timon Winslow, Prominent Farmer of Lima Township, Dead-Funeral Today

Simon Winslow was born in Lima September 13, 1843, and passed away Tuesday, January 31, 1905, at the age of 62 years, 4 months and 18 days.

The farm where the deceased has spent his entire life was his birth place and was taken up from the government by his father during the administration of President Andrew Jackson, and at the death of his father he purchased Olive Tallman May 13, 1885, in Ypsilanti Hollow and Manchester. township, and they immediately took up their residence on the farm. From this union two daughters were born, who with the mother and one brother, Andrew Winslow, of Grand Rapids, are the survivors of his immediate family. Eight brothers and sisters having passed away before his death.

The funeral will be held from his late home today at 1 o'clock p. m., Rev. C. S. Jones officiating. LaFayette Grange, of which he was a member, will attend in a body. Interment in Oak Grove cemetery.

that guarantees freedom from strikes, upon us whether or no. outs and labor warfare is Battle

The story? The work people, merens became aroused and indignant at the efforts of the labor unions throughout the country to destroy the business of one of our largest industriesthe Postum Cereal Co., Lt'd, and at the open threats in the official union papers that the entire power of the National and State Federations of Labor was being brought to bear to "punish" the industries of Battle Creek, and particularly the Postum Co.

This sprung from the refusal of C. W. Post to obey the "orders" of the unions to take the Postum advertising away from various papers that refused to purchase labor of the labor trust-

Mr. Post was ordered to join the unions in their conspiracy to "ruin" and "put out of business" these publishers who had worked faithfully for him for years and helped build up his business. They had done no wrong, but had found it inconvenient and against their best judgment to buy labor of the labor trust. It seems a rule of the unions to conspire to ruin anyone who does not purchase from them upon their own terms.

An inkmaker or papermaker who failed to sell ink or paper would have the same reason to order Post to help ruin these publishers. So the peddler in the street might stone you if you refused to buy his apples; the mand." cabman to run over you if you refused to ride with him; the grocer order the manufacturer to discharge certain people because they did not patronize him, and so on to the ridiculous and villainous limit of all this boycott nonsense, in trying to force people to buy what they do not want.

If a man has labor to sell let him sell it at the best price he can get just as he would sell wheat, but he has no right to even intimate that he will obstruct the business, or attempt its ruin because the owner will not purchase

The unions have become so tyrannous and arrogant with their despotism that a common citizen who has some time to spare and innocently thinks he has a right to put a little paint on his own house finds he must have that paint taken off and put on again by "the union" or all sorts of dire things happen to him, his employer is ordered to discharge him, his grocer is boycotted if he furnishes him supplies, his family followed and insulted and his life made more miserable than that of a black slave before the war. If he drives a nail to repair the house or barn the carpenters' "union" hounds him. He takes a pipe wrench to stop a leaking pipe and prevent damage to his property who own their own homes. and the plumbers' "union" does things to him. He cannot put a little mortar to a loose brick on his chimney or the bricklayers', plasterers' or hod following preamble and constitution: carriers' "union" is up in arms, and if he carelessly eats a loaf of bread that "union" proceeds to make life miserable for him. So the white slave is tied hand and foot, unable to lift a hand to better himself or do the needful things, without first obtaining permission from some haughty, ignorant and abusive tyrant of some labor union.

It would all seem rather like a comic opera if it did not rob people of their freedom; that kind of work will not be permitted long in America.

Some smooth managers have built up the labor trust in the last few years, to bring themselves money and power and by managing workmen, have succeeded in making it possible for them to lay down the law in some cities and force workmen and citizens to "obey" implicitly, stripping them right and left of their liberties.

They have used boycotting, picketing, assaults, dynamiting of property and murder to enforce their orders and rule the people. They have gone far enough to order the President to remove certain citizens from office because the "unions" weren't pleased.

