BIG RAILROAD WRECK

Smashed Cars into Kindling Wood, Strewed Freight all Over the Tracks and Tore Up the Rails.

One of the worst wrecks the Michigan Central has had in this vicinity for a long time is that which occurred at Guthrie's west crossing Tuesday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. A double header train of general freight was coming east down the grade when one of the journals broke on the forward wheels of a box car loaded with lumber. In less time than it takes to tell it 17 cars loaded with gas stoves, paint kegs, sand stone, lumber, grain, malt and other merchandise were plunging one over the other, tearing up the track and landing in every conceivable position across both the tracks. Some of the cars were smashed to kindling wood and others are very little better.

Two wrecking trains and gangs of men were put to work to clean up the debris and put the tracks in order. It was 7 o'clock yesterday morning before the north track was open for traffic, and the trains that had been held up since Tuesday afternoon began to move east and west to their destinations.

INCREASED THE ASSESSMENTS

All Through the County.—Sylvan Hit for $385,842, Lima for $218,067.

State Tax Commissioners A. F. Freeman and Wm. T. Dust were in session with the supervisors of the several townships at Ann Arbor Friday, and when they had got through they had decided that the real estate assessment of the county must be raised $5,358,828, or a trifle less than 20 per cent. Last year the total assessment was $27,171,639, this year it will be $32,530,467. The raises made in the assessments of the townships in this vicinity are as follows:

Dexter.....	$ 83,945
Freedom.....	91,208
Lima.....	218,067
Lyndon.....	51,843
Sharon.....	99,004
Sylvan.....	385,842

The increase in the valuation of Sylvan is the biggest of any township in the county, $385,842, and Lima comes second with $218,067. Lyndon is next to the smallest raise of any township with $51,843.

Killed by an Electric Car.

Patrick Tuomey, of Scio, of the best known and most highly respected residents of this county, was accidentally killed by the first electric car going east on the D., Y., A. A. & J. railway Tuesday morning. He was driving out of his farm yard which is about 3 1/2 miles west of Ann Arbor, on the electric line, and did not see the car until he was crossing the track, as there is a dense evergreen hedge in the front of the yard. The same thing also prevented the motorman from seeing him in time to stop his car. Mr. Tuomey was 74 years of age and was a brother-in-law of John Clark and Mrs. Ed. Gorman, of Lyndon, and of Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, of Chelsea.

Daley-Zulki.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas Daley, of Jackson, and Miss Anna Zulki was solemnized at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart yesterday morning, Rev. W. P. Conside officiating. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Rose Zulki, and the groom's man was his brother Mr. James Daley, of Jackson. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Zulki. The young couple left on the 8:29 train for a trip to Buffalo. They will reside in Jackson where their home is all ready for their reception.

TRI-COUNTY TRACK MEET.

Chelsea's Generosity Secured the Third Annual Meeting of the Association.

The third annual track meet and field day of the Tri-County Athletic Association, composed of the towns of Chelsea, Plymouth and Wayne, will be held in Chelsea May 13 and 14. At an adjourned meeting of the association held in Wayne last Saturday evening, Supt. Meally representing Plymouth, Supt. Gee representing Wayne, and Wirt S. McLaren as Chelsea's representative, it was voted to allow the town offering the best inducements to have the meet. When the bidding began, Chelsea was not seriously considered, but in the end she outdistanced the others and when our representative bid $75, free entertainment for all contestants, and a general good time for all, the other towns gave up the ghost, and quit bidding.

No special effort was made to raise the necessary money until Saturday morning, when Prof. Wilcox started out to raise about $40. His effort met with the hearty approval of students and citizens alike, and in two hours he had raised about $70, showing the generosity of the business men of Chelsea over those of the other towns.

As everything will be free, and as it will bring a large crowd to Chelsea, our people should turn out en masse and help make the third annual field day and track meet of the Tri-County Athletic Association a day long to be remembered in Chelsea, and a day to be looked back at with pleasure by our visitors, be they winners or losers.

Funeral of Mrs. S. G. Bush.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. S. G. Bush held at the house Friday afternoon were very largely attended by her relatives and the many friends which the deceased lady had made during her residence in Chelsea. The floral offerings were exceedingly handsome and very numerous. Impressive services were conducted by Rev. C. S. Jones and the hymns were sung by a choir composed of T. S. Hughes, H. I. Stimson, Mrs. J. S. Cummings and Miss Ethel Bacon. The remains were taken to St. Louis, Mich., her old home, on Saturday morning, a special car on the D., Y., A. A. & J. being chartered for the purpose. At St. Louis funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and the remains were interred in the cemetery there.

Measles Epidemic Has Subsided.

The epidemic of measles, while occasional cases are still being reported, can practically be regarded as being over. In all there have been reported 104 cases, with no deaths. The disease occurred in 51 different households, 54 males and 50 females being affected. The oldest was a female aged 29 years and the youngest a male aged 6 months. Of the different grades in school the third shows by far the greatest number of cases. Here the rapid spread of the disease, despite all the precautions, was due in large part to the fact that too many pupils are crowded together in too small a room. The number of cases sick in each month was as follows: January 35, February 49, March 19, April 1.

Banker Gone.

John McNair, aged 72, the financial head of the firm of Carson & Ealy, bankers, at Caro, died suddenly of heart failure, Mr. McNair with his wife had been spending the winter in Nevada. Returning he reached Chicago during the blizzard of a week ago, and came down with muscular rheumatism. He was able to reach Caro before being compelled to take to his bed.

Burns Acquitted.

It took the jury in the Grand Rapids superior court four hours to return a verdict of not guilty in favor of Senator David E. Burns, Wednesday. Friends gathered around Burns and congratulated him on his escape from prison. A juror said that the difficulty about finding a verdict of guilty was that the only direct testimony against Burns was that of Salisbury, and he had told of so many crimes of his own committing that the jury did not feel like believing him unless there was more corroborative evidence. Prosecutor Ward announced that no more of the water deal cases would be taken up until the May term, when the first one to be called would be that of E. D. Conner, manager of the Grand Rapids Herald.

$200,000 Fire in Auto Plant.

A disastrous fire with spectacular and sensational features occurred at the plant of the Cadillac Automobile Co., Cass and Amsterdam avenues, Detroit, shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. The employees had only fairly begun the duties of the day, when the alarm of fire was raised. Instantly the windows of the large three-story building were alive with frightened humanity, and as the flames shot out from the center of the structure, panic seized the 500 or 600 employees, who made their escape as best they could, many leaping through windows or jumping from the second or third story to the ground. Only one man, Martin Gorman, foreman of the frame room, was severely burned, while two men and one girl were hurt by falls.

