

The Chelsea Standard.

VOL. XVI. NO. 39.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1904.

WHOLE NUMBER 819

CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK,

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

Oldest and Strongest Bank in Western Washtenaw County.

Capital and Surplus, - $90,000.00

Guarantee Fund, - - - $150,000.00

Total Resources, - $500,000.00

Money to Loan on Good Approved Security.

This Bank is under State control; has abundant capital and a large surplus fund and does a general Banking business.

Interest Paid on Time Deposits.

We draw Drafts payable in Gold in any City in the World.

Make collections at reasonable rates in any banking town in the country.

PROMPT ATTENTION GIVEN TO ALL BUSINESS ENTRUSTED TO US.

Deposits in the Savings Department draw three per cent. interest which is paid or credited to account on January 1st or July 1st.

Safety Deposit Vaults of the best modern construction Absolutely Fire and Burglar Proof.

Boxes to rent from $1 00 to $5.00 per year.

Your Business Solicited.

DIRECTORS.

W. J. KNAPP, F. P. GLAZIER, JOHN W. SCHENK,
G. W. PALMER, WM. P. SCHENK, ADAM EPPLER,
V. D. HINDELANG, HENRY I. STIMSON, FRED WEDEMEYER

OFFICERS.

FRANK P. GLAZIER, President. W. J. KNAPP, Vice President.
THEO. E. WOOD, Cashier. P. G. SCHAIBLE, Assistant Cashier.
A. K. STIMSON, Auditor. HERMAN A. BENTER, Accountant.

ST. PAUL'S EVANGELICAL.

SUNDAY NOVEMBER 6.

Renovation and Organ Dedication With Mission Festival--Services at 10 O'clock A. M. 2:30 and 7 O'clock P. M.

Next Sunday, November 6, will be a memorable day in St. Paul's Evangelical congregation of Chelsea. It will mean to them the re-opening of their pretty church edifice, with appropriate services for the renovation, organ dedication and mission festival.

The program for the day will be as follows: (sun time). 10 o'clock a. m., Rev. J. Graver, of Francisco, sermon; 2:30 o'clock p. m., Rev. John Neu-

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

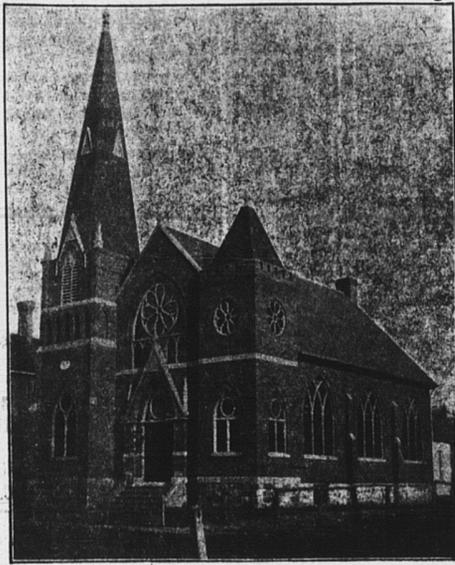

No other department of the state government is charged with duties so numerous and varied as that of the secretary of state, and in volume of labor performed it stands second only to that of the auditor general. Among the multifarious responsibilities of the secretary's office are the custody and use of the great seal of the state; custody and records of the state; supervision and printing of the reports of various officers and boards of the state; collection, compilation and publication of the statistics of the decennial census; issue of patents for state lands; publication and distribution of laws and documents; notification of elections and compilation of returns; approval of bonds and oaths of officers, and articles of association and incorporation; recording names and terms of justices and notaries; making

STATE TREASURER OFFICE

GROWS YEARLY

In Importance, Until Its Transactions Have Reached the Amount of Eight Millions--Michigan is a Big State.

The office of the state treasurer in Michigan has grown with the growth of the state and the enlargement and development of the public institutions and operations of the state, until its transactions have reached the great amount of $8,000,000 received and disbursed in a single year. This is a republican record, and it is one to cause pride and congratulation. The party that has not been entrusted by the people with the control of state affairs in the last fifty years, except for one two-year term fourteen years ago, is seeking to make this record a ground of discontent, but the people are too intelligent

ST. PAUL'S EVANGELICAL CHURCH.

REV. ALBERT A. SCHOEN, PASTOR.

mann, of the orphan's home in Detroit and Rev. Paul Irion, of Freedom, president of Michigan district of the Evangelical synod of North America; 7 o'clock p. m., Rev. Samuel John, of Ann Arbor. This last service and sermon will be in the English language. The choir of the Bethlehem Evangelical church, of Ann Arbor, will assist in all the services.

The congregation of St. Paul's church can be congratulated on reaching their present milestone. This present church was built in 1892. At that time, with commendable caution, they proceeded slowly, finishing the interior of the church, particularly the ceiling, very modestly. Now they have felt they could go farther, and the ceiling has been plastered, and the whole interior of the church very tastefully frescoed and repainted, including the floor. The whole gives a pleasing impression. When the church was organized, February 2, 1868, a simple small cottage organ was secured. Now a fine large Battle Creek compensating organ has been installed. This will be of more than usual interest, because of the fact that it will be the first compensating organ in use in any church in Michigan.

The congregation has during the pastorate of their present pastor, Rev. Albert A. Schoen, who entered upon his duties in March, 1901, made other improvements such as repairing the parsonage and school house. The congregation by their united efforts, are constantly becoming stronger, and are wielding a greater influence for good in this community.

WHICH WILL YOU HAVE?

The republican proposition is that the voters of each county and district shall have the privilege of nominating their candidates by primary ballot, or by the convention method, as they shall prefer; and republicans have shown their faithfulness and sincerity in this by enacting primary election laws for such counties and districts as have asked for that, and then by honestly employing those laws for the purpose intended. The democrat proposition is that the primary method of nomination shall be imposed upon all the counties and districts, and the state at large, by mandatory enactment; and democrats have shown their unfaithfulness and insincerity by taking advantage of the laws enacted for those counties and districts, to dishonestly and treacherously pervert them to their partisan advantage, and to defeat the purpose intended. Which will the people prefer?

Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Mary Simpson, Everything disagreed with me and baby until I used Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Now baby sleeps and grows like a weed. 35 cents. Tea or tablet form. Glazier & Stimson.

out and delivering of commissions, pardons, warrants and requisitions; collection of statistics of births, marriages, divorces and deaths, and of the deaf, dumb, blind, epileptic and idiotic; vital statistics, and the publication of health and mortality reports. The secretary is also a member of the board of state auditors, the board of state canvassers, the railroad crossing board, the board of control of swamp lands, board of trustees of escheated property, board of internal improvement, state board of equalization, and the bureau of labor and industrial statistics.

Under the administration of the Hon. Fred M. Warner during the last four years the business of the office has been conducted with the greatest faithfulness, efficiency and economy, and the new responsibility that has come to the office during the present term, in organizing the new census bureau and applying the provisions of the new law, has reflected high credit upon the secretary's office.

The republicans have nominated for this position a worthy successor for the ensuing term, in the person of Hon. George A. Prescott, of Iosco county. Mr. Prescott is no stranger to state affairs, having served in the senate from 1895 to 1897, and has been actively connected with important business interests as manager of the lumber and mercantile concerns of C. H. Prescott & Sons, at Tawas City. He has also filled various local offices in his home community, and has been a citizen of the state for twenty-six years, coming here from his native state of Pennsylvania at the age of 16, and fitting himself for his business career in the Bay City high school and Detroit Business College, and Madison University at Hamilton, N. Y.

PRETTY EXPENSIVE.

Large as the expenditure for newspaper advertising by candidates in the Wayne county primaries has been, it is but a trifle compared with the enormous expense piled upon those candidates in the aggregate. Hon. Sheridan J. Colby, who as a representative in the legislature labored uninterruptedly for the enactment of primary election laws, and was himself strangely and inconsistently defeated for renomination in the Wayne primaries--Mr. Colby says: "the cost of this primary to candidates has not been under $250,000." He said it did not cost him much, which probably partly accounts for his defeat. He intimates that democratic voters figured in his defeat, saying that the law "allows the democrats to come into our primaries and vote to nominate the weakest man, and they have evidently done that very thing." And those democrats want to be entrusted with framing and administering a primary law for the whole state.

HON. FRANK P. GLAZIER,
[For State Treasurer.

for the success of such an effort. They know well the falsity and absurdity of the democratic pretense, that the treasury transactions are evidence of the increasing burdens upon the people. They know that they are, on the contrary, evidence of increasing beneficence of the state secured for the people by wise measures of finance faithfully administered, without increase of their burdens. These measures are securing from sources other than levies upon the taxpayers, millions of dollars annually, which are distributed through the treasury to relieve local taxation in all the counties and districts of the state.

This growth in the financial transactions of the state enhances the importance of the treasurer's office, which handles and accounts for every dollar of the money. The state treasurer is also under the constitution a member of the state board of auditors, charged with the duty of adjusting all claims against the state not specifically provided for by law, and with the custody of the state's property at the capital; and also a member of the boards of state canvassers and equalization and others. It is an office demanding the highest degree of faithfulness and ability, and trained capacity in monetary affairs. Such a man is the Hon. Frank P. Glazier of Washtenaw county, whom the republicans have nominated for this position. He is only 42 years old, having been born at Jackson in 1862, but when he steps into the office of state treasurer, next January, he will bring to its duties exceedingly well ripened capabilities, and well demonstrated fitness for the high responsibility that those duties involve.--Lansing Republican.

ALWAYS THE SAME.

Ask the large force of men now or heretofore employed by Fred M. Warner, in his extensive business operations, if he is a safe man to trust with the guidance of the state's affairs for the next two years, or the next four years. They may not all know intimately of the details of the public business, but they do know Mr. Warner intimately, because he has not only been their employer, but their sympathetic friend; and they are assured from the wisdom and success of all his enterprises and his faithfulness in all relations, that he may be fully trusted in any responsibility that he consents to assume. They will point to their unvarying happy relations with him, and to the homes he has built for them on easy conditions of payment, and all his wise measures of mutual benefit, as the ground of their faith.--Lansing Republican.

QUICK ARREST.

J. A. Gullidge of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It cures quers aches and kills pain. 25 cents at Glazier & Stimson druggist.

CLOTHING FOR BOYS

About [this time some] boys need a change of clothes. You can get the kind of clothes you want if you will come to the right place. We would like to talk it over with you and show you our new fall styles. Our

Fall Clothing for Boys and children is so attractive that it is easily way ahead of any display ever made in Chelsea.

It Don't Cost Much to Cloth the Boys Here.

We have a good strong suit at $1.50

We have a large assortment of rattling good wearing suits at $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50. Made up stylish, good fitters and well sewed.

We have a still larger assortment at $3.00 and $3.50. These suits must be seen to be appreciated.

We always sell good clothing, but our boy's clothing this season is the best we have ever shown.

You Take no Chances in Coming Here.

We promise you better style Clothing for your money than you will buy elsewhere and guarantee absolute satisfaction or your money back.

COME AND LOOK.

W. P. SCHENK & COMPANY

See our advertisement on local page.

JEWELRY.

Saving your money. When you put your cash into good jewelry it's just like saving it. You always have that which is worth what it cost. The prettiest things are here.

A. E. WINANS, JEWELER.

Repairing of all kinds a specialty.

Sheet Music and periodicals in stock.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET.

KETTLE RENDERED

LARD 10 CENTS POUND

All kinds of Sausage on hand.

Give us a trial order.

ADAM EPPLER.

Phone 41, Free delivery.

MARSTELLER GRANITE WORKS

MANUFACTURERS OF

GRANITE MONUMENTS

The Best that can be produced in Quality, Finish and Proportion.

Marsteller Granite Works

CLINTON, MICH.

Bell Phone 70.

Take The Chelsea Standard

ANY ROOMS TO PAPER?

If you have, we can show you a large line of

NEW GOODS.

Beautiful Parlor Patterns, Rich, heavy gilts 16c to 30c double roll.

Hall and Dining Room Papers, Reds, greens, browns, etc., 12c to 20c.

Bedroom Paper, Delicate tints, 10c to 14c.

Kitchen Papers 8c to 12c.

All papers priced by double roll.

Moire Ceilings to match all papers

Varnished Tiles for bathrooms, etc.

Ingrain Papers.

We carry a good assortment in stock at lowest prices.

Moldings to match all papers

AT THE

BANK DRUG STORE

CHELSEA TELEPHONE NUMBER 8

SOME TRUE LITTLE FISH TALES IN VERSE

LITTLE JACK HORNER WENT TO THE CORNER
TO BUY HIS MOTHER SOME BREAD.
BUT THERE HE WAS SORELY TEMPTED
AND PURCHASED CANDY INSTEAD.

WEE BOBBIE WAS THE BRIGHTEST BOY
IN ALL THE CLASS. YOU SEE.
"NOW, BOBBIE, DEAR," HIS TEACHER SAID.
"KINDLY SPELL 'FAIL' FOR ME."

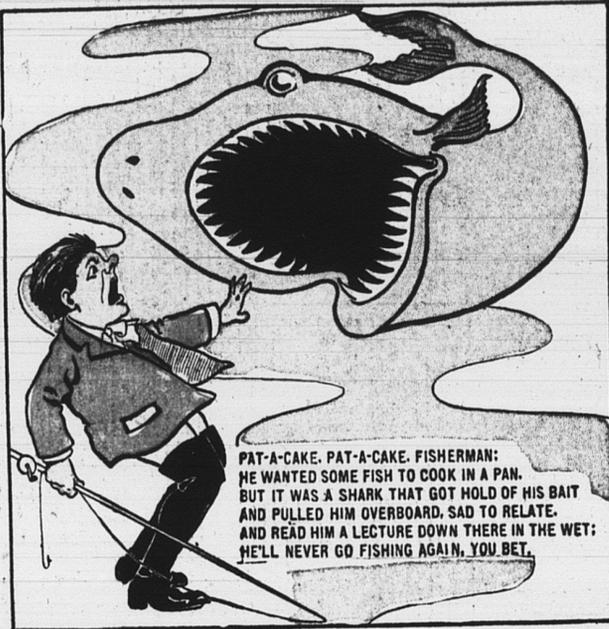

"I CANNOT, TEACHER," HE REPLIED,
AND SLYLY WAGGED HIS TAIL.
"BECAUSE MY PARENTS TAUGHT ME THAT THERE'S NO SUCH WORD AS 'FAIL.'"

WILLIE WAS A GOOD YOUNG FISH:
IN FACT HE NEVER BROKE THE LAW.
THOUGH HE NEVER FOUGHT, HIS FINISH WAS A HOOK UPON THE JAW.

"WHERE ARE YOU GOING, MY PRETTY MAID?"
"I'M GOING AWAY FROM THAT HOOK," SHE SAID.
"IF THE FISHERMEN WOULD CATCH US GIRLS FAR BETTER 'TWOULD BE TO USE MIRRORS INSTEAD."

PAT-A-CAKE, PAT-A-CAKE, FISHERMAN:
HE WANTED SOME FISH TO COOK IN A PAN.
BUT IT WAS A SHARK THAT GOT HOLD OF HIS BAIT
AND PULLED HIM OVERBOARD, SAD TO RELATE,
AND READ HIM A LECTURE DOWN THERE IN THE WET: HE'LL NEVER GO FISHING AGAIN, YOU BET.

HUMPTY DUMPTY WENT TO A BALL:
HUMPTY DUMPTY SAT BY THE WALL:
"OH, NONE OF THOSE 'NEW FANGLED CAKEWALKS,'" SAID HE,
"FAR BETTER A BLOOMIN' WALL FLOWER TO BE."

JOCO AND JACK

THEY FURNISH A BARREL OF FUN—FOR THEMSELVES.

WE'LL PLAY
A JOKE ON THE DOG.

YES WE'LL ROOL THE BARREL DOWN HILL.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT SHE SAID.

SHE'S A HORRID OLD THING

YOU NAUGHTY
DOGIE

JOCO AND JACK DID IT

JOCO
AND JACK NOT AT HOME

WE'LL HAVE TO CALL AGAIN

U SHOULD C

The bargains we are offering in our crockery department; we can only print them here. You'll want some of these:

- Ground Edge Tumblers, dozen..... 22 cents
- Crystal Glass Tumblers, dozen..... 30 cents
- Extra Heavy Clear Glass Tumblers, dozen..... 40 cents
- Heavy Blown Tumblers, dozen..... 75 cents
- Pure White and Gold Dinner Ware, very desirable, sold in open stock, any amount you want.
- White Toilet Sets..... $1.25

LAMPS.

A big line of new Lamps just in, marked to sell. Good Vase Lamps at 75c, 85c, $1.00 and $1.25 each. Large Center Draft Lamps at $1.75 each. The best Nickel Center Draft for $1.50. Lamp Chimneys, Burners, Wicks, Shades and Globes for all kinds of lamps. We are showing splendid line of Cut Glass and Fancy China suitable for wedding gifts, etc. You will find our prices the lowest.

FREEMAN BROS.

F. GLAZIER, President. O. C. BURKHART, 1st Vice Pres.
M. P. SCHENK, Treasurer. F. H. SWEETLAND, 2d Vice Pres.
JOHN W. SCHENK, Secretary.

Chelsea Lumber & Produce Co.

We Want Good Sound Potatoes. Come and see us when you have Grain to sell.

Remember--We carry in stock a full line of ALL KINDS OF ROOFING.

Get our prices--we will save you money. Yours for square dealing and honest weights.

Chelsea Lumber & Produce Co. Office, corner Main street and M. C. R. R.

ROY HAVEN

All Black and Set Up your Stoves.

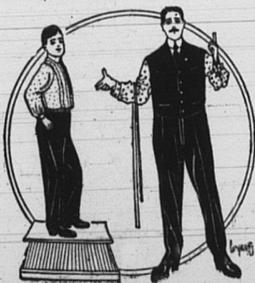

CHELSEA PHONE NO. 95.

ALL WINTER MILLINERY

Our superb showing of the new things in millinery we have: BOROUGHS HATS AND FRENCH SAILORS. Our line of trimmings consists of Hats, Shaded Velvets, Plumes, Owl Heads. Call and examine all the newest shades.

MILLER SISTER.

LET'S TAKE THE MEASURE. For that new suit. He'll be better satisfied with it, if we can if you purchase a ready-made one. You are well aware of the superiority of made-to-order clothing. Why not be as careful about your boy's suit as your own. We'll guarantee a perfect fit for the suit with your order. The cloth will be the best of selected and cut in the latest of style. Grade tailoring for the boy is part of our business. We charge for such work, too.

J. J. RAFTREY & SONS, WORKERS OF MEN'S CLOTHING.

LOCAL EVENTS

OF THE PAST WEEK FOR THE STANDARD'S READERS.

F. B. Schussler has had a telephone placed in his residence.

J. G. Webster, of Park street, is having his house repainted.

Carl Rhode, of Battle Creek, has accepted a position with Adam Eppler, the butcher.

Miss Grace McKernan has accepted a position as bookkeeper with W. P. Schenk & Co.

A. C. Yereance, who is at St. Joseph's Retreat at Dearborn for medical treatment, is convalescing.

The parochial school of St. Paul's Evangelical church was re-opened for the winter season Monday.

The next regular review of Columbian Hive, L. O. T. M. M., will be held Tuesday evening, November 8.

Jacob Hummel bought the milk route of B. H. Glenn Tuesday and will again supply Chelseaites with the lactic fluid.

Attention is called to the registration notice running in the Standard. If you are not registered do not forget to do so Saturday.

A. A. Conkright, of Wayne county, was in the village Tuesday. He was formerly in the grocery business in Chelsea.

Rev. C. S. Jones gave the evening address at the Berrien county convention of the Christian Endeavor last Friday evening at Niles.

Everybody is invited to the shoe social, to be given to the ladies of the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, November 9.

The auction last Monday of the personal property of the late J. G. Reichert, of Scio township, was well attended and over $2,000 were realized.

On Tuesday evening forty Maccabee ladies went to Ann Arbor where they exemplified the work in the hive. They were very handsomely entertained, and had a good time.

Thos. Glacklin and Tom Cody, on Monday pleaded guilty to being drunk and Justice Wood fined them each $10 and costs or 20 days in the county jail. They chose the latter.

Louis Yager, the well known Lima capitalist, when in the village Wednesday, reported that he has seen a number of wild ducks on the lakes in the vicinity of his house.

Louis Freer, of Lima, only 85 years old, attended the republican rally in Chelsea yesterday. He attended the meeting under the oaks, fifty years ago, and is still of the same mind.

The bans of matrimony between Frederick Hines Clark and Miss Anna Margaret Schwikerath were published Tuesday, November 1, for the first time in the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart.

Robert Lemm, of Sharon, was in the village Tuesday, having brought home his aunt Mrs. Mary Wortley, who spent a week visiting her brother Thomas Faulkner and sister Mrs. Myra Hewitt, both ill.

John Maynard, of Ann Arbor, a member of the well known pioneer family of that name, was in the village, at the republican rally yesterday. He had not been here in fifty years. He saw some changes.

The first quarterly meeting for the present church year will be held in the Methodist church next Sunday. Love-feast at 9:30 a. m., preaching and sacrament at 10:30 a. m. Everybody made welcome.

At the bazaar, to be given by the M. E. ladies in the town hall Saturday evening a delicious chicken pie supper will be given. Handsome handkerchiefs, candy and Ladies Home Journal booths will be in place.

Attorney W. W. Wedemeyer, of Ann Arbor, returned Saturday from the upper peninsula, where he has been making republican speeches. As usual, he was well received, and made from reports received, very convincing arguments.

On the John Schaufele farm in Dexter township 4 miles west of Dexter and 5 miles northeast of Chelsea, George W. Simmons will hold an auction Tuesday, November 15. E. W. Daniels the auctioneer will sell farming tools, hay, grain, furniture and etc.

Complaints are being made about the dilapidated condition of the election booths in Chelsea. They originally cost $2.40 and have been in use for 14 years. They are said to be so "holey" that outsiders can look through the cracks and see how the men vote. They should be attended to at once.

J. H. Kingsley the well known business of Manchester was in the city Saturday greeting friends.

Miss Kittie Hodge of Fenton is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Caster at the Methodist parsonage.

Mrs. C. S. Jones and sons Merle and Harold are visiting at the home of Mrs. Jones parents in Charlotte.

Mrs. George Hoffman and children of Imlay City are the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Eisele.

Mrs. Mary Winans who has been visiting her daughter in Toledo for some time returned home Saturday.

Dr. Thomas Clark of Jackson spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of Lyndon.

Mrs. James Prendergast of Durand was called here by the critical illness of her sister, Mrs. August Neuburger.