That means they propose to make the law of the unions replace the law of this government and the union leaders dominate even the chief Execu-

This is a government of and for the people and no organization or trust shall displace it. But the unions try it every now and then, led by desperate men as shown in their defiance of law and support of lawbreakers.

Suppose an American in a foreign city should be chased by a mob, caught and beaten unconscious, then his mouth pried open and carbolic acid poured down his throat, then his ribs kicked in and his face well stamped with iron nailed shoes, murdered because he tried to earn bread for his children. By the Eternal, sir, a fleet of American men of war would assemble there, clear for action and blow something off the face of the earth. if reparation were not made for the blood of one of our citizens.

And what answer do we make to the appeals of the hundreds of widows and orphans of those Americans murdered by labor unions? How do we try to protect the thousands of intelligent citizens who, with reason, prefer not to join any labor union and be subject to the tyranny of the heavily paid rulers of the labor trusts?

Upon a firm refusal by Mr. Post to join this criminal conspiracy a general boycott was ordered on Grape-Nuts and Postum all over the country, which set the good red blood of our ancestors in motion, bringing forth the reply that has now passed into history: "We refuse to join any conspiracy of organized labor to ruin publishers, non will we discharge any of our trusted employes upon the orders of any labor union. If they can make their boycott effective and sink our ship, we will go down with the captain on the bridge and in com-

This set the writers in labor papers crazy and they redoubled their abuse. Finally one of their official organs came out with a large double column in denunciation of Battle Creek, calling it "a running sore on the face of Michigan," because it would not become "organized" and pay in dues to their labor leaders. The usual coarse, villainous epithets common to labor union writers were indulged in.

The result was to weld public sentiment in Battle Creek for protection. A citizens' association was started, and mass meetings held. Good citizens who happened to be members of unions entirely for there is small need of them there.

We have a steady, unvarying respect for the law-abiding, peaceable union man and a most earnest desire to see him gain power enough to purge the unions of their criminal practices, that have brought down upon them the righteous denunciation of a long-suffering and outraged public, but we will not fawn, truckle, bend the knee, wear the hated collar of white slavery, the union label, nor prostitute our American citizenship under "orders" of any labor trust. You offer to remove the restriction on our business and with "union" gold choke the throat and still the voice raised in stern denunciation of the despotism which tramples beneath an iron-shot heel the freedom of our broth-and muffle the appeal to the American jected. The moose was matching his people to harken to the cries for bread of the little children whose faithful fathers were beaten to death while striving to earn food for them.

Your boycott may perhaps succeed in throwing our people out of work and driving us from business, but you antiers and 'woofed' in anger. Our jewel our fathers fought for and which every true son guards with his life. Therefore, speaking for our work- the moose paused, plowed up the gravel people and ourselves, the infamous offer is declined."

For a quarter of a mile it was nip and tuck whether he would end the race or we should get clear. Then he grew disgusted and lost ground and we drew away. But the fun of the thing was gone now. He wasn't playing fair. His tricky disposition to cut bases and lay ambuscades made us sweat with a new fear, and no more did we try to draw out of sight.

"'He's turned again!" I warned. "'After him!' cried Kinman, and wheeling about we caught back until we caught sight of his flanks.

JAP MASTER AND MAN.

