have been reported if true.

The Destroyer Destroyed.

While entering Port Arthur on the 16th inst. the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Skorri struck upon an unplaced mine and was blown up. Four of the crew were saved. Viceroy Alexieff wires a report confirming the Che Foo account of the damage done to Port Arthur during the bombardment of the 10th. He says the story of a fire there is "a base fabrication."

The United States cruiser Cincinnati arrived from Chemulpo, reports everything quiet, with no news from the front. At the request of Minister Allen the cruiser brought two former Korean officers who had left Korea in consequence of their friendship for Russia.

Warnings have been received confirming previous reports to the effect that the Russians have laid mines along the Liao-Tung peninsula and that neutral vessels are obliged to show their colors five kilometers off shore and await a Russian pilot.

Rural Carriers Pay.

Increased pay for rural carriers is likely to be stricken out of the post-office appropriation bill in the house on grounds of being new legislation. Steps to amend and Lound have amendments for after increasing the salary to $850. Still another chance remains, if the senate is refused in the house, for the senate to grant the increase. Satisfied that a suitable mail boat for the Detroit river service can be obtained for $4,500, Senator Alger is unlikely to seek a greater sum.

Mormon Smith's Busy Day.

Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, was welcomed home by a family reunion on his return from the Smoot inquiry at Washington. His five wives and 32 of his 42 children awaited his coming at the Bee Hive house. President Smith kissed Mrs. Julia Smith warmly and his embrace with Mrs. Edna Sampson Smith, sister of Julia, lasted four minutes. Then he greeted his other wives fondly and kissed a few of the younger children.

Mrs. Grant Yagley, of Adrian, won a prize in a wood sawing contest.

Cuba Viewed by Dewey.

Admiral Dewey, who returned from the naval maneuvers in southern waters, called on President Roosevelt Saturday to present to him a personal message of good will from President Palma of Cuba. The admiral told the president that the people of the new republic were notably prosperous and that both President Palma and the Cuban people attributed their prosperity to the government of the United States. President Palma, after elaborating on that point for some days, said to him that they owed it all to this country.

Representative Lucking, of Detroit, the only Democrat in the Michigan delegation, will probably not be a candidate for renomination. Asked about it, he replied: "I have not yet made up my mind about the matter. There are some things which cause me to feel that I ought not seek another term."

Mourning the loss of his mate, taken away to Canada at the request of a representative of King Edward, the royal lion at the St. Louis zoological gardens is starving to death.

It is now suspected at Boone, Ia., that Miss Rena Nelson mailed herself the box of poisoned candy which caused her death. Mrs. Dye, who was charged with murdering the telephone girl for jealousy, expects to prove her innocence.

The bureau of corporations in the department of commerce and labor will begin its first active work next week by making an extensive investigation of the so-called beef trust. Inspectors will study the methods of the trust in Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and Kansas City.

Citizenship Regulation.

For many years this government has been embarrassed by persons who reside in the United States long enough to acquire citizenship and return to their native land claiming American protection. South American revolutionists have come to New York, stayed a few years, and returned to their home country to foment disturbances. When arrested by the authorities they have claimed American citizenship and escaped punishment. Armenians followed the same practice and returned to Turkey to make trouble for the Sultan. Not long ago it came to the attention of the state department that certain native Haitians had acquired American citizenship in New York and then returned to Haiti and aided a revolutionary party. They insisted upon the protection of the American flag and the United States had to help them out of their difficulty. To obviate a recurrence of this Secretary Hay and the Haitian minister, Mr. Lager, today signed a treaty providing that where a native of Haiti becomes a naturalized citizen of the United States and returns to Haiti and resides there for more than two years, he shall lose his American citizenship. This is considered an open wedge to a general adoption of the same idea by other countries and steps have already been taken to interest Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia, Italy and other nations by the movement.

Duke of Cambridge Dead.

The duke of Cambridge, former commander-in-chief of the British army and cousin of Queen Victoria, died Wednesday morning at Gloucester house, his Georgian residence on Park Lane, London. The title of duke of Cambridge died with the late duke, his sons being born of a morganatic marriage. His death also places at the disposal of the king a field marshal's baton as well as an order of the Garter. The wife of the duke of Cambridge was a burlesque actress and dancer named Arabrouther. She was very well known in 1840 or thereabouts and made a great sensation playing in burlesque at the Lyceum theater. She died in 1890. Neither the peerage nor other reference books mention her marriage, which was not recognized officially by Queen Victoria, although the latter visited Mrs. Fitz-george.

New England Shaken.

Earthquake caused a tremor throughout the entire eastern section of New England Sunday morning. Beginning at St. John, N. B., the seismic vibrations traversed the state of Maine, causing some slight damage to buildings in Augusta, Bangor and Portland. The shock was felt plainly as far south as Taunton, Mass. At Augusta, Me., lamp chimneys were broken and crockery was smashed. The vibrations lasted several seconds and in nearly every instance occurred about four minutes after 1 o'clock. Observers in Harvard astronomical laboratory say the shocks were the most severe experienced in this section since 1884.

Ohio Political Scrap.

The Dick-Herrick-Foraker contest split the Twentieth Ohio district congressional convention, which was marked by rough-and-tumble fights between delegates in a struggle for control of the convention hall. The Dick men were victorious. Both sides held conventions and two tickets are in the field. Congressman Bledier, the congressional nominee, on each, the fight being over the presidential elector and the national convention delegates.

A curious legal tangle is presented in a petition by the federal government, before the United States Supreme Court, to

"Ned," said the tall Irishman, rising and laying a hand upon his shoulder, "don't ye bave I'll be lavin' ye. I've seen the world, an' I must see it again, but wance in a while I'll be comin' around here to see the best man's country on the globe, an' to meet agin the best man I ever knew. I'll not till why I bave it, for that I can not do, but shure I do bave it, this is the land for ye. Don't be restless, but abide, an' take ye root here. For Batty, it's no odds. He's seen the world."

Battersleigh's words caused Franklin's face to grow still more grave, and his friend saw and suspected the real cause. "Tut, tut! me boy," he said, "I well know how ye wishes it. It's a noble gurl ye've chosen, as a noble man should do. She may change her thought to-morrow. It's change is the wan thing shure about a woman."

Franklin shook his head mutely, but Battersleigh showed only impatience with him. "Go on with your plans, man," said he, "an' pay no attention to the gurl! Make ready the house and prepare the bridal garments. Talk with her reasonable, an' thin try un-reasonable, and if she'll folly ye thin, to the end of the earth, an' love ye like a lamb. It's Batty has studied the sex. Now wance there was a gurl—but no; I'll not yet thrust meself to speak o' that. God rist her asy ivermore!"

"Yes," said Franklin sadly, "that is it. That is what my own answer has been. She tells me that there was once another, who no longer lives—that no one else—"

Battersleigh's face grew grave in turn. "There's no style of assault more difficult than that same," said he. "Yet she's young; she must have been very young. With all respect, it's the nature o' the race o' women to yield to the livin', breathin' man above the dead an' honored."

"The Consate o' you!"

