NEW PAROCHIAL SCHOOL.

The Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart Lays Plans for One.

One of the most desirable results to the parish of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart arising from the mission just concluded will be the establishment of a parochial school. It is something the worthy pastor, Rev. W. P. Considine, has long and earnestly hoped for and worked toward getting, but the fulfillment of his hopes and desires came to him a little quicker than he anticipated.

At the meeting for men last Thursday evening Rev. Francis Straubinger, C. S. S. R., in the course of his lecture remarked that he was astounded at the fact that the Chelsea parish with 215 families in it had no parish school. He called on the men then and there to remedy this state of affairs by forming a committee to see about it, and said he would like to see a school erected here by next September, which should mark this mission.

A committee consisting of Martin Merkel, Jas. S. Gorman, Frank Staffan, Jacob Hammel and Jacob P. Miller was named to confer with Fr. Considine and Bishop Foley on the subject. On Friday three more names were added to the committee, Rev. W. P. Considine, Chris. McGuire, sr., and John Clark. The committee organized by electing Rev. W. P. Considine, chairman, Jas. S. Gorman, secretary, and Martin Merkel, treasurer.

At the closing meeting of the mission on Tuesday evening, Rev. Fr. Straubinger again brought up the school question and opened a subscription list. With only about half the heads of families present, the handsome sum of $2,970 was pledged, which was increased to $3,070 yesterday by another $100 pledge.

A general plan of the building has already been decided upon, which will be more definitely worked out after consultation with the architects. It is proposed to put up a two story brick building, to cost not to exceed $10,000. There will be four schoolrooms downstairs, which is all that will be put in operation at first. They will accommodate 120 scholars, and in them the work in the primary grades and music will be taught. The second story will be used as a hall, and it will be so constructed that it can be turned into schoolrooms when they shall be needed.

The building will be so planned that additions can be made to it, if necessary, without destroying its good appearance. It is the ultimate intention to establish an academy here if the school should turn out to be the success that is hoped for.

THE DRUM EXPLODED

And Put the Chimney of Will Wolff's House Out of Business.

The family of Wm. Wolff had a narrow escape Monday evening from what might have been a more serious happening than it was. For heating purposes they use in their sitting room a Round Oak stove with a drum attached to the stove pipe upstairs to heat the chamber. They had been using wood in the stove, but on Monday afternoon started to use hard coal. Suddenly the family were startled by a loud explosion upstairs, followed by the sound of falling plaster, bricks, etc. Investigation showed that the drum had exploded, driving pieces of it and sections of the stovepipe into the ceiling and demolishing the chimney outside, besides doing other minor damage.

It is supposed the dust from burning the wood had accumulated in the drum, thus causing the explosion. It was a fortunate thing it was no worse, as the little boy was sitting beside the stove reading at the time it happened.

ROBERT L. BURTON CONFESSES That He Stole the Millen's Diamonds and Is Arrested.

The mystery surrounding the robbery of Homer C. Millen's residence at Four Mile Lake has been solved by the confession of Robt. L. Burton, the coachman and all-around man about the place, and the recovery of the stolen property.

Monday of last week there was taken from Mrs. Millen's bedroom a diamond stick pin and a crescent set with 24 diamonds, valued in all at $500. The robbery was not discovered until Saturday and then they began to get busy to find out the thief.

A young domestic employed in the house, was accused and her trunk was searched, but no trace was found of the jewelry, and suspicion finally turned on Robert L. Burton, the coachman.

Deputy Sheriff Ferguson, of Ann Arbor, and Deputy Sheriff Frank A. Leach, of Chelsea, took up the case Sunday afternoon and Tuesday morning succeeded in drawing a confession from Burton that he had stolen the jewelry, broken the diamonds out of their settings and hidden them under the sod at the foot of a large oak tree just west of the cottage occupied by Claud Guerin. Burton showed Deputy Ferguson the spot and there all the diamonds, except one small one, were found.

The settings of the diamonds have not been found yet, Burton having thrown them into a hole and covered them up with hay. It had rained hard since the time Burton put the stuff in the hole, and when he was taken to the supposed place of hiding on Tuesday morning by Deputy Leach he could not locate it.

Burton was taken to Ann Arbor on the Grand Rapids express Tuesday morning, where he was arraigned before Justice Doty on a charge of larceny from a dwelling in the daytime and was bound over to the circuit court for trial. The complaint against Burton was sworn out by Deputy Ferguson.

IN A PROSPEROUS CONDITION.

St. Paul's Church Had a Satisfactory Showing at Annual Meeting.

The annual business meeting of St. Paul's Evangelical church was held at the church Monday evening. The reports of the committees were read. They showed the church affairs to be in an exceedingly good condition, particularly was the report of the treasurer satisfactory.

The officers elected were: Matthew Jensen, deacon for two years; Emanuel Feldkamp, trustee for three years; John Koch, janitor.

Eleven new members were received into the society and next Sunday they will be received into the church membership. The question of building an addition to the parsonage was discussed and the work will probably be done next spring.

MET DEATH IN THE WEST.

A Former Chelsea Boy Killed in Seattle, Wash.

Tracy Tripp, son of Mrs. P. J. Tripp, of Jackson, and who formerly resided here, was killed at Seattle, Wash., Wednesday of last week. The young man went west from here with Fred Bennett and others a few weeks ago, and it was from Mr. Bennett that the telegram came Thursday conveying the sad news of his death. The remains arrived in Chelsea this morning and the funeral will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at two o'clock. The young man was about 22 years of age.

The coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Wm. Cox and May Camp, who died from poison in Ypsilanti Oct. 25, was as follows: "We find that Wm. Cox came to his death by his own hand by taking some poisonous drug. We find that Mrs. May Cox came to her death by hands unknown to the jury."

BESSEMER'S HEIR TO THE THRONE OF NORWAY MAY ACCEPCT.

SAGINAW SUICIDE'S APPEAL.

Among the Hills With Stolen Money and Jewels—She Was a Michigan Girl—Vincent Pays Up.

May Be a King.

Bessemer may furnish a ruler for the now vacant throne of Norway. Invitations have been received by ex-Representative Louis Munthe, from what is termed the legitimist wing in the Norwegian storting, to visit Christiania and establish his claim as direct descendant of Haakon V., the last independent king, who died in 1319. Mr. Munthe has been a resident of Bessemer for more than a decade. He represented the Gogebic district in the state legislature in 1891, being the only Democrat ever elected to the legislature from this district.

The legitimist party in the storting insists that the Norwegian throne shall be filled by a lineal descendant of the native royal line. It is opposed to giving the crown to any other. It was because of this stand that the invitation was sent to Mr. Munthe, who declares that he can trace his descent from Agnes Haakandotter, daughter of Haakon V.

Mr. Munthe is now an old man, and even the possible achievement of a crown were he to return to Norway is scarcely attractive enough to persuade him to make the trip to his native land. Should further opportunity be made upon him, however, it is possible that he might accede to a pressing invitation.

To Young Men.

With bed clothes wrapped tightly about him just as he had pulled them in last convulsions, George O. Feige, of Saginaw, was found in a room at the Grand Union hotel, where he had committed suicide 28 hours before. Chloroform and strychnine found on the dresser left no doubt of the means employed. On a stand near the bed was a note giving his name and asking that Henry Feige, Jr., of Saginaw, be notified. A letter written in a clear, firm hand and addressed "To Young Men," gave an inkling of the man's history. In it he says:

"I began to go in fast company. My drinking and gambling habits became fixed.

