THREE WELL-KNOWN PEOPLE

Have Passed Away During the Past Few Days.

MRS. DANIEL LANTIS.

Mrs. Daniel Lantis, a resident of Waterloo township for nearly 60 years, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. A. H. Mensing, on East Middle street, Chelsea, where she has made her home since the death of her husband five years ago, on Saturday, August 19, aged 78 years, 11 months and 19 days.

Christina Hoffman Lantis was born in Germany and came to Michigan with her parents in 1841. The family settled in Waterloo and there all her young womanhood and married life was spent. She was married to Daniel Lantis Oct. 28, 1845. Eight children were born to them, two of whom have passed away.

Mrs. Lantis was a faithful member of the German M. E. church. She loved the church and the fellowship with God's people, and like St. Paul she pressed on toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Jesus Christ.

She leaves, to mourn her demise, six children, 14 grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held at the German M. E. church in Waterloo Tuesday at 1 o'clock p. m., and were conducted by Rev. G. W. Gordon.

MRS. DAVID E. BEACH.

Mrs. Bertha Beach, wife of David E. Beach, ex-supervisor of Lima, died at the family home in that township Monday morning, August 21, aged 31 years. She had been suffering from a lingering illness for the past eight years, being afflicted with rheumatism and heart trouble which gradually robbed her of the use of her limbs and for the past four years she has been a helpless invalid. About 10 days ago she was suddenly taken with a high fever which rapidly grew worse and proved fatal to her already much exhausted vitality.

Mrs. Beach was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Luick and was born in Lima. She was married to David E. Beach in 1895. Besides her husband and parents, the members of her immediate family who survive her are Otto D. Luick, county treasurer, and Miss Amanda Luick.

The funeral services were held at the house this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. Thos. Holmes, D. D., officiating. The cousins of the deceased acted as pallbearers.

WILLIAM R. PURCHASE.

William R. Purchase, a well known resident of this vicinity since 1860, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. Carrie Prudden, on Harrison street, Chelsea, Tuesday, Aug. 22, aged 89 years, 3 months and 10 days. His death was due to the general debility caused by his extreme age. He had been almost blind for a great many years and for the past six months he had bedridden and a great source of care to his eight daughters, who have taken the entire care of him.

Mr. Purchase was born in Yorkshire, England, May 12, 1816. He came to Toronto, Ont., in 1834, when a young man of 18, and lived there for two years when he went to Detroit. He was married Dec. 25, 1841, to Miss Maria Marsh, of Dearborn. They continued to reside in Detroit until 1860, when they moved to Lyndon township. This was their home for 21 years, when Mrs. Purchase died March 16, 1881. In 1884 the old home was broken up and Mr. Purchase moved to Chelsea. For 17 years he had made his home with his daughter Mrs. N. F. Prudden and at her home he passed away.

The funeral services will be held at the house Friday afternoon, Aug. 25, at 2 o'clock. The service will be conducted by Rev. C. L. Adams, of Howell, and Rev. E. E. Caster, pastor of the Chelsea M. E. church.

No home complete without the Herald.

CAVANAUGH LAKE GRANGE.

Had a Limited Attendance But a Real Good Time at the Picnic.

The second annual picnic of the Cavanaugh Lake Grange, held in the grove on the shore of the pretty body of water of that name last Thursday, had a strong drawing card against the number of its attendance in the German day celebration at Jackson. It was especially noticeable that the young men and women of the farm were absent. The attendance did not exceed 200, and after all the trouble the Grange had gone to to have a good picnic it seemed too bad to see so few there. They were disappointed in getting a band, for the same reason, consequently it was, all in all, a quiet affair.

The program for the afternoon opened with a song by Cavanaugh Lake Grange. This was followed by a prayer by Rev. G. W. Gordon. The worthy master John Runciman then introduced A. J. Sawyer, sr., of Ann Arbor, whom he had persuaded to make an address of welcome.

Mr. Sawyer made a good speech, in the course of which he gave his experience as a horny handed son of toil and told some good stories. At the conclusion of his remarks he was presented with a bouquet of golden rod by a lady admirer.

A solo and chorus by Mr. Broesamle and the Grange choir was the next number, and then Miss Lena Kruse read one of her amusing "Grange Papers," in which she touched up various people and questions in a humorous manner. Miss Norah Forner then sang a pretty solo, which was deservedly encored.

Mrs. F. D. Saunders, state Grange lecturer, of Rockford, delivered the address of the day, which was devoted to a discussion of the Grange, its objects, and what it has accomplished. It was quite lengthy.

The proceedings closed with another selection by the Cavanaugh Lake Grange choir.

WON IN THE TENTH.

It Took Ten Innings to Decide Monday's Ball Game.

The Cardinals snatched victory from defeat in the eighth and tenth innings Monday afternoon in their game with the Yannigans, of Ann Arbor. When Reid ran into BeGole at the plate in the first inning, hurting his knee quite badly, it looked as if things might go hard with the Cardinals, but Steinbach took BeGole's place behind the bat and the latter went to first base. In the eighth inning with the score standing 4 to 2 against them, Graham batted out a nice one that brought in two runs, the bases being all full at the time. This tied the score and in the ninth neither side added to their totals. In the first half of the tenth inning the Yannigans made one score, then it was up to the Cardinals, and Graham again distinguished himself. With three men again on bases he once more sent the ball flying across the field. Holmes and Bacon trotted home hand in hand, followed by Mohr, and the game was won 7 to 5. Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	R	H	E
Cardinals	0	0	1	0	0	1	2	0	3	—	7	7
Yannigans	1	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	—	5	6

Batteries: Cardinals—Ackley, BeGole and Steinbach; Yannigans—Nagel and Reid. Struck out—By Ackley 15, by Nagel 9.

Judge Charles A. Kent, of Detroit, has made the University of Michigan a present of 30 acres of land situated within the corporate limits of Bay City and valued at $6,000.

All along its line the Michigan Central is making improvements in the way of relaying ties, putting in heavier rails, grading up the road-bed, etc. It also has a plan in contemplation whereby the distance to Chicago is to be shortened by a cut-off line from Dowagiac through Berrien Center to New Buffalo. All this is being done, it is said, with a view of cutting down the running time from Chicago to New York.

And Have It Done Right.

Books come high in New York's society, but it feels it must have at least one line of them.

An American bank has failed in Manila. This shows that it is not a matter of climate.

Judge Blizard is running for office in West Virginia. He should be a good heated-term candidate.

Even the president of a glue company could not stick to his place. It is filled by a new man.

Any fool can start a war, but wise men are needed when it comes to deciding on the indemnity.

Edmund Clarence Stedman says "there isn't much money in poetry." No, in prose either, for that matter.

War has broken out between the Hip Sing Tong and the On Leong Tong in New York. They ought to be pinched.

As long as J. P. Morgan likes the companionship of that small granddaughter, you can't make people believe he's bad.

An eastern paper is discussing "the origin of pie." It may be observed, in passing, that everybody knows what the destiny of pie is.

Quinine candy is said to be a novelty that the children cry for. What we need now is a pill that doesn't have to be swallowed.

A defunct sea serpent may not be much to contribute to civilization, but Nevada trusts civilization will take the will for the deed.

Russell Sage attributes his longevity to his sticking to work. Clipping coupons must be a healthful as well as a pleasurable exercise.

Prof. Ross says Americans are "engulfed in a sea of fads." One of our fads is listening to queer remarks from college professors.

The playful idiots who put apple-jack in a can of church lemonade should have another kind of stick applied to them externally.

P. Ramanathan, the Hindu missionary, says wealth is the American peril. He doubtless comes to remove as much of the peril as he can.

That Massachusetts judge who says an umbrella is private property doubtless will forget all about it when he happens to be out on a rainy day.

Luther Burbank suggests that men be cultivated as plants are cultivated. Men would hardly be worth the trouble. Plants have no innate depravity.

The valued New York Herald reports: "Fatal Deaths in New Orleans. Forty-seven." Yellow Jack seems to be more virulent than ever this time.

King Edward is said to be annoyed when beautiful women enter into open rivalry for his smiles. He might avoid the annoyance by making them form a line.

It will be hard to make the experienced boy believe that a pie-making machine with a capacity of forty pies a minute can turn out the kind that mother makes.

A Jersey City girl slapped a man because he called her a Nan Patterson. She is probably sorry for it now, though. Only one New York paper published a picture of her.

