AN UP-TO-DATE ABATTOIR

BUILT BY ADAM EPPLER

Equipped With all Modern Appliances for the Rapid and Sanitary Handling of Dressed Meats.

A few days ago a representative of The Standard visited the new abattoir that is being erected by Adam Eppler, on the seven acres of land he recently purchased of Hon. Frank P. Glazier.

The new building is 20x80, and when the partitions are all completed, the building will be so arranged that each department will have floor space devoted to its particular branch of the butchers' trade. There has been placed in the building a boiler large enough to supply steam for a twelve-horse power engine that will be used in operating the machinery and the rendering kettles and cooking vats.

The manufacturing of sausage of all kinds by Mr. Eppler is no small item in his meat trade, and in arranging the new quarters a spacious room has been prepared for the exclusive use of the sausage makers. There will also be separate rooms for dressing beef, sheep and hogs, and a space devoted entirely to the rendering kettles and cooking vats. A machine for grinding bone will be added, and this product will be placed on the market as chicken food. A large cement vat for the storage of hides and pelts is another one of the noticeable features of the plant.

All of the floors are made of cement and so constructed that they have a slight pitch and the sewerage system is well calculated to keep the sanitary condition of the building in excellent shape. The large spring on the grounds has been connected with a hydraulic ram that forces one gallon of water per minute into a fifty barrel tank near the roof, and the floor can be flooded with pure water and kept at all times neat and clean.

The system of overhead tracks that lead from the work rooms to the cooling room, have been so arranged that the labor of handling the meats will be materially lessened. The building that housed the spring has been converted into a fine cooling room, and will have ample space for storing two carloads of meat.

Mr. Eppler has given the yards for live stock considerable attention, and they have been planned not only for the comfort of the animals, but will greatly lighten the work of his employees. The coming spring the building, formerly used for ensilage, will be moved from its present location to the site of the new buildings, and arranged into compartments for cold storage. When the work is completed Mr. Eppler will have a plant, as complete and convenient as any meat dealer in this county.

 ORDINANCE NO. 33.
 An Ordinance granting Adam Eppler permission to erect and maintain a slaughter house within the limits of the Village of Chelsea.
 The Village of Chelsea ordains: Section 1. Consent, permission and authority is hereby given to Adam Eppler, of Chelsea, Michigan, his associates, successors and assigns, to erect, operate, own and maintain a slaughter house with first class sanitary equipments and with underground sewerage or drainage into Letts' Creek, for the purpose of slaughtering or killing animals as a business, and located on the property north of the Michigan Central Railroad Company's lands formerly owned by George P. Glazier and situated near Letts' Creek more than twenty rods from any public highway.

Section II. The said Adam Eppler, his associates, successors and assigns, shall at all times keep the said premises free and clear from all offal, remains or rubbish of all kinds, and in a clean, pure and healthy sanitary condition as shall be approved by the Village Board of Health, and shall in all respects fully indemnify and save harmless the Village of Chelsea from and against all damage or costs which the said Village may be put to or sustain by reason of any nuisance connected therewith.

WILL SING CARMEN.

One of the popular features of the Opera Festival Week at the Detroit Opera House beginning November 28, will be Henry W. Savago's elaborate production of Bizet's "Carmen," to be sung Tuesday evening, November 29, and at the Saturday matinee December 3. This tuneful and brilliant, dramatic music play will afford another opportunity to hear the gifted American contralto, Marion Ivell, who has proved a sensation in the role of the cigarette girl of Seville during the past two seasons. Miss Ivell has been twice offered an opportunity to sing at the Opera Comique in Paris, and is announced to make her Parisian debut next season. "Carmen" is only one of the six fine productions that are to be given in Detroit next week, the rest, including Wagner's "Lohengrin" at the Wednesday matinee, Verdi's "Otello" on Wednesday evening, Puccini's beautiful "La Boheme" on Monday and Friday evenings, and a double bill made up of "I Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

GREAT RECORD OF SAVINGS.