"I had my hopes," said Franklin, "but they're gone. Let it go that way. I'll not wear my heart on my sleeve—not for any woman in the world."

"Spoken like a man," said Battersleigh, "an' if ye'll stick to that ye're the more like to win. Nivver chance follin' too close in a campaign agin a woman. Parallel an' mine, but don't uncover your forces. If ye advance, do so by rushes, an' not feelin' o' the way. But tin to wan, if ye lie still under-cover, she'll be sendin' out skir-mishers to see where ye are an' what ye are doin'. Now, ye love the gurl, I know, an' so do I, an' so does every man that liver saw her, for she's the sort o' man can't help adirin'. But, mind me, kape away. 'Go way,' she says to ye, an' ye go. 'Come back,' she whispers to herself, an' ye don't hear it. Yet all the time she's wonderin' why ye don't!"

Franklin smiled in spite of himself. "Battersleigh's Tactics and Manual of Strategy," he murmured. "All right, old man. I thank you just the same. I presume I'll live, at the worst. And there's a bit in life besides what we want for ourselves, ye know."

"There's naught in life but what we're ready to take for ourselves!" cried Battersleigh. "I'll talk no fable of other fishes in the say for ye. Take what ye want, if ye'll have it. An' bearken; there's more to Ned Franklin than bein' a land agent and a petty lawyer. It's not for ye yerself to sit an' mope, neyther to spin your life diggin' in a dusty desk. Ye're to grow, man; ye're to grow! Git your nose up, Ned, or ye'll be unwittin' classiyin' yerself with the great slave class which we lift behind not long ago, but which is follin' us hard and far. Git your nose up, fer it's Batty has been thinkin' ye've Destiny inside your skin. Listen to Batty the Pool, and search your soul. I'll tell ye this: I've the feelin' that I'll be hearin' o' ye, in all the marches o' the world. Don't disappoint me, Ned, for the old man has believed in ye—more than ye've believed in yerself. As to the gurl—bah!—go marry her some day, an' ye've nothin' more important on yer hands."

"But, me dear boy, spakin' o' important things, I rarely must be goin' now. I've certain important preparations that are essential before I get drunk this evenin'!"

Battersleigh's hand was on the door knob. "The consate o' you!" he said. "Thure, ye're a fine boy, Ned, an' I know of no conversayshun more entertainin' than yer own, but I fain that if I didn't get drunk like a gintleman this evenin', I'd be violatin' me duty to me own conscience, as well as settin' at naught the traditions o' the Rike Irish. An' so, if ye'll just excuse me, I'll say good-bye till, say, to-morrow noon."

And now there still fared on the swift, sane empire of the West. The rapid changes, the strivings, the accomplishments, the pretensions—and the failures of the new town blended in the product of human progress. Each man fell into his place in the community as though appointed thereto, and the eyes of all were set forward. To Franklin the days and months and years went by unperceived, his life settling gradually into the routine of an unhappy calm. He neglected too much the social side of life, and rather held to his old friends than busied himself with the search for new. Battersleigh was gone, swiftly and mysteriously gone, though with the promise to return and with the reiteration of his advice and his well wishes. Curly was gone—gone up the Trail into a far and mysterious country, though he, too, promised to remember Ellsville, and had given hostage for his promise. His friends of the Halfway House were gone, for though he heard of them and knew them to be prosperous, he felt himself, by reason of Mary Ellen's decision, in propriety practically withdrawn from their personal acquaintance.

Because of his level common sense, which is the main ingredient in the success-portion, he went easily into the first councils of the community. He made more and more money, since at that time one of his position and opportunities could hardly avoid doing so. His place in the business world was assured. He had no occasion for concern. For most men this would have been prosperity sufficient; yet never did Edward Franklin lie down with the long breath of the man content; and ever in his dreams there came the vague beckoning of a hand still half-unseen. Haunting him with the sense of the unfulfilled, the face of Mary Ellen was ever in the shadow; of Mary Ellen, who had sent him away forever; of Mary Ellen, who was wasting her life on a prairie ranch, with naught to inspire and none to witness the flowering of her soul.

So much for the half-morbid frame of mind due for the most part to the reflex of a body made sick by an irregular and irrational life. This much, too, Franklin could have established of his own philosophy. Yet this was not all, nor was the total so easily to be explained away.

Steadily, and with an insistence somewhat horrible, there came to Franklin's mind a feeling that this career which he saw before him would not always serve to satisfy him. Losing no touch of the democratic loyalty to his fellow-men, he none the less clearly saw himself in certain ways becoming inexorably separated from his average fellow-man. The executive instinct was still as strong within him, but he felt it more creative, and he longed for finer material than the seamy side of man's petty strifes with man, made possible under those artificial laws which marked man's compromise with Nature. Longing for the satisfying, for the noble things, he found himself irresistibly facing toward the past, and irresistibly convinced that in that past, as in the swiftly marching present, there might be some lesson, not ignoble and not uncomfortable. Horrified that he could not rest in the way that he had chosen, distracted at these intangible desires, he doubted at times his perfect sanity; for though it seemed there was within him the impulse to teach and to create, he could not say to himself what or how was to be the form, whether mental or material, of the thing created, the thing typified, the thing which he would teach.

Of such travail, of such mould, have come great architects, great engineers, great writers, musicians, painters, indeed great men of affairs, beings who stand by the head and shoulders above other men as leaders. The nature of such men is not always at the first assured, the imprimitive seal not always surely set on, so that of one thus torn to his inner self it may be mere accident which shall determine whether it is to be great artist or great artisan that is to be born again.

To Franklin, dreaming as he woke or slept, there sometimes waned a hand, there sometimes sounded a voice, as that which of old summoned the prophet in the watches of the night. Neither in his waking nor his sleeping hours could he call this spirit into materialization, however much he longed to wrestle with it finally. It remained only to haunt him vaguely, to join with the shade of Mary Ellen the Cruel to set misery on a life which he had thought happily assured.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Great Cold.

The land lay trusting and defenceless under a cynical sky, which was unthreatening but mocking. Dotting a stretch of country thirty miles on either side of the railway, and extending as far to the east and west along its line, there were scattered hundreds of homes, though often these were separated one from the other by many miles of open prairie. Most of them contained families. Men had brought hither their wives and children—little children, sometimes babes, tender, needful of warmth and care. For these stood guardian the gaunt coal chutes of the town, with the demands of a population of twenty-five hundred, to say nothing of the settlers round about, a hundred tons for a thousand families, scattered, dwelling out along breaks and coulees, and on worn hill-sides, and at the ends of long, faint, wandering trails, which the first whirl of snow would softly and cruelly wipe away.

Yet there was no snow. There had been none the winter before. The trappers and skin-hunters said that the winter was rarely severe. The railroad men had ranged west all the winter, throats exposed and coats left at the wagons. It was a mild country, a gentle, tender country. In this laughing sky who could see any cynicism?