"I lost the only good job I ever had. I braced up for a time, but fell back again.

"It got worse and worse till it has come to this.

"For God's sake, young men, stay away from liquor, gambling and women."

Fled With Money and Jewels.

Somewhere along the range of hills linking Lake Michigan north of Muskegon, Owen Comm, alias Louis Clarke, and his wife and child are believed to be hiding, having in their possession $15,000 of precious jewels and money stolen from along State street, Chicago, during the past three months by a gang of professional thieves. Comm and party left Chicago last Thursday, but sent a trunk on ahead of them. The trunk contained over $7,000 in money and the rest of the swag was on their persons. Their trunk was carted away from the Goodrich dock at Muskegon by an old farmer. Chicago detectives are aiding the Muskegon officers.

Lived in Marquette.

Mabel Beland, the young woman who is featured in the sensational $50,000 damage suit for alleged breach of promise against John O'Neill, a wealthy Chicagoan, for whom she was housekeeper, is the daughter of Mrs. Stack, of Marquette. It is some eight or nine years since she resided there. She was reported to have married the widower of her sister, a man named Keister. The news of her breach of promise suit is a big surprise in Marquette on that account. Her mother's second husband is a locomotive engineer.

Vicious Convict.

An ugly convict, in Jackson prison, Wm. Hennessey, found a rusty old shoe knife and with it he slashed convict John Kretling as he was passing Hennessey's cell at locking up time. The wound is across the breast in a jagged line and though not very deep it is feared blood poisoning may result because of the condition of the knife. There was no cause for the assault.

Hennessey was sent up from Monroe a few months ago for 15 years. Kretling was sent from Muskegon in 1900 for six and a half years for attempted murder and would soon have been released.

Hennessey has been placed in a dungeon, awaiting the result of Kretling's wounds before a determination of his punishment. Kretling is no worse, but is closely watched by the prison physician.

OTHER NEWS

ODESSA'S BLOODY HORROR IS APPALLING IN RESULTS.

NUMBER KILLED IS NOT KNOWN.

The Fury of the Mob Only Ceased From Absolute Exhaustion—There Were Nearly 6,000 Maimed and Wounded.

Unequaled Mob Ferocity.

Owing to the mobs being satiated with two days' carnival of murder and destruction by flame, the revolt against law and order in Odessa began dying down on Saturday, partially, perhaps, because of lack of material upon which to prey. Almost the entire Jewish quarters of Moldavanka, Slobodka and Bugalovka are devastated and their inhabitants have either been killed or wounded or have sought refuge in other sections of the town. It is impossible to ascertain the number of persons killed. Up to Saturday morning 5,657 wounded persons were reported to have been taken to the hospitals. The whole fury of the mobs was directed unchecked against the Jews. During the first demonstration over the emperor's manifesto and the sudden acquisition of "freedom" tens of thousands of men who had hated the Jews through generations became drunk with the desire for Jewish blood, swarmed into the Jewish sections of the town and killed for the very joy of killing.

In some instances the military aided instead of prevented the work of vengeance and fury which culminated Saturday in the quarters mentioned. Every Jew, man, woman or child, who was caught was slaughtered. The methods employed in the work of butchery were too revolting for description. Before the morning's dawn the material had become exhausted and the men who had for the moment become beasts, left the wrecked sections of the city, and though sullen, were easily driven back before the rifles of the infantry.

A trip of investigation over the Jewish quarters confirmed the stories of horrors and devastation. Some bodies, mutilated, of women and children were still unrecovered from the deserted streets. The shops were closed and in the wrecked houses broken furniture was lying everywhere in heaps.

At the beginning of the massacres, the students' militia rendered some assistance and saved many lives, but the police, it is said, disarmed the students and even in some cases shot them with their own revolvers.

Witte's Problem.

Count Witte is getting his hands on the helm and the Russian ship of state is beginning to right itself. Gradually the disorder that followed the promulgation of the constitution giving the people liberty is being put down.

The premier has met the immense difficulties confronting him and the pressure of the demands of the different classes of society with the energy and sincerity that are more and more giving to him the support of the moderate liberals, who have been frightened by the carnival of disorder into which the country has been plunged and the inordinate demands of the proletariat under the leadership of the "reds" and social democrats.

Freedom of the press and general amnesty, except for crime, have followed each other, but Count Witte has steadily refused to yield to the demand for the organization of a national guard on the ground that it would be equivalent to arming the social democrats to fight and destroy the whole government between midnight and morning.

A Sleeping Swimmer.

Deserting his bed for two hours or more, at least twice a week, and then denying that he had been absent at all, caused Mrs. Gabriel Jackson of English, Ind., to become suspicious of her husband and led her to have her brothers "keep an eye upon him." Last night Gabriel slipped out as usual and was followed watchfully by his brothers-in-law while he traveled more than a mile to the old "swimming hole" upon his father's farm, where he divested himself of his clothing and swam to and fro across the pond three or four times. When he emerged he carefully redressed and then returned home and to bed. In the morning he knew nothing of the occurrence till told of it, and could not believe it till brought to the scene and shown the footprints in the sand. The queer part of it is that Jackson was not known to be a somnambulist, though he had been thus afflicted in childhood.

Good health is an assurance of perpetual youth and beauty.

"Please do not say that the family deeply mourn for their dead. For years he has been husband and father only in name. For affection given, only blows and curses have been received in return. It is better for him that he is dead and better for us. Now that the long, dark chapter is ended, do not make us hypocrites by publishing that which is not true." So declared the wife and family of the late William Clarke, of Muscatine, Ia., when reporters called to get his obituary. He died of delirium tremens.

The medical supplies of the canal zone are purchased through the office of the surgeon-general of the army. They include, among other things, guinea pigs and white mice, which are used for experimental purposes; also wooden legs of assorted sizes. Orders are filled for bibles and playing cards among others in the great variety of articles purchased for the canal.

KILLED AND MAIMED.

Escaping gas ignited by a candle carried by two men who entered the basement to investigate the cause of the leak shattered the solid brick building occupied by the Miners' National bank, in Ishpeming, crushed out four lives and injured a dozen others more or less seriously, shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Strange to say, the man who carried the light that caused the explosion were uninjured, although they were blown through a rear window and into a box car standing near.

The dead are: Edward McGraw, aged 12; Stephen Goodman, aged 12, son of B. J. Goodman, logging contractor; Alice McGee, aged 10, daughter of James McGee, master mechanic on the D. S. S. & A., and Edward Klier, aged 11.

The most seriously injured are: Jas. F. Mullins, manager of the Miners' National bank, whose injuries may prove fatal. He and Hans Gunderson, a real estate man, were in the building when the explosion occurred. Gunderson was blown out of the building up in the air and upon the roof of a higher building near by, his life being thus saved, as the fall would have killed him.

Fred Anderson and Erick Peterson were blown through the end of the building and badly burned. Thomas Flannigan, a retired merchant, had one limb fractured, as also did Miss Berdie Ruez. Others who were more or less cut and bruised are Ray Butler, Mrs. P. F. Small, Loretta McGee, Katherine Bright, Mrs. J. M. Keith, Mrs. Geo. Smeltz and Charles Duden.