The total deposits in all the savings banks of the world, according to latest official information received by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, amounted to over 101-billion dollars, contributed by 82,400,000 depositors. Of this total the United States shows aggregate deposits of $3,000,179,000, credited to 7,300,000 depositors. As the figures used in arriving at the grand totals cover about one-half of the population of the world, viz., over 770 million, it appears that the United States, with less than 91 per cent of the total population, contributed over 29 per cent of the total savings deposits recorded. Of the total number of depositors, or rather deposit accounts, the share of the United States is somewhat less than 9 per cent, while the average deposit per account is more than four times and the average savings per inhabitant more than three and one-half times the corresponding averages for the rest of the world.

MICHIGAN C. E. DAY.

Among the plans discussed at the meeting of the officers of the Michigan Christian Endeavor Union, held at Saginaw recently, was the celebration of Michigan Christian Endeavor Day.

An appeal is to be made to each society in the state to fittingly celebrate this day on Sunday, December 11. The state executive committee have prepared excellent programs for this anniversary, and will furnish copies free to each society in the state. As many copies as desired may be secured by addressing the state secretary, Edward T. Lindsay, of Saginaw.

Michigan Endavorers have certainly great cause of thankfulness in the rapid growth of this movement in the state. It has grown from the one society organized at Maric in 1884, to over 1,800 societies with a membership totaling nearly 40,000.

DINNER TO GOV-ELECT WARNER.

Gov.-elect Fred M. Warner, of Michigan, was the guest of honor at a breakfast given in the New York state building at St. Louis, on Saturday, by Mr. Frederick B. Smith, president of the Michigan commission. After dinner speeches were made by several of the gentlemen present. Among those attending were David R. Francis, Secretary Walter B. Stevens, Director of Exhibits F. J. Y. Skiff, Charles A. Hall and William Perrin, of the New York commission; Stacy B. Rankin, of the Ohio commission; J. L. Hudson of Detroit; Hal Smith and Gen. Blaford.

TWO PRETTY WEDDINGS.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED.

The Wade-Upson a Church Wedding-- and the Yager-Buss a Pleasant Home Affair.

A very pretty church wedding occurred at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, November 23, 1904, at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, when the pastor, Rev. Fr. Conidine, sang the beautiful nuptial mass that united Miss Bessie Wade in marriage to Mr. John Joseph Upson.

Miss Mary Kennedy, of Ann Arbor was bridesmaid, Mr. Fred Chase, of this place, acted as best man. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wade, where they received the congratulations of their friends and a wedding breakfast was served to the invited guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Upson left for Detroit, where they will visit relatives and friends. For the present, they will make Chelsea their home.

Wednesday evening of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Yager, in Lima, occurred a very pretty home wedding, when their only daughter, Miss Mabell, was united in marriage with Mr. Frederick Buss, of Selo. Rev. Wilfrid, pastor of the M. E. church at Dexter, officiated.

The ceremony took place in the west parlor, which had been trimmed in green for the occasion. Rev. Wilfrid stood in the bay window, the couple facing him, when he pronounced the solemn words that made their man and wife. Miss Alta Rogers, of Ann Arbor, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. John Holloway of Howell, as best man. The bride wore a cream colored gown and carried white roses, and the bridesmaid was attired in white and carried pink carnations.

After the congratulations had been given, the guests, numbering some sixty, sat down to a delicious supper. Among the guests was the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Holloway, of Howell. The bride was remembered by many beautiful, costly and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Buss will make their future home with the grandparents of the bride, Louis Yager, of Lima.

MRS. POLLY M. TALLMAN.

The funeral services of Mrs. P. M. Tallman, who died, Thursday, November 17, 1904, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Winslow, in Lima, was held at the Winslow residence, Saturday, November 19, 1904. She was born in Wyoming county, New York in 1820, and was united in marriage in 1837 with Lyman Tallman, who died in 1860.

Mrs. Tallman was the mother of nine children, six of whom survive her, also one brother and one sister. She was a kind neighbor, and a loving mother, who will be greatly missed from the home circle. The various members of her family have the sympathy of hosts of friends in their sad affliction. Interment in the family lot, Vermont cemetery.

NEW SCALE OF PRICES.

So much agitation has been going on among county medical societies of the state regarding the "free" treatment of patients at the university hospital, thereby cutting off a supply of revenue from state doctors, that the regents have made out a new scale of prices to go into effect December 1. For Michigan patients a fee of $7 a week will be charged for accommodation in wards and $11 per week for private rooms. For non-state patients $1 per week will be the fee in wards and $11 per week in private rooms.