One morning the sun rose with a swift bound into a cloudless field. The air was mild, dead absolutely silent and motionless. The wires along the railway alone sang loudly, as though in warning—a warning unfounded and without apparent cause. Yet the sighing in the short grass was gone. In the still air the smokes of the town rose directly upright; and answering to them faint, thin spires rose here and there far out over the prairies, all straight, unswerving, ominous, terrible. There was a great hush, a calm, a pause upon all things. The sky was blue and cloudless, but at last it could not conceal the mockery it bore upon its face, so that when men looked at it and listened to the singing of the wires they stopped, and without conscious plan hurried on, silent, to the nearest company.

Somewhere, high up in the air, unheralded, invisible, there were passing some thin inarticulate sounds, far above the tops of the tallest smoke spires, as though some Titan blew a far jest across the continent to another near the sea, who answered with a gusty laugh, sardonic grim, foreknowing. Every horse free on the range came into the coulees that morning, and those which were fenced in ran up and down excitedly. Men ate and smoked, and women darned, and babes played. In a thousand homes there was content with this new land, so wild at one time, but now so quickly tamed, so calm, so gentle, so thoroughly subdued.

Faithful Dogs.

The faithfulness of the dog is well known, though not appreciated as it should be. Perhaps most faithful of all the species is the Eskimo dog.

We learn the following about this animal from the writings of Frederick Schwatka, who made a wonderful trip on a sledge from Hudson Bay to the Arctic Ocean. The sledges were drawn by the dogs, and he started out with sixty of them, returning with only nineteen, all the rest dying of starvation en route.

Says Schwatka: "They were, through all this terrible time, perfect respecters of their human allies, and the little children used to go among them and play with them by petting them with toy whips; yet the same dogs were starving, and should one of them die, his comrades would eat him. I notice this particularly, as some sensational writers have tried to make their readers believe that the Eskimo dogs are liable to become dangerous fellows, even to a powerfully built man, when simply hungry, and to be worse than wild beasts when ravenous. Any onslaught of Eskimo dogs is unknown among the natives where I traveled."

"It was pitiable in the extreme to see their sufferings, as they devotedly helped us along—many of them up to the very minute they had to be taken from the harness and abandoned along the road. As they dropped out along the way, we harnessed ourselves in their places to the sledge traces, and it was thus we were not compelled to leave certain parts of our load."

Perfectly True.

"He says he is in business for himself now manufacturing automobiles."

"Yes."

"And he claims not one of his machines has ever been known to break down on the road."

"That's right; he hasn't sold any yet."

Season for Beggars.

Even beggars have their "season" in Constantinople. During the winter months the city harbors a much larger number of them than in the summer, when many migrate to the country.

RACES NOW EXTINCT

NATIONS OF THE PAST THAT ARE NO MORE.

Countless Modes of Life Have Had Their Brief Day and Vanished—Their Names But a Memory to the Present Generation.

(Special Correspondence.)

The discoveries which are continually being made, both casually or accidentally, and by the scientific use of pick and spade, of the evidences of our forefather's lives and habits—back into the far dim and misty past—are suggestive in many ways. But it is hardly realized, perhaps, how not only countless modes of life have risen, flourished and decayed, and innumerable millions of individuals have made the brief passage of existence, but that very many distinct races of mankind, which once flourished vigorously, are as extinct as the mammoth and the dodo. Some died out ages ago at unknown dates, others have gradually faded out within recent times, while yet others are surely dying. Of some extinct races there still exist—if the bull may be allowed—descendants of representatives of a kind. But the Greeks of to-day, to take one example only, have little but the name in common with the Greeks of the heroic age.

Temple of Aeolus.
(Athens.)

The mere thought of Greece and the Levant is suggestive of races long extinct. The men and women of the Mycenaean civilization, for instance, of which such startling revelations were first made by Dr. Schliemann on the supposed site of Troy, and of which still more wonderful discoveries have been made during the last year or two in the Island of Crete—where can their kindred be found to-day? The Phoenicians—the intrepid merchant adventurers who in the dim past traded even to Cornwall—have no descendants who can be recognized as of the same stock. Further east, the ruling nations of the once populous valleys of the Euphrates and the Tigris have no recognizable modern descendants. The land where once agriculture flourished, where villages and towns clustered thickly, and the high towers of Babylon and Nineveh proclaimed the glory of Babylonia and Assyria, is now and has for ages past been a land of silence and vast empty spaces, a land of nomads, not of settled, flourishing peoples.

But we need not go to the Far East to come upon the traces of extinct

Stone age. "It was usual to bury the corpse in a sitting or contracted posture; and indeed, it appears probably, although far from being satisfactorily established, that in Western Europe this attitude generally indicates an interment of the Stone age; while those cases in which the skeleton was extended, may be referred, with little hesitation, to the age of iron." The most curious thing about this strange method of sepulture is that it is found existing at the present day among the Eskimos, some of the Tartars, the natives of Annam, and other peoples of Turanian race.

And the Neolithic folk were of more races than one, for, of course, the Stone age is a term applicable to a stage of culture, and the people who lived in that stage through a long period of time, were of various races. There is good reason to believe, for instance, that among the earlier inhabitants of England, or of part of it,

RADIUM A BLESSING

PHYSICIAN TELLS OF CURES IT HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

Diseases Which Had Been Thought Beyond the Power of Science to Help Have Vanished, Before the Action of This Marvelous Substance.

The experiments of scientists with radium are daily revealing fresh curative properties in that wonderful and precious mineral. Perhaps the most curious instance of its influence is that recorded below of the case of a somnambulist who was addicted to wife-beating.

This was described recently by Dr. Darier, the eminent oculist. In an interesting conversation which our Paris correspondent had with him he mentioned some curious results which he had obtained in his work by experimenting with radium.

He recently treated a case of rodent ulcer of the orbit, which had destroyed the ocular globe and all the tissues. Although the patient had for two years suffered from pains so intolerable that during that period he had not enjoyed a single night's rest, his agony was completely and almost instantly ended by the introduction of radio-active power.

External application of radium has shown that it is a powerful agent in calming neuralgia and rheumatic pains and in allaying the excruciating suffering caused by cancers which cannot be operated upon. On the other hand, Dr. Darier is bound to admit that he failed to obtain any definite result in so far as an improvement of the vision itself is concerned, and he does not regard as serious the talk of those who speak of restoring sight to the blind.

In a case treated by the doctor a woman who had long suffered from epileptic fits and giddiness has not had a single attack since radium of weak intensity was applied to the temple.

"Radium was also tried with success," said Dr. Darier, "on a male patient who suffered from strange somnambulist attacks, during which he would get up, maltreat his wife and break everything within reach. Then he would leave the house and roam about the streets for two or three hours, at the end of which time he would return home, go to bed and fall asleep again. So frequent did these violent fits become that his wife left him."

"He came to me and I treated him with radium applications for twelve days. Then he disappeared, and I heard nothing more of him for about three months, when he and his wife came to tell me that the affliction from which he formerly suffered had gone and that they were living together again."

"I have since treated other nervous patients with radium, notably a lady who suffered from photophobia, or fear of the light. She was very neurasthenic and believed that she was ataxic. She could not walk without falling and her eyes were so weak that she could not bear the light of day and had to wear dark spectacles. I diagnosed her trouble as neurasthenia of a hysterical origin and I tried radium applications of a stronger kind than in the cases I have already mentioned, three hours per day on both temples. At the end of the third day she could bear the light without spectacles and could read and do needle-work."—London Mail.