Mrs. Lula Buchanan of Sylvan visited with Mrs. W. S. Hamilton several days of the past week also calling on sick friends.

M. Boyd and wife left last Friday for Clio and other points in the northern part of the state where they will visit relatives.

Mrs. Sarah A. Shaver returned Saturday from a six weeks visit in Detroit. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Gregg.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Yereance will Tuesday, November 10 hold an auction of a large amount of property consisting of live stock, farming tools, hay, grain and etc at her farm three and a half miles east of Chelsea and four and a half miles west of Dexter. E. W. Daniels, will be the auctioneer.

The D., Y., A. A. & J. electric road is having the grass along its track cleaned out. It causes much annoyance by catching snow. One gang of six men started work west of Chelsea on Monday. They clean up some 3,400 feet a day. Superintendent Merrill is determined to have the road in splendid condition for the winter.

J. B. Stanton, on Saturday afternoon narrowly missed losing his left hand. He was at Faist's wagon shop where he was having some timber ripped up. In carrying out some of the stuff he stepped on a rolling stick, and in falling his left hand struck the saw. A sliver of bone was taken out of his little finger, his thumb nail and every finger cut.

Elaine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Jackson, of Summit street, west, gave a party Saturday afternoon to 23 of her little friends, it being her 10th birthday anniversary. Games and refreshments made the time pass quickly. The children had a good time and only wish Elaine's birthday would come around more often than once a year.

At the Congregational church the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed next Sunday morning. The sermon will be "Why all men are sinners?" This is the third of the series on Romans. In the evening another of the popular talks to young people will be "Taking Chances." Don't forget to bring your hymn book for the opening song service.

On Sunday evening, a special service, consisting of a concert, was given in the Congregational church. Ten little boys and girls in Japanese costumes sang very prettily. The special object of the concert was to arouse interest in the mission work of the American board in Japan. The church was crowded and a liberal offering for the American board was received.

At the Baptist state convention held recently at Pt. Huron, Rev. R. N. Van Doren, D. D., of Chicago, presented a new and beautiful banner to the Juniors of the Baptist church, at Chelsea, because of the excellent showing they made in the number of examination papers sent in in proportion to the membership of the church. There being no one present from the Washtenaw association, J. H. Montgomery, who formerly resided in Washtenaw county responded briefly.

Report of school in District No. 5, Lyndon. Attending every day, Mary and Bessie Johnson, Emery and Eva Pickell, Elsie, Spencer, Howard, Floyd and Francis Boyce, Inez Collins. Standing 95, Emery and Eva Pickell; 90, Inez Collins, Frances Boyce; 85, Howard, Floyd, Elsie Boyce, May, and Bessie Johnson; 80, John Boyce. The star spellers for the month were Margie, and George Goodwin, Inez Collins, Floyd and Francis Boyce. Mrs. Lucy Stephens, Teacher.

The following are some of the important bookings at the Athenaeum Jackson for the near future. The Village Postmaster, November 15; Wilton Lackaye in "The Pit," November 16; "Way Down East," November 17; "Eben Holden," November 19; Roselle Knott in "Cousin Kate," November 23; Quincy Adams Sawyer, November 24; "David Harum," November 30; J. H. Stoddard in "Bonnie Brier Bush," December 8; Ward and Yokes, December 9; "Arizona," December 13; "Under Southern Skies," December 19; "The Royal Cleft," December 23.

CLOAKS AND SUITS

PRICE, $15.00.

We illustrate here a few of the many new stylish womens and childrens garments shown in our Cloak and Suit Department.

In every detail of fabric, cut and finish there is depicted the highest type of excellence.

You can find here the up-to-date city styles at an actual saving of from 25 to 33 per cent from city prices.

One ladies' cut shows a 27 inch coat now in stock, in all colors, retails at $10.00.

PRICE, $10.00.

A second ladies' cut shows a three quarter length, retailed by us at $15.00. Good materials, carefully tailored, perfect in fit.

CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT.

We are showing a very complete assortment of Misses', Childrens' and Infants' GARMENTS in price from $1.50 to $10.00.

ASK TO SEE THEM.

W. P. SCHENK & COMPANY

Kodol DYSPEPSIA CURE

DIGESTS WHAT YOU EAT

The $1.00 bottle contains 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50 cents.

PREPARED ONLY AT THE LABORATORY OF

E. C. DeWITT & COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

GLAZIER & STIMSON.

THE MARKETS.

Chelsea buyers offer today, the following prices:

Wheat, red or white.....	$1.05 to 1.10
Oats.....	30 32
Rye.....	75 to 80
Beans.....	1 30
Clover seed.....	7 50
Live Beef Cattle.....	21 to 31
Veal Calves.....	5 to 5 1/2
Lamb.....	4 50
Live Hogs.....	3 to 05
Chickens, spring.....	09
Fowls.....	09
Potatoes.....	20 to 25
Onions.....	40
Butter.....	13 to 14
Eggs.....	18

Our Market Letter

Written with conciseness and authority, deals with the matters of the hour, pertaining to grain and stock investments. Upon request your name goes on our mailing list.

A. C. MARTIN & CO.

ASURE THING.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. Van Metre of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says "I had a severe case of bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for croup, whooping cough, grip, pneumonia and consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson druggist. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c, $1.00.

There will be another dancing party at the Dexter opera house Friday evening, November 4. Excellent music. Dance bill 50 cents. Dancing commences at 8:30. Supper a la carte. Chamberlin & Lemmon, managers.

The Pine Tree.

On an average a pine tree will yield turpentine for about five years, and after that time it is cut down and sent to the saw mill, the previous "boxing" for turpentine in nowise injuring its value for lumber.

Stop! Don't take imitation celery tea when you ask for Celery King, a medicine of great value. The "teas" are urged upon you because they are bought cheap. Never jeopardize your health in a bad cause. Celery King only costs 25 cents and it never disappoints.

A. C. Martin & Co.,

STOCKS, GRAINS AND PROVISIONS.

Continuous quotations, New York and Chicago

References: Local Banks.

Office in McKune block.

Phone 131.

DO YOU WANT A PIANO?

AT FACTORY PRICE

which means from $100 to $150 cheaper than you can buy through the retail dealer who gets his pianos from a city dealer. The Cable Piano Co., the largest piano manufacturers in the world, has appointed H. A. GIFFORD, Chelsea, Mich., their representative, and if you contemplate buying a Piano drop a postal card addressed to him, and he will call and arrange with you.

ATHENAEUM

JACKSON, MICH.

Thursday, November 10,

A BOY OF THE STREET

Prices, 15, 25, 35, 50.

Saturday, Matinee and Night, Nov. 12

On the Bridge

at Midnight.

PRICES, Matinee, 10, 25, Night, 15, 25, 35, 50, 50.

COMING

Wilton Lackaye

IN

THE PIT.

November 16.

One Minute Cough Cure For Coughs, Colds and Croup.

Young Girls

your looks will carry you as far as your books.

Study the opportunities for facial improvement as assiduously as you would your speller.

Woodbury's Facial Soap.

Cleanses without irritation and its marked curative properties render it invaluable for soothing and healing facial eruptions.

Remember if Beauty is only skin deep you must preserve that skin.

In cases of chapped or roughened hands Facial Cream, applied nightly, softens and whitens the skin, keeping it smooth and healthy.

SPECIAL OFFER.

In case your dealer cannot supply you we will send prepaid, to any address for $1.00 the following toilet requisites:

- 1 Cake Woodbury's Facial Soap.
- 1 Tube " Facial Cream.
- 1 " " Dental Cream.
- 1 Box " Face Powder.

Together with our readable booklet Beauty's Masque, a careful treatise on the care of the "outer self."

THE ANDREW JERGENS CO.,
CINCINNATI, O.

Wiggle Stick

WACH BLUE

Costs 10 cents and equals 20 cents worth of any other kind of bluing. Won't Freeze, Spill, Break around in the water.

Nor Spot Clothes

DIRECTIONS FOR USE:

Wiggle-Stick

At all wise Grocers.

A Country Breakfast Room.

A bright and cheery breakfast room in a country cottage has broad, low windows of leaded glass—pale amber and green. The wall paper is a soft clear green which is cool and refreshing in effect and harmonious with the weathered oak furniture. The frieze above the green paper has large poppies in shades of deep tan with natural green foliage on a ground of the same tone as the paper.

Marriage a Matter of Business.

The average Japanese girl rarely knows that her hand has even been sought until all the arrangements have been made between her father and her suitor. The latter, however, does not manage this in person, but leaves all the arrangements to some trusty emissary, generally an intimate friend.

STOMACH ON FIRE

ONLY A SKELETON CROUCHING BY A STOVE.

Mrs. Doherty has an Extraordinary Experience and Undergoes a Marvelous Change.

Mrs. E. Doherty, of No. 115 Coates street, Moberly, Mo., is today a picture of robust health, and yet five years ago, she barely escaped death from progressive emaciation. To a reporter she told the following story:

"In 1896 I began to have distressing attacks of indigestion that continued for two years. My stomach was constantly sore and burned as if it was on fire. It became finally so delicate that it would not retain even plain water. My inability to take food reduced my weight to ninety-eight pounds, and faintness and dizziness kept me in bed most of the time. I was really starving to death and besides I was extremely nervous. The doctor was perplexed. He gave me tonics which did me no good, and prescribed exercise which I was too weak to attempt.

"One day when I was so faint and chilled that I could do nothing but crouch down on the floor by the fire, my father brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I found on trial that they would stay on my stomach unlike everything else. I really felt better after three doses and I kept on taking them. Food began to taste well and to stay down. The pain and the burning in the pit of my stomach lessened and at last went away altogether. My weight began to increase until it reached 165 pounds and my neighbors, who were convinced that I was wasting to death before, were astonished at the change. I resumed my household and have hardly had occasion to call a doctor since. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several friends, and I say to the pale, thin ones, particularly, if you want to get strong and well take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

These pills cure stomach trouble by their tonic action, building up the digestive organs and enabling them to do the work that nature intended them to do. They are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box or six boxes for two dollars and a half, by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. A diet book giving useful information will be sent free on request.

RUGS OF GREAT VALUE.

Two of the Most Remarkable Known—One of Human Scalps.

A rug which took seventy lives in the making is owned by an Iowa Indian living in Stroud, Oklahoma. It is one hundred and fifty years old, and consists of seventy-seven scalps torn from the heads of as many human beings. The rug, which is barely five feet square, is of many hues, for the scalps are red, gray, black, white, brown and auburn. They belonged to peaceful people, too, and are said to have been taken by special command of the Great Spirit from the finest specimens of men, women and children belonging to the white, red and negro races. As soon as the scalps were secured they were sewn together, and the rug was from that regarded as the remedy for all troubles. When an Indian was taken sick he was laid on this rug, and if he did not recover his spirit was assured of a pleasant journey to the happy hunting ground. This remarkable creation can be seen but once a year. At the annual wild onion feast, which comes on April 1, the Iowa Indians make the rug play an important part. The onion is freely used, the Indians saturating themselves from head to foot with the juice. This was their successful way of driving away the evil spirits.

A prayer rug belonging to the Shah of Persia is another valuable mat. Though barely two feet square its design is most elaborate. It is worked throughout in precious stones, and the effect is dazzling. The ground is formed of rose diamonds, and in the center is a large bird, whose neck is made of amethysts and its body of rubies. The vines, which form a network, through which the bird may be seen as through a cage, are made of emeralds, while the bands which connect the stones are of seed pearls. The floral emblem of Persia is worked out in blue, yellow and pink stones, this design being known as the Mina Khani design. It is difficult to determine even the approximate value of this small rug, but it has been estimated that if it were sold the proceeds, placed at five per cent interest, would bring in an income of at least $250,000 per annum.

Grandiose Business Signs.

Over in Hoboken, near the Swamp zone, says the New York Press, "Prof. St. John, artistic horseshoer, rubber cushioned equine footwear a specialty; trotters and road horses shod on most approved principles," holds forth. The "professor" neglects to mention in his bizarre sign anything about truck horses, which quadrupeds form the bulk of his business.

Near by is an undertaking shop patronized principally by poor families. The proprietor advertises that he is a "Post-graduate of embalmery—funeral parlor and chapel at disposal of clients."

A couple of blocks nearer the lower ferry a florist lays stress upon the fact that "Our flowers are guaranteed fresh daily—no crape-chasing here—exotics supplied for wedding receptions, etc."

It Was Good Water.

Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, tells of a colored man in a town of that state who enjoys a local fame by reason of his remarkable vocabulary. One day this colored man was standing near an artesian well, when a stranger, also a negro, accosted him, asking:

"Is dis here good water?"

"Well, I reckon!" indignantly rejoined the other. "Whar you come from, anyhow, dat you don't know hit? Ain't you heerd dat dis water been scandalized by freenologists? Dis here water been foun' to persist in three parts—two parts ox-hide-ungas an one part hidefroy!"

Longfellow's Gracious Quotation.

When Nicholas Longworth, wit and aristocrat and millionaire as well as grandfather to the Representative Nicholas Longworth whom rumor has so persistently engaged to Miss Alice Roosevelt, was introduced to the poet Longfellow at a reception of a certain occasion, Mr. Longfellow, after commenting on the similarity in their names, added aptly and gracefully:

"But, Mr. Longworth, 'tis worth that makes the man and want of it the fellow."—New York Times.

First Typewritten Peace Pact.

Probably the first treaty of peace to be typewritten is the South African peace document. The signatures of the Boer leaders form an interesting part of it. They are all in different styles. Louis Botha's is described as being in a fine hand, and though the others are somewhat rougher, De la Rive's is the roughest of all. He has spelled his name split into three syllables, de la Rey. Christian de Wet is also spelled with a small d.

Ecclesiastical Changes.

With every year it becomes more and more certain that by the year 2000 no ecclesiastical organization now existing in America will retain its present form. This statement was made as early as the year 1870, by the distinguished president of Brown university. Thirty years have more than justified a position which then seemed somewhat startling.—International Quarterly.

Good Life, Long Life.

He liveth long who liveth well. All else is life but flung away. He liveth longest who can tell Of true things truly done each day.

Then fill each hour with what will last; Buy up the moments as they go; The life above, when this is past, Is the ripe fruit of life below.

Sow love, and taste the fruitage pure; Sow peace, and reap its harvest bright; Sow substance on the rock and meat, And find a harvest home of light.

SQUIRE JOHN

A TALE OF THE CUBAN WAR

BY ST. GEORGE RATHBONE

Copyright, 1897, by F. Tennyson Neely. Copyright, 1899, by Street and Smith.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

His identity! Good heavens! they seem to know him already, since the old sinner had called him by name, and still addresses him as Senior Jack. Can it be possible this is some shrewd, canny Scotch game to inveigle him into a marriage that will put him in the power of a gang of blackmailers?

He might even suspect such a thing only for Howard's connection with it, and his declaration that he had a mortgage upon the name of Jack Travers.

At any rate there is still a lapse of time before the final round, and that same powerless curiosity urges him on—he may yet be able to fathom the amazing depths of this mystery.

He has aroused himself. He asks questions so fashioned that they may not betray his ignorance of the subject, receiving in reply non-committal explanations that only partially satisfy him.

In the midst of it all an explosion threatens.

"Senior Jack," says the remarkable host, who stands eyeing him from head to foot in a critical manner, "I believe you will make a wonderful hit with the charming young lady, and with the charming young lady, and she will not think the union so disagreeable as she feared. Pardon me, but I had not dreamed from your description that you were so dashing, so very handsome."

It is not often a man receives a compliment from his own sex, and Jack laughs in some confusion, meanwhile muttering under his breath:

"Well, I don't wonder the old chap's surprised if Howard gave a truthful description of himself, since I've known him to scare a coyote by smiling at it."

His strange host continues:

"There is one thing we have forgotten—not that I suppose it matters at all, but you will of course remember, Senior Jack, that it was agreed between us you should prove your identity when you came."

"Just so," remarks Jack, serenely, wondering which identity he is called upon to produce the evidence for, and hardly ready to stand up and swear he is the genuine party whose arrival has been so anxiously anticipated.

"Ahem! have you those letters with you?" asks the other, suavely.

Letters! That reminds him Ah Sin picked up a packet in the street after the wreck of the Caledonian bansom. Jack draws them out with a confident air; he is now ready to believe Fortune plays the cards for him, since everything seems to fit as neatly as though the ends were dovetailed by an experienced joiner.

"Ah! the last doubt is thrown to the wind. Buenos! We shall be merry. Last of all, Senior Jack, you remember the compact?"

"Suppose you repeat it, to refresh my memory," suggests the artful Jack, using the brush on his curly locks.

"Briefly, then, you have agreed to carry out your share of this business for a third of the spoils, which shall be placed in your hands as soon as we secure possession, and all is arranged so that you need not fear being cheated. On my part, because of my influence in the matter, I receive another third, or as much as I can coax from my lovely ward. The one point insisted on by her is hard with you, senior."

"How so?" asks Jack, deeply interested.

"You remember, I explained, and you agreed to abide by it. Otherwise there could have been no wedding here to-night. It is this—that once the ceremony is over, you part from your wife, and never seek to come yourself the husband of a most charming young lady. Follow me, Senior Jack. Come, both of you; the bride may be growing anxious," cries the other, waiting at the top of the stairs.

Jack's hesitation is brief.

"Hang the luck! I'm in for it, I fear; but at the last I shall make a dash for the door. That refuge is left. All I wait for is one peep at the bride, and then you'll see Jack Travers make a record. Married! Good heavens! the very thought paralyzes me. Jack Travers married to-night! Not unless—"

He finishes the muttered sentence with a knowing smile of anticipation, and hurries after the beckoning old gentleman; while Ah Sin, winking wickedly at himself as he passes the mirror, patters after the bride.

"One moment, senior," Jack says, huskily, for the dramatic situation begins to tell upon him.

"What now," demands the other, a little testily.

"A simple request. Before we enter allow me one glimpse of the young woman to whom I am about—ahem—to sacrifice my bachelor days."

"That is reasonable. Turn your eyes yonder—she who is dressed in white. Tell me, Senior Jack, saw you ever a lovelier vision than that?"

And Jack Travers, looking, feels his heart beat with tumultuous force against its prison walls—feels his whole frame thrill with an ecstasy he cannot explain. He draws a long breath of resignation and to his guide says:

"Lead on; do with me what you wish," while to himself he whispers, "The hand of fate is behind all. Why should I hesitate, when in this girl who they intend shall be my wife I see the original of the photograph I adore—sweet Jessie Cameron?"

CHAPTER IV.

Merely a Business Arrangement.

In order that Jack's motives may appear to have at least some degree of sanity in the eyes of the reader, it may be well to lift the curtain a little at the point of his appearance in the room, and explain briefly what mission brings him to Edinburgh, and how strangely the Fates have undertaken to manage his case for him.

While Jack was wrestling with a fickle fortune in the silver mines of Colorado, he received word through a firm of solicitors in London that a most extraordinary event had occurred in the other branch of the family, which resulted in his being made heir to a tremendous English property over in the tight little island, besides the honored address of Squire John Travers.

It chanced that Jack had made a rich strike in the mines at about the same time, so that he was not very eager to hurry across the big pond and claim his new inheritance.

Finally, however, having put his affairs in order, he accompanied the lawyers to London.

There, for the first time he learned of a peculiar codicil to the will through which he was to come into possession of the vast estate of the Travers family.

The squire's part of it was inconceivable, and that small portion of the estate, about one-fifth, which had been entailed, must come to him through the natural law of next-of-kin, but the great balance, an enormous property, too, could only become his own in case he married a certain young woman—a distant relative of the testator, who cherished an affection for her—whose affair must come off within a year.

Jack laughed aloud in scorn at the idea.

He gave up his freedom and take for his wife a girl whom he had never seen before, in order to acquire certain property! He would see the lawyers in a very warm place, indeed, before he dreamed of such a thing.

Finding expostulation vain from the monetary point, since this young chap already possessed a fair fortune, the shrewd lawyers of Chancery lane changed their tactics.

They read him, and saw that, like most Americans, he was chivalrous wherever womankind was concerned.

So they drew his attention to the will again, and showed him that should this marriage on which the testator had set his heart as a means of bringing the two transatlantic branches of the family together again fall to be consummated, the vast property was to pass into the hands of the Society for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Tottenots.

Having fastened his attention here, they showed him over the noble estate, and Jack really was quite smitten with its charms.

Then the lawyers explained to him that in case of his refusal to carry out the conditions of the will, the young woman would be left penniless, even though it were not her fault the arrangement fell through.

Thus Jack was made to see what depended on him, and how ungalant it would be on his part to force this state of poverty upon her.

Last of all, these shrewd legal gentlemen gave him a photograph of the girl.

That completed the matter. The more he scanned the picture of his kinswoman, Jessie Cameron, the deeper grew his conviction that it was a shame for him to keep her out of that beautiful property.

It ended in Jack making up his mind that he would secretly seek the presence of Jessie Cameron, and if he found her all that her photograph seemed to promise, he would attempt to win her love under another name.

His first step was to discover where the young lady might be found, and without difficulty he learned she was in Edinburgh.

It was just when he was starting for that northern capital that the young American received a mysterious letter with the postmark of Edinburgh upon the envelope.

The writer, who was undoubtedly a woman, appealed to his love of a plot play—declared that there was a fair play on foot to oust her, and that those engaged in it were unscrupulous in their designs, and finally begged him, if the letter should chance to reach him through his solicitors, to meet the writer before midnight on the night of May 28, or, if not then, the following night, at the Old Tolbooth in the Canongate of Edinburgh.

Temple of Serpents.

The small town of Werda, in Dahomey, is celebrated for its temple of serpents, a long building in which the priests keep upwards of 1,000 serpents of all sizes, which they feed with birds and frogs brought to them as offerings by the natives.

Cured Her Rheumatism.

Deep Valley, Pa., Oct. 31.—(Special).—There is deep interest in Green county over the cure of the little daughter of I. N. Whipkey of Rheumatism. She was a great sufferer for five or six years and nothing seemed to do her any good till she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. She began to improve almost at once and now she is cured and can run and play as other children do. Mr. Whipkey says:

"I am indeed thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for my daughter; they saved her from being a cripple perhaps for life."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved that Rheumatism is one of the results of diseased Kidneys. Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are right there can be no Uric Acid in the blood and consequently no Rheumatism. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the Kidneys right.

How Tibetans Make Tea.

Tea forms one of the principal articles of commerce throughout Tibet and Mongolia. The native is miserable without it, and when it cannot be obtained is willing to cheat himself by various expedients, such as boiling dried onion heads, herbs or even an infusion of chips of woods in water, in order that he may not be without at least a suggestion of his favorite beverage. The tea imported from China is pressed into small oblong shaped bricks, made up into cases of nine bricks securely sewed in rawhide, and not only is used as a beverage, but in fact forms a staple of currency as negotiable as the Bank of England notes or American currency.—Outing

The Present the Only Time.