GOOD SUGAR YEAR.

All the sugar factories in Bay county will close their campaigns between December 1 and 10. It has been a very short season, but this does not indicate that it has been a poor one. The tonnage has been light but the percentage of the beets unusually high. The companies have paid an average of $1 more for beets this year than formerly.

As it has been a profitable year for the farmers it is not contemplated that it will be so difficult in the future to contract for acreage.

IN CHATTANOOGA IN 1915.

The first announcement was made Saturday of a formal movement to hold in Chattanooga in 1915 a world's fair to be known as the semi-centennial peace jubilee exposition, commemorating the end of the war between the states. It is learned that assurances of aid from the government and various organizations has been secured.

They are also made of narrow ruffles, barely an inch and a half wide. The drop skirt has a strip of featherbone ermine to sew in the hem at the top of the ruffle, this holding the soft crepe de chine skirt properly draped over the bodice in soft, gently draped over a very carefully fitted and fully lined lining. There is not the slightest suggestion of stiffness in this waist, but its lines have a grace only possible where a well-lined foundation is used.

The little chemise and the flat scalloped collar pie of white cloth embroidered in gold. Two soft rosettes conceal the front closing, and a wide giraffe of black satin gives an effective finishing touch.

The gown just described is but one of the many that show the Vogue of ruffles and platings. These little details, which are found from 1 to 3 inches wide (in the favorite width), are used in all sorts of ways on skirts and bodices and sleeves. Indeed, one gown was seen entirely composed of these little frills. The material was a dull black India silk, and the ruffles were arranged to conceal the joining of waist and skirt, giving a princess effect. But it must be emphasized that this style is not nearly so pretty as those that show the tiny ruffles used to edge bands of head olives, or arranged in scroll designs. But sleeves entirely of these little frills are excellent.

A severely plain skirt waist suit in soft wool brown silk was worn the other day by a stunning brunette. Not a tuck nor a pleat marred the plain skirt, whose full, plain, and just cleared the ground. The waist was equally plain, save for a two-inch double ruffle of the silk set in the front closing hem, and around the armholes. And whether it was the stunning wearer, the handsome silk, or the fetching little frills, certain it was that every woman's eye followed that wool-brown suit with a glance that spoke intent to appropriate the idea.

Still another arrangement of these little ruffles is in borders for the lace motifs that, cleverly disposed, form such an effective decoration for this fall and winter gowns. Bunches of flowers cut from the exquisite printed or brocaded silks the shops are showing, these overlaid with chiffon and bordered with the little ruffles, make charmingly effective trimmings for a soft voile dress.

This Vogue for ruffles is a boon to the economically minded from choice or necessity. The plain skirt that had been laid aside as hopeless may be fashioned to appear as now if three or four bands edged each with ruffles of bands be disposed at intervals between the knee and hem. An old white brocade that dated back to the era of "bell" skirts was fashioned in this way into a charming dinner gown by the fine fingers of the owner. The skirt was left just as it was as to shape over to the wide ermine facing. Three bands of white tulle edged with little knife platings were disposed as described above. The waist was ripped up, pressed and supplied with a bertha and sleeves of bias bands of the tulle edged with more platings, while a lightly swathed giraffe of the tulle reached well up to the bustline. The result was a quality modern frock at a trifling expenditure of time and money.

Another boon to the economically minded is the prevalence of postures of two materials. The Directoire modes quite naturally lead to this. Plain skirts, often white, with bodices in rich brocades, in pink or blue or yellow, showing long postillions that extend as slashes to the hem of the skirt, are full of suggestions to the woman who must consider the cost of her wardrobe. The skirt of a last year's dress and a few yards of silk picked up for the proverbial "song" at a sale of "short lengths," will give her a costume of assured style.

The prevalence of the long coat has not by any means driven the frock from the most interesting of the best of the fashion models show some suggestions of the frock often with a smart bodice, all attached. And the position by the way, has certainly in its favor the fact that it is almost universally becoming to the girl of rich Japanese embroidery, or even of simple plaid or check, and an air of extreme smartness of things. It is a wondrous model in a Scotch mixture, made along the lines indicated above, is trimmed with a wide ermine band which covers the skirt seams and decorates the jaunty little frock. In this case the waistcoat is in white.

