STANDARD TIME ENDORSED.

Common Council Recommends It Be Adopted in Chelsea.

At the common council meeting last evening the largely signed petition for standard time in Chelsea came before the board. A resolution was passed recommending that standard time be adopted in Chelsea, and that the manufacturers and business men, the school board and the churches adopt it and set their time pieces to standard time and work by it.

This is the sensible and practical thing to do in these days of modern progress. There is nothing so confusing as these two systems of time are, as at present conducted, and a departure to one standard of time, by which, no matter whether you are in Chicago, Detroit, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, or any of the villages in the county, you can depend on it that their time is like your time, and that you have not got to do any figuring to find out the correct time, should in itself alone be sufficient to secure its adoption. And, once things get shaken down to their level, and running all right, as they will, those most opposed to the change at present will become the strongest advocates of the new order of time.

THE CROP WAS SHORT

But Chelsea's Evaporators Produced a Large Quantity of Dried Fruit.

The apple evaporating season has closed in Chelsea and although the apple crop this year is nothing to compare with that of last year, considerable business has been done at the two evaporating plants.

The H. S. Holmes Fruit Evaporating Co. finished their season Tuesday night. The dryers ran 36 days and in that time 800 boxes (40,000 pounds) of dried apples were turned out, also 25,000 pounds of waste. In all 6,000 bushels of apples were used.

Jas. Bachman closed his evaporator Saturday night, after producing 650 boxes (32,500 pounds) of dried fruit and between 25,000 and 30,000 pounds of waste. Between 5,000 and 6,000 bushels of apples were consumed.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hamilton Sunday, Nov. 12, when, surrounded by a company of their friends, they celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. A sumptuous dinner was served, the table being prettily decorated with heliotrope and chrysanthemums, which were sent by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lamb, of Detroit. Several pretty and useful articles were presented to Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton as mementos of the occasion.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Myron Stilwell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker and Mrs. Geo. Thompson, of Jackson; Mrs. Davis, of Detroit; Charles Hamilton, of Grass Lake, and Mrs. Lula Buchanan, of Sylvan.

The guests left at evening time wishing Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton many more happy years of wedded life.

The Late Fred Mensing.

The remains of the late Fred Mensing, who died at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. W. Notten, of Ventura, Calif., Nov. 7, arrived here Tuesday morning. The funeral was held at the German M.E. church, Sylvan, Tuesday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. H. Lenz. The remains were interred in the cemetery connected with the church.

Mr. Mensing had been a resident of this neighborhood for 45 years. A year ago he went to visit his daughter, at whose home he died. He was 82 years and 4 months old, and is survived by two sons and four daughters of his family of 11 children.

Eye Strain and Headache Removed by properly fitting glasses. My modern methods insure correct glasses. Emil H. Arnold, optician, with Wm. Arnold, jeweler, Ann Arbor.

BOLAND IS BACKED BY SAGE

In Building the Electric Line from Jackson to Detroit.

The article published in the Herald last week about Russell Sage's big claim against W. A. Boland and others and for which a judgment was stated to have been rendered, was a trifle misleading to judge by the following letter from Mr. Sage to the Jackson Citizen-Press. From this letter it appears that the report which has been current that the great financier was back of Mr. Boland in building the line from Jackson to Detroit is true:

New York, Nov. 9, 1905.
Editor Jackson Citizen-Press:

Dear Sir—Our attention has been called to an article in a recent issue of your paper which would indicate that we are not in accord with Mr. W. A. Boland on financial matters.

In the judgment and sale of securities referred to, several other parties were involved, and while Mr. Boland was nominally the principal in the transaction, he was interested in the securities and in perfecting title to the same.

We have had financial transactions with Mr. Boland for several years past and are still interested with him in the Michigan roads, and acting in perfect harmony.

Please correct the false impression the article referred to may give, and oblige.
Yours very truly,
RUSSELL SAGE

POMONA GRANGE CONTEST.

A Large Attendance and a Very Successful Meeting.

The corn, potato and bread contest under the auspices of Washenaw County Pomona Grange, at Ann Arbor Saturday, was more of a success than its promoters expected. A basket picnic was enjoyed at noon and in the afternoon over 100 were present to enjoy the good program that was given. Geo. T. English's fine sheep, which was given as a prize for the best potatoes, and which was on exhibition in the room, attracted considerable attention. It was won by Ben Foster, of Scio.

The prize winners in the contests were as follows:

Corn—First, H. E. Crouch, Webster; second, O. J. Bemiss, Stony Creek; third, H. C. Crouch; fourth, O. J. Bemiss.

Potatoes—Ben Foster, Scio; Geo. Warner, Ypsilanti; Arthur Lyon, Scio.
Bread, white—Mrs. G. T. English, Chelsea; Mrs. Chas. Foster, Scio; Miss Ina Harris, Ypsilanti; Brown bread—Mrs. Chas. Foster, Scio. Cake—Miss Ina Harris, Ypsilanti.

Excellent District School Reports.

Reports for the fall term of school have been received at the county school commissioner's office from the teachers of 35 out of the 164 district schools in the county. The reports show a marked decrease in tardiness and increase in attendance over past years, which is very gratifying. In the 35 schools there were 120 children who were neither absent nor tardy during the term, an excellent report when the difficulties of attending school in the country are taken into consideration.

Christian Science Services.

The Christian Science Society will hold services in the G. A. R. hall next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Subject, "Ancient and modern necromancy, or mesmerism and hypnotism." Golden text: "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel but not of me, and cover with a covering but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin."—Isaiah 30:1.

Services will also be held at the same place Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Some of you fellows who never had a million dollars, like we editors, do not know of course of just what the pile consists. We will put you on. When you have a million dollar bills and pile them up flat one on another, and want to take off the top, you will have to reach up 275 feet. If you lay them down end to end you would have to walk 1107 miles. If you had the amount in silver dollars the pile would be 1 1/2 miles high, and so on. We know because we tried it the other night, but the blamed bed slat broke and we woke up.

WARDEN VINCENT HAS A PLAN TO STOP ESCAPES.

WOULD USE CONVICTS' SAVINGS TO DEFRAY THE EXPENSE OF PURSUIT.

Warden Vincent thinks he has solved the problem of how to keep prisoners from escaping from state prison. He says he would use the savings of the convicts to defray the expenses of pursuing them.

His remarks are timely in view of the escape yesterday afternoon of convict Walter Vanduser from the Jackson state prison. The officers have been hampered in following him because the bloodhounds have recently died of poison. He escaped by making a break for liberty when detailed for carpenter work on the prison farm. He was sent from Otter Lake for from five to twenty years for criminal assault.

"I think the legislature should enact a law making it possible to appropriate the convicts' savings when they escape," said Warden Vincent. "If these fellows knew that their money was to be used in paying the expenses of following them, I think it would have a big tendency to stop this get-away business."

"Convicts who successfully escape have their money turned over to their relatives at the end of two years, if there is no claim against it. The convict's heirs, or his estate, lay claim to the savings, and they are turned over promptly. Maybe some of 'em eventually secure the money from their relatives."