Those killed and most of those injured were on their way home from early mass. Had the explosion occurred a few minutes earlier there would have been many more fatalities, as most of the church people had passed when the explosion took place.

The force of the explosion was terrific. The stanch building was almost completely wrecked. Portions of the walls were hurled out and the debris was piled high in the street. Citizens were wrought to a high pitch of excitement, and the report spread that burglars had made an attempt to blow the bank's vault with dynamite.

Speedy relief for the injured was offered, and willing hands released those more or less buried in the wreckage. James Mullins was not recovered until two hours were spent in hard relief work.

Ghastly Find.

After two days' work dragging the harbor bottom along the course of the East Boston ferry, the police on Saturday brought to the surface a leather handbag in which the head of Susan Geary was found, together with 20 pounds of lead.

This bears out the story of Wm. Howard and Lewis H. Crawford, under arrest in New York, who confessed to disposing of the girl's remains.

The head is in a good state of preservation and was readily recognized by the officers.

A nurse named Dean is charged with having performed the operation which caused the chorus girl's death. She cannot be located.

Died of Hemophilia.

A peculiar disease known as hemophilia afflicts the family of John Prins. Within four years three sons have died of this disease. The third one dying Saturday. He was a boy of seven years old. He accidentally cut his tongue on Oct. 25 and bled constantly since that time, until he wasted away. The physicians could not stop the flow of blood. The other two boys died at the ages of seven and eight respectively. The hemorrhage in each case was caused by having a tooth drawn.

A Winter in the Ice.

Eleven whaling vessels comprising almost the entire fleet which sailed from San Francisco, have been caught in the ice of the Arctic ocean. They will not be able to get out until next July or August, and in the meantime their crews of 440 men must face the hardships of a winter in the north. The telegram comes from Capt. H. H. Rodish, of the steamer Wm. Baylies, and states that only this vessel and the schooner Monterey were able to escape. Most of the vessels now in the ice left San Francisco last spring and are not provisioned for a stay in the Arctic. Unless the boats are heard from within a short time, it will be concluded that there is no hope for their escape, and the government will be asked to send out a relief expedition to forward supplies to the imprisoned men.

Jacob Haugh, his wife and his son Jesse were cremated in a fire which destroyed their cottage in Dayton, O., Sunday morning. Oliver Haugh, another son, was seriously burned.

For ten years Mrs. Joseph McKenzie, of Ansonia, Conn., had been in the habit of locking under the bed for burglars. She found one at last one night and was so scared that she jumped out of a third-story window.

Thirty years ago a physician told William Booth, founder and generalissimo of the Salvation Army, that his (Booth's) life work was about done, and he had better retire to a quiet country place, where, if possible, there was good shooting and fishing. "I have had plenty of fishing since—for men," says the general, "and have had good shooting—at the devil."

LATE NEWS

ROOSEVELT WILL HAVE A GREAT CAREER SAYS WATTERSON.

THE TARIFF FOR PHILIPPINES.

Conditions in Panama Please Mr. Taft—Alexander, of Insurance Fame, Is Now "On the Rocks."

The President's Career.

A glorious career for President Roosevelt as president of Harvard university after he leaves the White House is predicted by Henry Watterson. He said: "President Roosevelt will round out his career after leaving the White House as president of Harvard university. It will be a fitting and glorious termination of his useful life. He will be the greatest figure in the country as the head of the university."

It was suggested that Mr. Roosevelt might be renominated, despite his decision not to accept a second term; that in some circles it had been predicted that the Democratic party would choose him as its standard bearer.

"Stuff," replied Col. Watterson. "Roosevelt would not touch a second term with a 40-foot pole. I won't say why, and I won't give my reasons for predicting that he will become president of Harvard college, but see if I am not right."

Commenting on the continuous ovation President Roosevelt received during his recent trip through the south, the oracle of the Louisville Courier Journal started to give out an extended interview, beginning:

"President Roosevelt comes south claiming kindred; the south are a most impressive people. Now go away: do you want me to say things I wouldn't say in my own paper? I want 'o go to sleep."

Curtis Tariff Bill.

Philippine tariff legislation will be one of the first of several important pieces of unfinished business brought to the attention of congress when it convenes in December. Advocates of free trade between this country and the archipelago are determined to see to it that the excuse of lack of time made last winter shall not avail at the coming session. The bill of Representative Curtis providing for a duty on sugar and tobacco at 25 per cent of the Dingley rates and all other imports free will be introduced again at once. Representative Payne has prepared a bill providing that all imports from the islands, including sugar and tobacco, shall come in free of duty, but not to take effect until 1909, when the provision of the treaty with Spain relating to her trade with the Philippines shall have ceased to be operative.

Good Progress.

Secretary Taft says he is very much pleased with the situation in Panama, which he said, he found, had greatly changed for the better since his last trip. He thought from what he had already seen that the work on the canal was progressing satisfactorily and that the work was now efficiently organized. He said he was happy to note the spirit of the men on the canal had improved and that the depression of five or six months ago did not exist. All of them seemed to enjoy life there and were interested in their work.

The secretary said he had found the sanitary conditions excellent and believed that by continuing the present methods yellow fever could be controlled, or at least its ravages considerably diminished.

"On the Rocks."

A dozen or more insurance financiers were assembled in a room just prior to the exposure of the affairs of the Equitable Life. Its president, Mr. Alexander, stood before them and pleaded for a change of method, announcing the course he proposed to take in case of their refusal. He could endure existing conditions no longer. They said, "It will ruin you." He replied, "I know it."

"There is a saying of the ancients. 'Let the man who has the fewest years to live be the sacrifice.' I am the oldest man present. 'You with your millions may weather the storm. I shall go upon the rocks, but conscience will be clear.'"

This was said in a sermon by Rev. Dr. H. A. Stimson, of the Manhattan Congregational church, and is the first hint given the public that James W. Alexander is irretrievably broken in body. He is all but hopelessly broken in mind. He is broken in spirit. His family name, which he revered above all things, and which since long before the revolutionary war was synonymous for honesty, integrity, fair dealing and uprightness, has been assailed and tarnished.

Tallow candles are being used in the city of Winsted, Conn., rather than gas, upon which a monopoly in the city recently raised the rates from $1.50 to $2 per thousand feet.

Senator Burrows, of Michigan, the chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, said in Washington that he expected to have the case of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, disposed of before the term ends.

Anton Rodonick, of South Chicago, while in a somnambulist state walked out of his house in his night attire, broke a plate glass window of an undertaking establishment and entered. He was found several hours later asleep in a coffin. He was promptly taken in charge by the police.

Because she refused to let him inspect her lungs by means of the X-ray in a hunt for suspected tuberculosis germs, James E. Zook, mayor of Ballard, Wash., broke his engagement with Miss Rosa E. Grover, and has been sued by that young woman for $25,000 damages for breach of promise.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day; in the afternoon I plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Previously I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles, and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerably for an old man, 54 years old."

H. D. McCall, Frost, Ohio.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

JUDGMENT FOR $108,862.33.

Russell Sage's Big Claim Against W. A. Boland and Others.

Russell Sage has obtained a judgment in the supreme court of New York state for $108,862.33 against Wm. A. Boland, Frederick Cochen, Daniel L. Lewis, H. W. Hedenberg, Patrick H. Flynn and John McCarty on a claim for $100,000, the face of a note made by Boland on Nov. 1, 1902, the other defendants guaranteeing the payment of the note.