Combinations of fur are especially fitted this season, and ermine is being very much used with baby lamb, mink, seal and saige. Ermine is no longer held sacred to kings, nobles and dress-makers, but now figures on many garments that set service on the home. Flat-topped stoles and scarfs of ermine may be worn with a plain lamb or seal coat quite as satisfactorily as when a part of the garment. And then there is the chance to make the ermine scarf the feature of an otherwise plain evening coat as well.

They are as legally man and wife as if a day had been taken from the ceremony.

One of the most remarkable features of a very fine gown seen in Scotland is the great number of women who have been staying on many courses. Even where there are special courses for them most of the women prefer to play over the week's course and their right to do so is frequently justified. Girls who have practiced early under a good coach excite admiration by the gracefulness of their play, and by the length of their drives and their iron play. No longer is their presence regarded as Scotch links. They have added a new element to the sport and have been welcomed in many a clubhouse.

Some women are now engaged in the telephone service of the German Empire. It is stated, 1,000 of them being in Berlin. The hours are eight ranging from six to eight hours a day. The highest pay which a woman can draw in Germany is $1.50, which is said to afford a comfortable living in Germany, but it is a low wage compared to that to be obtained in England, where experienced telephone clerks get $60 and the chief supervisors are paid as high as $100. In Germany, however, it must be noted that women, on their withdrawal from active labor after the prescribed number of years of arduous work, are awarded a government pension on the same plane with men.

An investigation of the trades and an understanding of the attitude of employers toward the worker have shown that it is more and more difficult for a girl who is wholly unprepared to take a place in the field of work where she will earn an adequate living wage. Reconsidering this fact, a number of representative people of Boston, by their pecuniary support, have made it possible to open a business where girls can not only receive training free of charge but be assisted in finding positions where they can turn their knowledge to a money account when the required course of study shall have been completed. The privilege of these classes are open to all, the only requirements being that the applicant must be between 14 and 17 years of age, must study her intention of becoming self-supporting, must show an earnestness of purpose. At present there are classes in plain sewing, dressmaking, stitching, embroidery and machine operating. It is hoped to add instruction in design and color work, arithmetic, history and English in their special adaptation to the trades.

Concerning Women.

THERE is no loss of time about a marriage in China. The bride and party enters a temple and there a quantity of fireworks is set off, including a large number of crackers. When sufficient noise has been made to waken the "go a joss" from his sleep the priest gambols through the service, the bride and bridegroom take two little glasses of wine and the thing is done.

TIGERS BESIEGE A VILLAGE.

The police station at Cutigora was a few days ago the scene of great excitement and horror when the corpse of unfortunate Nelson Patti, who met his untimely death from the claws of a tiger, was carried there for inspection.

Four persons were killed during the course of a few weeks, besides a number of persons maimed, while carrying away of cattle is going on almost every day.

The tigers that have caused so great a havoc here are now proved to be four in number, one tiger, one thross and two big cats.

The treacherous brute have practically laid siege to the village, with the result that communication with the outside world has been stopped. Several attempts have been made to afford relief to the unfortunate villagers, but all unsuccessful.

A party of local hill tribes, including from their numbers, with a contingent of men, marched into the jungle at the head of one energetic Nab, Tesheldar, Master Mahomed, Ismail, they could not with all their efforts they could not make the master stripes come out of their crease.

The next day, however, another party, consisting of four European mountaineers, with a large number of coolies, entered the jungle and succeeded in rounding the tigers, which managed to escape through the line without giving the hunters an opportunity of discharging bullets.

They pursued the animals and made them swim across the pool. It is a matter of regret that the heavy hunters failed to hit the animals while they were wading in the water, although a good number of shots were fired. The third party to the rescue of the villagers without encountering further opposition and all upon the way to a hill house, who was grazing, with a bull, and killed him on the spot.

PREACHER WAS TOO CORDIAL.

A story is told of a shock received by a Duluth pastor after the services the other evening. He makes it a point to welcome any strangers cordially and that evening, after the completion of the service, he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

A Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable east end houses, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand.

He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. He said that if she would be at her home evening during the week he would call on her. She then said she had a husband and a family, but he was a fellow. She then said she had a husband and a family, but he was a fellow.