Michigan Law Holds.

The United States supreme court holds constitutional the Michigan law for the consolidation of country school districts, sustaining the Michigan supreme court, which reversed the Hillsdale circuit court in the case arising in Jerome township, that county.

In 1901 the legislature passed an act consolidating the four existing school districts into one, but it is claimed, without making provision for the equitable division of the school property. Suit was brought to secure that result. Thos. J. Lowrey, H. S. Walworth and others being the trustees for the consolidated districts and L. E. Kies, an interested citizen. The circuit court of Hillsdale county held the act to be unconstitutional on the ground that it takes from the old districts their property without the consent of its owners and also because it impairs the obligations of contracts.

She Married Dr. Haugh.

Della Betters, living quietly at Ludington under her maiden name, acknowledged that she was married to Dr. O. C. Haugh, the Dayton, O., man charged with the murder of his father, mother and brother, and with poisoning from one to four women after he had gotten them into his power through the use of drugs and robbed them. She shows a certificate dated Chicago, August, 1901. They were living in Luring, Wis., when she heard that Haugh had a wife in Dayton. She investigated, and on finding this to be true, left him. She says she knew he was a drug fiend, but he was always kind and generous.

Worse Than a Muley Cow.

Jumping the track seems to be the particular stunt of Pere Marquette yard engine No. 419, for in less than one year it has been derailed 50 times. The engine was brought to Port Huron about a year ago from Saginaw. Although no one has been seriously injured, several men have met with minor accidents.

Goes to Altar the Fifth Time.

Mrs. Lucy Nelson, aged 55, widow of a lineman who was electrocuted in Lansing two years ago, will try matrimony for a fifth time, Isaac T. Halliwell, of South Bend, Ind., aged 62, is the bridegroom. He has been married twice before.

Death of Bishop Davies.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas Frederick Davies, D. D., LL. D., bishop of Michigan, succumbed to pneumonia at 6 o'clock Thursday evening at Detroit. The attack, which dated from Tuesday last, was the culmination of a long illness which incapacitated the bishop for months. He suffered intense pain until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when he became unconscious, remaining in this condition until death.

No More Church Fairs.

The ladies of the M. E. church of Benton Harbor have given up fairs, suppers, etc., to raise funds for the church. The Ladies' Aid society gave a reception to the church members and took a free will offering instead of holding their annual chrysanthemum fair, and more money was paid into the treasury than was ever cleared at a two days' fair where dinners were served.

W. C. Cole, station agent of the Pere Marquette at Petoskey, has resigned to become a district manager for the Wyoming Gas & Fuel Co. W. A. Martin, freight agent, has been promoted to the position of station and freight agent at Traverse City.

The executive committee of the Michigan Rural Carriers' association met at Jackson Sunday and decided to organize in Monroe county and planned for raising money for the state convention in Battle Creek.

Miss Mary C. Wise, of Auburn, N. Y., arrived at Caro a maiden. Three hours later she left for the west, the bride of Arthur Steele, of St. Paul, Minn. They had planned to be married at Miss Wise's home, but Mr. Steele was unable to get away to make the journey thither, so the lady, true to her name, wired him to meet her at the home of her cousin, W. O. Luce, where they were speedily united.

Grant Van Schick, southwest of Standish, was killed while loading logs on a wagon, a log rolling upon him.

Henry Pippo went to sleep in a barn at Oskar, near Houghton, and a horse trampled on him, crushing his skull.

Mrs. Mills struck coal at a depth of 95 feet, near Pinconning. The vein of coal is from four to seven feet thick.

Albert Kretzer, hardware merchant of Manistee, assigned to Alfred Christianson. Liabilities and assets not known.

Stanton Snyder, of Owosso, aged 45, dropped dead at the Ann Arbor depot while talking to Calvin Jennings and Henry Peltier.

For the twenty-seventh consecutive year, Phillip Miller, of Traverse City, aged 80, has gone to the upper peninsula deer hunting.

George Troyer, well-to-do farmer of Hersey, has lost his right hand in the same corn shredder which eight years ago took off his left hand.

Mayor Gaudy, of Ypsilanti, will name ex-Mayor N. B. Harding for police commissioner. The appointment will meet general approval.

N. H. Cole, of Ohio, has purchased 1,000 acres near Menominee and will establish a sheep ranch, as an experiment for the upper peninsula.

Charles Birkenfelder, of Monroe, begged 10 cents to buy some Paris green, poured it into a glass of beer and drank the stuff. A stomach pump saved him.

Two trains backing together in the yards of the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena railroad, at Boyne City, caused the death of John Pumphrey, a brakeman.

Gov. Warner's conference with the mileage book question with the committee of the Central Passenger association at Chicago, has been postponed to December 9.

Over 700 delegates are expected at the Michigan Sunday School association convention at Traverse City this week. There will be a chorus choir of 250 voices.

John Kuffler, of Grand Rapids, who was convicted of sending poisoned wine to his divorced wife, has been committed to the asylum for criminal insane at Ionia.

Addison Childs, aged 61, of Lansing, and Mrs. E. E. Williams, aged 49, of San Antonio, Tex., were married in East St. Louis. It was a big surprise to Mr. Childs' friends there.

John Levandowski, of Posen, who had become insane from fever, escaped from the hospital at Alpena after assaulting three attendants. He was captured after a long chase.

The remains of Mrs. Harriette Marston, of Adrian, the woman who was burned to death at her home, have been shipped to Detroit to be cremated, in accordance with her wish.

A. C. Richardson's 3-year-old boy was burned to death at Kalkaska. The father found the baby's clothes afire and plunged the little fellow into a barrel of water, but he was already fatally burned.

William H. Humphrey, son of Henry Humphrey, of Lansing, and Miss Kathryn Dix, daughter of former Auditor General Roscoe D. Dix, will be united in marriage at Berrien Springs November 22.

Because Clarence Major, aged 20, of Byron Center, asked Farmer Peter Franz for two months' wages—$30—Franz is alleged to have attacked the youth with a club, breaking his arm and several ribs.

Miss Helen M. Baldwin, of Coldwater, has started for Panama where she is to wed Ezra Shoemaker, Jr., an engineer on the canal. He could not come so she went to him. The ceremony will be performed November 20.

About ready to drop, suffering from typhoid fever, 15-year-old Charles Williams, of Boyne City, was found wandering the streets. He said he was homeless and had suffered for lack of food and drink.

After not having spoken to her husband in 10 years, Mrs. Alice Hall has begun suit for divorce from Harry Hall, prominent farmer of Macomb township. They are 60 years of age and have four children, aged 34 to 25 years.

A $10,000 suit for personal damages against the Grand Trunk railway has been started in the superior court at Grand Rapids by George C. Buffman. The plaintiff claims to have sustained serious and permanent injuries in a wreck at Davidson, June 8.

The dazzling hopes of farmers around St. Claire who thought gold had been discovered on their farms, suddenly faded away when it was learned that the stuff was only mica, according to U. S. assay. Farming will be the fashion, instead of mining.

