THE FOURTH IN CHELSEA

WAS RATHER A QUIET DAY.

Good Display of Fire Works About Town During the Evening—Not a Single Accident Reported in this Vicinity.

The Fourth of July in Chelsea was rather quiet and no accidents due to the patriotic celebration of the day happened in this vicinity. The high wind and occasional showers tended to mar the pleasure of those who had planned to spend the day out of town.

Quite a number of the residents of this place spent the day as picnic parties at some of the near-by lakes, while others witnessed the head-end collision at the Jackson celebration and a few spent the day at Ann Arbor.

During the evening citizens in different parts of the town set of liberal supplies of fire works and those who reside on east Summit street had an exceptionally fine display.

At the summer home of Hon. Frank P. Glazier, Cavanaugh Lake, a number of guests was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Glazier. A raft had been placed in the lake, and during the evening a large amount of fire works was set off and the residents of the surrounding country were able to witness many of the large pieces from their homes. At the south end of the lake the Cavanaugh Lake Club set off a liberal supply of fire works. Those who spent the day at North Lake report that there was a good crowd present and seemed to enjoy the day.

A SUGGESTION.

Last Monday evening as the bedbugs in the village "Coop" were scrambling to get out of the way of the flames many of the villagers were doing some tall scrambling to find out where the flames were. This is a deplorable state of affairs. Much time has been lost on different occasions because the location of the burning building has not been known. To obviate this difficulty, in a measure at least, it is suggested that a code of whistle signals be adopted to designate approximately the part of the village in which the fire occurs. For example: the village could be divided into four sections at the intersection of Main and Middle streets. When a fire occurs anywhere in the northeast section, i. e. north and east of Schatz's barber shop, it could be designated by one blast of the whistle after the general alarm has been sounded; when occurring anywhere in the south east section, i. e. south and east of Wood's store by two blasts; in the southwest section, i. e. south and west of Kempf's bank by three blasts; in the northwest section, i. e. north and west of Freeman's drug store by four blasts. While this is not a perfect arrangement it is a sufficient improvement over the present system, or lack of it, that people will not chase up to the old fair ground when two blasts of the whistle are blown after the general alarm. This is merely intended to serve as a working basis and it is earnestly hoped that some individual, preferably one connected with the fire department will further perfect the system.

INDIANS HERE SATURDAY.

The Walpole Indians and the Chelsea Cardinals will play a game of ball at McLaren-Beggs park at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 8. This promises to be the best game of the season and those attending it will be well repaid for their time and money. At the close of the game the visiting team will give an exhibition of an Indian War Dance. The following will be the line up:

Walpole Indians—Kachenanatoish cf, Wahoyayquod 2b, Kahhahjigegood 3b, Nannagood p, Kudabeneace ss, Nowdageshig rf, Bashawwagood cf, Kewayrsik lf, Momeekasakod 1b.

Cardinals—Ackley p, Beistle cf, Stenbach 1b, Holmes 2b, McGuinness ss, Graham 3b, Bacon lf, Rogers cf, Miles rf.

SEMI-ANNUAL REPORT.

Prosecuting Attorney A. J. Sawyer has filed his semi-annual report as prosecutor for Washtenaw county with County Clerk Harkins. During the six months from January to July, 901 prosecutions have been made of which 895 have resulted in conviction, two have been dismissed upon payment of costs, two have been nolle prossed, and a like number discharged upon examination. The report shows that 504 have been prosecuted for drunkenness, 446 of whom were sent to jail to serve a short sentence, sentence was suspended in twelve cases, and forty-four paid either costs or a small fine and costs. Seventeen were prosecuted for drunkenness, second offense, and every one was sent to the house of correction to spend sixty-five days.

The vagrants came next on the list with regard to numbers, there having been 299 prosecutions on this charge, 279 being sentenced to a short term in jail, and the eight charged with vagrancy, second offense, were sent to the house of correction for sixty-five days. Twenty-two were prosecuted on a petty larceny charge and sixteen were convicted of assault and battery.

Other prosecutions and charges were as follows: Assault to do great bodily harm less than murder, 1; attempt to break jail, 1; breaking and entering in the daytime, 1; indecent language, 4; larceny from the person, 1; larceny from store, 1; shooting without malice, 1; non-support, 9; resisting an officer, 1; statutory burglary, 1; violation of the game law, 4; truancy, 1.

THE CONFERENCE.

The Michigan District of the German Evangelical Synod of North America met at Ann Arbor.

The conference of the Michigan District of the German Evangelical Synod of North America closed its session last Sunday evening. The several sessions were held in the Bethlehem church of Ann Arbor and there were some 120 ministers and delegates present from Michigan and Northern Indiana. Many interesting sermons were delivered and good reports made.

Upon recommendation of the ministerial meeting Rev. Theo. Papsdorf of Medburyville, Ind., Rev. F. Boehm of Maple Hill, Mich., and the newly organized congregation of Macomb township were taken into the synod.

The entire synod will meet the coming fall at Rochester, N. Y. where the delegates of the various districts advocate their home resolutions.

The following officers for the district were elected for the ens year: Rev. Paul Irion, of Freedom, president; Rev. C. Haag, of Port Huron, vice president; Rev. G. Eiken, of Three Oaks, secretary; Rev. Otto Haas, of Detroit, treasurer.

WHAT IS THE MATTER.

Yesterday was the last day of the month of roses and June brides, and it may be interesting to note that during the last thirty days no less than forty-six couples in Washtenaw county have abandoned single blessedness and launched their crafts on the matrimonial deep. As a result, the ranks of the bachelors in Washtenaw are somewhat depleted today and the remaining few are said to be disposed to regard the gloomy future with some apprehension.

For two years now the number of grooms each June has approached the half century mark, the number last year being forty-eight, a lead of two over the present record, all of which shows that the boys are accepting the advice of Senator Beveridge and establishing homes and firesides for themselves. Whether the fever was in the air and getting married was a sort of contagion which spread during the last month, or whether the prospectives deliberately waited for a popular occasion in which to express their sentiments in regard to this matter in not just evident, but at any rate there were only nineteen cases during the month of May. The June record for the last two years is far in excess of that for the same month prior to 1904. Would Rooseveltianism be an appropriate name for it?—Ann Arbor Times.

NOT ANY FRILLS.

Adjutant-General McGurrian has issued his final orders for the annual encampment of the state troops at Ludington, commencing August 9 and lasting ten days. The newly organized cavalry troop, artillery battery and signal corps are directed to report by letter not later than August 1 for assignment to duty, and the others will proceed in the usual manner so as to arrive in camp for the formal opening.

This year's camp will probably be named after Governor Warner. There will be few social features to the camp and it will be ten days of hard work. The artillery battery will form an important feature of the work of the camp, and in addition to the firing of salutes, will have a regular drill of its own in connection with the other drills. The cavalry will also have troop drill and in the field maneuvers will work with the infantry and artillery.

It is ordered that no man will be allowed upon the pay rolls who has enlisted since April 1. Leaves of absence or furloughs will be granted only in case of urgent necessity. The service uniform only will be worn by the troops when on duty, but officers are requested to bring their dress uniforms for use when desired.

Marvels of Moscow.

"Moscow," says a traveler, "has more pilgrims than Mecca and more shrines than Rome. Its principal church was erected at a cost of $2,000,000. Its golden dome and cupolas cost over $200,000 to gild, and more than twice that amount is represented by the marbles, precious stones and pictures it contains."

THE HAGAN BARN.

They say many hands make light work. It seemed so at the raising of Mr. Hagan's last Friday. Three hundred men and 55 women met to help out the discouraged Hagan family. The barn was nearly completed when it was blown down by the high wind June 25. Friends from far and near came and before 10 p. m. the timbers were ready for the mill.

Friday everyone came loaded with provisions. Gasoline stoves and wash-tubs. These were a few things disposed of: two washtubs of potatoes, 80 pounds of meat, 100 loaves of bread, 2 bushels of lemons. Besides these were other things to numerous to mention. The barn was raised and partly sided. It will be sided before being shingled time.

BEGAN DAMAGE SUIT.

Harrison R. West, the 15-year old son of Russel J. West, of Sylvan Center, has begun suit against the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson electric railway, alleging heavy damages. West is represented in the suit by George Young, appointed by the court to appear in his stead, the plaintiff being a minor.

West charges that he was vigorously assaulted and ejected from a car on December 11, 1903, although he had tendered his fare for a continuous ride from Chelsea to Detroit. He alleges that the conductor set upon him and beat him maliciously and dumped him beside the road, where he lay unattended suffering severe injuries. He asks to be reimbursed in the sum of $1,000.

EARLY SETTLERS.

David Rogers, who was born in Newark, N. J., in 1798, bears the distinction of being the first white settler in Stockbridge and in Ingham county. In the fall of 1834 he and his wife moved from his native place to Lima, Washtenaw county, and the next spring, 1835, came on to Stockbridge and settled on section thirty-six, on the farm that Mrs. Hugh McCloy now owns. During the previous year he had built a house in Lima and in the winter had moved it up here on sleds and erected it for their future habitation.

Mr. Rogers with his family moved to this village in the year 1866, and into the same house where Mann Agguth now lives. The old gentleman died on March 22, 1875, and his wife on February 18, 1892.—Stockbridge Sun.

Quite Different.

"As the proverb says," remarked the demoralizer, "Eat, drink and be married."
"That isn't right," protested the moralizer, "it's 'Eat, drink and be merry.'"
"Oh," exclaimed the demoralizer, in disgust, "that's altogether different."—Chicago Daily News.

Fish Trust Prices.

A fish trust has San Francisco in its grasp. Salmon, which not long ago sold at retail for seven cents a pound, now costs 25 cents, though the waters of California are crowded with the fish. Striped bass, which was five cents, now costs 20 cents. The retailers and the public are helpless.

Social Clearing House.

In Johannesburg "The Ladies' Social and Talking Club" has just been formed. "It is a sort of clearing house for social obligations," the present conditions not being favorable to that important function, the "polite call." Apparently distances are so great, and communication so slow.—South Africa.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.—
Now Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and that she will receive a fair and just answer.

Over one hundred thousand cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day. Surely women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as they have been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female trouble and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female trouble.

No other medicine in all the world has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, no prudent woman will accept any substitute which a druggist may offer.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

CHAPTER XIV.

Isle Rugen.

At eventide of the third day of their journeying the party came to a great morass. The horses picked their way warily through this tangle, the rotten sticks yielding as readily as wet mud beneath their hoofs. Pools of stagnant black water had to be evaded, treacherous yellow sands tested, bridges constructed of the firmer logs, till all suddenly they came out upon a fairlike little half moon of sand and tiny shells.

Here was a large flat bottomed boat, drawn up against the shore. In the stern a strange figure was seated, a man, tall and angular, clad in jerkin and trunks of brown tanned leather, cross gartered hose of grey cloth, and horse made shoon of hide with the hair outside. He wore a black skull cap, and his head had the strange uncanny look of a wild animal. It was not at the first glance nor yet at the second that Boris and Jorian found out the cause of this curious appearance.

Meanwhile, Werner von Orseln was putting into his hand some pledge or sign which he scrutinized carefully, when Jorian gripped his companion's arm.

"Look," he whispered, "he's got no ears!"

"Nor any tongue!" responded Boris, staring with all his eyes at the prodigy.

And, indeed, the strange man was pointing to his mouth with the index finger of his right hand and signing that they were to follow him into the boat which had been waiting for them.

The Duchess leapt from her horse and stepped from the little pier of stone beside which the boat lay, and walking firmly from seat to seat she reached the stern, where she sat down without seeming to have so much as glanced at any of the company.

Werner von Orseln then motioned Captains Boris and Jorian to take their places in the bow, and having bared his head he seated himself beside his mistress. The wordless, earless man took the oars and pushed off. The ten men left on the shore set about building a fire and making shelters of brushwood, as if they expected to stay there some time.

