SYLVAN CAUCUSES.

Two Warm Ones Were Those Held Here Last Saturday.

If you want to see a hot caucus come to Sylvan. This township can lay out the whole state when it comes to holding a caucus. Sylvan with 374 Republican votes at the last general election had a Republivotes than that number in it, while the Democratic caucus could muster up only 44 votes all told. Certainly, politics in Sylvan are hot stuff, besides being very costly for some township committee, called the Republican caucus to order, and W. J. pull off. Knapp to the chair. The chairman appointed B. Parker secretary, and on motion the two candidates for supervisor were allowed to name two tellers each. Wm. Bacon named J. Bacon and Geo. A. BeGole, and the chairman, acting for Jacob Hummel, appointed John Kalmbach and Fred Wedemeyer.

John Kalmbach nominated Jacob Hummel for supervisor and J. A. Palmer nominated William Bacon. Then the long files of men began to move and the largest caucus ever fore the ballot was declared closed Of these votes Jacob Hummel had 325 and William Bacon had 244. There was only one other contest and in which Samuel F. Guthrie, Otto pitted against each other. The latter won out on the second ballot. The ticket nominated is as follows: Supervisor-Jacob Hummel.

Clerk-John B. Cole. Treasurer-W. F. Riemenschneider. Highway Commissioner-Fred Mensing. Justice of the Peace (full term)-James

Schussler, Fred G. Fuller, Edward Little. W. J. Knapp was on motion elected chairman of the township committee and he appointed as the other two members John Kalmbach and

Fred Wedemeyer. DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democratic caucus had for its chairman Hiram Lighthall, secretary B. B. TurnBull, and tellers H. D. Witherell and L. Emmer.

The first shot out of the box was a motion to adjourn for one hour, which was carried.

When the caucus reassembled F H. Sweetland was nominated for supervisor by a vote of 25 as against 17 for Geo. W. Beckwith. The full tickes is as follows:

Supervisor-F. H. Sweetland. Clerk-Orrin Thacher.

Treasurer-Adam G. Faist. Highway Commissioner-James Ged

School Inspector-Frank H. Fenn. Justice of the Peace (full term)-Rollo

Justice of the Peace (to fill vacancy)-Hiram Lighthall.

Member Board Review-Peter Merkle. Constables-Frank Leach, Edward H Chandler, Geo. Main, G. Albert Young. A squabble arose over the naming of the township committee. One wing of the caucus wanted them elected by ballot, while the others favored the old time way of appointment by the chair. A motion to elect them was declared lost by Chairman Lighthall and he appointed Jas. S. Gorman, H. D. Witherell and Frank Leach as the committee.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson, druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00.

Beautiful Easter Services.

The joyous feast of Easter, or the Resurrection of Christ, will be kept at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart with beautiful solemnity. Special music has been prepared, and Easter and calla lilies, elegant palms and many lights will make the sanctuary very handsome.

St. Cecelia's choir, composed of young people, will sing some admirable Easter anthems at the first mass to be celebrated at 8 a. m.

At the high mass at 10:30 a. m. Emerson's splendid mass in E will be sung for the first time in Chelsea by the senior choir of the church. At the offertory Louis Burg will sing the tenor solo, "Christ is Risen," by Bischoff.

At 7:30 p. m. the Gregorian vespers will be sung with Peter's Magnificat. The Regina Coeli by Giorza will be sung by the entire choir. At benediction Miss Rose Conway will sing the "O, Salutaris," and the "Tantum Ergo" will be rendered by Louis Burg and choir. Rev. Father Considine will preach on "The Resurrection of Christ." The collection will be an Easter offering to the Dexter Democratic Caucus.

The Democratic caucus held at the town hall last Friday was an unusually large one, 88 votes being cast. There was quite a hustle for the nomination for supervisor between John P. Walsh, Frank Murray and James Walsh, the first named being nominated. Followis the ticket:

We stood, two quivering, new born, spirits, still warm with the enveloping veils of humanity, in eternity. We, who had owned such a small part of the world, who had lived such a small part of even the little thing called Life, were there in the eternity of spirit, ours at last, the knowledge of immortality.