A Mother's Grief.

The badly decomposed body of little George Neal, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Neal, who was drowned in the Battle Creek stream Saturday, March 5, was recovered Saturday evening about one-half mile from the point where he was drowned, near the old Aubrey tavern in two feet of water at the end of a sandbar. A searching party composed of business men and citizens gathered to have started out to-morrow morning in search of the body. The mother of the child is nearly crazy with grief and all attempts to pacify her have been in vain.

The Corn Spoiled.

The farmers of Calhoun county will be short of corn this year. On the larger farms it was impossible to get their corn husked last fall on account of scarcity of help and the early winter. Thousands of acres remained unhusked until this spring, and it is now found that this corn is soft and will not keep. It is claimed that the corn did not mature last fall and froze during the winter. One farmer reports that on 20 acres husked this spring not 10 per cent is solid corn. This soft corn is sold at 10 cents per bushel to large feeders.

Michigan Banks.

The comptroller of the currency has made public abstract reports of the condition of the national banks in Michigan outside of Detroit on March 28, compared with the reports of Jan. 22. It shows that the total resources have increased from $77,357,885 to $78,184,786; loans and discounts increased from $47,023,786 to $48,558,082; cash reserve decreased from $4,252,236 to $4,073,362; individual deposits increased from $53,867,628 to $54,747,055, and average reserve held fell from 23.27 to 16.59 per cent.

The School Money.

The semi-annual apportionment of primary schools interest money to be made May 10, will be on the basis of 90 cents for each child of school age. Last year the total apportionment for the year was $3 10 per capita. The May apportionment was the same as this year, but that of November was $2 50 per capita. The railroad taxes come in now, and go into the November apportionment, which is always the largest. The probabilities are that this year's apportionment will equal that of last year.

A story comes to Cassopolis from Calvin township of a negro who was shot in the head with a 44 bull-dog revolver in a fight during the spring election. The bullet it is claimed was fired so nicely by the contact with the negro's skull, that a small boy who picked it up passed it off for a half dollar on a local drugist.

DETROIT GETS THE FAIR.

It Buildings Are Not Ready on Time, Will Be Held at Pontiac. Detroit gets the state fair. This was the unanimous decision of the location commission at the meeting held after lunch Wednesday. Only one ballot was taken on reassembling. It was agreed that in case Detroit could not get the buildings ready this season Pontiac should keep the fair for the present year.

Huntley Is Doomed.

In an effort to relieve Edward Huntley, the paroled convict, of the terrible pain caused by the reopening of an old wound in his side, received in a desperate attempt to escape from Jackson prison in 1892, Detroit doctors operated on him Tuesday. Huntley's intestines had grown together in a peculiar way, causing intense pain, which led to the administration of morphine, and in this way Huntley became a morphine fiend. He is also suffering from tuberculosis, and no hope for his ultimate recovery is held out.

The Ice Embargo.

The reports of the ice condition from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau indicate no material change in Lake Superior during the past week. The fields are as extensive and have not decreased materially. Over the eastern portion the ice remains solid, though in St. Mary's river there is more open water. No ice is reported in Lake Michigan south of Sturgeon bay canal on the west side, and on the east side from Glenhaven south. At the straits the ice is opening up some, but it will require considerable warm weather and rain to open the straits before the 25th, and it is more probable they will not open before May 1.

Whitney M. Hall and George J. White, students, walked across country from Ann Arbor to Pontiac on a wager last week. In spite of snow drifts and a strong windstorm in 14 hours and 55 minutes. To win they had to do it in 15 hours. The distance is 12 miles. They went via South Lyons, Wixom and Orchard Lake.

A clerical error by the election board of the Eleventh ward, Bay City, transposed the vote on commercial lighting and on the new courthouse. Owing to this error it appeared that the lighting proposition had only 15 majority, when actually it had 137. The voting machine was unlocked and the correction noted.

The break in the hydraulic company's dam at Constantine which occurred a month ago, and upon which a gang of men with pilledriver and sand bags has been employed ever since, broke loose Saturday night and is as bad as ever. The island formed by the debris carried before the flood and deposited in the St. Joe above the power house has been named 2-acre island.

Charles Woodruff McKeown, a graduate of Albion college, of which institution his father was once president, has been sentenced to one year in prison in Waupun, Wis., for embezzlement. He has been an actor promoter and minister, and served in the civil war. He stole the fund of an amateur theatrical entertainment he was promoting.

Major C. A. Vernou, government inspector of the Michigan National Guard, has bit four more companies to inspect before completing his first tour of duty. He reports the guard in a very efficient condition, both a to discipline and equipment.

NEWS OF THE WORLD

A Brief Chronicle of All Important Happenings

Alexieff Is Done.

Viceroy Alexieff has applied by telegraph to the Czar to be relieved of his position of viceroy in the far east. It is expected the request will be immediately granted. While no official announcement has yet been made, there is reason to believe the above statement is correct. The immediate cause of the viceroy's application is reported to be the appointment of Vice Admiral Skrydloff, one of Admiral Alexieff's strongest enemies and sharpest critics, as successor to the late Vice Admiral Makaroff in command of the Russian navy in the far east.

The Japanese Location in London.

The Japanese location in London is greatly interested in the announcement of Viceroy Alexieff's resignation. The opinion is expressed that if he had resigned six months ago there would have been no war, but now that hostilities are in progress the Japanese would have preferred to see Alexieff retain control.

The Cost of War.

It is authoritatively stated that Russia's daily war expenses are averaging $10,000,000, and it is estimated that a year's expenditures for the war will total $250,000,000. To meet this there existed a free balance of $50,000,000, which was increased to $115,000,000 by reductions of the ordinary budgets, leaving ostensibly $135,000,000 to be found. But a portion of the latter is made up by the increased earnings of the railroads owned by the government. It being in reality a question of bookkeeping, how the balance is to be raised has not yet been determined. No foreign loan has been arranged and none is desired, if it can be avoided, as practically the total of the war expenditure will be raised at home. The industry of finance believes it may be easy to float an internal loan late in the summer or fall.

Loss Was $12,000,000.

The total loss by the fire which destroyed the wholesale district of Detroit Tuesday night will, according to revised estimates, reach $12,000,000. The total insurance is $8,300,000. The area swept by the fire embraced 14 acres, 122 buildings were destroyed and 222 firms affected. Ten thousand people are thrown out of work. Although the business interests of the city have been shaken to their foundations by the disaster, no time will be lost in beginning the work of reconstruction. At a meeting of the bankers' association held to discuss the situation it was decided that there is no danger of a financial panic, and that no action to avert such a contingency would be necessary. The principal sufferers from the disaster are firms of high financial standing who can re-establish themselves without assistance. Most of them were well covered by insurance, a large percentage of which would fall upon foreign concerns.