Lord Byron's record swim to the island of Lido in Venice has been beaten by Prof. Zennaro, but if Prof. Zennaro is wise he won't undertake to beat Lord Byron's other records.

A Buffalo judge fined a man $41.20 for stealing a kiss from a girl of that city, which is evidence that they are still charging Pan-American prices there. So don't let them "put you off."

A railroad charged a consignee five cents for demurrage; the latter demurred to paying the sum; the road is suing the consignee, who will, doubtless, demurely enter a demurrer to the demand.

Japan's use of the word "lobster" in a complimentary sense is commendable. In this country the name is often applied in a way that is grossly unjust to the respectable crustacean properly entitled to it.

A man may wear what he wants to, says J. Pierpont Morgan, "so long as he pays his tailor." In that harsh, qualifying clause is found the reason why a large number of men don't wear what they want to.

The house in which Juliet is supposed to have lived at the time Romeo used to sing under her window has been bought by the city of Verona for $2,900. The cable does not say why J. Pierpont Morgan didn't bid it in.

Women, according to the declaration of a New York preacher, are largely responsible for the rascality of the times. This is true, undoubtedly. If there were no women we are positive that not another rascal would ever be born.

THE DETROIT MURDERERS ARE NOW UP FOR TRIAL.

THE SHAMEFUL STORY OF A WOMAN CLEARS UP THE CASE.

THE MEN ARE IDENTIFIED AND THE WOMAN GIVES UP THE DIAMONDS.

The work of securing a jury to try the two men began Monday morning in the Recorder's Court of Detroit, and will occupy several days, as all possible delays will be made by the defense, and several panels will be exhausted before twelve men are accepted. The defense will put up a bitter fight against the strong case the police have made.

A Sad Story of Shame.

Taken from the bed where she lay ill, Mrs. Katherine Ellison, wife of Byron A. Ellison, of 2919 Vine street, Kansas City, Mo., is found to be the mysterious woman in the Moyer murder case at Detroit, who is now held by the officers of that city under the name of "Anna Smith." Mrs. Ellison was found by Lieut. Baker and Detective Downey, of Detroit, who were assisted by Detective Rafferty, of the local bureau. The Ellison home was quiet and did not presage the storm which was so soon to break. Mrs. Ellison was ill in bed, but when the officers entered, expressed her willingness to return with them and tell what she knew of the murder and robbery of Moyer. Her husband, Byron Ellison, is employed as a stationary engineer in the Thayer building at Ninth street and Broadway. Ellison was left in darkness concerning the real import of his wife's last visit to Detroit. He supposed, until Saturday afternoon, he says, that his wife had gone to Detroit as a witness in the case, because she had ridden on the train on which the robbers left Detroit, and had seen them display the jewelry.

"I am amazed!" he exclaimed. Mrs. Ellison is 36 years of age. She and Byron Ellison were married twenty years ago. They have one child, a daughter nineteen years of age, who is married and living in Detroit. Mrs. Ellison is popular with a wide circle of friends.

The diamonds, which the woman had in a canvas bag, complete the full lot taken by the robbers with the exception of two small stones. She fully admits her illicit relation with the man who gave his name as Johnson. Harry Parker is known by the Kansas City police to be one Charles Weakly. He is identified by the Kansas City officers as a young man who has been connected with several of the younger crooks of the city. Weakly lived near the Ellison home, and is supposed to have fallen in with "Tip" Sherman, known as Harry Johnson, and been lured away to Detroit, to take his part in the brutal crime which Sherman had in mind. "The officers say that Sherman and Weakly robbed a number of stores in Independence last spring among other articles stealing a quantity of hardware. This plunder, it is claimed, was concealed in a tent stolen from Fairmount park and set up on the bank of the Blue river, near Sheffield. While the two were engaged in building a boat for the supposed purpose of taking their booty down the river, Mrs. Ellison, it is said, visited them frequently. Before the boat was completed, and in the absence of the thieves, a gang of boys stole the tent and most of the hardware. They were seen making away with the much stolen property and the police were summoned, arriving at about the same time with Sherman and Weakly, who fled at the officers' appearance. This was on July 2, and was the last time Sherman and Weakly were seen in the vicinity of Kansas City, the exact date Mrs. Ellison left for Detroit.

Detective Kinney, of Kansas City, says: "I positively identify this man, giving the name of Johnson as Thomas Sherman, a Missouri ex-convict, and the man claiming to be Harry Parker as Frank Weakly. Both were wanted in Kansas City for burglary. They were the occupants of a tent on the Blue river, where they secreted goods stolen from Independence stores, and 'Kitty' Ellison was with them, at least part of the time, there."

"In searching for the two burglars I traced Mrs. Ellison to Detroit. I found that she had a private letter box engaged at the Detroit postoffice, where she could receive mail without her relatives knowing of it."

Leslie A. Phillips, a Kalamazoo college student from Lafayette, La., has been unable to reach his home because of the yellow fever quarantine and has returned here. He was stopped in both Arkansas and Texas.

John Farrell, of Stittville, Missaukee county, was convicted of the murder of George Temple three years ago and sentenced to Jackson state prison for life.

Lucille Lane, daughter of the president of the Michigan Buggy Co., and Caroline Healy, a guest from Cincinnati, walked the entire 25 miles around Gull Lake Friday in six hours.

William Kennedy, a "trustee" at the Jackson prison, was at work during a heavy rain Saturday morning painting the outside of the walls and disappeared. He was missed and investigation was begun in the Lenderloin district. Kennedy came to the prison from Cass county in 1901 for ten years for burglary. Keeper John Boyd had charge of Kennedy.

Conrad Ochswald, of Kalamazoo, a German and unable to talk English, was greatly disappointed when his linguistic deficiencies prevented him from enlisting in Uncle Sam's navy. He said he had sailed in several other navies.

PEACE NEWS

CZAR'S COUNCIL GETTING WISE VOTE FOR PEACE.

THE GENERALS IN THE FIELD ARE VERY COCKY FOR A FIGHT.

ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL MESSENGER HAS A CONFERENCE WITH WITTE.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Temps, Paris, contradicts the reports sent to the London Times and the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger to the effect that at a conference held at St. Petersburg it was decided not to make further peace concessions. He says that the council, on the contrary, pronounced by a small majority for the conclusion of peace and that the emperor has ordered the Russian delegates to make a new proposition relative to indemnity.

The correspondent adds that the Russian delegates have received the telegrams from the generals in the field urging against the conclusion of an unfavorable peace, as the army feels sure of victory.

The meeting of the peace plenipotentiaries which was to have been held Tuesday afternoon was postponed until Wednesday morning at 9:30. The official reason assigned for this change of program was that the secretaries had not yet completed the work of drafting the protocols for submission for the signatures of the plenipotentiaries. This is true, but there is a more potent reason.

Mr. Witte had not received the final word from St. Petersburg. It was expected Tuesday morning. It did not come, and therefore with Mr. Witte's authorization, Mr. Plancon, who was hard at work upon the Russian protocol, went to Mr. Rato, the Japanese secretary, and suggested the postponement. Baron Komura approved and the announcement was issued.

At 1 o'clock p. m. a personal representative of President Roosevelt was closeted with Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen. The appointment for the conference was made through Secretary Peirce. The conference is supposed to have begun about half-past 12, ended at 1:10, when Mr. Witte and Baron de Rosen entered their automobile and returned to the hotel. The president's messenger remained behind in the naval stores building and lunched with Secretary Peirce. The true reason for the postponement of the session of the conference is now apparent.

Although it seems to be hoping against hope, there is still a possibility that the emperor will take President Roosevelt's advice and take the only step, which the president thinks, can save the conference from shipwreck.

The president's suggestion is not general and vague, but concrete. It is finally rejected it is said not to involve a specific answer, but Mr. Witte is anxious that the emperor shall have full time to deliberate and the Japanese have no desire to force the issue. They will welcome a few days' delay if the delay keeps the door to peace open.

There is a strong intimation that the Japanese are prepared to make a proposition when the conference re-assembles, but there is nothing to indicate that they are prepared to recede on articles 5 or 9. Articles 10 and 11 they might forego, but that would hardly bring peace nearer. Five and nine remain now, as at the beginning, the seemingly insurmountable obstacle to peace.

Article 10 of Japan's demands provides that the Russian warships be turned in neutral ports shall be turned over to Japan. Article 11 calls for the limitation of Russia's naval power in the far east.