William Turver, former alderman of Flint, was born at Utica, N. Y., February 23, 1834, coming to Flint in 1854 to work on the building of the State School for the Deaf, as a stone mason. Enlisted with the Flint Grays, returning from the war as captain of Co. F. He later re-enlisted in Col. Stockton's regiment. He is survived by several children, one of whom is Fred Turver, of Detroit.

The November number of Student Life, a U. of M. magazine, contains an interesting article from the pen of Misses Cecil, Grace and Louise Butler, of Marshall, on "Athletics for Girls."

Thomas Gadola, of Owosso, was awarded $4,000 damages against the Michigan Central Railroad Co. for injuries received by being thrown from a car on which he was working on a switch. The Shawassaw court gave him $500 instead of the $20,000 he asked, and a new trial and change of venue on plea of the railroad company brought the case to this county.

FOREIGN EVENTS

CZAR WON'T RETURN TO ST. PETERSBURG THIS WINTER.

FEARS TO MEET FATE OF LOUIS XVI.—GERMANY WON'T HELP CRUSH RUSSIAN POLES

Emperor Nicholas and the Russian court will not come to St. Petersburg this winter. A short time ago it was announced that the emperor was about to return to the winter palace, in an annex of which Count Witte has installed himself, but his majesty has now decided to go from Peterhof back to Tsarskoe-Selo, where he has been living for some two years, with the exception of the last months spent at Peterhof.

His decision is regarded as unfortunate, not only for its moral effect, but because it keeps him surrounded by court influences and out of close, immediate touch with Count Witte. Members of his majesty's entourage recall to the emperor's mind, not without effect, the fatal results of Louis XVI. agreeing to leave Versailles and place himself at the mercy of the populace of Paris in 1793.

The Polish delegation in St. Petersburg is working hard to secure the cooperation of the liberals, social democrats and workmen's organizations in another general political strike in aid of the Poles' battle for autonomy, but thus far, while they have met with much sympathy, no action has been taken for their assistance.

Half a dozen governors, including the governors of Odessa, Tomsk and Kazan, who signally failed to prevent disorders, have been summarily dismissed at Count Witte's instigation.

The clergy, with other classes, continue their intercessions for the Czar, but 151 of whom are reported to have been condemned to death.

Germany Will Not Mix.

Emperor William says he has had no communication with the czar relative to rendering assistance to Russia, if it became necessary to suppress a movement for Polish autonomy.

The Polish question so far as Germany is concerned does not exist outside of Germany. If, however, the Russian Poles rise up and the movement for Polish autonomy spreads to the Polish provinces of Prussia the latter will firmly suppress it in the Prussian Polish provinces. But Russia must manage her own difficulties, as it is the fixed policy of Germany not to interfere in the internal affairs of her neighbors.

Colossal Distress.

A cablegram from Kishineff describing the misery in that section of Russia, was received by the State bank at New York. It reads:

"Colossal distress! Outside of Kishineff hundreds of village Jews ruined. In the towns of Kalarusch, with large commercial interests near Kishineff, 300 houses burned down, 600 families reduced to poverty, 3,000,000 roubles loss. Help absolutely necessary."

Queen to Aid the Poor.

Queen Alexandra has contributed $10,000 and has initiated a movement for the relief of the unemployed in England by issuing an appeal through Earl De Grey, treasurer of the queen's household. Her majesty says:

"I appeal to the people of the empire, men and women, to assist me in alleviating the suffering of the poor, starving and unemployed during the winter. For this purpose I head the list with £2,000. All contributions should be sent to Earl De Grey. "ALEXANDRA."

Damages Awarded Consumptive Girl.

A jury at Seattle, Wash., awarded Rosena E. Grover $10,000 as compensation for damages she had suffered by reason of Mayor Zook, of Ballard, breaking his promise to marry her. The girl is in the last stages of consumption. Zook took the position for her to marry her would result in his contracting the disease. The case will be carried to the supreme court.

NEWS OF THE NATION

DEWEY ABSENTS HIMSELF FROM PRINCE LOUIS' FUNCTIONS.

HIS LACK OF COURTESY TO FOREIGN OFFICER IS CONSIDERED VERY STRANGE.

Much comment has been made not only in naval and army circles, but as well in official and social circles, on the strange absence of Admiral Dewey's name and presence in connection with any of the festivities and entertainments now being given Prince Louis of Battenberg. It has been remarked that not since the British rear-admiral arrived in American waters had there been a formal or informal exchange of visits between the American admiral and the British prince. The prince called upon the secretary of the navy, and this city assisted the secretary in receiving the prince. But Admiral Dewey was not present. It was not the admiral of the American navy who entertained the British rear-admiral, but Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee, the head of the army. He was the only official, outside of the president, who entertained the prince during his Washington visit, and even on this occasion Admiral Dewey was not present, although he was invited and expected to meet the prince at the state dinner at the White House last night.

Some are saying Admiral Dewey's health has not been such as to permit him to entertain, but he was evidently well enough to go to the White House dinner, and has been at his office at the navy department almost every day for a week past. The conduct of Admiral Dewey recalls the fact that when Prince Henry of Prussia, the brother of the German emperor, visited America Admiral Dewey packed up and went to Florida.

Jacob H. Schiff, at the annual meeting of the Educational alliance at New York, referred to the conditions in Russia and also spoke of the Jewish race. He said:

"The turmoil in Russia must have some serious consequences to the United States. It will mean an immense immigration and this country must keep its doors wide open to allow those who flee from that country to enter."

"There are many races of the Jew—five or six at least. The races cross in this country and they will unite in making the greatest Jew that ever existed, the American Jew."

Labor Lost $2,000,000.

The report of Secretary Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, at the second day of the convention at Pittsburg, showed there were 1,157 labor strikes during the year ending October 1, 1905. These strikes involved 107,268 men, of whom 63,350 were benefited and 52,928 worsted. The strikes cost the unions in loss of wages $2,517,291.

The secretary's report admits that the figures are not complete. They do not include the Chicago teamsters' strike, nor the strikes of the iron and steel workers, miners, painters and textile workers. The strike of the textile workers alone involved 20,000 persons and cost $200,000.

Mother Became Maniac.

Martha E. Barr, a pretty woman, aged 24, was adjudged insane at Muncie, Ind. The court found that her belief in the efficacy of both healing and disbelief in medicines had resulted in the death of her child two weeks ago at the Barr home in Salem township.

Although a physician was called to treat the child the mother steadfastly refused to administer the medicine of permit others to do so. She held that faith would cure the child, though it begged for relief from a physician.

DIGGING A BIG DRAIN.

How the Work Is Done on the Luick Drain in Lima with the Big Steam Dredge.

A great deal of interest has been manifested in the working of the big steam dredge that is employed in digging the Luick drain in Lima. Scores of people have been out to see it work and have been much interested in watching it. For the benefit of those who have not seen it work, and possibly, for some of those who have seen it, the following description of its mode of operation is published. The account is taken from the Ypsilanti Daily Press:

It is no small feat to take an inanimate piece of machinery, governed by chains and rods, and with it eat out a pathway through cultivated land, across cornfields and meadows, leaving in its wake a river 19 feet on the bottom and from 33 to 40 feet on top. This is just what is being done in Lima township by the big steam dredge which is plowing through the township from north to south, building the Luick drain, which, when completed, will cost approximately $10,000.