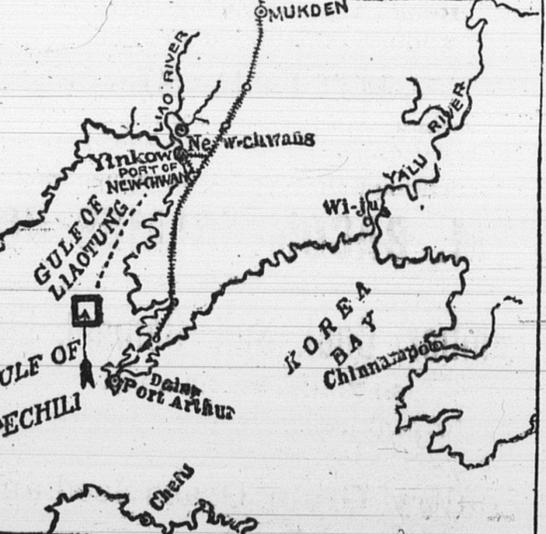

More Warships Bought.

Once more the kaiser has shown his friendship for Russia by allowing Russia to acquire eight torpedo boats which have been built in a shipyard at Ebling for the German government. The forms of neutrality were observed by the German government refusing to accept the torpedo boats because the time stipulated in the contract with the shipbuilding firm had been exceeded and Russia immediately bought the boats, which are nearly finished, from the builders.

It's Our Canal.

The resolution of the Panama Canal Co. shareholders ratifying the sale of the canal to the United States was adopted almost unanimously. There were only two dissenting votes. The meeting then adjourned. This completes the transfer of the canal to the United States.

WHERE LARGE FLEET OF JAPANESE TRANSPORTS WAS REPORTED RECENTLY SIGHTED.

(A fleet of seventy to one hundred transports, escorted by Japanese warships, is said to have been sighted north of Port Arthur by a steamer bound for Newchang from Chifu, at a point marked on the map by a square pierced by an arrow. Its direction, according to the report, was toward Yinkow, which is just south of Newchang, at the entrance to that port.)

Hudson valley fruit growers lose $2,000,000 as the result of the extremely cold winter, according to advices from Kingston, N. Y. The failure of the peach crop has been conceded.

Ex-State Senator Henry Safford Little, for almost a generation one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic party in New Jersey, is dead in Trenton, of pneumonia, aged 81.

A claim of $1,000,000 made by the Panama Canal Co. for extra work done since the purchase price of $40,000,000 was agreed on, is being considered by Messrs. Day and Russell, United States commissioners in Paris.

The Three Were Hanged.

Peter Neidermeier, Gustav Marx and Harvey Van Dine, the notorious car-barn bandits and confessed murderers of eight men, were hanged in Chicago Friday. Neidermeier, the leader, was the first to die, the trap being sprung in his case at 10:35. Neidermeier compelled his executioners to carry him to the scaffold. Weak and pale, but with a slight suggestion of a smile, the bandit failed to carry out his repeated boast that he would die before reaching the gallows. Neidermeier appeared on the scaffold wearing a red rose, but without a coat.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Marx was led to the scaffold, neatly dressed and with a white rose as a boutonniere, which had been given him by his small sister the night before. He was pale, but his courage never left him while he stood on the scaffold. He made no statement. Two priests of the Roman Catholic church, of which Marx had become a member, accompanied him to the gallows. He repeated the litany with them, kissed a crucifix, after which the jailer adjusted the noose and sprang the trap at 11:17. He was pronounced dead at 11:34, his neck having been broken.

Harvey Van Dine was hanged a short time after the execution of his companion, Marx, who, but a few days before was a bitter enemy of Van Dine. They, however, were the best of friends in their last hours of life.

Incidents of Van Dine's execution were similar to those which characterized the execution of Marx. Like Marx, Van Dine was composed preceding his execution. With the Catholic priests who had accompanied Marx, Van Dine walked unflatteringly to the scaffold, attired neatly in black like Marx and wearing a white waistcoat and white rose.

The Russian Plan. All trustworthy accounts from the main base of the Russian army in Manchuria, support the view that Gen. Kurapatkin is clearing the country between the Yalu and the Liao Yang of every form of sustenance for men and animals, preparatory to a general retirement inland. Cattle are being driven north in vast droves, followed by wagon trains laden with food and forage. The inhabitants are threatened with famine, and as many as are able are migrating in a northwesterly direction. This indicates that the Russian commander has elected to fall back to the mountainous region about Liao Yang, in order to draw the Japanese across the extensive foodless area, and thus to come into grips with the enemy under circumstances favorable to the Russian army.

Bryan Will Bolt. Democratic senators and representatives are indulging in much gossip over William J. Bryan's attack on Justice Parker in Chicago Saturday night. They are leaning to the opinion that it's Bryan purpose to bolt the nominees of the St. Louis convention.

Bryan, when in Washington a few months ago, was telling these same senators and representatives that he'd support the regular ticket no matter who were the candidates or what the platform, but his Saturday night speech is taken as evidence that he has changed his mind and is determined to defeat the Democratic ticket if possible since he cannot have his way.

CHAPTER I.

The Fall of the House of Frode.

As the blackness of the midsummer night paled, the broken towers and wrecked walls of the monastery loomed up dim and stark in the gray light. Through a breach in the moss-grown wall, the first sunbeam stole in and pointed a bright finger across the polished garth at the charred spot in the center, where missals and parchment rolls had made a roaring fire to burn the invaders' blood-stained hands.

As the lark rose through the brightening air to greet the coming day, a woman in the tunic and cowl of a nun opened what was left of the wicket-gate in the one unbattered wall. She struck a note in perfect harmony with her surroundings, as she stood under the crumbling arch, peering out into the flowering lane.

Like the straggling hedges that were half buried under a net of wild roses, red and white, the path was half effaced by grass; but beyond, her eye could follow the straight line of the great Roman road over marsh and meadow and hill-top.

Between the dark walls of oak and beech, it gleamed as white as the Milky Way. The nun was able to trace its course up the slope of the last hill. Just beyond the crest, a puff of smoke was spread over a burning village. Shivering the nun turned her face back to the desolate peace of the ruins.

"Now is it clear to all men why a bloody cloud was hung over the land in the year that Ethelred came to the throne," she said. "I feel as the blessed dead might feel should they be forced to leave the shelter of their graves and look out upon the world."

