CEMENT WORKS EMBROGLIO

Is Productive of Much Work for the Law Courts.

Suits and counter suits in the White-Millen trouble over the cement works property and its affairs have been the order of the past week and the air has been full of rumors, many of them very absurd and ridiculous. Yet there is little doubt but that the lawyers in the cases will be kept pretty busy before the matter is all ended.

On Thursday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Ferguson, of Ann Arbor, placed Homer C. Millen under arrest on W. J. White's charge of attempted murder. Mrs. Millen, who is under the doctor's care, has not yet gone to Ann Arbor, although the warrant for her arrest is in the hands of the sheriff's officers.

Dr. G. W. Palmer and George W. Coe went on Mr. Millen's bail bond and he was released to appear for examination Tuesday, Aug. 8.

At that time Wm. J. White was put on the stand and gave his story of the affair. He was subjected to a rigid cross examination by M. J. Lehman, one of Mr. Millen's attorneys, but held up his end of the controversy and gave the attorney as good answers as he sent questions. Prosecuting Attorney A. J. Sawyer, Jr., and Attorney Lehman got very bitter in their remarks to each other and indulged in numerous warm personalities, which Justice Doty finally interfered with.

As the defense was not ready to proceed, only two of their witnesses being present, the examination was adjourned until tomorrow.

Mr. Millen wanted Justice Doty to hold the examination of himself and Mrs. Millen at Four Mile Lake, but the justice decided that his court was held in Ann Arbor and there the examination would be held.

On Thursday Mrs. May Millen began suit for $50,000 damages against Wm. J. White, alleging that he is guilty of all manner of threats and abuse from the results of which she was taken seriously ill with a nervous collapse. This is a retaliatory action growing out of the altercation which took place between the Millens and Mr. White on Monday, July 31, when, as alleged by White, the Millens drew revolvers on him, and for which he had them arrested.

On Monday morning, through his attorneys Stivers & Kalmbach, Wm. J. White filed an answer to Mrs. Millen's bill, which covers ten closely type written pages and the cross bill including some 43 counts covering 40 pages in all, in which the allegations made in Mrs. Millen's bill of complaint are answered at length and other serious charges of incompetency, fraud, wanton expenditure of the firm's money and other charges are made against Millen in his management of the White Portland Cement Co.'s affairs.

White charges Millen with intention to defraud from the very beginning. He denies that Millen ever had authority to build his costly house with the funds of the company but that he did so upon his own responsibility at a cost of some $6,000 or $8,000 and then furnished it luxuriantly and heated it, lighted it and supplied it with water from the plant, employing special help for that purpose at the expense of the firm and at an enormous cost, "burning up money at the rate of $25 or $30 a day," the bill says.

Again in the fraud charges, it is alleged that the plant was built on Mrs. Millen's 80-acre tract, for the express purpose of eventually cheating the Whites out of the whole property by an alleged evasion of the proper deed of the property to the firm when the corporation was reorganized.

White backs up his charges of incompetency against Millen by pointing out that cement was never and can never be manufactured in the Lima plant at a profit, all that has been marketed up to date having cost over $1.13 per barrel, and that Millen contracted to sell 83 car loads of this for $1.00 per barrel, less 10 per cent commission.

The defendants ask the court to compel Millen to give an accounting of the money handled by him since he reorganized the company and an injunction has been granted by Judge Kinne restraining Millen from interfering with the property of the concern.

The same day he entered suit against the White Portland Cement Co., of which he is president, for $60,000. He claims that he put up $75,000 for the stock, $100,000 for the bonds and $50,000 he advanced to pay claims. The action is taken so as to have a lien on the Millen's stock in case his cross bill to the chancery suit of Mrs. May Millen is decided in his favor.

White also filed a motion to dissolve the injunction obtained by the Millens restraining White from cutting off their supply of light and heat from the central station. White claims it costs $28 a day while the factory is shut down to supply the Millens with these conveniences. The motion will be argued in the circuit court Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A HOMEKEEPER GONE.

Mrs. Hiram Pierce Passed Away from Earth Last Friday.

Sylvan township lost another of its pioneer settlers last Friday, Aug. 4, when Mrs. Catherine Pierce, widow of the late Hiram Pierce, laid down life's burden and passed to the great beyond. She had been ailing for the past three years or more, in fact since the death of her husband Feb. 21, 1902, and all that loving hands and medical skill could do was bestowed upon her, but in vain, and she passed quietly away on Friday at 12:30 p. m.

Mrs. Pierce's maiden name was Catherine Cassidy. She was born in Madison, Morris county, N. J., March 12, 1828, and was 77 years, 4 months and 23 days old at the time of her death. She came with her parents to Michigan when she was 10 years old and lived with them on a farm near Sylvan Center until Dec. 4, 1848, when she was united in marriage with Hiram Pierce, who died Feb. 21, 1902. To them were born 11 children, nine of whom are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother and a kind and faithful friend.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home where the deceased lady had lived for 57 years, and were conducted by Rev. F. A. Stiles, of Hudson, who preached from the words found in the 23d Psalm, "Though I pass through the valley." He paid a beautiful tribute to the departed one, whom he spoke of as "the homekeeper," saying she had passed through the shadow and entered into the everlasting light.

The remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in the Pierce burying ground.

Eaton Rapids Won Both Games.

The Chelsea Cardinals went to Eaton Rapids Saturday where they played one of the best games ever put up against the strong paid team of that place. The final score stood 1 to 0 in Eaton Rapids' favor. Their only score was secured in the first inning, and, although in subsequent innings they got three men to third base they were not allowed to score.

Monday afternoon the same two teams played here, but it was not so good a game. Ackley's throwing arm gave out in the third innings and at the end of the game it was 13 to 3 in favor of Eaton Rapids.

The Bay City street railway strike was settled last Thursday, the men voting to return to work and declare the strike off. The strike lasted just two months and cost the employees from $10,000 to $12,000 in wages and the company a loss of $75,000.

STATE NEWS

MURDERERS OF MOYER NOW IN DETROIT PRISON CELLS.

CAPTURED IN CLEVELAND WITH THE MOYER JEWELRY IN THEIR POSSESSION.

FULLY IDENTIFIED AND NEW FACTS BROUGHT OUT IN THE SWEAT BOX.

The bloody and cruel murder of Pawnbroker Moyer, in Detroit, between 6 and 7 o'clock on Friday, the 28th of July, and the escape of the murderers with the valuable jewelry and diamonds, for which they had committed the crime, seemed to baffle all attempts of the police to take them. On Friday came the startling news that two men had been arrested in Cleveland who answered the description of the supposed murderers, and who had in their possession a large amount of diamonds, watches, etc., which bore the tags of the murdered pawnbroker. The Cleveland police are reticent about the source of their information that the two men were in that city, but that they had a "straight tip" seems very evident. It is said the "tip" came from a pawnbroker with whom one of the men tried to pawn some jewelry. They gave their names as Harry Parker and Harry Johnson. They had just $22.16 in their possession and both were attired in natty black suits, fresh from the store. About $3,500 was the value put on Moyer's goods. The valuation of the property found in the possession of the suspects will reach that amount, it is thought, when inventoried at the prices fixed on the stolen property.

The two men were brought from Cleveland, arriving Sunday morning, and damning evidence is piling up against them. The bloodstained suits of gray clothes found in the prisoners' grips are most important, after the finding of the stolen jewelry in their possession. Both men have been identified by many persons as having been in Detroit, in front of the Moyer store, and even in the pawnshop shortly before the murder. G. L. Jaynes identified them as men he saw running from the scene of the Moyer murder. Little Louis Winkler has identified Johnson as the larger of the two men he saw running away from the scene of the murder. Sol Saloon has identified them as having been in Laughlin's pawn shop just before the murder.