To one who has never watched a steam dredge at work the process is a fascinating one. The huge crane, is 40 feet long, to which is attached the big dipper on an adjustable handle 28 feet long. And it is this same dipper which displays almost human intelligence to the casual observer, who does not see the hand of the engineer on the lever, ready to direct its slightest movement with his quick brain and ready hand.

Down into the bank goes the dipper, nosing under the overhanging weeds and through clay or mud until it is filled to the top, a load averaging from one to one and one-quarter cubic yards. This is pulled up by the hoisting gear and deposited on the bank with a rapidity that is astonishing. Three cubic yards in two minutes is an average rate, while just double that rate has been made at points along the route.

The huge machine, with its intricate series of levers and methods of manipulation, is mounted on a scow 20 feet wide, 65 feet long and 6 feet deep. It is operated by four men, an engineer, who handles the dipper; a cranesman, who dumps the dipper; a fireman, and a roustabout, whose duties are varied.

The work progresses slowly, but is most interesting and well repays a visit to the scene, where every courtesy is shown the visitor by the contractor and his assistants.

The crews work in two shifts, night and day, each shift of four men working 12 hours.

The dredge follows in general the lines of Mill creek, but where this is not possible or for any reason a new course is desirable, a new channel is cut through the fields, the long arm and the dipper making a way ahead of the boat, where the water follows, floating the scow. The average progress of the dredge is 100 feet per day, moving forward at the rate of six or seven feet each time and being securely anchored in the interim.

Just as an example of the power of the machine an instance was shown yesterday in a huge oak beam, part of an old bridge abutment, which was taken out by the dipper. Men who are acquainted with the surroundings say the beam has been in place at least 75 years, and yet it is today as clean and fine as the day it was hewn from the forest.

It is interesting to note a few statistics in connection with this drain, which is being planned and paid for by the farmers benefited.

The drain when completed will be 1,166 rods long and will cost $8.45 per rod. To this amount will be added 7 per cent by the commissioner to meet the expenses of the surveyor, drain commissioner and repairs to the highway, etc. This expense will be borne almost entirely by the farmers of Lima township, although Sylvan and Dexter are indirectly benefited, for not only the lands which adjoin, but those which are adjacent, and therefore, drain into the stream, will be taxed in proportion to the amount they are benefited. About 200 farmers will be affected by this drain, their drain taxes running from 99 cents to $492.50, while the White Portland Cement Company's taxes are $1,694.20. It is also estimated that a strip of land 40 rods wide and 3/4 miles long will be reclaimed by the drain.

Saved By Dynamite.

Sometimes a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire cannot cross. Sometimes a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes, "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her, so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for la grippe, and bronchitis. Price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed at Bank Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. A. F. Freeman, after residing at Manchester, Washtenaw county, his lifetime, 47 years, and in the general practice of law for 25 years, the last 10 years under the firm name of A. F. & F. M. Freeman, has removed to the city of Ann Arbor, the county seat, and there taken up a family residence. Since its creation, six years ago, he has been a member of the Michigan Board of State Tax Commissioners, and the State Board of Assessors, until Nov. 1, instant.

Mr. F. M. Freeman has been in the general practice of law for ten years. He will continue to reside at Manchester, where the firm's business of that community will be conducted as before, with offices over the People's Bank.

Offices have been also established at Ann Arbor, over the First National Bank, where the old firm, in that name will continue the general practice.

Mr. W. L. Watkins, of Ann Arbor, late Probate Judge of Washtenaw county, has taken business connection with the firm. At Manchester the firm name will be Freeman & Watkins.

Mr. A. F. Freeman, in addition to the general practice, offers his services, specially, to taxpayers or officials, in all matters throughout the state relating to a proper assessment and taxation of taxable properties, including levies imposed thereon, and in whatever form they may arise, either before taxing officers, assessing or reviewing board, or collector, or in suit before courts for final solution.

Mr. Watkins offers his special attention to the administration of affairs in estates before Probate Courts, clients' causes having as well consideration by the other members of the firm when requested or thought necessary. He will continue to reside at Ann Arbor, but will give his attention to the business at both places.

AMARIAH F. FREEMAN.

Are you looking for some kind of power that you can use in your barn today, down in the woods tomorrow, over in your neighbors' woods next day? Something that costs nothing until started and all expense stops the instant the power stops? An engine that always goes no matter what the weather conditions may be? If so, let us tell you more about Ideal engines, which are guaranteed for one year, and sent out to responsible farmers on a 10 days' trial. We make a specialty of a 5 H. P. engine that is adapted to farm use. It costs but little more for gasoline to pump water with this engine than it does with a smaller one, which is of no practical use except for pumping. This engine will grind feed, buzz wood and do any work requiring power on the farm. Local engines will be on exhibition at the Fairs this fall.

Of Local Interest.

Two weeks from today, Nov. 30, is Thanksgiving day.

Chelsea butchers now close their places of business on Sundays.

Born, Saturday, Nov. 11, to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Paine, a daughter.

Born, Monday, Nov. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wheelock, of Lima, a son.

Chelsea Tent, K. O. T. M. M., will have nomination of officers at its meeting tomorrow evening, Nov. 17.

Fully 100 Chelsea people went to Lima Center Sunday to see the big steam dredge working on the Luick drain.

D. C. Wacker, of Lima, has sold this season 44 Improved Black Top rams, completely closing out his stock.

Capt. E. L. Negus now limps around with the assistance of a couple of canes, the result of a fall at the water works yesterday.

The Waterloo Gleaners will hold an oyster supper at Peter Young's, in Sylvan, next Tuesday evening, Nov. 21. Everybody is invited.

Someone who is fond of figures has figured it out that the venison shipped into Washtenaw county this year by the deer hunters will cost them at least $1 a pound.

The old Harrington house on North Main street is being torn down to make room for the new factory building of the Glazier Stove Co., which will be erected next spring.

It is stated the Michigan Central is making preparations to straighten out a number of curves in the road between here and Dexter. Surveys have been made during the past ten days for the work.

Miss Kittie Pickett, who last year taught the eighth grade in the Chelsea public schools, and who went to Charlevoix to take a similar position, has been elected principal of the schools at that place.

Mr. Henry Strieler and Miss Nina Foor were quietly married last evening, Nov. 15, at the residence of Rev. E. E. Caster. They have gone to housekeeping in Jay M. Woods' house on North street.

The banns of marriage of Mr. Carpenter, of Kalamazoo, and Miss Elizabeth Quigley, of Grass Lake, were published for the first time at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart on Sunday.

The old fashioned old folks dance given under the auspices of the Macabees at the Woodman hall Friday evening was as much enjoyed by the young folks present as it was by the older ones. Have another one, boys.

Del Bennett, superintendent at the peat works, has taken out a deer hunters' license and gone to Crawford county on a hunting trip. For over 30 years he has hardly ever failed to take a hunting trip once a year.