While it is impossible to learn the actual contents of the government's communications to Mr. Witte, it can be declared that the requirements of the state make concessions on the questions of indemnity and Sakhalin, as these questions were originally presented by the Japanese, impossible.

ACCEPTED.

Art. ## WANTS A SCRAP.

LITTLE CASTRO NEEDS A REAL SPANKING.

Reports have it that Venezuela has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats, guns and ammunition at the cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than that little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war materials. An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that it was going to fight the Yankees. It is reported that when the Venezuelan chief executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge Wm. J. Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Caracas his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit the emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela.

Sluggers Control.

The Chicago Federation of Labor election, held a week ago, has been annulled, the Dold faction ousted and the "Sluggers" Madden faction, representing the sluggers, installed in office. Some time between Saturday night and 10 o'clock Sunday strong "influence" was brought to bear upon Chas. J. Dold, the man elected president of the federation last week. As a result he failed to appear at the hall. The Madden force then elected an entirely new set of officers from their own ranks. This means stormy times for Chicago, the calling of many strikes upon the slightest pretext, and, incidentally, the disintegration of the federation, as many of the more conservative unions had given warning that they would withdraw if the violent faction secured control.

A $25,000 Cigarette.

Just after work had stopped in the Michigan Washing Machine Co.'s factory at Muskegon Heights Thursday night, a youthful employe tossed a lighted cigarette aside and it fell into a pile of oil waste. Fire started almost instantly and spread rapidly. While workmen were trying to extinguish the flames a large tank of naphtha exploded and the flames were scattered throughout the entire second floor, a hole blown through the roof and the interior of the factory was a furnace in a moment. All of the workmen escaped, but it was thought for a time that the night watchman had perished and his wife tried to throw herself into the flames. He turned up uninjured later. The fire was not under control until 9 o'clock, and then the main building, with a large number of washers were destroyed. The loss is $25,000, partly insured.

Remarkable Explosion.

A recent fatality at the Ludington mine at Iron Mountain was one of the most remarkable chronicled in the Lake Superior mining region. Three men were working at the bottom of the new shaft, which is about 1,000 feet deep. A crew of miners had just finished drilling nine holes and filling them with dynamite. The three—Anton Erickson, William Anderson and Charles Anderson—were connecting the leading wire to the charges of dynamite, preparatory to exploding, when lightning struck the shaft house, ran 1,000 feet down the steel cable attached to the skip, which was resting at the bottom, and exploded the charges. Erickson was instantly killed and his companions severely hurt.

A Rich Cook.

The marriage here of Mrs. Mary Bates, widow of John D. Bates, to Capt. Henry F. Fitzgerald, until lately a British naval officer, has called attention to the bride's strange career. She came to Boston from Ireland 13 years ago and became a cook in the residence of John D. Bates, who eventually married her. When Bates died five years ago he left her a fortune of $8,000,000.

More Homestead Lands.

The president has modified his proclamation of the 5th instant, withdrawing from entry certain lands in the Uintah Indian reservation, and has restored about $5,000 acres.

Ten thousand harvest hands are wanted in the northwest for the wheat harvest, about to begin. Wages range from $1.75 to $2.50 a day. Grand Forks, N. D., wants 3,000; Fargo, 1,000; and a number of others anywhere from 50 to 1,000.

Well, anyhow, he came two weeks ago and got personally acquainted with the widow and they were married. She is 51 and they are so happy that they are going to live in Hesperia.

YELLOW JACK SEEMS TO DEFY THE WORK OF CONTROL.

SECRETARY SHAW SAYS HE LEAVES THE CABINET FEBRUARY 1ST.

AN EARTHQUAKE SHAKES UP THINGS IN SEVERAL STATES.

Fever Spreads.

Despite the confidence of the federal authorities that they have the fever situation practically under control much alarm was caused when nine more deaths were recorded in New Orleans Monday, with 61 new cases. A panic was caused in police court when an Italian prisoner was found in the dock with a fully developed case of yellow fever. The dock and the cell he had occupied were thoroughly fumigated.

The disease is also spreading considerably outside the city. In Mississippi City, Miss., Miss Georgia Money, granddaughter of United States Senator Money, has been stricken. As far north as Gregory, Mo., three cases have developed among Italians in a railroad camp and one has died.

While the leaders in the fight against yellow fever feel that the struggle is succeeding beyond their expectations, there is no disposition to lull the public into a false sense of security. With the deaths, however, running into the fifties and rapidly approaching the eighties at this time in 1878 and the new waves of genuine yellow fever approximating 200 a day, against less than a dozen deaths and 60 cases daily now, there is considered to be every justification for the encouragement which Dr. White announces he feels over the situation.

Shaken Up.

Illinois was shaken by an earthquake shortly after 11 o'clock last night, the most severe in recent years. The shock, in the southern part of the state, especially in the region surrounding East St. Louis, was severe enough to rattle dishes and furniture, cause dogs to bark as if in alarm and children to awaken and cry. Houses creaked and in many instances their occupants rushed out in terror, fearing that the straining beams and joists would give away. As far north as Springfield the shock was distinctly felt. Farther north it grew less perceptible, until in the region of Chicago it was not noticed.

Not only Illinois, but western Kentucky and parts of Tennessee and Indiana were shaken. Messages from the different towns in those states say that three distinct shocks, in quick succession, were felt. The waves of earth motion seemed to be from east to west.

John D. on Parade.

John D. Rockefeller has decided to try the Kneipp cure. After science and medicine have failed to restore his health, he has turned to nature for relief. It was soon after dawn, when the lawn was still wet with dew, that Mr. Rockefeller was seen to come from the kitchen door of his Forest Hill home. Around his form he drew a bathrobe and shivered as the chill morning air toyed about his bare feet. Plunging boldly on, Mr. Rockefeller walked over the grass, apparently not caring who saw him. Possibly he thought that the early hour would prevent curious eyes from prying, but he neglected to count on the milkman, the news carrier and a few belated pedestrians, who stopped on their way to witness the spectacle. After half an hour's vigorous exercise Mr. Rockefeller returned to his room. Beads of perspiration stood on his brow and his face was a ruddy color. He appeared in excellent spirits and seemed to enjoy the exercise.

Secretary Shaw to Go.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw arrived in Detroit via the Grand Trunk Tuesday morning and was the guest of William Livingston.

"Secretary Shaw's visit is purely a social one," said Mr. Livingston, "and there is nothing at all significant in it."

"I leave the cabinet on Feb. 1," said Secretary Shaw. "That makes four years I have been in."

"I never intended to stay so long in the cabinet, but the president wanted me to stay—well, there is no use talking about that now—I would not say anything about it if I were you."

China Must Stop.

It is reported in Pekin, upon good authority, that the American government has notified China that all negotiations for a new convention to discuss the Chinese exclusion act will be discontinued until the anti-American boycott is stopped and has also given notice that China will be held responsible for any loss sustained by reason of the boycott. The Chinese authorities state that they take energetic steps to stop everything of an illegal or disorderly character but that they cannot stop the boycott.

Man proposes—and later on he is apt to wonder how he managed to make such a fool of himself.

The September grand jury will be asked to make another investigation into labor conditions in Chicago. The admission of President Shaw before the teamsters' convention in Philadelphia, that union books were destroyed and changed to prevent prosecutions, will be the basis of the inquiry.

Commander-in-Chief John R. King, of the G. A. R., announces in a general order the appointment of Mrs. Kate B. Sherwood, of Ohio, and Mrs. Sarah E. Fuller and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Turner, of Massachusetts, to be honorary aides on his staff, at the national encampment to be held next month in Denver.

The Contented Man

Contented? What makes him contented?
The comforts that struggles have gained.
Which men discontented invent,
The safety that fighters obtained.

Content in the mire would still wallow,
With troglodytes huddled in caves,
Or find in a tree's ready hollow
The shelter an animal craves.

Content hinders progress and action
And cultivates ignorant sloth.
Counts study a sort of distraction,
And pities the follies of both.

Content maketh freemen dependent,
And fastens the shackles on slaves,
Its motion is ever despondent,
To ditches and paupers' sad graves.

But the reverent, hearty submission
To duty's footstool men bring,
After toiling with little fruition,
Is a different, manlier thing.

THE LAST RESORT

BY FRANCIS GILLESPIE

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Miss Courtwright stood looking down the rose-bordered walk toward the white road. She hummed a little tune and tapped her white clad foot in accompaniment.