It was in this melee of blood and sword that I saw a sight that touched me deeply. I noticed two men in our ranks; and later I found out that the younger of these men came from a well-to-do Samurai family; the older man was also from the same place. In fact the father of the older man had spent all his life in the service of the family from which the younger man came. On this terrific day, when they were within a few meters of the Russians, when they fought with rocks, swords and anything they could, to the Fish BRAND SLICKERS. Many of our readers who went get hold of, I saw these men cling to each other closely. At the height of work was suggested. The Grand Prize was a determed to be mindful, I the younger is seemed to be mindful to the fight of the Grand Prize—at St. Louis World's Fait was the A. J. Tower Co., the makers of the Fish was the A. J. Tower Co., the make seemed to be mindful of the younger always. At one time a few of the Russians actually succeeded in rushing upon a part of our line. One of the Russians raised the butt of his rifle, about to strike the younger of these two men. Then I saw the older swing forward and literally hurl down the Russian with the bayonet through his body. A little later the young man was shot in the leg and fell. I saw the older man forget himself completely, forsake his gun, kneel down beside the young friend of his, and not finding a piece of cloth, he tore the front of his Lirt. He stuffed a little piece of cloth into the bullet hole in the leg of his friend. Then, after a little while, because of the fierceness of action about me, I lost sight of these men. When I came upon them a few minutes later they were together side by side. As I passed I said to the older man, who was half standing, always covering his young master; "Can't you manage to carry yourself to the rear with your friend-to the Kinman swerved his wheel and kept field hospital, or to some shelter be-

Physicians Couldn't Wed.

There once was a time when doctors were doomed to celibacy. It was at he conclusion of the medieval period when medicine was in the hands of the monks. In France, the British Medial Journal recalls, the habit of celiacy persisted long after the practice of medicine had passed into lay hands. ry the vow was abolished ares That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored the Use of His Limbs When All Other Remedies Failed.

IVES HIS OPINION OF THE BEST TREATMENT FOR PARALYSIS.

The premonitory symptoms of paralysare: trembling of the hands; sudden less of power in arms or legs, frequently affecting one whole side of the body; stagering; partial or entire inability to use the fingers; distortion of the features, cometimes an uncontrollable quivering of the chin; severe pains; difficulty in speech. Frequently the first warning is vague feeling of headache, vertigo and scular weakness.

In a recent interview Mr. W. J. L. Hayden said: "I truly think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a great medicine for they cured me when physicians and other remedies had failed to give me the slightest relief. Too close attention to business brought on an attack of nervousness which finally developed nto paralysis. There were times when t was impossible for me to move my hands or to get up from a chair. At other times I had partial control of my limie, but I was afraid to go far from the house for fear I might suddenly become helpless and have to be carried

"While I was in this miserable condition, I was stricken with malarial fever and confined to bed for four months. I had the best physicians, but while they relieved my fever, their treatment did not entirely drive the malaria from my 7stem, and they did not help my parlysis in the least,

"I was well nigh despairing when a end pers laded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had finished one box could see results that encouraged me. My condition kept steadily improving, and when I had taken seven boxes I was ared of paralysis and the malaria was apletely driven out of my system. For two years now I have enjoyed the best of health and have attended to bus-ess without any interruption." Mr. Hayden's home is at No. 252 West th street, New York. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many similar cases of paralysis, also locomotor ataxia. They are sold by all druggists. A treatment o simple, inexpensive and successful should be tried by every sufferer from partial paralysis in any of its stages.

Authors' Blunders.

The blunders of eminent writers would make an amusing volume. M. Emile Faguet has added a gem to the collection in his monograph on Gustave Flaubert. "His father, son of a veterinary surgeon at Nogent-sur-Seine, after studying medicine in Paris, set up a practice at Rouen, and ages. there became the celebrated Dr. Bovary, principal surgeon of the Hotel Dieu, where he lived." This diverting slip makes Gustave Flaubert the son of Bovary, whereas he created Bovary and put him in a novel.

The novelists, however, are even more liable to comical oversights than the critics. Thackeray, describing Arthur Pendennis dancing a quadrille, wrote, "He advanced with a thumb in' the pocket of each waistcoat." How many times did the novelist read that without seeing that he meant each waistcoat pocket.