The Washtenaw County Grange Insurance Co. has concluded to close up its business and its members are dropping back again into the ranks of the other farmers' insurance companies in the county, mainly into the Washtenaw Farmers' Mutual.

Miss Lillian Gerard, who left for Seattle, Wash., a few weeks ago, was united in marriage to Mr. Dorsey R. Hoppe, of that place, Saturday, Nov. 4. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. McIntosh, formerly pastor of the Methodist church of this place.

If the weather man deals kindly next Saturday a large number of Chelsea football enthusiasts will go to Ann Arbor to witness the Michigan-Wisconsin game. One local sportsman has already placed several liberal bets on the Michigan team, and if they are victorious the expression that will illuminate the face of "the captain of the gypsies" will make Yost's famous smile look like 30 cents.

While running in a field last Sunday a horse belonging to E. J. Fletcher, of Lima, ran a stick into the corner of its eye, breaking the end off and forcing the eye nearly out of the socket. Dr. H. J. Speirs, V. S., was called and succeeded in removing the piece of wood, which was 2 1/2 inches long, 1 inch wide and 1/2 inch thick. The wound is a bad one but Dr. Speirs is of the opinion that the vision will not be impaired.

Born, Friday, Nov. 10, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, a 12-pound son.

Mrs. A. B. Skinner, of Sylvan, is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Born, Wednesday, Nov. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Whitaker, of Sylvan, a daughter.

Mrs. Geo. Irwin is very sick and her daughter Mrs. Frank Nelson, of Lansing, is here taking care of her.

The Tin Cup pedro club went out to Henry Luick's in Lima last evening and had one of their good old times.

There will be a special meeting of Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., next Tuesday evening, Nov. 21, for work in the third degree.

At the Methodist church the pastor will preach next Sunday morning on "The idea of God," in the evening on "The rod of power." On Saturday afternoon next from 3 to 5 o'clock, the Junior B.Y. P. U. will give a reception to their parents at the home of Mrs. C. J. Depew on West Middle street.

Kalamazoo is losing its big celery fields. The growth of the city will soon build up all the celery land. The growers are seeking other lands and the crop is rapidly lessening.

Rev. M. L. Grant will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday morning on the theme "The unimpelled second mile." "Christ our judge" will be the evening subject.

Mr. Burnett Steinbach, of Lima, and Miss May L. Clarke, of Jackson, were married in that city Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bastian L. Smits.

The U. of M. football team has this season played 10 games, scored 408 points, and has not been scored on by any of their opponents. No other team in the west has such a record.

C. E. Foster, who is in Eckerman, Chippewa county, with a party of Fowlerville friends hunting deer, writes that he is having a fine time but does not report having killed any deer.

Rev. P. M. McKay will continue the series of sermons on "The second coming of Christ" at the Baptist church next Sunday morning, Nov. 19. In the evening he will preach on "Reviving old customs."

The illustrated lecture on "The Reformation," given in St. Paul's church by Rev. S. A. John, of Ann Arbor, last Sunday evening, was most interesting and instructive. It was listened to by a large congregation.

Capital Lodge, No. 66, F. & A. M., of Lansing, will visit Fraternity Lodge, No. 262, F. & A. M., of Ann Arbor, tomorrow (Friday) evening, and will exemplify the third degree. Some Chelsea Masons think of going down to witness it.

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold their annual bazaar in the town hall next Wednesday, Nov. 22, afternoon and evening. A chicken pie supper will be served from 5 o'clock until all are served. Everybody is cordially invited.

In the semi-annual apportionment of primary school money just made the townships in this vicinity receive the following amounts: Sylvan, 656 children, $1,771.20; Freedom, 389 children, $1,050.30; Dexter, 172, $464.40; Lima, 263, $710.10; Lyndon, 200, $540; Sharon, 288, $777.60.

A. F. Freeman, well known as one of the first members of the board of state tax commissioners, and his former partner, Fred M. Freeman, have associated with themselves Willis L. Watkins, and have opened up law offices at Ann Arbor, in addition to their offices in Manchester. The gentlemen, who are all well and favorably known throughout the county, make an announcement in another column of this paper.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect that in three days I felt like a new man and today I am cured of all my troubles." Bank Drug Store guarantees them, price 50c a bottle.

CHAPTER XXII.—Continued.

Much had been said regarding the motives of his client, but Mr. Stevens contended they were manifestly as great on the part of the defendant. There was no doubt he had become enamored with his brother's wife and he had decided to possess her for his own. He had repeatedly urged marriage, but not until after the death of Lenora, who had been murdered to remove so dangerous a witness to his past. When he became convinced that the workman called Primus Edes was no other than the true Vane Hamilton, there was but one course open. He must renounce his claims or remove the true owner. He chose the latter. The shot was either fired by his own hand or by his emissary, Solomon Marks, who was a fit tool for any such emergency.

The judge was very impressive in his summary of the case, which he said was different from any other on record. He not only reviewed the evidence on both sides as usual, setting forth the claims of each and explaining corroborating and collateral evidence, but he spoke of the gross charges which would be made afterwards of forgery, perjury, and perhaps murder, against the person who sustained defeat. He solemnly charged them, therefore, to deliberate long and wisely before deciding, that the gravest conviction of duty and justice called upon the best and wisest faculties of the human mind to aid them in a decision like this, upon which rested such great and unusual issues. It was not alone a question of property, but of family and of life and death. Therefore, let them deliberate well before deciding.

Two nights and a day passed before a decision was reached, and then it was in favor of the present incumbent of the Hamilton estates, who was declared to be the true and legal owner, Vane Hamilton; and an order for the arrest of Henry Ashley, alias Primus Edes, was filed by the order of he'd get the case. But, Lor' sake! there ain't no justice in the land."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Undercurrents.

That evening the Rev. Arthur Hammerly sat by his study table trying to fix his mind upon the sermon he was writing, but it would wander in spite of himself to the scene in court, peculiarly trying to one of his sensibilities; for he could but pity the pale, shrinking woman whose trials were laid bare to the public gaze, and he could but pity the one who had lost the suit, whether guilty or innocent, for his heart was a merciful one. So when a timid knock came to his ears he welcomed it as a diversion from troublesome thought, and wheeled from the table just as a lady entered in response to his invitation. It was Mrs. Hamilton.

The minister arose and bowed hastily and in some confusion.

"Can I do anything for you?" he said, earnestly. "I will, if I can."

"Oh, I don't know, I don't know!" she cried. "I came to you for I have no one else to go to. I want some one to advise me who is very wise and good, and I know of no one but you."

"I am not very wise nor good," he said gently, "but I will do my best to aid you in any way that I can."

"I don't know that you can aid me, or that any one can. I don't know what to do. I have been so terribly shocked the past week. I have heard such dreadful things said about my conduct, and you may think me very wicked. But indeed I am not. I have tried to do just right," and she looked up pleadingly as a child might into the minister's face. Never before had he seen her stirred from her usual queenly bearing, and the sight moved him as nothing else could.

"I know it," he said, soothingly, "you have tried to do just right. But may you not have been mistaken?"