Around us was luminous distance, of which seemed a part; it was like the soul of a radiance that one sometimes catches in infinitestimal gleam in the heart of something crystal. Waves of beauty and truth palpitated toward us, each covering us with fresh and ever fresh ecstasy, and we grew with each, more a perfect substance of the

And it seemed that when we heard the whisper of the curtain behind us, and another stood revealed where we had been. She still held about her the garb of the little way we call Life, and her face was pinched with requirements that had been. Her self on earth was transparent to us; nothing of all that had been was hid-because she had it not.

Her mortality had been an ever unfolding desire.

She had been pursuing herself, and herself had been pursuing the Truth. She had not felt love, and she had not felt hate; she had only felt herself. She had lived in the midst of life and never lived at all; her days had been filled with a thousand busy acts, and she had never done anything at all. Her name had been stamped on a thousand achievements, and she had never known the name of anything in the world.

His charity had been of this material, his love had been the same curious flaw. He had built hospitals and asylums and schools, and cared for mother, sisters, wife and children. Yet he had never felt the sight of a cripple or answered the yearning of unselfish oblation in the eyes of love.

His life was a fine procession of giving which his soul watched with thin pressed lips.

He had denied himself, and the self had denied the man, and both had denied the Infinite Spirit.

He sighed very gently and the shell of the little way melted from him.

We saw his eyes staring wide into the distance of Peace and they were filled with tears. Again the whisper of the curtain-a creature was there of horrible and awful design.

Evil, evil, evil was every fiber of the nature that had lived itself: She had done nothing beautifully that she could do harmfully. She had absorbed the good to make it bad, and her influence had been strong.

Never during her whole existence had the voice of the spirit spoken; it seemed that there was none save a thing of earthly allurement to speak, and yet we saw that the spirit had been there always looking on with the gaze of a child who does not understand the wickedness of the world. And we saw all that was terrible, loathsome and pitiful fall away as shriveled petals, and the soul, sim-

"Western Canada is the last unoccupied and unimproved good agricultural land in America available to-day." He then discusses its possibilities for raising live stock and the advantages it possesses for dairying, farming and wheat growing, and says, "What has been said about the country as to the abil.ty of the soil, the There was considerable excitement yield of wonderful crops of wheat, is quite justified."

To quote further from Mr. Heath, he says, referring to climate:

"These people (skeptical ones) do not know or realize that altitude more than latitude makes climates; that large bodies of water, both fresh and salt, that never freeze over, exert a wonderful influence on climate. Another influence on climate, more potent than those named above, which applies more to the Alberta district, is the warm Chinook breeze from the Pacific ocean, which is 600 or 700 miles nearer than Colorado or Wyoming, besides the Rocky Mountain range is not nearly so high nor half so far from the ocean as it is down in the States.

"In further considering the climate of the Canadian prairies, we should not lose sight of the fact of the influence of the rains; the total average rainfall for the season is but 13.35 inches for the territories, and 17.34 inches in Manitoba, and that the amounts falling between April 1st and October 1st are respectively 9.39 inches and 12.87 inches or about threefourths of the entire rainfall. From the middle of June to the middle of July there are over two hours more daylight in every twenty-four hours than there is in Nebraska. The main reason why Western Canada wheat grows to such perfection is the effect of solar light, or longer period of sunshine it gets each day. This is whatmakes seeds or grain more perfect, grown in this country than elsewhere. This extraordinary rapid growth of vegetation under the influence of this long continued sunshine exceeds anything known in lower latitudes.