The boat passed almost noiselessly along, the strange man rowing strongly and the boat drawing steadily away across the widest part of the still inland sea. As they thus coasted along the gloomy shores the sun went down and darkness came upon them at a bound.

After a space tall trees again shot up overhead, and with a quick turn the boat passed between walls of trembling reeds that rustled against the oars like silk, emerged on a black circle of water, and then, gliding smoothly forward, took ground in the blank dark.

As the broad keel grated on the sand, the Wordless Man left out, and, standing on the shore, put his hands to his mouth and emitted a loud shout like a blast blown on a conch shell. It had obviously a meaning for someone and to put the matter beyond a doubt it was answered by three shrill whistles from behind the rampart of trees.

Joan sat still in the boat where she had placed herself. She had asked no question, and even these strange experiences did not alter her resolution.

Presently a light gleamed uncertainly through the trees, now lost behind brushwood and again breaking out.

A tall figure moved forward with a step quick and firm. It was that of a woman who carried a swinging lantern in her hand, from which wheeling lights gleamed through a score of variously colored little plates of horn.

Standing still on a little wooden pier she held the lantern high, so that the light fell on those in the boat, and their faces looked strangely white in that illuminated circle, surrounded as it was by a pent house of tense blackness, black pines, black water, black sky.

"Follow me!" said the woman, in a deep, rich voice—a voice whose tones thrilled those who heard them to their hearts, so rich and low were some of the notes.

Joan of the Sword Hand rose to her feet.

"I am the Duchess of Hohenstein."

and I do not leave this boat till I know in what place I am, and who this may be that cries 'Follow!' to the daughter of Henry the Lion!"

The tall woman turned without bowing and looked at the girl.

"I am the mother of Maurice von Lynar, and this is the Isle Rugen!" she said simply, as if the answer were all sufficient.

The woman in the crimson cloak waited for Joan to be assisted from the boat, and then, without a word of greeting, led the way up a little sand-paved path to a gate which opened in a high stone wall. Through this she admitted her guests, whereupon they found themselves in an enclosure with towers and battlements rising dimly all round.

Then came a long, grey building, another door, low and creaking heavily on unaccustomed hinges, a sudden burst of light, and lo! the wanderers found themselves within a lighted hall, wherein were many stands of arms and armor, mingled with skins of wild animals, wide-spreading, many-tined antlers, and other records of the chase.

The woman who had been their guide now set down her lantern and allowed the hood of her cloak to slide from her head. Werner and his two male companions, the captains of Plasenburgh, fell back a little at the apparition. They had expected to see some hag or crone, fit companion of their wordless guide.

Instead, a woman stood before them, not girlish certainly, nor yet in the first bloom of her youth, but glorious even among fair women by reason of the ripeness of her beauty.

The mother of that young paladin, their Sparhawk? It seemed impossible. This woman was too youthful, too fair, too bountiful in her gracious beauty to be the mother of such a tense young yew-bow as Maurice von Lynar.

"My lady Joan," she said, in the same thrilling voice, "my son has sent me word that till a certain great danger is overpast you are to abide with me here on the Isle Rugen. I live alone, save for this one man, dumb Max Ulrich, long since cruelly maimed at the hands of his enemies. I can offer you no suite of attendants beyond those you bring with you. Our safety depends on the secrecy of our abode, as for many years my own life has done. I ask you, therefore, to respect our privacy, as also to impose the same upon your soldiers."

The Duchess Joan bowed slightly.

"As you doubtless know, I have not come hither of my own free will," she answered haughtily; "but I thank you, madam, for your hospitality. Rest assured that the secrecy of your dwelling shall not be endangered by me!"

Then with a large gesture the elder indicated the way up the broad staircase, and throwing her own cloak completely off she caught it across her arm as it dropped and so followed Joan out of sight.

Instinct was so strong that, as soon as the women had withdrawn, themselves upstairs, the three captains started towards the door to make the round of the defences. The Wordless Man accompanied them unasked. The square enclosure in which they found themselves seemed like an old fortified farmhouse of grange than a regular castle, though the walls were thick as those of any fortress, being loopholed for musketry, and in those days of bombardment and heavy capable of standing a siege in good earnest against a small army.

The three captains returned through the hall into a long dining room vaulted above with beams of solid oak. Curtains were drawn close all about the walls. In the recesses were many stands of arms of good and recent construction, and opening a cupboard Boris saw ramrods, powder, and shot arranged in order, as neatly as though he had done it himself, than which no better could be said.

In a little while the sound of footsteps descending the nearer staircase was heard. The Wordless Man moved to the door and held it open, as Joan came in with a proud, high look on her face. Von Lynar's mother entered immediately after her guest, and it needed nothing more subtle than Werner von Orseln's masculine acumen to discern that no word had been spoken between them while they were alone.

With a queenly gesture the hostess motioned her guest to the place of honor, and indicating that the three soldiers were to take their places at the other side of the table. Werner von Orseln moved automatically to obey, but Jorian and Boris were already at the sideboard, dusting platters and making them ready to serve the meal.

"I thank you, madam," said Jorian. "We were here as envoys of our master, Prince Hugo of Plasenburgh, we would gladly and proudly sit at meat with you. But we are volunteers, and have all our lives been men at arms. We will therefore assist this good gentleman to serve, as it please you to permit us!"

The lady bowed slightly and for the first time smiled.

"My son remains in Castle Kernsburg," she asked, with an upward inflection, an indescribable softness at the same time overspreading her face, and a warmth coming into her grey eyes which showed what this woman might be to those whom she really loved.

"He keeps the Castle, indeed—in his mistress's absence and mine," said Werner. "He will make a good soldier. Our lady has already made him Count von Loeb, that he may be the equal of those who care for such titles."

A strange flash of remembrance and emotion passed over the face of their hostess.

"And your own title, my lord?" she asked after a little pause.

"I am plain Werner von Orseln, free ritter and faithful servant of my mistress the Duchess Joan, as I was also of her father, Henry the Lion of Hohenstein."

"I have now no faithful servants," said the young Duchess at last, breaking her cold silence; "I have only traitors and jailers about me."

With that she beckoned once more silent. A painful restraint fell upon the three who sat at table, and though their hostess and Werner von Orseln partook of the fish and brawn and fruit which their three servants set before them in silver platters, it was but sparingly and without appetite.

"The secrecy of your dwelling shall not be endangered by me."

All were glad when the meal was over and they could rise from the table. As soon as possible Boris and Jorian got outside into the long passage which led to the kitchen.

"Jorian," said Boris, solemnly lowering his voice to a whisper, "if that Courtland fellow had known what we know, he would have been none so eager to get her home to bed and board!"

"Ice will melt—even Baltic ice!" said Jorian sententiously.

"Yes, but greybeard Louis of Courtland is not the man to do the melting!" retorted Boris.

"But I know who could," said Jorian, nodding his head with an air of immense sagacity.

"Who?" said Boris, shortly.

The door of the kitchen opened slightly and the tall woman stood a moment with the latch in her hand, ready to enter.

"Our Sparhawk could melt the Baltic ice!" said Jorian, and winked at Boris with his left eye in a sly manner.

Whereupon Boris dropped his knife and, seizing Jorian by the shoulders, he thrust him down upon a broad stool.

Then he dragged the platter of brawn before him and dumped the mustard pot beside it upon the deal table with a resounding clap.

"There!" he cried, "fill your silly mouth with that, Fatsides! 'Tis all you are good for. I have stood a deal of fine larded ignorance from you in my time, but nothing like this. You will be saying next that my Lady Duchess might take a fancy to you!"

"She might do worse!" said Jorian philosophically, as he stirred the mustard with his knife and looked about for the ale tankard.

TOO MUCH TEA HARMFUL

English Physician Classes Beverage With Alcohol.

As England is a nation of tea drinkers, some vigorous words on the tea habit lately spoken by Dr. John H. Clarke, a London physician, have attracted much attention. "It would almost seem," says Dr. Clarke, "that the human animal is determined to assert his superiority over all the rest of creation by the ingenuity he displays in discovering or manufacturing pleasant poisons for himself. The great majority of mankind are the slaves of one or more poison habits. Of these habits the tea habit is one of the most subtle, insinuating and injurious."

"It is a mooted point whether tea does not do more harm in this country than alcohol. It does not make its victims 'drunk and incapable,' but it certainly does make them drunk. To be saturated with tea, to be constantly under its influence, to be dependent on it, is to be tea drunk."

"E. J. J. as She is Japanese." Often the Japanese imitator produces laughable labels that are worthy of noting as specimens of "English as she is Japanese." Take, for instance, a label on a bottle in southern Japan when the boy brought some St. Julien. The label on the bottle he brought read:

"Fogren County Wines Little Seal St. Julien, bottled by Bordeaux."

A label placed on some alleged English beer declared:

"The efficacy of this beer is to give the health and especially the strength for stomach. The flavor is so sweet and simple that it not injure for much drink."—World's Work.

DAIRY NOTES

First French Butter.

A French writer says: When the Romans ruled France, butter was simply used as an ointment, and was of very little account. When the Franks invaded the country (about A. D. 418) they brought with them the knowledge of its value as food, but in the middle ages, and even in more modern times, the trade in butter was little extended. It was usually made and consumed at home on account of the difficulty of preserving fresh butter in the way of its transport to the markets. In some provinces fresh butter was a luxury even in the 18th century. It cost infinitely more than salt butter. In the middle ages, at Corbeil and Charenton (close to Paris), it fetched a price representing more than $2.50 a pound. In the 18th century fresh butter was sold in pounds and in parts. The pound rolls came into Paris from the surrounding villages, and also from the Gatinais. The butter of Vanves, made in moked parts, stamped with the arms of France, was considered the best. In winter butter was also brought from Gournay and Isigny. The butters of Normandy, and especially those of Isigny and the Bray district, acquired not merely a national but a universal reputation, as they were exported to foreign countries and even to the French colonies in the tropics. The salt butters of Normandy were shipped in earthenware pots weighing from 6 pounds to 40 pounds, and in wooden tubs weighing from 20 pounds to 200 pounds. Normandy butter was sent all over France, to England and to other foreign countries. It was the Isigny butter that was sent to the French colonies in America.

What Kind of Cow.

Our farmers are still generally prejudiced in favor of a general purpose cow, and we find that there are comparatively few farmers engaged in dairying that have cows of distinctive dairy breeds. We have no hesitancy in saying that the general purpose cow is not the most profitable cow for the production of milk, butter, and cheese. If our readers will but examine the butter records of the best cows, where will they be found? In the lines of the special breeds. Take the cows with records for producing 400 pounds of butter a year, and how many will be found in the lists of general purpose cows. Here and there is an exceptional milk among the cows of mixed breeding or of cross breeding, but the preponderance of testimony, as the lawyers say, is in favor of the special breeds. We have seen men that were keeping Durhams for milk stand up in conventions and declare that their cows were as good for dairy purposes as any of the special breeds. We have seen these men challenged to produce their figures and they have produced them, showing an average of between 250 and 300 pounds of butter per cow per year. Then we have seen the figures of the special purpose cows brought out, showing from 300 to 400 pounds of butter per cow, with a much smaller cost for feed. This thing has occurred so very many times that it is a marvel that the sentiment still remains that the general purpose cow is profitable over the special dairy cow.

New Zealand Milk Inspection.

The New Zealanders are evidently looking closely to the conditions under which milk is produced, and have enacted some far-reaching inspection laws. From a New Zealand paper we take the following useful description of the situation:

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"

"I'm going a milking, sir," she said. "Dear maiden, I'd like to disclose the fact."

"That I'm an inspector under the Act. So pray remain, for I want to know A thing or two before you go."

"Nay, pretty maiden, you must not weep: How far away are the pigs you keep?"

"And what percentage of butter fat Does your moo cow yield, Pray tell me that."

"And how is the health of your pretty pet?"

"Has it anthrax, cancer, blackleg, garget?"

"Has your sister measles or whooping cough?"

"Is the water clean in the drinking trough?"

"I pray thee answer these questions of fact."