As security for the payment of the note there was deposited with Mr. Sage 108 first mortgage $1,000 bonds of the Jackson & Ann Arbor Railway Co. After the note had gone to protest the collateral given by Boland and the others was sold in March last, but only $9,000 was realized from the sale. The expenses of the sale brought the amount down to $8,921. The interest on the claim amounted to $17,783.33.

An Old Resident Gone.

Andrew Barth, a well known resident of Sylvan township, died Friday, Nov. 3, after an illness of four weeks, from the gradual decay of old age. He is survived by a family of six sons and five daughters, besides 14 grandchildren. Six of the children were present at the funeral.

Mr. Barth was 83 years and 23 days old. He was born in Hueffenthal, Baden, Germany, and came to America in 1856. All of his life in this country was spent in this vicinity except one year.

The funeral services were held at St. Paul's Evangelical church Sunday, Rev. A. A. Schoen officiating. The remains were interred in the Vermont cemetery.

Time to Quit.

Bill Peck in the Fowlerville Standard says:

When you can't play pedro without getting mad, it is time you quit; when you can't go to church without going to sleep, it is time you quit; when you can't take a drink without getting drunk, it is time you quit; when you can't dicker with a friend without stealing or telling a falsehood, it is time you quit; if you can't belong to a church without loving the minister, it is time you quit; if you can't chew tobacco without spitting all over the sidewalk, it is time you quit; if you can't live any longer without drawing your breath, it is time you quit.

A movement is on foot in the order of the Ladies of the Maccabees to secure the removal of the offices of the great record keeper of the order from Ann Arbor to Port Huron, where the Knights of the Maccabees are building a new temple.

Frank Travers, a Hartland, Livingston county, farmer, sold his crop of apples for $500 on the trees.

Grass Lake expects to have its electric lighting equipment installed and well lighted streets by Jan. 1, 1906.

B. H. Whitney, the Detroit theatrical manager, is negotiating for the lease or purchase of the Athens theatre, Ann Arbor.

Daniel Stringham, of Manchester, has a $2 wild cat bill issued by the Bank of Manchester in wild cat days, which is dated Nov. 20, 1837.

If the postage stamps sold at the Ann Arbor postoffice during the month of October were placed in a row they would stretch a distance of three miles. That's going some, too.

Mrs. Catherine Tuite, once a lady of affluence in Dexter, is now living in two little rooms in Detroit, a subject of charity. She is past 70 years old and has been an invalid for several years.

Prompt action and efficient work was all that saved Dwelle, Dewey & Co.'s bean warehouse at Grass Lake from going up in smoke the other day. As it was the loss was only about $100.

The Ann Arbor post office building had a close call for a serious fire Thursday night. The night clerk and the janitor extinguished the blaze, which started among some old papers in the basement.

Wm. Herman, of Ann Arbor, dislocated his foot in a bad manner Oct. 27, so that one of the bones pushed through the flesh. He was getting along nicely when on Saturday last lockjaw set in. He declined to have an operation performed, which might have saved his life, and he died Sunday night.

Ann Arbor will have a hospital for contagious diseases. The proposition to add $8,000 to the general tax for the purpose of building it, carried Thursday by 234 to 49. Arrangements will be made with the university for a location and for its care and maintenance, for the clinical benefit it will be to students.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor & Detroit electric road is up against a peculiar condition in Petersburg. They have all their right of way secured except across one man's lot in Petersburg. The company proposed to institute condemnation proceedings in the case. The son of the owner of the lot is an attorney and in order to circumvent the railroad company, conceived the scheme of organizing a railroad company and deeding the lot to it. So the Michigan, Ohio & Indiana company was incorporated with the smallest possible capital stock and deeded the land. There is a statute which provides that one railroad company may not condemn the right of way of another railroad company unless it has been unused for three years. The electric line could not wait that long, as they expect to be running by next July, so they had recourse to the circuit court of Monroe county.

Congressman Charles E. Townsend delivered a magnificent and classic address on "The Issues that Confront Us" at the commencement exercises of the Cleary Business College, Ypsilanti, Friday evening. He was warmly applauded for the splendid effort.

The Great Hive, L. O. T. M. M., has added 13,000 new members to its rolls during the past few months. At an initiation to be held soon in Chicago a class of 1,000 candidates will be received.

J. L. Sibley has just completed the rebuilding of the horse barn on his farm northwest of town. New roofs have been put on some of the other buildings and a cold storage cellar built in the basement of his largest barn, which has been enlarged for the purpose.

A young married lady got on the train with her new born babe and didn't have time to purchase a ticket in advance. She tendered a $5 bill to the conductor for her fare. As the official took the money he glanced down at the babe and inquired: "Haven't you anything smaller?"—meaning the bill. She replied: "No, I've only been married a year."

Rev. G. W. Gordon and family were recently given a pound social by the members and friends of the Dexter M. E. church. The donations comprised a variety of good things to eat, chief among which were 80 pounds of granulated sugar and 75 pounds of flour. The social afforded the people a chance to get acquainted with their new pastor and his family.

The report of the treasurer of the W. H. M. S. of the Detroit conference of the M. E. church at the annual conference held last week showed the society had raised the past year practically $5,000 of the $7,500 pledged by the conference toward the silver anniversary jubilee. Only 100 new members were added during the year, with the Ann Arbor district the leader in gains.

The Glazier Store Co. will erect a new three story factory building 150 x 200 feet in which to manufacture gasoline stoves. It will be provided with automatic fire sprinklers, electric elevators, modern machinery and up-to-date appliances. It will also establish a welfare department, similar in many respects to that of the National Cash Register Co., at Dayton, Ohio, for the benefit of its workmen.

For colorwork, presswork and general beauty and usefulness the December Delineator is conspicuous among the Christmas magazines. Eight paintings by J. C. L. yendecker, illustrating and interpreting the twenty third Psalm, is the most extensive color feature of the number, but a painting by Alphonse Mucha, accompanying a poem, "The Mother of Bartimeus," by Theodosia Garrison, is fully as notable as an art work.

WOMENS' WOES.

Michigan Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does not seem fair that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys.

Mrs. Geo. Lane, of Canal street, Three Rivers, Mich., says: "I am somewhat afraid to tell that one box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of rheumatism and kidney complaint, after the way I had been laid up and doctoring for three years, but nevertheless it is the plain facts of the case. My back ached continually and I often said I would give $5.00 for one night's sleep. I was also troubled with rheumatism, could not leave the house, and ever so often was laid up in bed four or five weeks at a time. Dizziness bothered me a great deal, coming on all of a sudden, when I had to take hold of something to prevent falling. I was treated by doctors nearly all the time, but as I did not improve, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and the result was one box cured me of rheumatism and kidney complaint and I have not been troubled with either since."

The Michigan Central has a quantity of sewer pipe on the station grounds, which is to be laid down so as to carry off the water from the eavetrough and conductor pipes. A petition to the common council asking them to establish standard time in Chelsea was circulated among the business men and others during the past week. It met with such favor that 96 per cent of those solicited signed it. Such unanimity of opinion can but result in one thing, the establishment of one time instead of the everlasting nuisance of having to calculate forward and backward when giving the time of day as is at present in vogue here. The council will act in the matter at its next meeting.