"Now" is the constant syllable ticking from the clock of time. "Now" is the watchword of the wise. "Now" is on the banner of the prudent. Let us keep this little word always in our mind, and whenever anything presents itself in the shape of work, whether mental or physical, we should do it with all our might, remembering that "now" is the only time for us.—Dr. Parr.

Village Without Government.

In the village of Altenburg, on whose borders three countries meet, there are no soldiers, no police, no taxes, and its people are ruled by no monarch. The inhabitants speak a queer jargon of French and German combined, and spend their time cultivating the land or working the valuable calamine mine, which is the boast of the village.

BY PROXY.

What the Baby Needed.

I suffered from nervousness and headache until one day about a year ago it suddenly occurred to me what a great coffee drinker I was and I thought may be this might have something to do with my trouble, so I shifted to tea for awhile but was not better, if anything worse.

"At that time I had a baby four months old that we had to feed on a bottle, until an old lady friend told me to try Postum Food Coffee. Three months ago I commenced using Postum, leaving off the tea and coffee, and not only have my headaches and nervous troubles entirely disappeared, but since then I have been giving plenty of nurse for my baby, and have a large, healthy child now.

"I have no desire to drink anything but Postum and know it has benefited my children, and I hope all who have children will try Postum and find out for themselves what a really wonderful food drink it is." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Both tea and coffee contain quantities of a poisonous drug called Caffeine that directly affects the heart, kidneys, stomach and nerves. Postum is made from cereals only, scientifically blended to get the coffee flavor. Ten days trial of Postum in place of tea or coffee will show a health secret worth more than a gold mine. There's a reason.

Get the book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

Progress in Travel.

It is recalled by the London Times that Berkeley, who wrote "Westward the Course of Empire Takes its Way," landed at Newport on Jan. 23, 1729, and that he left Greenwich, England, in a "pretty large ship," as the New England Weekly Courier called it, early in September, 1728. So that he took nearly five months to make the trip.

He Figured It Out.

"I've got an 8-year-old boy at home that will make either a metaphysician or a detective—I'm not sure which," remarked a lawyer, as he entered his office the other morning. "The kid's just getting over an attack of measles, and has had work amusing himself. Yesterday his mother and the nurse were in the room, and he spoke up all of a sudden, much to the embarrassment of his mother:

"Say, ma; I know how old nurse is."

"His mother thought the nurse might be confused; but she wasn't."

"How do you know so much, Willie?" she asked.

"Well, I asked you once how many years you've been nursing, and you said five. Then when you forgot that I asked you how old you was when you went to the training school, and you said eighteen. Then, by and by, I asked you how long you was in school, and you said four years. Now eighteen and four and five are twenty-seven—see?"

Bursts into a laugh.

into her presence again except by her own order.

Jack gives a little whistle. Really this affair gets more and more mysterious, and yet, strange to say, the deeper the complications become, the firmer grows his grasp upon it.

"Well, as you say, senior, when one has promised it is settled, and I would not go back on my word," he remarks, coolly.

"You are all ready now, I believe," "Ready?"

"To descend with me to add the finishing stroke to this great plan which has been arranged between us by letter—to end your bachelor days and for the space of five minutes call shame for him to keep her out of that beautiful property.

It ended in Jack making up his mind that he would secretly seek the presence of Jessie Cameron, and if he found her all that her photograph seemed to promise, he would attempt to win her love under another name.

His first step was to discover where the young lady might be found, and without difficulty he learned she was in Edinburgh.

It was just when he was starting for that northern capital that the young American received a mysterious letter with the postmark of Edinburgh upon the envelope.

The writer, who was undoubtedly a woman, appealed to his love of a plot play—declared that there was a fair play on foot to oust her, and that those engaged in it were unscrupulous in their designs, and finally begged him, if the letter should chance to reach him through his solicitors, to meet the writer before midnight on the night of May 28, or, if not then, the following night, at the Old Tolbooth in the Canongate of Edinburgh.

Beautiful Dwellings Erected and Allowed to Decay.

In Morocco they build and make, and they do both things beautifully and well, according to one who has been there. But they seldom finish. "In a house dainty with fountains and arabesques and colored tiles," he says, "you will still find a corner uncompleted, a pillar which lacks the delicate fluting of the other pillars, an embrasure for a clock half ornamented with gold flagee and half left plain. And, if they seldom finish, they never by any chance repair. The masonry is built and decorated within; artists fit tiles together in a mosaic of cool colors and carve and gild and glue them into the light and pointed arches; the rich curtains are hung; and the master enters into his possession. There follows the procession of the generations. The tiles crack, the woodwork of the arches splits and falls and the walls break and crumble. The householder sits indifferent and the whole house corrodes. So, in the narrow streets, a chanel gap and the water wears a holes where it will and the mud lies thick and slippery on the rounded stones; the streets run steeply up and down the hills, wind abruptly round corners and dive into tunnels."

Thought She Was Warm.

Imagination as Good as Fire to a Sent-Minded Lady.

It was a cold, drizzly afternoon, spite of the calendar's assertion that the month was August. Mrs. Parker, who was much interested in one of the latest novels, decided that a good fire would add materially to her enjoyment of the book.

It was the maid's day out, so a chilly woman, who was rather proud of her ability along practical lines, proceeded to build her fire. First she crumpled a newspaper and thrust it deep into the grate. Next, she carefully built an Indian tepee of sticks of kindling. To this, which she practiced hand, she added a rather piece of hardwood and two chunks of soft coal. Then, sure the arrangement with pride, she drew her chair before the fireplace, placed her feet on the fender, and with a pleasurable sense of warmth and comfort stealing over her began to read.

Two hours later Mrs. Parker's ter bustled in.

"My!" she exclaimed. "last wretchedly cold? I'm just chilled through."

"Draw up a chair," urged Mrs. Parker, without taking her eyes from her fascinating book, "and do let me wish this page—it's the very last—it's delightfully warm here by fire."

"Fire?" exclaimed the visitor. "don't see any fire."

"Why, bless me!" cried Mrs. Parker, suddenly coming to life. "the match in my hand! I forgot to scratch it!"—New York Tribune.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. There is only one cure, and that is by constitutional means. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the membrane lining the Eustachian tube. This tube is inflamed by a running cold, a cold taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition. Hearing will be restored. The operation is performed by a special method, and is not painful. It is a permanent cure. We will give you a full description of the method, and a list of our patients, if you send us a card. F. J. CHESTNUT, 112 Broadway, New York City. Send for circular.

Times Must Have Been

Limit of Financial Embarrassment

Humorously Described.

Two society women were each invited to give a party on the same day, and they ran up to town on some business matter. They were in the station waiting for the train, and the Long Island train on which they were to make their return home.

The first to speak was a large, handsome blonde, who, leaning into the waiting room, was accompanied by her maid laden with packages and bundles of every color and description. Noting her already seated and absolutely motionless, she at once began her usual extolling the charms of her own party, and with an amazing cheapness of words, made bold more evidence, which she plentifully availed herself.

The blonde's silent listener, a woman of a more reserved and pathetic nature, sat there for a period. Taking advantage of a deep, pathetic sigh, she glanced covetously at her friend's train.

"My dear," she said, "I was a cent a mile I could have enough this season to lose with!"—New York Times.

Stay in Bed.

There is something exceedingly interesting in the statement of a recent London physician that "the cure is always recruited from the rising class." There is something dark and devious in the thought of the man who rises before the Boston Transcript.

Value of Pure Air.

Cultivate air hunger. You learn to be hungry for fresh air. We are naturally thirsty for water. The old-fashioned concern of stuffy living of our nose, fortunately, out of should never be revived.

Attributes of Beautiful Women.

A beautiful woman is a poem, planting tenderness and eloquence in all whom she approaches.—Emerson.

Store Whisky in Church.

Thorverton church, Devon, was recently used as a store for whisky which had been in the village inn during a

WASTE AND RUIN IN MOROCCO.

Beautiful Dwellings Erected and Allowed to Decay.

In Morocco they build and make, and they do both things beautifully and well, according to one who has been there. But they seldom finish. "In a house dainty with fountains and arabesques and colored tiles," he says, "you will still find a corner uncompleted, a pillar which lacks the delicate fluting of the other pillars, an embrasure for a clock half ornamented with gold flagee and half left plain. And, if they seldom finish, they never by any chance repair. The masonry is built and decorated within; artists fit tiles together in a mosaic of cool colors and carve and gild and glue them into the light and pointed arches; the rich curtains are hung; and the master enters into his possession. There follows the procession of the generations. The tiles crack, the woodwork of the arches splits and falls and the walls break and crumble. The householder sits indifferent and the whole house corrodes. So, in the narrow streets, a chanel gap and the water wears a holes where it will and the mud lies thick and slippery on the rounded stones; the streets run steeply up and down the hills, wind abruptly round corners and dive into tunnels."

THOUGHT SHE WAS WARM.

Imagination as Good as Fire to a Sent-Minded Lady.

It was a cold, drizzly afternoon, spite of the calendar's assertion that the month was August. Mrs. Parker, who was much interested in one of the latest novels, decided that a good fire would add materially to her enjoyment of the book.

It was the maid's day out, so a chilly woman, who was rather proud of her ability along practical lines, proceeded to build her fire. First she crumpled a newspaper and thrust it deep into the grate. Next, she carefully built an Indian tepee of sticks of kindling. To this, which she practiced hand, she added a rather piece of hardwood and two chunks of soft coal. Then, sure the arrangement with pride, she drew her chair before the fireplace, placed her feet on the fender, and with a pleasurable sense of warmth and comfort stealing over her began to read.

Two hours later Mrs. Parker's ter bustled in.

"My!" she exclaimed. "last wretchedly cold? I'm just chilled through."

"Draw up a chair," urged Mrs. Parker, without taking her eyes from her fascinating book, "and do let me wish this page—it's the very last—it's delightfully warm here by fire."

"Fire?" exclaimed the visitor. "don't see any fire."

"Why, bless me!" cried Mrs. Parker, suddenly coming to life. "the match in my hand! I forgot to scratch it!"—New York Tribune.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. There is only one cure, and that is by constitutional means. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the membrane lining the Eustachian tube. This tube is inflamed by a running cold, a cold taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition. Hearing will be restored. The operation is performed by a special method, and is not painful. It is a permanent cure. We will give you a full description of the method, and a list of our patients, if you send us a card. F. J. CHESTNUT, 112 Broadway, New York City. Send for circular.

Times Must Have Been

Limit of Financial Embarrassment

Humorously Described.

Two society women were each invited to give a party on the same day, and they ran up to town on some business matter. They were in the station waiting for the train, and the Long Island train on which they were to make their return home.

The first to speak was a large, handsome blonde, who, leaning into the waiting room, was accompanied by her maid laden with packages and bundles of every color and description. Noting her already seated and absolutely motionless, she at once began her usual extolling the charms of her own party, and with an amazing cheapness of words, made bold more evidence, which she plentifully availed herself.

The blonde's silent listener, a woman of a more reserved and pathetic nature, sat there for a period. Taking advantage of a deep, pathetic sigh, she glanced covetously at her friend's train.

"My dear," she said, "I was a cent a mile I could have enough this season to lose with!"—New York Times.

Stay in Bed.

There is something exceedingly interesting in the statement of a recent London physician that "the cure is always recruited from the rising class." There is something dark and devious in the thought of the man who rises before the Boston Transcript.

Value of Pure Air.

Cultivate air hunger. You learn to be hungry for fresh air. We are naturally thirsty for water. The old-fashioned concern of stuffy living of our nose, fortunately, out of should never be revived.

Attributes of Beautiful Women.

A beautiful woman is a poem, planting tenderness and eloquence in all whom she approaches.—Emerson.

Store Whisky in Church.

Thorverton church, Devon, was recently used as a store for whisky which had been in the village inn during a shame for him to keep her out of that beautiful property.

It ended in Jack making up his mind that he would secretly seek the presence of Jessie Cameron, and if he found her all that her photograph seemed to promise, he would attempt to win her love under another name.

His first step was to discover where the young lady might be found, and without difficulty he learned she was in Edinburgh.

It was just when he was starting for that northern capital that the young American received a mysterious letter with the postmark of Edinburgh upon the envelope.

The writer, who was undoubtedly a woman, appealed to his love of a plot play—declared that there was a fair play on foot to oust her, and that those engaged in it were unscrupulous in their designs, and finally begged him, if the letter should chance to reach him through his solicitors, to meet the writer before midnight on the night of May 28, or, if not then, the following night, at the Old Tolbooth in the Canongate of Edinburgh.

Beautiful Dwellings Erected and Allowed to Decay.

In Morocco they build and make, and they do both things beautifully and well, according to one who has been there. But they seldom finish. "In a house dainty with fountains and arabesques and colored tiles," he says, "you will still find a corner uncompleted, a pillar which lacks the delicate fluting of the other pillars, an embrasure for a clock half ornamented with gold flagee and half left plain. And, if they seldom finish, they never by any chance repair. The masonry is built and decorated within; artists fit tiles together in a mosaic of cool colors and carve and gild and glue them into the light and pointed arches; the rich curtains are hung; and the master enters into his possession. There follows the procession of the generations. The tiles crack, the woodwork of the arches splits and falls and the walls break and crumble. The householder sits indifferent and the whole house corrodes. So, in the narrow streets, a chanel gap and the water wears a holes where it will and the mud lies thick and slippery on the rounded stones; the streets run steeply up and down the hills, wind abruptly round corners and dive into tunnels."

HAPPY WOMEN.

Mrs. Para, wife of C. B. Para, a prominent resident of Glasgow, Ky., says: "I was suffering from a complication of kidney troubles. Besides a bad back, I had a great deal of trouble with the secretions, which were exceedingly variable, sometimes excessive and at other times scanty. The color was light and passages were accompanied with a scalding sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the kidney secretions, making their color normal, and banished the inflammation which caused the scalding sensation. I rest well, my back is strong and sound, and I feel much better in every way."

For sale by all dealers, price 25 cents per box. FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

THOUGHT SHE WAS WARM.

Imagination as Good as Fire to a Sent-Minded Lady.

It was a cold, drizzly afternoon, spite of the calendar's assertion that the month was August. Mrs. Parker, who was much interested in one of the latest novels, decided that a good fire would add materially to her enjoyment of the book.

It was the maid's day out, so a chilly woman, who was rather proud of her ability along practical lines, proceeded to build her fire. First she crumpled a newspaper and thrust it deep into the grate. Next, she carefully built an Indian tepee of sticks of kindling. To this, which she practiced hand, she added a rather piece of hardwood and two chunks of soft coal. Then, sure the arrangement with pride, she drew her chair before the fireplace, placed her feet on the fender, and with a pleasurable sense of warmth and comfort stealing over her began to read.

Two hours later Mrs. Parker's ter bustled in.

"My!" she exclaimed. "last wretchedly cold? I'm just chilled through."

"Draw up a chair," urged Mrs. Parker, without taking her eyes from her fascinating book, "and do let me wish this page—it's the very last—it's delightfully warm here by fire."

"Fire?" exclaimed the visitor. "don't see any fire."

"Why, bless me!" cried Mrs. Parker, suddenly coming to life. "the match in my hand! I forgot to scratch it!"—New York Tribune.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. There is only one cure, and that is by constitutional means. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the membrane lining the Eustachian tube. This tube is inflamed by a running cold, a cold taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition. Hearing will be restored. The operation is performed by a special method, and is not painful. It is a permanent cure. We will give you a full description of the method, and a list of our patients, if you send us a card. F. J. CHESTNUT, 112 Broadway, New York City. Send for circular.

Times Must Have Been

Limit of Financial Embarrassment

Humorously Described.

Two society women were each invited to give a party on the same day, and they ran up to town on some business matter. They were in the station waiting for the train, and the Long Island train on which they were to make their return home.

The first to speak was a large, handsome blonde, who, leaning into the waiting room, was accompanied by her maid laden with packages and bundles of every color and description. Noting her already seated and absolutely motionless, she at once began her usual extolling the charms of her own party, and with an amazing cheapness of words, made bold more evidence, which she plentifully availed herself.

The blonde's silent listener, a woman of a more reserved and pathetic nature, sat there for a period. Taking advantage of a deep, pathetic sigh, she glanced covetously at her friend's train.

"My dear," she said, "I was a cent a mile I could have enough this season to lose with!"—New York Times.

Stay in Bed.

There is something exceedingly interesting in the statement of a recent London physician that "the cure is always recruited from the rising class." There is something dark and devious in the thought of the man who rises before the Boston Transcript.

Value of Pure Air.

Cultivate air hunger. You learn to be hungry for fresh air. We are naturally thirsty for water. The old-fashioned concern of stuffy living of our nose, fortunately, out of should never be revived.

Attributes of Beautiful Women.

A beautiful woman is a poem, planting tenderness and eloquence in all whom she approaches.—Emerson.

Store Whisky in Church.

Thorverton church, Devon, was recently used as a store for whisky which had been in the village inn during

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG GIRLS. All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way thousands of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries. Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it years to recover the lost vitality,—often it is never recovered.

A Young Chicago Girl Saved from Despair. DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life. It she can go through with courage and safety the work must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that she will be insured against sickness and suffering.

FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

DO YOU COUGH?
DON'T DELAY
EMPS' ALSAM
BEST COUGH CURE

Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and all other lung troubles. It is the only cough medicine that gives relief in advanced stages. Use it before the cough becomes chronic. It will cure the most stubborn coughs. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents and 50 cents.

FISH BRAND SILENCE VALUED FRIEND

Many years ago I bought a Fish Brand Slicer, and it has proven itself for many a stormy day, but getting old and I must have a new one. Please send me a price-list.

Send me this worthy doctor, obliged to all sorts of weather, will give on application.

TOWERS' FISH BRAND
CANADIAN
147 St. Clair St., Cleveland, Ohio

TELEPHONES FOR FARMERS' LINES and Village Exchanges
Build your own line—Inexpensive and simple. Book of Instructions Free.

THE NORTH ELECTRIC CO.
147 St. Clair St., Cleveland, Ohio

MAP OF THE WORLD
ready to hang on the wall. Regular price $5.00. For the next ten days upon $3.00. Address
NAWEAVER, Mgr.
147 St. Clair St., Chicago, Ill.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION
W. L. DOUGLAS'S
SUPERIOR IN FIT, COMFORT AND WEAR.

What Japanese Trains Are Like.
The railway traveler in Japan buys a first, second or third-class ticket; or, if he wishes to go cheaper still, he can get a ticket entitling him simply to stand on the platform! Many of the cars can be entered either from the side or the end. The principal difference between the first and second-class coaches is the color of the upholstery. None of the cars are very clean. Many of the third-class coaches could serve, without much alteration, as ordinary pigsties. This is all the more remarkable when the incomparable cleanliness of the Japanese home life, even of the humblest, is taken into consideration.—Booklovers Magazine.

Condemn Army Step.
The congress of naturalists and physicians which recently met in Breslau strongly condemned the "goose-step" as practiced in the German and some other armies. Dr. Thawitzler read a paper on the subject, in which he showed that the adoption of this ridiculous step accounts for numerous knee and foot complaints among the troops. Sixty per cent of the sores on the feet of the men are in consequence of persistent adherence to this antiquated step.

Bowdoinham Eels.
Mulberry Partridge, that veteran all-round fisherman of Bowdoinham, has commenced his usual shipment of eels to the New York markets. A great delicacy, eels command a high price in the cities. "Fine-grained as smelts, they are far superior to mackerel," said a Bowdoinham epicure concerning this famous dish. "Fried brown, with plenty of salt pork, they are food fit for the gods."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Ask Your Druggist for Allen's Foot-Ease.
"I tried ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE recently, and have just bought another supply. It has cured my corns, and the hot, burning and itching sensation in my feet which was almost unbearable, and I would not be without it now.—Mrs. W. J. Walker, Camden, N. J." Sold by all Druggists, 25c.

Temples Cut in Rocks.
Among the interesting sights of Hindustan are the Karle caves of India, artificial temples of worship which were cut out of solid rock a century before the Christian era, it is claimed.

MICHAEL ANGELO.
Long ago in the olden day,
On a slope of the Tuscan hills there lay
A village with quarries all around
And blocks of marble that piled the ground.
And scattered among them, everywhere,
With wedge and hammer, rule and square,
With the dust of the marble powdered white,
Sat masons who chiseled from morn to night.

The earliest sound that the baby heard
Was neither the whistle nor song of bird,
Nor bleating of lambs, nor rush of breeze
Through the tops of the tall old chestnut trees,
Nor the laughter of girls, nor the whoop and shout
Of the school at the convent just let out,
Nor the tinkle of water plashing sweet
From the dolphin's mouth in the village street.

But foremost and first that sharp and clear
Arrested the little Michael's ear,
When he waked from sleep was the mallet's knock
On the chisel that chipped the rough-hewn block;
From the dawn of the day till the twilight came,
The clink of the tools was still the same;
And, constant as fell the fountain's drip,
Was the tap-tap-tap! and the chip-chip-chip!

—Anon.

The Farm House

Many an American farm house has been about ruined in the way it was located. In the early history of the country it was a common practice to locate the farm house directly on the road. One stepped from the front door directly into the public highway. In New England especially will be found thousands of houses located in this way. More often than not the barn was also located on the public highway just a little way from the house. In a good many instances the barns and the houses were connected by a string of smaller buildings so that the owner could pass through the small buildings from the house to the barn without going out of doors. This seems to have been a provision against the winter. Why they were located on the highway we do not understand, unless it was for the sake of sociability, which was more sought in those days than in these. A good many owners of such houses are now regretting that their houses are not located back a way from the street; for in many instances these country highways have become village streets. A few houses that are being built now are being located in the same way, but this is due more to lack of thought than to intention. It is the following of an obsolete example. The early idea was to construct everything for utility. The modern idea is to construct things not only for the use that may be made of them, but to appeal to and satisfy the eye. The farm house should be located back some distance from the road, and the outbuildings should be placed behind the farm house and as much as possible out of sight. The farm house is to be beautified and be the principal thing to catch the eye of the passer-by. The location of the farm house as regards the road is important, but it is also important that the location selected be not low and wet. Occasionally one meets with this kind of a location in the country. It is inexcusable and from such a location ill health is sure to come to the dwellers in the household. If the farm house is on a slightly high elevation, so much the better. The low place is not only damp at all times of year, it is unusually cold in winter and hot and close in summer. From no standpoint can it be justified. The idea that the low location gives the house protection from the winds is a theory long since exploded. The farm house is the most important building on the farm, though one would never suspect this from the comparative value of some American farm houses and barns—the barns being far more expensive than the houses. The example quoted is not a good one. The farmer that neglects his house and builds an expensive barn argues that the latter is an investment and will bring in money, while the house is a piece of dead property anyway. It must not be forgotten, however, that the farm house shelters the most expensive machinery on the farm—the men and women that work it. The farm house should be a good one. The farmer's family works hard, and about the only thing they get for their hard work is the satisfaction of existence. The home they live in should therefore be the best the farmer can afford to provide. A liberal lawn should be set aside for the adornment of the dwellings, and on a part of this lawn should be the playground of the children, the place where the lawn tennis net may be spread and the hammock hung. City people of moderate means provide such things for their families, and why should not the farmer do the same? Is the city dweller entitled to anything that the farmer should not have? The spirit of improvement is abroad in the rural communities and it is already affecting the farm home.