"No. I am not mistaken. I am more firmly convinced than ever. I know he is not my husband, and nothing shall induce me to say otherwise."

"How can you be so sure?"

"How can I be so sure? You never loved, or you would know. I should know my husband's soul in any body if he claimed me. I did not know at first because he did not recognize me, but when he did I was sure. I tried not to be precipitate, but all the time I knew—knew."

"But the other man looks more like your husband."

"Ah, but his soul is a stranger to my soul," and she looked up in an earnest, almost wild manner that touched him greatly.

"Do you mean to appeal for another trial?"

"No, it would do no good."

"Then what can be done?"

"I don't know, unless you appeal to him."

"I appeal to him?"

"Yes, to the man who has fraudulently got possession of our home. You are a good man and might know of some way to touch his heart. You are very persuasive, very eloquent."

"But if he is such a man as you think him?"

"Still, there is some vulnerable place in his soul. This is in every one, I think. To doubt it would be to doubt the good Father. Would he, do you think, allow any of his creatures to be so depraved that they could not be redeemed from sin? This man must be the twin brother of my husband, and he must have good in his nature still; for his parents were good people, and wicked environment cannot quite change, quite pervert, a noble nature, can it?"

"Perhaps not. Still you cannot conceive of the difference between good bringing up and the reverse. Before I came here I was engaged in missionary work that brought me in contact with the most degraded people. They actually had no conception of goodness, no belief in a better life. If people seemed good, they deemed it hypocrisy. They would laugh to scorn any appeals to conscience, for they literally seemed to have none. Such people deserve the profoundest pity."

"But he is not like that. He is educated, he is capable of affection; my children love him, and he appears to love them. He has noble impulses. Such a man can be appealed to."

"Mrs. Hamilton, you are the one to make the appeal."

"Oh, I cannot. There is a reserve between us that no words of mine can bridge. When in his presence I forget everything but that he has robbed me of happiness. At other times I can think of him as unfortunate and to be pitied."

"I will talk with him, then, for you and do what I can," said the minister.

"Oh, thank you, thank you!" she said, gratefully. "I sometimes think there was never so unhappy a woman as I. Torn from my husband, and forbidden to mourn, because the belief is general that he is not my husband. And to be called unfaithful—the most faithful of wives!"

"It is, indeed, hard," said the minister. "Whether right or wrong in your belief, I know your heart is true."

"Your faith in me is a great comfort," she said, lifting her eyes earnestly to his face. "You will see him and do what you can?"

"Yes, I will see him, and do what I can."

And then Mrs. Hamilton left the study, and the minister thrust his sermon one side and bent his head in deep thought.

How could he touch this man, if he were the impostor. Mrs. Hamilton conceived him to be? Could he do it? Could any one? He doubted it. Still, he would try. It was not late; barely nine o'clock. He would go that very night.

Changing his dressing gown for a coat, and making some other trifling alterations in his dress, he set out on his errand, and soon reached the Hamilton residence. He rang the bell and was admitted into the hall, which held a few boxes and a trunk. Mr. Carter and Mr. Hamilton came to greet him, and the former said, as he stepped over a box:

"Vane is going to the hotel, for he will not keep Constance from her home any longer. He is a noble fellow, Mr. Hammerly."

The minister felt a chill creep over his resolution, but only for a moment. Whether she was right or not, he would keep his promise to Mrs. Hamilton, and as soon as Mr. Carter left the room, excusing himself on account of some duty, Mr. Hammerly approached his errand.

"I do not say, Mr. Hamilton, that you are not what you seem, but I came simply at the request of Mrs. Hamilton, who really believes that you are not her husband. It is her solemn conviction, and it is cruelly unjust to rank her with the many unfaithful wives, some of whom might make pretences such as have been ascribed to her. You, surely, do not think her capable of such baseness?"

"No. I think she is sincere in her belief. She is a noble woman, incapable of such an act. It was not my wish to have her name dragged before the public as it was, but one cannot do as he would at such times."

"Mrs. Hamilton is convinced that you are her husband's brother, that you have been led almost without volition of your own to wicked courses which are at variance with your real nature. She thinks, with different environments you would have been a different man."

"What else does she say?" asked Mr. Hamilton, as the minister paused.

"She wished me to appeal to you to give her back her happiness. She is very miserable; very much changed from the happy woman I first knew when I came to Grovedale. She is a rare woman; one among a thousand."

"You are right. She is one among a thousand. Would you give up such a woman?"

"I?" The minister's hot face flushed with emotion.

Victor Herbert and Fritz Scheff.

Victor Herbert, composer of "Mlle. Modiste," in which Miss Fritz Scheff is appearing, has an assistant whose name is Carl Fritzie. It is Mr. Fritzie's duty to look after the music, play in the orchestra, and act as an assistant to the composer.

During a rehearsal of "Mlle. Modiste" Mr. Herbert wanted his assistant and called loudly: "Fritzie! Fritzie! Where are you, Fritzie?"

Miss Scheff was in her dressing room, but she heard Mr. Herbert's call. A moment later her maid appeared on the stage and said to Mr. Herbert: "Miss Scheff's compliments if you please, sir, and will you please address her by her first name in the presence of the company?"

Mr. Herbert has therefore decided to call his assistant "Carl" to avoid future misunderstandings between Mr. Fritzie and Miss Fritzie.

Good for Headache.

Johnny Ray, who is starring with his wife in "Down the Pike," lives in Cleveland, owns a large amount of real estate there and is an enthusiastic horseman. His proudest possession is a string of trotters, including Sentinel Belle and Nanco. When in New York this fall Ray met an actor on Broadway who looked a long way "down on his luck."

"What's wrong, old man?" queried Johnny; "up against it?"

"Hard."

"Been playing the ponies?"

"Worse! I bought one!"

"What was the piker's name?"

"Menthol."

"Good for headache, eh?"

"Fine! Dropped every cent I saved for a year on him. My head hasn't stopped aching yet."

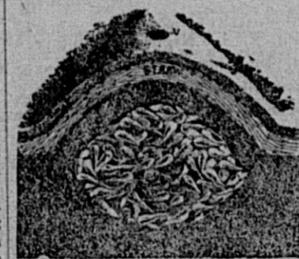

A merely fallen enemy may rise again, he is capable of affection; my children love him, and he appears to

Pits for Storage of Roots.

At this time of the year the farmer is considering how he may best store his roots and tubers for the winter. It is desirable to store potatoes, beets, turnips, carrots and the like that they will remain in a temperature just above the freezing point. In the cellar it is frequently so warm that the different roots lose much moisture and in some cases begin to grow. A regular cold storage house in which the temperature is kept at about the freezing point is the desirable thing, but to most of our farmers this is an impossibility. Most of our farms are situated at a considerable distance from such houses, and the hauling would be so much trouble that the use of said storage houses by the general farmers is out of the question. Moreover the farmer wants to use these roots during the winter and cannot afford to make a trip frequently to a cold storage house.