THE MISSING MAN

"This letter was found by Detective Swan, or rather by Mrs. Fry, in the lining of Edes' coat, but through his efforts, and he transmitted it to Detective Bruce. It would be produced in court in due order of the testimony. The rest was known—the claim to Mr. Hamilton's estate and family. At this point nothing would be said about the motive, which was only too apparent, but allusions must be made to a serious charge against Henry Ashley, alias Primus Edes, for the murder of his wife, the beautiful, unfortunate Lenora, who died of poison but two weeks previous to the claims set up by Edes. She received by mail a poisoned ring, and was asked to wear it in remembrance of her husband, who would soon return to her. The name signed was Henry Ashley, and it had been proved that after wearing the ring a week she died. The body was buried, but afterwards disinterred, and it was proved that she was poisoned by the ring, without doubt. This charge would be proven by competent witnesses to be true. It was very startling when taken into account with Edes' infatuation for Mrs. Hamilton, and his claim that she was his wife.

"You will see how diabolical was his plan, and you can also see his motive. But for his love for Mrs. Hamilton he would never have dared to thrust his claim before the public; but as Samson was short of his strength by the fair hands of Delilah, so has many a weaker man been robbed of his reason by love of woman. Mr. Hamilton's course has been straightforward throughout. Having nothing to conceal, there have been no efforts at concealment. He warned Edes not to come near his house, as you or I would have done. But when he heard the shot fired he jumped from his bed, rushed out, saw that he was lying wounded upon the ground, and forgot his displeasure in doing all that he at the time when he returned; and she had no other reason for her denial except the absurd one of 'individual odor,' something which never before had been broached in any court of justice. She had fainted when she first saw him, which fact spoke of instant recognition, but claimed to have immediately afterwards doubted him by the absence of the individual odor.

"The futility of such reasoning as this must be apparent to every one who heard it. A matter of breath or diet! It was not worthy of the least consideration. But other matters were. At the moment of his return Mrs. Hamilton was talking with Mr. Allen about the monument, which was just completed, to be erected to the memory of her husband. She was dressed in black; but she was far from being unhappy, for she had other hopes in her heart regarding the unknown Primus Edes, who in some mysterious manner had succeeded in getting a note on her heart and sympathies. She fainted because she saw her hopes dashed to the ground by the return of her husband, whom she had thought dead.

"But all this time her husband had been suffering with a mental malady that robbed him of memory. What he did or did not do at that time could not be discovered. He went away on Friday, the fifteenth of May; he returned January twenty-fifth; and the interval was filled in with labor to support his necessities. Could anything be simpler of understanding than this?

"He took no cognizance of what went on during his absence—the bank troubles, his wife's hollow grief, the half-hearted search for him, the monument to be set up in the cemetery. He knew nothing of all this, and when he returned to Grovedale he was greatly astonished at the turn affairs had taken. He did his best to set them right, took up his place at the mill, and would have subsided into his old relation, unquestioned by any one, has been adduced to give some idea of Mr. Stone's able and effective plea. There was no doubt it had been well considered, and it evidently bore upon its face the individual belief of the lawyer. At its close friends gathered around him, and both he and Mr. Hamilton were warmly congratulated, for court had adjourned, it being near noon.

The claimant Edes came in for a good share of the popular attention during the plea, for he seemed instinct with determination and defiance. When allusion was made to Mrs. Hamilton he was seen to clench his hand and start wrathfully in his seat, and he leaned forward to say to his counsel, Mr. Stevens, that he was glad she was not present.

Mr. Stevens was not glad. He felt that she had been in court Mr. Stone's speech must have lost some of its acrimony, and that her calm, ladylike demeanor would have presented a speaking contrast to his words. However, the opportunity had passed, and the counsel for the prosecution trembled for the result.

Mr. Stevens began his argument at about two o'clock, and he rejoiced when he saw Mrs. Hamilton enter the court room, for her presence nerved him to greater effort and belief in the justice of the cause he advocated.

He spoke of the able and exhaustive argument of Mr. Stone, and of the manner in which the evidence had been presented to make it show to the best advantage. "No men know better how to conceal weak points than they," but in this case they had overdone the matter.

When the two men met at Portland depot—as they most assuredly did meet on the Friday in question—the respondent had ample opportunity to see for himself the condition of the true claimant's mind at that time. It was perfectly evident that he had forgotten his own name; and when after the supposed death of his victim he came here to take the place of his brother, to fraudulently take possession, what course would look so plausible as to pretend he had lost his memory, as he knew the other to have done. This would account for the long absence, the probable manner of Hamilton on his way to Portland, and the inconceivable lack of knowledge regarding people and events which would of necessity recur to him. He could lay it to lapses of memory, as he had done more than once.

The respondent, who was in reality Ashley himself, was a man of great resources, of great fertility. He came to Grovedale to step into his twin brother's possessions, after the supposed death of the true Vane Hamilton; and he laid claim to the latter's manner, peculiarities, and so forth, much of which was natural to him. The great resemblance was true and undoubted, but probably no greater than is often observed between twins of both sexes.

Habit Was Too Strong.

The force of old associations, as Samuel Beverly learned one Sunday morning, is something against which to be on guard. After thirty years of service as a railroad man, chiefly in the capacity of conductor, Beverly had retired, and was spending his days quietly in his native town.

Just after he had taken his accustomed seat one morning in church, he was requested to perform the duty of an absent deacon, by assisting in taking up the collection. He was proceeding decorously along the aisle with the plate, when, halfway down the aisle, he came to the Atkinson pew. On this morning Mrs. Atkinson's Uncle Harvey, who happened to sit next the aisle, had dropped off into a pleasant little nap.

When Beverly espied the old man, he unconsciously doffed the demeanor suited to the place and in a twinkling became official. He tapped the sleeping man on the shoulder.

"Ticket, please!" he demanded, sharply and audibly.—Youth's Companion.

In Fly Time.

Charles J. Bonaparte, the new Secretary of the Navy, writes a neat and beautiful hand.

A reporter, on a hot afternoon not long since, complimented Mr. Bonaparte on his chirography, and to the compliment the secretary replied: "At the seaside I once heard a little girl make a remark about her father's writing that would not have applied to mine.

"The little girl was reading with her mother in the hotel office. On the table before her was an ink bottle and some clean stationery, and as she read a fly got into the ink. The fly, after a hard struggle, emerged from its black bath, and in an exhausted and dragged condition it trailed itself slowly and with great difficulty across a sheet of snowy paper.

"The little girl, regarding the fly's track across the page, exclaimed: 'Oh, mamma, look! Here is a fly that writes just like papa!'

Diplomatic Small Boy.

To illustrate a point of statecraft Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the English statesman, has been telling his constituents a story of a small boy who went to his mamma and asked her to lend him a pencil. "But," said the mother, "I left a pen and ink for you to do your lessons with on the nursery table. Why don't you use that instead of a pencil?" Clarence hesitated for a moment. "Don't you think, mamma," he said at length, "that the Times is a very useful paper?" "Of course, I do," answered mamma, "but what—?" "Well, you see," the little lad explained, "I want a pencil to write to the editor and ask him what'll take ink stains out of a carpet."

CAPT. GRAHAM'S CURE.

Sores on Face and Back—Tried Many Doctors Without Success—Gives Thanks to Cuticura.