"We have been able to trace every move of Parker and Johnson in Detroit up to within a short time before the murder," said Chief of Detectives McDonnell Monday noon. Both men admit the identifications as correct. Parker admits having been in the pawn shop at 5 o'clock and Johnson that he was on the street near it at the time. Johnson was caught by Chief of Detectives McDonnell in his cell trying to burn the bloody spots away from his coat.

The positive identification of the two men by a half dozen or more citizens who saw them at the time of the murder and Parker's admission that he was in the store makes the chain of evidence so complete that the officers can go into court with the assurance that the evidence has been so completely woven as to preclude the possibility of escape for the two men, who are charged with one of the most brutal murders in the history of Detroit. Harry Berman saw Johnson in Moyer's store just before the murder, looking at some jewelry. Berman was sitting in a wagon and could see plainly Mr. Moyer, who was showing the goods, and Johnson, who was examining them. His identification was positive and he unhesitatingly pointed out Johnson, who was lined up with several other criminals. The men washed up after the foul deed at the Cliff hotel, on Clinton street, where incriminating evidence against them was found. It is now thought the crime was committed that jewels and money might be lavished on women.

Sanitary Conditions Good.

Secretary Shumway, of the state board of health, is firmly convinced that the sanitary conditions at Alma college were in no wise responsible for the outbreak of typhoid fever which resulted from a banquet served at the institution in June. TO END A WAR

THE ENVOYS OF PEACE MEET AND GREET EACH OTHER.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TOAST MAKES A PROFOUND IMPRESSION.

AT PORTSMOUTH, N. H., BEGINS THE WORK OF ENDING A WAR.

History was made in Oyster Bay Saturday. Russians and Japanese clasped hands and greeted one another with all outward evidence of cordiality and for the first time since nations began to have relations one with another, an executive of a great power received the envoys of two beligerent countries on a mission of peace. President Roosevelt, on behalf of the United States and its people, extended formal greetings to the representatives of Russia and Japan, introduced the plenipotentiaries to one another and entertained them at an elaborate luncheon, at which Russians and Japanese fraternized with one another as comrades rather than as enemies. The occasion was impressive. It was attended not by pomp and ceremony, but by a simplicity and frankness characteristic of the president and the people of America. Due honor was paid the distinguished guests of the president and of the country and they were received with all the dignity to which their exalted rank entitled them.

The envoys of the two countries were received by the president on board the Mayflower separately. The Japanese envoys who arrived on the cruiser Tacoma were the first to board the ship and be received by Mr. Roosevelt. Soon after the cruiser Chattanooga came to anchor about half a mile from the Mayflower and the Russian envoys who were on board were transferred to the reception ship. After receiving the members of the Russian suite and presenting all in turn to his personal guests, the president then brought the two sets of envoys together, introducing them formally to one another. It was a notable scene as the diminutive Baron Komura shook hands with the giant Witte at the instance of the president of the United States. The greetings of the members of the two special missions were distinctly formal, but not the slightest suggestion of enmity was shown on either side.

Although the luncheon was served with the other guests standing, the president escorted the four envoys to chairs in one corner of the saloon and in half a minute, through tact and delicacy, the whole party was engaged in animated conversation over their dishes. The conversation generally was in French, as Mr. Witte speaks very little English. Baron Rosen and Baron Komura chatted as if they had been lifelong friends and Minister Takahira, at no time particularly communicative, entered into the conversation with zest and interest. During the luncheon President Roosevelt proposed a notable toast:

"I propose a toast to which there will be no answer and to which I ask you to drink in silence, standing. I drink to the welfare and prosperity of the sovereigns and peoples of the two great nations whose representatives have met one another on this ship. It is my most earnest hope and prayer in the interest of not only these two great powers, but of all mankind, that a just and lasting peace may speedily be concluded between them."

There was no mistaking the earnestness and sincerity of the president's speech. Every one in the little group, even those who did not understand the language he spoke, was deeply impressed, not alone with the momentousness of the occasion, but each word seemed to impress more thoroughly upon each mind the fact that they had a great duty to perform and that this man was pointing the way.

With this sentiment the president left them. It was a scene that will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. On one side the huge Russian, M. Witte, and on the other side Baron Komura, the diminutive, both so typical of the country they represent. For just a second the eyes of these two great men left those of the man who was speaking and sought each other's.

The sessions of the envoys for the two countries will be held at the navy yard in Portsmouth, N. H., for which port the envoys sailed on the Mayflower and Dolphin, the Galveston escorting them.

Great Dividend.

Creditors of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick will receive a total dividend of about seven mills on the dollar when the matter is finally settled, according to Referee in Bankruptcy Remington. The assets will amount to $25,000, it is expected, against which are claims for attorneys' fees and court costs amounting to $10,300, leaving about $14,000 with which to meet $2,000,000 of indebtedness.

No, the average man doesn't understand classical music—and he is proud of it.

E. H. Harriman will spend $10,000,000 in railroad building in Oregon, Washington and Idaho within the next year.

Charges of graft have been made against the Salvation Army in Brooklyn. It is claimed that donations of clothing, instead of reaching poor people intended, have been sold to an Italian junk dealer.

A cyclone struck Bessmay, La., Tuesday, killing one white boy and two negro boys and injuring twenty people. The village is in a pine forest and all the damage and loss of life was caused by uprooted trees crushing houses they were hurled against.

AT THE SOO. FEATURES OF THE GREAT CELEBRATION OF LAST WEEK.

Ten thousand visitors invaded the Soo to take part in the celebration, which began at sunrise Wednesday morning, when the government ships, including revenue cutters, tenders and tugs, being gallantly decorated. Vice-President Fairbanks, Senator Burrows and a number of invited guests boarded the revenue cutter Tuscorara, which acted as the flagship of the fleet, while Gov. Warner and his staff, the legislative delegation and a number of ladies were on the revenue cutter Morrill. Then came the steamer Philadelphia, carrying Attorney-General Leinieux, the official representative of the Dominion government. The other craft in line were the patrol boat Mackinac, supply boats Marigold, Amaranth and Sumac, and the tugs Schenck, Merrick, General, W. A. Rooth and W. H. Seymour.

The land parade took place in the afternoon, Charles T. Harvey, who constructed the original Michigan lock in 1855, acting as grand marshal, and he was given an enthusiastic reception. Vice-President Fairbanks and Gov. Warner drove to the reviewing stand and each was the object of a good deal of attention from the crowd.

The exercises on Thursday consisted of:

Invocation by Archdeacon Arthur H. Lord, of Sault Ste. Marie.

Address of welcome by Hon. Chase S. Osborn, of Sault Ste. Marie, acting for the mayor of Sault Ste. Marie.

Address, "The State of Michigan and the Building of the St. Mary's Canal," by Gov. Fred M. Warner.

Historical address, "The Development of the Lake Superior Region," by Hon. Peter White, president of the Lake Superior canal semi-centennial commission of 1905.

From 12 to 2 o'clock, intermission. Luncheon at the club room of Le Sault Ste. Marie club and Sault Ste. Marie Elks lodge for guests holding tickets.

Afternoon—Concert by First Regimental United States Infantry band.

Two o'clock address by Hon. Theodore E. Burton, member of congress from Ohio, chairman of the house of representatives' committee on rivers and harbors.

Address by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, solicitor-general of Canada.

Address, "The Navigators of the Great Lakes," by Hon. William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association.

Address, "The Future of American Commerce," by Hon. Julius C. Burrows, United States senator from Michigan.