Winter Protection for Plants in the Garden

From Farmers' Review:—The winter protection of plants in the garden seems to be a matter about which there is a great difference of opinion among amateur gardeners. Some think we apply it to keep the cold out. Not so. We apply it to keep the sun out, instead, or, more strictly speaking, the warmth of the sun. Comparatively tender plants will survive the winter of the north if, after they are frozen in fall, they can be kept in that condition. It is not freezing that injures a plant. It is the frequent and often rapid change that takes place when a plant freezes and then thaws, to shortly freeze again. This change in condition ruptures the cells of the plant, and this is what does the damage. Therefore, if we can keep the sun from thawing out a frozen plant we can be reasonably sure of bringing it through a cold, severe winter in safety. This we can do by covering it so deeply that the warmth of the sun does not penetrate to a sufficient depth to overcome the frost in the ground. Injury is often done by the heaving of soil, consequent on the action of frost, which causes the soil to expand in such a manner that delicate roots are broken off. This will not happen if we prevent warmth from getting to the roots of the plants after the frost has already penetrated there.

All plants considered hardy will be so greatly benefited by the application of coarse litter from the barnyard, or hay and straw, if there is nothing better at hand, that it pays to give it. With tender plants, a covering of some kind is absolutely necessary. Leaves are excellent covering for all such plants as nasturties, as they prevent the snow from packing down so closely as to smother the plants beneath by exclusion of air. It is possible to protect tender tea roses and others of similar habit by covering to the depth of eight or ten inches with leaves, after which a roof of some kind that will shed rain should be added. Ordinary hardy plants—perennials—should have a basketful of litter heaped over them, and about them.

All kinds of shrubs that are so tender that exposure to winter is sure to result in the loss of a good deal of the season's growth ought to be laid down. This is particularly advisable in the case of roses. Bend the branches to the ground, working carefully to avoid breaking or cracking the stalks, and cover with a few inches of dry soil. Sand is as good as anything you can use. Then put on a thickness of litter and cover with boards to exclude rain. This is important, as a water-soaked soil will often do more harm than exposure to the weather would.

Some roses, like the strong-growing climbers, cannot be laid down very easily without breaking their stiff canes. These can be wrapped in straw, which is all the better for having a covering of burlap, as that will hold the straw in place well. After covering, take two wide boards and nail them together at the edge, in such a manner as to make a sort of trough, and stand this up between the plants and the sun.—This will keep the warmth from penetrating through the straw wrapping, to a great extent, and be of about as much benefit—the straw itself—possibly more, as made is a strong factor in the work of winter protection among all classes of plants.

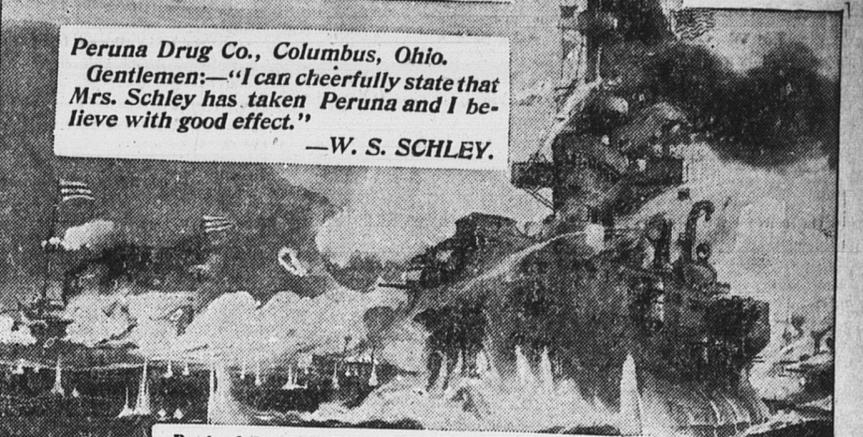

I have often wintered tender tea roses in the open ground without any protection whatever except such as was furnished by snow, which came early in the season, and covered the plants, and remained through the winter. Last season, gladioluses which we failed to dig in fall stood it well under their covering of snow, and came up early in spring, and bloomed as well as those we planted later. This went to prove that tender plants can stand a cold winter if covered deeply enough to keep out the sun, but not the cold.

Fall Millinery.
Fall is such a transitional period that it is hard to determine from the headgear seen in the shop windows or adorning the persons of early buyers, just what the prevailing styles will eventually be. Burnt orange seems to be quite the fad, no hat being apparently complete without a touch of it somewhere.

For run-about street hats there are French, shortback sailor hats in felt which look well above youthful faces, but which are trying to the dignity of middle age. The most standard fall hat appears to be a turban with feather-band trimming not much different in shape and style from the turbans in vogue late last winter. For full dress there is the big hat somewhat after the Gainsborough style but more scoop-shaped and with higher crown. This is of course of velvet and adorned with plumes and tips.

Cross breeding animals does not generally yield satisfactory results nor will cross breeding seed plants be likely to give us any better results in the main.

Admiral Schley Uses Per-u-na In His Home.

Battle of Santiago, Where Admiral Schley Made History.

ONE of the greatest naval battles in the world was the Fight Off Santiago. Never since the dispersion of the Spanish Armada has there been such a great naval battle. Without a moment's warning Admiral Schley, took a leading part. It was a great naval battle. Without a moment's warning Admiral Schley to produce that dash and daring so characteristic of the American soldier. A man must think quickly in these days. There is no time for slow action. New enterprises arise in an hour. Old ones pass away in a moment. A multitude of great themes clamor for notice. A man must take sides for or against by intuition, rather than logical deduction. One day this fighting admiral, Schley, happened to be in company with other admirals on various topics of popular interest. The subject of Peruna was raised—its popularity as a catarrh remedy, its national importance, its extensive use. One asked his opinion. Without a moment's hesitation, he said: "I can cheerfully state that Mrs. Schley has taken Peruna and I believe with good effect." Like the Battle of Santiago, the thought was sprung upon him without any warning, and he disposed of it with the same vim and decision as he did with the Spanish fleet led by the ill-fated Viscaya. His words concerning Peruna have gone out into the world to be repeated by a thousand tongues, because he has said them. Like the news of his victory over Cervera, his words concerning Peruna will be passed from mouth to mouth, across oceans and continents. Except for an in-born manly independence, in a country of free speech, these words never would have been uttered by an officer in such a notable position as that of Admiral Schley. Except for a world-wide notoriety and popularity, such as Peruna enjoys, no remedy could ever have received such outspoken public endorsement by such a man.

A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE.

ADMIRAL'S WORDS CARRY WEIGHT.

ADMIRAL'S OPINION OF PE-RU-NA.

PROUD-DAY FOR FATHER.

THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

GET A PACKAGE of Mapi-Flake To-day

Strawberry and Vegetable Dealers

WESTERN CANADA'S Magnificent Crops for 1904.

W. L. DOUGLAS

WE WANT YOUR NAME and will send you prospectus

W. L. DOUGLAS'S $3.50 SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS'S SUPERIOR IN FIT, COMFORT AND WEAR.

St. Jacobs Oil

Rheumatism and Neuralgia

STIVERS & KALMBACH ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW General Law practice in all courts...

JAMES S. GORMAN. LAW OFFICE. East Middle street, Chelsea, Mich.

TURNBULL & WITHERELL, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. B. B. Turnbull. H. D. Witherell.

A. McCOLGAN, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office, Wilkinson-Turnbull block.

H. W. SCHMIDT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office hours 10 to 12 forenoon; 2 to 4 afternoon.

S. G. BUSH PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Formerly resident physician U. of M. Hospital.

AT THE OFFICE OF Dr. H. H. Avery. You will find only up-to-date methods used...

A. L. STEGER, DENTIST. Office in Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank Building.

H. S. HOLMES, P. C. H. Kempf, vice pres. H. S. Palmer, cashier. Geo. A. Bettele, asst. cashier.

THE KEMP COMMERCIAL & SAVINGS BANK. CAPITAL $40,000. Commercial and Savings Departments.

S. A. MAPES & CO., FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS. FINE FUNERAL FURNISHINGS.

F. STAFFAN & SON, Funeral Directors and Embalmers. ESTABLISHED 40 YEARS.

F. D. MERITHEW, LICENSED AUCTIONEER. Bell Phone 62, Manchester, Mich.

E. W. DANIELS, GENERAL AUCTIONEER. Satisfaction Guaranteed. For information call at Standard office...

Geo. H. Foster AUCTIONEER. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Terms Reasonable. Headquarters at G. H. Foster & Co's Chelsea Camp, No. 7338, Modern Woodmen of America.

OLIVE LODGE NO. 156, F. & A. M. Regular meetings of Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M. for 1904.

EYES SCIENTIFICALLY TESTED. GEORGE HALLER, sr. GRADUATE OPTICIAN. It does not necessarily mean that you must be along in years to wear glasses...

Chelsea Green House. Cut Carnations Any kind or color at 50 cents per dozen.

ELVIRA CLARK, Phone connection Chelsea, Mich.

DeWitt's With Salve For Piles, Burns, Sores. Use Standard want ads.

WATERLOO. The noise of the corn husker is now heard. School closed Friday for a two weeks vacation.

SHARON. Miss Mary Cash visited Norma O'Neil Saturday. Chas. O'Neil has been home for a short vacation.

Miss Lilly Schauble who spent the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Bruestle has returned home to attend school.

Albert Lehman of Rockford, Col. is spending a short time here and in Chelsea. He came via St. Louis and attended the exposition.

M. Hatt is suffering with a carbuncle. Mrs. H. Gieske visited with friends in Chelsea Saturday.

Mrs. George Main is spending some time in Ann Arbor. Ashley Holden and wife moved to their home at Sharon.

John L. Kilmer and wife have moved on their father's farm. Mrs. C. Weber spent a few days of the past week at Whitmore Lake.

Mr. Nohr of Omaha spent Sunday with Patrick Phelps and family. Miss Mary Broesamle is visiting in Ann Arbor and Detroit this week.

Henry Weeber of Whitmore Lake spent part of last week with his parents. Henry and William Seld of Jackson visited their parents here Sunday.

Misses Emma Fahrner and Ella Schweinfurth were Jackson visitors Saturday. Henry Musbach and wife of Chelsea spent last Thursday with their parents here.

Miss Eva Notten who has been spending the summer in Chelsea has returned home. Mrs. Fred Mensing and son and Ella Schweinfurth spent Thursday at Ann Arbor.

Henry Bohne and family and Frank Scherer and family were Munith visitors Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Kilmer for so long a time residents near here have moved to Chelsea.

Friends and relatives who visited the Bender family of Francisco have returned home. Miss Eva Main and Eric Notten spent Sunday with Ashley Holden and wife in Sharon.

J. Musbach and wife visited their daughter, Mrs. Lehman and family Sunday afternoon. Several from here attended the republican rally at Jackson Wednesday evening of last week.

Quite a number of people of this community attended the republican rally at Chelsea Wednesday. The new lighting machine put in at our church is in perfect working order and furnishes a good light.

LIMA CENTER. Miss Estela Guerini spent Tuesday in Ypsilanti. W. E. Stocking of Lansing is visiting his wife here.

H. Lutz and wife of Pleasant Lake spent Sunday at the home of T. Weinman. John Wade and Robert Longman of Battle Creek visited with Mrs. J. Wade Sunday.

J. A. Turner and wife and George Turner of Toledo were guests of Mrs. J. Wade Sunday. Emanuel Strieter and Ernest Hutzel have purchased Henry Luick's threshing machines.

The ladies of the Epworth League will serve dinner and supper in the church parlors election day. Chicken pie dinner. Everybody is invited. Price 15 cents.

E. W. Daniels, is the fourth to report that he has finished harvesting his corn. Mrs. L. M. Wood on Tuesday, severely sprained her wrist and ankle, causing her much suffering.

William Stevenson, who is teaching school in Freedom, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home. W. H. Glenn is eating fine turnips, that were sown August 15. They were not wilted or feathery.

Albert S. Heatley, injured by a bean thresher last week, is not as rapidly convalescing as his many friends wished. Nearly every family in North Lake and vicinity was represented at the republican rally in Chelsea Wednesday.

Rev. G. W. Gordon, of Chelsea, Sunday evening, preached one of his best sermons to a large and appreciative audience. W. E. Stevenson has sold his orchard to the Chelsea Lumber & Produce Co. They will do all the work of picking the apples.

Bean threshing is going on lively in this neighborhood. No work was done Wednesday on account of the republican rally in Chelsea. F. A. Glenn and wife, who visited in Detroit for a week, returned home Tuesday. They found the time entirely too short to see all of their many friends.

W. H. Glenn has noticed for the past few years a seedling apple tree growing along side of his fence. This fall it is full of good apples, something rather unusual for a seedling.

NEWSY NUGGETS FROM NEARBY NEIGHBORS. PINCKNEY CONNECTED. Connections are now made and we can "hellow" over the Mutual line to Brighton as well as a dozen farmers on the road.—Pinckney Dispatch.

CELERY AND ONIONS. Evans & Turner of Columbus, Ohio are reported by the Manchester Enterprise to have purchased 490 acres of marsh land in Freedom, on which they expect to raise celery onions etc.

WHITMORE LAKE. C. L. Rane was out Tuesday and bought 1,600 bushels of potatoes, paying 27 cents a bushel. He shipped out two car loads last week, buying them at 25 cents.—Washtenaw Union Record.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. W. G. Dieterle of Fourth avenue, discovered a few days ago that something was the matter with his chimney and arranged to have it repaired. When the workmen came, they stated that the structure in question had been struck by lightning, although none of the family were aware of the fact at the time, which circumstances is a little unusual.—Ann Arbor Argus.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION. The Washtenaw Poultry association held their first meeting for the season Tuesday evening and the members are beginning to step into harness for the second annual show to be held January 18 21 inclusive, at the armory. It is necessary, too, to do some hustling if the show is to be an improvement over the one of last year, as that was an excellent one.—Ann Arbor Times.

How Is Your Road? By order of the postoffice department each rural mail carrier is required to note the condition of the roads over which he travels and send in his report an accurate account of places that become impassable. On such reports the department will be able to judge whether the patrons of rural delivery in districts of bad travel are doing the best they can to merit the favor of the government.—Livingston Herald.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER. Atty Gen. Blair has commenced a suit against the Ann Arbor Sick & Accident association, a company that pays weekly amounts, depending on the character of the employment of the insured, in consideration of $1 monthly dues. In the bill filed the attorney general sets forth that the company has made no report to him, held no annual meeting last year and has turned over its business to the Ann Arbor agency. He asks for a receiver.

APOSTLE NEEDED. Last week the Milan Leader told of a cabbage snake and this week tells the following, showing a temperance apostle is sadly needed in that village. "In a game of poker recently in this village, one of our business men, when about to call another's hand became a little excited, pulled a two dollar bill out of his pocket and threw it in a cuspidor, then spit a mouth full of tobacco juice on the pile of chips, money and table. You can imagine the laugh the other players gave him."

PROFITABLE COW. "Daisy," a jersey cow, arrived at her home in Jackson Priday from the World's Fair at St. Louis, where the "fair lady" represented Michigan in the milk and butter contests, and she brought home some prizes. She began milking, says the Patriot, April 6, and the test began June 15. The test continued 120 days during which time the cow produced 4,906.08 pounds of milk, or 40.09 pounds per day. The butter fat estimated by use of a Babcock chemical test was 263.63 pounds or 1.97 pounds per day, equalling 273.04 pounds of actual butter or an average of 2 1/2 pounds a day, 16 1/2 pounds per week.

FISH STORY. The large bass recently exhibited in the window of Mann's drug store and which weighed five and three-quarter pounds, was caught by Mr. Clarence Beach at Silver Lake, Hamburg, and Mr. Beach had quite a time landing him. He also had quite an experience with a larger pike. After baiting his line with a large club minnow, the minnow was taken by a bass weighing about a pound, which was securely hooked, and the bass in turn was swallowed by a monster pike. Mr. Beach tried to reel him in but the pike simply disgorged the bass wagged his tail and went his way. At this time of year the large fish seem to be laying in their winter supply of food.—Ann Arbor Argus.

POMONA GRANGE. Washtenaw county Pomona Grange will this year hold its annual round-up November 15 with Lafayette grange, at Lima Center. The exercises will be held in the church at that place. Every fourth degree member is cordially invited. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bartlett among the musicians, will this year furnish music for the State Grange. The following interesting program has been arranged: Arrivals and Social Greetings. Fifth Degree Session. Election of Delegates to State Grange. Open in Fourth Degree.

Music by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bartlett and Miss Julia Ball. One minute reports from Subordinate Granges of the county. Pomona Master to appoint three Judges on merits of the reports. Brief reports from Pomona Lecturer's Assistants: O. J. Bemis on Home Topics; J. K. Campbell on Public Topics. Music by Stony Creek Grange. At Dinner—Mrs. Emma A. Campbell Toastmistress.

Call to Order with Remarks by Master Henry Stumpfenhusen. Patriotic Song by G. W. Gill, Ypsilanti. Recitation by Darr Queen, Webster. Paper by Miss Lena Kruse, Cavanaugh Lake. Music by Mrs. Hadley, North Lake. Grange Address by C. S. Bartlett, Pontiac. General Discussion. Conferring Fifth Degree.

A STARTLING TEST. To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at Glazier & Stimson.

This Bird Shaves. Man has a rival in the art of shaving in a South American bird called the "motmot," which actually begins shaving on arriving at maturity. Naturally adorned with long blue tail feathers, it is not satisfied with them in their natural state, but with its beak nips off the web on each side, leaving only a little oval tuft at the end of each.—Nature.

MADE YOUNG AGAIN. "One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my 'teens' again" writes D. H. Turner of Dempseytown, Pa. "They're the best in the world for liver, stomach and bowels. Purely vegetable. Never grips. Only 25c at Glazier & Stimson drug store."

Baked Bean Sandwiches. Press through colander half a cupful of baked beans; mix with one tablespoonful of horseradish or tomato catsup, one teaspoonful each of parsley and celery minced fine, and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt mustard. Spread between thin slices of graham bread. Half a teaspoonful of onion juice may be added if liked.—Housekeeper.

THOUSANDS CURED. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles. "I bought a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve on the recommendation of our druggist," so writes C. H. LaCroix, of Zavalla, Tex., "and used it for a stubborn case of piles. It cured me permanently." Sold by Glazier & Stimson.

Both Ready. The Baltic feet at last got ready to go. And the Japanese got ready Togo.—N. Y. Mail.

Try It. Do the best you can and you will be surprised how well you do.—Atlanta Constitution.

Ayer's Hair Vigor. What are your friends saying about you? That your gray hair makes you look old? And yet, you are not forty! Postpone this looking old. Hair Vigor. Use Ayer's Hair Vigor and restore to your gray hair all the deep, dark, rich color of early life. Then be satisfied.

A Delicate Instrument. For measuring feeble illuminations, like the zodiacal light and Gegen-schein, M. Touchet has devised a special instrument, resembling a theodolite in appearance. It is provided with a constant flame and a slit regulated in width by a screw with divided head, and when the illumination of the field through the slit exactly equals the light to be measured a reading is obtained that is easily reduced to a standard.

A HEAVY LOAD. To lift that load off of the stomach take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. Sour stomach, belching, gas on stomach and all disorders of the stomach that are curable, are instantly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. S. P. Storrs, a druggist at 297 Main Street, New Britain, Conn., says: Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is giving such universal satisfaction and is surely becoming the positive relief and subsequent cure for this distressing ailment, I feel that I am all ways sure to satisfy and gratify my customers by recommending it to them. I write this to show how well the remedy is spoken of here "Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was discovered after years of scientific experiments and will positively cure all stomach troubles. Sold by Glazier & Stimson."

PROOF IN MICHIGAN. Should be Evidently More Convincing to Michigan People than Testimony from Uter Strangers. The statement which follows, like all that have preceded it on this subject, is from Michigan. It is not from some distant corner of the Union. Michigan people cannot dispute testimony like this: William Carpenter of 2222 Felix street St. Joseph, a prominent business man of that city, and a former president of the Phoenix Loan Association, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you recommend them to be. Before using them I had such a pain in my left kidney that I could hardly stand up. I was advised to try them, and got a box at the store of the St. Joseph Drug Co. The pain was gone for good when I had used only one box, and now I do not know that I have a kidney."

Wine of Cardui Cured Her. 213 South Prior Street, ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1908. I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedily relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty, and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her. 213 South Prior Street, ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1908. I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedily relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty, and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her. 213 South Prior Street, ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1908. I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedily relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty, and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL. "The Niagara Falls Route." Time Card, taking effect June 10, 1904. TRAINS EAST: No. 8—Detroit Night Express 8:30 p. m. No. 36—Atlantic Express 8:30 p. m. No. 12—G. R. and Kalamazoo 10:30 p. m. No. 2—Mail.

D. Y. A. A. & J. RAILROAD. Leave Chelsea for Detroit at 6:30 a. m. every hour thereafter until 10:30 p. m. Leave Chelsea for Ypsilanti at 12:45 p. m. every hour thereafter until 10:30 p. m. Leave Chelsea for Jackson at 6:30 a. m. every hour thereafter until 10:30 p. m. Special cars for the accommodation of parties may be arranged for at the office, Ypsilanti, Mich. or at the office, W. T. Glauque, Gen. Pass & Ticket W. T. Glauque, Agent.

LIMITED TRAINS JACKSON & BATTLE CREEK TRACTION COMPANY. Limited trains leave Jackson room for Parma, Albion, Marshall, Battle Creek. 8:05 a. m.; 10:05 a. m.; 11:50 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.; 5:30 p. m.; 7:35 p. m.; 11:25 p. m. Albion only. Local trains leave: 6:25 a. m.; 9:20 a. m.; 12:45 p. m.; 4:20 p. m.; 6:25 p. m. Albion only. All trains daily except local. Freight carried on local cars. Trains run on standard time. Party rates apply to J. A. BUCKNER, G. F. & P. A., Jackson.