Three of the members of the congregation heard the conversation and in spite of the fact that their pastor swore them to secrecy, one of them, called a "Minneapolis Journal."

FOURTEEN IN HIS HAT.

Mrs. Julia Garcia, of Vanda de Júcaro has been put into possession of the property and money left by her husband, Sr. Garcia, who died last month. She is now in the city of Havana.

She owned a house in the corner of Habanillo and Callejon del Sustitelo, opposite the Negro Market, and she was the owner of a large number of slaves. She had 14 slaves, and she was very rich. She was very rich. She was very rich.

When she died it was found that she owned a large number of slaves. She had 14 slaves, and she was very rich. She was very rich. She was very rich.

Voile lends its presence to every occasion this season, and it will be very much in evidence at the Thanksgiving festival, from the football game to the formal dinner. A charming dinner costume seen this week is in chiffon voile, very thin and soft in a rich shade of russet brown. The skirt is quite wide at the waistline, where it is shirred in, but the ruffles are nicely arranged and the velveteen so thin and almost sheer, that there is not too least hindrance to a broad band of point de chausserie. The most truly national of American holidays brings with it a myriad of family reunions and football games and informal dinners that "womankind" can't consider well subject of Thanksgiving clothes. And sometimes wonder if the fashion has not reached its height, for the styles vary so much from the ordinary of a lady's wardrobe that it is only on occasions the such was with a wide fold of velveteen, and to the lower edge is attached the shirred flounce that gives such ample fullness about the feet. The flounce is fastened up to the waist of about two inches with a smart, elegant lisle cloth, which holds it firmly in place. The corsage droops low on the shoulders and has introduced a vest of soft, shirred silk mousseline; a closely folded welt of the same, edged with the point de chausserie, is the shoulder finish. The sleeves, too, are of the mousseline, a full puff from shoulder to elbow, over which falls a deep ruffle of the lace.

For the family dinner, which is still the accepted proper celebration of Thanksgiving there are many charming informal costumes prepared. The favored fabrics for these are crepe de chine and soft finished silks. There is a special advantage of economy attached to wearing these gowns this season, inasmuch as they are made up very successfully with no other fabric than the crepe.

OH! ONCE THERE WAS A SAILOR MAN,
A BOS'SON'S MATE WAS HE;
BUT HE FELL OVERBOARD ONE NIGHT
INTO THE DEEP BLUE SEA.

WHILE WANDERING 'BOUT OLD OCEAN'S DEPTHS
HE MET A MAIDEN FAIR
AND SMILED AT HER—AND SHE SMILED BACK
AND SLOWLY COMBED HER HAIR.

WITH HIM IT WAS LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT;
HE ASKED HER WOULD SHE WED,
SHE LIKED HIS LOOKS AND UNIFORM AND BLUSHED A ROSY RED.

BUT AS HE TOOK HER IN HIS ARMS
AND SAID A RING HE'D BUY,
A SWORDFISH, HIS RIVAL BOLD,
RUSHED FORTH WITH AWFUL CRY.

THE CONFLICT WAS BOTH SHORT AND FIERCE,
THE SAILOR SLEW HIS FOE;
AND THEN HE AND HIS LADY FAIR TO WED DID QUICKLY GO.

HERE AT HOME. Michigan citizens testify gladly. It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people sit here at home, as at their own, they praise the room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Michigan man.

James Marshall, of Paw Paw, Number 1 Delivery Mail Carrier, says: "To speak of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills in such terms of praise as they deserve would be to use expressions having the appearance of extravagance. When I procured them at E. B. Longwell's drug store I had a severe pain in the small of my back across the loins. It was always worse if I took cold or over-exerted myself, and sometimes my sufferings can scarcely be described. I noticed that the kidney secretions were irregular, often highly colored, and at times full of acid. This had continued about two years and I used every remedy that came to my notice, but got little if any benefit from them. At last I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I had trusted the remedy would do me good, but I was not prepared for the great benefit which they soon brought. I could notice the good effect after taking a few doses, and by the time I had used three-fourths of the box the pain in my back passed out of existence; the kidney secretions became natural and I am enjoying better health than I have for years. Doan's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold."