The address of Vice-President Fairbanks was devoted largely to the fact that American and Canadian vessels were using the canal without reference to national policies. He hoped the time would never come when forts were necessary on our borders, but that we would continue to dwell in neighborly harmony. He firmly believed that the United States was destined to become the greatest commercial power in the world, and the great lakes was a large factor in making it such.

The President's Sermon.

President Roosevelt occupied the pulpit of the Christian Brotherhood church at Oyster Bay Sunday afternoon and delivered a lay sermon in which he emphasized especially the necessity of sound character building, holding that high moral character was the real essence of Christian life.

About 200 persons attended the meeting and practically all of them were surprised when President Roosevelt appeared on the platform and was introduced by Mr. Bowman, the pastor, who had promised that no announcement should be made of the president's intention to speak.

The president carried his own Bible and in beginning his address read selections from the seventh chapter of Matthew, the Epistle of the Corinthians and the Epistle to James.

Where Are the Bonds?

The fact has just come out that approximately $100,000 in bonds of the Grand Rapids Edison Co. were misappropriated by F. G. Bigelow, the Milwaukee bank buster, now in prison, and were by him disposed of to innocent purchasers. The question as to just where these bonds are now held is one that is worrying the company. The Grand Rapids company needed $100,000 at one time, and as Bigelow was a director of the company he advanced the loan through his bank. The company gave its note for the loan, and in addition gave as collateral $100,000 in bonds, which were intended for the First National bank of Milwaukee. The package came, however, addressed to F. G. Bigelow, as president.

The international anatomical congress at its first session in Geneva, Switzerland, accepted an invitation to meet in Boston in 1907.

Vandals cut a strip two by two inches from the silk flag draping the casket of John Paul Jones while it was on the cruiser Brooklyn. The flag is the property of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and was used in a revolutionary battle.

A 175 foot fall from a wireless telegraph mast at Springfield, Mass., did not kill John W. Johnson. He landed in some soft mud and a broken leg is his chief injury.

Percy Pembroke, a 16-year-old San Francisco boy, has confessed that he held up, murdered and robbed Thomas Cook, a neighbor, all because he wanted a little spending money.

Ten thousand harvest hands are wanted in the northwest for the wheat harvest, about to begin. Wages range from $1.75 to $2.50 a day. Grand Forks, N. D., wants 3,000; Fargo, 1,000; and a number of others anywhere from 50 to 1,000.

LATE NEWS

MEMPHIS HAS SHOTGUN GUARD TO KEEP OFF YELLOW FEVER.

THE SITUATION IN NEW ORLEANS LEANS SERIOUS BUT HOPEFUL.

STORE COLLAPSES CAUSING MANY DEATHS AND WOUNDS.

Memphis will return to primitive shotgun quarantine methods which ruled during the epidemics of 1878-79, when fever patients died by the thousands. At a meeting of the city council it was decided to close Memphis to the world after 12 o'clock noon on August 7. A cordon of armed guards will be placed around the city, guarding all roads and intervening points and no person will be allowed to pass unless he holds a written permit from the Memphis board of health. It is estimated that the cost of the shotgun quarantine will approximate $50,000, which amount is expected to be raised by popular subscription.

The federal officers made no attempt to conceal the fact that the situation in New Orleans is serious, but they say it is not without hope, and that success is possible in spite of the headway the fever has gained, particularly in the foreign neighborhoods below Canal street. One of Saturday's yellow fever victims is Archbishop Chapelle. The trouble on Lake Borgne between Mississippi guards and the Louisiana naval brigade is considered to have ended.

Albany's Worst Catastrophe.

Over a hundred persons, a large majority of them girls, were buried beneath a smother of brick, wood and plaster Tuesday morning when the central portion of the large store of the John G. Myers Co., Albany, N. Y., collapsed from roof to cellar. The wrecked portion included nearly one-half of the store. The catastrophe, which is the worst of its kind in the city's history, occurred shortly before 9 o'clock. The Myers estate has been making extensive repairs on its building. This morning a gang of Italian workmen started to remove an iron pillar that supported the main floor. Evidently they had failed to brace the floor properly, for scarcely had they loosened the post when down came all three upper floors within a radius of 50 feet from the fatal pillar. The wreck crashed through to the cellar, burying the workmen and carrying down those who happened to be working in that portion of the building.

The scene which followed the collapse is indescribable. Most of those injured were young women. The collapse came without warning.

Four Indicted.

Chas. E. Pfister, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Milwaukee, was indicted by a grand jury Saturday charged with stealing $14,000 belonging to the Wisconsin Rendering Co., of Milwaukee. Indictments were also returned against John F. Dittmar, former supervisor, bribery; George F. Reichert, supervisor, bribery; Barney A. Eaton, state senator, bribery; Frank F. Schultz, former newspaper reporter, perjury. The indictment against Pfister alleges that on March 30, 1901, the accused was bailee of a sum of money said to be $14,000 placed in his hands for the Wisconsin Rendering Co., to obtain for the company a large contract from the city for the disposing of garbage. It is charged that the money was not used for the purpose intended and that Pfister fraudulently converted the money to his own use.

A Russian Victory.

It is officially reported that two Russian torpedo boat destroyers appeared off Chung King on the northern coast of Korea Thursday morning and attacked the Keisho, a small merchant steamer. The destroyers fired sixty shots, seven of which hit the port side of the engine room and bridge, killing the captain and one boy and wounding two of the crew. The destroyers then ceased to fire and steamed toward Vladivostok. The Keisho was able to continue her voyage and escaped.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day. In the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Previously I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles, and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerably for an old man, 54½ years old."

H. D. McGILL, Frost, Ohio.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

WHOLESALE DOG POISONING

Which Resulted in the Death of Nine Dogs and a $13.75 Fine.

A dog poisoner or dog poisoners got in their work down South Main street way Friday night and Saturday morning, when dogs belonging to Frank Staffan, Lewis Paine, John Wellhoff, Martin Eisele, jr., Michael Mohrlock, Geo. Eder, jr., and Louis Burg, nine dogs in all, also three cats were destroyed.

Yesterday afternoon Lewis Paine swore out a warrant before Justice J. P. Wood against Edward Gentner charging him with scattering poison where it was liable to be eaten by dogs or other animals, and was so eaten, contrary to the statute in such case made and provided.

In support of the charge against Mr. Gentner it was claimed that he took home a picnic ham and a four pound crock of butter on Thursday night and put them in his cellar. During the night some animal got into the cellar through an open window and ate up the ham and butter. Gentner then sent word to Michael Mohrlock to tie up his dog as he was going to get rid of some of the dogs in that neighborhood. Next day the dogs were dead, Mohrlock's among the rest for he did not tie it up.

Arraigned before Justice Wood last evening Gentner pleaded guilty, but claimed he only placed the poisoned meat in his cellar. He was fined $10, the minimum penalty, and $3.75 costs.

GRANGE PICNIC.

Cavanaugh Lake Grange Will Repeat Last Year's First-Class Picnic.

Cavanaugh Lake Grange, No. 998, will have its second annual picnic at Cavanaugh Lake next Thursday, Aug. 17. Last year's picnic was the first that the Grange had held and although it rained in the morning a large crowd gathered in the afternoon and had a jolly good time. It is proposed next Thursday to repeat that good time with interest, and to that end everybody and their neighbors are invited to be at Cavanaugh Lake on that day.

It will be a basket picnic, but refreshments can be obtained on the grounds. The entertainments will consist of sports and games, music and recitations, and an address by Mrs. F. D. Saunders, state Grange lecturer, who is a splendid speaker. The Francisco Cornet Band will furnish music during the day.