"For I'm an inspector under the Act. With the fierce bacilli also I cope. By means of my powerful microscope, Excuse me, I must examine your hand."

"Purely official, you'll understand."

Ventilation.

Every building that is used in connection with milk production should be well ventilated. The stable in which the cows are kept and are milked should be well ventilated to keep the cows healthy and should be well ventilated to keep bad smells from getting into the milk. The rooms in the house devoted to the care of milk should be perfectly ventilated, and this should be true of every creamery in which milk or cream is handled. There is now a general complaint that the ventilation of creameries is so bad that they are always damp. This is one of the inevitable results of bad ventilation.

HIS JUDGMENT AT FAULT.

One Instance Where Balzac Failed as a Graphologist.

If there was one thing upon which Balzac flattered himself more than another it was his skill in reading character from handwriting.

But he made a sad mistake on one occasion. A lady brought him an extract from the exercise book of a 12-year-old schoolboy, and asked him for an opinion as to the youngster's character and prospects. Balzac inquired whether the child was her own. Answered in the negative, he examined the exercise carefully and delivered his judgment.

"Madame," he said, "this child is thick-headed and frivolous. He will never come to any good. If he were my child I would take him from school and put him to the plow."

Then it was explained to the novelist that the specimen on which he had pronounced so severely was one of his own which had been discovered hidden away between the leaves of an old lesson book.

Use for Discarded Trampcars.

Australia has found a new use for discarded trampcars. Sydney ladies have them painted green and white, hang them with baskets of flowers, train creepers over the roof and then utilize them as afternoon tearooms.

Proved Beyond a Doubt.

Middlesex, N. Y., July 3.—(Special)—That Rheumatism can be cured has been proved beyond a doubt by Mrs. Betsey A. Clawson, well known here. That Mrs. Clawson had Rheumatism and had it bad, all her acquaintances know. They also know she is now cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it. Mrs. Clawson tells the story of her cure as follows:

"I was an invalid for most five years caused by Inflammatory Rheumatism, helpless two-thirds of the time. The first year I could not do as much as a baby could do, and then I rallied a little bit and then a relapse. Then a year ago the gout set in my hands and feet. I suffered untold agony and in August, 1903, when my husband died I could not ride to the grave."

"I only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and in two weeks I could walk on myself and saw my own wood. I dug my own potatoes and gathered my own garden just fall. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills put the kidneys in shape to take all the uric acid out of the blood.

Talents and Confidence.

A single-talent man, supported by great self-confidence, will achieve more than a ten-talent man who does not believe in himself. The mind cannot act with vigor in the presence of doubt. A wavering mind makes a wavering execution. There must be certainty, confidence and assurance, or there can be no efficiency. An undoubted man who believes in himself, and who has faith that he can do the thing he undertakes, often puts to shame the average college-bred man, whose overculture and wider outlook have sometimes bred increased sensitiveness and a lessening of self-confidence, whose decision has been weakened by constant weighing of conflicting theories and whose prejudices are always open to conviction.—Success.

Majority of Men Immoral.

A Boston scientist says that hypnotism can develop only natural instincts and that the best hypnotist in the world cannot make a really moral person do wrong. From experiments he has made he believes that 75 per cent of the human race, if unrestrained by family pride and other like considerations, would steal.

Arabic Translation of "Iliad."

An Arabic translation of Homer's "Iliad" has been published at Cairo by Suleiman Vistani, a Mohammedan student at Khartoum college. The classic has been enthusiastically received in Moslem circles.

IN COLONEL'S TOWN

Things Happen.

From the home of the famous "Key-hel Keeyartah of Cartersville," away down South, comes an enthusiastic letter about Postum:

"I was in very delicate health, suffering from indigestion and a nervous trouble so severe that I could hardly sleep. The doctor ordered me to discontinue the use of the old kind of coffee, which was like poison to me, producing such extreme disturbance that I could not control myself. But such was my love for it that I could not get my own consent to give it up for some time, and continued to suffer, till my father one day brought home a package of Postum Food Coffee."

"I had the new food drink carefully prepared according to directions, and gave it a fair trial. It proved to have a rich flavor and made a healthy, wholesome and delightful drink. To my taste the addition of cream greatly improves it."

"My health began to improve as soon as the drug effect of the old coffee was removed and the Postum Food Coffee had time to make its influence felt. My nervous troubles were speedily relieved and the sleep which the old coffee drove from my pillow always came to soothe and strengthen me after I had drunk Postum—in a very short time I began to sleep better than I had for years before. I have now used Postum Coffee for several years and like it better, and find it more beneficial than when I first began. It is an unspeakable joy to be relieved of the old distress and sickness." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason: Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

LASTING RELIEF.

J. W. Wells, superintendent of streets of Lebanon, Ky., says:

"My nightly rest was broken, owing to irregular action of the kidneys. I was suffering intensely from severe pains in the small of my back and through the kidneys and annoyed by painful passages of abnormal secretions. No amount of doctoring relieved this condition. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and experienced quick and lasting relief. Doan's Kidney Pills will prove a blessing to all sufferers from kidney disorders who will give them a fair trial."

Schiller's Mean Revenge.

When Schiller was a boy at school he was tormented by a Swiss tutor named Kuplig, who came from the Grisons canton. Years later, when the poet wrote "The Robbers," he revenged himself on Kuplig and the Grisons by introducing this little speech: "To be a scamp you must have genius. Moreover, a special climate is needed for the growth of scamps, and to prove this I recommend you to visit the Grisons canton. It is the veritable Athens of modern rascality." In the later editions of "The Robbers" this quaint bit of spleen does not appear. It is suggested that Schiller was not moved to expunge it by any remorseful feeling, but by a very forcible protest from the residents of the abused canton against this calumny.

Cleaning India Rubber Goods.

To clean indiarubber goods, a piece of clean, household flannel should be rubbed upon a bar of common yellow soap. When a lather is obtained, apply the flannel to the rubber and pass it briskly over the surface. This will speedily make the article clean. Set to dry in a cool breeze.

Good Advice for Women.

George Elliot says: "To manage men one ought to have a sharp mind in a velvet sheath." But why should we everlastingly strive to manage men? Why not let men manage themselves? That would give all plenty to do and rid the world of most of its mischief.—Exchange.

THE MONTHLY TRIAL

HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, BEARING-DOWN PAINS.

A Woman Tells How She Has Become Well and Strong After Years of Misery Due to Irregular Functions.

The fact that one woman is bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and depressed, is due more often than otherwise to the regularity in the one case and the irregularity in the other of the functions that are peculiar to the sex. When these are disturbed everything goes wrong; pain and discomfort are felt all over the body; the sensations are often terrifying.

"For four years," said Mrs. Davis recently, "I suffered indescribable misery from sick headache every month, accompanied by fainting spells, shortness of breath and severe pain in my left side. There were also bearing-down pains, at times so acute that I could not stand up, and my head was full of ringing sounds. It seemed as if everything was going to hit me in the eyes. I was compelled to lie down with closed eyes for hours to get a little relief. When I attempted to arise everything would whirl around and it would grow so dark that I could scarcely see any object."

"Couldn't your doctor help you?"

"Five doctors in all treated me, but I got no lasting benefit. Besides I used a lot of advertised remedies. The only medicine, however, that had the desired effect was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are truly a godsend to women. I did not have much faith in them when I began to take them. I found myself, however, so much better after using two boxes that I began to believe in them. They checked right away the decline into which I was going. My troubles kept lessening and finally disappeared altogether."

"How long did it take for a cure?"

"After I had used several boxes my health was all right. I had taken on flesh and was strong and hearty. I feel today in spirits more like a girl of sixteen than a woman of my years."

Mrs. C. H. Davis' address is Carmel, Maine, R. F. D., No. 2. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are confidently offered to women for the cure of anemia, chlorosis, painful and irregular periods, and all forms of weakness. They are sold by every druggist.

An order has been promulgated by the dominion government increasing the pay of the militia as follows: Colonels, from $4.86 to $5 a day; majors, $3.90 to $4 a day; captains, $2.80 to $3 a day; lieutenants, $1.58 to $2 a day; provisional lieutenants, $1.28 to $1.50 a day. Recruits will receive the first year 50 cents and if their conduct is good they will get 70 cents a day the second year. Privates will get 50 cents and if their conduct is good 90 cents the second year and the third year 90 cents and if their conduct is good $1 a day.

Odd Razor Strop.
"Lead pipe will keep your razor sharp," says an experienced barber. "Get a short piece of the smallest, softest lead pipe your plumber has in stock and keep it handy when you are stropping your razor. The scheme is to rub the strop with the pipe. Apply the pipe, just as you would strop the razor, to the unfinished side of the leather. Strop your razor on that side, wind up with a few passes on the finished side of the strop, and you will have a first-class edge on the tool."

During Lull in Conversation.
"I admired that last piece you played, professor, immensely," said Mrs. Gaswell. "It had a kind of wild freedom about it, you know, a sort of get up and go that just suited me. Was it a composition of your own?"
"Madam," rigidly responded the eminent musician who had been hired for the occasion. "I was putting a new E string on my violin."—Chicago Tribune.

Wonderful Chain.
Among the curiosities recently presented to the Maritzburg museum, in South Africa, is a chain 23 feet six inches long, carved from the trunk of a tree by "Knobose" natives, a tribe in the Zoutspanberg district, Transvaal. The chain is continuous, requiring phenomenal patience and skill in carving.

Beards in the Army.
In every battalion in the British army there is a small body of men known as the pioneers. They are the only men who are allowed to wear beards. Between them they are supposed to know something of the duties of a carpenter, bricklayer, smith, mason, painter, glazier, plumber and gas-fitter.

Hard to Tell.
"What do you think of that college professor who says he never kissed a girl?"
"Possibly," said Miss Cayenne, "it is the simple confession of an unworried soul, and then again it may be a very sly way of advertising for bids."—Washington Star.

Cooled by Evaporation.
Liquids can be rapidly cooled when ice is scarce, by pouring them into large jugs, round which two or three layers of flannel have been wrapped. The flannel is saturated with water, and the rapid evaporation that takes place cools the liquid as effectively as a refrigerator.

Boy's Record Jump.
A remarkable young athlete, Tommy Barton, aged 18, of the government college school, Burma, has at the Rangoon annual athletic meeting cleared in the high jump 5 feet 11 1/4 inches. This is believed to be a world's record for a schoolboy.

Big Land Lease.
As the outcome of a fight to keep Utah and Idaho sheepmen out of Wyoming, the Union Pacific has leased to a grazing association 2,000,000 acres in western Wyoming, which will be used for the winter grazing of 300,000 sheep.

Most Crooked River.
Hitherto the Jordan has been accounted the most crooked stream in the world, but it cannot compare with White river, Arkansas, which travels 1,000 miles in traversing a distance of 50 miles as the crow flies.

Makes a Mistake.
The man who marries a small woman with the idea that her dressmaking bills will not be as large as that of her larger sisters, is due for a big surprise shortly after the honeymoon is over.

Look After the Children.
In Germany policemen on duty can stop children in the street in school hours and ask them why they are not at school. It is suggested in England that that be made the law there.

Souls That Grow.
Small souls, if they are of the right sort, sometimes have a way of growing to the discomfort of cynics and the gratification of the angels.—Kate Douglas.

YOUR MONEY BACK IF CAL-CURA FAILS.

If you have an aching back, brick dust sediment, or inflammation and pain in bladder or kidneys, go to your druggist at once and get a bottle of Cal-Cura Solvent, Dr. David Kennedy's latest medicine. Its effect is marvelous; so uniformly successful that we offer you your money back if it does not help you. Cal-Cura Solvent dissolves stone, gravel and uric acid in kidneys and bladder. If it did not have this power, we could not afford to sell it on a guarantee like this. Cal-Cura Solvent is the only medicine for kidney and bladder troubles sold under a guarantee to cure or refund the money. We are warranted in doing this, for it has a record of cures in nine out of every ten cases. It is not a patent medicine; it is a prescription from the hands of that skilled physician and surgeon, Dr. David Kennedy, and used in his private practice with uniform success. All druggists, $1.00.