"We do not wish it understood that wheat alone is the main product of this country; it leads in that, yet it is destined to become famous for its cattle, horses and sheep and for its dairy products. We saw more and larger bands of cattle and sheep grazing in Assiniboia and Alberta than we ever saw on the western plains of the United States. One band of cattle numbering 5,000 head were grazing on the rich grass, and sheep without number."

The government of the Dominion of Canada is still using the same energetic efforts which have been used for the past 5 or 6 years to settle up these western prairies, and on application to any Agent of the Canadian Government the settler will be able to secure a certificate entitling him to a low rate which will give him the opportunity of visiting any portion of Canada's grain producing domain.

Salzer's Earliest Cane. Another new thing. Can be cut sta times during a season and sprouts again with lightning rapidity. Next to Salzer's Teosinte it will make more green fodder than anything else; cheap as dirt and grows everywhere.

Of Salzer's Renovator Grass Mixture, just the thing for dying out pastures and meadows, Mr. E. Rappold, East Park, Ga., writes, "I sowed Salzer's Grass Mixture on soil 'so poor two men could not raise a fuss on it,' and in forty-one days after sowing I had the grandest stand of grass in the county. Salzer's Grass Mixtures sprout quick-ly and produce enormously." 100,000 barrels choice Seed Potatoes. SALZER'S NEW NATIONAL OATS.

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I never knew what it was to have good health. Every physician consulted said I had liver trouble, but their medicines did me no good. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures, the kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed one hundred pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every

Dr. Miles' Nervine Permanently Cured Me.

"A year ago I suffered from extreme nervous stomach trouble. I was afraid of everything, could not bear to hear singing or music and reading or hearing of a death nearly brought on my own. I could not sleep or hardly lie down, the back of my head hurt me so badly I nearly went crasy. My shoulders hurt and the least thing I did would bring on an attack of extreme nervousness. There were times when I would have a lump in my throat and my mouth would be so dry in my throat and my mouth would be so dry I could hardly speak. I was in despair until I began to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I have taken in all twelve bottles and consider myself permanently cured. My home doctor has since remarked on my healthy appearance and said he wished he could say his medicine helped me. He knows it was Dr. Miles' Nervine. We are never without the Anti-Pain Pills and consider your medicines household remedies. I cannot say enough for the Nervine, because in addition to my own case my daughter, who was out of school for a long time because of St. Vitus' dance, was completely cured by eight bottles. She is now feeling fine and going to school every day. We thank you for your kindness and will never stop singing the praises of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine."—Mrs. C. E. Ring, Lima, O. ine. hare, knowing what was to be. Still | walked up and down, his face gone louder rose the requiem of the wire. The sky smiled on. There was no token to strike with alarm these human beings, their faculties dulled by a Cousand years of differentiation.

To the north there appeared a long. black cloud, hanging low as the trail of some far-off locomotive, new upon the land. All at once the cloud sprang up, unfurling tattered battle sags, and hurrying to meet the sun upon the zenith battle ground.

Once the wind pelted the slant snow through the interstices of the grasses upon the furry back of the cowering coyote. Now they found a new sport in driving the icy powder through the cracks of the loose board shanty, upon the stripped back of the mother huddling her sobbing children against the empty, impotent stove, perhaps wrapping her young in the worn and whitened robe of the buffalo taken years For it was only the buffalo, though now departed, which held the frontier for America in this unprepared season, the Christmas of the Great Cold. The robes saved many of the children, and now and then a mother also.

The men who had no fuel did as their natures bid, some dying at the sce-bound stove and others in the open on their way for fuel. Mishap passed by but few of the remoter homes found unprepared with fuel, and Christmas day, deceitfully fair. dawned on many homes that were to be fatherless, motherless, or robbed of a first-born. Thus it was that from this, the hardiest and most self-refiant population ever known on earth. there rose the heartbroken cry for comfort and for help, the frontier for > pinched and old. At dawn the wind lulled. clouds swept by and the sun shon. for an hour over a vast landscapa buried under white. Sam was ready to start, having worked half the night making runners for a sled at which his wild team snorted in the terror of unacquaintedness. The sled box was piled full of robes and coal and food and liquor-all things that seemed needful and which could hurriedly be secured.