Conveyances will be at the Sylvan road crossing to take those who go by the electric line to the lake.

Arrested on a Serious Charge.

A young man named Fred Henne was arrested Monday on the complaint of his brother-in-law William Merker charging him with rape and criminal assault on the complainant's 11 years old daughter Aleda Merker. When arraigned before Justice Hiram Lighthall Monday he pleaded guilty to the charge. On Tuesday he changed his plea to not guilty and was remanded to jail at Ann Arbor to appear for trial in the circuit court. Before Justice Lighthall Mr. Merker charged Henne with this being the second case of the kind he had been mixed up in.

Death of a Prominent Mason.

Lewis C. Goodrich, of Ann Arbor, grand lecturer and visitor of the grand chapter of the Royal Arch Masons, died very suddenly Monday night, Aug. 7, about 9 o'clock, while seated in the Masonic lodge room at Saint Ste. Marie talking with a number of gentlemen. He was stricken with apoplexy and sinking in his chair was dead before a physician, who was in an adjoining room, could reach him.

Mr. Goodrich was born in Pinckney in 1854. He was one of the best known Masons in Michigan. He had in turn held every office in the blue lodge, chapter and commandery, and was past grand worthy patron of the grand chapter of Michigan O. E. S. He was a 32d degree member of the Michigan Consistory and a member of Moslem Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

His funeral, held in Ann Arbor this afternoon, was with full Knight Templar rites, the blue lodge and chapter acting as escort. Representatives from the several grand bodies of which he was a member were present.

Mr. Goodrich was well known in Masonic circles in Chelsea, having often visited the lodge and chapter here.

Born Gamblers.

Australia has birthstains besides those that are so sore a point with some leading families. All told, the convict population numbered only a few thousands. In 1851 the population of the whole Commonwealth was only 403,88. Then gold was discovered and in ten years there was a leap to 1,153,973. Everybody knew somebody who had made a sudden "pile." Everybody hoped to do it himself. Nor was it only the new immigrants who had these ideals. Even those who had come out a few years before, and had been quite satisfied with a pastoral or agricultural life, even those left the slow plow in the furrow. To-day a judge speaks of the national curse of gambling. We got it into our blood fifty years ago; we were born of gamblers.—Sydney Bulletin.

The Surgeon's Nightmare.

Two patients who called in company upon a noted surgeon found him bemoaning a twinge of pain in his right forefinger. The callers smiled. "Great Scott, doctor!" exclaimed one, "you don't mean to say that a pain in the finger bothers a man so used to scenes of suffering as yourself?" "It certainly does," the surgeon answered, with a worried look. "How do I know that it isn't the first symptom of blood poisoning? That is the nightmare of the surgeon. No matter how careful he may be, he is liable to get a poisonous infection in operating and that kind of poisoning is of the most virulent type. Any time a surgeon is complaining about a pain in the hand, sympathize with him, for he is doing some hard guessing.—Philadelphia Record.

Carried It With Him.

A short time ago a burial took place at sea from one of his majesty's cruisers. As there were no leads with the stores large pieces of coal were attached to the body in their place.

All the crew were summoned on the quarterdeck for the burial. Just as the body was being lowered Pat burst out laughing. Next morning the chaplain sent for Pat and asked for an explanation of his laughter at such a very solemn time.

"Sure now," replied Pat, "O've heerd o' many a wan goin' below, but O've niver seen wan take 'is coal with 'im afore."—London Tatler.

Towers Ancient and Modern.

Modern steel-frame construction makes it as easy to erect a tower 600 feet high as in medieval Italy it was to rear one less than 300 feet, and modern elevators would substitute for a few bell-ringers at the top a village of cliff-dwellers in cubical offices arranged in horizontal slices along the dizzy shaft. The necessity for so many small windows effectually bars such beauty as the Italian architects achieved in their more modest undertakings.

Earl Marshal's Costly Uniform.

The most costly uniform in England is worn by the Earl Marshal, whose dress represents an outlay of some $1,250 not including jewels or ornaments. Seventeen thousand yards of embroidery are worked upon the coat in gold lace until but little of the original cloth may be seen.

THE MISSING MAN

By MARY R. P. HATCH
Author of "The Bank Tragedy"

Copyright, 1892, by Lee and Shepard

"It is hard on you, if you were not to blame."

"Yes, but no one else ought to suffer."

"Vane," said his wife, "will you tell us why you went away?"

"The children had now retired and the three sat alone together."

"I went on business. Did I not tell you so?"

"Yes, you told me so; but that does not explain why you went away every May since our marriage and stayed two weeks. You know and I know that there was a secret reason for your going."

"The same reason for not telling you are still in force. The secret is not my own. If it were I would tell you. But the time will come when I can tell you. For the present it is too much to ask that a wife trust her husband?"

Constance turned away as if unsatisfied, but in a moment said in a low tone:

"You recollected the children's commissions, but did you not forget mine?"

"Did I? Was it not myself I was to bring?"

She did not answer.

"Was there anything else? If so, I have forgotten."

"You have not brought the same seal that you took away," she cried, passionately. "You are not the same."

He started to his feet as if stung by her words, but was calm in a moment, and answered reasonably and kindly.

"Is not the defect in you, Constance? I see none in myself. I feel the same toward you. It is you who are changed."

He arose and looked for his hat and gloves.

"I will go to the hotel for the present. Is that your wish, Constance?"

She bowed her head and murmured something about "changes to be made."

"What do you mean, Constance, by turning a man out of his own house in this way?" burst forth her uncle, as soon as he was gone.

"Uncle Carter," said Constance, facing about and setting down her lamp, for she had started to retire, "I don't feel quite sure that it is Vane."

"Are you crazy, Constance?"

"I say I have a doubt. At all events he will have to prove his identity, and he will have to tell me why he went away before I receive him. About that I am determined."

"What folly is this? Constance, you are a changed woman."

To his vexation she burst into an uncontrollable fit of weeping.

"I am a most unhappy woman," she sobbed, "I know that."

"Unhappy when your husband, for whom you mourned, has just come back?"

She did not answer, but took up her lamp and went to her room, her form shaking with emotion.

When there, she sat down, still and quiet now, and thought deeply. Then the sounds of a violin stole across the fields and reached her, though faintly. But she did not raise her window for a moment, as she had sometimes done. She sat still and listened till the sound died away and then she retired. But she did not sleep. She lay all night thinking, pondering, wondering, fearing—what?

CHAPTER XI.

A Meeting of the Bank Officers.

Mr. Hamilton, for so I shall call him despite the doubts of Constance, evidently had no intention of deserting his own fireside for hotel precincts. He returned early and breakfasted with the family, much to Mr. Carter's delight and not to the too evident displeasure of his wife. He still remained after Mr. Carter went to his office and the children to school, for a meeting of the bank directors had been called at ten o'clock at his own residence.

In the hour of waiting there was much serious conversation between husband and wife. At last he said:

"I can see you doubt me. I have been gone so long; so many troubles have intervened they have tended to set you apart from me. Is not that so?"

"Perhaps so."

"Then I would not have you do violence to your feelings. I will stay here—it is better so for many reasons; but you shall live your own life until such a time as you can truly feel that you love me as you once did. I want to be near the children, I want to be near you, Constance. May I? May I have the room next to your uncle's?"

"Yes."

"And will you try to love me again?" he asked gently, yet with an eagerness he could not quite conceal.

"Love cannot be forced," she answered.

"But it will come in time if you will let it."

But suddenly, evidently recollecting some resolution he had made, he checked himself and said no more, while Constance sat idly turning over the leaves of a book until she saw the bank officers coming up the street. Then she arose to go.