For the first time since her mother's death, three years ago, she had taken off her plain black dress, and to-day she was all in filmy white in honor of Billy's coming. She was thinking of Billy as she stood there, of his fresh, boyish enthusiasm, his invigorating personality and his love for her which never seemed to change, although she had told him every Sunday for weeks that he was not the kind of a man she could marry.

And after this dash of cold water, Billy would look very thoughtful for fully thirty minutes.

They had known each other for almost five years. Billy had met her abroad when she had been traveling with her mother, and the tender, fragile little mother had been completely won by Billy's smile.

As for Billy, "I never knew what my mother was like," he said to her once, "but she must have been just like you."

They had been so much to each other, this mother and daughter, and since the mother's death Billy had never missed spending his Sundays in the little town where Mrs. Courtwright had died and where her daughter lived. He realized how lonely the girl must be, and although she would not admit it herself, the impressive stillness of the big house was very trying at times.

To-day was one of those perfect days in June and Miss Courtwright, as she stood in the door was glad, in a vague sort of way, to be alive.

"Dear Billy," she mused tenderly to herself, "I wonder why he doesn't marry some sweet dimpled little girl and leave me to enjoy my spinsterhood in peace." But the smile died out of her eyes at the thought. It was useless to deny that Sunday was the brightest day in the week to her, and the last few Sundays especially had become very delightful memories.

Could she ever forget the time they had broken the Sabbath by fishing in the big lake behind the house, her wild excitement when she had first felt a tug at her line; how they had worked to land the big fish, and how dirty and wet and happy they both had been! She had told him that day, as she had for many weeks past, that she had no intention of marrying him and he had responded, as was customary, that he would not mention the subject again.

Finally Miss Courtwright opened the screen door and moved with a slow grace out on the porch. A tall young man in white flannels was coming up the walk.

"Why, Billy, you're late," exclaimed his hostess, gayly. "But better late than never. Shall we sit here or go down by the lake?"

"The lake for me," answered Billy. Then earnestly, "I want to talk to you, Edith. I have something to tell you."

This was his usual beginning. Miss Courtwright sighed in mock resignation.

"Again," she queried gently, "I thought you were never to speak of that subject."

Billy's face flushed slightly at her words. "I am not going to speak of that subject," he said, slowly, as they sat down on the rocks by the water "ever again." He was watching her face intently as he spoke. "I have met a girl at last who will take your place in my heart and I am going to love her always and try and make her happy. I wanted to be first to tell you this, we have always been such close friends, I never imagined I could want any one else for my wife. But, you see, it's all so useless my expecting you to love me, and I think my future wife cares for me more than I am worthy of. She is one of God's best works, a sweet, straightforward girl, and Billy bared his young head reverently.

Miss Courtwright's absent gaze was fixed on the sparkling water; she seemed intensely interested in studying its blue depths.

After a few minutes she turned her clear gray eyes on Billy and smiled her slow, understanding smile, "I'm glad, Billy," she said, simply, "and I know you will be happy."

If there was a note of sadness in her voice Billy did not seem to notice it.

"Tell me all about her," she continued, "for I want to know something of the girl who is to be your wife."

Thus encouraged, Billy began an enthusiastic description, and Miss Courtwright listened, still with a far-off look in her eyes.

"She is beautiful," he said, vaguely, "and dark haired and altogether adorable."

"Tall," asked Miss Courtwright, whose glorious hair was the color of ripe wheat.

"No, short and plump and dimpled," replied the enraptured Billy.

"I hate dimples," quickly decided Miss Courtwright to herself. But aloud, "I know I shall love her dearly."

Suddenly he pulled out his watch, and started to his feet. "I must hurry off," he announced. "It's too bad, but I have an important engagement in town and cannot stay to tea."

He shook hands hurriedly and went swiftly up the path and was lost to Miss Courtwright's watching eyes.

About an hour later Miss Courtwright made her way to the house and up the stairs to her room; she went straight to her full length mirror and examined herself with unflinching gray eyes. Did it show in her face, she wondered, all of her that had lived and died within the last hour?

"You fool," she said to the girl in the glass, "you utter, utter fool."

Slowly she unfastened the white gown and let it slip to the floor, and from her wardrobe she took a simple black kimono. There was a cynical little smile on her lips.

"He didn't even mention my white dress," she murmured. "I guess that girl wears bright blues and glaring pinks. Oh, how I hate her, I do hate her. How could Billy do it? But it makes no difference to me."

And Miss Courtwright powdered her nose, brushed up a few stray tendrils of hair and went down to partake of her cozy little tea on the porch, telling herself, very emphatically, that she was quite happy. She repeated the apparently obvious assertion more than once during the course of her solitary meal.

And then all at once while the twilight fell Miss Courtwright found herself sobbing quietly.

"Billy," she said, brokenly, longingly, "I love you, didn't you know, dear, I love you, now that it is too late."

And forgetting how happy she was, Miss Courtwright hid her face in a convenient sofa pillow and cried in a hearty unaffected way, much to her own disgust.

For the second time in her young life Miss Courtwright was genuinely, supremely miserable.

She did not see the conscience-stricken Billy as he emerged from out of the shadows in the garden. She did not know of the radiance in his face, but suddenly she felt his arms about her.

"Dear little girl," he told her, while he kissed her tear-stained face, "it isn't too late, it's never too late to mend."

About thirty minutes later Edith lifted her head from Billy's white flannel shoulder and looked up anxiously into his eyes.

"The other girl, the one who had taken my place?" she asked, weakly. "Doesn't exist," said Billy, promptly. "She was only a bluff," and he kissed her on the mouth.

BERNHARDT AND MARIE LLOYD.

When Music Hall Artist Was First and Sarah Only Second.

Sarah Bernhardt has told in her memoirs, recently published, about the result of the final examination at the Paris conservatory, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. She was, she says, almost overcome, failing to receive even honorable mention for her performance in tragedy and obtaining only the second prize for her work in comedy. The first prize went to Marie Lloyd, who afterward became a music hall artist.

Of her chagrin and disappointment on that occasion Mme. Bernhardt writes:

"The tall girl I had pushed went forward, looking graceful and radiant as she arrived on the stage. There were a few protestations, but her beauty, her distinction and her charm won the day with every one, so that Marie Lloyd was heartily applauded. As she passed near me she kissed me affectionately. We were great friends and I liked her very much, but I always considered her a nullity as a pupil. I do not know whether she had received any prize the year before, but no one expected her to have the prize. I was simply petrified with amazement. 'Second prize for comedy,' Mme. Bernhardt said. 'I had not heard, but I was pushed on the stage, and while I was bowing I could see hundreds of Marie Lloyds dancing about in front of me. Some of them made grimaces at me; others threw kisses; some of them were fanning themselves, others were bowing; they were all very tall, all these Marie Lloyds; they were higher than the ceilings; they walked over people's heads and they came to me, seizing me, stifling me and crushing my heart. My face, it appears, was whiter than my dress.'"

Cash.

The preachers in the pulpits and the wise men everywhere who have to earn their "vittles" and the raiment that they wear are earnestly declaring, as men have since Adam's fall, that the rich are far from happy and that money isn't all.

O, their logic is delightful and their reasoning profound—But cash is still a rather handy thing to have around.

The professors keep explaining that the richest men are those who possess the deepest knowledge and are free from petty worries; Much we hear of tainted money and the heartaches that it brings. To its pitiful possessors, the perturbed financial kings: We are constantly reminded of "the last six feet of ground"—But cash is still a rather handy thing to have around.

He that works from early morning till the shadows fall at night, She that sews with aching fingers while her cheeks are this and white, May be heaping future treasures where the saints in glory dwell, But the rich man's auto passes, leaving trails of dust and smell—He is free from toll's exactions, and he probably has found That cash is still a rather handy thing to have around.

—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

French Wit.

Clyde Fitch was discussing French wit.

"The wit of France," he said, "won't bear transplanting. We shouldn't like it here. It is too subtle, too unexpected, too delicate, and, above all, too wicked."

"I heard yesterday a French witicism that exemplifies well the Gallia qualities of subtlety, delicacy and wickedness."

"Two clubmen meet, and the first says: 'What is the matter, Charles? You look blue. Has your wife caught you kissing that pretty governess of yours?'"

"Charles groaned.

"Worse than that," he replied. "The pretty governess caught me kissing my wife."

An Epigram.

During a discussion of Oscar Wilde's interesting posthumous work, "De Profundis," an editor said:

"I had the honor of meeting Wilde in London on the opening night of his amusing comedy, 'The Importance of Being Earnest.' A little group of us got supper at the Carlton and during supper the subject of epigrams came up."