Bougie, in Augeria, is the seat of a curious industry with the fruits of which some Americans traveling in Europe this summer have come into contact, says the New York Tribune. "Fig coffee" was the first manufactured in Vienna, with the object of providing a cheap substitute for coffee. It consists of dried figs, roasted and ground, and when mixed with real coffee not only darkens but sweetens it. With milk the taste is described fects some engineers and leads them to leap from the cab to escape a supposed impending collision. It's mostly, freight engineers that are affected. On long runs out west a freight engineer may be thirty-six hours at the throttle without much chance for rest, owing to mishaps. He gets sleepy, and dozes in the cab. All of a sudden he wakes up, but his faculties are scattered and what with lightness of the head and the motion of the cab, he gets an idea that a collision is about to happen. In a semi-conscious state he dives out of the window, and the chances are he's a goner when he lands. The engineer we referred to had done the trick twice, but he was killed the third time, out on the Santa Fe road."-Philadelphia Record.

Tiger Story From India.

A man living in a village near Lucknow is reported to have had an extraordinary adventure in the jungle the other day. He had gone in search of two buffaloes that had gone astray when he was attacked by a tiger.

He was unarmed except for a heavy stick, with which he founght until overcome by loss of blood, when he sank unconscious. At this moment the two buffaloes appeared. One of them stood over the wounded man, while the other snorted and tossed his head.

The man recovered consciousness and staggered to his feet; when the tiger made another spring at him. The beast was, however, received upon the horns of one of the buffaloes, and was so badly wounded that it turned tail and slunk away.-London Express.

Wildcat Jumps on Engine.

While Engineer Ed White and Fireman Harry Ahern were speeding through the Palisade Canyon with .a freight train at night they were startled by a large wildcat landing suddenly on their engine.

The animal emitted a blood curdling cry as it landed, and when the dust cleared away they saw the angry beast only a few feet away glaring at them. The two men seized weapons with which to beat off the animal, but it made no show of fight, leaping from the flying train to the ground. It rolled a dozen feet before it stopped, but apparently it was unhurt as it scampered away immediately.-Winnemucca Correspondent Sacrament Bee.

Corpses Preserved in Peat.

Peat possesses wonderful antiseptic and preservative qualities owing to the presence of tannin, iron and other substances in it. Here is an instance: At the time of the covenanters, in 1685, three men were shot at a place called Crossgelloch, on the moors above Old Cumnock, in Scotland. In 1825, when a monument was being erected to their memory, the workmen came upon the corpses rolled in their plaids. The bodies were in exactly the same state as when they were buried. The moss had preserved them as if they had been embalmed.

Wealth and Longevity. The late Prof. Owen threshed out the question of wealth and longevity thoroughly. It was his conclusion that if it be true that the dietary of the rich is opposed to health, the absence of worry, of anxiety over the living of themselves and their families, the absence of severe toil, and the like. more than compensate for any digestive troubles they may incur. Probably most rich people eat too much and their dietary is too stimulating, but this is less dangerous to life than is frequent hunger with overwork, anxiety and exposure. A happy medium, of course, is the suggestion of common sense and experience.

A Tarpon Tows a Hogshead. Times and places there are where the tarpon have been so numerous and so free in their antics as to be a pest to the small fishermen, who in a certain bay once harpooned a lordly fish. lashed him to a keg and pointed him to the open sea. Drawing the floating barrel he went splashing terror to his kindred-an aquatic scarecrow. And as the militant hogshead, ferried by a leaping twelve-stone fish, went marching down the bay, all tarpon, great and small, took warning that they must keep their performances within the bounds of decency .- Country Life in America

BILIOUSNESS CONSTIPATION CURED BY THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown. Thedford's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys.

Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the waste from the bowels get back into the blood and virulent contagion results. Timely treatment with Thedford's Black-Draught removes the dangers which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the inroads of Bright's disease, for which disease in advanced stages there is no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Yes, as 2 spanish gentleman has borne fruit, eagerly reaches out his long thin covered; the guerrilleros are here!"

"Sir, I salute you. Such sentiments of lofty courage must always bind the hearts of brave men in a common brotherhood. There are four of usnay, six—to stand against the enemy. We will be a match for all they can bring against us."

"The battle, or massacre, whichever it may be, still goes on," remarks Spencer, who thus enters into the conrersation for the first time.