President Hartwell and eight trustees, with Tony Osborn, soon entered. The new cashier, or treasurer, was not present.

Mr. Hamilton's manner was very cordial and easy. Well as the several gentlemen thought they knew him, they were not prepared for so much composure and freedom from nervousness. A rumor of lost identity as the sequel of his mysterious absence had already reached them, early as it was in the day; and they were, therefore, prepared to listen without interruptions or exclamations, until he had finished the tale up to the awakening of his dormant perceptive faculties, which had occurred, he said, but a short time previous to his return.

There was a silence of many seconds ere any one spoke. At last Mr. Hartwell said, cautiously:

"Did you say your memory had returned to you?"

"Not fully. I remember all of my past life, I think, now, with the exception of the brief time when the suspension in my ordinary faculties took place."

"You came to yourself in Seattle, you say?"

"Yes."

"Can you give us addresses there where we may be able to learn corroborative facts, Mr. Hamilton?"

"I can give you addresses of the where everything is changed. Memory is a thing apart from consciousness. It is said to be a function of matter to be impressed with its own actions. When an action has been repeated many times, or even once, strongly, the memory of it becomes stamped upon a little cell of the brain, and the stamp dominates the cell. When the stimulant again comes, the cell reacts as it formerly has done. Now here comes the point in question. When the stimulant falls, from overwork or worry or other powerful causes, the cell is useless, the memory is gone, while other cells continue active, perhaps more so than formerly."

Science as applied to a bank robbery was something new and startling to the others. What might not a man do under these conditions? Atavism was less strange to consider. And yet was it not true that human reason was often insufficient to set against the commonest delinquency? The gentlemen sitting about the table were nonplussed, all but Mr. Taylor, who had faith in his theory. He, evidently, believed Mr. Hamilton's statement.

"But," said he, "in the present state of society there are no provisions made for this sort of lapse, outside of insanity, and a man so afflicted can do no less than suffer the consequences of his acts, however they may have occurred. At least it is not fair for others to suffer. The money, if taken by your own hand, should be refunded and—"

"Mr. Taylor," interrupted the president, frowning a little, "are you not a little fast? The matter as it now stands is of serious import. It will have to be investigated. A warrant was made out for arrest, and was, or is now, in the hands of Bruce, the detective. It was made out by Justice Bailey. Sheriff Gray is away on business, and Bruce acts as his deputy. I telegraphed Bruce last night, and it is nearly time," looking at his watch, "for him to arrive. You must see that all this naturally follows, Mr. Hamilton."

"I see," he replied, a little pale, but otherwise composed. "As I said, I court the closest inquiry. Points may be evolved which may make it clearer to myself. I thank Mr. Taylor for his confidence in me, or, rather, for his belief in my statement."

"You must not think we doubt it," said the president, more mildly, "because we say less. There is no other course open but to let the matter go into a natural issue. Too much has already transpired."

"You are right, without doubt," said Hamilton. "But you must see that to one, who has been ignorant of any stir, who returns to his home, imagining everything to be in its normal condition, and who is first confronted by his own monument, then these suspicions, it is sufficiently confusing."

"Certainly it is," said Mr. Taylor; "though, undoubtedly, Mr. Hastings is right," mentally thinking that a specialist on mental derangements would most likely be summoned, and the investigation be no less interesting and profitable than necessary.

(To be continued.)

EGG MEMBRANE A HEALER.

Valuable When Used in Cases of Burning or Ulceration.

At a recent session of the Therapeutic Association of Paris Dr. Amat lectured on the use of the membrane of eggs in the treatment of wounds. He has observed for some time the good results of placing these membranes upon the surface of wounds and reports two new cases, that of a young girl suffering from a burn on her foot, and a man, 40 years old, with a large ulcer on his leg. Both wounds were in process of healing and were covered with healthy granulations.

The surgeon overspread them with six or eight pieces of the membrane of eggs, which was covered with tin foil and fastened with dry antiseptic bandages. After four days the bandages and tin foil were removed and it was shown that the membrane of the egg had partly grown into the tissues and had caused the growing of a good skin. That the egg membrane had contributed much to the healing process was demonstrated in the further course of treatment.

It seems, however, that the membrane does not always adhere. The process of cicatrization is not only hastened, but the wound heals exceptionally well and leaves but few perceptible traces.

If He Could.

It was the opening day of the session, when everyone was at his Sunday best. The Senator, who always wears a short coat and carries his right hand in his trousers' pocket, with his left ready to emphasize his words, by shaking his forefinger, leaned against the cloak-room door, meditatively rolling a cigar between his lips.

One of the three best-dressed men in the Senate approached. The forefinger rose, and the Senator remarked: "I have a friend who would give you a hundred dollars for that vest, if he could only set eyes on it."

"Take me to him at once," said the other. "He shall set eyes on it forthwith and have it C. O. D."

"I wish he could," said the Senator sadly; "but he's been stone-blind for twenty years."—The Sunday Magazine.

Ventilating the Shoes.

"One thing that most persons with tender feet who insist upon wearing patent leather shoes in warm weather don't know," said a salesman in a Broadway store, "is that a small hole bored on either side of the shoe, about one inch from the sole and close to the instep, will give them more comfort than all the foot ease powders ever manufactured. The holes pump in the air while the wearer is walking and keep the feet cool."—New York Times.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Dubious Response.

The church was crowded, the aisles were decked with ribbons and blossoms, a sweet effect.

The organist softly did begin. That same old chestnut from "Lohengrin."

By the altar rail was a noble lord. With an air of distinction, distinctly lorded.

His mother-in-law in prospect stood. Enwreathed in smiles and a velvet hood.

Sweet bridesmaids, chifioned, with envy sighed. As they met and preceded the schoolroom face.

Who hung on the arm of her pompous bride. Resembling a tub in his new attire.

The whole affair was rehearsed and planned. As the lord, with his brandy-and-soda hand.

Approached he exhaled an alcohol whiff. And the mother gave vent to a social sniff.

Oh, 'twas sad to see, but how often seen. The red-nosed lord and the sweet sixteen.

But the funeral service went on apace. While the bishop smiled with paternal face.

And asked the episcopal question terse: "Do you take this man for better or worse?"

Then the maid made answer in accents slow. "Neath her quivering veil: 'Well, I don't quite know.'"

800 Carp in a Cabbage Patch.

Eight hundred carp in a cabbage patch will give a slight idea of the number of these fish in Canandaigua lake. The connection may not at first be plain, but it must be understood that the lake and the cabbage patch are adjacent.

Thomas Raftery, who owns a farm on the east shore of Canandaigua lake, about three miles from the village, went out to his cabbage patch the other day and found it covered with dead and dying carp, some of them of 10 to 15 pounds weight.

They had invaded the land during the high water of Sunday, and had been left stranded by the receding waters.

Raftery didn't consider this a piece of good luck. He could not get rid of the fish all alone, and soon his neighbors came to him with loud complaints and threats to have him indicted for maintaining a nuisance.

Finally he called on the village board of health for aid. There were more than 800 of the fish.—New York Sun.

Importance in Dotting "I."

Because John C. Selter, postmaster at Fern, Cal., neglected to dot the "I" in his name, the postoffice department at Washington declined to honor his requisition for office supplies until the omission was rectified. The blank was returned to Selter, who dotted the "I" and then returned the paper to Washington. The supplies came in time, considerably delayed by the department's insistence. The patrons of the Fern postoffice were unable to purchase stamps for two weeks because the postmaster neglected to dot the little letter "I." Selter has been postmaster for ten years and this was the first time he ever had a blank returned to him for correction.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Corpulent Man's Protest.