"To Wilde, as the foremost living epigrammatist, the duty of defining an epigram was assigned."

"He thought a moment, smiled slightly, and then, in his low and pleasant voice, he said:

"An epigram is a commonplace couched so adroitly that only clever people can tell what it means."

Unavoidably Detained.

Judge—You are sentenced to twenty years in state's prison. Have you anything to say?

Prisoner—Yes, your honor. Will you please send word to my wife not to wait dinner for me?

Various Kinds of Ivory

Enormous Amount Is Exported from Africa Yearly for Use in Europe—Large Deposits of Mammoth Tusks.

Ivory is, strictly speaking, obtained only from the tusks of the elephant, the finest of which comes from the coast of Africa. This hard, heavy, fluted green or greenish ivory is teamed for its transparency, and because its light yellow or pale blood tint, unlike the whiteness of other kinds which becomes yellow, bleaches with age. The different species of African elephant supply almost all the ivory used in Europe. Its quantity is enormous. The British importation in 1900 was 1,175,000 pounds, which represents 60,000 tusks. One London firm sells 10,000 tusks yearly in billiard balls. Under so heavy a drain the supply must fall, but to fall back upon are remarkable deposits of mammoth tusks which have accumulated on the rivers discharging into the Arctic ocean.

Since man began to express himself in art he has made use of ivory. Here, however, the term has a wider application. It covers the teeth of the hippopotamus, the long tusks of the walrus, and even the single tooth or the narwhale. Under the description of ivories come carving in polished stag's-horn and in bone. The most remarkable of prehistoric ivories is the representation of a head and shoulder of an ibex carved in reindeer horn, which is done with so much science and observation, though the work of a cave-dweller of Dordogne, that naturalists are able to assign it to the ibex of the Alps rather than that of the Pyrenees.

Billiard balls are turned from the most perfect elephant tusks; not necessarily the largest, for the best and most costly are made from teeth scarcely larger than the balls themselves in diameter, and known as ball teeth. Some of the balls turned from even these are better than others. They are of higher grade the nearer they are to the termination of the nerve which runs through the tusk, and the smaller this is, as may be observed in the black speck to be seen on a ball, the better the quality.

Fossil or blue ivory is sometimes found in commerce, and is used occasionally in the manufacture of jewelry. It is evidently from the tusks of antediluvian mammoths buried in the earth for thousands of years, during which time they have become slowly penetrated with metallic salts, which have given them a peculiar blue color, allowing them to be used as turquoises.

Silly Old English Custom

Example of the Follies That Prevailed During the Reign of Charles II—Sir Charles Sedley's Grim Joke.

Amongst other follies of the days of Charles II, it was the custom when a gentleman drank a lady's health as a toast, by way of doing her greater honor, to throw some part of his dress into the fire, an example which his friends were bound to follow by consuming the same article of their apparel, whatever it might be.

One of his friends, perceiving at a tavern dinner that Sir Charles Sedley had on a very rich lace cravat when he named his toast, committed his cravat to the flames as a burnt offering to the temporary divinity, and Sir Charles and the rest of the party were obliged to do the same. The poet bore his loss with great composure, observing it was a good joke, but that he would have as good a one some other time.

He watched, therefore, his opportunity when the same party was assembled on a subsequent occasion, and drinking off a bumper to the health of Nell Gwynne, or some other beauty of the day, he called the waiter, and ordering a tooth-drawer into the room, whom he had previously brought to the tavern for the purpose, made him draw a decayed tooth, which long had plagued him. The rules of good-fellowship, as then in force, clearly required that every one of the company should have a tooth drawn also, but they very naturally expressed a hope that Sedley would not be so unmerciful as to enforce the law. Deaf, however, to all their remonstrances, persuasions and entreaties, he saw them, one after another, put themselves into the hands of the operator, and whilst writhing with pain, added to their torments by exclaiming:

"Patience, gentlemen, patience; you know you promised that I should have my frolic, too."

Prime Causes of Suicide

Avoidance of Physical Labor, It Is Declared, Is a Large Factor in Shaping Conduct of Those Who Are Tired of Life.

Throughout the literature of suicide one will find that the attitude toward wage-earning and work is a larger factor in shaping motives. The dread of being forced to work after a period of leisure, the mad desire to get money by trickery and gambling devices, the scorn with which manual labor is regarded by the "successful," is emphasized by the stories of the newly rich become suddenly poor, and who then deftly escape into the unknown and live on pensions and polite beggary.

But nothing is surer than that work is the primal condition of health and the love of life. It is the doing, the fashionable, the "retired," the woman freed from necessities and duties, that are the disease-breeder and the miserables. The attitude of the fashionable doctors who minister to this unspeakable class is not infrequently blameworthy. They are often encouraged by our rest cures, our flatteries and attentions.

The effort to escape from drudgery is as old as civilization and as ancient as savagery. The investigator sent to study the problem of putting the native African negroes to useful work finds that they simply will not work. Those among the Canadian Doukhobors who would work found that the maligners and lazies were about half, and they preferred to live out of the common treasury supplied by the workers—until the latter determined to abolish the common treasury and to receive and spend their own wages as other individuals do.

Our civilization, economically, is largely a device of the cunning and the lazy to establish a common treasury. The "failure of democracy" is largely the failure to outwit the tricksters.—American Medicine.

Young Doctor's Bad Break

Imitation of the Manners and Methods of His More Experienced Friend Got Youth Into Most Serious Trouble.

Mary A. Livermore was fond of telling the following story:

Years ago, when the members of the medical profession were not so numerous as now, there lived in one of the suburbs near Boston a physician who had a large practice. Dr. X, finally hired a younger and less experienced man to help him and look out for the less serious cases. The younger man was still a student, and was the companion of Dr. X.

One day the elder of the two turned to his subordinate and said: "Henry, you had better come with me to-morrow. I've got to visit old Mrs. Marshall, and if you get a call from her later in the week you'll know what to do."

So together they visited the patient, a sufferer from intestinal trouble.

"Very sick lady, I should say," said Dr. X, catching her wrist. What have you been eating lately—lobster, eh?"

"But how in the world could you know?" asked the lady in surprise.

"Why, by the shells at the bedside. Stop all food of that description, and change the diet. Take this medicine three times daily."

Both doctors then left, and the younger man was the next day alone when a call came for Dr. X. The young man responded. He went into the sick room and took the pulse of the patient, a man.

"Very sick, indeed," said Dr. Henry, with a professional air. "What have you been eating? Ah! too much horse!"

"Horse! Horse!" cried the patient; "what do you mean?"

"I saw the harness on the floor! You'd better change your diet."

"Get out of my house!" cried the old man in a rage. "I sent for a doctor, not a fool!"

Allegory of the Washtub

"I Saw a Woman Washing the Graveclothes of the Dead"—She Washed Them With Her Tears.

The woman of the washtub, She works till fall of night, With soap and suds and soda, Her hands are wrinkled white. Her diamonds are the sparkles, The copper fire supplies; Her opals are the bubbles, That from the suds arise.

The woman of the washtub, Has lost the charm of youth; Her hair is rough and hoary, Her figure is uncouth; Her temper is like thunder, With no one she agrees—The children of the alley, They cling around her knees.

The woman of the washtub, She, too, had her romance; There was a time when lightly Her feet flew in the dance, Her feet were silver swallows, Her lips were flowers of fire;

Then she was bright and early, The blossom of desire,

O woman at the washtub, And do you ever dream Of all your days gone by in Your aureole of steam?

From birth till we are dying, You wash your sordid buds, O woman at the washtub! O sister of the suds!

One night I saw a vision, That filled my soul with dread, I saw a woman washing The grave clothes of the dead.

The dead were all the living, And dry were lakes and meres; The woman at the washtub, She washed them with her tears.

I saw a line with banners, Hung forth in proud array— From Cain to judgment day; And they were stiff with slaughter, And blood from them to bend, And they were red with glory, And she was washing them.

ONE KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN TROLLEY ACCIDENT.

One man was killed and six seriously injured in a trolley accident between St. Johns and Lansing, Sunday evening. The St. Johns ball team had been out at Lansing playing the Oldsmobile employees and were accompanied by a large number of citizens. There were about 200 people on the car and trailer that were to bring them back. The trailer struck an obstruction on the line and was derailed. It ran into the ditch and turned over on its side, pinning a number of the passengers underneath. When it was lifted it was found that 13 were hurt, one fatally and six seriously.