PATENT. Anyone sending a statement of their invention to the undersigned will receive a free copy of the patent laws of this country. Patent taken through this office. Special attention, without charge, in the preparation of applications for patents. Scientific American. A handomely illustrated weekly. Issued every week. Contains the latest news in science, art, and industry. Price: four months, $1. Sold by all news dealers.

Election Notice. To the Electors of the Township of Sylvan, County of Washtenaw of Michigan: You are hereby notified that the general election to be held on Tuesday, the eighth day of November, next, the following officers are voted for in Washtenaw county: Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, General, Commissioner of Land Office, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, of the State Board of Education, of the Supreme Court for the term ending December thirty-first, 1905; Justice of the Supreme Court for the term ending December thirty-first, 1905; Representative in Congress from the Second Congressional District, Washtenaw County, a party of Electors of the United States, the Tenth Senatorial District of the State, comprising the counties of Washtenaw; Representative in the State Legislature for the representative District of Washtenaw County, comprising the Townships of Ann Arbor, Dexter, Lima, Northfield, Salem, Scioto, and Union, and the City of Ann Arbor, and the City of Ypsilanti, for the Second Representative District of Washtenaw County, consisting of the Townships of Augusta, Freedom, Lodi, Manchester, Saline, Sharon, Sylvan, York, and the City of Ypsilanti.

Also County Officers for County as follows: Judge of Sheriff, County Clerk, County Register of Deeds, County Register of Circuit Court, coroner, two Coroners, and Sheriffs. You are hereby notified that the election to be held in this county on Tuesday, the eighth day of November, next, as required by Act No. 81 of the Acts of 1903, the purpose of which is to hold a convention for the purpose of general revision of the constitution of this State, will be held in the county of Washtenaw on Tuesday, the eighth day of November, next, at the house of the legislator.

Dated this 20th day of October, 1904. JOHN B. COLE, Township Clerk.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY. Patrons will have no difficulty in notifying others to reach them through the mails if they have their address on file with the Standard. Envelopes and notes bearing their address on them will be furnished them in any quantity and the cost is borne by the Standard.

Boys and Girls

Love the Best Gift.
The man had riches for his gift and the woman had her beauty. The emptiness thereof; where fame's topmost summits lift. All glory peaks above. The keen pang of lofty loneliness; and one had love.

Down in the lowly valley-paths of life His years were spent; far removed from mofling din and strife. Brook song and bird song blent with the quiet things, of resting peace, and deep content.

There was something in his cup of love, that made him more sweet. He had a love who in the giddy world of fortune set his feet. Of quaffed fame's goblet, wreathed with rue and bay. And found it incomplete! —National Magazine.

Pancake Time.

As the days grow shorter and the mornings colder the toothsome pancake appears at many a breakfast table, in spite of all the doctors have to say about them, and a whole army of small boys are delighted to swim in a big pile of them in maple syrup and lick them under their vests by way of their throats, before they hurry off to school. Long ago, in old England, pancakes were thought to be even worse than they are now looked upon. Some ancient writers went so far as to gravely claim that the eating of pancakes would drive people stark raving mad.

In those days pancakes were greedily eaten during Lent, when meat was forbidden. Great batches of them were fried in fat and served swimming in grease. When they were ready a bell was rung, calling the hungry laborers from the fields to the feast. This bell came to be known as the "pancake bell." Boys then went out "pancaking," and, armed with sticks and stones and broken crock, cry to "rattle a door," repeated this chant from house to house:

"I am come a shroving for a piece of pancake. If you'll give me a little I'll ask no more. If you don't give any I'll rattle your door."

They usually got the pancakes

Plate Balancing.
Do you know how to balance a china plate on the point of a needle, and even to cause it to spin steadily upon this delicate support?

Cut two corks down the middle, and in the ends of the four halves thus obtained insert forks, inclined to the smooth sides of the corks at a little less than right angles.

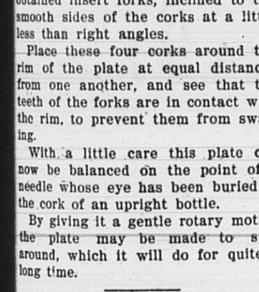

Place these four corks around the rim of the plate at equal distances from one another, and see that the teeth of the forks are in contact with the rim, to prevent them from swaying.

With a little care this plate can now be balanced on the point of a needle whose eye has been buried in the cork of an upright bottle.

By giving it a gentle rotary motion the plate may be made to spin around, which it will do for quite a long time.

Insects That Draw Pictures.
Few people, except lumbermen and scientists, know that there are a lot of American insects that draw pictures. But lumbermen know it to their cost, for the pictures are drawn in the timber of valuable trees, and the drawing instruments used by the little artists are their jaws and boring tools, with which they carve their designs so deeply into the trees that they die.

The most striking pictures are made by the Columbian timber beetle. When this insect bores into oak

SNAP SHOTS IS A LIVELY GAME.

Here is a new game that requires almost no preparation which is great fun and which demands a lot of skill to bring victory to a player. It is a fine game for girls, for there is no jumping about, and a girl can play it while wearing her very prettiest party frock without the slightest danger of mousing it.

Two players only are required. They sit at opposite sides of a table, and any sized table will do. Before each girl is a little plate or saucer. Each girl has a large bone button in the place of a ping-pong bat, and a smaller button is used in the place of a ball. One player starts the game by pressing with her large button on the edge of the small button, causing it to snap across the table very much as in the old game of tiddle-de-winks, as in the old game of tiddle-de-winks, as in the old game of tiddle-de-winks.

She tries to make the button land in the other girl's saucer. When the button has landed and has stopped roll on the other player has a turn. She snaps it back and tries to make it land on her opponent's saucer. If a land on her opponent's saucer, the player snaps the button off the table and scores two points. If her opponent scores two points, the button does not go more than half way across the table her opponent scores two points. If the button comes to a rest against the saucer the girl making the shot scores five points; if the button should land in the saucer and slip out again she scores seven points. A lucky shot causing the button to remain in the saucer scores ten points for the player, making it. Twenty-five points is a game. The players take turns snapping the button. Grown people as well as youngsters find lots of fun in this game, which is a model evening pastime it makes a perfect engraving of a steamboat. The hull, with its rounded keel, and the black funnel, are so well made that it does not require the least bit of imagination or study to see it. As soon as anyone lays his eyes on a piece of white oak in which the timber beetle has been he is sure to exclaim: "Why, look at the picture of a steamboat!"

"Weavers and Weft."
There are two sides in the game of weavers and weft, so that only an equal number can take part. Each player is provided with a new, shallow tin pan, the parties then separate and stand in two lines, facing each other, about eight or ten feet apart.

The starter at the head of one of the lines fastens one end of a ball of yarn to a doorknob or chair just behind him, and, putting the ball on his pan, tosses it to the player directly opposite, who endeavors to catch it on his pan, and toss it to the person on the other side, who stands next to the starter.

The third player in turn sends it back to the one standing second on the opposite side. In this order, going back and forth, the ball travels down the ranks.

When it reaches the end of the line it is started back again, and kept going until the yarn is all unwound.

In no case may the ball be touched with the hands. When it falls to the floor, it must be lifted up with the pan by the player who drops it or fails to catch it, and when the yarn fastens itself to the clothing, or becomes entangled around the body of the player, it must not be touched, no matter how much it may inconvenience the movements.

Great care should be taken not to break the thread; any one doing so is counted out of the game. He cannot leave his place, however, for moving may disturb the yarn attached to others. The ends of the broken yarn must be tied together before the game is resumed.

When the yarn is all unwound it is the object of each player to loosen himself from the tangle without breaking the thread.

The time must be noted, and five minutes only be allowed for the disentanglement.

At the end of this time the side which has the greatest number of members free from the meshes of the yarn wins the game.

Strap Puzzle.
To make this puzzle, get two pieces of leather about two inches square and one long, narrow strip of very limber leather. Now cut a slash across two sides of each square near the edges, and also a long slash in each end of the strip. The problem is to loop the strap in the squares, as shown at Fig. 1, and then take it off again. You will find it easy with the strap entirely free to make the loop shown at the top of Fig. 1. Having done so, pass the free end of the strap down through the other slash and one end of the puzzle is finished. Then pass the free end of the strap up through the first slash of the

Figure No. 1.

Figure No. 2.

An Easy One.
Put three candies, peanuts, or any small article that is eatable, each under a hat, and then show your audience that you have nothing hidden in your hands or about your person. Next have one in the audience, if he wishes, mark the articles in order to identify them.

Then lift the hat from each one and slowly eat the article that is under each, and then tell the audience that you will bring the three articles under any hat they may select.

How is it done? Simply by placing the hat selected on your head.

Some Dolls.
Most dolls are born in Thuringia, a province of Germany. Thuringia is sometimes called puppet-land on this account. Almost the entire population is employed making some parts of the dolls which are sent to every country in the world except India. The little Hindus are said to be the only doll-less children in the world, all countries having something which the little girls can rock to sleep and love. That the American girls love dolls one has only to read that last year over $8,000,000 worth of dollies came into this country, and nearly all of them from Thuringia.

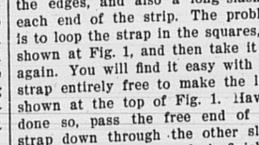

New Hampshire Double Apple.
R. E. Carpenter of West Littleton, N. H., is showing a freak in a double apple, two full grown apples having grown together near the stem. Mr. Carpenter states that he has found seven similar examples on one tree.

Award of German Birth.
Defender of Port Arthur a Native of Saxony.

Gen. Carl Stoessel, Russian commander in Port Arthur, is of German birth and ancestry, born in Saxony some fifty-four years ago. He served old Emperor William in the engineer corps, but in the early '70s obtained his discharge and joined the Russian army, rising rapidly to his present rank. Gen. Stoessel is a bluff, soldierly man, peppery and perfervid of speech, with a fondness for oratorical effect which at times gives him the appearance of being a braggart. He is a strict disciplinarian, as was shown soon after he took command at Port Arthur. The war cloud was gathering when he found a party of officers carousing in a cafe one evening. He put them under arrest and later had them sent to prison for several weeks.

Greatest Fighter of Bulls.
Spain's Champion Matador Now in the United States.

Luis Mazzantini, who recently arrived in the United States, is the greatest bull fighter in the world and has killed more bulls in the arena than any other matador. He is on his way to Mexico, where he will be seen in the arena for the last time, as he intends to retire from the bull ring upon his return to his native Spain. He will enter politics as a candidate for the chamber of deputies. Mazzantini has slain in the ring 3,500 bulls.

Luis Mazzantini

Czar Honors Countess Cassini.
The highest order of the Russian Red Cross has been conferred upon the Countess Cassini, the adopted daughter of the Russian ambassador, and Mme. Boutakoff, wife of the Russian paval attaché, for their services in raising a considerable sum of money for the Russian Red Cross society. A personal letter from the czar of Russia to the Countess Cassini accompanied the decoration. Very few persons possess this order, and the fact that it has been conferred on Countess Cassini and Mme. Boutakoff is considered in the light of a great honor not only to the recipients, but to the Russian ambassador as well.

Berth for Naval Officer.
Capt. Ira Harris, who succeeds Robert S. Rodie as chief steamboat inspector of New York, was graduated from the naval academy in the class with Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans. After serving in the navy for fifteen years and attaining the rank of lieutenant commander he resigned to enter private business. At the beginning of the Spanish-American war he re-entered active service in the navy yard and was assigned to command the repair ship Vulcan, which performed service with Admiral Sampson's fleet in Cuban waters. After the war he became supervising engineer and inspector in the army transport service.

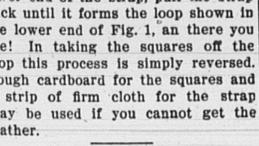

Ancient Timekeeping Methods.
Ancient timekeeping has received new light from two remarkable stones lately unearthed by the German explorers on the site of the old Ionic port of Miletus. These stones are the remains of calendars, of which one is shown to date from 109 A. D. The year was divided into twelve zodiacal signs, and against each sign was given, with a note predicting the weather. On the left side were thirty holes, a wooden peg being moved forward one hole each day, thus giving the astronomical date.

Oldest Ship in the World.
Readers will be surprised to learn that the oldest ship in the world is not running as a ferryboat on one of our New York ferries, but is the Italian ship Anita, registered at the port of Genoa. It resembles Christopher Columbus' ship, the Santa Maria, and was built in Genoa in 1548. She made her last voyage at the end of March, 1902, from Naples to Tenerife, and there she rests, to be broken up. The Anita is of tremendous stout build and has weathered countless storms and tornadoes in all parts of the world, but she is also the slowest ship afloat.

Sheep Show Prizes.
The awards in the world's fair sheep show developed that the Canadian breeders are carrying off the bulk of the prizes. The types in which they excel are the Southdown, the Dorsets, the Merinos, the Oxford, the Leicesters and the Lincolns. Practically all of the prizes in the classes for rams in these breeds have gone to them. In the Shropshires, the Cotswold and other types the breeders from the United States are winning the blue ribbons.—St. Louis Republic.

second square and down through the second slash. Fig. 2 shows you how to make the second loop. Bring the free end of the strap around the lower slash, slip it back through the upper slash, stick the upper square, loop and all, through the loop in the lower end of the strap, pull the strap back until it forms the loop shown in the lower end of Fig. 1, and there you are! In taking the squares off the loop this process is simply reversed.

Tough cardboard for the squares and a strip of firm cloth for the strap may be used if you cannot get the leather.

Grasshopper Pie.

During the hot summer days the Filipinos go out into the fields with big nets to catch their winter's supply of candy, for it is alive when they first get it. During the summer months great swarms of giant grasshoppers light down upon the fields in such clouds as to shut out the sun. Then there is a great stir, for these grasshoppers must be killed. They not only destroy the crops, but they are thought very good to eat, and so there is a double reason for a war or them. Boys watch in the church towers, and when they see a swarm coming send out an alarm.

The natives rush to the spot with bags and nets and begin their work. The grasshoppers are knocked down with paddles, stunned with gunpowder explosions—any way to kill them in large numbers—and are left to dry and they are then shipped to the cities, where they are worth $4 a bushel. People eat them in the streets and at entertainments as we eat peanuts, and like them just as well as we do the sweet "goober nuts."

They are baked with sugar and eaten as candy; housewives make pies of them, with big ones around the top crust; bakers bake them in cakes as we do raisins, and boys think a pocketful of them sprinkled with sugar a great treat.

Was Same Old Mower.
"A neighbor of mine at Bath Beach last July," said ex-Sheriff "Tom" Dunn, "used to bore everybody on the train by bemoaning the vagaries of his lawnmower. He had about ten square feet of lawn that he used to shave most conscientiously every other day. His lawnmower, however, seemed possessed of a mischievous demon of some sort. It would sulk and refuse to go. Then, when he started to investigate the cause of the stoppage, it would start suddenly and cut his finger to the bone. It would alternately fail to cut the grass at all and dig great furrows in the soft turf. He tried to sell it, but no one would take it as a gift. At last, one morning he showed me an advertisement in a Brooklyn paper offering for sale at a ridiculously low rate a peerless lawnmower that was warranted to cut grass as evenly and as regularly as a patent razor. The owner's address would be furnished at the office of the newspaper.

"No New York for mine this morning!" I scolded my neighbor. "I'm going to get that peerless lawnmower this very day and take it home to my wife as a surprise this afternoon. She's been wild to get rid of our old mower. From the description, this new one is just what we've been yearning for. And tonight I'll throw the old one into the ash-barrel."

"The following day we were on the same train again, and I expected to be bored by a glowing account of the glorious new lawnmower. But, to my surprise, its possessor seemed trying to avoid me.

"How about the new lawnmower?" I asked.

"There is no new lawnmower," he answered shortly.

"But the advertisement!"

"But that advertisement," he replied, with terrible solemnity, "was inserted by my wife."—New York Telegraph.

Strong Youth of Japan.
One of the first things to impress itself upon a foreigner in Japan is the peculiarity and the excellence of the physical training given to Japanese youth. They are a race of miniature Spartans, and they have become so through such patient, painstaking toil and endurance as would appall the average American youth, inured to softnesses. The Japanese schools are nearly all modeled after American institutions, or, as the people like to believe, after a composite of all that is best in the schools of America, England, France and Germany. The students are not, of course, trained in modern athletics, and could hold their own at nothing of this kind with our magnificent college boys, but in simple physical training, making the very best of what nature has provided, the Japanese excel any people I have ever seen.

My very first day in the little island empire was full of exclamations about this constantly evident national characteristic, which belongs to the lower classes and the great middle class. The highest class in Japan is remarkable, alas! for physical weakness more than for physical perfection, a condition attributable to centuries of an extraordinary sedentary mode of life. The ship on which I crossed the Pacific ocean had not cast her anchor in Yokohama harbor before she was surrounded by a great crowd—"swarm" better expresses it—of sampans, little heavy wooden boats propelled by a single oar at the stern, and almost without exception handled by boys apparently about twelve to fourteen years old, and whose half-naked bodies, straining against the heavy oars, looked as if they had been modeled in bronze by some master artist. Their training is the kind which necessity forces upon the laborer, of course, but it is none the less splendid, and will have no less splendid effect upon the future Japan. —Leslie's Weekly.

The Kansas Farmer's Song.
Oh! a jayhawk life is the life fur me; I'm the swiftest hoss on the track; I'm a-wallerin' in prosper-tee, The happiest hog in the mud. On a regular downright crank. But it's different now since I've got the dough In the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank.

When the crop's all sold an' I've got the gold we are off on a furrrin' toger, an' we make the trip on a high-toned ship that kin swim forty miles an hour; an' the togs we wear make the natives stare—oh! they rubber-neck at our clothes; an' the cash we blow till you'd think, by jee! we was playin' it through a hose!

Oh! a farm'r's life is the life fur me; I'm a king o' the jayhawk blood; I'm a-wallerin' in prosper-tee, The happiest hog in the mud. In society doin's I cut a dash; I've a hefty roll in my flank. An' I've got a haymow full o' cash In the Farmers' an' Drovers' Bank. —Denver Post.

Men Were Posted.
The bridegroom of a newly married pair journeying to the city by train, one day recently, was a railroad man. Congratulations were whistled to him from every locomotive passed in the fifty-mile run. Those on the sidings made the most din, but the engineers on the trains in motion were also posted, and whistled as they sped by. One of the party who gave the newly wedded pair a send-off by pouring rice over them told the other passengers in the car what to expect. Every one seemed to enjoy the tooting from the locomotives more than the blushing bride and groom.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.
The most peculiar notes he ever heard from a chicken's throat caused David F. Sullivan of Mount Carbon, Pa., to hurry to his henry-to-day to see what the trouble was. There he found a large copperhead snake, with head erect, trying to charm a chicken. It already had the fowl completely under control. Mr. Sullivan, with a club, killed the snake, which measured four feet.

Society Women Smugglers.
Customs officers in New York declare that an epidemic of smuggling set in there about three weeks ago and is now believed to be at its height. It is an especially aggravating outbreak, because it is thought that not a few women of wealth are among the offenders, bringing in cut diamonds concealed in their coiffures and in nooks of their clothing which only the most experienced women inspectors can discover.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.
She, timid, diminutive woman, was frankly boasting. "Once I was greater than all railroad rules and regulations," she was saying, "and I held a train ten minutes. No, I did not flag it, but I just kept everyone waiting all that time for me to get off. You see, it was this way: When my station was called I started up to leave the car and found myself yanked back suddenly. Again I tried to rise and again I was rudely tumbled back into the seat. Then I discovered that my dress skirt was firmly fastened between the cushion and the woodwork. In some way it had worked under, and every time I tried to move I snapped back as if there was an elastic hand attached to me. I tugged and tugged, but I simply could not loosen my skirt.

"I called to the conductor and explained my predicament to him. He took up the cushion, but by that time my skirt had worked around until it was wedged fast between the frame of the seat and the wall. It was an expensive dress, and I did not want to tear it. I was nearly in tears until I heard the conductor give the brakeman orders to hold the train, and then I nearly giggled myself into hysterics.

"Two men behind me joined in the tussle. They told me to stand up, they told me to sit down. I expected any minute that they'd tell me to stand on my head before I was released. Meanwhile the other passengers in the car had gathered around and were offering assistance, and I was nearly burning up with mortification. Finally a man with deft, careful fingers pulled my skirt out bit by bit, while the crowd audibly expressed their admiration every time he had gained half an inch. Finally he wrenched the last bit out, and I fled. The brakeman smiled as he helped me off and said admiringly:

"My, but you've delayed the train ten minutes."

Owl in Elevated Car.
A young owl caused a lot of commotion among the score of passengers in a box car on the West Roxbury line of the elevated system about 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

The car was bowling along Washington street between Forest Hills and Rosindale when the owl flew in through one of the open windows. The brightly lighted car blinded the feathered intruder and it flew directly against a fat man who was standing in the rear doorway. The force of the collision sent the owl to the floor and gave the man such a scare that he almost swallowed the cigar he was smoking.

The owl eluded the efforts of the passengers to grasp it, and rising to the roof of the car made a swift downward swoop toward the front end. Rising again it smashed into the glass in the front door with such force that it fell exhausted to the floor, and a young man secured it before it could make another attempt to escape.—Boston Globe.

Drinking Match in Paris.
Winner, Herr Schnellman Consumes 19 1/2 Pints of Beer at Sitting.

The Cafe de la Republique in Paris was besieged the other evening by a large number of Germans desirous of witnessing a beer-drinking competition between three of their compatriots.

At 7 o'clock each of the competitors started with an initial drink of one and three-quarters of a pint of Pilsener beer. At 10 o'clock a man named Schnellman was three pints ahead of his rivals, having disposed of eleven pints of beer. An adjournment was then made for supper, which consisted of viands flavored with salt and vinegar—calculated to stimulate thirst.

At 11 o'clock the contest was resumed and continued without intermission until 2:30 a. m., when Herr Schnellman having considerably increased his lead, his rivals gave up in despair. The victor had imbibed nine and a half pints of beer in six and a half hours.

All three men presented an apoplectic appearance at the finish, and although the winner looked less uncomfortable than the other two, he was, nevertheless, in a sad condition. Herr Schnellman received $100 as the result of his unenviable achievement.

Was Same Old Mower.

Drinking Match in Paris.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Drinking Match in Paris.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Drinking Match in Paris.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Drinking Match in Paris.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Society Women Smugglers.

The Man that Lives to God cannot live too long or die too soon.

Woman Stopped the Train.

Owl in Elevated Car.

Snake-Charmed Chicken.