The most corpulent man in all Fort Fairfield, Me., lay back in the shade of a friendly maple and momentarily forgot to wonder why clothes are necessary. He tackled a kindred subject, however: "Did you ever stop to think what a range of temperature we get in this climate? It moves from—55 in February to 115 in July. That gives you a difference of 170 degrees and there are but 180 between freezing and boiling."

Gathering of Vegetarians.

The London vegetarian association held their annual dinner the other night. Members of almost every sect of vegetarianism were present. There were Wallaceites, who will not eat salt or bread made with yeast; Haigites, who are forbidden peas and beans, and Allinsonites, to whom tea is poison. The chef was set a difficult task, but he acquitted himself with distinction, and only the extremists grumbled.

Found Their Lost Fledgling.

A young golden robin was picked up at Newfane, Vt., in a chilled condition after the rains and hung in a cage under a veranda. The parent birds soon found the fledgling, and they continue to come joyfully with many tender twitterings a dozen times daily to feed it, and one of the birds stationed itself nightly in a tree closely at hand. The young bird will be given its freedom when fit to make its own living.

Child Gave Name to Mountain.

Mount Grace, out in Warwick, seems to be in a way a giant monument to a little child. According to tradition, the Indians captured a Mrs. Rowlinson and her child. As the party were passing through the woods on their way to Canada the child died and was buried at the foot of the mountain. The child's name was Grace and the mountain has been Mount Grace ever since.

Rare Specimens of Ferns.

Three rare specimens of male tree fern, Osmunda regalis, of more than 1,000 years' growth, have been procured for the Imperial botanic gardens of St. Petersburg from the virgin forests on the Black sea coast near Adler.

Immense Mass of Pure Rock Salt.

The largest mass of pure rock salt in the world lies under the province of Galicia, Hungary. It is known to be 550 miles long, 20 broad and 20 feet in thickness.

FEAR FOR NIAGARA

IMMENSE VOLUME OF WATER DIVERTED FROM FALLS.

Commercial Enterprises are Making Heavy Drains on This Famous Show-Place—Its Tremendous Electrical Power the Inducement.

Niagara Falls, August 7.—The volume of water being diverted from the historic Niagara Falls is reaching such proportions that the people of the State are trying to pass laws which will prevent the possibility of a practical wiping out of this sublime natural spectacle.

Water sufficient to develop nearly five hundred thousand horse-power continuously, twenty-four hours per day, for industrial purposes, is now being taken from the river above the Falls, and further developments requiring more water are contemplated.

Probably the largest user of the electricity produced by the waters of the mighty river is the concern which by the five or six thousand degree heat of the electric furnace brings lime and coke into unwilling union, thereby producing what is known as Calcium Carbide.

Dry calcium carbide is lifeless as so much broken rock, but in contact with water it springs into activity and begets abundantly the gas Acetylene. The light resulting from the ignition of acetylene is the nearest approach to sunlight known.

These facts, though of comparatively recent discovery, were soon seized by men with an eye to the commercial possibilities and to-day calcium carbide is being shipped everywhere and used for dispelling darkness in buildings of all descriptions, from the ordinary barn of the farmer to the country villa of the wealthy, as well as for lighting the streets of a large number of towns. Acetylene can be easily and cheaply installed, and the manufacture and sale of acetylene generators has become a business of recognized standing, has assumed large proportions and is steadily growing.

Keep Out of Ruts.

Don't get into a rut. Look to the right and the left, and always upward. Grow upward to the light, like the plants and flowers. You stand a plant in a dark corner, and what does it do? It stretches out its leaves and tendrils to God's beautiful light. The flowers turn their faces to the sun; always looking upward! It is progress. Don't sit in darkness. Come up and out, and join the children of light.

A Dangerous Flower.

The florist held a tulip in his hand. "Some people claim a tulip has no smell," he said. "As a matter of fact, it has a dangerous smell. Take a tulip of a deep crimson color and inhale it with profound inspirations, and it will be apt to make you light headed. You will say and do queer things—dance, sing, fight, and so on. For two hours you will cut up in this way. Afterward you will be depressed."

Cakes for Students.

During the examinations at Belgrade university a professor saw the boys buying cakes in the campus. He bought one and found that, like the others it contained the solution of one of the problems.

Great Waste of Energy.

It is estimated that in the old blast furnace there was wasted a quantity of energy equal to 840 horse power per hour per ton of iron melted.

Sound as a Dollar.

Monticello, Minn., Aug. 7th.—Mr. J. W. Moore of this place stands as a living proof of the fact that Bright's Disease, even in the last stages, may be perfectly and permanently cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Moore says: "In 1898 three reputable physicians after a careful examination told me that I would die with Bright's Disease inside of a year. My feet and ankles and legs were badly swollen; I could hardly stand on my feet and had given up all hopes of getting cured when a traveling salesman told me that he himself had been cured of Bright's Disease two years before."

"He said he had taken to his bed and expected to die with it, but that he had been cured by a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I commenced taking them at once and I am thankful to say that they saved my life. After a short treatment I was completely restored to good health and I am now as sound as a dollar."

Bride Cake.

Our bride cake, which invariably accompanies a wedding, and which should always be cut by the bride, may be traced back to the old Roman form of marriage by a confarreatio, or eating together.—Lubbock, "Origin of Civilization."

Wren Builds Many Nests.

One of the most energetic nest builders is the marsh wren; in fact, he has the habit to such a degree that he cannot stop with one nest, but goes on building four or five in rapid succession.

ORIGIN OF WORD BONFIRE.

Expression Most Probably Dates Back to Druidic Days.

Was "bonfire" originally written "bone-fire" and were "bone-fires" anciently so called from the burning of the martyrs? This is one theory of the origin of the word. From ancient times bonfires have formed a striking part of the celebration of St. John's eve, or Midsummer eve, June 24, which was observed with similar rites in every country in Europe. Fires were kindled in the streets and market places of the towns. The young people leaped over the flames or threw flowers and garlands into them with merry shoutings and songs and dances. A heathen origin is believed to be indicated by these acts. A writer says: "On the whole it seems probable that the druidic fires, round which it was considered lucky to leap and dance on the occasion of the summer solstice, were built up of contributions brought by every one who wanted to secure his luck for the coming year, and so bonfire is really a boon-fire."

Grasshoppers in Cages.

In Italy there is a regular business in making tiny wire cages for grasshoppers to chirrup in. One of the Medici family, a cardinal, asked a bishop who was popular in Florence, but disliked by himself, to breakfast in his garden. The cardinal handed the bishop a glass of wine. At the moment a grasshopper fell from a tree into the wine, and the bishop left it. A servant then threw it away. The wine was afterwards known to have been poisoned. So the Italians think that a grasshopper brings good luck, and that if one can be kept alive in a cage for a month the year will be prosperous.—Country Gentleman.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had suffered for over two years steadily, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

Silly Ideas About Napoleon.

Thackeray once saw Napoleon on the island of St. Helena. The novelist—he was born in Calcutta, in 1811—was on his way to England as a child. "Our ship touched at an island where my black servant took me a long walk over rocks and hills until we saw a man walking in a garden. 'That is he,' said the black man; 'that is Bonaparte. He eats three sheep every day, and all the little children he can lay hands on.' That black serving man was not the only person of the time to believe the story which he told.

Soldiers Escort Mails.

In some parts of the Sahara desert and in wild and little frequented parts of Asia, where outlaws and brigands abound, the governments send an escort of soldiers with the mail carriers bearing registered packages. In a vast number of cases the cost of the escort is greatly in excess of the value of the package to be delivered, and it would be ruinous to the recipient were he obliged to bear the expense of the delivery. The government, however, relieves the citizen of this expense.—Washington Star.