George Burton, who was the most seriously injured, died within half an hour of being taken out. He was chief buyer and manager for John Hicks. He leaves a wife and a child of two years, besides a crippled mother whom he helped to support. The more seriously injured are: Wm. Murray, injured internally; Mrs. Fred F. Murdoch, bruised; Dale Finch, ankle dislocated; Houston D. McCabe, pinned under car and back and shoulder badly jammed, over 50 years old, and is internally injured; Floyd Durkee, arm injured; Edw. L. Dooling, badly bruised and leg broken; Galusha Pennell and wife, both badly bruised.

The Czar's Manifesto.

The publication of the czar's manifesto creating a consultative national assembly, the first step toward a constitutional and representative government in the history of the empire, was received today with the stolid indifference characteristic of the Russian people. While both the reactionaries and radicals were prepared in advance to be dissatisfied, it is the general opinion that the manifesto will become popular when thoroughly understood by the mass of the people.

William D. Moore, of Detroit, who is charged with stealing money from a manufacturing concern where he was employed as bookkeeper, has been pronounced insane.

"The world owes us nothing," said "Bluebeard" Hoch in a short address to his fellow prisoners, "but we owe the world all we have. We are all victims of circumstances, but we must learn to be cheerful and make the best of our position in life. Boys, every person who serves one day in jail should be taught a lesson that he will remember to his dying day. Imprisonment, whether you are guilty or innocent, should not make you bitter against the world; it should teach you a lesson. Do good, it does not pay to be bad. That is my advice to you, boys."

Convulsion, Fits, then Epilepsy.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has been so successful in curing these brain-wrecking diseases that there is every reason to believe that even the most hopeless cases can be benefited, if not fully restored.

We will be pleased to refer any one thus afflicted to many who now enjoy the blessing of health, after years of hopeless suffering.

"I have a son that had brain fever when two years old, followed by fits of the worst type, and he was pronounced incurable. I spent hundreds of dollars for him, without relief. After about fifteen years he became so bad that we sent him to Longcliff hospital for the insane, at Logansport, Ind. He was there nearly three years, but he continued to grow worse, so we brought him home July 29, 1902, in an awful condition. He had lost his mind almost entirely. He hardly knew one of the family; could not even find his bed; was a total wreck. He had from 6 to 10 fits a day. We were urged to try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and before the first bottle was used, we could see a change for the better. We have given it to him ever since, and he has had but two very light spells since last August, 1903, and then he was not well other ways. We pronounce him cured, as he can work and go anywhere. If any one wishes to ask any questions concerning this, they are at liberty to do so."

E. H. BUNNELL, Lincoln, Ind.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

WANTS PRIMARY LAW.

Congressman Townsend Favors Direct Vote in Second District.

At a meeting of the congressional committee of the second district held in Detroit Tuesday, Congressman Charles E. Townsend announced himself as heartily in favor of the adoption of the primary election system in this district under the act passed by the last legislature.

There are several other congressional aspirants, and that all may have an equal chance, Congressman Townsend requested the committee to take up the preliminary work necessary to bring about the change from the convention system to the direct vote of the people.

This was agreed to by the committee and preparation will be made for circulating a petition for the necessary signatures to bring the question of adopting the system to a vote at the spring election.

Michigan State Fair.

With permanent grounds advantageously located on the outskirts of the city of Detroit and new buildings costing more than $150,000, the 56th annual State Fair gives every promise of a successful exhibition of Michigan's agricultural and industrial products. Liberal premiums have attracted the attention of live stock breeders and agriculturists, and the display in this line will be unusually heavy. Seventeen races will be held on the new one mile circle for which purses worth $7,600 have been hung up. The meeting of the Michigan Trotting and Pacing Circuit will be held at the fair grounds during the week of Sept. 11-16.

A novelty has been arranged for the last day of the fair in the automobile races, in which manufacturers of the state will start their cars. Other features are the daily flight of Roy Knabenshue, the Toledo aeronaut, in his dirigible balloon, famous because it is the only airship yet invented capable of flying against a head wind, and Pain's spectacular fireworks display every evening, "The Fall of Port Arthur." Transportation facilities are excellent both for shippers and visitors.

Passed Their Exams.

A very large percentage of those who took the teachers' examination at Ann Arbor Aug. 11 and 12 were successful and were granted certificates. Among them the following from this neighborhood received the coveted diplomas:

Third Grade—Alice R. Heim, Wm. E. Stevenson, Jr., Anna Stevenson, Anna Leone Gieske, Ethel Davidson, Margaret Welsh, Agnes Welsh, Marguerite Collins.

Second Grade—Kate M. Collins, Charlotte Bacon, Mabel E. Bacon.

Renewal—Josephine Hoppe.

The next examination will be held the third Thursday and Friday of October, the 19th and 20th. The reading will be based upon the oration delivered at the laying of the corner stone of Bunker Hill monument by Daniel Webster. As previously stated there will be no March examination and all teachers whose certificates expire next March must get them renewed at the October examination.

A LETTER FROM N. Y. STATE.

An Entertaining Description of Crops and Conditions There

Dear Herald: Here we are in the old Empire State, city of Clyde, 125 miles east of Buffalo. The city and immediate vicinity have derived some importance from the fact that it was here that the writer of this missive was first introduced to the scenes of this mundane sphere (?), an incident of greater importance to him, likely, than to anybody else.

Be that as it may, there are no such striking and radical changes observable here as we are accustomed to seeing in the newer west. In fact, the wide river, the old Erie Canal, the park and the streets seem as familiar to us as they were when the fires of boyhood burned brightly and not a sorrow had broken the charm of youthful fancies.

Two of the great trunk line railroads pass through here—the West Shore and the New York Central—and the traffic, both in freight and passenger, is simply immense. The first of these is double tracked, and the latter, as everybody who has had the pleasure to come this way knows, is quadruple tracked, which reduces to a minimum the possibility of collisions. We came from Buffalo on the "Flyer," which makes but a single stop—Rochester—and averaged exactly a mile a minute.

For the first 25 or more miles out of Buffalo crops of all kinds, save oats, appear unpromising enough; after that they gradually improve until old Wayne county is reached, which, if not the land of milk and honey, is so burdened with corn, oats, potatoes and beans as to be reminiscent of the condition of these crops in the state we left behind us. As in Michigan, so here, the hay crop is almost too large to be harvested. One of my cousins, living about three miles out of the city, has put up considerably over 100 tons of excellent quality and cure, while the shocks of oats in his fields almost crowd each other.

Three to six years ago the farmers engaged extensively in raising sugar beets and onions; now one seldom sees a patch of either. Reason— inability to procure help when needed.

The apple crop, while not up to what it was a year ago, will be very large in the aggregate. This county, particularly the northern part of it, bordering on Lake Ontario, is specially adapted to fruit culture.

This week several families of us, all relatives, drove up to Sodas Bay, some 15 miles north of Clyde, and had as high a day socially and otherwise as one often experiences in this hurrying tide of life. There are at least 1,000 cottages on the islands and about the bay. We spent some four hours on a fine steamer running in and out and up and down the bay, which is five miles long. The finest chestnut groves I have seen anywhere are on the islands and about the shores. The country for miles and miles away is devoted very largely to apple orchards, and the fruit is largely fair. Literally, there are scores of apple dryers among the farmers. Apple buyers are already in the field and are offering $2 a barrel for fair hand picked fruit and 50 cents a bushel for second quality.

I must not claim more of your space now. A cousin of mine is the postmaster here and he tells me that my time is up. So good day until another time. Truly yours,

E. E. CASTER.

MORE LOCAL.

Prof. D. C. Marion will teach the school in the Hudson district, near Dexter, the coming term.

It is said that J. F. McMillan, of Lima, will harvest 3,000 bushels of peaches from his orchard this season.

It doesn't require half as much patience to put a baby asleep as it does to fish, but a man can't see it that way.

It is not generally known that it is against the law to scratch a match on one of Uncle Sam's mail boxes, but such is the case.

The people of St. Joseph's parish, Dexter, will have their annual picnic in Birkett's grove, Dexter, on Labor day, Monday, Sept. 4.

Volo, the Volitant, who looped the gap on his bicycle in the Barnum & Bailey show at Ann Arbor in June last, fell to the ground at Helena, Mont., the other day and was fatally injured.