MAKE WORK FOR UNCLE SAM

Careless People Overburden the Dead Letter Department.

The paternal assiduity of your Uncle Samuel is shown in the statement that the dead letter department is the most overburdened with work of any in the postal service.

The recapitulation shows that there were, in round figures, 10,000,000 care less people in this country last year. Specifying, it tells of an increase of 850,000 over the year before.

The book list makes a special heading necessary, as it amounts to 1,000 lists, each containing many items, books in English and all foreign languages, hundreds of the best selling novels in the last four or five years, many copies of Shakespeare and an inconceivable array of religious subjects. Miscellaneous paper-backed novels in stacks are found.

The jewelry list alone would stock a large store. There are hundreds of wedding rings, all kinds of timepieces, table and other silverware, secret society emblems and pins.

Humility.

Just the humblest flower that grows— If I may not have the splendor Of the rich, unrivaled rose— Let my life, resembling, tender To the little world it knows!

Just the faintest star ashore— If I may not blaze with glory, Rivaling yonder splendid light— Let its softened glow be mine; Let me tell "the old, old story" To some pilgrim of the night!

Just the scent of withered bloom Pressed between life's written leaves Linger softly in my room When I carry home my sheaves!— Lettita Virginia Douglas in Philadelphia Record.

Large Induction Coil.

The largest induction coil, which produces the longest spark for service in wireless telegraphy, is said to be the one which is used for flashing messages between the coast of Japan and Korea. It can produce, in fact, a miniature streak of lightning 45 inches in length, capable of killing any number of persons who might get in its way, and when in operation sends out something like thunder rolls. The entire apparatus weighs about 2,000 pounds.

peoples. They are to be found at our own doors. Hardly a month passes without some fresh discovery being made in one county or another of the remains of our ancestors, or rather predecessors, of the Stone age. Their places of burial are found, and their remains revealed in the curious crouching position characteristic of such burials, the knees drawn up toward the chin, and the body, or what is left of its framework, lying on its side. Lord Avebury remarks that there can be no doubt that in the men from those at present inhabiting the islands where the remains are found. And these Polynesian peoples of to-day are themselves rapidly dying out, and will by and by be numbered among the extinct races of mankind. The Australian natives are slowly disappearing, while in Tasmania the curious and quite separate race of people which were once the only inhabitants of that island, have become extinct within living memory. The last Tasmanian, a woman, died at an advanced age in 1877.

Doctor

Pronounced My Case Incurable, Said I Would Die Of Heart Disease.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Brought Good Health.

"I have every reason to recommend the Dr. Miles' Remedies as the Heart Cure saved my life. I am a large man, considerably over six feet in height, weigh nearly three hundred pounds. Some years ago my heart was so seriously affected that I never expected to get well. Doctors pronounced my case incurable. I noticed your advertisement in some paper and bought six bottles of the Heart Cure. I felt great relief and improved so I continued until I had taken twelve bottles. My trouble was organic and I never expected to be permanently cured, but thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, I have kept in good health and been able to follow my profession continually since first taking the remedies eight years ago. I am a musician, teacher of instrumental and vocal music, musical conductor, etc. I have taught all over the state of Michigan and have recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to thousands of persons in all parts of the state and have heard nothing but good reports of it. I have induced dozens of persons in my own county to take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as my word is never doubted by those who know me."—C. H. Smith, Flint, Mich.
"I am a druggist and have sold and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me, and I wish I could state more clearly the splendid good health I am enjoying now. Your Restorative Nervine gives excellent satisfaction."—Dr. T. H. Watts, Druggist, Hot Springs, S. D.

THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1904.

George B. Horton, master of the state grange, has formally announced his candidacy for governor on the Republican ticket. He is a strong advocate of primary reform for all elective offices.

That Coldwater doctor who posed as a weather prophet so far as to say that farmers would be plowing by March 15, must have been taking some medicine stronger than water that made him have such a hopeful vision.

If ever the farmers and taxpayers of Sylvan turned out to the caucuses they should do so next Saturday afternoon, March 26, to see to it that only the best qualified men in their respective parties be placed in nomination for the responsible position of supervisor. This year the state tax commission will make a special examination of each assessment roll in Washtenaw county and a few mistakes made in the assessment of the property in the township of Sylvan may result in the entire roll being raised and thus we shall have to bear a larger proportion of the taxes of the county than we should do. The candidate for supervisor this year should primarily be "a man who is on to his job." Such a man is William Bacon and you don't want to forget it when you go to the caucus.

The state Republican league suggests as a suitable resolution for adoption at political conventions, to express the wishes of the people for a law in regard to the direct voting for nominees for all offices the following:

"Primary election reform in Michigan means the nomination of candidates for public office by direct vote of the people. The great reforms effected in our general elections through the Australian ballot, inspire us with confidence to apply the same method in making nominations, so that every voter may exercise his sovereign right of choice by direct vote without the intervention or interference of any political agency. The people of Michigan demand the enactment of such a law. We therefore demand that caucuses and conventions for the nomination of candidates for office be abolished by legislative enactment, and that all candidates for state legislative, congressional and county offices be nominated at a primary election, upon the same day, by direct vote, under the Australian ballot.

Horace G. Prettyman, of Ann Arbor, was being harassed by a Detroit lawyer when he was on the witness stand in the circuit court Wednesday of last week, and being pressed with a more than usually impertinent question told the lawyer in very emphatic words that it was none of his business. He immediately apologized for his warm words and next morning when court opened made a full retraction. Judge Kinne in commenting on the matter said he was glad to hear the public apology as he could not have passed over such a breach of decorum without a reproof. At the same time he said lawyers too often went beyond the point of decency in harassing a witness on the stand.

The Herald is glad to notice this admission from Judge Kinne and hopes that at some future time when a witness is just as good as told by an examining lawyer that he is a liar he will remember what he has said and call down the lawyer for his breach of decorum just as hard as he would a witness. People who are obliged to act as witnesses, very often much against their desires, have a right to the protection of the court from many lawyers who have no sense of decency in conducting an examination.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of La Grange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For ulcers, wounds, piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Glazier & Stimson, druggists.

Miss Vivian Gorton celebrated her second birthday on the 24th inst., with Miss Edna Gordon, who will be two years old April 2, as her guest.

The North Waterloo M. E. Sunday school had a well attended social at the home of Hiram Daniels last Friday evening. Everybody had a good time.

Burtis Sweet, who left his farm one year ago and moved to Stockbridge, has moved back again. He knows now that the faithful farm is not to be forgotten.

The members of the southern half of the Munith and Grass Lake telephone have decided to put in the switch which was voted upon last spring. The switchboard will be at F. Wellman's.

Wm. Barrett's house burned to the ground last Sunday evening at about 8 o'clock. The fire was first seen in the attic, and was even then beyond control. The family lost most all their household effects.