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing under date of June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment did it."

Walking a Lost Art.

The elevator and the street car are doing damage to man's anatomy. Every elevator boy can tell of instances where a man will push the electric button till it rings like a general fire alarm, call the elevator from the basement, get in at the seventh floor and as the car begins to drop shout "sixty!" There are busy men who will wait ten minutes for a street car to ride on block. As for long walks in the country and the exploration of fields and woods, why, perish the pernicious thought! On Sunday, after a week cooped up in the office or the shop, a man must spend his week's earnings to go buggy or in an auto. Even the tramp would rather steal a ride on the truck of a freight car than be true to his name. People ought to walk more for recreation. It is a fine way of seeing the near-by country. It is exercise that gives strength to the body and the brain.—Washington Star.

Both Thought of Same Subject.

Herbert Russell sends a literary coincidence: "My father, W. Clark Russell," he writes, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me: 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from Mr. W. S. Gilbert, the well-known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Living Mummies.

Living mummies exist in Tibet in small caves in the solid rock, each built up in front with stones and mortar. They have padlocked doors, tiny drains, and small holes, just sufficient for a man to pass his hand through. In these cells men are buried for life with the idea of thus "attaining merit." Once interred they are, in extreme cases, never seen again by mortal eye. Their death is only made known when they fall for several days to stretch out the hand for food.

All on Account of the Weather.

An Emporia man went around the other morning blaming the weather for making him sick. Before he went to bed he had three bottles of beer, several hamburger sandwiches with onions, cheese, rye bread and finished off with a particularly bad cigar. He says he didn't sleep at all, and no one wonders. But what has the weather to do with his health?—Emporia, Kan., Gazette.

Catch Fish With Poison.

The natives of Guam used to catch fish by poisoning them with the juice of the fruit of a tree known as the Barringtonia speciosa. The Spanish government forbade this wasteful method, but since the island has passed under American control it has come into use again.

OLD FASHIONED FARE

Hot Biscuits, Griddle-Cakes, Pies and Puddings.

The food that made the fathers strong is sometimes unfit for the children under the new conditions that our changing civilization is constantly bringing in. One of Mr. Bryan's neighbors in the great state of Nebraska writes:

"I was raised in the South, where hot biscuits, griddle-cakes, pies and puddings are eaten at almost every meal, and by the time I located in Nebraska I found myself a sufferer from indigestion and its attendant ills—distress and pains after meals, an almost constant headache, dull, heavy sleepiness by day and sleeplessness at night, loss of flesh, impaired memory, etc., etc.

"I was rapidly becoming incapacitated for business, when a valued friend suggested a change in my diet, the abandonment of heavy, rich stuff and the use of Grape-Nuts food. I followed the good advice and shall always be thankful that I did so.

"Whatever may be the experience of others, the beneficial effects of the change were apparent in my case almost immediately. My stomach, which had rejected other food for so long, took to Grape-Nuts most kindly; in a day or two my headache was gone, I began to sleep healthfully and before a week was out the scales showed that my lost weight was coming back. My memory was restored with the renewed vigor that I felt in body and mind. For three years now Grape-Nuts food has kept me in prime condition, and I propose it shall for the rest of my days.

"And by the way, my 2½ year old baby is as fond of Grape-Nuts as I am, always insists on having it. It keeps her as healthy and hearty as they make them." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

MOURNING THAT WAS SINCERE.

Loss of Mrs. L. B. Smith Evidently Was Deeply Felt.

The following appeared in a Maine newspaper a few years ago, only the names of the parties being changed: "Oh, how we miss dear Mrs. L. B. Smith, whom death has so recently taken from our midst! There was no one lady at the village whose loss would have been felt by so large a circle of friends as hers, for she was a dressmaker of extensive patronage and noteworthy patience. It will be a long time before we get accustomed to living without her. Why she was taken from us in one of the questions in the long list only to be answered in eternity. She leaves a companion, a sister and a brother. The beautiful home is so lonely without her beautiful presence there, we would quote a remark from Undertaker Jones. When he had finished his task he gazed for a moment into the casket, and then, turning away, he said: 'That is the handsomest corpse I ever prepared for burial.' She has a father, mother and sister in the spirit land. We trust they are an unbroken band, waiting to welcome the remaining ones as the death angel pilots them to the other shore."

Ask Your Neighbors.

Gelatt, Pa., Nov. 6th (Special).—Mrs. H. W. Sterns, a well respected resident of Gelatt, tells in convincing words, what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for her. She says:

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism, caused through my kidneys being out of order. I was subject to it for years. It would take me without warning, and while the attack lasted I was so lame I could not get around. So I had to send for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took them for three days, but didn't feel much benefit, but on the fourth day I noticed a great change, the lameness in my back was gone, and the pains I used to suffer were less. I kept on with Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I am glad to say I have no lameness nor pain of any kind. I feel as if I didn't know what Rheumatism was. I shall never be without Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house, and I bless the day I first heard of them."

Shock to Physiognomists.

Dr. Barnardo, the great London child saver, was once discussing crime and criminals with a Scotland Yard expert and expressed his disbelief in the theories of heredity and criminal physiognomy. He produced two photographs of two well-known men and showed the faces only to the expert. "One," he said, "is that of a once notorious criminal and the other is that of a notably good man. Tell me which is which." Without hesitation the expert designated one of the photographs as that of the notorious criminal. Dr. Barnardo was triumphant. The expert criminologist had chosen the photograph of an archbishop of Canterbury.

Sisters and Brothers.

Don't snub your brothers. They are lovely things to have around, if only treated half-way decently. Unfortunately, girls forget that brothers also grow up, and they go on treating them as if they were boys. This leads to friction, and very often disagreeable repartee, when it is least wanted, and is most disagreeable.—New York Press.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give one Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

CONSTIPATION AND STOMACH TROUBLE CAN BE CURED

J. S. Janssen, President of the Milwaukee Retail Druggists' Association, Talks on the Dangers of Constipation and Stomach Trouble.

"Have you noticed the large number of cases of typhoid fever lately?" said Mr. J. S. Janssen, a Druggist representative. "To my notion typhoid fever, malarial fever, appendicitis and many kindred complaints are the result of constipation, which in many cases is allowed by the patient to run along without proper treatment. You will remember when you were a child and the doctor was called, his first prescription was a dose of castor oil! All physicians know the value of having the bowels thoroughly opened. People, when they grow up, allow constipation to become chronic through lack of attention. Constipation is the failure of the bowels to carry off the undigested food, which collects in the alimentary canal and there decays, generating poisonous disease germs. These germs find their way into the blood by means of which they are carried to every tissue. The fever thus created affects not only the lungs, kidneys, stomach, heart and nervous system, but in fact every organ of the body is liable to break down as a result. The blood becomes thin and watery. The sufferer loses in flesh and strength. Castor oil and pills will not cure an affliction like this. Something more than a laxative is needed. There are many physics on the market, and we sell a great many of the kind in the city. I do not often talk about manufactured medicine, but the high esteem in which Mull's Grape Tonic is held by the drug and medical fraternities has impressed me and I know from actual experience right here our store that Mull's Grape Tonic cures constipation and stomach trouble positively and permanently. Mull's Grape Tonic is not a physic, but it immediately clears the bowels of the decaying food because of the peculiarly strengthening effects it exerts over the organs of the digestive system. As a tonic it is superior to the so-called cod liver oil compounds. It builds flesh faster and creates strength quicker than any other preparation known to medical science. The ingredients are positively harmless, made mainly from crushed grapes and fruits. Although a full bottle might be taken at once, no inconvenience would result. I only wish that people paid more attention to these little details, which in themselves in the beginning are of so slight importance, but which grow in magnitude until the most serious trouble and some deadly disease fastens itself on the constitution. There is really nothing easier to take than Mull's Grape Tonic. I hope you, through the influence of your paper, can bring the readers to a sense of the gravity of allowing constipation to become chronic."