A YOUNG BLACK BEAR. THE ANTICS OF JOHNNY WERE VERY INTERESTING. Ernest Harold Baynes Tells of a Mischievous Little Present He Received—It Evincend Wonderful Intelligence. About ten days ago I received by express a fat-tailed box, from which issued a series of strange notes. "Wow!" said something inside the box. "Wow! Wow! Wow! Scratch, scratch, Uhl! Uhl! Uhl! Wow! Wow! Wow!" Naturally, I was interested, and hastened to read the inscription written upon a large card, which had been tacked to the top of the box. It ran as follows:

"Please water me and give me something to eat. But do not give me fruit or sweets, as it makes me sick. I like milk. I am for Ernest Harold Baynes (The Haven Cottage), Newport, N. H." All this only heightened my curiosity, and, seizing a hammer and an old chisel, I quickly pried open a corner of the box. In an instant there was poked through the opening a little black head, with a tawny muzzle, thick, curly ears and small, dark eyes, and I realized that my guest was a baby black bear. The expression on his face was decidedly surly, the little chap was evidently greatly displeased at having been kept in such small quarters for more than 48 hours, and he grunted peevishly as he drew his sturdy little body out onto the lawn.

The housekeeper appeared with a large bowl of crackers and milk, and as soon as the little bear saw her coming he ran to meet her, and, without waiting for the food to be set down, he stood upon his hind legs, seized the rim of the bowl with his fore paws, and hoisted himself into it. Then he was set on the ground, with the food before him, and I don't believe that anything would have induced him to leave it. He lay flat on the grass, with his fore paws round the bowl, that it might not get away from him, and with his muzzle buried almost to the eyes in the crackers and milk.

WAS AN ADMPT AT OPENING DOORS. Which closes with a spring in this way, and whether he had done the trick before or not, I don't know, but he knew how to open this door at once. At the front door there is another screen door, and it so happened that, while the kitchen door opens at the right, the front door opens at the left.

He was a chance to test the little bear's knowledge of doors, so when I saw that he was very anxious to enter the house, I matched the kitchen door and let him go around to the front. It was at once evident that he had had no experience with doors that opened at the left, for he devoted all his energies to the right-hand side, and for many minutes worked hard at the crack close to the springs and hinges. After he had given it up as a bad job, I brought him back and opened the door just an inch or two. In a moment he inserted his nose, and ever since he has been able to open that door as easily as the other one.

The morning after his arrival I took him out for a walk, and he followed me like a dog, making frequent excursions into the woods and the long grass which bordered the road. Every now and then he would dash up some big tree with surprising agility. Where there were no branches he advanced up the trunk by leaps, with his fore paws wide apart and with hind paws near together. He always came down backwards, and with considerable caution, often looking below, either to see where he was going, or to find out how far he was from the ground. He was most inquisitive, examining everything we came to, from flowers and stones to old farmhouses, which he would enter with an air which suggested contentment.

By and by we came to a large, stone watering trough, into which clear water bubbled from a spring. Of course the little bear had to examine that, so up the side he went, and after taking a lap or two of the water, he deliberately slipped right into it, and swam from end to end of the trough, and back again. Then he descended to the road and galloped along, as before. Presently a countryman driving to work turned his horse toward the trough, that it might drink. But the horse, although very thirsty, would not come near. So the trough had to be emptied and cleaned, and filled again, after which the horse came up and drank as usual. Several horses have, at different times, evinced a marked dislike to either the sight or odor of the little bear, though other horses will let him play around their feet without so much as raising their heads.

NOT STOLEN. The stealing of a horse and rig from Russ Godfrey, who lives in Pittsfield, turns out to have been a trick played by some boys on Mr. Godfrey. Sheriff Gauntlet will try to make the perpetrators sorry for their poor joke. -Ypsilantiian.

VAUGHAN MUST REMOVE POLES. Dr. Victor C. GOTHAMITES IN HIDING. Millionaires Have Private Offices Distant from and in No Way Connected with Regular Places. Some time ago a New York millionaire of an original turn of mind conceived the idea of a business "den," where even his private secretary could not disturb him. To-day no less than a score of rich men in Manhattan have private offices distant from and in no way connected with their regular business headquarters. To these secret offices they hid themselves when weary of interruptions, they wish to be absolutely alone. The whereabouts of these private chambers are not disclosed either by the city directory or the telephone register, and in a number of cases even the most trusted employees are kept in ignorance.