MINERS ARE TO MEET

ANNUAL GATHERING OF AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS.

Lyman A. Sisley, Editor of the Mining World, Chicago, Writes of the Interesting Programme of the Occasion.

The next annual meeting of the American Mining Congress will be held at Portland, Ore., beginning August 22 and continuing six days. At this assembly many questions of pressing interest to the mining industry in all its phases will be considered. Many gentlemen of national and international reputation will deliver addresses on national questions affecting mining and kindred interests, and those who can attend should certainly do so.

This coming session will be liberalized on a broader review of the mining industry than ever before. It is expected that every state and territory in the United States, Canada and Mexico will present reports on the geological and mineral resources, 26 of which have already taken up the work of preparing their reports, and so notified the secretary, Mr. Irwin Mahon.

It is more than likely from the great interest that is being manifested all over the country in the coming assembly that the attendance will be very large, and that the views of the congress will be definitely crystallized into form that will prove the basis for future federal legislation. Its importance when viewed in this light can scarcely be over-estimated, and the mining industry will be benefited by its wisdom to a degree that can hardly be realized in advance.

One of the important functions of this congress will be a federal department of mines and mining, with a secretary at its head, who shall be a cabinet officer. A measure of this character, of infinite importance to the industry, can acquire momentum only through the action of a mining congress representative of the interests of the mining men generally. Through such a medium it has a political significance that will entitle it to the serious consideration of the law makers who wish to conserve the best interests of a great industrial factor of the country.

Aside from the formation of a code of laws for the approval of congress, and taking such steps as are possible toward the creation of a mining department, the forthcoming meeting promises to exercise no little influence in securing concessions of great value to the industry. The mining industry embraces not merely mining for the precious metals, and for iron, and coal, but it also includes the production of oil and stone in all their various forms. It covers the entire union, for there is not a single state in which mining in some form is not conducted. It represents the interests, the welfare and the hopes of millions of men and women. Second only to agriculture, if even to it in real importance, mining is the corner stone of the nation's prosperity and wealth. Through the production of its iron and coal mines, the United States has become the chief manufacturer of steel and steel products in the world, and its supremacy in foreign markets would never have been achieved had it not been for the wealth which nature stored in the mines, whether of gold, silver, copper, lead, coal or iron.

To refuse to establish a department of mines and mining, when already we have one of war, of the navy, of foreign affairs, of commerce and labor, and of agriculture, is to neglect an industry which is more to this country than the maintenance of either the army or the navy, for without it we would be dependent in both those branches of public service upon foreign countries. It is more to us than our diplomatic relations and yields first place only to the cultivation of the soil.

SEEK FOX; HIT MINE.

IN CHASE SILVER WORTH MILLIONS IS FOUND.

Blacksmith Alvin Hammer at Animal, But Strikes Luck Wherein Vast Wealth Laid—$3,000,000 in Sight.

New York.—Two young Canadians, David Dunlap and Noah Timmons, both of Mattawa, Ont., registered here recently. They brought little personal baggage, but did bring two freight cars which they had sidetracked in Jersey City. Forty full tons of rock was in these cars. It had been mined by Dunlap and Timmons in northern Ontario, between Lakes Temagami and Temagami within a month.

When the two Canadians left for home they had sold the rock to the Leduc chemical and reduction works for $75,000. They had struck a silver and nickel mine, which promises to prove one of the richest in the world. They have obtained complete ownership of the property, and declare they would not sell out for $5,000,000 each.

The territory in which the mine is located is little known except to hunters. Almost a year ago a railroad projected a line through that section, and last spring a blacksmith's shop was built alongside the newly laid tracks. One Sunday afternoon, as a blacksmith, hammer in hand, was strolling around, a fox started up in front of him. He hurled the hammer, missed the fox, but the hammer struck a projecting boulder, making a sharp metallic sound. The blacksmith became interested. He struck the boulder, and became convinced that it was largely impregnated with metal. He clipped some chips off the rock, and taking them to Mattawa, he showed them to Timmons and Dunlap. The latter saw the specimens were largely silver.

Carefully guarding the secret, the two men went to the place and discovered more than a dozen other specimens of rock. All were of silver, with about 12 per cent. of nickel and a trace of cobalt and arsenic. They also found a well-defined ore vein running along the surface of the ground for nearly 1,000 feet. Claims were filed, and Noah Timmons, his brother Henry and David Dunlap became the owners of the property.

The three men, with a gang of 25 miners, then took possession and began operations. Two shafts were sunk, and the ore vein got richer as they went down. A depth of 90 feet has been reached and what is said to be one of the richest silver and nickel deposits on this continent has been disclosed.

Mr. Timmons declares that fully $3,000,000 worth of the metals is now practically in sight.

SHOPLIFTERS HAVE TOOLS.

Latest "Wrinkle" of Female Purloiners Is to Tie and Wrap Stolen Articles.

Boston.—Up-to-date shoplifters have evolved a new scheme to fool the store detectives. At least the police say so, and they ought to know. The latest "wrinkle" is to carry about with them several sheets of brown paper, such as is used in wrapping up parcels, and to tie up the stolen articles, so as to not arouse suspicion if they unfortunately become too closely acquainted with the floor walkers or detectives. However successful the scheme may work in some cases, it failed as far as Mrs. Mary McCormack and her daughter, Mrs. Alice Monto, of Allston and Cambridge, who were arrested after a chase in the shopping district, are concerned. Whether they were discovered before they had full opportunity to place the paper around the goods is not known, but at any rate, the police say they found plenty of the paper and twine on the pair when they were searched at headquarters. They were not recognized by any of the inspectors as old offenders, though they pleaded guilty when arraigned in the municipal court. The mother was fined $50 and the daughter was placed on probation.

CAT-EATING OWL NO MORE
Great Horned Specimen, After Devouring Two Felines in Maine, Comes to Grief.

Bangor, Me.—A great horned owl of unusual size and voracity was killed in Falmouth a few days ago. The owl's special predilection in the matter of eatables, was cat, and he was doing his best to depopulate the feline race in Falmouth when fate overtook him. Rendered desperate by hunger, he dove through a pane of glass in a farmhouse window, and snatching a kitten in his powerful talons, flew out of an open door with him before any one could come to the rescue. Flushed with his success, he returned two days later and captured another pretty little pussy, this time in the yard.

He met his Waterloo on the third day when he attacked the mother of the family, but it was not through her efforts that he was felled, for he had already buried his powerful claws in her sides and a desperate battle was in progress with the owl winning when the master of the house came to the rescue, and knocking down the big bird with a broom handle, stunned him so that his killing was an easy matter.

The owl is now in Lane's shop in Portland, being properly stuffed and preserved. Where Napoleon Tripped. Oyama has been called the Japanese Napoleon. Then let him keep away from Moscow.

ATTENDANCE AT SUMMER NORMAL.
The Normal registration up to Saturday night was 822, within fourteen of the total registration for the summer school last year. This is far ahead of any previous year, as a large addition to the enrollment is received after the Fourth. It is probable the total for the year will go over 900. This is exclusive of the Washtenaw County Teachers' Institute, which has an enrollment of over 100.

NOTHING MORE.
A white haired, sanctimonious looking old gentleman registered at the Lilley house a few days ago, and remained over Sunday as the guest of that hostelry. He carried a large package, apparently a box of clothing nicely wrapped up, that he was very careful of and left in his room when he suddenly vanished into the mysterious nowhere. After his departure when he failed to liquidate his board bill, Landlord Blocker opened the box and found it contained a lot of dingers and some nice long stalks of clover—simply that and nothing more.—Tecumseh News.

TO AILING WOMEN.
A little sound advice will help many a sufferer.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness, and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well.

Mrs. S. Amps, of 309 N. Shawassee street, Owosso, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me, for I used them two or three years ago when from some cause such as a cold or the grippe my kidneys troubled me. I do not know what I would have done without them as my trouble was steadily growing worse in spite of all the medicine I took. The kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. I could not rest comfortably at night, and always arose tired and worn out mornings. My general health was poor and this trouble was a great drain on me. I had taken so much medicine that I had little confidence in any, but I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon noticed an improvement in my condition and steadily grew better. I cannot speak too highly of this valuable preparation and am glad to recommend it at all times."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Post Office, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Tired Nervous

When you feel languid, tired, nervous and irritable, your vitality is low—your supply of nerve energy exhausted, and your system running down for lack of power.

The organs of the body are working poorly, or not at all, and you are not getting the nourishment needed. This soon impoverishes the blood and instead of throwing off the impurities, distributes it all through the body. This brings disease and misery.

Feed the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nerve, a nerve food, a nerve medicine, that nourishes and strengthens the nerves, and see how quickly you will get strong and vigorous.

"My wife suffered with nervousness previous to a recent attack of typhoid fever, but after her recovery from the fever, she was much worse, and could hardly control herself being exceedingly nervous when the least excited. She was very restless at night, and never had a good night's rest. She also suffered much from nervous headache. Dr. Miles' Nerve was recommended by a friend. After the first three doses she had a good night's rest, and at the end of the first week's treatment she was wonderfully improved. Continued use of Nerve has completed her entire cure."

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Thoroughly Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so beneficial that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera, and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and stock raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Pyrenburg, Kas., March 25, 1904.
I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used it on all kinds of stock food for my purpose, that yours is the best for my purpose.

COLD BLOODED MURDER BY SUPPOSED FRIEND, NEAR CARO.

ISABELLA COUNTY FARMER WAS LURED TO HIS DEATH BY HOBO.

BAY CITY. THE SCENE OF A RIOT OVER STREET CAR STRIKE.

Severely Whipped.

The trial of Victor M. Staley, superintendent of Coldwater schools, who is charged with causing the death of the boy, Phillip Miller, by a severe flogging in school last winter, is drawing large crowds to the court house.

Mrs. Miller, the child's mother, told the story of the whipping, the lad's suffering for several days following the punishment and his agonies during the three days before he died.

The mother's recital of the case was extremely pathetic. She was subjected to a severe cross-examination, which, however, failed to change any part of her evidence.

Witnesses testified to going to the house and being shown the bruises and discoloration on the boy, as he lay in bed.

Dr. William Wilson, who attended young Miller, testified as follows: "When I first saw Phillip he was a very sick boy—high fever and a nervous twitching of the muscles, indicating chorea. I also found the lower part of his back and hips badly bruised, and showing the effects of a severe flogging."

When asked the question: "Judging from the condition of the boy when you first saw him, and the results that followed, was the whipping he received severe?" Dr. Wilson answered: "The punishment must have been merciless."

Attorney Barlow objected and the court ordered the answer stricken out. Attorney Campbell then asked the witness what caused Phillip Miller's death.

Slowly, and without evident reluctance, Dr. Wilson replied: "I think his death was caused by the whipping."

With five bullet wounds in his body, M. A. Burgess of Isabella county, is in a critical condition in the Exchange hotel, Caro. Robert Williams, whom no one seems to know and who is thought to be a hobo who hung round the depot in Mt. Pleasant for some time, is being hunted by officers, as he did the shooting. The two men arrived at the Caro hotel on Wednesday and were supposed to be friends.

They mingled very little with other guests and Thursday morning early started on a fishing trip, after Burgess paid the bills for both. They were seen on the river bank near the railroad. Passersby heard shots and went to investigate, finding Burgess prostrate on the ground with five bullet wounds in his body, and Williams had disappeared into the woods. Burgess said that he had been lying on the ground when Williams suddenly began firing at him. Four bullets struck him before he could get up, and the fifth lodged in his back as he was trying to get away. Before he could tell any more Burgess lapsed into unconsciousness. He was brought to the Exchange hotel, where the doctors say there is slight hope for his recovery.

Rioting in Bay City.