With perfect horsemanship Sam drove his team rapidly on to the south, five miles, ten miles, fifteen, the horses now warming up, but still restless and nervous, even on the way so familiar to them from their frequent journeyings. The steam of their breath enveloped the travelers in a wide, white cloud. The rude runners crushed into and over the packed drifts, or along the sandy grime where the wind had swept the earth bare of snow. In less than an hour they would see the Halfway House. They would know whether or not there was smoke.

But in less than two hours on that morning of deceit the sun was lost again. The winds piped up, the cold continued, and again there came the blinding snow, wrapping all things in its dancing, dizzy mist.

"The wind's just on my right cheek," said Sam, putting up a mit ten. "But where's it gone?" "You're frozen, man!" cried Frank-where Franklin sat on Christmas eve, | Woman. It can't be over two miles listening to the clinking rattle of the hard snow on the pane. Sam was white from head to foot. His face was anxious, his habitual uncertainty and diffidence were gone.

"Cap," said he, with no prelude, the whole country below'll be froze out. The blizzard's awful."

"I know it," said Franklin. "We must get out with help soon as we can. How far down do you think the danger line begins?"

Well, up to three or four miles out it's thicker settled, an' most o' the folks could git into town. As fur out as thirty mile to the south, they might git a little timber yet, over on the Smoky. The worst strip is fifteen to twenty-five mile below."

Franklin felt a tightening at his heart. "About fifteen to twenty five miles?" he said. Sam nodded.

Both were silent. "Look here, Cap," said the driver presently, "you've allus told me not to say tethin' buit the folks down to the Halfway house, an' I hain't said a thing. I 'low you got jarred down there some. I know how that is. All the same, I reckon maybe you sorter have a leanin' that way still. You may be worried some-"

Franklin groaned as he sank into a chair, his face between his hands. Then he sprang up. "We must go! he cried.

"I know it," said Sam simply. "Get ready!" exclaimed Franklin, we.ching for his coat. "What do you mean, Cap-now? tes, to-night-at once.' ""Tou d-d fool!" said Sam.

"You coward!" cried Frank!in. "What! Are you afraid to go out when people are freezing-when-

Sam rose to his feet, his slow featwres working. "That ain't right, Cap," said he. "I know I'm scared to do some things, but I-I don't believe I'm no coward. I ain't afraid to go down there, but I won't go to-night, mer let you go, fer it's the same as death to start now. We couldn't maybe make it in the daytime, but I'm willin' to try it then. Don't you call no coward to me. It ain't right."

Franklin again cast himself into his chair, his hand and arm smiting on any sort visible, and the snow driftthe table. "I beg your pardon, Sam," ing thicker than before. They sprang said he presently. "I know you're out and righted the sled, but the not a coward. We'll start together in horses doggedly pulled on, plunging the morning. But it's killing me to down and down; and they followed. wait. Good God! they may be freez- clinging to reins and sled as best ing now, while we're here, warm and they might.

more. Git along, boys. Whoa! What's the matter there?' The horses had stopped plunging at something which they could not pass. "Good God!" cried Franklin, "whose fence is that? Are we at Buford's?"

"No," said Sam, "this must be at old man Hancock's. He fenced across the old road, and we had to make a jog around his d-d broom-corn field. It's only a couple o' miles now. to Buford's."

"Shall I tear down the fence?" asked Franklin.

"No, it's no use; it'd only let us in his field, an' maybe we couldn't hit the trail on the fur side. We got to follow the fence a way. May God everlastingly damn any man that'll fence up the free range! Whoa Jack! Whoa, Bill! Git out o' here! Git up!"

They tried to parallel the fence, but the horses edged away from the wind continually, so that it was difficult to keep eye upon the infrequent posts of the meagre, straggling fence that this man had put upon the "public lands."