Mrs. J. L. Moore died Thursday, March 17, of pneumonia, after a few days' illness, aged 79 years, 2 months and 22 days. Deceased was born in Huron county, Ohio. She was united in marriage in 1847 to John L. Moore. They began housekeeping in Defiance, Ohio, where they lived for 12 years. In 1859 they moved to Michigan, on a farm in Waterloo township, where they lived until her death. The family consisted of five children, two of whom have passed beyond, leaving two sons and one daughter to mourn her death. The funeral services were held at her late home, Saturday, March 19, Rev. G. W. Gordon conducting the services.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, an effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson, druggists.

Unadilla.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

to membership at the meeting of Chelsea Tent, K. O. T. M. M., Monday evening. As many as possible of this number will be initiated at a meeting to be held tomorrow (Friday) evening, March 25. All members who can do so are requested to be present.

The free will offering for the pastor of the Methodist church last evening was one of the best entertainments the church has had in a long time. Over 200 were fed with as toothsome a chicken pie supper as was ever set before hungry people, and the social time and entertainment that followed was a very pleasant one. The receipts were an even $290.

The Chelsea Ladies' Research Club and their gentlemen friends to the number of about 40 in all were the guests of Miss Edith Shaw at her home in Ypsilanti Friday evening.
While there the time was pleasantly passed in playing games, and dainty refreshments were also served. The party returned home on the "Owl" car bearing many pleasant reminiscences of their visit.

Rev. P. M. McKay, the new Baptist minister, arrived in Chelsea Monday and he and his family have got settled in the parsonage. He will preach next Sunday both morning and evening in the Baptist church. The Herald extends a hand of welcome to the reverend gentleman and his family and hopes that his stay among us will be a pleasant, useful, and profitable one.

Rev. T. F. Slattery, of Detroit, who has been filling Rev. John P.
Ryan's duties at Dexter, during his illness, was a guest of Rev. W. P.
Considine Friday and Saturday. Fr.
Slattery was pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart 26 years ago when it was a mission and he had not been here since. He was quite surprised at the great improvement in the look of Chelsea since that time.

There were 71 deaths in Washtenaw county during February.

Dr. Andros Gulde has had a Chelsea telephone put into his house.

The announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Prof. Clyde DeWitt, son of Prof. A. D. DeWitt, formerly superintendent of the Dexter schools, to a young Filipino woman. The wedding will shortly take place in the Philippines, where the groom-to-be is engaged teaching school.

On account of the storm Thursday night last the St. Patrick's day entertainment at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart was postponed. It will be given as originally planned on Wednesday, April 6.
Those having tickets are requested to retain them and use them at that time.

And now some meddling scientist has discovered that whiskey is not an antidote for snake bites. If science keeps on finding out things there will be no excuse for a man to take a drink. What will we do next summer when fishing becomes good —shall we be eaten up with snakes or drink cold tea?

The board appointed for the selection of a cadet for the naval academy at Annapolis will hold the preliminary examination in the dental building of the University at Ann Arbor, on Tuesday, March 29, at 10
a. m. All eligible young men desiring to enter the examination are invited to appear at Ann Arbor on that date.

Attorney Orla B. Taylor, of Detroit, son of James Taylor, of this place, gave a dinner party at his home in Detroit, to a number of gentlemen, among whom were Hon.
A. J. Sawyer, Prof. J. C. Knowlton and J. E. Beal, of Ann Arbor.
Three of the gentlemen present
Messrs. Taylor, Cady and Hunt, were graduates of A. J. Sawyer's law office in Ann Arbor.

While the remains of Mrs. Matilda Easton were being taken from her late home in Lima to Dexter last Friday, the hearse was tipped over while passing over the drifted snow, and the casket was thrown into a deep bank. The hearse, which belonged to O. M. Martin, of Ann Arbor, was considerably damaged. The casket was taken out of the snow and placed in a sleigh and the funeral arrangements were then proceeded with.

An Exposition of Modern Wonders

The World's Fair of 1904 Is the Greatest Educational Factor as Well as the Most Stupendous Entertainment that Was Ever Organized—No Words Can Describe Its Magnificence or Magnitude

Mr. E. E. Stevens, editor of the Minneapolis Union, visited the World's Fair at St. Louis a few days ago, and the following letter in the Union describes in part what his impressions were:

To Readers of "The Union": I have been through the World's Fair grounds again to-day for the third time since coming to St. Louis last week, and every day the wonder within me grows. I had imagined from the descriptions that the management intended to eclipse anything ever before attempted, but I had no idea of the tremendous size, the magnificent designs, the splendid settings, and the artistic beauty of the buildings. I was somewhat prepared to see something of the ordinary, but my mind had by no means grasped the splendors which will be open to the visitors to the World's Fair this summer. Of course the grounds and the buildings at this time are in a chaotic state, and the weather was unpropitious for pleasant visiting, but even with these drawbacks, and with nothing but the bare and in many cases but partially finished buildings to be seen, the

to send his children there, as they will never have an opportunity again to see anything approaching it, and they might travel all their lives and not see as much of the world as they will see here within the confines of this great Exposition. Every nation in the world will be represented, and a trip here will be a liberal education in itself. I certainly hope that every reader of "The Union" will take my advice and go to the Fair, even if it can spend but a few days there. It will be the event of a lifetime, and no one should deny themselves this much of the pleasures of the world, even if they have to deny themselves in some other direction. By all means make up your minds right now that you are going to the St. Louis World's Fair, and begin saving for that purpose right now, if necessary. And don't fail to give the boys and girls an opportunity to go. They will learn more here in a week than they will in school in a year.

I wish I could make this strong enough so that every reader of this paper would make up his mind to see the World's Fair, for I am sure every one who comes will agree with

New York. All are famous composers and their compositions have the originality and high merit expected for such a signal event. The several pieces will be played by the many bands in their musical programs during the Exposition, under the direction of the Bureau of Music.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Dozens of Unique Materials Used in the Creation of World's Fair Statuary.

Enduring marble and temporary staff, which have marked the statuary of past expositions, are not the only kinds at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, although more works of art carved from these materials are there exhibited than were ever collected at one place in the history of the world.

Many odd materials have been made up into artistic figures that eloquently proclaim the idea of the designer. Some of these unique statues are colossal in size and large sums of money were expended in their making. Birmingham, Ala., has built a

A HINT TO PAPA.

Youngster a Firm Believer in Benefit of Moral Suggestion.

Twenty times William Archibald Stewart had been forbidden to cross the trolley tracks to buy candy, and twenty times William Archibald Stewart had disobeyed. Patience had ceased to be a virtue with William Archibald Stewart's father.

"Don't be too hard on him," the mother pleaded.

But William's father had his dander up and his rattan handy as he summoned the culprit into his august presence.

"Willie," he said, "how many times have you been forbidden to cross the trolley tracks to buy candy?"

William did not answer, but stood with head lowered and hands ready to press to his eyes.

"Don't you know it hurts papa even more than it does you to have to punish his little boy? Now, suppose you had a little boy and you had told him twenty times not to cross the trolley tracks, and suppose he disobeyed you, what would you do with him?"

William swallowed a lump in his throat and threw back his shoulders with a visible effort.