The climax was capped Tuesday night in the Bay City street railway strike when thousands of frenzied citizens congregated all along the various lines of the system, stoned the cars, pelted strike breakers, assaulted the police officers, attempted to mob Supt. Morris, drove officers and men off one car on Cass avenue, and ran it from across the Michigan Central railway tracks on Water street, where it was pelted with stones and bricks, then burned.

The situation became extremely chaotic, and it was simply a miracle that Supt. Morris escaped with his life at the corner of Lafayette avenue and Broadway, where the crowd was clamoring for him while he was in charge of Officers Hatch and Meeks. The latter had to use their billies and flourish their revolvers to prevent the excited people from carrying out their nefarious work. A path was finally opened, accompanied by the officers, the superintendent made his way out east on Lafayette to Garfield, as far as Twenty-first street, where the patrol wagon met the party. No cars were run Wednesday.

Off the Rail Again.

Carrying 50 passengers, Pere Marquette train No. 80, running between Holland and Muskegon, ran on a broken rail near Kirk's Junction, but the engine, combination coach and baggage car passed over the break without mishap so fast was the train running. The day coach on the rear end of the train was derailed, rolling down a steep embankment. Three passengers who were in the coach escaped injury except for a severe jarring.

CZAR'S PEOPLE IN OPEN REVOLT, CAUSE GRAVE FEARS.

BLOOD AND PILLAGE RESULT IN LIBAU, ODESSA AND CRONSTADT.

PEACE WITH JAPAN NOW OR THE RUSSIAN EMPIRE'S WRECK.

Eight thousand Imperial sailors, together with the workmen at the yards and docks in the naval port of Cronstadt, rose in mutiny Friday morning. One officer was killed. The men refused to work or pay any heed to officers. The outbreak, together with those at Libau and Odessa, caused an all-round slump on the bourse. Imperial 4s were sustained by the government, but nevertheless they fell almost a point.

The mutiny of the men on the Russian warship Kniaz Potemkinke and murder of the officers which started all Russia was but the beginning of a practical outbreak of civil war. Arriving in Odessa, the mutinous crew trained the guns on the city and bid defiance to all civil and military authority, the result being that on Tuesday night collisions between the mobs and the police and military resulted in the loss of seventeen lives, including three policemen. Wednesday night, the quarantine station in the harbor, warehouses, stores and offices and some ships were fired by revolutionary bands. All foreign ships were preparing to slip their moorings in case of need, and the Kniaz Potemkinke was playing a searchlight on every portion of the harbor. Later that night a picket of Cossacks stationed at the Richelieu monument on Nicolai boulevard, the Potemkinke fired a shell, killing four and wounding twenty of them. Finally a great mob broke through the military cordons around the town and looted two large customs warehouses.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock Thursday night the Kniaz Potemkinke began firing on the town, and incendiaries began to set fires. The conflagration extended for over a mile, and thousands of tons of railway sleepers and all the trunks supporting the elevated railroad serving the port, together with all the contiguous buildings, were consumed, the troops in the meanwhile firing volleys to compel the rioters to desist.

A dispatch from Odessa, dated 3:52 p. m. Friday, says: "Mobs attacked the patrols of troops in the streets yesterday and the fighting continued into the night. Several hundred persons were killed or wounded. The hospitals are crowded with wounded. The petroleum reservoirs were set on fire and exploded. All traffic in the streets is stopped. The volunteer cruiser Saratoff was burned. Up to the present time nine ships have been burned. The central railway station was destroyed by fire last evening, many persons being injured and taken to the hospitals."

About 4,000 mutinous sailors are surrounded in a small wood near the port of Libau by infantry, the latter being reinforced by machine guns. One thousand of the mutineers are surrendered and gave up their arms. The mutiny started Monday night when the sailors of the first flagship, as the naval units are known in Russia, revolted because the food was bad.

The city was terrorized when troops and artillery arrived Wednesday morning. All entrances to the city were closed and gradually the sailors were driven into the wood, which they have since held. Much firing mingled with the humming of machine guns has been heard, and everyone is forced by the police to keep off the streets and away from the ports some distance below the town.

The czar has issued the following ukase addressed to the ruling senate: "In order to guarantee public safety Odessa and neighboring localities, we have found it necessary to declare a state of war in Odessa and district, and to invest the commander of the troops in the military district of Odessa with the special rights of civil administration for the defense of order and public tranquility."

With Poland red with the spirit of revolt, the Caucasus already almost in a state of civil war; agrarian disorders spreading rapidly, the whole country profoundly stirred and the intelligent classes solidly arrayed against the government, all conditions seem ripe for the long-predicted revolution. Great fear is expressed that many elements are honeycombed by their loyalty should they be called upon to fire on the revolutionists.

When the news reaches the armies in Manchuria it is bound to create a deep impression.

Washington, June 30.—The American consul at Odessa, Mr. Heenan, cables that the Baltic sea fleet entered the harbor shortly after noon and that the Kniaz Potemkinke surrendered without firing a shot. Diplomats here declare that the Black sea outbreak means immediate peace with Japan, whatever her terms. The czar must be free to crush rebellion, or anarchy will rend his vast domains and wreck the monarchy.

SEC. OF STATE HAY IS DEAD

WALLACE SOUGHT JOB AT PANAMA WHICH HE RESIGNED.

STEVENS WILL SUCCEED ENGINEER WALLACE IN PANAMA.

MOB LYNCHES SEVEN MEN NEAR ATLANTA IN BRUTAL WAY.

Secretary of State John Hay died at his summer home at Newbury, N. H., at 12:35 Saturday morning of pulmonary troubles.

President Displeased.

The first business transaction by the president on reaching Oyster Bay was his official acceptance of the resignation of Chief Engineer Wallace, of the isthmian canal commission. Mr. Wallace, according to the official version of the case given out, received while in Panama an offer of a position with a great corporation (the Metropolitan railway system of New York city) at a salary of $60,000 per annum. His salary with the Panama canal commission and as chief engineer of the canal was $25,000 a year.

Engineer Wallace suggested to Secretary Taft that he would remain with the commission two months, but, after considering the matter, President Roosevelt directed Secretary Taft to accept the resignation at once. There is no concealment by the administration of its feeling regarding Mr. Wallace's tender at this time of his resignation. It is felt that he has not acted fairly to the government in accepting comparatively recently the responsibility of directing the canal construction, and now offering his resignation at a time which is regarded as crucial in the work of the canal. It is said he not only accepted the position as chief engineer, but sought it and expressed his entire satisfaction with the salary given to him by the government.

The Successor.

John F. Stevens, of Chicago, formerly second vice-president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, has been selected as chief engineer of the Panama canal commission to succeed John F. Wallace. Mr. Stevens left the Rock Island and was appointed as an expert for the United States government to go to Manila with Secretary Taft and his party, to make a report on the feasibility of the construction of about 100 miles of railway in the Philippines. Prior to his connection with the Rock Island system, Mr. Stevens was vice-president of the Great Northern railway.

Mr. Stevens' salary will be $30,000 per year and he is not to be a member of the isthmian canal commission. His proposed trip to the Philippines with Secretary Taft as a government railway expert has been abandoned.

Secretary Taft, in an official announcement of the appointment of Stevens, said the latter would also have charge of the Panama railroad.

Lynched Seven Men.

A special from Watkinsville, Ga., says six negroes and one white man were lynched there Tuesday night by a mob of white men, many of whom were supposed to be citizens of that place and Oconee county. The mob formed about midnight, marched to the jail and compelled the jailer to deliver the keys to the prison. The following prisoners, all negroes, were taken from their cells:

Lewis Robertson, Richardson Robertson, "Sandy" Price, Claude Elder, "Ben" Harris, "Joe" Patterson and "Jim" Yearly. Lon Aycock, a white man, was also taken from his cell by the mob. The jailer was compelled to accompany the mob and its victims to the scene of the lynching, which was but 200 yards from the center of the town. The eight prisoners were marched to a corner lot within 200 yards of the jail and in the heart of the town. They were bound to a fence with their hands tied behind them.

At a command by the leader, the mob stepped back a few paces, took deliberate aim and fired a volley from rifles, shotguns and pistols into the line of prisoners. Every man in front of the mob fell at the first volley.

An examination by the jailer showed that seven of the men had been killed by bullets, but Patterson was found to be only slightly injured. Patterson's escape from death was as by a miracle, for the fence post to which he had been bound was torn to fragments by the bullets.

Seven bodies hung in a cluster from the crossbar of a telegraph pole, away from the wind, greeted the first arrivals in the town Thursday, the lynching being completed before daylight. The gruesome evidence of popular vengeance was left to strike terror into the lawless negro element which the whites of Watkinsville blame for the series of crimes the lynching was designed to end.

Most people are not sorry soon enough.

SEC. OF STATE HAY IS DEAD

WALLACE SOUGHT JOB AT PANAMA WHICH HE RESIGNED.

STEVENS WILL SUCCEED ENGINEER WALLACE IN PANAMA.

MOB LYNCHES SEVEN MEN NEAR ATLANTA IN BRUTAL WAY.

Secretary of State John Hay died at his summer home at Newbury, N. H., at 12:35 Saturday morning of pulmonary troubles.

President Displeased.

The first business transaction by the president on reaching Oyster Bay was his official acceptance of the resignation of Chief Engineer Wallace, of the isthmian canal commission. Mr. Wallace, according to the official version of the case given out, received while in Panama an offer of a position with a great corporation (the Metropolitan railway system of New York city) at a salary of $60,000 per annum. His salary with the Panama canal commission and as chief engineer of the canal was $25,000 a year.

Engineer Wallace suggested to Secretary Taft that he would remain with the commission two months, but, after considering the matter, President Roosevelt directed Secretary Taft to accept the resignation at once. ## CERTAIN DEFEAT.

Russians Are Sure Oyama Will Win Battle.

The military experts of Russia take anything but a hopeful view of Gen. Linievitch's situation. They do not believe he can be surrounded, but apparently do not consider the possibility of a Russian victory. Linievitch's retreat to Harbin and the isolation of Vladivostok seem to be regarded as fatal Oyama strikes.

The Chinese Immigrants.

The president's policy of "a square deal for the Chinese" promulgated Monday in an official statement from the White House, indicates the extent to which the enforcement of the exclusion law is to be modified. These modifications are relied on to head off the threatened boycott of American goods by the Chinese. The president's decision to order a less rigid enforcement of the law indicates that there is at least a marked difference of opinion between him and Secretary Metcalf, who has charge of immigration, and there are indications of rather serious friction between them. Mr. Metcalf is from California, where the sentiment against the Chinese is strongest, and the president thinks he is taking more of the interests of the section from which he comes than of the interests of the whole country.

The Pleniportentaries.

The Japanese and Russian governments will each name two plenipotentiaries. Russia's have been tentatively mentioned, although it is possible one of them may not serve on account of ill-health. The names of the plenipotentiaries chosen on each side are being submitted to the other by these final exchanges which are now in progress. In addition to the plenipotentiaries each country will send experts, secretaries and other attaches to Washington.

THE MARKETS.

Detroit—Grass cattle are the chief features of the cattle market. Few dry cows are being sold. Prices paid on steers and heifers, cattle of all kinds was 10 to 15 cents higher than in good demand, but were no higher than in good demand. Large grades from $20 to $40. Veal calves were plentiful again and the market was active and 15 to 25 cents higher. Grades are decided, good grades. Heavy sell. Best calves, $6.00 to $7.00; medium, $5.00 to $6.00.

Hogs—Trade active, 25c higher than last week. Light to good, $5.00 to $5.50; pigs, $4.00 to $4.50; light Yorkers, $4.00 to $4.50.

Sheep—Spring lambs, $7.00 to $7.50; fair to good, $6.00 to $6.50; fair to good, $5.00 to $5.50; culled and commons, $2.50 to $3.00.