"Hold on, Sam!" cried Franklin. "Let me out."

"That's right, Cap," said Sam. "Git out an' go on ahead a way, then holler to me, so'st I kin come up to you. When we git around the corner we'll be all right."

But when they got around the corner they were not all right. At such times the mind of man is thrown off its balance, so that it does strange and irregular things. Both these men had agreed a moment ago that the wind should be on the right: now they disagreed, one thinking that Hancock's house was to the left, the other to the right, their ideas as to the direction of the Buford ranch being equally at variance. The horses decided it, breaking once again down wind, and striking a low-headed, sul len trot, as though they would outmarch the storm. And so the two argued, and so they rode, until at last there was a lurch and a crash, and they found themselves in rough going, the sled half overturned, with no fence, no house, no landmark of which looked questioningly back at him, their heads drooping, their breath freezing upon their coats in spiculae of white.

"Wait!" cried Franklin. "I know this hole! I've been here before. The team's come here for shelter-"

"Oh, it's the White Woman breaks -why, sure!" cried Sam in return. "Yes, that's where it is. We're less than half a mile from the house. Wait, now, and let me think. I've got to figure this out a while."

"It's off there," said Sam, pointing across the coulee: "but we can't get there."

"Yes, we can, old man; yes, we can!" insisted Franklin. "I'll tell you. Let me think. Good God! why can't I think? Yes-see here, you go down the bottom of this gully to the mouth of the coulee, and then we turn to the left-no, it's to the right-and you bear up along the side of the draw til you get to the ridge, and then the house is right in front of you. Listen now! The wind's northwest, and the house is west of the head of the coulee; so the mouth is east of us, and that brings the wind on the left cheek at the mouth of the coulee, and it comes more and more on the right cheek as we turn up the ridge; and it's on the front half of the right cheek when we face the house. I'm sure that's right-wait. I'll mark it out here in the snow. God! how cold it is! It must be right. Come on; come! We must try it, anyway."

"We may hit the house, Cap," said Sam calmly, "but if we miss it we'll go God knows where! Anyhow, I'm with you, an' if we don't turn up, we can't help it, an' we done our best."

"Come," cried Franklin once more. "Let's get to the mouth of the coulee. Everybody is Tired - Spring I know this place perfectly."

And so, advancing and calling, and waiting while Sam fought the stubborn horses with lash and rein out of the shelter which they coveted, Franklin led out of the flat coulee, into the wider draw, and edged up and up to the right, agonizedly repeating to himseif, over and over again, the instructions he had laid down, and which the dizzy whirl of the snow mingled ever confusedly in his mind. At last they had the full gale again in their faces as they reached the level of the prairies, and cast loose for what they thought was west, fearfully, tremblingly, the voyage a quarter of a mile, the danger infinitely great; for beyond lay only the cruel plains and the bitter storm -this double norther of a woeful priceless benefit. Christmastide.

The low moan of penned cattle came down the wind. They crashed into a fence of lath. They passed its end-a broken, rattling end, that trailed and swept back and forth in the wind.

"It's the chicken corral," cried Sam, "an it's down! They've been burnin'-"

"Go on! Go on-hurry!" shouted Franklin, bending down his head so that the gale might not quite rob him of his breath, and Sam urged on the now willing horses.

They came to the sod barn, and here they left the team that had saved them, not pausing to take them from the harness. They crept to the low and white-banked wall in which showed two windows, glazed with frost. They could see the chimney plainly, but it carried no smell of smoke. The stairway leading down to the door of the dugout was missing, the excavation which held it was drifted full of snow, and the snow bore no track of human foot. All was white and silent. It might have been a vault far in the frozen northern

OMEN IN THE WAR.

Doves Fly Away From Japanese Prov-Ince on Punitive Expedition.