Rising from its knees beside a bed of herbs, a second figure in faded robes approached the gate. Sister Sexberga was very old, much older happened. See! He is shaking off his swoon. After he has swallowed some of your wine, he will be able to speak and tell us."

It was muscle-breaking work for women's backs, for though he tried instinctively to obey their directions, the man was scarcely conscious; his arms were like lead yokes upon his supporters' shoulders. Just within the gate their strength gave out, and they were forced to put him down among the spicy herbs. There, as one was pulling off her threadbare cloak to make him a pillow, and the other was starting after her cordial, he opened his eyes.

"Master!" he muttered. "Master? Have they gone?"

In an instant Sister Wynfreda was on her knees beside him. "Is it the English you mean? Did they beset the castle?"

Slowly the man's clouded eyes cleared. "The Sisters—" he murmured. "I had the intention—to get to you—but I fell—" His words died away in a whisper, and his eyelids drooped. Sister Sexberga turned again to seek her restorative. Sister Wynfreda leaned over and shook him.

"Answer me, first. Where is your master? And young Fridtjof? And your mistress?"

He shrank from her touch with a gasp of pain. "Dead," he muttered. "Dead—at the gate—Frode and the boy—the raven-stayers cut them down like saplings."

"And Randalin?"

"I heard her scream as the Englishman seized her—Leofwinesson had her round the waist—they knocked me on the head, then—I—" Again his voice died away.

Sister Wynfreda made no attempt to recall him. Mechanically she held his head so that her companion might pour the liquid down his throat. That done, she brought water and bandages, and stood by, absent-eyed and other way could one account for those locks, and for her eyes that were of the grayish blue of iris petals.

The eyes were a little staring this morning, as though still stretched wide with the horror of the things they had looked upon; and all the glowing red blood had ebbed away from the brown cheeks.

She said in a low voice, "My father . . . Fridtjof . . ." then stopped to draw a long hard breath through her set teeth.

Sister Wynfreda ran to the girl and caught her tremblingly by the hands. "Praise the Lord that you are delivered whole to me!" she breathed. "Gram told us—that they had taken you."

"Gazing at her out of horror-filled eyes, Randalin stood quite still in her embrace. Her story came from her in jerks, and each fragment seemed to leave her breathless, though she spoke slowly.

"I broke away," she said. "They stood around me in a ring. Norman Leofwinesson said he would carry me before a priest and marry me, so that Avalcomb might be his lawfully, whichever king got the victory. I said by no means would I wed him; sooner would I slay him. All thought that a great jest and laughed. While they were shouting I slipped between them and got up the stairs into a chamber, where I bolted the door and would not open to them, though they pounded their fists sore and cursed at me. At last they began to laugh and jeer, and called to me they would go down and drink my wedding toast before they broke in the door and fetched me; and then they betook themselves to feasting."

Sister Wynfreda bent her head to murmur a prayer: "God forgive me if I have lacked charity in my judgment on the Pagans! If they who have seen the light can do such deeds, what can be expected of those who yet labor under the curse of darkness?"

"I do not understand you," Randalin said wearily, sinking on the grass and passing her hands over her strained eyes. "When a man looks with eyes of longing upon another man's property, it is to be expected that he will do as much evil as luck allows him. Though he has got Baddeby, Norman was covetous of Avalcomb. When his lord, Edric Jarl, was still King Edmund's man, he twice beset the castle, and my father twice held it against him. And his greed was such that he could not stay away even after Edric had become the man of Canute."

It was the nun's turn for bewilderment. "The man of Canute? Edric of Mercia, who is married to the King's sister? It cannot be that you know what you say!"

"Certainly I know what I say," the girl returned a little impatiently. "All English lords are fraudulent; men can see that by the state of the country. Though he be tricke kinsman to the English King, Edric Jarl has joined the host of Canute of Denmark; and all his men have followed him. But even that agreement could not hold Norman back from Avalcomb. He lay hidden near the gate till he saw my father come, in the dusk, from hunting, when he fell upon him and slew him, and forced an entrance—the nothing! When he had five-and-fifty men and my father but twelve!"

She paused, with set lips and head flung high. The nun got down stiffly beside her and laid a gentle hand upon her knee.

"Think not of it, my daughter," she urged. "Think of your present need and of what it behooves us to do. Tell me how you escaped from the chamber, and why you wear these clothes." (To be continued.)

How Success Succeeds.

Col. Weis was once at Carlsbad with the treasurer of a Cincinnati brewery. There is a system of "Kur tax" in Carlsbad. You pay from $5 to $10 if you stay over a week, the fund going to defray music and improvement expenses. It is plain robbery, but can't be avoided. The tax is graded according to your wealth or income, and the wily Bohemians generally know who's who. They came to Weis and asked his occupation.

"I'm in the express business." "Vat's dat?" "Oh, we deliver packages, you know."

So they put Weis down as a wagon driver and assessed him the very lowest, although he draws $36,000 a year. The brewery employe gave his occupation and was hit for the highest tax, although his salary was but $5,000 a year.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Improve the Canals.

A movement has been started in several centers in Europe to improve the canals, which have been neglected through the influence of the railroads, just as they have in many American states.

There are in France 3,000 miles of canals. Belgium has 1,242 miles of canals and other waterways. In Holland the canals are put to more general use than they are in other countries.

In England there are 3,907 miles of canals, and it has been pointed out that the railway companies own 1,376 miles of these canals. The railroad companies keep the canal rates so high that there is no competition between the canals and the railroads. There are few canals in any country that are not fifty years behind the times.

Double Vision.

"See here," exclaimed Benedict's friend, "you'll have to give up your old ideas of seeing life. You're not single any more." "That's all right," gurgled Benedict. "I don't see shingle, sizer; shee double."

AUSTRALIAN BOOM TOWN

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

Kalgoorlie to-day is the proudest city on earth. It is ten years and four months old and has all the confidence of lusty youth. It owns the richest mile of gold bearing land known. It has beaten its rival, Coolgardie, out of the field. It is inordinately proud of its water supply. One expert, G. H. Reid, declared that water is more talked about and less drunk there than anywhere else he has been. And, finally, Kalgoorlie is proud of itself.

Admittedly there is some cause for pride. Go out on the balcony of the hotel in Hannan street and look down. The broad thoroughfares are bright with electric lights. Electric cars run in all directions. Telephone and telegraph poles run down the centre of the roadways. Zinc and iron canvases are giving way to brick and stone buildings.

The lady whose carriage has just stopped at the hotel door is dressed by Paquin. The great lights on the hills and the constant roar of dynamite charges announce the march of industry. Last and most wonderful, the scream of a locomotive comes through the air.