Chicago—Good to prime steers, $5.00 to $5.50; poor to medium, $4.00 to $4.50; cows and feeders, $2.50 to $3.00; cowboys, $2.00 to $2.50; bulls, $2.00 to $2.50; canners, $1.50 to $2.00; Texas fed steers, $3.50 to $4.00; mixed and butchers, $2.50 to $3.00; rough heavy, $2.00 to $2.50; bulk of sales at $4.00 to $4.50; to choice weights, $10.00 to $15.00; good to choice mixed, $4.00 to $4.50; native hogs, including spring lambs, $5.00 to $5.50.

East Buffalo—Best export steers, $5.00 to $5.50; one load extra, $5.75; best to good, $4.50 to $5.00; fair to good, $4.00 to $4.50; trimmers, $1.50; best feeders, $2.50 to $3.00; light butchers, $2.00 to $2.50; medium butchers, $1.50 to $2.00; good to extra, $3.00 to $3.50; steady; good to extra, $3.00 to $3.50; calves, $2.00 to $2.50; common, $1.00 to $1.50; hogs—Medium and Yorkers, $5.75 to $6.00; heavy, $5.50 to $5.75; pigs, $5.00 to $5.50. The market closed steady, few cars late arrivals unsold.

Sheep—Best lambs, $5.00 to $5.50; fair to good, $4.50 to $5.00; culled and commons, $2.50 to $3.00; best mixed, $2.50 to $3.0

HEARTH & BOUDOIR

To Match Gown.
The fashion of wearing necklaces of large beads has been revived, and quaint old stones and Venetian glass beads are in demand.
Sets of gems to match the color of the gown worn with them are now the rage, and in the jewelers' shops many strange stones are to be found.
The spinel, a pretty stone which comes from Siam, can be procured in almost any color, and is especially attractive in red and blue. Green-stone, the "lucky" New Zealand stone, which is a kind of jade, is also often made into necklaces and the aquamarine, which was in vogue in the Georgian days, is once more a favorite.
Other necklaces are composed of amber, coral, topaz, lapis-lazuli, jet, Conchamara, marble, carnelians and garnet, so that a great variety of color can be chosen.
An Elaborate Gown.
A striking gown of Parisian design is of heavy and rich white satin, on which is applied irises and their gently leaves in their natural purple and green and some others in black, all cut out in perfect shape in colored Lyons velvet and applied by embroidery to the white satin, and then the whole embroidered all over with butterflies in sequins, some gold, some mother-of-pearl and some steel and silver intermingled. These embroidered decorations appear on both train and under dress, but the corsage is wholly covered with lace, held down with the butterflies alone, the irises not appearing there save in the form of a cluster of the natural flowers set against the left shoulder and bosom.
Favorite Chicken Dish.
To cook chicken à la Creole select a tender young chicken, cut it into the usual fricasse pieces, roll it in White crinoline hat trimmed with pink roses and pink plume.

Red chip trimmed with red wings and red velvet.
Dull blue fancy straw with shaded blue plumes and ribbon.
Toque of fancy brown straw with brown wings.
White crinoline and lace hat with gardenias and pale green loops.
Barley Water.
To make this from ordinary barley pour a quart of cold water on to a handful of common barley, add the thinly-pared rind of half a lemon, and simmer this all together steadily for two hours or so (if you are in a hurry a little can be got in half an hour, but this is not really so good as when it is boiled the proper time), then sweeten to taste and let it stand till it is quite clear, when it is fit for use.
Various Clever Makeshifts.
The economical girl this season converts her frocks into two or three by means of separate berthas, collars, ribbons, suspenders and the like. She drapes her plain parasol with founcies and ruffles when she wishes to be dressed up. She slips undersleeves into her elbow sleeves when she makes embroidered hats which will come apart and be "tubbed" and she colors her old white canvas shoes to suit the tints of her summer frocks this year, to say nothing of using up her brother's colored handkerchiefs for negligees. So really, in spite of all the necessary fusses and frills of the modern styles, she can make a very fair showing for a small cash outlay.
Sweaters of All Sorts.
The chief accessory of the outing dress is the sweater, which is shown this summer in an unwonted variety of colors and in shapes to correspond with bodice fashions. Two designs favored of many are the surplice

REMINDER OF PAUL JONES.
Fairhaven, Mass., Has Cannon He Took From British.
Residents of Fairhaven are interested in the finding in Paris of the body of Paul Jones, the father of the American navy.
Paul Jones participated in a fight in Buzzards bay in 1777. He was executive officer on the ship Alfred, 28 guns, under the command of Ezekiel Hopkins. The Alfred sailed from Delaware bay Feb. 1 of that year, to cruse with a fleet to intercept English vessels. The Alfred entered the harbor of Nassau, West Indies, March 2, and took Gen. Brown, the acting governor, prisoner. A large quantity of military stores and 100 cannon were captured, which were landed at New London 34 days from the date of sailing from Delaware bay.

Cannon of "Four Corners."
A number of these cannon were sent to Fairhaven a short time later and mounted at Fort Phoenix. There they did excellent service in protecting the town from British fleets. The British, when they visited the town, in 1778, spiked the guns and rendered them useless.

The late Captain Nathaniel Pope secured one of these guns and fastened it with straps of iron on a carriage. It was placed in service at the corner of Union and Water streets, to protect the shore. There the gun remained until 1833, when Union wharf was built, when it was removed to the "Four Corners" and placed, muzzle in the ground.
About 1846, when the church at this corner was remodeled into Phoenix hall, to be used as a business block, it was removed and left lying in the lot at the foot of Washington street, near the corner of Water. Later it was transferred to the residence of Wilson Pope, a descendant of Capt. Nathaniel Pope.
Capt. Alexander Winsor, a man of considerable public spirit, was instrumental in having it removed, in 1883, to its former location at Phoenix Hall corner, where it stands to-day as a revolutionary reminder. In 1885 the Fairhaven Improvement association placed upon the cannon a brass tablet bearing the following inscription:
"Taken from the British at Nassau, in 1777, by colonial ship of war Alfred. Placed at Fort Phoenix in 1778. Recaptured by the British and left on the fort spiked and with trunnions knocked off. Afterward mounted on Union street for village defense. Placed in its present position in 1883."
It was on the ship Alfred that Jones unfurled the American flag for the first time it was thrown to the breeze.
Soon after this Jones took command of the Providence, mounting 12 four-pounders, with a complement of 70 men. He then became a frequent visitor to Dartmouth harbor, now Fairhaven harbor, and Dartmouth men were often secured for his crew. Among the men thus recruited was Henry Perkins, who secured some fame through his connection with the Boston tea party. He was engaged, under Paul Jones, in many of his fiercest fights.

This first glass tumbler used in England was made in A. D. 600 for Abbot Benedict.

Government to Hatch Lobsters.
The Canadian government has decided to make an attempt to establish the lobster fishery on the Pacific coast. This industry in Canada is confined to eastern waters. All previous experiments on the Pacific have proved failures. A carload of live lobsters will be shipped from Halifax to Vancouver, B. C. They will be placed in the waters of the Pacific and experts will observe what becomes of them.
Cow Drowned in Puddle of Water.
A cow belonging to Jacob Curtis of Greenwood met death in a very unusual way last week.
In jumping over a fence she stumbled and fell on her head, running her horns under a root of a tree, and was held in such a manner that one nostril was covered by a little puddle of water that caused her to drown.—Kennebec Journal.

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, Chelsea, Mich.

BY G. O. STIMSON.

Terms:—$1.00 per year; 6 months, 50 cents; 3 months, 25 cents. Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application.

Entered at the postoffice at Chelsea, Mich., as second-class matter.

Norway has more reindeer than horses, more sheep than cows.

American insects annually eat up $700,000,000 worth of property.

The Sioux Indians are adopting another one of the deadly habits of their white brethren. They are buying automobiles.

State Salt Inspector Widley reports that the salt inspected in Michigan during the six months ending May 31 was 2,011,209 barrels.

Statistics published in Spain state that during 1904 nearly 12,000 bulls were killed in bull fights. The bulls killed about 10,000 horses.

An examination will be held at Grand Rapids on Friday, July 27, for the purpose of licensing embalmers and prospective undertakers.

The State Agricultural society has let the contract for the erection of the grand stand on the grounds of the society in Detroit. It is to be of steel and is to cost $49,000.

It is stated by an exchange that more than three hundred mail order houses have started in business since last October, and in them small merchants will find their strongest competition.

Hartford, Conn., life and accident insurance companies lost $75,000 through the Twentieth Century Limited accident at Mentor, Ohio. Some of the policies called for double liability in case of accident while traveling.

A recent sale of the Holstein-Friesian herd of cattle at the Pontiac asylum brought the state $2,500. One bull brought $1,000; one cow brought $300. The whole five went to E. H. Dollar, of Hueveltor, N. Y.

The postal authorities at Washington have made a ruling that after July 1 all papers running guessing features, such as many of the daily papers have been engaged in, giving prizes for guesses on votes, will be excluded from the United States mails.

The scourge of caterpillars has become a serious matter in Texas. The worms are ruining hundreds of fruit trees in south Texas and have invaded the cotton and corn throughout the state, doing great damage in every field infested. There is no known remedy and farmers are at the mercy of the pests.

It is estimated that a canal to connect Lake Michigan with the Mississippi would cost $25,000,000. If this great waterway is constructed it will not stop long until the Missouri is reached. Some day the value of canals will be greatly appreciated in this country. They afford a cheap method of transporting freight and compel railroads to reduce their freight rates.

During the fiscal year which closed June 30, the commissioner of insurance turned into the state treasury fees and taxes collected from insurance companies amounting to $424,814.50. This is an increase of $29,730.50 over last year's collections. The total expenses of the department, including all salaries, were slightly in excess of $14,000.

The balance in the state treasury at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, is $4,007,290.58.

The Chinese government has taken steps to stop the anti-American agitation and boycott against American goods. Minister Rockhill, at Peking, Saturday cabled the state department that, after repeated and urgent representations from the American legation, orders have been issued from the Chinese foreign office to all viceroys and governors in the empire to cease anti-American agitation and attempted boycott against American goods.

The new battleship to be named the Michigan is to be the mightiest fighting machine afloat. It will surpass any other ship in the American navy and no other nation will be able to equal it. The plans will provide for a complete battery of 12-inch and 10-inch guns. No battleship heretofore has been armed with more than four guns of the big calibre. The Michigan will carry at least eight of the 10-inch guns. While not equalling in tonnage the new British battleships of the King Edward and Africa class, the battery power of the Michigan will be enough greater to make her stronger than the recent addition to the British navy.

Beautify your complexion with little cost. If you wish a smooth, clear, cream-like complexion, rosy cheeks, laughing eyes, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, greatest beautifier known. 35 cents. Bank Drug Store.

Stop! Don't take imitation celery tea when you ask for Celery King, a medicine of great value. The "teas" are urged upon you because they are bought cheap. Never jeopardize your health in a bad cause. Celery King only costs 25 cents and it never disappoints.

JOHN HAY.

The death of Secretary John Hay at his summer home, "The Fells," on the shore of Lake Sunapee, New Hampshire, at 12:25 S.aturday morning, came with staggering suddenness. At midnight he was resting quietly. A moment later he was in a state of collapse. In less than half an hour he was lifeless. The end came so quickly that he had passed away unattended by all the members of his family save his wife.

John Hay was born in Salem, Ind., October 8, 1838. After graduating from the common schools at Warsaw, Ill., he went to Springfield for his academic education. From there he went to Brown university, from which institution he graduated with high honors in 1858. During his career he received many honorary degrees from leading eastern colleges.

After his admission to the Illinois bar, in 1874, his rise in the political world was rapid. He was one of President Lincoln's private secretaries, and was afterward assistant adjutant general of United States volunteers. His next public services took him to Paris, Madrid and Vienna. At the last named place he was later made charged d'affaires. In 1879 he was made assistant secretary of state. At the international sanitary conference, in 1881 he was elected president. He was then appointed ambassador to England, in 1897. He is best known politically as having served as secretary of state under President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

Aside from his political career, Hay was an author of no mean ability. His "Castilian Days" and "Pike County Ballads" are well known. He also wrote a history of Abraham Lincoln, which is very valuable because of the author's close personal contact with President Lincoln.