"Then let us be making ready against a possible attack, for I am strongly inclined to believe some of the rebels will find their way along the back trail, looking for us, as the absence of my carriage from the train is sure to be noticed."

Hurrying to the side of the compartment, they proceed to do whatever is possible in order to protect the interior. All work with a vim—cushions are utilized, the guard brings various articles from his den, and in a very brief space of time quite a respectable showing is made. "Come," says Jack, with considerable satisfaction, when Smithers appears with his arms filled with more "truck" with which to fill the cracks and crannies, "we are doing nobly, my dear fellow. But, honestly, do you imagine there is any possibility of our being attacked here?"-lowering his voice to a whisper.

"Well, it wouldn't surprise me," rejoins the other, slowly and seriously. "But, if it should come-they are your friends, you know-would you open fire on them?" continues Travers, seeking to cut a Gordian knot by the most direct method. "Not if they were Gomez and his men. I know them well, and their battle cry of Cuba libra is music to my ears. But there are others, sir." "Others! You mean the Spanish soldiers may retreat this way?" "Not at all. Have you not heard of the guerrilleros—the men who fight your promise to assist in the defense under no flag, who war upon every of the ladies," the old Spaniard says, one they meet, robbing pacifico and belligerent alike?" "Yes, I have heard of these devils. But why should you fear that they may descend upon us?" inquires Travers. They are standing just outside the carriage, with Ah Sin and the guard near by, ready to enter at any time should it be necessary, and as their conversation is carried on in low tones, the chances of its being overheard are slight indeed. "These human birds of prey seem to have inside information as to when a battle is about to take place, and they hang round like dogs waiting to pick up the crumbs from the master's table. I only hope some day both Gomez and the Spaniards will turn round and hunt these miserable go-betweens

It will stand a good deal of frost, as will turnips, and now and then roots and plants will live over winter. If the plant is pastured but lightly the hogs or sheep will eat but the tops and the sides of the leaves, leaving the stalks and some of the mid-veins. These at once send out new verdure and will continue to renew themselves all through the season.

Chemical Value of Humus. Of the elements contained originally in the decomposing plant, the potash and other bases leach out rather readily, the phosphoric acid with more difficulty. As to the nitrogen, in the case of "sweet" humus, much of it must be supposed to pass to the state of nitrate before humefaction is complete, that is, while the vegetable tissue retains something of its form. Nitrogen that is bound up in humus, especially the "sour" humus, whether strictly a component part or merely held more loosely, is not readily recovered. Just as in the case of nitrate nutrition, so here it has been questioned whether solid carbon compounds in the soil ever pass directly into a plant through its roots as ready formed food. Some investigations seem to show the possibility of such a remarkable things in its favor. It will thing, though not that any consider reach all points of your physical sys able amount of such carbon compounds is taken up in that way. The strictly chemical value of humus is probably not due to its function to any extent as a direct nutrient, but rather indirectly. The view of plant nutrition newly accepted a half century ago, regarded soil constituents as valuable only in so far as they actually, feed the plant by entering into it. This, the "mineral theory," regarded plants as dependent only on such elements as they actually take up. More recent advances in knowledge show, as had been suspected, that this is a great error. Some of the most valuable and important constituents of a soil have only an indirect use, that is, they help growth but never enter into or become a part of the plant.-Chas. L. Penny.

Wednesday noon quite a novel sight was witnessed on the streets here, when two tanks, 12 feet high and 12 feet in diameter, were being moved through town under the supervision of H. G. Beebe, vice president of the Union Truck Co., of Jackson, who have the contract for moving them from Jackson to Detroit for the American Radiator Co. of that city. The tanks weigh about 6,000 pounds each, and their width and height made it impossible to ship them by rail, as they would not pass under the bridges along the line, and their width would not allow trains to pass on the double track. The Detroit company sent their own teams to transport the tanks, but their employees were unable to handle them, and they returned to the city with ampty sleighs.