"Papa," he said, "I don't think I'd like it. But—but I'd try everything in this world before I'd lick my child."

VODKA; DRINK OF RUSSIANS.

Is Much Stronger and More Injurious Than American Whisky.

Vodka is the popular Russian drink. It is to the Muscovite what firewater used to be to the aboriginal Indian. It provides him with courage when all else fails and he will fight to the death for it. There are eight vodka distilleries in the new town of Harbin, the center of Russian industrial and commercial development in Manchuria, and the inhabitants drink vast quantities of the product. Forty-six thousand men are in Harbin. At least 40,000 drink vodka. The daily consumption is 3,000 gallons, or about three-fifths of a pint each. That would make for every man about five gold dollars—nothing at all but for the fact that vodka is about 145 proof; that is, in each 100 gallons there are seventy-two and one-half gallons of pure alcohol. Vodka is as strong as schivowitz, three drinks of which will knock a man silly. For comparison, most of the American whisky sold over the bar is from 90 to 93 proof.

Growing Old Gracefully.

You are always as young as you feel; people never grow old until they think themselves old. According to Balzac, "a woman of 30 is most fascinating and dangerous." The fashionable age for a society woman is without doubt between 30 and 40.

Never either admit your age or give landmarks which will enable others to guess it rightly. Take plenty of exercise, move briskly and speak firmly. Take a half hour's rest in the middle of the day; nothing conduces more to a good appearance. It renews strength and freshens the complexion.

The want of occupation does not conduce to youth or to rest. "A mind quite vacant is a mind distressed." Energy keeps the muscles elastic, and romance is an amulet against wrinkles. Defy time by keeping your heart young. It is envy, loss of heart and impatience that bring lines to the face.

On the Joy of Books.

As far as letters are concerned I live by books alone and live very well, too. I have sometimes tried to estimate how much of my life joy books stand for. I have asked myself what would become of me if books were forbidden, and my answer has ever been that without books I should wither away and die. All this to the man for whom books are mere entertainment for a vacant hour must appear mere midsummer madness, but to us who love them it is but matter of fact. I was told once by a loud voiced friend that I should be ashamed of myself for spending so much of my time in reading. "Why," answered I, "what better could I do?" He laughed and made the insane reply that time was money. Maybe it is, but I spend my time and my money in purchasing for myself the pleasure that satisfies me most, books, books to love and read.—The Academy.

Song.

I love thee as the wind of night
Adores the summer rose,
And ever in the silver light
His homage soft bestows:
With joy, because her lovely face
Hath bound him with a spell;
In woe, because her matchless grace
His song can never tell.

I love thee as the forest brook
The fragile woodland fern,
Love murmuring through the shadowed brook
At every pebbled turn;
With rapture, that she bends so near,
The shy and trembling leaf
In pain, he cannot stay to hear.
Sweet answer to his grief,
—Samuel Minturn Peck, in Boston Transcript.

Patriotic Swede.

Andrew H. Bergstrom, of a firm of contractors at St. Louis, has agreed with the Swedish world's fair commission to put together their national pavilion free of all cost. The building was erected at Stockholm and has been shipped to St. Louis in sections. Mr. Bergstrom estimates that it will require the services of 150 men three days to put the building together.

Ohio's Oldest Oddfellow.

Laban W. Haughey, of South Charleston, O., has received the veteran degree in Odd Fellowship on account of his long membership in the order. Mr. Haughey was initiated into the order in 1852 and is now the oldest living member in Ohio.

SHE REMAINED A BIRD.

Strange Coincidences in Life of a Kentucky Woman.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin started early in life to feather her nest well, and has always had her eye on the main chance. She began life as Elizabeth Bird of Harrison county, near Paris, Ky. Her first venture outside of the home nest was when she married Bud Martin. When Mr. Martin died she married Edward Crow, a farmer. When the time came to change nests she allied herself with William Robbin, and lived happily until the matrimonial season for Mrs. Robbin again rolled around. Then David Buzzard, a widower, more attractive personally and socially than his name would indicate, appeared, and Mrs. Robbin became Mrs. Buzzard. Into the Buzzard roost Mrs. Buzzard carried one little Martin, two little Crows, and one little Robbin. One little Buzzard was already there to welcome the other birds.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Blind Cave-Fishes.

An interesting addition has recently been made to the Natural History Museum, South Kensington, London, by the receipt of specimens of some of the blind cave-fishes of Cuba. The special interest of these fishes lies in the fact that their alliance is with salt-water fishes which exist in the neighboring sea, and not with fresh water fishes, as is the case with Amblyopsis and its allies of the great cave of Kentucky. There can be little doubt that the Cuban caves in which the blind fishes are found were formerly in communication with the sea, and that the ancestors of these fishes entered the caves from the adjacent ocean.

Queer Will Pronounced Valid.

Recently a very singular case of will-making came to light in an English court. A lady, possessed of considerable property, was paralyzed, so she sent for her solicitor to dispose of her estate. Bereft of speech, she was unable to give directions. The solicitor wrote down the various items on so many cards; then on other cards he wrote the names of the lady's family. That done, he "dealt" the cards. As he did so his client coupled property with names, and he was able to draw up the will. It was declared good by the court.

Essence of Orange Leaves.

A remarkable industry of Paraguay is the preparation of essence of orange leaves. More than 150 years ago the Jesuit priests, who then ruled that secluded country, imported orange seeds and planted groves, which have now become immense forests, filled with small establishments for extracting the essence, which is exported to France and the United States for use in soap and perfumery making. It is also employed by the natives in Paraguay as a healing ointment and a hair tonic.

Historic Candlestick.

W. P. Gannett of Providence has a tiny silver candlestick that is not for sale. Edward Everett gave it, many years ago, to Daniel Webster. It stood on the library table at Marshfield, holding the little wax taper for heating the sealing wax. Webster's grandson and namesake gave it to Mr. Gannett.

Federal Life Insurance.

The Russian government has elaborated statutes on general life insurance by the state. The business is to be entrusted to the governmental savings banks. All kinds of policies will be issued and the insured will participate in the profits of the business.

DOCTOR DID IT.

Put on 36 Pounds by Food.

Feed a physician back to health and he gains an experience that he can use to benefit others. For this reason Grape-Nuts food is daily recommended to patients by hundreds of physicians who have cured themselves of stomach trouble. One doctor says:

"Although a physician and trying to aid and assist my fellow beings to enjoy good health it must be admitted I formerly did not enjoy the best of health myself. In January, 1899, I only weighed 119 pounds. At this time I was living in the Ohio Valley and began to think I had about seen my best days. One day about 3 years ago I had an opportunity to try Grape-Nuts food for my breakfast. I liked it so well that I ate three teaspoonsfuls three times a day and have regularly used it up to the present time, and I now weigh 155, a gain of 36 pounds and enjoy the best of health.

"Not only has Grape-Nuts made this wonderful change in me, but through it I have helped my friends, relatives and patients. The sustaining power of this food is simply wonderful."

"I have one patient who is a section hand on the C. & O. R. R. who eats nothing in the morning but four tablespoonsful of Grape-Nuts and yet does his very hard work up to lunch time and enjoys the best of health and strength.

