Mrs. Henry Schultz Passed Away Thursday Night Last.

Mrs. Marie Schultz, widow of the late Henry Schultz, died Thursday night, Oct. 20, of heart disease, at the home of her son Fred Schultz, near North Lake, after an illness of four weeks, aged 67 years, 3 months and 9 days. Mrs. Schultz did not ong survive her husband, he having passed away last July. Her maiden name was Marie Jennes and she was born in Holstein, Germany, July 11, 1837. She and Mr. Schultz were married in 1860 and came to America on their wedding trip. Of the 13 children born to them eight survive her, all grown to manhood and womanhood, married and settled in life The funeral services were held in the M. E. church, Chelsea, Sunday afternoon, Rev. P. Pohly, pastor of the Four Mile Lake Evangelical church, officiating. As in the case of their father the six sons were the pallbearers at the funeral. The remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in Oak Grove cemetery.

Rendered an Open Verdict.

The inquest into the cause of the death of August Zulke, who was killed Tuesday, Oct. 18, by being run over by a coal car on the Michigan Central railroad at the Main street crossing in this place, was held in the basement of the town hall Friday afternoon before Justice J. P. Wood and the following named jury: Tom S. Hughes, Fred G. Fuller, C. M. Davis, Ed. H. Chandler, Chas. Tichenor and Roy Evans.

The engineer, conductor and two brakemen of the train, Fred Gilbert, Fred Bennett and Mrs. Mary Dann were the witnesses examined. Their evidence did not agree in many points as to the circumstances attending the fatal occurrence.

The jury returned an open verdict to the effect that August Zulke came to his death while in the discharge and crushed by a car, but whether by fault of employees of the M. C. R. R. or his own carelessness they were unable to determine.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

North Lake Young Man Loses His Foot in a Threshing Machine.

Alfred S. Heatley, of North Lake, well known and popular young man of 23 years of age, met with a sad accident Friday morning, Oct. 21, which has left him maimed and a cripple for life. He was at work for Peter Gorman with his threshing outfit and they were threshing beans for John Bauer on the Hummel farm in Lyndon. Mr. Gorman had just started up the machinery under a good head of steam, and Mr. Heatley was putting the feed board in place when the bottom of the leg of his pants was caught by the machinery and his right foot was drawn into the cylinder and crushed to a pulp. His agonizing scream was heard by Mr. Gorman who promptly shut off the driving power, or the young man's whole leg would have been drawn into the machine. Medical aid was summoned and Dr. Andros Gulde went out to the scene of the accident and on examination found it necessary to amputate the foot just below the ankle, which was done. He is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

he is overcome by the oddest look whensoever he watches you without your seeing—as though he were not ure of you, in some way, and yet-I cannot explain it! Only tell me this—does he not ask you, many s and oft, if you love him, or if thers love you, or such like?"

in the midst of shaking her head, Randalin paused and her mouth be came as round as her eyes. "Foolishly do I recall it! As if he would! And yet Dearwyn, he has asked me four if any Danes visit us here. ld you think that he could be-"

"Jealous?" Dearwyn dropped her nowers to clap her hands softly. Tata, I have guessed his distemper rightly. Let no one say that I am not a witch for cleverness!"

A while they nestled together withresting lovingly on her friend's dark hair.

It was a page thrusting aside the arras that broke the spell. Opening his mouth to make a flourishing announcement, the words were checked on his tongue by four white hands motioning stern commands for silence.

"It is the King's Marshal," he framed with protesting lips. But even that failed to gain him admittance.

As she tripped after him down the corridor, a little frown was forming between Randalin's brows. "I think it is not well-mannered of the fellow to say 'the King's Marshal' as though my lord were Canute's thane," she was reflecting, "and I shall put an end to it. Whatever others say, one never needs to tell me that Sebert is not suffering in his service."

With this thought in her mind, she raised the moth-eaten tapestry and stood looking at him with a face full | who stepped into his shoes, out of of generous indignation. As he turned some spite, has refused Teboen's gold.