A Japanese newspaper solemnly publishes the following: "In Chikuzen province, Kyushu, there is a shrine known as the Hakozaki Hachimangu, dedicated to the well-known warrior, Hachimantaro Yoshilye, who flourished in the brave days of old. On the morning of the 5th when prayers for a Japanese victory over the Russians were being conducted by the priests, upward of 700 doves belonging to the shrine, dividing themselves into companies of twenty or thirty, were seen bathing in turn in the tearai-bachi, a big jar containing water, standing in the precincts. About 7 o'clock in the evening a tremendous noise was suddenly heard over the roof of the shrine, and in a moment hundreds of doves, after hovering for a moment in the air, started in the direction of the northwest, and have not yet returned. When the morning dawned it was found that only fifty or sixty of them were left behind as a sort of reserve, all the rest having set out on what the people call a 'punitive expedition' in the direction indicated. The people of that place believe that this singular conduct of the birds is a good omen in the struggle with Russia.

Diseases of Mexico.

The prevailing diseases of Mexico are of a mild malarial type, easily avoided by following simple rules of living and avoiding unnecessary exposure to heat and rain. About thirty miles from the coast the altitude is from 600 to 800 feet above the sea, and in this region the climate is exceptionally agreeable. Here, as elsewhere one is exposed to sickness, but if the common laws of health are observed one will experience no greater amount of illness than he would in his own country and live just as long, if not nglishmen and Americans Differ by Habits-Yankee at Dinner.

"In one respect," says the London Chronicle, "the Englishman, unlike the oreigner, uses both hands equally and that is when he is eating his dinner. The foreigner, not excepting the American, starts fair, with the knife in his right hand and the fork in his left; but as soon as he has cut off mouthful of meat the knife is laid down and the fork is transferred to his right hand before the morsel can be conveyed to his mouth. The process seems clumsy and prolonged to the Englishman, though he practices the same clumsiness in the other occupations of his daily life; but it might be interesting to know why we are ambidextrous over our beefsteak, while the canvasback duck, for instance, can arrive in the mouth of an American only through the medium of his right hand."

A Wonderful Discovery.

Broadland, S. D., March 28.-Quite a sensation has been created here by the publication of the story of G. W. Gray who, after a special treatment for three months was prostrate and helpless and given up to die with Bright's Disease. Bright's Disease has always been considered incurable, but Gray, there is a remedy which will cure it even in the most advanced stages. This is what he says:

"I was helpless as a little babe. My wife and I searched everything and read everything we could find about Bright's Disease, hoping that I would be able to find a remedy. After many failures my wife insisted that I should for the day when I decided to do so house and make a home for them. life."

A remedy that will cure Bright's Disease will cure any lesser Kidney Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills are certainly the most wonderful discovery which modern medical research has given to the world.

An Easter Hymn.

Awake, thou wintry earth— Fling off thy sadness: Fair vernal flowers, laugh forth Your ancient gladness: Christ is risen!

Wave, woods, your blossoms all— Grim death is dead! Ye weeping funeral trees, Lift up your head! Christ is risen!

Come, see! the graves are green;
It is light; let's go
Where our loved ones rest
In hope below!
Christ is risen!

All is fresh and new,
Full of spring and light;
Wintry heart, why wear'st the hue
Of sleep and night?
Christ is risen!

Leave thy cares beneath, Leave thy worldy love: Begin the better life With God above! Christ is risen!

Agnes' Easter Offering

We were a large family. Everybody in Washington boarded in those days, I think, except the President, the Cabinet and our foreign ministers, who felt it necessary and possible "to keep up establishments."

Our landlady, Mrs. Robert Livingston, was the widow of "Robert of Linlithgow,' the fine old English Livingstons who, as knights, followed William of Normandy across the Channel, and in 1674 founded estates in our country. A direct descendant from chancellors and barons! Stately old New York aristocrats, we called our landlady's little daughter "Lady Agnes." When she honored us with a cup of tea from Great-Grandfather evidently from the story told by Mr. Livingston's silver teapot, an inheritance from Robert the First and stamped with the family crest, we called her 'Our Lady of the Manor House." But that was long ago.