The men in charge of the sugar beet factories have found pits to be the most economical method of storing beets. In our first cut is shown the style of pit used in Nebraska. The cut shows the transverse section of a long row of beets stored in a long pit. This section represents, as to the beets, about four feet in width and height. The layer of dirt over them is six inches thick. Above the first layer of beets is a layer of straw, and above that is a layer of two inches of dirt. This last layer is put on only on the approach of cold weather. At V there is a ventilating hole about one foot in diameter. It must be remembered that this method, though successful in Nebraska, must be modified for places further north where the layers of dirt and straw would have to be thicker.

Our second illustration shows the pits used for the storage of sugar beets in Wisconsin. A greater degree of cold and otherwise adverse conditions must be provided against. The beets are placed in a deep and wide furrow, which may be as long as needed. The pile here shown is six feet wide and three feet high. Above the beets are piled eighteen inches of earth. At V is shown a piece of ventilating tile. These tiles are placed in the row every six feet. This tile is left open while the beets are sweating, but can be closed after that process is completed.

Temperature of Soils.

One great field of experimentation is as yet almost untouched, and this is the field of soil temperatures. In some of the experiment stations of the world an apparatus is in use for determining soil temperatures and it proves very valuable in giving data from which the experimenters can determine the effect of cold and heat on plant production. Any farmer can make such an apparatus by using a thermometer and attaching to it any instrument that will permit it to be inserted to any desirable depth. The farmer who studies his soil will find it to his advantage to know the different temperatures of the different fields of his farm. He will be surprised to find out how greatly these temperatures vary. The temperature controls to a very great extent the germination of seed in the soil. If the seed is put into a cold soil it will, in many cases, rot before sprouting. This is especially true of the corn seed. Many a farmer has planted valuable seed corn in soil that was yet too cold to allow of germination and has afterwards had to replant the field at great loss to himself.

Generally cold soils are damp soils or wet soils. But this is not always the case, as sometimes the cold soils are simply heavy clay soils. The farmer who has the wet soil is deceived by the drying out of the surface. The water present keeps down the temperature immediately under the surface, and when the seed is put in the result is that it is lost. The matter of soil temperature is one that has, up to this time, been considered generally the work of the scientists; but the time is coming when every progressive farmer will make this study for himself.

In the northern part of Illinois many of the farmers are turning to seedling peaches as being the only kind that will stand the winter conditions.

COMPOSITION OF PERFECT PUN.

Sense and Thought Should Fit Together in Antagonistic Identity.

A perfect pun makes good sense both ways; the edges meet with a click like the blades of a sharp pair of shears. Sometimes the very thoughts fit tight together in antagonistic identity, as when the man said of the temperance exhorter that he would be a good fellow if he would only let drink alone; or when Disraeli (if it was he) wrote to the youth who had sent him a first novel: "I thank you very much; I shall lose no time in reading it;" or as when a man seeing a poor piece of carpentry said: "That chicken coop looks as if some man had made it himself." Exquisite perverse literalness of thought! And the same absolute punning, the very self-destruction of a proposition, was the old death thrust at a poor poet by the friend who said: "His poetry will be read when Shakespeare and Homer are forgotten." It was a fine, double-edged blade of speech until some crude fellow, I think, sharpened it to a wire edge by adding, "and not till then," a banality that dulled its perfection forever.—Atlantic Monthly.

Get at the Cause.

Sacramento, Ky., Nov. 13th (Special).—A typical illustration of the way Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Rheumatism is well told by Catherine Devine, who is very well known here. She says:

"For over four years I was greatly troubled with Rheumatism. It used to take me worst in my legs and feet. At times I would be so bad I could not put my feet to the ground. As I am over seventy-three years of age I began to think I was too old to get cured and should have to bear my Rheumatism the best way I could. But I heard about Dodd's Kidney Pills and thought I would give them a trial. So I got a box and began taking them. Well, I must say Dodd's Kidney Pills did me a wonderful lot of good. They eased the pain from the first, and to-day I am in better health than I have been for many years."

Forbids Use of Bicycles.

Dr. Adolph Fritzen, bishop of Strassburg, has again issued an edict forbidding priests within his diocese to use bicycles.

The Isthmian Canal.

Now that the Canal Treaty has been ratified, we may expect to see work resumed in a short time, and the great canal-ships, carrying huge loads of Pillsbury's Vitos to all parts of the world. By the way, have you ever eaten Vitos? You'll like it better than any other cereal food.

Misunderstood.

President White of Co'by, Mass., was making an appeal for donations to the college, and in the course of his remarks cited the case of a wealthy gentleman in the west to whom such an appeal was not made in vain.

"I spoke of his boyhood days in Waterville," said President White; "I recalled the dear old landmarks he knew so well, and as I spoke of the college on the dear old Kennebec he made out a check, while tears ran down his cheeks. I tell you, gentlemen, he was touched." And President White, not as well versed in the slang of the day as in the management of an institution of learning, stood amazed at the ripples of merit which followed his tale of pathos.

Double Role Hard to Maintain.

"Did it never occur to you, young man," asked John Bright of a young fellow who was discoursing about "the fetters of matrimony," "that you cannot be a bachelor and a married man at the same time?" Many of the men who complain loudest of the extravagance of marriage find it so costly because they are trying to maintain the double role.

Searching Excitement.

"Hang these here motor cars," said the man with the sunburned scalp, round shoulders and long beard. "I think I've gone a-running up to no less than a dozen crowds, expectin' to see a fight, and only found some fellow doctorin' a motor car."—Stray Stories.

FROM TEXAS

Some Coffee Facts From the Lone Star State.

From a beautiful farm down in Texas, where gushing springs unite to form babbling brooks that wind their sparkling way through flowery meads, comes a note of gratitude for delivery from the coffee habit.

"When my baby boy came to me five years ago, I began to drink Postum Food Coffee, having a feeling that it would be better for him and me than the old kind of drug-laden coffee. I was not disappointed in it, for it enabled me, a small delicate woman, to nurse a bouncing healthy baby 14 months."

"I have since continued the use of Postum for I have grown fond of it, and have discovered to my joy that it has entirely relieved me of a bilious habit which used to prostrate me two or three times a year, causing much discomfort to my family and suffering to myself."

"My brother-in-law was cured of chronic constipation by leaving off the old kind of coffee and using Postum. He has become even more fond of it than he was of the old coffee."

"In fact the entire family, from the latest arrival, (a 2-year old who always calls for his 'potie' first thing in the morning) up to the head of the house, think there is no drink so good or so wholesome as Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A GIANT LAID LOW.

Crippled and Made Ill by Awful Kidney Disorders.

John Fornays, fruit raiser, Webster, N. Y., says: "I used to lift railroad ties easily but wrenched my back and began to suffer with backache and kidney trouble. I neglected it until one day a twinge felled me like a log and made me crawl on hands and knees. I was so crippled for a time that I couldn't walk without sticks, had headaches and dizzy spells and the kidney secretions were muddy and full of brick-dust sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills made the pain disappear and corrected the urinary trouble. I have felt better ever since."

Old Mother Nature. Nature is an endless combination and repetition of a very few laws. She hums the old well-known air through innumerable variations.—Emerson.