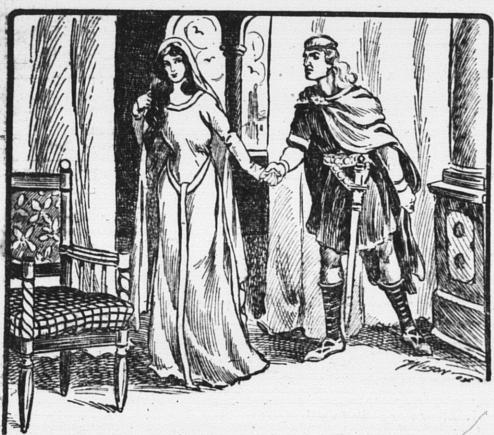

she looked up at him with over-brimming laughter. Even as his face was clearing, something in it struck her so strangely that her laughter died and she bent toward him in sudden gravity. "Lord! Is it possible for you to believe that I could love Roth-

For a while he only looked at her, that strange radiance growing in his face; but suddenly he caught her to him and kissed her so passionately that he hurt her, and his voice was as passionate as his caress. "No," he told her over and over. "Would I have offered you my love had I believed that? No! No!"

Satisfied, she made no more resistance, but clung to him with her arms as she had clung to him with her heart since the first hour he came into her life. Only, when at last he released her, she took the ring from out speaking, the little maid's cheek her finger and thrust it into his hand with a little gesture of distaste. " shall be thankful if I do not have to see it again. It is Elfgiva's, that Canute gave her after he had won it from Rothgar in some wager. It is her wish that you bring it to the King again by slipping it into his broth or his wine where he will come upon it after he has finished feeding and is therefore amiable-"

But it was only very faintly that he smiled at her fooling, as he held the spiral against the light and shook it beside his ear. "Is there no more to the message," he said slowly. "Am I to know nothing of her object? Or why I am chosen of all others?"

"Easy is it to tell that," she laughed. You were not chosen without a reason, and that is because no one else is to be had, since the scullion who formerly served her has gotten himself killed in some way and the man at the end of the beat he was pacing And as for her object-I wonder at

What is it, my raven?"

Her lips smiled back at him, but a mist was over her eyes. "It is your King that I am angry with, lord. He is not worthy that a man like you should serve him."

Moving toward her again, he heldhimself a little straighter. "I serve not the King, dear heart," he said gently, "but the State of England, in whose service the highest is none too good to bend."

She yielded him her hands, but not her point. "That does not change the fact that it is his overbearingness which makes your path as though you trod on nettles, for certainly I know it is so, though you will not say it!" Neither would he admit it now, but laughed lightly as he drew her to him. "Now may he not give me thorns who gives me also the sweetest rose in his kingdom? I tell you he as the kingliest king ever I had to deal with, and the chief I would soonest trust England to. Be no Danish rebel, shield-maiden, or as the King's officer I will mulct your lips for every word of treason."

She showed no rebellion against his authority, at all events; and her hands remained in his clasp until of his own accord he opened his fingers with an exclamation.

"Do you wear bracelets for rings. my fair, or what? WHAT!" From the monstrous, bauble in his palm, he raised his eyes to hers, and if the had seen their look she might have answered differently. But her gaze was still on the ring; and as she felt him - start, that impish dimple peeped out

"Willingly; more than one," she consented; but forgot to wait for it as a memory, wakened by his words. stirred in her. "Now is the time for me to remember that there is one thing I have not been altogether truthful about, through forgetting-about the Danes we have seen. I recall now that last winter Teboen often saw one when she was gathering herbs in the wood. She spoke with him of the magic things she brews to make Elfgiva sleep, and he gave her herbs which she thought so useful that she has been fretful because she has not seen him since-

Unconsciously, the young soldier's hands tightened on her shoulders until she winced. "You know with certainty that she has never seen him since?" he demanded-"that Danes had naught to do with the last token Elfgiva sent through the scullion? You can swear to it?"

"Certainly, if they speak the truth, I know it," she answered, wonderingly. "How should Danes-why, Sebert, what ails you?"