Sporting Terms.

"A steeplechase."—Baltimore American.

THE CHELSEA STANDARD

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, Chelsea, Mich.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET. For President—THEODORE ROOSEVELT, New York. For Vice-President—CHARLES W FAIRBANKS, Indiana.

STATE TICKET. Governor—FRED M. WARNER, Farmington. Lieutenant Governor—ALEXANDER MANTLAND, Negaunee.

JUDICIAL. Justice Supreme Court, Seven Years—RUSSELL C. OSTRANDER, Ingham. Justice Supreme Court, Five Years—CHARLES A. BLAIR, Jackson.

CONGRESSIONAL TICKET. Member of Congress—2d District—CHARLES E. TOWNSEND, Jackson.

LEGISLATIVE TICKET. State Senator—10th District—A. J. PECK, Jackson. Representative—1st District—JUNIOUS E. BPAL, Ann Arbor.

COUNTY TICKET. Judge of Probate—EMORY E. LELAND, Northfield. Sheriff—FRANK P. NEWTON, Ypsilanti. County Clerk—JAMES E. HARKINS, Ann Arbor.

REPUBLICAN RALLY. THOUSANDS PRESENT.

Hon. Grant Fellows, Senator R. A. Alger, Hon. G. J. Diekema, A. J. Waters and Alward.

OLD TIME SPEECHES.

Nine Bands Helped the Great Enthusiasm--Meeting Was a Great Success.

The republican county committee acted wisely when they decided to hold a grand republican rally in Chelsea. A greater success than the meeting yesterday, could not be expected. The day was perfect in every respect clear and not cold, one of those beautiful autumnal days that are not soon forgotten.

Until the speakers arrived the B & B band entertained the audience in the opera house which was packed with not only men, but many ladies. At 8 o'clock W. J. Knapp the chairman of the meeting with Senator R. A. Alger, Hon. G. J. Diekema, chairman of the state central republican committee, the speakers and others appeared on the platform. The program was opened by a song of Floyd Ward of Chelsea, accompanied on the piano by Miss Helene Steinbach.

Mr. Fellows then enumerated the various democratic claims, too much money in the Blaine campaign, in 1892 the tariff which they claimed robbed the people, in 1896 free silver. He asked them in 1896 who helped sustain William McKinley and the government? It was Fred M. Warner, and not Ferris, who was then preaching free silver.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Wm. Doll was a Detroit visitor Sunday. Miss Mamie Clark was in Ann Arbor Monday. Henry AhneMiller was in Jackson Sunday. Mrs. Lawrence Bagge was in Ann Arbor Tuesday.

Warner Voted Right. His Record Examined—His Vote Being for the Right Every Time.—Did Not Drop His Responsibilities.

The Democrats are so busy trying to elect their candidate for governor, that they let their enthusiasm run away with their veracity, and say and write many things, about Fred M. Warner, the republican candidate, which are not borne out by facts.

Mr. Warner was a member of the legislature which considered the bills cited by Mr. Colgrove and our correspondent, Mr. Nagel. The Journal has carefully examined the files of the journal of the senate and is able to answer all these questions, say one, from the records themselves.

every tax reform bill advocated by Gov. Pingree.

When Mr. Warner was in the senate advocating and voting for the taxation of steam railroads and other great corporate properties, Atwood, Doherty and Baird were unknown in state politics. The press of the state, and especially the chief Democratic organ in Detroit, warmly commended the work of Mr. Warner in the senate in 1895-97.

WANT COLUMN. RENTS, REAL ESTATE, FOUND, LOST, WANTED, ETC.

TO RENT—Farm of 240 acres known as the Thos. Mitchell for cash or on shares. Inquire of Wm. Paul. WANTED—Competent girl for general housework. Two in family. Address A. M. McGee, Jackson Mich.

BE FIRST and you're last to be sorry. ARE YOU READY? We Are Ready Now. To make your Suit, Overcoat and Trousers. Best line to select from. WEBSTER THE TAILOR

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL BAKING POWDER. Absolutely Pure HAS NO SUBSTITUTE. The baker invites you try his Breads, Cakes, Macaroons, Loaf Cake, Lady Fingers, Ginger Snaps, and Pies.

WILLIAM GASPARY

The baker invites you try his Breads, Cakes, Macaroons, Loaf Cake, Lady Fingers, Ginger Snaps, and Pies. Everything strictly fresh and in first class shape. Give a call.

BRIGHT NEW MILLINERY.

In our stock of new fall and winter millinery you will find all the newest and brightest creations of the season in PATTERN AND STREET HATS. We have a very handsome line of trimmings in Paon Velvets, Shaded Velvets, Plushes, Braids, and in Feathers, Owl Heads and Pompons.

HARNESS.

We are now in a position at the Steinbach Store on Middle street, west to offer exceptional bargains in Heavy Team, Light Double and Single Harnesses. Also special attention will be given to REPAIR WORK of all kinds.

STOVES

We still offer Bargains in Stoves. We have had a wonderful sale on Steel Ranges the past few weeks, simply because we are giving the best values for the money they cost and our customers appreciate it.

We will continue our Cut Prices On all Outside Stoves. We wish to confine our line more exclusively to Garlands and Round Oaks, Without exception "The World's Best."

We have something to offer you in Furniture. Call and look through our stock. Nearly everything is new and prices right. We are cutting prices on Sideboards and Dining tables. We still offer 9-bar Woven Wire Fence at 25 cents per rod. The best fence and price ever. W. J. KNAPP.

HEPBURN ON TOWNSEND.

In his speech at Co. D. Army in Madison Saturday, Oct. 8, the Hon. W. H. Hepburn, Congressman from Clarion, Iowa, who is now serving his tenth term in the house of Representatives and who is Chairman of the Inter-state Commerce Committee, paid a very high tribute to Congressman C. E. Townsend.

He said: "I should not be doing justice to myself, and particularly to my convictions, if I did not tell you from personal knowledge and experience a few things I have learned about your representative, Mr. Townsend. (Loud cheers.) It is no egotism on my part to say that for years I have been entrusted with a responsible position on committees of the House. Here he went on and explained what these committees do and why it is necessary to have them in order to conduct the business of the National Legislature.

Continuing, he said, "You are aware that I am Chairman of the Inter-state Commerce Committee, and I want to say that this is one of the most important committees in the House. It was a small honor conferred upon Mr. Townsend when he was made a member of that committee, and my friends there is no body of men anywhere so exacting in its demands, no place, I believe, on earth where the qualities of the man are more tested than in your National Congress. A man may be there who is an able lawyer, he may have acquired fame and distinction before he is elected as the people's choice, but these things mean absolutely nothing in the eyes and mind of that great body. There, he is just what he is, what he shows himself to be, and only qualifications need be just what the body requires. He really begins all over again, and, as I have said, it is a test of the man found nowhere else.

In view of all this, I say it without flattery that not in years has there come a young man who so quickly impressed old and young members with his aptitude for the work allotted to him on the committee named, and I should regard it as something of a calamity not to see him there for years to come. He has the material in his which the country needs, and others could bear testimony to the fact that there were inquiries on all hands about this young man from Michigan.

After telling you these things, I am sure you need no more from me as to what is your duty towards Mr. Townsend. (Cheers.) Two years under any circumstances hardly gives a man a chance to prove his qualities, yet Mr. Townsend has stamped his personality upon Congress. Not only will you be rightly honoring a deserving man, but you will be performing a duty you really owe in patriotism to return Mr. Townsend, and it is a great pleasure for me to bear this witness to your member. (Loud cheers.)

Time does not permit me to go into detail of the work which must be performed by the committee, but you must be aware that the Interstate and Foreign Commerce questions have assumed large proportions. There is a mass of details to enter into, and affairs of far-reaching importance to deal with, but Mr. Townsend showed himself capable of handling them all, and his manner of making the reports was of a character which made him a valuable man to me. Personally, I want to see him returned for the reasons I have here outlined. (Cheers.)

From the manner in which Mr. Hepburn expressed his sentiments, it was apparent to the audience that he had strong convictions that there is a future before Mr. Townsend in Congress, and when he spoke of requirements necessary to make a good Congressman, it is well known that there are few men in the nation who are better fitted to know and judge than this stalwart republican, who has been at the helm of affairs during the most serious period through which the country has passed the last 20 years.

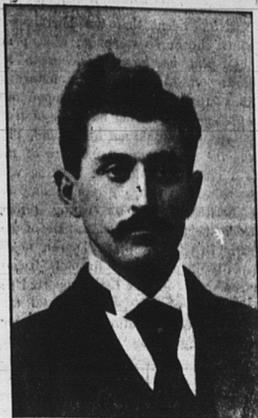

ANDREW J. SAWYER, JR.,
For Prosecuting Attorney.

In his canvass for prosecuting attorney Andrew J. Sawyer, jr., of Ann Arbor, has shown that rare tact, which his friends know him to possess. He has made friends of all whom he met, and there were few whom circumstance prevented him from meeting. He is a hard student, and an energetic careful painstaking attorney, who will see that his office will be run on an economical basis. His pluck and real merits deserves to be rewarded.

"DAVE" HARUM ON FERRIS.

If David Harum was today a democrat advocating the election of Ferris as governor he would say, "Republicans, vote for Ferris, he is Verone Clikot's universal an' sur' remedy fer toothache, earache, burns, scalds, warts, dispepsy, fallin' o' the hair, windgall, ringbone, spavin, disappinted affections, an' pips in hens." Particularly the "disappinted affections" would be true.

Use Standard want ads.

OTTO D. LUICK,
For County Treasurer.

Otto D. Luick, of Lima township, the republican candidate for county treasurer has had a general experience as township clerk and is a successful farmer. He comes from an old German pioneer family, well-known for their integrity and industry. He is a worthy representative of the German-American population of the county and will fulfill the duties of the office with integrity and care. The county funds will be secured in his hands.

FOOD FOR SERIOUS THOUGHT.

In Hennepin county, Minnesota, which embraces Minneapolis, there were at the recent primary election 297 candidates. The secretary of the republican committee gives it as his opinion that their expense in the nomination campaign was not less than $1,000 a piece, on the average—$297,000 in one county, and they have yet to go through the campaign for election! The editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press makes the same estimate and says it surpassed anything ever witnessed in Minnesota politics before, producing a carnival of blackmail, graft and corruption that was a disgrace to Minneapolis and to the state.

M. F. Kain, secretary of the democratic state central committee of Minnesota, says: "We used to see money spent with a reckless hand to secure nominations, but what went before was not a marker to the excesses seen on every hand under the present act. Thousands of dollars are spent where hundreds formerly sufficed, and as the volume of money increased the number of grafters multiplied, until today a man can't run for office unless he is rich himself, or represents some special interest which will put up for him."

A judge of the Supreme Court says: "The principal evil of the present law is the immense expense it has brought to those seeking office. All previous records of money spent in securing nominations have been broken, and the recent campaign has witnessed the most profligate use of funds in the history of office-seeking in Minnesota. This serves as an ethical bar to good men from entering the race at all. The natural and commendable pride which will prevent the best men from seeking office by going upon the housetops and proclaiming themselves candidates, is reinforced by either inability to stand the expense, or refusal to be held up by the grafters and blackmailers, and the average in public office is lowered."

Another officer says: "Instead of putting the ward heeler and peanut politician out of business, it has put him into clover knee deep. But this is not all; there was graft of this kind before, but the primary election law has bred a new kind of grafters, composed of newspaper men. From one end of the state to the other their hand is stretched out for bribes, just plain bribes. They appease their conscience by saying they accept money for advertising space, but dozens of the candidates who have been their victims have told me that their solicitations for advertising always carried an implied threat. It is just blackmail."

This is very illuminating as to the Scripps' papers in Detroit, which have been packed with that advertising and have held up the candidates for thousands of dollars, in only a Wayne county primary election. And it is exceedingly instructive to the voters of Michigan who are urged by those grafters to vote for them in the interest of extending the graft to the whole state.

The republican party is pledged to a primary reform that will reform, and not a spurious brand that nobody has approved, that will aggravate all of the evils of which the people now complain.

There is no relation whatever between direct taxation and the primary school money—Lawton T. Hemans, Ingham county Ferris speaker.
There isn't, eh? If Ingham county had not received from the state this year $32,589.90 primary school money, to pay expenses of her public schools throughout the county, would not the taxpayers in the school districts of Ingham county have been compelled to add that amount to their direct taxes? It looks as though there was some relation between direct taxation and the primary school money.
"Energy all gone? Headache? Stomach out of order? Simply a case of torpid liver, Burdock Blood Bitters will make a new man or woman of you."

THE WAYNE PRIMARIES.

Whatever one's opinion as to the proper method of reforming primary elections, it would seem that the primaries in Wayne county prove conclusively that a law changing methods of nominating state, as well as other officers, will require very careful consideration. Blindly passing a "direct nomination" measure with a whoop and hurrah will not effect the desired reform.

First of all it would seem desirable, if it is possible, to devise some means whereby members of one party may not vote by the wholesale for candidates of the opposition. That the system used in Wayne county is unwieldy and because of the unwieldiness apt to furnish additional opportunities for corruption instead of lessening them, is evidenced by the long delay necessarily incident to counting the ballots cast. That it has added enormously to the chances of winning of the candidate with money is further indicated by the wide publicity such men may obtain through expensive newspaper and other advertising, which his poor rival cannot afford. It is too early to go far into detail with faults of the Wayne direct nomination plan of primaries, but it will be well for every vote interested in primary reform, whether for or against it, to study closely the analyses of the primaries of Wednesday in Wayne. He can obtain much valuable light on the matter.

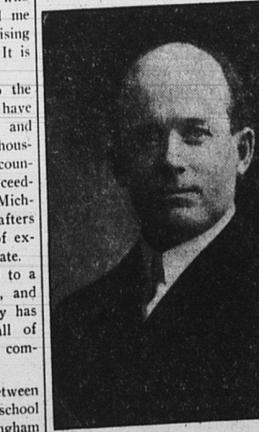

JAMES E. HARKINS,
For County Clerk.

James E. Harkins, of Ann Arbor, the candidate for county clerk is well-known throughout the county and will well deserve the large vote which he will receive. His character has been an open book, and there are few who have not had the genuine pleasure of his acquaintance. He is industrious and honest, and will as clerk, add to his now many friends.

MISREPRESENT.

In a speech at Benton Harbor, Mr. Ferris stated that the republican platform provided only for the introduction of primary reform at the option of counties, and that it bars the people from the right to nominate their state senators and members of congress by direct vote. This statement is absolutely untrue. The platform reads: "We favor a general primary election law that will enable every municipal and political district in the state to decide for itself the method by which it shall nominate its candidates for public office."

This language was meant too, and does include representative, senatorial and congressional districts, as plainly as words can express the thought. Not only Mr. Ferris but the entire democratic press are persistently misrepresenting the attitude of the republican platform on this question. The platform is so simple and so practical that there is no excuse or justification for this conduct.

GEORGE W. SAMPLE,
For Circuit Court Commissioner.

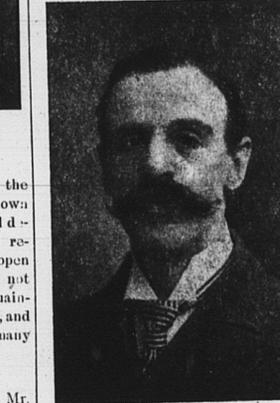

George W. Sample, of Ann Arbor, who has been nominated as one of the circuit court commissioners, is well equipped in every way for the responsible position as one of the officers of court.
Madame Fowler will open a school of dancing at the Woodmen hall next Monday evening, November 7 after that evening the school will be held every Tuesday evening. School from 8 to 9:30 at the close of the lesson a hop will be given, each lesson 25 cents for each person hop included.

IMPUDENT AND INSOLENT.

In the proceedings following the wrecking of the Detroit City Savings Bank by Frank Andrews, the Union Trust Company as receivers for the bank carried to Lansing over a half million of dollars—to be exact, $500,265.86—of the bank's funds, and deposited it in the state treasury as required by law. The receivers then by attorney went directly upstairs to the supreme court room and entered a motion for the disposition of the money. The motion was granted, and on the order of the court the money was immediately paid over the counter of the treasury and carried back to Detroit. The money was only in the treasury a few minutes, or an hour or two, perhaps, while the messenger waited in the corridor. It never belonged to the state nor to the taxpayers, and was not "expended." But it went to swell the receipts and disbursements of the treasury, and is used by the depraved Scripps papers in their astonishing falsehoods about state expenditures to prove republican profligacy. If the amount of those receivers' funds had been two million dollars more, instead of only half a million, then Mr. Scripps' proclamation of "$8,000,000 state expenses," which he daily repeats with such shameless effrontery in contempt of all rebuke, would have been $10,000,000; but his impudent and insolent defiance would have been no greater than it is now.

25,000 MAJORITY CLAIMED.

The republicans in the upper peninsula are awake, as is shown in the following dispatch to the Detroit Journal: Houghton, Mich., Oct. 27.—Special.—The Republican rally at Kerredge theater last night crowded the building to the doors. The addresses of Senator Alger and Gerrit J. Diekema, chairman of the Republican state central committee, were received with great enthusiasm. Houghton county will give the national and state ticket 6,000 majority, and the upper peninsula will give approximately 25,000.

JUNIUS L. BEAL,
For Representative 1st District.

In the nomination of Junius E. Beal, of Ann Arbor, as candidate for representative, the first district can be congratulated. He has spent his whole life in Ann Arbor graduating from the high school and university. He has large business interests there. For many years he has been a school trustee. His well-known integrity, industry and activity in whatever he has to do, makes him an ideal candidate, to best serve the interest of his district. He is upright and his constituents will know where to find him, looking after their best interests. It is important that he be elected.

ABUSE OF PRIMARIES.

The Detroit Journal well says that "for a democrat who has had no alliance with the republican party in the past and contemplates no such alliance in the future, to attempt by his vote to exercise an influence in framing a republican ticket which he has no intention of supporting, is as much a fraud on the purity of the primary as is an attempt to vote on the part of a man who is not a citizen of the state or who does not reside in the precinct, or who for other reasons is disqualified from voting." This is entirely true, but it is exactly what the democrats did in Grand Rapids, exactly what they did at Muskegon, and exactly what they have now done in Detroit. Nowhere have the republicans so abused the principle of primary reform, but have sought to put the principle in practical operation to secure the nomination of the best man in their own party and allow the democrats to do the same in theirs. Who, then, are the true friends of primary reform and honestly try to reform the primaries? Which will you trust, voter, to frame the law and put it into operation?

"The two industries (farming and manufacturing) have become, under the economic policy of our government, so closely interwoven, so mutually interdependent, that neither can hope to maintain itself, at the highwater mark of progress without the other. What ever makes to the advantage of one is equally to the advantage of the other."
—Roosevelt's Letter of Acceptance.
Hundreds of lives saved every year by having Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the home just when it is needed. Cures croup, heals burns, cuts, wounds of every sort.

EMORY E. LELAND,
For Judge of Probate.

Emory E. Leland, of Northfield, the republican candidate for judge of probate, is one of the best known level headed upright business men of the county. He has not only been successful as a progressive farmer but has also for years sold farming implements. He is just the capable self-reliant man to do justice to those who need the services of the probate court. He has had large experience as executor administrator and guardian, so that he will be no novice to the affairs of the office. Since a young man he has spoken the German language, which will be of a great service to many of the citizens of Washtenaw county. You will make no mistake if you vote for Emory E. Leland for judge of probate.

DEMOCRATS' HOPELESS QUEST.

Driven to desperation in their search for something upon which to wage a national campaign, it was perhaps but natural that the Democratic leaders should pounce upon the letter President Roosevelt wrote to Mr. Albert Shaw in reference to the Panama canal a year or more ago. And yet it would be difficult to conceive of anything more pitiful than the manner in which the sensation promised by Senator Culberson at the Democratic rally in New York city last week flattened out. It was with great glee that the sentence from the letter was quoted in which President Roosevelt said, "Privately, I freely say to you that I should be delighted if Panama was an independent state or if it made itself so at this moment, but for me to say so publicly would amount to an instigation for revolt and therefore I cannot say it." Any force this utterance might have had, however, was removed by the sentence immediately preceding the one quoted, in which the President wrote, "I cast aside the proposition made at this time to foment the session of Panama."

Had the letter never been heard of prior to being trotted out in New York by Senator Culberson, it would have carried no weight. But the fact remains that its existence was indited. It was simply the expression of President Roosevelt of his private opinion—a right belonging to even the nation's chief executive—and there is no evidence that it had any special bearing on his subsequent attitude toward Panama. In the draft of the message he prepared, when there seemed no prospect of the treaty being ratified, but which was never delivered because the revolution altered the situation, he simply reiterated the proposition that we were bound to build the canal. That is the task undertaken by the United States, and the best evidence of the fact that the administration's course meets with public approval is the refusal to enthrone over the Democratic efforts to arouse prejudice. There has been nothing underhanded in President Roosevelt's course in reference to the canal. Not even those who now criticize his course would, were they to admit the truth, have him do otherwise.

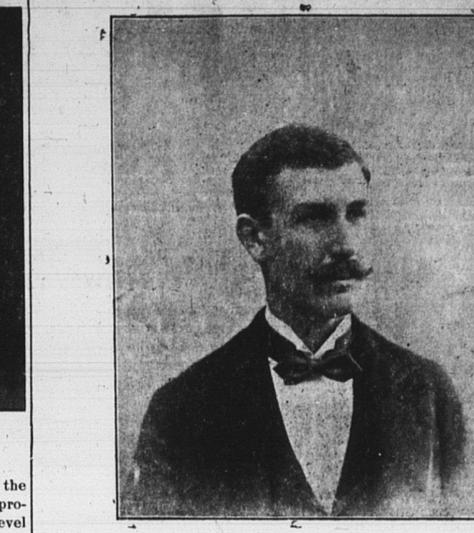

Searching through the toms, rummaging among dry bones of the past may prove a pleasing pastime for the Democratic leaders, but it is not productive of votes. It is deeds that are wanted not words; but the Democracy has shown itself to be lamentably weak even in the latter respect.—Detroit Free Press.

WHO RAISED THE TAXES?

"All you need is men in control of the state government who are not in secret alliance with the railroads." So says a Detroit Tribune editorial, arguing that the state government should be taken out of the hands of the republicans who have long controlled it, and place in the hands of the democrats who did control it for two years, as the state painfully remembers (in 1891-92. "In secret alliance with the railroads!" Here are some of the fruits of that alliance. The taxes assessed upon the railroads in Michigan during the last seven years of republican administration are as follows:

1898	$879,521.00
1899	1,091,526.39
1900	1,240,745.27
1901	1,356,857.96
1902	1,483,906.95
1903	3,288,157.06
1904	3,756,149.42

The fruits are very satisfactory to the people of the state, Mr. Tribune.