"I could name a great many cases like this and I still prescribe Grape-Nuts in my practice every day." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ask any physician about the scientific principles on which Grape-Nuts food is made. He'll tell you the principles are perfect.

Then a 10 days' trial proves that the principles are carried out in the food ("all the good of the grains so treated that anyone can digest it all") Shown in renewed physical strength and brain energy.

"There's a reason."

Look in each pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

EIGHT YEARS OF TORTURE.

No suffering more keen than kidney suffering. Sick, aching backs; causing weak, stiff and dizzy headaches; lack of appetite and loss of sleep; keep you all tired out and spoiling digestion.

To have perfect health, you must cure the kidneys. Head how our man was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills after eight years of torture.

Henry Soule of Putney St., Hammondsport, N. Y., says: "For eight years I suffered constant agony from kidney complaint. I endured the worst torture from gravel and the kidney secretions were excessive and contained sediment like brick dust. I had to get out of bed from ten to twenty times a night and the loss of sleep wore me out. Indigestion came on and the distress after eating was terrible. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a complete and lasting cure, and after the symptoms of kidney trouble were gone my stomach began to work as it should. This lasting cure, especially in a person of my age, proves the great value of Doan's Kidney Pills more convincingly than could any words of mine."

Doan's Kidney Pills sold by all druggists; price 50 cents per box, or mailed on receipt of price by Foster-McBurn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for free trial.

WESTERN CANADA HAS AN EXCELLENT CLIMATE.

The Saskatchewan Valley Very Highly Favored.

An interesting feature of Western Canada is its climate. Those who have made a study of it speak highly of it. The Canadian Government Agents are sending out an Atlas, and at the same time giving valuable information concerning railway rates, etc., to those interested in the country. As has been said, the climate is excellent. The elevation of this part of Canada is about 1,800 feet above the sea, about twice that of the average for Minnesota. It is a very desirable altitude. The country has a very equable climate taking the seasons through. The winters are bright and the summers are pleasantly warm. R. F. Stupart, director of the meteorological service for Canada, says:

"The salient features of the climate of the Canadian northwest territories are a clear, bracing atmosphere during the greater part of the year, and a medium rainfall and snowfall. The mean temperature for July at Winnipeg is 66, and Prince Albert 62. The former temperature is higher than at any part of England, and the latter is very similar to that found in many parts of the southern countries."

At Prince Albert the average daily maximum in July is 76 and the minimum 48. Owing to this high day temperature with much sunshine, the crops come to maturity quickly.

Moisture is ample in the Saskatchewan valley, being about 18 inches annually. It is notable that about 75 per cent of the moisture falls during the crop months. Thus, Western Canada gets as much moisture when it is needed and with several hours more sunshine daily than land further south gets during the growing season. It is not difficult to understand why crops mature quickly and yield bountifully.

Winter ends quickly, sowing is done during April and sometimes in March. Harvest comes in August, about the middle. Cyclones, blizzards, dust and sand storms are unknown.

Millions Lost in Fires.

The annual loss from the burning of buildings in the United States is about $135,000,000, not including cost of insurance and the appliances for fire protection.

Salzer's Home Builder Corn.

So named because 60 acres produced so heavily that its proceeds built a lovely home. See Salzer's catalog. Yielded in 1903 in Ind., 157 bu. Ohio 160 bu. Tenn. 98 bu., and in Mich. 229 bu. per acre. You can beat this record in 1904.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THESE YIELDS PER ACRE?

120 bu. Beardless Barley per acre.
310 bu. Salzer's New Nat. Oats—per A.
80 bu. Salzer's Speltz & Macaroni Wheat.
1,000 bu. Pedigree Potatoes per acre.
14 tons of rich Billion Dol. Grass Hay.
60,000 lbs. Victoria Rape for sheep—acre.
150,000 lbs. Tonicite, the fodder wonder.
54,000 lbs. Salzer's Superior Fodder Corn—rich, juicy fodder, per A.

Now such yields you can have. Mr. Farmer, in 1904, if you will plant Salzer's seeds.

grounds are well worth traveling hundreds of miles to see, even as they are. This being the case, what will it be when everything is completed and when nature has combined with art to make this the fairest vision ever seen by mortal eyes.

It would be presumptuous on my part to attempt to give a description of the grounds or of the buildings, and when I attempt a description I am at a loss for words, and can only repeat, "Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful." The grounds are a natural beauty spot, and with the addition of the buildings, the statues, the fountains, the lagoons, the cascades, and all the cunning contrivances of art, the visit will be one which will never be forgotten, even if one should not go inside the buildings at all. And then the inside of the buildings—buildings covering acres and acres of ground, and stretching out for what seems to be interminable distances—when these are filled with the works of nature, of art, of science and of skill from every portion of the known world, who would be so foolish as to miss it?

I would make it compulsory upon every parent who can afford to do so, me that there was never anything to equal it and that the one who misses seeing it will never have another opportunity to see its equal.

HYMN OF THE WEST.

The Poet Stedman Has Written the World's Fair Hymn and It Has Been Set to Music.

Western folk will be charmed by the beautiful hymn written by Edmund Clarence Stedman upon the invitation of the World's Fair management. He calls it the "Hymn of the West," a title befitting so splendid a production. It has five stanzas, and Prof. John K. Paine of Harvard University, has written the music, which is no less grand. The first public rendering of this hymn will be on the opening day of the great exposition, Saturday, April 30, when a drilled chorus of 600 voices will sing it. Other musical compositions specially written upon invitation of the World's Fair management are a march by Frank Vanderstucken, director of the Cincinnati orchestra, and a waltz by Henry K. Hadley of statue of Vulcan. It is 50 feet high, the base constructed of coal and coke and the statue cast in iron. It portrays Birmingham's importance as a manufacturing center. King Cotton is Mississippi's offering. Cotton is the material used, and the giant is as tall as Alabama's Vulcan. The Spirit of Utah is manifested in an artistic figure modeled from beeswax. Idaho presents the figure of a Coeur d'Alene miner cast from copper. Golden butter was used by a Minnesota artist as the appropriate material for a statue of John Stewart, the builder of the first creamery.

Louisiana presents two curiosities in sculpture—a figure of Mephistopheles in sulphur and Lot's wife carved from a block of rock salt. California shows the figure of an elephant built of almonds.

World's Fair Notes.

SERVED AS MESSENGER BOY.

Congressman Hardwick Mistaken for One of the House Pages.

Congressman Hardwick, the boyish-looking man from Georgia, has had the experience that has befallen other youthful statesmen. He was standing close to the speaker's desk one day when one of the reading clerks, mistaking him for a page, said: "Run and bring me that paper that is lying on Gen. Grosvenor's desk." Smiling at the clerk's error, the Georgian did as requested. Half an hour later the chair recognized "the gentleman from Georgia," and to the surprise and mortification of the reading clerk, Mr. Hardwick, the beardless boy, who had performed messenger duty a short time previous, arose and delivered a long speech on the race problem in the south.

The Crinoline Is Coming.