For he had let go her shoulders as abruptly as he had seized them, and walked away to the window that looked out upon the rain-washed garden. After a moment's hesitation, she stole after him. "Sebert, my love, what is it? Trouble is in your mind, there is guardian, so at last he let her finish the subject, and stood pressing her hands upon his breast, his eyes resting dreamily on her face.

When she had finished, he said slowly, "Sweeting, because my mind is laboring under so many burdens that my wits are even duller than they were wont, will you not have the patience to answer one question that is not clear to me? Her eyes met his wonderingly. "By no means could I have said that, lord. When I left home, I knew not that Rothgar lived. The one in whom I had too much faith was the King. She laughed a little unsteadily at the sudden crimsoning of his face. "And I am still ashamed-and ashamed of being ashamed-that I showed you so plainly what my heart held for you. . . Bending, he kissed her lips with the utmost tenderness. "I am well content," he said. And after that they spoke only of the future, when the first period of his Marshalship should be over and he should be free to take his bride back to the fields and woods of Ivarsdale, and the gray old Tower on the hill.

CHAPTER XXVI.

When the King Takes a Queen. Out under the garden's spreading fruit trees, the little gentlewomen of Elfgiva's household were amusing themselves with the flock of peacocks that were the Abbey's pets. The old cellarer, to whose care the birds fell except during those hours when the brethren were free from such indulgences, watched the scene in grinning delight; and Leonorine laughed gaily at them over the armful of tiny bobbing lap-dogs, whose valiant charges Elfgiva herself.

"Will you not observe my feelings, if you have none of your own?" she demanded. "Dearwyn, lay aside your nonsense and go ask Gurth if he has heard anything yet of Tebeen."

The dull red that mottled her face and neck was a danger signal whose warning her attendants had learned to heed, and they scattered precipitately. Only the old cellarer, herding his gorgeous flock with waving arms, ventured to address her.

"Is it the British woman you are inquiring after, lady? The woman who comes to the lane-gate, of a morning, to get new milk for your drinking?" (To be continued.)

Name Brought Recollections of Good Book to Grinning Youth.

"Because my name is Lord I frequently have not a few funny experiences," said J. G. Lord of Muncie, Ind. One of the most amusing incidents I ever had by reason of my name happened while I was driving from town to town in Colorado. While on the road one day, driving very slowly, for I had plenty of time, I chanced to notice by the roadside a young fellow about 16 years old, dressed in as ragged a fashion as any one you could ever conceive of. He this mixture should be used to eight had on a pair of his father's wornout trousers, which were cut off at the bottom, and which extended far up on his body, almost to his shoulders. Statistics on Coal Supply. According to Statistician Edward W. Parker of the United States geological survey it will be from 180 to 230 years before anthracite coal will be exhausted in this country, although were the present rate of exhaustion and waste to continue the end would come in eighty years. But while he anticipates some increase in this direction in the next decade, after that he looks for a marked tendency to economize the supply. He notes the interesting fact that, although the production of anthracite has not kept pace with that of bituminous coal, it has increased faster than the population in the region where most of it is consumed. In 1880, he says, 1.82 tons of anthracite were produced for each inhabitant of the anthracite using portion of the country. This was in creased to 2.47 tons per capita by 1890, and in 1900 to 2.53 tons. Using the entire population of the United States as the basis the per capita production of bituminous coal was .85 ton in 1880, 1.76 tons in 1890 and 2.76 tons in 1900. In 1860 two-thirds of the coal produced vania anthracite, while in 1870 anthracite constituted one-half the total, and for the last five years it has amounted to about one-fifth.

Moves Pianos Without Jar.