Ten years ago, at the beginning of June, 1893, this spot was desert, trodden by man at the risk of life. The burnt scrub, the hot, red earth, the absence of shelter and of water would have made it a fitting centre for a Dantesque inferno.

The story has often been told how, on a June day, Pat Hannan, at once luckiest and most unfortunate of prospectors, stumbled along here, done almost to death by thirst and heat. He had been out searching and had failed and was now back on the long tramp and ride to civilization. His horse escaped and Hannan ran after it. It kicked the soil in its struggle, and the prospector's gaze went down. In a moment the horse was forgotten and he had flung himself on the earth. The horse had shown gold and Kalgoorlie was found.

Ten years is not such a long time back, yet what a ten years they have been. The desolation of the wilderness is to-day a city of 35,000 people. It has had its boom, its crash and its revival. It has had its epidemics, carrying off thousands of fine young fellows. Its land rose from nothing to as much as a hundred pounds a foot. European investors have taken millions out of it and have sunk millions more. The government has gained about $50,000 from the sale of its sites. And its wealth has helped to turn Westralia from a forsaken land to a coming crown of empire.

The old Kalgoorlie citizen will tell you, if you ask him, that the place is spoiled now. The real time was before the railway and the millionaire came, when you had to force your way up over two hundred miles from Southern Cross by camel or coach. Those were the grand days, when fresh meat, fresh milk, or fresh vegetables were unknown; when water was worth half a crown a gallon, and was hard to get at that. The only thing easy to buy was whisky, and it was of a kind warranted to kill an ordinary man in the briefest possible time. Every man worked like three.

What a mixed crowd it was! Here was the old hand, who had been in a hundred rushes, and had, according to his own account, lost and found half a hundred fortunes. Here was the former hussar, here the boy from a city office stool, here the Victorian farmer's son, here the English navy. Every man was equal here, and none dared be other than honest.

tells you with a sigh. Jones, who sold his share in the Great Bunkum for $125,000, is cutting wood in the jarrah country now, earning nine shillings a day. Brown built a big house at Perth, but someone else lives in it now and Brown has gone forth a ruined man.

Robinson went to London with $250,000 two years ago. Now he is fitting out a camel team with the last few pounds left.

The excitement has largely gone from Kalgoorlie to-day. It has become a prosaic business city, whose business is gold extraction. The individual prospector has no chance now. One sometimes sees a lad dry-blowing on the hot sands. It is heart-breaking work, and he will not earn enough to pay for his meals.

Romance has departed. The daring prospector has been replaced by the forking miner, who earns from ten shillings to fourteen shillings and ten pence a day. The old time mine manager, who was not sure whether telluride was a new mangelwurzel or an odd insect until he was told, has given way to the German and American expert. Meet a citizen in the street, and he will no longer talk of great finds, but of municipal progress, tramways and bridges.

Water is no longer distilled from the salt lakes or carefully hoarded in water holes. It is pumped hundreds of miles from the coast, and you may have all you want. The itinerant whisky vender has been driven off by the limited company, owning two storied brick hotels. Churches are springing up in all directions. The theatre attracts some of the best colonial traveling companies.

The morning paper has grown, while its proprietor is still a young man, from a sheet the size of a handkerchief to a handsome journal that would discredit no place. And the owner is a rising member of the federal parliament at Melbourne.

Will Kalgoorlie last? Is it to sink as Coolgardie has sunk? I, for one, cannot believe so. It exists solely on gold, on nothing but gold. But there are no signs at present of the gold supply giving out. Mines are being worked down as deep as 1,600 feet below the surface, and the yield is steadily increasing. The Golden Mine of Boulder City, a suburb of Kalgoorlie, is unequalled in the world. One great mine, originally floated as a "wild cat" on the London market,

Young Emus.

There was no escape for the thief, and at a "roll up" (the beating of a tin frying pan) the camp would assemble to do justice to any offender. Those were the days when you might be without a shilling in the morning and worth $50,000 at night.

Then came the enteric, as it always does come under such circumstances, and doctors and nurses were roused up to save a few from death. For tinned dog and bad whisky, hard work in hot sun and hard pleasure after, bad water and the spoonful and bad champagne by the tumbler kill as surely to-day as ever.

Those were great days, the veteran is returning a steady stream of gold to the happy simpletons who took it up. The growth of Kalgoorlie has amazed the mining experts, who at first, judging from other regions, thought there was little in it. And it was fair to go on for some time yet.

Unequal Contest.

An experimental race was recently made between a skillful typist and an expert penman, the test being the number of times a phrase of eight words could be reproduced in five minutes. The typist scored thirty-seven and the penman twenty-three.

WOULDN'T STAND FOR DEATH.

But Miser Was Willing to Go Half Way—for Money.

Mark Hanna's successor, Gen. Dick, was in his youth a teller in an Akron bank. Of his banking experiences he sometimes says:

"One of the depositors with our firm had the reputation of being a miser. I don't know whether he was a miser or not, but I do know that he would sometimes make in one day three or four deposits—now a dollar, now two dollars, now fifty cents. Did you ever hear of such a thing?"

"They used to tell a queer story about this old fellow. They used to declare that a man once went to him and said:

"I'm a doctor, and I'll give you $10,000 if you'll let me kill you. I want to see how, cut in a certain vein, a man dies."

"The old miser wrinkled his forehead.

"Let me think a bit," he said.

"There was a long silence.

"Well?" said the visitor.

"Give me till to-morrow," said the miser. "I'll think this business out thoroughly, and to-morrow I'll give you a decisive answer, yes or no."

"So the man went away, and the next day he returned. The miser said to him:

"I can't let you kill me for $10,000, friend. I've figured if all out, and I find that your money would be no good to me after I was dead. I'll tell you what I will do, though. I'll let you half kill me for $5,000."

Where the Line Is Drawn.

Congressman Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, who is serving his first term in Washington, is authority for the fact that while his state may have its faults when it comes to gallantry with the fair sex "old Arkansas" shows up grandly. During his term in the legislature a third assistant clerk had to be elected and by unanimous consent it was decided that the place should go to a woman. The energetic champions of three fair daughters of the state enlisted themselves and only after twenty-four ballots, Miss Hicks, or, as a member designated her, the "Lily of Lafayette," was chosen.

"Yes," responded John R. Thayer, to whom Robinson was telling the interesting story. "Man's admiration for woman never flags. He will give her half his fortune; he will give her his whole heart; in fact he seems ready to give her every advantage except his seat in the street car."—Boston Journal.

His True Position.