In those distressing days of civil war everybody came to the capital.

Her old home on the Hudson sold, ner property gone, Mrs. Livingston was persuaded by New York friends try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I praise God to come to Washington, take a large for this remedy met every phase of Senators and members, attaches and my case and in a short time I was clerks, easily found delightful rooms able to get out of bed and after a few for the winter. Families came to enweeks' treatment I was a strong, well joy the mild air and the roses and man. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my jasmine as they bloomed over our windows.

Thus we were a large family, and a merry one.

"Lady Agnes" was twenty-two, and engaged to Major Wood, whose New York regiment had for two years been in the thick of the fight, but was now for a few months stationed at Fairfax Court House, Virginia.

Next Sunday would be Easter! Already our children had packed their baskets with dozens of eggs; blue, scarlet and gold, for the egg-rolling on the president's grounds Easter Mon-

And we were to have a wedding in our family! On Easter Sunday! Lady Agnes and the Major were to make a home for some months in Virginia. With right royal good will we were to make this wedding the gladdest and gayest of all times. After years of peril, separation and anxiety, the good had come, and what so beautiful as Easter Sunday.

Saturday our big house was a floral garden. Senators and members supplied roses, lilies and jasmine from the Congressional gardens. Palms. azaleas and pale acacias from the great palm houses. Boys and girls searched over April Rock Creek woods for wild flowers and the little scarlet partridge berries adorned our tables.

Lady Agnes.

Nothing could be too beautiful for Lady Agnes. The ceremony was to be at the close of the vesper service in old St. Joan's church. Already the chancel was stately with palms, and lilies, while against the soft gray wall and over the open Bible hung a large white cross of lilies and white violets. Only a few touches remained for to-

"Lady Agnes and our Major forever!" sang the young people as we sat in the bright parlor Saturday evening. Never a gladdier, merrier evening together.

"A telegram for Major Wood." "Oh, that's nothing. Another box of flowers," laughed the girls. "The whole regiment will be sending Agne telegrams yet to-night."

"What did you say?" No voice could have spoken another word after looking into the blanched face of the Major as he quietly read aloud from a slip of paper:

"Be ready to march southward at 9 to-morrow morning. Report at F. C.

"GENERAL - . in Command." As Agnes looked into his eyes a great wave of color swept over her face, then went back, leaving it white as snow; hopeless pain whitened her lips as she folded both small hands over his arm and said:

"Come-we will talk-it-over." The silence of death fell upon us as we listened to their steps on the stairs and the door was shut.

Then we all talked at once, like the uproar of a battle or the turn of the tide in a storm.

"They must be married. We'll have the wedding now or at daylight." "Just see our gorgeous decorations." "Darling little Agnes! It will break her heart!" "Horrid old war!" "Yes, yes," said Senator W., "we must not postpone the marriage-and off to the war! Oh, God!" The Major went to a telegraph office. Agnes begged to be alone,

"just a few moments—to think." We sat about in idle groups. The clock struck eleven. Members from a late session strolled in, "just to see if everything was quite ready."

"Sit down, boys! The speaker will now call the house to order!"

"Oh, here comes the bride!" "No. father," said Dolly, "no bride! Dread Quietly read aloud.

I'm just going to throw my beautiful Easter hat into the fire. No wedding! Such a waste of lovely things, too!"

Dolly's father remarked dryly: Daughter, suppose you put your hat in the missionary box to-morrow?"