Hoisting large and bulky articles to the upper floors of a building takes skill and experience, and is seldom attempted except by those acquainted with the business. The method ordinarily used is to put up a block Even yet I do not like the thought of and tackle, which is always very cumbersome and in which heavy timbers

Moves Piano Without Jar. are necessary. A Canadian has de vised the very useful apparatus shown in the illustration. It is designed for the purpose of hoisting and putting through windows in the upper stories of buildings large, heavy and bulky articles. The apparatus is so constructed that it can be set to comshe was engaged in restraining. The municate with the first, second and only person who seemed out of tune third stories of buildings and when with the chiming mirth was the Lady | the work is done it can be quickly taken down and compactly put together for transportation. One of the chief advantages is that large articles can be put through the windows, as the parts take up little space. Pianos could be hoisted with little or no strain to the instrument, with no danger of scratches. It would also do away with the trouble of getting up narrow stairways and passing around sharp corners. The article to be hoisted is placed on the carrier, which is raised by the usual rope run over pulleys and attached to a roller turned by a crank. Riggers could use this apparatus to advantage, as could also piano movers or movers of safes. Lorenzo D. Frazer of Toronto, Ont.,

New Process in Alloys. A Philadelphia man claims to have discovered a process of alloying these metals perfectly homogeneously. The with a mixture of oxide iron and calcium carbide. Any oxide of iron, either hematite or the black oxide, can be used. A mixture of three parts of oxide of iron and one part calcium carbide is made, and, if it is desired to obtain a 50 per cent alloy of copper and iron, eighteen parts of parts copper. The copper is melted in a crucible and the mixture added, a little at a time, the bath being stired and the temperature raised gradually. When the operation is completed the alloy is found in ingots of any other desired form. If an alloy containing as much as 85 per cent of iron is required the process is reversed, a bath of iron being substituted for the bath of copper and a mixture of oxide of copper and calcium carbide being aded. The inventor claims that, on account of the fact one of the metals is presented to the other in a nascent condition, a perfect union is formed.

First Knowledge of Ice. There is a small ice plant at Jerusalem which has been in operation for three years. An oil engine of three 700 pounds a day, and the capacity of the works is 1,400 pounds daily. The established, had never seen ice.

Good health and good sense are two of life's greatest blessings.

The Mission of Whisky, Tobacco and Coffee

The Creator made all things, we be If so, He must have made these.

We know what He made food and water for, and air and sunshine, but why Whisky, Tobacco and Coffee? They are here surs enough and each performing its work.

There must be some great plan behind it all; the thoughtful man seeks to understand something of that plan and thereby to judge these articles for their true worth.

Let us not say "bad" or "good". without taking testimony. There are times and conditions when it certainly seems to the casual observer that these stimulant narcotics are real blessings.

Right there is the ambush that conceals a "killing" enemy.

One can slip into the habit of either whisky, tobacco or coffee easy enough, but to "untangle" is often a fearful

It seems plain that there are circumstances when the narcotic effect of these poisons is for the moment beneficial, but the fearful argument against them is that seldom ever does one find a steady user of either whisky, coffee or tobacco free from disease of some kind.

Certainly powerful elements in their effect on the human race.

It is a matter of daily history, testified to by literally millions of people, that Whisky, Tobacco and Coffee are smiling, promising, beguiling friends on the start, but always false as he'll itself in the end. Once they get firm hold enough to show their strength, they insist upon governing and drive the victim steadily towards ill health in some form; if permitted to continue to rule, they will not let up until physical and mental ruin sets in.

A man under that spell (and "under the spell" is correct) of any one of these drugs frequently assures himself and his friends, "Why, I can leave off any time I want to. I did quit for a week just to show I could." It is a sure mark of the slave when one gets to that stage. He wiggled through a week, fighting every day to break the spell, was finally whipped, and began is there and it pays in every wayhis slavery all over again.

The slave (Coffee slave as well as Tobacco and Whisky) daily reviews his | habits and strip clean for the work condition, sees perfectly plain the steady encroachments of disease, how the nerves get weaker day by day and demand the drug that seems to smile and offer relief for a few minutes and then leave the diseased condition plainer to view than ever and growing worse. Many times the Coffee slave realizes that he is between two fires. He feels bad if he leaves off and a little worse if he drinks and allows the effect to wear off.

So it goes on from day to day. Every night the struggling victim promises himself that he will break the habit and next day when he feels a little bad (as he is quite sure to), breaks, not the habit, but his own resolution. It is nearly always a tough fight, with disaster ahead sure if the habit wins.