A special train bearing the body of Secretary of State John Hay left Newbury Sunday afternoon for Cleveland, O., where the interment took place at noon Wednesday in Lake View cemetery. Around the open grave at the last moment stood with bowed heads the president and vice president of the United States, members and ex-members of the present cabinet and men who had, in former years, served with the dead secretary in the official family of President McKinley. Only a few others were present, the ceremony being private.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The Cardinals deserve better financial support from the citizens of this place than they have had so far this season, and if the team will keep up the record that they have made so far this year those who are lovers of the game will without a doubt respond more heartily in the future than in the past.

Last Saturday afternoon at McLaren-Begole park the Chelsea Cardinals defeated the Detroit Cardinals by a score of 6 to 1. BeGole, who was running to home plate in the seventh innings was hit on the back of the head by a ball thrown by the Detroit short stop and was retired from the game, and Steinbach took his place. The features of the game was the work of Ackley in the pitchers box, and Steinbach and BeGole as catchers. The scores:

Cardinals.....000402004-6 143
Jackson.....100000000-1 18
Batteries—Detroit, Heiger and Brace; Chelsea, Ackley, BeGole and Steinbach.

The Chelsea Cardinals and the Detroit Aces played two games of ball at McLaren-Begole park on the Fourth. Both the local and visiting team played good ball, and both games were hotly contested for every point. Ackley and BeGole for the local team was the battery, and for the nineteen innings that was required to play both games did their work well, and was admirably supported by the fielding of the entire home team, who brought out many interesting features of the game. The visitors in the forenoon were defeated by a score of 6 to 1. The score:

Aces.....000001000-1 56
Batteries—Ackley and L. BeGole; Schmelzer and Schmelzer.

The afternoon game was a close one and at the end of the ninth inning the teams were 7 and 7, requiring a tenth inning to decide who were the victors. The tie was broken by BeGole, who made a safe hit that allowed a base runner to make a score, defeating the visitors by 8 to 7 runs. The score:

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at Bank Drug Store; price 50c.

Mrs. Samuel Vicary has gone to Blisset to care for her daughter, who is very ill.

Wm. Thomas and wife of Jackson were guests at the home of John Hubbard Sunday.

The Fourth passed off very quietly here, as most of the young men took their girls to Jackson or Stockbridge.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Broadhead of Grand Ledge visited with their many friends here the first of the week. Rev. Broadhead was a former pastor here.

The "Celery King complexion" is what one Chelsea lady calls the beautiful skin that comes from the use of the tonic-laxative, Celery King. 25c. at all drugstores.

EAST LYNDON.

Howard Collings spent Sunday at home.

Miss Anna Fitzsimmons is at home for a few days.

Mrs. Fred Styler of Fowlerville was the guest of her mother Sunday.

Harrison Hadley and wife entertained company one day last week.

Nearly everybody young and old in this vicinity celebrated the Fourth in Stockbridge.

Some of our young folks called on James Harker and wife Sunday evening. Ice cream and cake were served and a good time reported.

We are glad to hear that fishing, hunting or carrying a jar is prohibited at North Lake on Sunday and hope others will profit by the good example.

NORTH LAKE.

Our minister is starting in the honey business.

F. Hinkley and H. Watts have joined issues in haying.

R. C. Glenn makes frequent trips from Chelsea to the ranch.

The meat wagon from Gregory makes weekly calls here this summer.

Campers begin to arrive at the Grove house. The frogs are all ready.

Several good rains the past week. Corn and beans are doing nicely.

There is only one place like home when women are cleaning house.

If it foals around much nearer the fall, the weather will kick up a fast sure.

One day lately I found four swarms of bees with about 75 pounds of honey each.

Mrs. Vaughn, of White Oak, is a visitor at the home of her brother, H. Hudson.

Herman Hudson says there is considerable sickness among the horses in his vicinity.

Haying is in progress about here now with prospect of fine weather to get in an average crop.

The bean weevil is working in some early planted fields. As yet there is no way of handling them.

Miss Blanche Glenn visited her grandparents last Saturday, accompanied by Mr. Howlett of Gregory.

H. Burkhardt, of Fowlerville, is the guest of F. A. Burkhardt and wife, and calling on other relatives.

Mrs. John Webb spent a few days in Jackson the past week, and attended services at the prison Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Webb met her mother and Miss Bemish, of Jackson, on their arrival home from a visit in that city.

W. Pierce gave a nice talk to the Sunday school here last Sunday. It seems good to see and hear him again.

My nephew H. Watts offered me a ride behind his fine carriage horse. Will accept when I feel a little swifter.

The strawberry season is closed, but green peas, new potatoes and cherries are all in the market, besides new honey.

The lawn social at the pleasant home of Ernest Cooke and wife was well attended. The lawn was lit up with Japanese lanterns.

Went to Chelsea Tuesday, did some business, saw and chatted with the old boys, got all tired out, and was laid up next day.

The grange here had a big increase—many thousands in number—about the middle of June. A swarm of bees took possession of the hall.

L. K. Hadley lost one of his best horses Monday. C. D. Johnson also has a young horse not able to stand on its feet for several days past.

When a young man does up the chores early, shaves smoother than common, then drives away always in the same direction, I think I hear bees humming.

Geo Webb is very busy these days getting his new barn ready for the new crop of hay. Will have more to say about its construction after a visit there soon.

Herman Hudson had the misfortune to break one of the wheels on his milk wagon recently and had to borrow a rig to complete his trip. He brings me buttermilk every day now.

We had the pleasure of entertaining a young lady, a farmer's daughter, of Unadilla, recently. When asked how many young pigs her father had on the farm, said: "About three bushels as they lay piled up in the sun by their mother."

Tuesday, July 4, sixty-seven years ago the writer of this was born. Deer and Indians were plentiful in this vicinity at that time, also wild game of all kinds.

Note the change the introduction of cheap guns has made. After being laid up five months have taken a new lease on life as my birthday presents come in.

Among the presents is a cane from my nephew in Arizona, so will have to pull through another year to get the use of it.

Notice of Annual Meeting.
The Annual Meeting of School District No. 3 fractional with Sylvan and Lima for the election of two Trustees and for the transaction of such other business as may lawfully come before it, will be held at the Town Hall on Monday, the 10th day of July, 1905, at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

The north Sharon Sunday school enjoyed a display of fire works at the home of J. E. Irwin Tuesday evening.

About 45 neighbors and friends gave Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holden a very happy surprise Monday evening, it being the 33rd anniversary of their marriage.

The evening was pleasantly spent and a luscious supper was served. They received as a present a beautiful Morris chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden are held in high esteem in this community and everyone wishes that they may have many more happy years of married life.

JACK STARR IS DEAD.

"TOM M'KINNEY" FOUND TO BE NOTORIOUS RAIDER.

Death of Old Citizen of Van Buren, Mo., Reveals a Member of Quantrell's Band of Terror—Was Also a Famous Outlaw.

Van Buren, Mo.—There died here recently an old man known as Tom McKinney. He had lived in the county for 18 years, and in the memory of the people of that vicinity had passed through the various grades of prosperity, from comparative affluence to poverty.

While he was a giant in stature, he was mild-mannered and quiet in demeanor, avoiding everything which would tend to make him prominent, and keeping as far from publicity as possible. He lived alone, cooking his own meals, mending his own clothing, and only went to the town when his few wants made the journey imperative.

When he died his neighbors said: "Old Tom McKinney is dead," and went on in the earnest business of life to forget him.

Yet the man who died bearing the name of Tom McKinney had been a member of the most daring band which ever rose against the government. He rode with Quantrell in the days when that name was feared all over the north. The deeds of Quantrell's men are already shrouded in the mists of time, but men like Robin Hood and Francis Marion. The name of the quiet man who died here was Jack Starr, a brother of the notorious Belle Starr, according to a statement he made to two citizens of Van Buren shortly before he died.

He came of Virginia stock, and was one of the first to take his stand under the blue banner which Quantrell flung to the winds.

Through the long conflict Jack Starr stayed by the side of his chieftain, through good and evil, and, as the confederacy had no braver band than Quantrell's, Quantrell had no more daring soldier than Starr.

Battle scarred and weary of war, when the cause he had fought for was lost, he returned to his home and found that a new order of things had come. He told the men who were called to his deathbed that he was forced to leave his home on penalty of death, and that then he joined a band of irregulars under the command of Jesse James.

Inured to bloodshed and plunder by the war, he willingly linked his fortunes with the Jameses, and took part in all their raids up to that of Gad's hill.

The booty secured from the robbery of the Iron Mountain train there was very large, and in the division of it, Starr and Jesse James quarreled. Starr said he would have no more to do with the band, and mounted his horse and rode westward. Where he went is not known, but years afterwards he moved into Carter county.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.

Any quarrel is unpleasant, but a domestic difficulty is the worst.

TO SAVE JOSEPHINE'S HOME

Ex-Empress Eugenie Gives Harp of Napoleon's Consort Toward Rehabilitation of Malmaison.

Paris.—Malmaison, the famous chateau with which the name of Josephine is so romantically associated, has been completely restored to the condition which obtained during the days of the empire, and will be opened to visitors on the first of May.

Every effort has been made by M. Osiris, who has superintended the work of restoration, to make the chateau as like as possible to what it was in the days of the first empress. M. Osiris has spent large sums over what has been to him a labor of love, and the result is most successful. Now the work of providing the historical mansion with some of the furniture with which it was formerly stocked, and with other articles in harmony with that period, has been begun.

Empress Eugenie, who has displayed great interest in this restoration, has promised her assistance, and pending the conclusion of a selection has offered Josephine's harp, which will soon be on its way hither from England. The National Garde-Meuble is also in possession of various articles which belonged to the empress, or which embellished the residences of her husband, the first Napoleon. Some of these are to be pressed into the service as well, so that when everything is in readiness in May the spectacle thus presented will be extremely effective and instructive.

SEQUEL TO WAR ROMANCE.

Young Girl Comes All the Way from New Zealand to Be Wedded.

Middleboro, Mass.—Coming all the way from New Zealand to this town at the summons of her lover, Miss Daisy Badland arrived here a few days ago, and they were quietly married. The interesting romance grew out of the South African war. The groom was Francis Wentworth, a young Englishman. He left home when young to seek his fortune in South Africa. When the Boer war came on he enlisted, and it was during his service that he met Miss Badland. The young soldier came out of the war with little but glory behind him and his fortune still to be made, while his desires were increased, largely owing to the hope of a marriage in the future.

Not finding an opportunity to his liking, young Wentworth forsook South Africa for America, and in Easton went to work for James Rankin, the duck farmer. Then he came to Middleboro and bought an "abandoned" farm in East Middleboro and started raising ducks and chickens, with excellent prospects of success. Recently he sent to her home in New Zealand for his promised wife.

Staid Animal While Intoxicated Cuts Up Funny Antics Before Breathing His Last.

Jamaica, N. Y.—Jim, a speedy horse, who suffered four days from exposure and famine in a swamp, died in Springfield, near here, after having the time of his life.

When Jim was discovered he was filled up with whisky to ward off an inevitable chill. It resulted in his acquiring a glorious jag. Forgetting his troubles, he began first to stand on his hind legs, then on his forelegs. Then he experimented, standing on his head, but landed on his neck. Then he started other

THE LATEST THING IN SILK AND KID.

CHARMING HAT
IN MOTTLED GRAY.

AUTO GARB IN SILK.

RIBBON DECORATION FOR THE HAIR.

A PARISIAN MOTOR COAT.

AN EMINENTLY SMART AND PRACTICAL STYLE.

THE long tour in an automobile is the fad of the hour; and many of the June crop of brides are planning to spend their honeymoon in the delightful fashion.

Where the tour is undertaken leisurely, in the old stage coach days, both skill and pleasure can be—and indeed are—submerged upon something that does not first lead to her whimsies and her foolish rulings.