Whose advanced years have caused a general weakened condition of their bodily functions, causing indigestion, constipation, sluggish or torpid liver or impoverished blood? There is no doubt in the wide world that will tone up the worn-out system like Marvin's Cascara Chocolate Tablets. By their tonic effect upon the tiny cells that constitute the muscular coat of the bowels the loss of tone is repaired. The normal secretions are stimulated, the circulation of good, healthy blood in the intestinal walls is re-established, and instead of a sluggish, unhealthy state of the whole digestive apparatus, the patient is restored to his old-time vigor.

These tablets are purely vegetable and can be taken without any nauseating effect into the most delicate stomach.

We want every afflicted person to try these tablets at our expense. Send your name and address and we will gladly mail you a free sample.

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health Is the Great Source of the Power to Inspire and Encourage—All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, whites, irregularities or the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I suppose few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and headache. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality." Mrs. Bessie Ainsley, 611 West 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Conspectious among the adornments of the bridal feast in Brittany is an artistic and elaborate buttermilk structure as fanciful and elegant as the most beautiful of cakes, and into this structure the guests stick split sticks bearing coins of gold or silver.

Special Hearse for Giant.

A hearse had to be specially made at Rawtenstall, England, for the burial of James Nuttall, "the largest man in Lancashire." The coffin, which was six feet four inches long, three feet wide and two feet deep, was carried by twelve bearers.

IF YOU ARE A WOMAN

What Mrs. Ford Says Concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Surely Interest You.

"I wish I could help other women get rid of certain physical troubles as completely as I have succeeded in getting rid of mine," said Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Poughkeepsie, Miss., recently. "You know," she continued, "that a woman's health depends chiefly on the regularity of just one function. If she fails to keep that properly regulated she has no end of physical misery. I suffered from that one cause for two years, during one of which I was kept in bed all the time. I tried medicines enough to cure any illness, but nothing gave me the slightest benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cured me. Why, I was suffering all the time practically from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of sound health."

"Within three weeks after beginning the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I experienced such relief that I knew they must be adapted to the needs of my case. After using them for a short while longer I became and have since remained a well woman, and the reason why is simply that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills make urticaria, regular and painless, banish headaches, languor, nervousness, create appetite, promote digestion, put color in the complexion, build up strength and health.

Every woman should send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y., for a valuable booklet, entitled "Plain Talks to Women." It will be mailed free in sealed envelope to the address of any applicant. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists.

SHIPMATES NEVER IN ACCORD

In the eyes of all engineers of steamships the deck officers of their ships are profoundly ignorant. Here are some of the stories they tell. A young man went into the engine room with a message from the captain to the engineer. The latter saw the other was interested and began to explain things to him. Being a civil and obliging man he made no attempt to tell fairy tales to the stranger, and, moreover, he kept as clear as possible of all puzzling technicalities. He pointed out the cylinders, the various rods, the eccentrics, the shaft, and so on, explained roughly the uses of the various pumps and auxiliary machinery, and the mate was genuinely pleased and interested, and said so. Then, when going up on deck again, a thought seemed to strike him. Halting on the ladder, he called the engineer and explained his difficulty. "Thanks, awfully, for showing me around, Mac; you've made the whole thing as plain as a pikestaff. But one thing I don't quite grasp: what are the boilers for?" The engineer promptly replied: "Why, to keep the firemen from wearying, you idiot!"

A burly, thick-headed skipper had been given the command of a little steam collier. Going up with great pride on the bridge of his new ship, the first thing that caught his eye was the engine room telegraph. "What's that for?" he demanded. "Why, that goes down to the engine room," was the reply. "You see all the orders on it. 'Full speed,' 'Half,' 'Slow,' 'Stop.' You just have to move the handle." The old man was charmed. "If I put the handle to 'Full,' will she gang full speed?" "Why, certainly." "An' if I put the handle to 'Stop,' will she stop gang?" "Certainly." The old man was still more charmed. Finally, after thinking some time, he heaved a great sigh of pleasure. "Why, that's fine, man! That's clever! That does away with all them saucy devils o' engineers!"

Another old Scotchman was coming alongside at South Shields in his new command. With great stampings on the knob that rang the engine-room bell, he had at last got abreast of where he wanted to be, but rather far out. He was puzzled as to the means for getting close in. He jumped on the bell knob and rang great incoherent peals in the engine room. But it had no effect. Matters seemed to get slightly worse. Finally, in undignified despair, he turned and addressed his engineer by word of mouth: "An' didn't want to 'gang ahead! An' didn't want to 'gang astern! But just gie 'er a wallop on the port side."

TRAVEL IN ANCIENT DAYS

Travelers in old-time Italy had a sorry time of it. Says a critic: "The frescoes of Bonozzo Gozzoli in the Riccardi palace, and also those in the Campo Santo of Pisa, bring vividly before us another phase of country life, that of travel in the days of the renaissance. As we watch the long cavalcade which winds round the steep mountain path, we are carried back to the time when wheeled carriages were almost unknown, for, indeed, there were but few roads on which they would have been possible. The only highway between one city and another was often little more than a rough bridle path, a quagmire of mud in winter, and, passing through a tangled thicket here and there, a hiding place for outlaws and wild beasts. There was no choice but to ride on horseback, save on state occasions, when a great lady might be carried on a litter well padded with feather mattresses covered with crimson silk. All goods of every kind were conveyed on the backs of horses or baggage mules."

"We have many accounts of travel in those days, for a journey was a serious matter, not to be lightly undertaken or easily forgotten. Thus, when the Duchess Beatrice of Milan went on a diplomatic mission to Venice and wished to make a good impression on the senate, we are told that she had fifty mules in her train, laden with her costly dresses. Of another princess Bianca Sforza, on her way to marry the Emperor Maximilian, we have a pitiful account of her journey, from the pen of her secretary. She started from Milan at the end of November, to be nearly shipwrecked in a sudden storm on the Lake of Como; then, with endless hardships of tempestuous, wintry weather, she rode across that 'fearful cruel mountain' the Stelvio pass, one hapless lady-in-waiting having to be left behind at Gravedona! Not until Christmas eve did Bianca at last reach Innsbruck.

"Again, we have the famous journey of Lucretia Borgia across Italy, from Rome to Ferrara, with an immense retinue of nearly 1,000 persons, which took twenty-five days in the depth of winter. If we had chanced to meet them on the way—with their splendid dresses and gaudily caparisoned horses, with dwarfs and jesters to beguile the way, and a company of trumpeters, drums and hautboys to make martial music—we might have mistaken it for a traveling circus thus noisily parading through the land."

VILLAGE HAD MANY HEROES

As I was putting in a couple of hours loafing around the village store and postoffice I got into conversation with a villager about the war in the east, and in speaking of the naval battle in the sea of Japan I characterized Togo as the greatest hero of the age.