There have been hundreds of thousands of people driven to their graves through disease brought on by coffee drinking alone, and it is quite certain that more human misery is caused by coffee and tobacco than by whisky, for the two first are more widely used, and more hidden and insidious in the effect on nerves, heart and other vital organs, and are thus unsuspected until much of the dangerous work is done. Now, Reader, what is your opinion as to the real use the Creator has for these things? Take a look at the question from this point of view.

There is a law of Nature and of overcome the difficulties besetting Nature's God that things slowly evolve those who have attempted to make from lower planes to higher, a sturdy. alloys of copper and iron, and to have steady and dignified advance toward more perfect things in both the Physical and Spiritual world. The ponderprocess consists of melting copper ous tread of evolutionary development is fixed by the Infinite and will not be quickened out of natural law by any of man's methods.

Therefore we see many illustrations showing how nature checks too rapid advance. Illinois raises phenomenal crops of corn for two or three years. If she continued to do so every year her farmers would advance in wealth far beyond those of other sections or countries. So Nature interposes a bar every three or four years and brings on a "bad year."

Here we see the leveling influence

A man is properous in his business for a number of years and grows rich. Then Nature sets the "leveling influence" at work on him. Some of his investments lose, he becomes luxuricus and lazy. Perhaps it is whisky, tobacco, coffee, women, gambling or some other form. The intent and purpose is to level him-keep him from evolving too far ahead of the masses.

A nation becomes prosperous and great like ancient Rome. If no leveling influence set in she would dominate the world perhaps for all time. But Dame Nature sets her army of "levelers" at work-luxury, overeathorse power furnishes the power, ing and drinking, licentiousness, waste while the freezer is of French manu. and extravagance, indulgences of all facture. The sale of ice amounts to kinds—then comes the wreck. Sure, Sure, Sure.

The law of the unit is the law of tentions at all.—Baltimore Americal demand is increasing among the in the mass. Man goes through the same habitants, who, until this plant was process. Weakness (in childhood), gradual growth of strength, energy, thrift, probity, prosperity, wealth, comfort, ease, relaxation, self-indulgence, luxury, idleness, waste, debauchery, an election.

disease, and the wreck follows, "levelers" are in the bushes along the pathway of every successful man a woman, and they bag the majority, Only now and then can a man star out against these "levelers" and hol his fortune, fame and health to the

So the Creator has use for Whish Tobacco and Coffee to level down the successful ones and those who show signs of being successful, and ke them back in the race, so that the great "field" (the masses) may not b left too far behind.

And yet we must admit that sam all-wise Creator has placed it in the power of man to stand upright, clothe in the armor of a clean-cut, stead mind, and say unto himself, "I decline to exchange my birthright for a mess of pottage.

"I will not deaden my senses, weak en my grip on affairs and keep my self cheap, common and behind in for tune and fame by drugging with whisky, tobacco or coffee. Life is to short. It is hard enough to win the good things without any sort of handcap, so a man is certainly a fool trader' when he trades strength, health, money and the good things that come with power for the half-asleep condition of the 'drugger,' with the certain ty of sickness and disease ahead."

It is a matter each individual must decide for himself. He can be a leader and semi-god if he will, or he can go along through life a drugged clown, a cheap "hewer of wood or carrier of water."

Certain it is that while the Great Father of us all does not seem to "mind" if some of his children are foolish and stupid, he seems to select others (perhaps those he intends for some special work) and allows them to be threshed and castigated most fearfully by these "levelers."

If a man tries flirting with these lerelers a while, and gets a few slaps as a hint, he had better take the hint, or a good solid blow will follow. When a man tries to live upright, clean, thrifty, sober and undrugged, manifesting as near as he knows what the Creator intends he should, happiness, health and peace seem to come to him. Does it pay?

This article was written to set peo ple thinking, to rouse the "God within," for every highly-organized man and woman has times when they feel a something calling from within for them to press to the front and "be about the Father's business." Don't mistake it; the spark of the Infinite health, happiness, peace and even worldly prosperity-to break off t cut out for us.

It has been the business of the writer to provide a practical and easy way for people to break away from the coffee habit and be assured of a return to health and all of the good things that brings, provided the abuse has not gone too far, and even then the cases where the body has been rebuilt on a basis of strength and health run into the thousands.