J. B. WALLACE, PH. D., M. D.
For Coroner.

J. B. Wallace, Ph. D., M. D., is a graduate of Detroit College of Medicine, a member of American medical association, and is at present health officer of Saline village and Saline township. He is also a member of the school board. The south eastern part of the county is entitled to a coroner, and Dr. Wallace, will be prompt and careful in attending to his duties.

WILLIAM S. PUTNAM,
For Circuit Court Commissioner.

Ypsilanti is well represented by Wm. S. Putnam, who is the candidate for circuit court commissioner from the eastern part of the county. Mr. Putnam has had considerable legal experience, and will give the office careful attention.

SAMUEL W. BURCHFIELD,

For Coroner.
If any one thinks himself dead and is not sure of it, he certainly will come to life, when that genial, reliable republican Samuel W. Burchfield, of Ann Arbor, candidate for coroner is called. Mr. Burchfield will attend to the office, and give it the care he does to his own business. He is a hustler.

JEROME ALLEN,

For County Surveyor.
Jerome Allen, of Ypsilanti, the candidate for county surveyor, is an old skilled hand at the business. He is careful and accurate, and will give satisfaction.

The "Celery King complexion" is what one Chelsea lady calls the beautiful skin that comes from the use of the tonic laxative, Celery King. 25c. a bottle at all druggists.

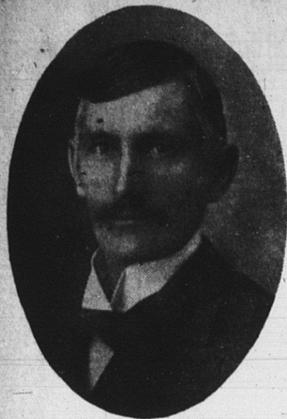

Hives are a terrible torment of the little folks, and to some older ones. Easily cured. Doan's Ointment never fails. Instant relief, permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

EVEN IF You had a NECK
As long as this follow and had
SORE THROAT
ALL THE WAY DOWN
Tonsiline
WOULD QUICKLY CURE IT.

Tonsiline is the greatest throat remedy on earth. Tonsiline cures Sore Throats of all kinds very quickly, and is a positive, never-failing and speedy cure for Sore Mouth, Hoarseness and Quinsy. A small bottle of Tonsiline lasts longer than most any case of SORE THROAT. 25 and 50 cents at all druggists. THE TONILINE CO. CANTON, OHIO.

PRUDDEN AND STANTON
Drivers of
TUBULAR WELLS.
Sell the
MAUD S. WINDMILLS.
This Mill took the first premium at the State Fair.
Well supplies on hand. Repairing done on short notice.
PRUDDEN & STANTON,
CHELSEA, - - MICHIGAN.

1898	$879,521.00
1899	1,091,526.39
1900	1,240,745.27
1901	1,356,857.96
1902	1,483,906.95
1903	3,288,157.06
1904	3,756,149.42

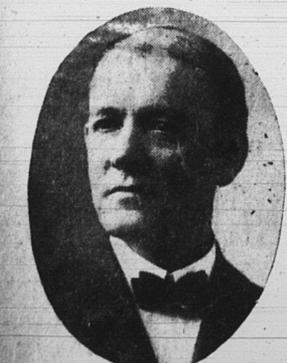

JOHN LAWSON,
For Register of Deeds.
It is not often that Augusta township is represented on the county ticket. John Lawson the candidate for register of deeds is a representative citizen, who will not only see that the work of the office is well done but that its patrons will be promptly served and satisfied. He will be a good man for the place.

BIG RAPIDS MEETING.
A dispatch from Big Rapids to the Detroit Journal in reference to the Big Rapids meeting held in Ferris home town, says: The students of the Ferris institute made ridiculous the recent interview of Mr. Ferris, when he said he hoped Mr. Warner wouldn't come to Big Rapids, and intimated that the students through their loyalty to him, would create a disturbance and perhaps break up the meeting. Mr. Ferris said that he feared his influence could not restrain them. Many of the students attended the meetings, but they did not evince their great affection for Mr. Ferris by disturbing Mr. Warner; on the contrary, the heartiest cheers were from the students, who admired the straightforward manner in which Mr. Warner explained his position on the state issues of the day.

Fred M. Warner was cheered when he appeared on the platform and the applause as he made telling points was most enthusiastic. He complimented Mr. Ferris as a gentleman of fine qualities and as an educator, but said he was on the wrong side. He praised the students for their ambitions and for their courteousness. He reiterated his personal position on the primary reform issue. He said that his opponent had accused him of favoring primary reform in spots and until some system had been more fully perfected that was his position exactly. He did not believe that the state as a whole desired a sweeping primary reform law. He said he did not believe that his home county—Oakland—was prepared for such a measure. And yet if such a measure was passed by the state legislature at the people's behest, and he were in the governor's chair, he certainly would sign it, feeling that he would be in duty bound to do so.

Phil T. Colgrove opened the opera house meeting there being an overflow meeting in the Woodman hall: The record of Fred M. Warner in the legislature was related and the laudations bestowed upon him then by the identical newspapers that now attack and besmirch him were read. The astounding impudence of the democrats in compiling the names of Roosevelt "and Ferris" was pointed out, and Mr. Colgrove declared that Theodore Roosevelt would be swift to repudiate such trickery as the use of his name to bait a trap for the benefit of a democrat like Ferris. While Ferris was spoken of in the most complimentary way as a gentleman engaged in one of the noblest professional employments and as a public spirited citizen of Big Rapids, his political conduct was shown to have always been reprehensible from a republican standpoint, and is now, as ever, malignantly opposed to Theodore Roosevelt. It is a treacherous sham, this pretense of being for Roosevelt "and Ferris," and those who raise that cry are political enemies of Roosevelt, whose support he spurns.

HON. CHARLES E. TOWNSEND,
For Member of Congress 2d district.
Hon. Charles E. Townsend, of Jackson, has made a national reputation as member of congress from this district. It would be a great mistake not to return Mr. Townsend for a second term, as an old member can always do more for his district than a new one. He has honestly cared for his district. See that his name is on your ticket.

Fred M. Warner

Republican Candidate for Governor

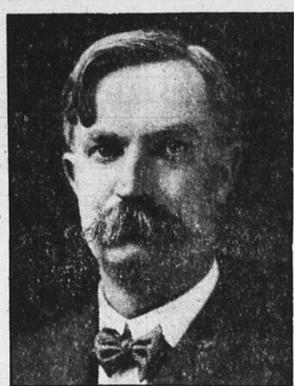

"Should I be elected Governor of Michigan, I shall go into that office absolutely untrammelled, with no promises to redeem except such as have been made by my party in state convention and contained in the platform upon which I was nominated."—Extract from speech delivered by Fred M. Warner.

The Power Behind Fred M. Warner.

"I would rather give up all I have secured or hope to secure than to give any reason for the blush of shame coming to the cheeks of my wife or children through any act of mine or through any failure to do that which duty will demand. The power behind me which I will most heed will be the confidence and good-will which has caused my neighbors and friends in Oakland county, almost regardless of party, to encourage and to assist my past political ambitions and to give me their assurances of loyal support and cordial esteem."—Extract from speech delivered by Fred M. Warner at the State Fair.

Is Proud of Michigan.

"I am proud of Michigan, proud of its history, proud of its present, and I elected Governor of Michigan, as I fully expect to be, will endeavor to see to it that no act of mine shall lessen that pride which exists in the minds of all our state's true sons and daughters."—Extract from speech delivered by Hon. Fred M. Warner at the State Fair.

"I am under not the slightest obligation to any man or to any combination of men, in this state, to do other than that which I shall decide to be right and for the best interests of our state."—Extract from speech delivered by Hon. Fred M. Warner at the State Fair.

Fred M. Warner's Record as a State Senator.

Fred M. Warner voted in favor of a bill for the taxation of sleeping cars in 1895.
Fred M. Warner was one of the twelve Senators who voted (May 27, 1897) to take the Michigan Central Charter repeal bill from the committee.
Fred M. Warner voted for the so-called Atkinson railroad taxation bill at the special session of 1898. Discussing the measure, (Senate Journal, 1898, page 238) he said: "I am in favor of the passage of this bill. While the bill is not, in every particular, as I would like to have seen it, still I think it is in the line of EQUAL AND JUST TAXATION and should be passed. The imperfections, if any, can be fixed later on."
Fred M. Warner was one of the nine Senators who voted against tabling the bill which provided for the reduction of railroad fares in the Upper Peninsula.
Fred M. Warner was one of the seventeen Senators who voted in favor of increasing the rate of taxation of express companies in the special session, called by Governor Pingree in 1898.

Stands Squarely for True Primary Reform.

No question has ever arisen in Michigan with which I have more sincere sympathy than the demand for honest elections and properly conducted primaries. I regard the vote buyer and the man whose vote is bought as even worse than other types of public criminals. Our institutions are in danger when nominations are secured through the expenditure of money and when our elections are sought to be controlled by vilification and misrepresentation.

Though some may be more radical than myself in their desire for the adoption of new methods, I am sure that none are more earnest in their willingness to favor reforms which will prove of practical value and to approve of changes which we are convinced will be in the right direction. My party is pledged to pass a primary election law at the coming session of the legislature and I will do my best to see to it that that pledge is fulfilled. I have made the statement many times, and wish to repeat it here, that whatever effective primary election law it seems best to the representatives selected by the people of Michigan to pass at their next session, will receive my signature. I have given the subject of primary election laws as much consideration perhaps as any other man in the

MENDACITY OF THE SCRIPPS NEWSPAPERS

The Detroit Evening News said, EDITORIALY, June 19, 1896.

"Mr. McKinley will be a Willing Tool in the hands of Congress. He will be a piece of clay in the hands of the politicians, to be molded in accordance with their own sweet will."

The Detroit Evening News said, EDITORIALY, October 22nd, 1896, under the heading "The Mortgaged Candidate and the Trusts."

"In other words, he remained McKinley. And yet his course was consistent. The man who is mortgaged for $118,000 to Mark Hanna," etc., etc., etc.

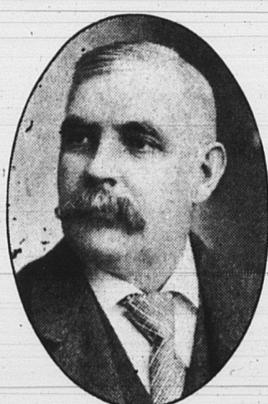

This was when the Evening News was trying to defeat McKinley and it imagined that Mark Hanna was a Bad, Bad Man, so it coupled his name with that of McKinley in this sneering way.

In its crusade against Fred M. Warner this year the Detroit Evening News seems to be warming over its editorial utterances of eight years ago against the beloved McKinley. The Evening News tried to fool the people then and failed. The Evening News is trying to fool the people now and it will fail again.

Fred M. Warner, the Republican Candidate for Governor, an upright Christian gentleman, a capable public official, a candidate of the people, a successful business man, a pure patriot, is no man's man. He has made no promises for office, is not tied up to any interest or combination of interests, and as Governor he will be controlled by pure motives and honest judgment in the interest of all the people. He is worthy of the support of all good citizens.

state, and through such consideration I have become convinced that it would be unwise, at this time, to sweep from our statute books all laws now in existence providing for political conventions. I am told, my friends, that the possession of such a conviction will cause me the loss of votes at the coming election, but I would not deserve the vote of any honest man if I did not frankly express my sincere belief on this and every other subject. I am sure if those who are most radical on this subject would give to it the time and investigation which I have sought to give, if they would inform themselves as to the experiences of other states, if they would study the practical as well as the ideal possibilities of the change they invoke, even though they might not fully agree with me, they would become convinced as to the sincerity of my position. I fully agree with the demand for change and improvement and even should the change go so far as to leave no vestige of present methods, I would still deem it my duty to meet the expectations of my party as indicated in the action of the people's representatives and to assist by my signature the enactment into law of whatever legislation concerning primary elections the next legislature shall see fit to pass.—From speech delivered by Fred M. Warner at the State Fair.

WORTHY OF THE SUPPORT OF ALL GOOD CITIZENS.

A. J. PEAK,
For State Senator, 10th District.

Hon. A. J. Peak, of Jackson, has had experience in the legislature, and made a splendid record for himself at Lansing. He will, as senator, take care of the important interests of Jackson and Washtenaw counties better than a new man without experience. In fact every citizen can rest easy, that he will not leave a stone unturned to further their interests.

THE STATE LAND OFFICE.

The land commissioner is placed near the bottom of the ticket, but it would be a mistake to presume from that that it is an office of small importance. The commissioner has charge of all the lands belonging to the state, disposes of them for the state by sale or homestead, prosecutes trespassers upon the state lands for which he appoints trespass agents throughout the state, and collects delinquent taxes upon part-paid lands. He is a member of the board of state auditors, state board of equalization, board of state canvassers, board of review for assessment of telegraph and telephone lines, and board of control for reclamation of swamp lands, and appoints weighmen and inspectors at beet sugar factories. He turned in to the state treasury from the operations of this department last year nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

Under the wise management of the present administration, in conjunction with the auditor general's office the land office has restored to the state domain great amounts of delinquent and abandoned lands, and brought about the placing of homestead and other settlers upon much of the territory that had lain idle and profitless.

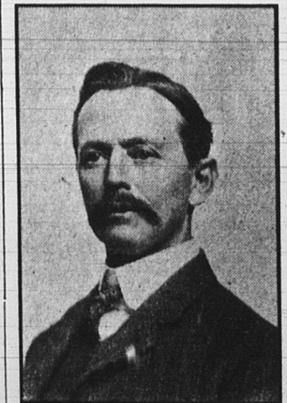

Upon the success of the republican ticket this fall, a gentleman will have been selected to conduct that department of the state government, who is well-fitted to carry forward all of this important work. William H. Rose, of Clinton county, was born in 1844, upon the same farm where he now lives, in the town of Bath. He has been a farmer all his life, some of the reward of which is a well cultivated and highly improved farm of 400 acres. He is a veteran of the civil war, and has a record for honorable service in political affairs, often entrusted with responsibilities by his party and his fellow electors. Township treasurer and supervisor, county treasurer, and representative in the legislature, are some of the civil positions he has held. Himself a heavy taxpayer, a successful business man, a citizen familiar with public affairs, a man of broad views, industrious, faithful, patriotic, the voters will honor themselves and serve their state in honoring Wm. H. Rose.

JOE COX ON WARNER.

Joe Cox the well known former lieutenant of Governor Pingree, in his speech at Niles Monday, characterized Candidate Ferris as the tool of Daniel J. Campau and Wellington K. Burt, "two of the most notorious machine democrats in Michigan."
"Talk about Fred M. Warner being machine made," exclaimed Cox, "why, voters, let me give you a little inside history that has not often been told. When Hazen S. Pingree was governor Warner was in the senate. The governor was always suspicious of this body and he appointed me to watch them and take notes on the several members. We put black marks opposition of the names of 17 of them, fellow citizens, but never a flaw could we pick in the record of Fred Warner.

Look into the face of that man and show me a line of expression which is not right and which does not bespeak honesty. What is more, Warner has been loyal to the republican party. I helped defeat him once for the nomination of secretary of state. It was Stearns that took the plum. Warner did not put in the corner and turn around and try to join the democratic party. He stood his ground like a man. He won the hearts of the republicans of Michigan and they nominated him for governor.

ARTHUR J. WATERS,
For Representative 2d District.

Attorney Arthur J. Waters, of Manchester, the nominee for representative of the second district, is well known, and will be a worthy representative. The large interests of the Michigan Normal college, will be safe in his hands. He is an active hard worker and will carefully look after the interests of his constituents. He should be elected.

"Taint no use to sit down and whine, When no fish get tangled in your line; Bate your hook with a humble bee, And keep taking Rocky Mountain Tea, Glazier & Stimson.

FRANK T. NEWTON,
For Sheriff.

Frank T. Newton, of Ypsilanti, the candidate for sheriff, is a careful, painstaking, successful business man, who will take care of the office, with the same care that he bestows upon his private business. He will be a good man for the position.

NEW YORK HERALDS PROPHECY.

The New York Herald has the reputation of usually guessing right. It has completed its non-partisan roll of the country and predicts that Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be elected and that the house of representatives will be republican. States casting 287 electoral votes are classified as strongly favoring the republican electoral ticket. States casting 150 electoral votes will go for Parker and Davis. A majority of the electoral college consists of 230 votes. Thus the president has a majority of 18 sure votes and Parker lacks 30 votes having a clear majority.
The Herald gives the house of representatives to the republicans by 210 to 164 with 12 districts in doubt. It also predicts 120,000 plurality for Roosevelt in Michigan and says that Warner will probably carry the state by from 20,000 to 30,000 plurality, with the probability that the rest of the state ticket will be successful by 65,000 plurality.

THE BUBBLE BURSTS.

It is evident that the hurrah with which the Ferris campaign was opened has spent its force. The froth has blown off. It was in the nature of things that a cause founded upon misrepresentation, having no basis of truth to support it, could not long stand. That was the character and measure of this to a remarkable degree. Starting with the falsehood that the republican party is hostile to primary voting reform which the people desire, and the democratic party, led by the Detroit newspaper combination, are the only friends of such reform, they have supported the original falsehood with a colossal fabric of misrepresentation, and endeavored to stampede the voters of the state. Such a conspiracy vigorously pushed with all the dust and racket their united efforts could raise, would create for a time a great appearance of doing things.

But the weakness of a structure like this inevitably becomes manifest in time, and the people are perceiving that it is not true that the republican party is opposed to primary voting reform; it is not true that the party is dominated by corrupt machine and corporation influences; it is not true that such influences dictated or procured the nomination of Mr. Warner for governor; it is not true that he has ever shown allegiance to or sympathy with such influences. Neither is it true that either the democratic party or its candidate for governor has any record in the past history of either of them as the friend of popular rights or of any political reform. The republican party has such record, in state and nation, running through all its history; and in all the record of Mr. Warner, public or private, there is faithfulness, efficiency, independence.

So, as the dust clears away a little, and we can see a little better, it appears that the disturbance is more noise than substance. The boom is flattening. And the boomers realize the fact. The Detroit Evening News, which is working for the "reform" pretense, sounds the alarm in a double-leaded editorial, saying:

Unless republicans are awake to the gravity of the situation, enough of them may be induced to vote the old party ticket to elect it.

And then the democratic state central committee comes out with an original letter signed by the chairman, secretary and treasurer, making frantic appeal for financial help that—

Is needed now, if the campaign is to be continued, and earnestly pleading for a contribution, large or small, to be sent at once.

And then added:

We make this appeal as a committee and personally.

That letter is sent in signed copies to the faithful throughout the state.

The campaign of falsehood is failing. The hurrah has spent its force. The "republicans are awake to the gravity of the situation," Mr. News, but not according to your meaning. They are "on" to your schemes and your aims. They will walk over you and will elect their candidates, and will enact a primary election law that will be satisfactory to the state, but which will not, if they can help it, permit papers to levy a tax of four thousand dollars a week upon the candidates of a single county.

FINE LYNDON MEETING.

The democrats and republicans of Lyndon township live in peace with each other, and do not allow politics to disturb their good fellowship. Through some mistake both a democratic and republican meeting, was called for Monday evening in the town hall. There was no ruction however and it was quickly arranged that H. D. Withersoll of Chelsea and Attorney W. H. Murray of Ann Arbor candidate for prosecuting attorney should as democrats have the time up until 9 o'clock, when the republicans proceeded. The Aeolian quartet and James E. Harkins, candidate for county clerk sang. Edward Gorman, then introduced Hon. Perry W. Powers, who discussed the primary election question in a way that made the large audience think very seriously of the expedience of rushing into it without careful consideration. The meeting was a great success.

Their Sweet Way.

After a girl has cried over the hardships of the hero of the play she takes the sweetest delight in giving pain to the young man who is paying for her dinner.—Chicago Record-Herald.

In the Rut.

They talk about getting into the rut. Remaining in the rut isn't so bad. Most successful men are found in the rut; most failures are found outside of it.—Atlanta Constitution.

Holland Distances.

The country in which the large towns are most nearly equidistant is Holland. They are at an average distance of about 20 miles from each other.

Difference in Hears.

A well-known professor asserts that the smallest intervals of sound can be better distinguished with one ear than it can with both.

Hint for the Housewife.

A handful of dried orange or lemon peel kept in the cake box or cookie jar is said to improve the flavor of the cake.—N. Y. Post.

Subscribe for The Standard.

WICKED STORY IS FALSE.

To satisfy itself of the truth of a charge which has been peddled in certain democratic circles, the Detroit Journal addressed the following letter to Homer Warren, who, as treasurer of the republican state central committee, knows the origin of every dollar that comes to the committee in the way of campaign subscriptions:

Homer Warren, Treasurer Republican State Central Committee:

Dear Sir:—The Democratic newspaper and speakers have made the statement many times during the current campaign that the railroads of the state have contributed to Mr. Warner's campaign fund.

No proof has been given of the charge, one newspaper merely stating that it is "generally accepted" as true. If it be true, it is a serious reflection on Mr. Warner and the Republican party of Michigan.

You, as treasurer of the state central committee, can either confirm the statement or authoritatively deny it.

Will you kindly make a public statement as to the truth or falsity of the charge? Has any railroad contributed to Mr. Warner's campaign fund?

The Detroit Journal

Detroit, October 27, 1904.

Mr. Warren, who was the principal opponent in the republican state convention of Mr. Warner for the nomination of governor, and one of the most respected and popular of Michigan citizens, makes a reply which simply sweeps the charge out of existence. Taken in connection with the prior publicity of Mr. Warner's admirable record of the legislature on the equal taxation measures, the following letter ought to eliminate the so-called "railroad argument" for the remainder of the campaign.

Editor The Journal:

Replying to your inquiry addressed to me as treasurer of the republican state central committee, I beg to state that not one dollar has been subscribed or contributed either directly or indirectly to the campaign fund of this committee by any railroad corporation.

Very truly yours,

Homer Warren, Treasurer.

Detroit, October 27, 1904.

FAIR FETCHED.

In politics there are fads the same as in other things. Next spring the costables in the various townships will probably get out cards on which the will say:

"I am for purity in politics and primary reform, and am not controlled by any railroad, clique, or machine. I am elected, the faithful performance of the duties of the office is assured."

Some of the candidates on the democratic county ticket this fall make the same claim. Why would it not be more honest and straightforward for them to simply say, "I want the office."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I wish to announce that all outstanding laundry accounts are to be paid to W. E. Snyder, proprietor of the Chelsea Steam Laundry.
Thanking you for past courtesies, wish for your generous patronage.
Mr. Snyder.