"Well, I dunno about that," replied the man. "We've got a few heroes right in this town who ain't so slow. Come down and lemme introduce you to the cooper."

We went down to the cooper shop and I was introduced, and when we were outside again my friend said:

"Don't look much like a hero, does he? But lemme tell you what he did. He went up to the city about a year ago and staid over night at a hotel. Blew out the six gas jets in his room instead of turning them off, and the gas was going all night. Got up as chipper as a squirrel in the morning and turned two hand springs. The hotel said they had lost $2,000 worth of gas, but the stuff never even made Bill sneeze. Come down and be introduced to the blacksmith."

I followed him and after a second introduction he clapped me on the shoulder and said:

"Nuthin' herole about Jim's look, but lemme tell you sunthin'. He went away to Ohio to visit friends, and they put him in a foldin' bed. The foot rize up and caught him and stood him on his head. He was a prisoner for three days, but he never hollered. Just waited 'till the old bed got tired out and sunk down agin and then he crawled out. Let's go over to the saw-mill and see George Coats."

I went over to the mill and got a third introduction, and on the way back to the postoffice my friend said:

"George is cross-eyed and red-headed, but there are no flies on him. A tin peddler came along last summer and jumped seven feet. George took off his coat and spit on his hands and jumped six inches better and saved the town from going all to smash. Had to bust a lung and break a rib to do it, but that's the kind of stuff he's made of. I don't say that Togo isn't a hero, but when you are talkin' about 'em jest remember that Smithville has shoved three of them to the front within a year and has got more comin'."—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

POLICEMEN OF MEXICO ALERT

The police of the City of Mexico are selected with great care. A man must be in good physical condition to be a member of the force, although it is not necessary for him to pass a rigid physical examination, and his reputation for sobriety, honesty and reliability must be beyond question. They are men who have great physical endurance, yet the police of the city are not hard-worked. At any time the men are liable to call for special duty, but their regular work is for eight hours. The shifts are made three times a day for the purpose of having always on duty men who are not fatigued with long hours of watchfulness.

Practically every block in the city has its policeman, and while they are not patrolmen in the strict sense of the word, since they do not patrol everything, they are always near at hand when any disturbance is made and crimes are not often committed before one of the bluecoated men is at the side of the offender.

Instead of walking a beat the police of the City of Mexico are stationed along the street, and in the daytime their place is the center of the intersection of the streets. At night their place is taken by their lanterns, and one looking up any street at night may form an accurate idea of the number of men who are on watch for disturbances by the long line of lights extending up the middle of each street.

During the day and during the night seventy officers of the mounted police make regular rounds among these men to see that every man is on duty and doing his duty. These officers are the men who do much, probably most, to preserve the high standard of discipline among the men and it is to them the credit is due for the excellence of the individual policeman.

TOWARD THE HIGH IDEAL

Of all the myriad moods of mind that through the soul come thronging, Which one was dear, so kind, So beautiful as longing? The thing we long for, that we are Before the Present, poor and bare, Can make its aching comment.

Still through our paltry stir and strife, Glows down the wished ideal, And longing molds in clay that life To let the new life in, we know, Desire must open the portal;— Perhaps the longing to be so Helps make the soul immortal.

Longing is God's fresh heavenward will, With our poor earthward striving; We quench it that we may be still; Content with merely living; But would we learn that heart's full scope Which we are hourly wronging, Our lives must climb from hope to hope And realize our longing.

Oh! let us hope that to our praise Good God not only reckons The moments when we tread His ways, But when the spirit beckons— That some slight good is also wrought Beyond the self-satisfaction, When we are simply good in thought, However we fall in action. —James Russell Lowell.

Safety in Proprietary Medicines.

Replying to the charge that certain popular proprietary medicines contain narcotic drugs, an authority says:

"Some years ago one of the leading pharmacists of America, in connection with some official work, undertook to ascertain, by an elaborate inquiry in representative cities of the country, what percentage of physicians' prescriptions contained a narcotic drug of some kind. Out of 100,000 representative prescriptions, dispensed in drug stores in all parts of the United States, it was found that 70 per cent contained opium or some one of its preparations."

"Proprietary medicines are almost invariably accompanied by the most detailed and specific directions for use, while the directions accompanying physicians' prescriptions are generally very brief and sometimes illegible. It is also true that a moderate proportion of proprietary medicines contain any poison or narcotic, and, when they do, it is generally in such small quantities or so protected by accompanying antidotes, as to carry with it no danger whatever."

Only Restrained by the Law.

Farmer Johnson was a lifelong resident of Bennington county, Vt., and a typical Yankee. One summer he was not able to get a competent man to help in haying, and so hired two boys instead. They were, as he said, "as good as a disappointment," and gave him no end of trouble.

One day he lost patience with them entirely, and complained to his son's wife of their playing, fighting and shirking of work. She said: "Father, why don't you kill them?" He replied: "It wouldn't be no sin more than to kill a cat, but there is a law agin it."

TWO BAD CASES

Of Cancer and Cataract Cured by Dr. Wilkinson, 25 Dwight Building, Jackson, Mich.

Somerset Center, Mich., Oct. 27, 1905.

Anyone having a cancer knows what it is to suffer, and they will also know what a relief they experience when they get cured. I had a cancer on my nose for one year, which annoyed me very much. I went to Dr. Wilkinson and in six days from the time he began treating it the cancer came out. It has now been three years since it has been removed and there has been no sign of its returning.

Mrs. DORA BAKER.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 20, 1905.

For the benefit of others who are suffering with deafness and ringing noises in the head, I wish to say a few words. For six years the ringing noises in my ears were terrible, terrible. I thought many times I would lose my mind, they were so excruciatingly annoying. Of course, my hearing was much impaired. I spent much money trying to get relief and had concluded to give up and quit everything when I heard of Dr. Wilkinson and thought I would try once more, and how glad I am that I did, for I am almost entirely free of the ringing and my hearing is much better. Only occasionally now do I have a slight ringing and I scarcely mind it at all, thanks to Dr. Wilkinson.

Saved By Dynamite.

Sometimes a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire cannot cross. Sometimes a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her, so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for la grippe, and bronchitis. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at Bank Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

$6,500 IN PRIZES.

Entertainment and Education Combined

In opening up our Fall Campaign, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making same of value to the residents of this section as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute $6,500 in prizes. Think of it, $6,500! Why are we giving this amount away absolutely free? Because, if we can impress the fact that we are headquarters for everything in music, indelibly upon the minds of fifty thousand people, we can well afford to give away the extraordinary list of prizes.

Therefore, to make our name occupy the place in your mind that stands for everything that is good in Pianos, Piano-Players, Organs, Talking Machines, and Musical Merchandise of all kinds, we would like to know how many words you can form from the letters contained in the two words

Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Piano, Piano Player, Organ or Talking Machine at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument (in accordance with the class they are in), but cannot apply on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.

A GENUINE REDUCTION.

The fairness of the above contest at once appeals to the public from the fact that we have for years been selling our instruments on the uniform or fixed price plan. As all instruments are marked in plain figures, they are conclusive as to price. Therefore, to all those who secure credit bills, there is every assurance of a bona fide reduction of the amount of the credit bill on any new Piano, Piano Player, Organ or Talking Machine you may select.