The Celtic wit that bubbles forth in the arguments of Lawyer Thomas Riley is always refreshing, even his opponents having to concede points made by apt clauses in his jury addresses. A brother lawyer, who had settled a probate matter, had sent in a bill for a very large fee and the heirs thereupon engaged Mr. Riley to contest the charge against their former counsel. Mr. Riley's plea ended in this manner:

"I went to my brother attorney's office and I reasoned with him—I begged him—I implored him—I beseeched him to remember that he was only a counsel in this case and not one of the heirs."—Boston Journal.

Out of Date.

Some twenty years ago, when Wilton Lackaye first went upon the stage, he was rehearsing a part in "Paul Kaurer," under the direction of the author, the late Steele Mackaye, who, while he was admitted to be a very capable stage manager, was considered somewhat old-fashioned by the more modern dramatic school. During the rehearsal Mackaye and Lackaye had a slight dispute as to how a part should be acted.

"Do you pretend to argue with me?" demanded Mackaye, magisterially. "I have been an acknowledged master of the dramatic art for twenty years." "Yes," said Lackaye, "but not this twenty."

A Gallant Butterman.

When the Queen of England, daughter of the King of Denmark, was the Princess of Wales, she attended one afternoon, a food show.

At this food show there was a display of butter that pleased the Princess of Wales greatly. She praised the butter, and to its exhibitor she said:

"Denmark sends us the best butter, doesn't it?" The dealer smiled, and shook his head.

"No, your royal highness," he answered, gallantly, "Denmark sends us the best princesses, but Devonshire sends us the best butter."

A Child's Thought of God.

They say that God lives very high; But if you look above the pines You cannot see our God; and why?

And if you dig down in the mines You never see Him in the gold, Though from Him all that's glory shines.

God is so good, He wears a fold Of heaven and earth across His face— Like secrets kept, for love, untold.

But still I feel that His embrace Slides down by thrills, through all things made. Through sight and sound of every place: As if my tender mother laid On my shut lips her kisses' pressure, Half-waking me at night, and said, "Who kissed you through the dark, dear suesser?"

—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

A Unique Water Cooler.

Several new devices are on the market for keeping water cool without putting ice in it. One arrangement consists of a pall which has an aperture for ice in the center. The water is poured around this, and even in the hottest weather will keep cool for twelve hours. This is an especially desirable scheme for the sick room.

Blind

During Attacks of Heart Failure. Would Appear To Be Dead.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Relieved and Cured.

"I have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is all that one can wish it to be. I was troubled with heart disease for fifteen years. I have tried many different remedies but until I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I could find no relief. I was subject to headaches and had tried your Pain Pills and they were so effective I thought your Heart Cure might help me. I would have attacks at times so severe that I would be stone blind for the time being. During these spells I would be to all appearances dead. I took the medicine strictly as directed and I can truthfully say that I am completely cured. I advise all that are troubled with heart disease to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at once. I write this and give my name to my fellow sufferers."—S. E. Purdy, Atkinson, Nebraska.

"I first felt the effects of a weak heart in the fall of 1896. I saw an advertisement in the Sioux City paper in which a man stated his symptoms which seemed to me to indicate a trouble similar to mine. I had a soreness in the chest at times, and in my shoulder, an oppressive choking sensation in my throat and suffered from weak and hungry spells. I was truly frightened at my condition and procured six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Since taking my first bottle I have never been bothered by any of the old disagreeable symptoms and now am well and consider my cure permanent."—Lewis Anderson, Kuhn, S. D.

SNAP SHOTS OF THE

Some of the interesting features briefly described

WORLD'S FAIR

A Visit to the Exposition is Equivalent to a Tour of the Globe

Any effort at exaggeration, in attempting to describe the World's Fair at St. Louis would more than likely result in failure. One's imagination would indeed be abnormally developed if he were to conceive more glories, more beauty, more majestic splendor, and a more comprehensive gathering of men and the works of men, than has been assembled on two square miles comprising the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

More than a thousand native Filipinos are living in the 40-acre Philippine tract at the World's Fair. Their homes have been reproduced in St. Louis and they are counterparts of those left behind in the Pacific archipelago. The Filipino colony embraces representatives from many tribes, and Americans and Europeans will be interested in seeing the subjects that Uncle Sam acquired with the Philippine islands, and in learning of their lives and habits.

Besides the native villages, the Philippine commission, which has expended nearly $1,000,000 on the exhibit, has erected replicas of many of the most famous buildings on the islands. Several bits of old Spanish architecture are sure to delight all visitors.

Patagonian giants are even less known than Filipinos. And there are a number of these strange people domiciled nearby, while a little further on may be found another strange race—pygmies from darkest Africa, whose very existence, until recent years, was doubted. The Ainu, the aborigines of northern Japan, are another strange race that may be seen

Never was the United States government so deeply interested in an exposition as it is in this 1904 World's Fair. Already the government's investment has reached the $11,000,000 mark, and this does not include the Philippine expenditures, which were paid out of the insular treasury. The result is the greatest exhibit ever made by Uncle Sam.

One of the interesting government exhibits is the great map of the United States, worked out in growing crops, each state being represented by crops chiefly grown in that state. This map covers six acres of ground. One who has not seen the map may have an idea of its immense size when he is told that Illinois on this crop map is 75 feet long. The boundary lines between the states are gravel walks and the World's Fair visitors stroll at will through the states, and receive simultaneously a lesson in geography and agriculture.

The largest timepiece in the world is at the World's Fair, and may be seen on a slope on the north side of Agriculture Hill. The dial of this great clock is 112 feet in diameter. The frame work is steel, of course, but it is so covered with flowers that it appears to have been built entirely of flowers, and for that reason it is popularly known as the "floral clock."

Germany's participation in this World's Fair surpasses anything that that great nation has ever done at any other international exposition. The National pavilion, on a high hill overlooking the Cascades, is a faithful reproduction of the ancient castle Charlottenburg, and the gardens sur-

Hank Monk drove Horace Greeley into Placerville "on time" is seen daily in the Gulch. Mark Twain and Artemus Ward, in the early days, made Hank Monk and the old coach famous by their vivid descriptions of the celebrated ride.

The landscape of the World's Fair is a feature of diversified beauty. It embraces hill and valley, plateau and lowland. In the Cascade region alone more than 4,000,000 brilliantly colored flowering and foliage plants are used in the creation of the Rainbow Gardens. More than 30,000,000 plants are used in beautifying other sections of the grounds. All of the main avenues are delightfully shaded with rows of silver maples, and in several sections there are great groups of forest trees that ever afford a delightful shade.