LIFE.

I was not asked if I should like to come, I have not seen my host here since I came.
Or had a word of welcome in his name, Some say that we shall never see him, some say that we shall see him elsewhere, and then know That we were bid. How long I am to stay
I have not the least notion. None, they say,
Was ever told when he should come or go. But every now and then there bursts upon The song and mirth a lamentable noise, A sound of shrieks and sobs that strikes our joys Dumb in our breasts, and then some one is gone.
They say we meet him. None knows where or when.
We know we shall not meet him here again.
—William Dean Howells.

A STORY OF THE DEAD ROOM.

By CAPT. BARCLAY.

I PRESUME, doctor, there are many sorrowful scenes which present themselves in your profession," I remarked to the surgeon of our regiment, as I spent an evening near the river in a Southern seaport town.

"Yes, indeed," he replied, with an air of nonchalance. "But then, captain, you are a soldier, and you know how a fellow will get used to almost anything. You do not shudder now at seeing dead men lying around, as you used to, do you?"

"Well, no," I replied, "that is too true."

"I remember one incident in my life, when a student of medicine in the office of old Dr. F.—," continued the doctor, "that never has been erased from my memory. It is fully a quarter of a century since it occurred, and yet I remember it well. I would to heaven it could pass from mind."

"War is full of horrors," continued the doctor, "and I have been in hospitals where the shrieks of the wounded and the groans of the dying mingled, and went about my business almost as the weaver listens to the sound of his looms. But this is a story of the dead-room, where no sound is heard but the sharpening of the scalpel and the almost noiseless tread of the surgeon."

"Among the professors in the medical college at that time was an English surgeon. He was a man of brilliant attainments, both as a scholar and as a surgeon."

"He was probably sixty years of age, and had no family, at least he never spoke of one. Why he left his native land, and why he hardly ever smiled, no one seemed to know, and probably no one cared to ask. We, as students, paid our money for a knowledge of medicine and surgery, and did not trouble ourselves about the history of those who taught us."

"The winter season of lectures had commenced, and students from nearly every section of the United States were in the city to attend them. Subjects for dissection were required, and sometimes, like other articles in the market, the supply exceeded the demand, and it would be ruinous to the recipient were he obliged to bear the expense of the delivery. The government, however, relieves the citizen of this expense.—Washington Star.

"I happened in the English professor's room one morning to examine a medical work on a subject that required my attention. A gentle rap came on the door, and the doctor said, 'Walk in.'

"I knew the visitor and his calling at a glance. His soulless eyes glanced cautiously around the room, and then he asked, in a whisper: 'All right, doctor?'

"Yes; one of my students," replied the surgeon.

"Have a fresh stiff, doctor. Found it floating in the harbor at daylight this morning. Female, about fifty, and good form. From an English vessel, no doubt."

"What is the price?" asked the surgeon.

"'Cannot deliver it at the college for less than a hundred,' was the reply."

"Too much," answered the surgeon. 'You are above the market price.'

"Sorry we cannot agree," said the man, with a scowl; 'but the fact is, doctor, no class of individuals take such risks and work as hard for our money as us, and mostly for the benefit of science.'

"He was about to depart when the surgeon called him back. 'Make it seventy-five, and you can bring the subject.'

"Sorry, doctor, but I can't. You see, Jim and I are in partnership in this stiff, as he happened to be in the boat with me, and come to divide the price. It is only fifty each. We honestly earned every cent we ask."

"Well," replied the surgeon, 'bring the subject to the dead-room to-night, and your price shall be paid.'

"The following day the professor announced in his morning lecture that a fine female subject had been obtained, and that in the afternoon he should dissect it in their presence and for their benefit in the science of obstetrics. A full class and a careful hearing were demanded."

"The subject had been placed on the dissecting table of the dead-room, and a white sheet carefully secured it from view. A full class was in attendance at the afternoon exercises."

"The professor dwelt with warmth upon this delicate branch of medical science, and said the theme was profound, and in part revealed the wonder of our creation.

"Stepping from the platform with scalpel in hand, he then advanced to the table, removed the sheet from the corpse, and while gazing upon the face of the dead woman, the color left his cheeks. The scalpel shook in his hand, he gasped for breath, and said: 'Jane, Jane! Great Heaven, it is Jane!' and fell in my arms."

"Restoratives were applied to his bloodless lips, and when he had recovered sufficiently to speak, he said: 'Gentlemen, I am ill. There will be no dissection this afternoon. Leave the room. To-morrow meet me at the usual hour.'

"What became of the dead body we never learned. It was removed that night, by whom and to what place were never known to us. The surgeon also disappeared that night, and never entered the college again. What became of him always remained a mystery. He may have departed for Europe in the morning upon some vessel leaving port, or he may have committed suicide. A body resembling the doctor was found floating in the East River, New York, some weeks after, but it was too much decomposed for identification."

"The mystery connected with the dead-room was never fully explained. Rumor had it, but it was never fully confirmed, that the doctor's wife had deserted him in England many years previous to this event, and ran away with a British sea captain, and that the doctor came to America under an assumed name. Being a skillful surgeon, he readily obtained the honored position he held."

"How the woman met her untimely death no one ever knew. Her paramour may have become tired of her, as is the general result in such cases, and she may have welcomed death in a watery grave, or she may have accidentally fallen from the ship's deck. That she was the doctor's wife there can be no doubt."

"Now, captain," continued the doctor, "I have told you the story of the dead-room. The mystery connected with the affair can only be left to conjecture."—New York Weekly.

Can Birds Smell?

Most sportsmen are agreed that when a carcass is hidden, by never so slight a screen, it is safe from the attacks of vultures and other carrion eaters. It is customary, in the tropics, when a single hunter has killed an animal too large for him to carry home alone, to disembowel it and hide the body in some near-by bush or hole. On returning with natives to remove the carcass a circle of vultures will always be found surrounding the spot where they have devoured the offal, quite unaware that the best part of the killing lies hidden within a few feet of them. Although all birds seem to have small olfactory bulbs, there is considerable evidence indicating that they have no sense of smell whatever. Mr. Alex. Hill, of Downing College, reports a number of interesting experiments to test this question. All he could find in support of the view that birds can smell is the belief which prevails among bird fanciers and game keepers that birds like the odor of anise and valerian. This Mr. Hill considers doubtful. He placed various substances of powerful odor in and beneath the feeding dishes of a pair of turkeys, and in no case did he see any indication of a sense of smell. Camphor, carbon bisulphide, acetylene, chloroform, prussic acid were placed so that the odor in full strength surrounded the heads of the turkeys, and, except in the case of the vapors of chloroform and prussic acid, which partially poisoned the birds, there was absolutely no effect produced.

Views and Nations.

President Hadley of Yale and a young man whose appearance was that of a student once met, says the Searchlight, in Yellowstone Park, in the midst of the wonders of nature.

President Hadley turned to the young man for sympathetic comment. "This is a wonderful scene, isn't it?" he said.

The young man smiled and nodded, and turned without speaking to gaze at the prospect spread before them.

"Do you think," asked President Hadley, confirmed in his idea that he was talking to an ardent student, "that this chasm was caused by some great upheaval of nature, or it is the result of erosion or glacial action? What are your views?"

"My views," said the stranger, quickly, opening a bag containing photographs, "are only two dollars a dozen, and dirt-cheap. Let me show you some."

Don't Kill Your Germs.