The Detroit Tribune stopped publication yesterday morning. It has been amalgamated with the Detroit Evening News, and an early morning edition of that paper will be printed, thus making the News both a morning and evening newspaper.

There is going to be a county fair this fall after all. Jay Cook, of Madison, Ind., has leased the fair grounds at Ann Arbor and has contracted to put on a fair Sept. 19-22. The same man will manage the fairs at Jackson, Dowagiac and Ludington.

A Williamston boy caught a young man kissing his big sister the other day. "Here's a quarter, Johnnie, if you won't tell anybody," said the young man. "You betcher life I won't," was the reply. "Jest ask the other fellers if I ever told on them."

A little girl was at church service a few days ago when the congregation sang "Jesus is Calling Today." When she returned home her mother asked her who was at service. The little girl replied, "Oh, everybody was there but Jesus and he could not be there because he was out calling."

A new pest has been discovered to add to the already long list the market gardener and farmer have to contend with. This is a worm about an inch in length, brownish in color, with a whitish yellow stripe on each side, which is destroying the corn. It commences at the silk at the upper end of the ear and after eating that chews an irregular path downward, destroying the milky kernels and stopping the growth of the ear.

She was a bright girl and they were at a baseball game. She had won his enthusiastic heart by understanding the game right off, and he loved her as though she had been his sister. "It reminds me of the household," he said, "the plate, the batter, the fowls and the flies." "And it reminds me of marriage," she added. "First the diamond, where they are engaged; then the struggle and the hits, when the men go out, and finally the difficulty they have in getting home." Then he sat and thought and thought.

Preach Gospel From Autos.

Gospel wagons, gospel cars, gospel tents, gospel bicycles, and now gospel automobiles are used by missionaries in preaching tours. Two pastors in Paris have recently traveled many miles in an automobile, from which they have preached to the large number of country people assembled in market places and at fairs, and distributed leaflets and tracts among them.

honey to supply the whole camp.

The LETTER CARRIERS of the World

In the postal service of every government, the work performed by the carriers is one of the most important features of the system. In the carrier service of the world there are employed many unique methods, and the costumes worn, devices employed and the practices relating to mail delivery obtaining in the various countries are of no little interest. If all the men who are engaged in carrying the mails for Uncle Sam alone were assembled in one place it would be a multitude distinctly notable for picturesqueness and variety. Included in this vast army of United States mail carriers there would be the Indian and his dog sled, the pony rider of the far west, the rural mail carrier, the native Porto Rican and the native Filipino in their quaint costumes, the gray-uniformed carrier of the cities, the native Hawaiian, and the list might be carried on still further. But the costumes of carriers employed by some other governments are even more picturesque and diversified.

Decidedly unique in comparison with the carrier system obtaining in Canadian and United States cities is the method of delivering letters in the Congo district, Africa. The Congo letter carrier is a negro of darkest hue. His uniform, if such scanty attire could be so called, consists of only a breech cloth, with no shoes or hat, not even a necktie to accompany this single and singular article of wearing apparel. The ebony-hued and meagerly clad carrier fastens the letter he is given to deliver to the end of a staff, and holding this in one hand high above his head, he starts on a run for the plantation of the person to whom the letter is addressed.

Over sands and wastes, through small streams and jungles, for miles and miles in some instances, the fleet-footed Congo postman speeds onward to his destination, running full to the door of the plantation house and knocking with the butt of his spear, unless previously intercepted. Having delivered the letter, the carrier's day's work is finished in the event he has made a long trip, and after resting a while and partaking of food, he starts leisurely on his return to the postoffice, to repeat the performance to some other part of the country.

A Veritable Santa Claus.
There is a vast difference between the costume of the Congo carrier and that of the postman who delivers mail in the northern part of Russia in winter. The latter wears heavy felt boots, and, over his heavy blue uniform, a thick fur overcoat, with cap of the same material. He loads his mail sacks, together with snow shoes and other equipment needed in traveling in that cold clime, on a low sleigh usually drawn by dogs. Occasionally, however, the north Russian postman is a veritable Santa Claus, for in some instances he drives a team of reindeer, and the frost on his long beard and the snow on his overcoat complete his resemblance to the benevolent old man that fills the minds of the children at Yuletide. Through the snow and ice the Russian carrier drives his load of mail freight for days and days, stopping at the small post-offices and at farm houses on the way to deliver his cargo of missives.

Warlike in appearance and resembling more a cavalier than a messenger, the Swedish mounted carrier. He wears a dark blue uniform with long frock coat ornamented with brass buttons, while on his head is a peaked cap, on the front of which is pinned a small plated crown and bugle device. Over his shoulders he wears a heavy leather cape. About his waist is buckled a belt, from which a sword is suspended, and in a holster on one side of his saddle is a revolver of large caliber, while on the other is a bugle with which to announce his arrival at the farm houses. In addition to a black leather mail bag, the Swedish mounted carrier also takes with him a postmarking outfit and acts as a postmaster for the families along his route. The Swedish city carrier wears the same blue uniform, with Prince Albert coat and white collar and tie. He also carries a black leather bag.

The French System.
The French city postman's uniform is of the severe military type, dark blue in color. It consists of a short military jacket with red trimmings around the collar and cuffs and brass buttons down the front. The trousers of the outfit are also of blue, with red stripes down the side seams. Suspended at his waist from a strap about the postman's neck is a wooden box bound with leather resembling the outfit of a jewelry peddler on the streets of our American cities. In this box the postman carries his letters and telegrams, calling out the addresses on the missives as he nears the houses whose numbers correspond with the addresses on the letters. The box is also supplied with an ink well and pens, and the lid forms a sort of portable writing table on which the recipient signs for the telegrams which are delivered along with the letter mail. Even in the streets of Paris these mail boxes are carried, and in the residence section of that capital the custom still obtains of crying the address on the letter as the carrier nears the house.

In the lowlands and marshes of France the postmen traverse the country on stilts, carrying their mail sacks over their shoulders.

The Egyptian letter carrier is an odd-looking individual. He wears a loose-fitting robe reaching almost to the bottom of his wide, baggy trousers. On his head is a turban of soft white material. The letters are concealed in the folds of his robe. Celerity and haste are not characteristics of the Egyptian postman. He ambles leisurely along on his route in the discharge of his duties, stopping frequently to poke his head in the open window of some house to chat with the inmate. When he has finished his conversation it probably occurs to him that he has a letter about his person for some member of the household, and just before he leaves he fishes out the missive and delivers it with an air of condescension.

There is a camel post in Egypt for the delivery of mail to the far inland communities. The mounted postman dresses the same as the footman and carries his mail in a small canvas sack.

Japanese Postman's Dual Office.
A novel contrivance is employed by the Japanese rural carrier for transporting the mail. This consists of a yoke about four feet long, suspended from either end of which is a sort of basket with wooden bottom and lid and sides and ends of netting made of heavy cord. The carrier places this curious yoke across his shoulders and delivers his mail on foot, usually running the entire length of the route.

The uniform of the Japanese carrier comprises loose coat and trousers of light blue material, a light cape wholly impervious to water, and a flat sunshade for a hat. In conveying the mail to communities far inland, the carriers employ small hand carts with shafts, the carriers being obliged to perform the double duty of a horse and a postman. In the cities of Japan the mail is carried in small canvas sacks.

The costume of the rural carrier in parts of India is similar to that worn by the Congo carrier, merely a cloth about his loins. The Indian postman carries a long-handled spear across his shoulder with the mail sack tied to the staff. Near the point of the spear are four or five bells which are supposed to announce the approach of the mail man.

When the streams are flooded the rural postman in India floats down the stream astride a log, steering it in to the bank at various points, while he disembarks to deliver mail to the houses along the way. There is also a camel post in India, the carriers being attired with a scantiness similar to the foot postmen.

The town postman in India is a distinguished-looking individual and he struts about with a dignity sufficient for an office of much greater importance. He wears a white linen suit, the coat cut long, while on his head rests a red turban. In most of the large cities of India the carriers wear the usual English uniform.

Australian mail carriers are garbed in pale green uniforms with a red girdle about the waist. The mounted carriers wear long green coats, high riding boots, and strapped to the saddle is a brace of pistols for protection, and a bugle with which to inform the patrons of the carrier's arrival. The mounted carriers are usually accompanied by several fierce-looking dogs as a still further means of protecting the postman and the mail he carries.

No regular uniform has been designated by the Chinese government for its carrier service. One of the interesting features of the mail delivery in China is the packet boat service.