Charming indeed are the new items in the latest fashion; and everything that the designer can invent for the betterment of the fair autoist's appearance is at once placed upon view.

Indeed, so popular has the sport become among all classes that shops cater especially to the needs and the fads of its devotees are springing up all over the city and the side streets abounding upon that smart and fashionable thoroughfare shelter shops where one can inspect all of the very latest conveniences intended to contribute to the comfort of both the outer and the inner tour in what the country people call upon terms "devil wagons."

The days when Madame-and-Madeleine, too, for that matter—desired it to be a simple and unassuming affair, a simple, unassuming, merely because she was taking a spin in an auto, have long passed—and for this let us be devoutly thankful.

Today, the up-to-date autoist may stop at the very best of the city and all around, looking at such, as such more, too, appear in the silky mohairs and the more substantial silkenettes that have passed through some waterproofing process that renders them doubly useful. The home designers have really surpassed themselves in creating novelities for road use; and the enthusiasts, too, as so many of the smart set term themselves when they take the wheel and the chauffeur's seat, even if not feel at all obliged to go or send to Paris for the finery to wear in it.

Pipings and flat hand trimmings are the only permissible forms in which trimmings and trimming effects are applied. It must be borne in mind that these auto togs are not intended to be of a dressy character; and while they are comfortably full in line and outline, they must be of such cut and character that no lurking places for the dust and grime of the road are provided. Strictly utilitarian, that is the standpoint from which the approved surtouts—both literally and really—overalls—are constructed.

The styles and the shapes of these fascinating garments are so many and so cleverly varied that to choose from among them were a difficult task. They are garments that follow the accepted line in raincoats, as they are somewhat misleadingly called, for their use as a showery day wraps represent but a modicum of their many employments. As a general utility wrap, for railroad or steamboat traveling, for auto use, for outing by land or sea, there is absolutely nothing to take their place; and provided that the raincoat be up to date in cut and style, there is no reason why it should not take the place of a general utility overall, as it so often does in even the best selected wardrobes.

There is a new shape in the auto garments that is equally flattering to every figure; and that is what is known as the bathing coat. In this the back follows a semi-fitted line across the shoulders, and the waist is very cleverly hinted at, but not defined. The fronts are charmingly loose; but the especial feature is the sleeves, or rather what passes current for sleeves. These start from the hem of the garment at the side seams, and widen out gradually as they approach the shoulder, where they assume the form of a very full cape through which the arm is thrust, just the wrist peeping forth from beneath the plaited folds. In both plain and sun-plaited effects this design is one of the most fetching shown these many seasons past; and but to see it is surely to covet.

In the silk weaves this design is extremely effective. In henrietta it is at its best in the plaited design. One in a deep rich red is so fast-lined, every part possible being bordered with a broad velvet ribbon tinted to the exact shade of the henrietta. Anything more modish and more becoming cannot well be imagined. And the best part of it is that the design is equally effective in a half-three-quarter, or full length garment.

The headgear for the auto girl is simply fascinating this summer; and those who cry that they cannot obtain becoming adjuncts in this direction simply confess their own short-sightedness. There are charming hoods made of the chiffon mohair that sheds every particle of dust like a miracle, and of the lightweight silks that launder like a pocket handkerchief.

Tam O'Shanter shapes are being much worn by the smart autoist; but so cleverly are they constructed that they are far removed from the simple tam of our childhood days. In straw braids of innumerable weaves, in silk, in linen and even in gingham, the new Tam takes on a glorified form; and with their smart wings and perky ribbon bows at the side they can be made to match any style of coat that may be worn with them.

DESCRIPTIONS.

An Eminently Smart and Practical Style.

Here a pretty shade of deep raspberry silkenette is daintily piped in that tint of white as vieux ivoire, or old ivory, a suede-finished cloth being chosen for the purpose. The coat is long and loose throughout, no pretense of fitting being made. Over the shoulders a series of three little capes is posed, each one piped with white, and fastening down to the coat with a smart white-covered button, this to prevent its flying in the wind. Convenient pockets are indicated with white flaps, inlaid with the red silkenette, and the fastening is effected invisibly under a front fly.

Ribbon Decorations for the Hair.

There are any number of charming sprays and decorations for the coiffure that may be fashioned at but slight expense. Those of the illustration show satin and velvet ribbons combined, the flowers being anemones with regulation artificial centers, and the place of foliage taken by many and irregular loops. These are in the dull pink, lavender and violet tones that characterize the natural flowers, and the accompanying loops and ends are in a lighter pink.

A Parisian Motor Coat.

Here one of the smartest designs shown this season is exhibited, having been imported direct. There is a shallow—and fancifully shaped yoke over the shoulders, to which coat and sleeve are cleverly applied without any apparent seam or joining. The garment hangs very full and loose, the fastening double-breasted down the front, and the sleeve narrowing into a cuff at the wrist. There is a high collar at the throat, fastening over with a smart-looking stitched tab.

Auto Garb in Silk.

This charming coat and headgear en suite in silk is imported. The coat is a full, loose sacque-shaped garment, with the new dolman sleeves in a pretty shade of biscuit color piped with a rich cardinal. The hat is a turban shape, all shirred over cords and with a hood back that protects the back hair applied in a fashion that makes one think of the "curtain" bonnet backs that were in such vogue some years ago. The sleeves are an especial novelty, running up over and concealing the shoulder seam and plaited on the back seam to dispose of the fulness, this dropping into a plain, upturned cuff piped like the rest of the garment in red. Self-covered buttons make the fastening, the button-holes worked in pointed tabs.

The Latest Thing in Silk and Kid.

It is only the more flexible of leathers that are chosen today for trimming auto garments, and this model shows a pretty shade of brown silkenette, piped with pale-blue suede, that affords a charming color contrast. Both front and back are fashioned with a straight unbroken breadth in the center, a yoke occupying the rest of the space across the shoulders. To this the requisite fulness is shirred, the entire coat hanging in straight, loose folds from yoke to hem. The sleeve has a very full top, narrowing after the gigot design to a plain band cuff, piped likewise with the pale blue. A high collar with turn-down points is of brown, inlaid with the blue suede.

Charming Hat in Mottled Gray.

This charming auto hat is in mottled gray and robin's egg-blue mohair that is sure to prove becoming to a youthful face, irrespective of complexion or coloring. The hat is a round tam shape, with the mohair deftly manipulated into soft folds and puffs, and the hoodpiece that protects the back hair applied in a fashion that makes one think of the "curtain" bonnet backs that were in such vogue some years ago. Karl E. Vogel, who has accepted a lucrative position with the American Bridge Co. at Ambridge, Pa., was in the wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad the latter part of last week, but he escaped without any serious injury.

Saxe C. and H. I. Stimson, Dr. A. L. Steger and Harvey Spiegelberg will leave Friday for Grayling. The party will take a boat at that place and spend ten days on the Au Sable river, terminating their journey at Oscoda.

Mrs. Geo. Barthel, of Garfield street, suffered a stroke of apoplexy last Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Woods, of Lansing, and Mrs. Anna Rademacher, of Detroit, arrived the same day to assist in taking care of the sufferer.

When a boy helps his mother with the dishes, how do the other boys find it out?

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who was compelled to rock the cradle with one hand and churn with the other?

Miss Libbie Rawson of Bridgewater, who has been teaching at Prescott, Arizona, for the past year has returned to her home for the summer.

Dr. Leonard, the friend of the University who has sent so many valuable gifts in the curio line, has again been heard from. His latest gift is the skin of a Rocky Mountain goat for the museum.

Prof. H. S. Sadler, head of the naval engineering department of the U. of M., has gone to Europe to make extensive studies of the equipment and workings of naval tanks.

Christine Felsenberger, of Lodi township, has appeared from the decision of the commission on claims in the estate of her father Henry Schoen, disallowing her claim of $288 for labor, which she alleges her father promised to pay her.

C. L. Hill left for Washington, D. C., Tuesday morning. He has received an appointment with the U. S. Forestry Commission, and upon his arrival in the Capitol will be assigned to some post under the supervision of the commission.

E. A. Williams and family, who for the past two years have been residents of Sacramento, California, arrived at their old home in Chelsea last Tuesday. Mr. Williams' many friends will be pleased to learn of his return, and hope that he will decide to reside here permanently.

Grand Rapids and Hastings are the only two cities in Michigan having felt boot factories, and in connection with the Grand Rapids felt boot plant a complete rubber boot and shoe factory has been in operation for the past five years. This is the only factory of the kind in the state.

The June meeting of Lafayette Grange (Children's Day) was held at the Lima M. E. church Wednesday of last week. A fine program of about seventeen numbers by the children, was carried out, consisting of musical and literary productions. At the close of which a strawberry and ice cream supper was served. There will not be any meeting in July of the Grange.

Frank E. Jones, solicitor for John G. Feldkamp, of Freedom, has filed an amended bill in the foreclosure suit against Charles and Elizabeth Altenbrecht. He charges that Charles was committing waste by cutting down timber and taking out the windows of the house on the premises. Judge Kinne issued an injunction restraining Charles from injuring the property.

Linnal Ward, of Lima, met with a very painful accident last week Thursday morning. Mr. Ward was leading a horse to the pasture lot and the animal became frightened and threw him to the ground, breaking his shoulder blade and otherwise injuring him. Dr. Nancrede, of Ann Arbor, was called and reduced the fracture. While the injuries are painful no serious results are anticipated.

The alarm of fire Monday night was for the Chelsea "lockup." The interior of the building was all in flames when the fire fighters arrived on the scene and the building is in such shape that the common council can build a new one about as cheap as they can repair the old shack. The origin of the fire is unknown, but by some of the inhabitants of this place it is thought to have been the work of incendiaries.

A quiet wedding occurred at the home of the bride in Ypsilanti at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 5, 1905, when Miss Myrtle Shaw was united in marriage with Mr. Ralph Freeman, of Chelsea. The groom is a well-known young business man of this place and the bride has for the past two years been one of the teachers in the public schools of Chelsea. The young couple will occupy the Atkinson residence on Garfield street.

The auto-line between Manchester and Chelsea has been abandoned by the management. The machine was taken to Detroit the first of the week and from there the Waterloo will be shipped to Traverse City where it will be used with a number of others in carrying passengers to the numerous summer resorts that are in the vicinity of Traverse City. As a money maker on the Manchester-Chelsea route the venture did prove to be a winner for the promoters.

Eleven members of the graduating class of '05 of the Chelsea high school attended their class reunion last Saturday evening at the home of J. Bacon. Light refreshments were served and the evening was spent in reciting incidents of their adventures while in school and since they left. On peculiar incident of the meeting was the fact that every lady member of the class who was present had taught school. Miss Flora Kempf was elected the permanent secretary of the class.

"The shirtwaist man and the netwaist girl go hand-in-hand today, and the people year after year go on throwing their clothes away. The coat and vest are laid to rest and where is the fleecy shawl? And clothes get fewer and thinner--what will be the end of it all? Oh! what will the shirtwaist man take next from the things that he has to wear? And what will the netwaist girl throw off her shoulders now half bare? The shirtwaist man and the netwaist girl go rollicking down the way. Have we started a trend that's going to end in the old flag-leaf some day?"--Ex.

If you have taken everything else for constipation and have not taken the tonic laxative, Celery King, you have made a serious mistake. Celery King is the great blood vitalizer and builders up of men and women. Price 25 cents.

Hear this from an exchange. "When a doctor sets a broken bone or dresses a sore toe for somebody don't fail to give him a little free advertising by mentioning his name and great skill in the water, for the doctors' trust has a resolve on its books that it is non-professional to advertise. We will mention his name only when his patient dies."

Lives are a terrible torment to the little folks, and to some older ones. Easily cured. Dr. Dan's Ointment never fails. Instant relief, permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Not long ago the youngster and his mother were going home from church and the mother was finding fault with the sermon. The boy noticed the amount of his mother's contribution and said: "Well, ma, you can't expect much for a cent."--Ex.

A little life may be sacrificed to an hours delay. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.