Dr. A. Charrin, a distinguished French savant, fed two groups of guinea pigs on carrots. One group took the vegetable after it had been sterilized by boiling and all germs thus destroyed; the other after it had been sprinkled over with dust, or with the soil in which the carrots had been grown. Of seventeen subjects in the first group twelve died before those in the second, and the investigation showed that the total absence of germs in the sterilized food impaired the digestion and lowered the assimilative power of the animals. Only five altogether were lost of the group fed on the germ containing food.—Springfield Republican.

The Best of It.

To date, the champion fish story of the season has been told by the Boston Globe. It says that two Maine men went out fishing lately and saw a big fish under their boat. The fish would not be hooked, so one of the men dived overboard and caught the fish by the tail with his teeth. The second man pulled the two into the boat.

COSTLY HATS FOR MEN.

Gen. Grant's $1,500 Mexican Sombrero Still Holds Record.
"Talking about expensive hats," said a prominent hat dealer, "the most costly hat that was ever made was presented to Gen. Grant while in Mexico in 1882. It cost $1,500 in gold. It is now in the national museum at Washington, says the New York Press. 'Panama hats used to be frequently sold as high as $500 each. I remember selling four hats at that price in a single day in 1872, but such hats are no longer to be obtained. The most expensive panama I have sold in years was bought by a banker of this city last week for $100. It was the last fine panama hat in stock. Such hats are still worn by the hidalgos in South America. They are not made in Panama, but got the name because that city was formerly the greatest market for them. The finest hats come from Peru. They are made of the fiber of the pita or pineapple plant, which is as soft and pliable as silk, and some of them are so fine that they can be folded up and carried in one's vest pocket.'

BABY'S INSTINCT

Shows He Knew What Food to Stick To.

Forwarding a photo of a splendidly handsome and healthy young boy, a happy mother writes from an Ohio town:

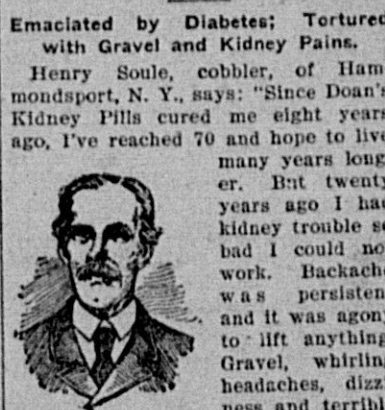

"The enclosed picture shows my 4-year-old Grape-Nuts boy."

"Since he was 2 years old he has eaten nothing but Grape-Nuts. He demands and gets this food three times a day. This may seem rather unusual, but he does not care for anything else after he has eaten his Grape-Nuts, which he uses with milk or cream, and then he is through with his meal. Even on Thanksgiving day he refused turkey and all the good things that make up that great dinner, and ate his dish of Grape-Nuts and cream with the best results and none of the evils that the other foolish members of the family experienced."

"He is never sick, has a beautiful complexion, and is considered a very handsome boy. May the Postum Company prosper and long continue to furnish their wholesome food!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FOR Hot Weather Dangers

CONSTIPATION STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

No one with regular bowels and healthy stomach can contract disease. A person with Constipation and Stomach Trouble is always the first to succumb to Sun Stroke, Heat Debility and Prostration. Cholera, Colic and Diarrhea are more fatal in Hot Weather because vitality is lower—they are the direct result of Constipation. It is a mistake to suddenly check diarrhea, the danger is Blood Poison. A physis is also dangerous as it weakens the patient and reduces vitality. Treat the cause with Mull's Grape Tonic. Constipation and its attending ills are caused by decaying or drying bowels and intestines—Mull's Grape Tonic revives and strengthens the Bowels so they are enabled to act naturally and eject the poison from the system, everybody should take it during hot weather. It wards off disease, builds up the system and purifies the blood. Typhoid Fever and Appendicitis are unknown in families where Mull's Grape Tonic is employed. As a Stomach Tonic it is unequalled.

SUFFERED ALL HIS LIFE.

The endorsement of E. B. McCurdy of Troy, Ohio, proves that the severest forms of Constipation are promptly cured by Mull's Grape Tonic—He says:

"I gave your Tonic a thorough trial. It is the only remedy that will cure constipation. I do not believe anyone suffered more therefrom than I, as I had been afflicted with it all my life. For days my bowels would not act and then only by the use of strong cathartics that were fast ruining my health. My Stomach and Liver were deranged and I suffered with inward piles, the pains of which would at times raise me off my chair. I spent much money with various doctors and medicines to no avail."

"Soon after I started Mull's Grape Tonic my bowels began to move regularly—the pain left me and my general health built up rapidly."

"I heartily recommend it as an absolute cure to which I am a living witness."

Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation. Let us send you a bottle free to-day to show you that it will do all we claim.

Had Trouble, But They Settled It at Doctor's Office Instead of a Lawyer's—Each One Tells His Own Story About It.

Jackson, Mich., June 14, 1905.
I had cancer on my neck for nearly a year. It would not heal and it worried me a great deal. I went to Dr. Wilkinson's office, 25 Dwyer building, Jackson, Mich., May 27, 1905, and in nine days he removed it with medicine. It was as large as a hulled walnut and I am pleased to say that I feel much better since it came out. The wound is completely healed now, and I no longer have a running sore on my neck every day to the year. Thanks to Dr. Wilkinson. C. L. LOGAN, 215 Tyson Street.

I had nervous prostration for nearly a year—had had stomach and heart trouble and in fact my whole body seemed to be ailing. I tried several reputable physicians but got very little relief until I called on Dr. Wilkinson, 25 Dwyer building, Jackson, Mich., seven weeks ago, and I began to improve at once, and in a few days I felt a great change for the better, and today I feel as well as I ever did. I never saw a doctor that can treat a bad stomach as Dr. Wilkinson can. JOHN PEAK

Grave Trouble Foreseen.

It needs but little foresight to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead unless you take the proper medicine for your disease as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She writes, "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time but in Electric Bitters I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine

Poisons in Food

pain poisons originate in your food, but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Dr. King's New Life Pills are guaranteed to cure all sickness due to poisons of undigested food —or money back. 35c. at Bank Drug Store; try them.

L. C. Rodman, of Dexter, has just added to his collection of curios a clock said to have been made in 1492. The date and a figure of Columbus are carved on the wood. The works of the clock are of wood, and the pendulum swings horizontally instead of vertically. The clock has been in one family for more than 100 years.

MORE LOCAL.

An authority says: "The very general custom of going about with head uncovered during the hot weather is one of the best of all habits for the girl or woman whose hair has become thin and lifeless looking.
The sun and fresh air affords the best of all tonics for the hair."

The final hearing in the Luick drain assessments held at Ann Arbor Saturday did not develop any particular objection to its being constructed. The principal fault found was that the assessment rolls did not include the names of all those who would be benefited. The contractor will begin work as soon as possible on the big ditch.

The age limit rule adopted several years ago by several railroads has been abandoned as being impracticable, to the great gratification of men in railroad life. At least 50 per cent of the men employed by the railroads that have given it up will be gauged by experience and adaptability alone without regard to age, and it is expected that the roads that adopted the rule will follow the same policy.

Farm Journal: If you have a patch or field of quack-grass that you wish to exterminate, take your hogs into partnership and they will do it for you. Scatter some whole corn on the ground and encourage them to root. As soon as they get a taste of the quack roots they will not stop until every one has been found and eaten. They will clean the ground of live-forver in the same way. If you have a corner or a patch infested with these plants, fence it, and put the hogs in and they will completely clean it.

It will wash and not rub off.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and charlatans rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:
"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to in-discretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me sneered my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold. In the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult with Dr. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drawing man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually.
I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."