"What shall we do to-morrow? It'll take us all day to comfort Agnes," said Tom. "No. it won't, Tom," a clear, sweet voice said. "You are all cordially invited to be present at the marriage of-of-" "Hear! hear!" shouts and cheers filled the room, and the "invitation" was never finished. "Good! Hurrah for old Bob Livingston and his plucky little ancestor," irreverently spoke the member from

"Now, that's just right sensible, too." One old Senator forgot all circumspection and lifted Lady Agnes off the carpet and kissed her four

At daylight we were dressed in our Sunday best. Even Dolly's hat was beautiful by the early dawn. We gathered at the stairway to greet the Gir, sweet bride, in her white bridal gown with lilies fastening her long veil and Easter lilles in her hands. For a moment we choked and looked and felt like a lot of creeping children, as the big, handsome lover held her in his arms, so still-so long-with the pretty head on his breast, and her soft veil over him, and kissed her reverently and put her in the carriage without a word.

Slowly we walked up the aisle to the delicious, tender music of the organ notes. The birds sang outside the open windows; the sun rose up from the cast as if

The clouds of night were broken, Let joyful anthems swell. The Major looked as though his story of pain and separation, the perils of battle, the terrors of death, must be told in the one grand Easter prayer to-day, with his darling kneeling close beside him, with the stone of the sepulcher "rolled away" by angels!

He is risen, wondrous story! Christ our dear Lord is risen to-day. The light of victory shone in their faces. Unto Him did they commit their lives as they responded to the beautiful marriage service.

'Agnes rested her long-stemmed lilies across their clasped hands. She bent lower her bright head with a grace beyond her knowledge and seemed the loveliest Easter flower of all. The sunshine fell across her hair through the stained window, and the beautiful face of the Master, with John leaning on His breast at the supper, as it looked down from the wonderful painting, gleamed with Agnes smiled at the white cross and the sweet violets, then knelt in prayer, serene and strong. Their words fell soft and clear, and their greetings were full of joy to us.

We followed them down the aisle and out of the church, an impromptu choir, all singing Agnes' own song:

Bright Easter skies!
Fair Easter skies!
Our Lord is risen!
We—too—shall rise.
Pluck lilies rare and roses sweet
And strew the path of Jesus' feet.

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period - how to avoid pain and suffering and remove the cause by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenor rhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said: this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—MISS AGNES MILLER, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention. Fifty thousand letters from women prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regulates menstruction and makes those periods painless.

How Will You Vote.

All the voters of Washtenaw county will on April 4th be given an opportunity to express themselves by their ballot, on their views concerning the proposed hospital to be erected at Ann Arbor for contagions diseased persons. The question is one that has for sometime been agitated, but never before have the people as a whole been asked to express them-287 87 which will cost no small sum.

During the past few years it would seem that there has been working in our state legislature an element to force upon the taxpayers of our state innumerable unnecessary expenses along the line of the profession. Diseases have been added to the list of contagion which are ridiculous to think of and fumigation is now required beyond all reason and good sense all of which means dollars to the people. Voters, be on hand April 4 and say to Washtenaw county that you want what is necessary and just, and nothing more.—Saline Observer.

No matter how terrible your affliction may be, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure will cure you. It eradicates totally and completely any irregularity or symptom of Kidney and Bladder Trouble and puts those most vital organs in as perfect and healthy condition as in childhood. No matter how much you suffer nor of how long standing your disease may be, perfect health will be yours, if you use Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure, which has a record of forty-two years of curing—which never fails and cures even after all other medicines and physicians have failed.

Disease fastens itself upon you through neglect, nothing else. This infallible remedy attacks and destroys the very roots of disease. It kills disease germs of every kind and fortifies the system against them. It tones up, renews and invigorates the entire body. It completely drains out of the blood every particle of Uric Acid, Urates, Lithates, etc., which cause these diseases; no other remedy in the world does this. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless and leaves no disastrous "after-effects."

Cured by Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure After Doctors and Other Medicines Had Failed.

I had been suffering for the past ten months with pains in my back and stiff joints. I could get no relief from anything. I tried many doctors and used many medicines. I am happy and thankful to say that three boxes of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure entirely cured me. I can always cheerfully speak a good word for this wonderful remedy.