Along small streams in thickly populated portions of that country a special mail boats ply back and forth along the streams, the carriers leaving the boat to deliver the mail to the houses on the route.—Montreal Herald.

An Effective Sample.

A clergyman was very fond of a particularly hot brand of pickles, and finding great difficulty in procuring the same at hotels when traveling, always carried a bottle with him. One day when dining at a restaurant with his pickles in front of him, a stranger sat down at the same table and with an American accent presently asked the minister to pass the pickles. The minister, who enjoyed the joke, politely passed the bottle, and in a few minutes had the satisfaction of seeing the Yankee watering at the eyes and gasping for breath.

"I guess," said the latter, "that you are a person."

"Yes, my friend, I am," replied the minister.

"I suppose you preach?" asked the Yankee.

"Yes, sir; I preach twice a week usually," said the minister.

"Do you ever preach about hell fire?" inquired the Yankee.

"Yes; I sometimes consider it my duty to remind my congregation of eternal punishment," returned the minister.

"I thought so," rejoined the Yankee, "but you are the first of your class I ever met who carried samples."

—Tattler.

Georgia Negress Abroad.

A Georgia negress, Miss Burroughs, made an address at Hyde Park, London, recently, at one of the meetings of the Baptist world's congress. She attracted considerable attention by some of her quaint expressions. Among her oratorical gems were the following:

"It's useless to telegraph to heaven for cart loads of blessings, and then not to be on the wharf to unload them when they arrive."

"The church at my home where I belong is so small that you have to go out to turn around, but it makes Baptists, all the same."

"At a revival meeting down in Georgia so much noise was made that the neighbors were somewhat annoyed. One man asked his cook, Mary, who was present at the meeting, to tell the pastor next time that so much noise was quite unnecessary. 'Have you not heard,' he said, 'how the beautiful temple of Solomon was built without noise?' 'Yes, boss,' replied Mary, 'I know, but we ain't near ready to build our temple; we're just blasting the rock. That's the reason of the noise.'"—Philadelphia Record.

Demand for Hay's Novel.

Since the death of Secretary Hay the renewal of the old controversy as to the authorship of "The Breadwinners," now generally conceded to have been his work, has caused a great demand for the famous novel in the public libraries of the country. The demand is probably equal to that which greeted the first appearance of the book little short of thirty years ago.

INDIAN LEGEND ABOUT BIRDS.

Believe the Great Spirit Made Them From Falling Leaves.

An Indian story that has been handed down and is still believed by many Indian tribes is one about the transformation of leaves into birds. Long years ago when the world was young the Great Spirit went about the earth making it beautiful. Wherever his feet touched the ground lovely trees and flowers sprang up. All summer the trees wore their short green dresses. The leaves were very happy and they sang their sweet songs to the breeze as it passed them.

One day the wind told them the time would soon come when they would have to fall from the trees and die. This made the leaves feel very bad, but they tried to be bright and do the best they could so as not to make the mother trees unhappy. But at last the time came and they let go of the twigs and branches and fluttered to the ground. They lay perfectly quiet, not able to move except as the wind would lift them.

The Great Spirit saw them and thought they were so lovely that he did not want to see them die, but live and be beautiful forever, so he gave to each bright leaf a pair of wings and power to fly. Then he called them his "birds." From the red and brown leaves of the oak came the robins, and yellow birds from the yellow willow leaves, and from bright maple leaves he made the redbirds, the brown leaves became wrens, sparrows and other brown birds. This is why the birds love the trees and always go to them to build their nests and look for food and shade.—Kansas City Journal.

READY WITH HIS EXCUSE.

Clerk Justified Mean Trick by Scriptural Quotation.

A certain tailor of very strict principles was in the habit of excusing the faults of his assistants only if they could justify themselves by Scripture. One day a woman entered his shop and asked to see some material, but refused to buy it because it was too cheap. After showing her some other goods, the assistant brought back the same material, this time asking a higher price, whereupon the customer bought it. Afterward, the proprietor, who had witnessed the transaction, reproved his assistant severely. The latter, remembering the rules of the establishment, replied, "Oh, it's according to Scripture all right. She was a stranger and I took her in."—Harper's Weekly.

Charming Away Rheumatism.

Chronic rheumatism is a disease of advancing life; its aches and pains are most wearing; it cripples so many of our friends that it is not surprising people who begin to feel its grip are ready to try anything and everything for its arrest. A stolen potato worn in the left-hand pocket is a very widely employed charm for this purpose in England. It is one which offers many points of interest to the folk-lore student. It is of great antiquity, dating from the time of the Romans and before. In those days a certain root was carried by such as were anxious to avoid not only disease but other ills.

Coin for the Bride.

In Holland when a girl is betrothed, it is the custom to place a money box, often in the form of a china pig, which must be broken before its contents can be taken out, on the hall table, or some other conspicuous place, and every one who calls is expected to drop a coin into it, which goes to help in furnishing the young couple's house. If the sum put in is a large one a paper is generally attached to it with the name of the giver written on it. It is really a more sensible arrangement than that by which a mass of often useless presents is bestowed on a bride.

Italy Is Beggars' Paradise.

Italy seems to be a paradise for clever and unscrupulous beggars, for it was in that country that Tori, who died a few years ago, reaped his rich harvest of charitable doles. When at last the beggar died his sordid rooms were found to be treasure-houses of silver and gold and securities. When they had been thoroughly ransacked the spoil amounted to no less than 2,000,000 francs, all of which went to two nephews of Tori, who were in a deplorable condition of poverty and to whom the old man would not give a crust of bread during his life.

"Pirates" and "Adventurers."

"Pirate" is a Greek word, coming directly from "Peirates," which means, etymologically, "one who tries" or "attempts"—in other words, an adventurer. "Adventurer," too, is a word that has lost respectability, but not so far as "pirate," which acquired its special sense at least 2,000 years ago. "Peirates" and the Latin "pirata" are known only in this sense. Cicero defines the pirate as the common enemy of all.

The Raven in Folklore.

R. Boswell Smith, an Englishman, has recently made an exhaustive study of the place of the raven in folklore, in religious legends and in literature. It is a curious commentary on the people of some Christian nations that they should hold the raven in abhorrence when the legends, and in some cases the authentic histories of the church, tell them that the bird which they shun was the companion of a dozen or so saints and martyrs who gained rather than lost in sanctity from the companionship.

THE TURN OF LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate their Experience.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, dizziness, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are all just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the very should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried thousands of women safely through this crisis.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

Mrs. Hinkle:
"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the change of life. My womb was badly swollen; my stomach was sore; I had dizzy spells, sick headaches, and was very nervous."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Mrs. A.E.G. Hyland

"I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me and I have passed safely through the change of life, a well woman. I am recommending your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. Annie E. G. Hyland, Chester-town, Md.

Another Woman's Case.

"During change of life words cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the womb. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my distressing symptoms soon disappeared."

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle it will do for any woman at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

A BATTLE CREEK WOMAN

And a Little Girl, of Jackson, Were in a Dangerous Predicament, but a Jackson Physician Settled Their Difficulty and Gave Them Their Freedom—They Tell How It Was Done.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 8, 1905. I had asthma for seven or eight years, and the last three years I was very bad. The past two years I could do no work, neither could I get any relief. I had to do all my sleeping sitting in a chair, and I suffered every hour. I heard that Dr. W. L. Kinison, 25 Dwight Building, Jackson, Mich., was curing very bad cases of asthma, and I commenced treating with him about one month ago, and I was entirely free of all symptoms of the disease after the first four days' treatment. I went to bed and slept well the first night, a thing I had not done before in two years. I have gained in strength and weight, and I feel much better in every way. I do my own washings now, which I had not done before in two years. I hope that everyone who suffers with asthma will go to Dr. W. L. Kinison and get relief.

Mrs. E. L. Gray,

195 W. Main.

Jackson, Mich., July 31, 1905. My 3-year-old daughter had asthma nearly all the time for one year. We took her to Dr. W. L. Kinison and under his care she began to improve at once and in one month was practically free of the disease, and has been ever since, except a few times she would have slight indications of it, brought on by our failure to carry out the doctor's directions—a thing that is difficult to do owing to her youth. I appreciate very much what Dr. W. L. Kinison has done for her.

J. B. Carter.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like to relate the history of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Dr. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a doctor friend of mine advised me to see Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundreds they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, and the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. Consultation Free. Books Free. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.