F. C. MAPES.

Don't forget the old man with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh he so much needs.

To a weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

Children who first saw the old man with the fish are now grown up and have children of their own.

He stands for Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil—a delightful food and a natural tonic for children, for old folks and for all who need flesh and strength.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409-415 Pearl Street, New York, N. Y. 50c. and $1.00 per dozen.

THE CHELSEA STANDARD.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY.

Nov. 3, 1924.

HANDY ANDY THE MAN OF GOOD INTENTIONS

HE SHOWS RARE SKILL AS A TURKEY FARMER.

A JANGLE FROM THE JUNGLE

IN WHICH KING LEO IS GREATLY FRIGHTENED BY A WEE MONK

GRAND CLIMAX.

Mr. Stockbonds—"Ah, professor, I want you to give my talented daughter a little musical polish."

Customer—"Oh, yes, he's perfectly safe. I'll tie him to the table leg."

"Down, Towser, down! Confound that cat! Come back here!"

(Rattle! Crash! Slam! Smash!) "Great Scott, I can't pay for all this, so I'll go."

Restaurant Proprietor—"He said it was perfectly safe! Now, just suppose the dog had been vicious!"

Prof. White—"Ah, ze young lady will attend. Softly—so!"

"Now ze crescendo! Zip! Zip! Zip!"

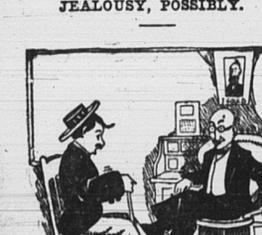

"Zen we haf ze presto!"

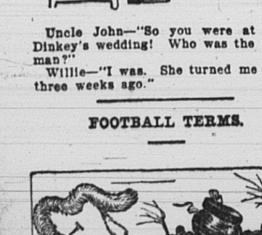

"Hit it up, mees-zis wry!"

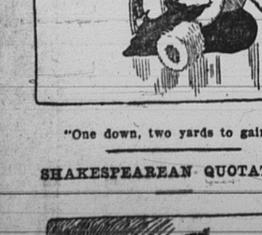

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

JEALOUSY, POSSIBLY.

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

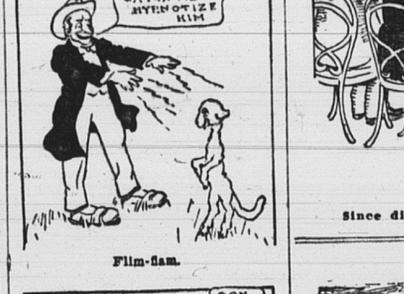

SHAKESPEAREAN QUOTATION.

TINY TINKLES.

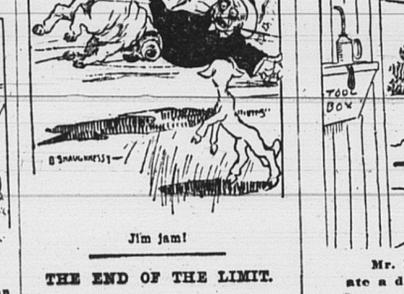

Slim lamb.

Film-lam.

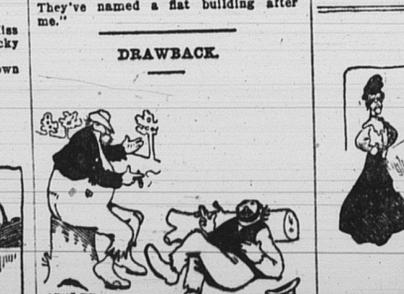

Grim ram.

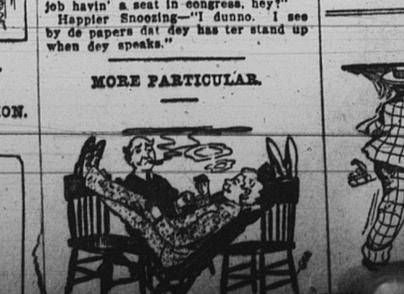

Jim jam!

THE END OF THE LIMIT.

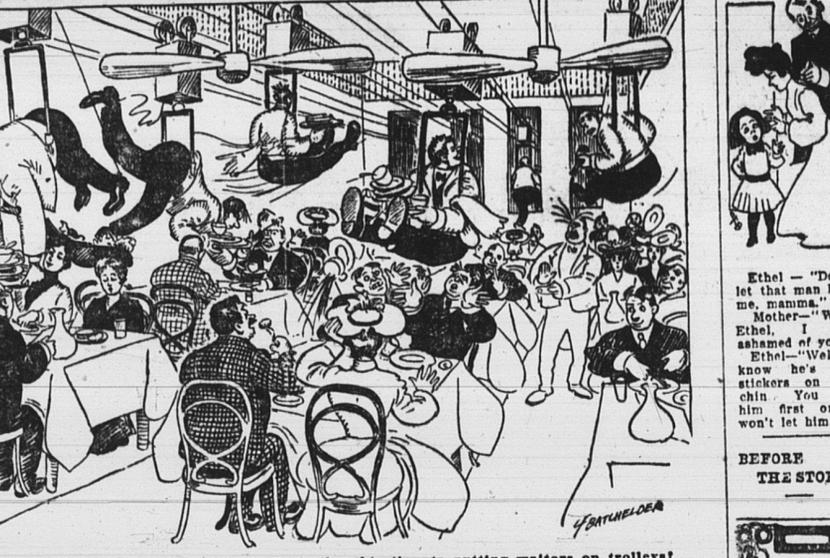

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

THE MARCH OF IMPROVEMENT.

Since dirigible bars have proven a success, what's the objection to putting waiters on trolleys?

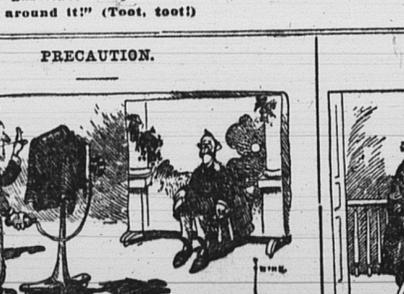

Wonderboy—"How did Basso develop such a powerful voice?"

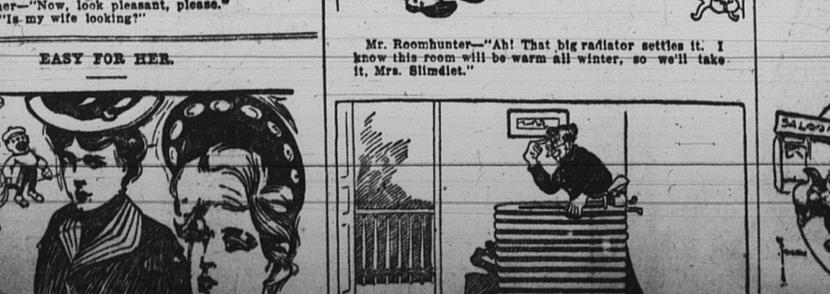

Posterboy—"Standing under the elevated and trying to hear himself speak."

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

SAFEGUARD.

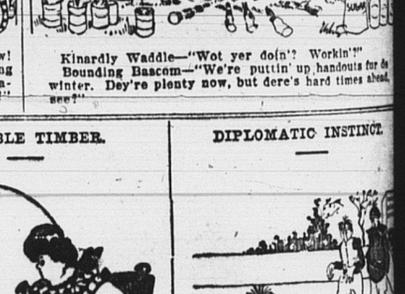

Ethel—"Don't let that man kiss me, mamma."

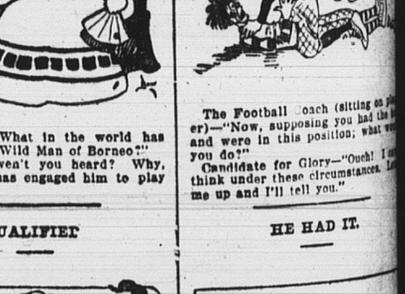

Mother—"Why, Ethel, I am ashamed of you!"

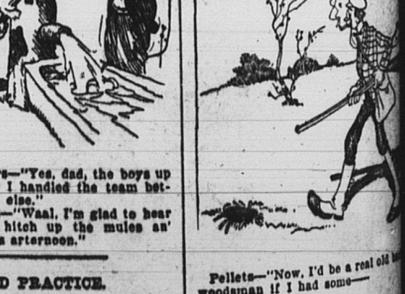

Ethel—"Well, I know he's got stickers on his chin. You try him first or I won't let him."

Edgar—"There, Alice, won't—"

"Somebody be awfully—"

"Scared!"

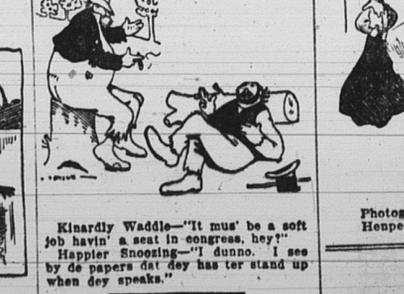

THRIFT.

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

JEALOUSY, POSSIBLY.

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

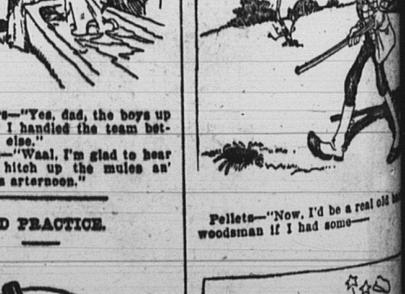

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

NOT DISAPPOINTED.

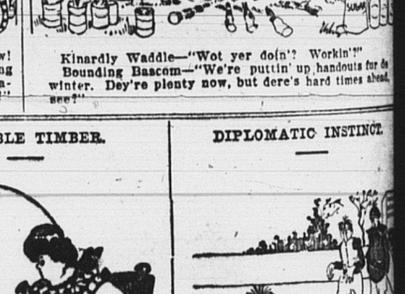

Ethel—"Don't let that man kiss me, mamma."

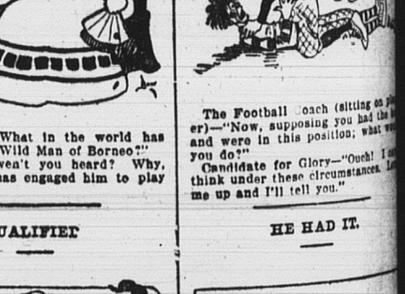

Mother—"Why, Ethel, I am ashamed of you!"

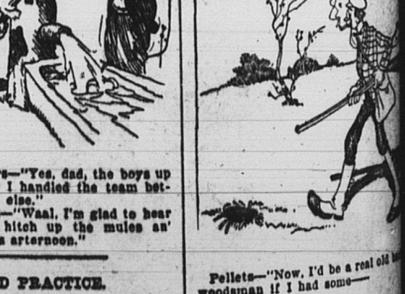

Ethel—"Well, I know he's got stickers on his chin. You try him first or I won't let him."

Edgar—"There, Alice, won't—"

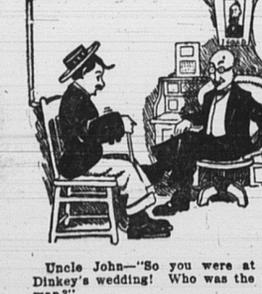

"Somebody be awfully—"

"Scared!"

THRIFT.

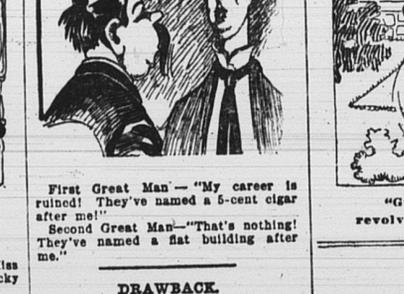

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

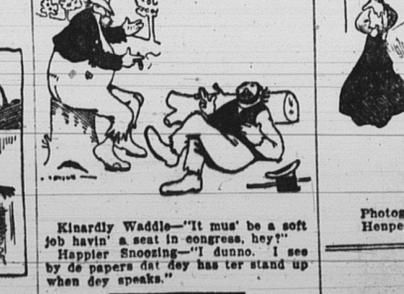

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

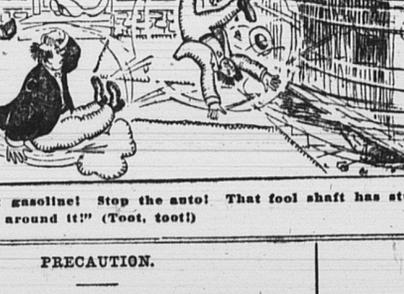

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

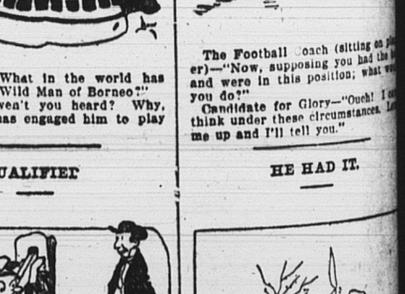

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

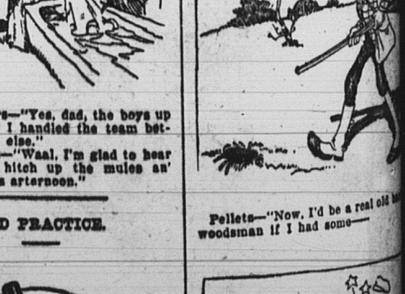

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

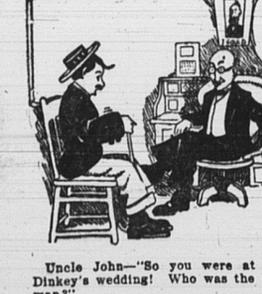

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

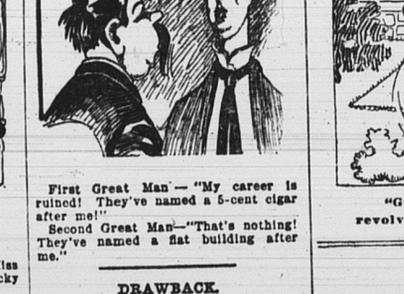

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

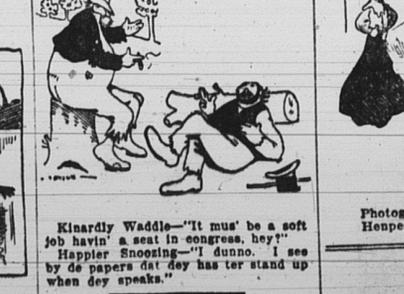

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

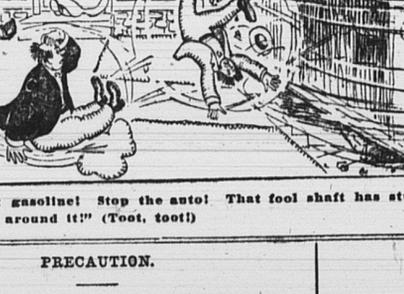

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

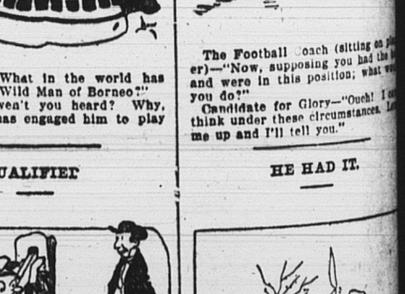

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

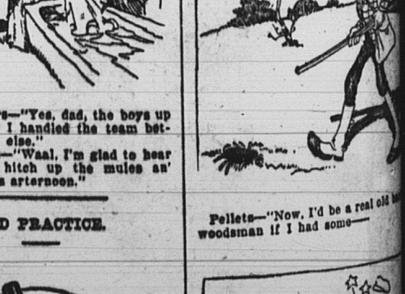

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

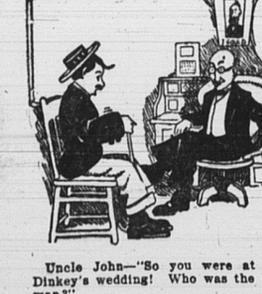

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

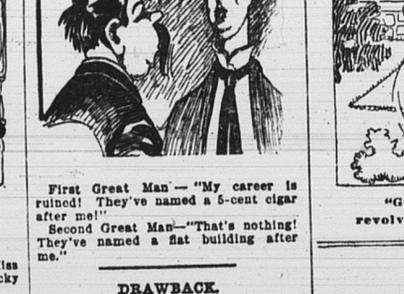

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

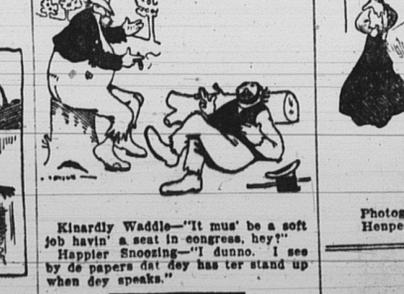

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

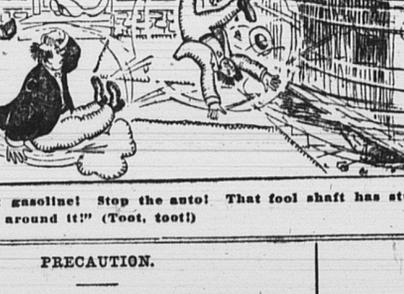

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

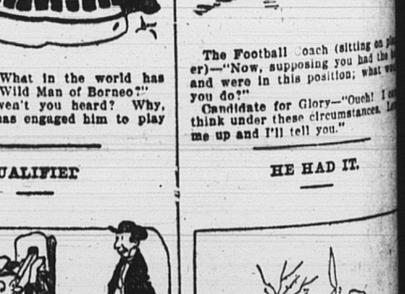

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

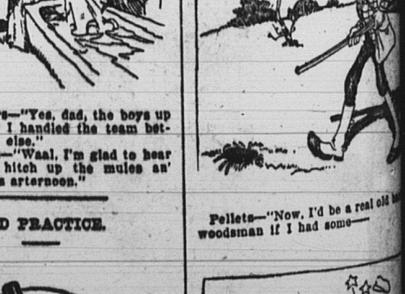

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

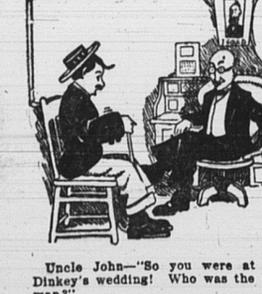

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

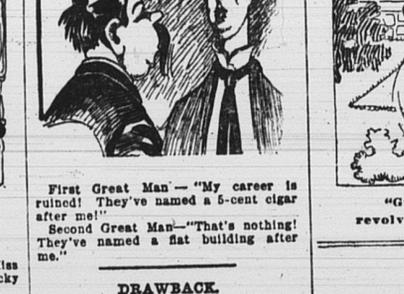

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

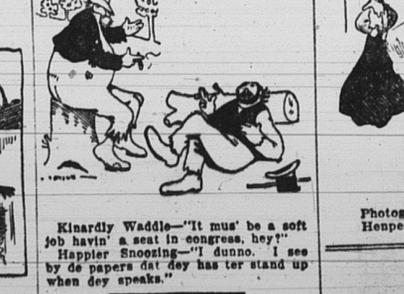

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

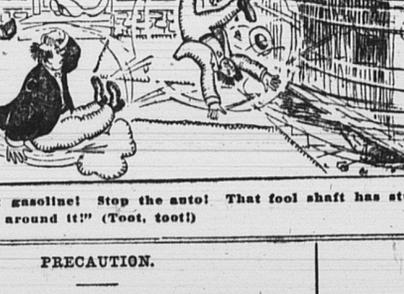

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

Redhorse Dan—"Ammunition is so scarce in these parts that he won't waste any on a harmless insect."

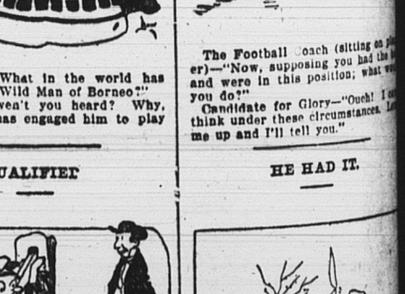

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

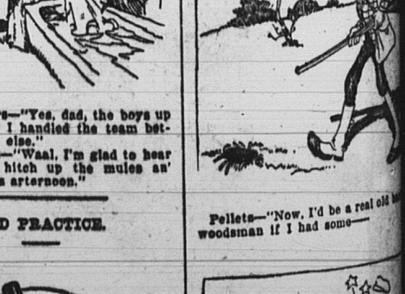

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

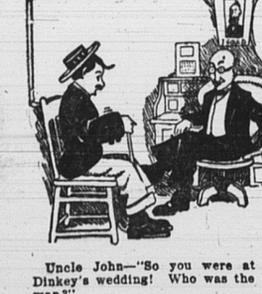

Mr. Fusser—"By gearing my auto engine this way to a central shaft in my garage I propose to operate a dynamo and furnish enough electricity to light my house all winter. Now observe the shaft revolve."

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

ANOTHER HOME IMPROVEMENT WHICH WENT WRONG.

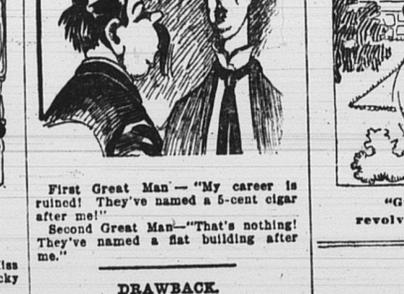

Mr. Stockbonds—"I guess you mean that way, professor. I'm a bit of a performer myself."

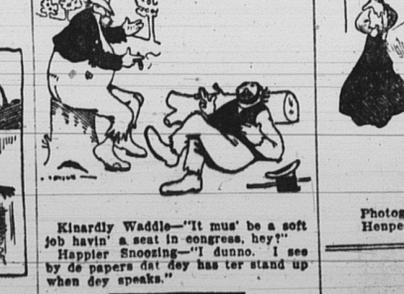

Uncle John—"So you were at Miss Dinkey's wedding? Who was the lucky man?"

Wille—"I was. She turned me down three weeks ago."

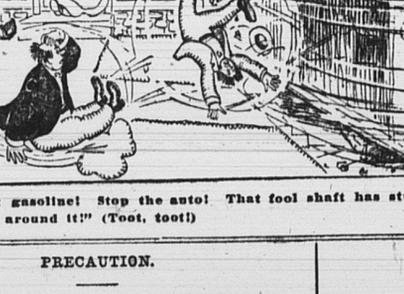

First Great Man—"My career is ruined! They've named a 5-cent cigar after me!"

Second Great Man—"That's nothing! They've named a flat building after me."

DRAWBACK.

Redhorse Dan (in background)—"Don't be skaired, stranger; he won't shoot."