It is an easy and comfortable step to stop coffee instantly by having wellmade Postum Food Coffee served rich and hot with good cream, for the color and flavor is there, but none of the caffeine or other nerve-destroying elements of ordinary coffee.

On the contrary, the most powerful rebuilding elements furnished by Na ture are in Postum and they quick! set about repairing the damage. Sel dom is it more than two days after the change is made before the old stomach or bowel troubles or complaints of kidneys, heart, head or nerves show unmistakable evidence of getting better, and ten days' time changes things wonderfully.

Literally millions of brain-working Americans to-day use Postum, having found the value and common sense is the change.

Strange Effect of Diving.

A professional diver says that one of the strange effects of diving is the invariable bad temper felt while worklng at the bottom of the sea. "Yes, I suffered from Kidney Trouble for three years and tried six doctors to no good. Then I took just two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they not only cured my kidneys, but gave me better health in general. Of course I recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to others and I know a number now who are using them with good results."

Mr. Laudeman's case is not an exception. Thousands give similar experiences. For there never yet was a case of Kidney Trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills could not cure. They are the only remedy that ever cured Bright's disease.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N. Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me. on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me.

Edgar Weeks, a bright Mt. Clemens man, wants the legislature to make it a punishable offence for newspapers to publish pictures of political candidates and charge money for doing so. What does the fool think? That newspaper men are just working for their health all the time. Wonder if that's the way he runs his business? If it is, we do not wonder that he has such crude ideas as that above mentioned. Why should not such work be paid for just the same as any advertising?

DESERTER SHOT.

Then Shot.

Frederick C. Matthews, a raw recruit, held as a prisoner at Fort Wayne for desertion, it is believed by design, offered himself as a target for his guard and was shot dead. He had tried to hang himself on Friday.

Guard Frank J. Hilla took a squad of prisoners, according to custom, to a wood pile, in the eastern portion of the grounds, about 8 o'clock Monday forenoon, to cut some wood. Hilla called to the prisoner to halt, but Matthews paid no attention to the order, although he well understood that it would be the guard's next duty to shoot him. He selected a place to escape where there was no obstruction to dodge behind Either the prisoner's foot slipped or else he purposely faltered to afford the guard a better aim. Hilla again called upon him to stop, and knelt to the ground for a more careful aim. Matthews kept on. Then Hills fired and Matthews fell forward on his face.

The guard found Matthews breathing heavily, and on turning him over saw blood running from him in a stream. The guard had been armed with a mob rifle, the cartridges of which contain several projectiles. Two of these had taken effect and one passed clean through him.

"You got me all right," said the wounded man feebly to the trembling and agitated guard, who held up the head of the dying man.

He was carried promptly to the hospital, but an examination showed that he had been fatally injured. Major Ganby, in charge of the hospital, found that one of the bullets had gone through the liver, and that this wound alone would have caused death,

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.-With the closing of the week the semi-panic produced by the heavy reverse sustained by Gen, Kuropatkin's army last week has in a great measure disappeared, and there is a much more cheerful feeling pervading the war office.

Washington, Oct. 22 .- The Japanese legation today received the following cablegram from Tokio:

"Marshal Oyama reports that the investigation completed-after Oct. 22 regarding the Russian losses at the battle of Shakhe shows that there were about 500 prisoners and 10,550 dead. ### No. Peace Overtures.

An announcement from Washington saying that the administration believed the time for mediation in the war was approaching has created an unfavorable impression in Russian government circles at St. Petersburg, where there is an inclination to associate it with the interview of the Associated Press with a diplomat at Tokio suggesting the propriety of renewing the efforts in behalf of the restoration of peace.

The idea of peace, it is asserted here, could hardly come more inopportunely, with the Japanese in the full flush of victory. It has aroused only resentment and there is no doubt that if President Roosevelt should actually attempt to open the question at this time he would meet with a rebuff.

"But how?" asked Lizzie, curiously.