The largest engine in the world is an exhibit in the Palace of Machinery. This monster with a power equal to that of 5,000 horses, occupies a space in the center of the great structure, and towers 35 feet in the air. It is as large as an ordinary three-story house. Altogether the engine developed a power of 50,000 horses. At the Chicago exposition ten years ago, which more nearly than any other similar enterprise approaches the present in magnitude, the greatest power developed was 12,000 horse power.

The Pike is a most alluring place. It is a broad boulevard more than a mile long, with the shows of all nations arranged on either side in the most captivating array. The architecture of The Pike is that of all Hopes and Fears.

Maj.-Gen. Pflug, in a telegram from Pert Arthur formally denies the reports that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu river.

The Associated Press is able to announce authoritatively that the talk of mediation in the Russo-Japanese war was founded upon the personal desires of King Edward and King Christian of Denmark to avoid further bloodshed and end the conflict, but that he steps initiated have utterly failed.

The emperor, with the full concurrence of the imperial family, and his advisers, has irrevocably decided not only to reject all proposals looking to intervention, but to prosecute the war with all the resources of the empire until victory crowns the Russian arms.

It is said that the emperor, replying to Viceroy Alexieff's application for leave, has telegraphed his refusal, adding that he hoped the viceroy would be able to send good news soon.

All weak points on both the land and sea sides of Port Arthur have been so strengthened in the last two months that the impregnability of Port Arthur is now regarded as absolutely assured. The garrison has been considerably strengthened and the forts are provided with all necessities for more than a year. Complete confidence prevails with the troops, sailors and inhabitants in the ability of Russia to defeat any Japanese attack.

Russians Get Busy.
The Russian Vladivostok squadron, after a long period of inactivity, suddenly appeared off Gensan, on the east coast of Korea, Monday morning, and sunk the Golo Maru, a Japanese merchant steamer of 600 tons.

A brief telegram received from Gensan says three Russian cruisers had entered the harbor and that they were still there when the telegram was sent. Their arrival created consternation in the unprotected Japanese colony at Gensan.

It is thought in Tokio that this Russian naval movement was made in the hope of intercepting some unprotected Japanese troop ships. It is not believed the squadron will remain at Gensan long.

The affidavit of her 12-year-old son Melvin, who swears that his father was killed by the accidental discharge of his revolver, may free Mrs. Jennie Owens, convicted of the murder of her husband, at Dungeon Hollow, O., last fall.

County Physician McNamara says that Neidermeyer, the Chicago bandit, will live to die on the gallows Friday. Neidermeyer's throat and stomach are in such condition that he can eat no solid foods. Nourishment, however, is given him in every spoonful of medicine.

It has been about settled, now that the secretary of war and Gen. Chaffee have withdrawn their opposition, that the proposed northern Wisconsin camp site will be selected as one of the four great military training grounds. It will be in this camp that the Michigan troops will go.

Why Pills Grip.
Just because they contain harsh and drastic drugs, with nothing to modify their violent action. If in need of a laxative, you will obtain satisfactory results by taking Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin, a "corrective," not a "cathartic" laxative. Its action is gentle, it assists nature to put the stomach and bowels in normal condition and never sickens; children, as well as grown people, love it for its pleasant taste. The soothing action of the pepsin makes the digestive process perfect. Try it and you will wonder why you never have before. All druggists sell it. 50c and $1.00 sizes.

Wages in Italy.
The daily wage for skilled labor in Italy is, for machinists, 55 to 70 cents; masons, 50 to 60 cents; carpenters, 50 to 70 cents, and cotton workers, 30 to 50 cents.

Conductors' Strike Ends.
New York dispatch: A strike inaugurated two weeks ago by the Elevators' union has ended in the acceptance of an arbitration plan and the men have returned to work.

It is generally more profitable to reckon up our defects than to boast of our attainments—Clyde.

Treacle for Horses.
Scientific tests in substituting treacle for oats and other cereals in feeding horses have yielded surprising results. It is now definitely established that as a horse diet there is magic in treacle. With this syrup on his bill of fare, the horse rapidly takes on solid weight, develops prodigiously in muscular energy, grows a glossy coat and enjoys uninterrupted health. For these animals, therefore, treacle is declared to be both a tonic and health food. In addition to the many desirable results a treacle diet reduces the cost of horse maintenance over 25 per cent.

"Feeling" Music.
In "feeling" music the sound is conducted from the instrument to the person by means of electric wires. Instead of the sound waves merely knocking on the tympanum of the ear, as in listening to music, the waves of harmony course clear through the body, so that the tune is felt from head to foot. The device can be attached to any kind of musical instrument, so that one can feel a piano, phonograph, guitar, banjo or an organ play, or feel the blowing of a cornet or a trombone, and if a wire could be attached to every horn a person could feel the music of a brass band. Those who have practiced "feeling" music have demonstrated that they can easily discriminate between the feeling of different airs as well as of different instruments.

Analysis of Radium.
At the Paris academy of science recently Mr. Darboux read a communication from M. Curie as to the disappearance of the radio activity induced by radium in solid bodies. For explaining this phenomenon and the law which governs it, Mr. Curie advances the hypothesis of radium transforming itself into a substance that may give rise to a second body, and thus bring about a diminution in the intensity of the radio-activity.

Criminals Are Expensive.
The average criminal in Massachusetts costs $200 a year for his board and keep only. Add to this the amount that he costs the state for the support of law courts, judges, policemen, etc., and it will be found that the criminal costs society almost as much as the honest factory worker gets for his labor.

HAS A SAY.
The Principal of a High School in a flourishing Cal. city says: "For 23 years I worked in the school with only short summer vacations. I formed the habit of eating rapidly, masticated poorly which coupled with my sedentary work led to indigestion, liver trouble, lame back and rheumatism."

"Upon consulting physicians some doped me with drugs, while others prescribed dieting and sometimes I got temporary relief, other times not. For 12 years I struggled along with this handicap to my work, seldom laid up but often a burden to myself with lameness and rheumatic pains."

"Two years ago I met an old friend, a physician who noticed at once my out-of-health condition and who prescribed for me an exclusive diet of Grape-Nuts, milk and fruit."

"I followed his instructions and in two months I felt like a new man with no more headaches, rheumatism or liver trouble and from that time to this Grape-Nuts has been my main food for morning and evening meals, am stronger and healthier than I have been for years without a trace of the old troubles."

"Judging from my present vigorous physical and mental state I tell my people Methuselah may yet have to take second place among the old men, for I feel like I will live a great many more years."