The new skirts with their extreme fullness, especially toward the front, will be the mother of our old crinoline. Nothing but the stiffened petticoat will throw into shape the wide skirts of the immediate future.

In a week or two the Irishman was back at work. The day of his return, seeing him at his post, Mr. Wright asked him with a smile how he liked his beef tea.

"Shure, not a bit," said the old man, bluntly.

"Why," said Mr. Wright, "beef tea is delicious if you heat it and add a little salt and pepper."

"Well, sor, it may be good that way," said John. "But I put milk and sugar to it."—Los Angeles Times.

AMUSED MEN OF MONEY.

Conductor Forgot His Audience in His Earnestness.

What is known as "the millionaire's train" running from Morristown, N. J., to Hoboken, carries a number of men known to the world of finance. The conductor is David Sanderson, to whom his passengers, grateful for his uniform good nature and efficiency, have just presented a handsome watch and a purse of gold. They insisted on this making a speech and Sanderson did so, winding up in this way: "Some people wonder why it is I have had such great success in life; why I have had no trouble with nobody. Even the other conductors don't understand it and they often ask me how I get along with the drunks on my train, an' I just tell 'em—" Such a shout of laughter went up from the millionaires that Sanderson's speech ended then and there.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie on my back nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Surgis Dumber

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

Thos. E. Wall, of Ann Arbor, who has been a railway mail clerk since 1889, has been promoted to the position of route inspector in the rural free delivery service at a salary of $2,600 a year. He will be assigned to duty in the western division.

Stockbridge Brief: The laugh is slightly on our townsman, A. E. Fletcher. On Monday morning the church bells rang for a sunrise prayer meeting, and Mr. Fletcher had all kinds of trouble in finding his clothes and getting into them, thinking there was a fire in town. His wife finally helped him out by explaining the situation.

At the teachers' examinations held in Ann Arbor March 10 and 11 the following from this vicinity were granted certificates: Second grade—Eliza Zinke, Lillie Blalch, Chelsea. Third grade—Fred A. Lehman, Alma M. Hoppe, Chelsea; Fanny Ward, Kittie Guinan, Lulu Cullinane, Julia Tiplady, Dexter. Out of 50 who took the examinations, 32 received certificates.

Mr. Benjamin Kuhl, of Sharon, and Miss Nellie Casterline, of Sanilac Center, were married in the presence of a few of their intimate friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Strieter in Ann Arbor, Wednesday afternoon, March 16. Rev. W. L. Tedrow officiating. A wedding luncheon was served after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kuhl have gone to housekeeping in Chelsea.

Mrs. E. E. Brown, of Grass Lake, was the guest of Mrs. T. W. Mingay Tuesday afternoon.

The Misses Pauline Burg and Anna Corey were guests of Ann Arbor friends Sunday.

Dr. Wm. Stapish, of Anderson, Ind., visited his mother Mrs. Clara Stapish and other relatives here the latter part of last week. He returned home Saturday.

T. W. Mingay and wife, Chauncey Freeman and Miss Edith Boyd were among those who attended the "Ben-Hur" performance at Detroit Saturday. It was a fine production.

Mrs. Frank E. Jones and daughter, Frances, of Lafayette, Ind., are visiting her mother Mrs. P. Murphy of this place. They will also visit relatives in Detroit and Jackson before returning home.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson, druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

The Universalist church at Manchester is being remodeled.

The Arbeiter hall at Manchester has had new seats placed in it.

Sharon Democrats will meet in caucus at the town hall Saturday afternoon.

Albert Kiebler has bought Wm. Rehfsch's brick block, ice house, lots and machinery in Manchester.

Freedom Democratic caucus will be held at the town hall Monday, March 28, to nominate town officers.

Adam Wurster has purchased 20 acres of land of Henry Renau, in Manchester, part of which was the old ball ground.

Mr. Crane, of Bridgewater, sold 4,567 bushels of potatoes the past year. He will plant 30 acres of the tubers this year.

Fred Houck, treasurer of Manchester township, had no property to return to the county treasurer on which the taxes were not paid.

The heirs of the late Jacob Lutz, of Freedom, and the administrator of the estate have settled with his widow paying her $2,000 as her share of the estate.

Henry Musbach, of Francisco, will work the Goodrich farm in Sharon the coming season and Melvin Horning will occupy the place vacated by Mr. Musbach.

Henry Phelps has purchased the house and nine acres of land known as the Berry place, located three miles southeast of Francisco, and has moved on it.

Edwin Ball and wife, of Webster, were 25 years married March 16, and 60 of their neighbors and friends surprised them and helped them celebrate the anniversary.

Eight new stores are projected to be built on the streets around the University in Ann Arbor this season. Business interests seem to be rapidly centering in that neighborhood.

Henry T. LeFurge, of Ypsilanti, fell down an elevator shaft Saturday afternoon and alighted on the back of his head on the ground 10 feet below. He died yesterday afternoon without having recovered consciousness.

The Livingston County Mutual Telephone Co. will make rapid growth this season. Already several new routes of extension have been mapped out on which work will begin very soon.

Mr. Herbert Harvey and Miss Martha Musbach were married Wednesday, March 9, at the home of Rev. L. Katterhenry at Lansing. They have gone to housekeeping on their newly purchased farm, three miles north of Francisco.

The mill dam at Scio was torn down by the giving way of an ice gorge Tuesday afternoon. The whole mass of debris was carried on down the river with a rush and almost in an instant swept away the Cornwell dam at Foster's. The Ann Arbor Milling Co. is fighting hard to save its dam at Ann Arbor.

A company with a capital stock of $500,000 to be known as the Ypsilanti Oil & Heating Co., has been formed to bore for oil, which it is believed exists in large quantities in the neighborhood. Leases have been secured on 3,000 acres of land in the vicinity, and ten wells will be sunk at once to determine whether the oil is in paying quantities.

Undoubtedly.

Physicians declare that the grip microbe is getting a bit groggy and some of them assert that the disease will be extinct in ten years. It is a safe bet that something "just as good" will be offered.

Turned On the Light.

The man Calve is reported to have selected for his first husband and second love is Jules Bois, an interesting writer on occult topics. His one-act play, "The Devil in Darkness," was given only one performance at Montmartre. It was played in total darkness, voices of different timbre speaking solemnly a dialogue that quite transcended in mystic realism anything Paris had ever heard before. Unluckily for Bois, some envious rival bribed the gas man to turn on the lights in the middle of the act, and a half-dozen commonplace Montmartre singers of both sexes were discovered sitting on wooden chairs, all of them grinning over the misadventure. After that Jules Bois gave up the stage in despair.

Worship of the Bear.

The curious "hairy Ainus" of northern Japan hold the bear in extreme sanctity. They catch the bear young and bring him up on milk, a nurse being deputed to him. Then he is transferred to a cage, and when he is old enough to be slain, on the day of sacrifice the whole village turns out armed with bows and arrows, the cage is opened and every one strives to send home the fatal shaft. The chief prays the bear to pardon the violence done him, requests benefits from the now defunct carcass and presents offerings. They then behold and skin the bear and begin an orgy which lasts several days.