"A prudent general," said Guy, haughtily, "never confides his plans to his army, particularly when the army is of feminine gender; so excuse me, mum's the word. But rest assured, my dearest Elizabeth, that unless your worthy uncle shuffles off this mortal coil in a surreptitious manner before 12 o'clock to-morrow he will not do it afterward-of course I mean illegally. Farewell till to-morrow."

The next morning Mr. Maddox made his appearance, very saturnine and gloomy, and ate his breakfast with a mournful air that was terribly impressive. Having finished, he then took leave of his niece in a feeling man-

"I am about to leave you," said he, mournfully. "I am about to end this life of misery. I hope that you may be happy."

"Oh, don't go!" said Lizzie, tearfully clinging to him and looking into his face pleadingly.

"It's useless," said Mr. Maddox firmly: "My mind is fixed, and nothing you can do can persuade me to relinquish my purpose. But you, my dear child, shall not be unprovided for. I intend to make my will in the few hours that are left me, and you will not be forgotten. Good-bye, my dear child, farewell!"

And then, after embracing his niece fervently, he rushed from the room and securely locked himseslf in his own room, and began to prepare himself for his last journey.

"Nine o'clock!" he said to himself, looking at his watch. "Three hours yet! How slow the time passes, to be sure! Now, what shall I do until 12, for I am determined not to die until

Harlan W. Whipple, president of the American Automobile association, tells this story at the expense of an enthusiastic "autoist" who last fall made a tour of the White mountains:

"The tourist, who was accompanied by his wife and two other women,' says President Whipple, "was clad in a long brown duster considerably the worse for being spotted with axle grease and having been torn in several places. Parents often make the mistake of occupying all the child's time, but this is not only wearying for the little one, but it is distinctly unfair; a child cannot be expected to fill up every moment as a grown person would do. Let the children romp and play as long as possible and when it is necessary for them to begin study or even to take up certain duties, still recognize the playtime, and see that the boy or girl has as much recreation as possible. They will work ever so much better if the work time be interspersed with play.-Exchange.

Sick Two Years-Jured in 13 Days.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 21, 1904. I live in New Mexico, and I came to Michigan last spring to get cured. I first went to the Battle Creek Sanitarium, but got little relief. I next tried one of the best physicians in Grand Rapids without being benefited. Then I came to Jackson and tried another physician, but grew worse. I then sent for Dr. Wilkinson to come and see me, for I had got so bad I could not go to his office. He diagnosed my case different from that of any of the other doctors My heart was so bad I had to do all my sleeping in a chair, and my legs were so swollen with dropsy I could hardly walk. I began to think there was no help for me, but Dr. Wilkinson gave me medicine and the second night I slept soundly all night lying down in bed, and in four days the swollen condition of my legs had disappeared entirely, and now I feel so well I will start for my home in New Mexico next Saturday. I write this for the benefit of others who are sick, and not to benefit Dr. Wilkinson, for I have paid him for his services.

We wonder how Democratic subscribers relish the flings made at their party candidates and the principles for which they stand by some of our local papers during the present campaign.

There will be countless bushels of good apples go to waste in Michigan orchards this year, owing to the low price for which they sell and the scarcity of farm labor. Many farmers are just gathering what apples they need for their own use, letting the rest go to the hogs and cattle.

CLOTHCRAFT RAINCOATS AND OVERCOATS

If the purpose of a raincoat were simply to shield the wearer from rain there wouldn't be any reason for your wearing a Clothcraft Raincoat in preference to another.

But a rain proof garment must have style, fit and distinction in order to meet the requirements of modern civilization.

Clothcraft Raincoats embody? every attribute of the tailor's art, Note the style illustrated to the

BLOOD DISEASES

If you inherited or contracted any Blood Disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body, eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—enlarged glands. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury, potash and patent medicines, which suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure you. OUR GUARANTEES ARE BACKED BY BANK BONDS that the Blood or Skin disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our NEW METHOD TREATMENT for over 20 years, and no return of the disease. No experiment, no risknot a "patch up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Morcury, Hot Springs, &c., all falled.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, after Treatment dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing thm. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay, investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."