"To all this remarkable change in health I am indebted to my wise friend and Grape-Nuts and I hope the Postum Co. will continue to manufacture this life and health giving food for several centuries yet, until I move to a world where indigestion is unknown." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ask any physician what he knows about Grape Nuts. Those who have tried it know things.

Unique Dinner Invitation Which Franklin Did Not Accept.
An interesting collection of invitations to and from Benjamin Franklin during his visit to England has been placed in the University of Pennsylvania library. Among the letters to Franklin are some from the parson for great and for little dinners, but perhaps the most interesting is one from a gentleman who described himself as "in lodgings" and unable to entertain Mr. Franklin at his home. He therefore proposed a visit to the Star and Garter, and then went on to say that he would order a dinner at a crown a head, evidently expecting Franklin to bear his share. There is no record of an acceptance.

Telephone is Popular in China.
The Chinese have been greatly opposed to railroads and telegraph lines because of certain superstitions which are generally believed among the people. But the telephone, on the contrary, has become very popular among all classes of people. The fact that a Chinaman can hear the voice of one of his friends makes him believe that some good angels are carrying the sound along the wire. The telephone reproduces a voice that he recognizes, and therefore the Chinaman does not feel that it is such a mystery as the railroad or the telegraph.

Directs Book Exhibits.
Emile Terdecem has a unique record in the French book trade, in that he has been chosen by the Cercle de la Librairie to direct every large exhibit of French books at the international expositions for the last thirty years. He is credited with the success of the French exhibits at the Centennial and in Chicago; and he was in charge at the Paris world's fairs in 1878, 1889 and 1900, and he is coming to St. Louis.

Japanese Soldiers Well Trained.
The Japanese soldier is taught to breathe properly, with as much care as if he were a professional tennis player, and at the least sign of palpitation of the heart he is ordered to cease his exercises and lie on his back to recover. In course of time his heart and lungs become so strengthened that no amount of exertion injuriously affects them.

"SOUND AS A DOLLAR."
Monticello, Minn., April 25th.—Mr. J. W. Moore of this place, stands as a living proof of the fact that Bright's Disease, even in the last stages may be perfectly and permanently cured.

Mr. Moore says: "In 1898 three reputable physicians, after a careful examination told me that I would die with Bright's Disease inside of a year. My feet and ankles and legs were badly swollen; I could hardly stand on my feet and had given up all hopes of getting cured, when a traveling salesman told me that he himself had been cured of Bright's Disease two years before."

"He said he had taken to his bed and expected to die with it, but that he had been cured by a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I commenced taking them at once and I am thankful to say that they saved my life. After a short treatment, I was completely restored to good health and I am as sound as a dollar."

at the World's Fair. These queer people are small of stature and their bodies are covered with hair.

They are quite a different race from the modern Japanese. Japan, indeed, is in the front rank of nations at the great World's Fair. The site selected by Japan for her group of buildings is one of the choicest allotted to foreign nations, and the enterprising Japanese have made the most of their advantages. On a high hill overlooking Machinery Palace workmen from the Mikado's realm have built a number of quaint and beautiful pagodas and have embellished the surroundings with just such gardens as have won the Japanese the enviable reputation of developing and perfecting such flowers and plants as they cultivate.

Asthma Germ Discovered

And Every Case Can Be Speedily Cured.

Only recently has Asthma been considered a disease of germ origin.

Dr. Wilkinson, who has had a long experience in the treatment and cure of diseases of a nervous character, has discovered the true cause of Asthma, and what is of more importance to the unfortunate sufferers of that dreaded malady, he has also discovered the remedies that will effect a speedy and permanent cure in every case. The doctor has located the asthma germ in the alimentary canal, and the nerve irritation produced by the germ is reflected to the air passages, causing the spasmodic strictures, which constitute an attack of Asthma. During the past year Dr. Wilkinson has treated over 100 cases of Asthma, and he has effected a speedy and permanent cure in every case. A cure is guaranteed in every case.

Remember, every case is curable, and I cure every case 1 place on treatment.

The Prohibition party of Washtenaw county will hold a convention at the court house, Ann Arbor, Saturday, May 14, at 1:30 p. m., to elect 13 delegates to the state convention to be held at Lansing, June 1. The county committee will also be reorganized at that time.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Fall has addressed a circular letter to the various schools of the state urging the observance by the schools of Arbor day tomorrow. He says it is the "first of the spring holidays and foremost of importance to the school life and work."

Tuesday, April 26, was the 85th anniversary of the introduction of Oddfellowship into America. On that date in the year 1819 Father Thomas Wylie and four others instituted the first lodge of Independent Order of Oddfellows, which is now one of the greatest fraternities both numerically and beneficially on the face of the globe.

Michigan's university athletes made a great cleaning up at the University of Pennsylvania games Saturday, winning four first and two second places in the six events entered. Each winner carried off a gold watch as a trophy of his athletic skill. Ralph Rose, the giant Californian, put the shot 48 feet 2 inches and equalled the world's record.

Allan F. Rockwell, an old Chelsea high school graduate, who has been superintendent of the Alma schools for the past year, is well thought of in that place. He has been invited to stay there next year at an increase in salary of $100. The Alma Record pays a high tribute to him as a man and a teacher and says the board acted wisely in tendering him the position for another year.

Tomorrow, April 29, is Arbor day by proclamation of Governor Bliss.

Frank Wood Staffan was four years old Saturday and to celebrate the event Mrs. Staffan made a party for him, to which 14 little ones were invited. The children had a happy time and enjoyed it and the dainty refreshments served as only children can. Master Frank received some very pretty presents from his guests.

The first baseball game of the season was played at McLaren-Begole park Saturday afternoon. The Junior Stars were pitted against the Pinckney High School nine and they simply mopped the earth with their visitors, none of whom got to second base. The final score was 17-0. During the game Bert Steinbach, who was catching, had one of his fingers badly split necessitating several stitches being taken in it.

The 70th anniversary of the Washtenaw Baptist Association will be held with the First Baptist church of Chelsea next Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 and 5. There will be six sessions of the convention and the program is full of papers and discussions that will prove of great interest in such a gathering. The delegates to the meeting will be entertained by the members of the Chelsea church during their stay here.

Articles of incorporation of the Consolidated Traction Co., of Jackson, were filed with the secretary of state at Lansing Monday. The new company is one formed by W. A. Boland to take over the property of the Jackson & Suburban Traction Co., now operating the Jackson city lines, and a road to Grass Lake, also a spur line connecting Wolf Lake resort and casino, ten miles east of Jackson, with the Boland system. The capital stock of the new company is $1,000,000. It was organized by a New York capitalist and seems to be an important step in the construction of the Boland system eastward.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.