There is more Catarth in this section of the country than in any other, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarth to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarth Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 19 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Rheumatism Thoroughly Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

There is one remedy that will cure rheumatism in any of its forms and so thoroughly eradicate the disease from the system that the cure is permanent. This remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the proof of the statement is found in the experience of Mr. T. S. Wagar, of No. 73 Academy street, Watertown, N. Y. He says:

"The pain was in my joints and my sufferings for over two years was beyond description. There was an intense pain in my shoulders that prevented me from sleeping and I would get up and walk the floor at night. When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the improvement was gradual, but by the time I had taken four boxes I was entirely cured and I have not had the slightest touch of rheumatism since that time."

Mr. Wagar's wife is also enthusiastic in her endorsement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I have tried the pills myself for stomach trouble and have experienced great relief from their use. My daughter, Mrs. Atwood, of Gill street, Watertown, has used them for female weakness and was much benefited by them. I regard Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as an extremely valuable family medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the worst cases of bloodlessness, indigestion, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness, spinal weakness, and the special ailments of girls and women whose blood supply becomes weak, scanty or irregular. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. At all druggists or from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

"A brother's curse will rest upon you to the end!"

the judge, upon the charge of forgery, perjury and embezzlement.

When the decision was made known it would have been hard to tell which face was more pallid of the two men—the one who had just been declared guilty or the one who had gained the suit.

For a moment they turned to gaze into each other's faces, while a shade of acute regret passed over that of the one declared to be Vane Hamilton, but on the other a look of terrible anger rested.

"Do not think," he cried in thrilling accents, "that you will ever be allowed to enjoy your ill-gotten possessions. Our mother's spirit will prevent that. You will never know a moment's peace, and a brother's curse will rest upon you to the end. Remember my words. As for justice, looking about the court room and covering with his gaze the judge and jurymen, "there is no such thing."

"That will do," said the judge, coldly, "you have nothing to complain of," and the prisoner accompanied the sheriff from the court house.

Mrs. Hamilton, leaning on the arm of Mrs. Fry, went to the latter's house, for she would not enter her house while tenanted as it was. There was no doubt, thought Mrs. Fry, that she really did believe that the man now a prisoner was in reality her husband; but the good lady herself had had her mental faculties so played upon at the trial that it almost seemed as if she herself were another person.

"I wouldn't risk any case at court, not one single minute," she said to Dan. "One lawyer gets up an' proves it all out that his man is Vane Hamilton, so you see it is all just as easy as print. Then another lawyer gets up and kicks the bucket over an' proves that the first is all a terrible lie, though he's master polite about it. His man is Vane Hamilton, an' he explains it all out just as plain and easy as 'other did, only direct contr'y. It's my private opinion them jurymen didn't know no more 'bout it than I did; tenny rate they looked puzzled as could be after Mr. Stevens got up and spoke his piece. 'Fore then I was purly sure Edes had the worst on't, but I was drefle sorry for 'im, but after Mr. Stevens showed out how that Ashley came, an' jest how it all happened, I was jest sure more firmly convinced than ever. I know he is not my husband, and nothing shall induce me to say otherwise."

"How can you be so sure? You never loved, or you would know. I should know my husband's soul in any body if he claimed me. I did not know at first because he did not recognize me, but when he did I was sure. I tried not to be precipitate, but all the time I knew—knew."

"But the other man looks more like your husband."

"Ah, but his soul is a stranger to my soul," and she looked up in an earnest, almost wild manner that touched him greatly.

"Do you mean to appeal for another trial?"

"No, it would do no good."

"Then what can be done?"

"I don't know, unless you appeal to him."

"I appeal to him?"

"Yes, to the man who has fraudulently got possession of our home. You are a good man and might know of some way to touch his heart. You are very persuasive, very eloquent."

"But if he is such a man as you think him?"

"Still, there is some vulnerable place in his soul. This is in every one, I think. To doubt it would be to doubt the good Father. Would he, do you think, allow any of his creatures to be so depraved that they could not be redeemed from sin? This man must be the twin brother of my husband, and he must have good in his nature still; for his parents were good people, and wicked environment cannot quite change, quite pervert, a noble nature, can it?"

"Perhaps not. Still you cannot conceive of the difference between good bringing up and the reverse. Before I came here I was engaged in missionary work that brought me in contact with the most degraded people. They actually had no conception of goodness, no belief in a better life. If people seemed good, they deemed it hypocrisy. They would laugh to scorn any appeals to conscience, for they literally seemed to have none. Such people deserve the profoundest pity."

"But he is not like that. He is educated, he is capable of affection; my children love him, and he appears to love them. He has noble impulses. Such a man can be appealed to."

"Mrs. Hamilton, you are the one to make the appeal."

"Oh, I cannot. There is a reserve between us that no words of mine can bridge. When in his presence I forget everything but that he has robbed me of happiness. At other times I can think of him as unfortunate and to be pitied."

"I will talk with him, then, for you and do what I can," said the minister.

"Oh, thank you, thank you!" she said, gratefully. "I sometimes think there was never so unhappy a woman as I. Torn from my husband, and forbidden to mourn, because the belief is general that he is not my husband. And to be called unfaithful—the most faithful of wives!"

"It is, indeed, hard," said the minister. "Whether right or wrong in your belief, I know your heart is true."

LAST OF WAR SPECTACLE

The last scattered remnants of the Boer and British soldiery that made up the fighting front in the Boer war spectacle at Brighton Beach during the summer have been routed, says the New York World.

After trying vainly to hold the old camping grounds along the ocean front the last tent has come down, and the soldiers, many of them on the verge of starvation, have been driven from Brighton to cast about as best they may.

The last man to surrender to the harsh fate that has driven the mimic fighters from the only place they knew as home was Capt. Fish, an English artilleryman, who, after holding out until a few days ago in the small army tent which he brought from England, capitulated to an unsympathetic police.

Gen. Cronje, to whom the projectors of the show owed several thousand dollars, left the camp and obtained quarters at a Manhattan hotel. Gen. Ben Viljoen joined a Boer colony in Mexico. Capt. Chapin, one of Britain's most valiant fighters, who has also seen service in Uncle Sam's army, went to Guatemala, taking a score of soldiers with him. One by one the most noted of the Boers and Englishmen left for various parts of the world. But the rank and file had not the means to move.

Not long ago there were probably 200 of the soldiers left and they were a forlorn-looking lot, half-starved, yet buoyed up by the expectation that luck would turn.

As the days passed and they were unable to get the money owed they began to ask help from the visitors. The police warned them not to beg.

"Then make those who owe us give us our money," said the soldiers.

Next came an order to strike camp. The lessee of the grounds said the soldiers had become a nuisance. The men were reluctant. The landlord appealed to the police.

"Get out," commanded the blue coats, and one by one the tents came down. The outcasts pitched their tents further along the beach, but were soon discovered and were driven out. Some were arrested.

The only man to stand his ground was Capt. Fish. He remained obstinately in his tent until three big policemen came along and compelled him to move.

Where once fluttered the colors of the Boers and British in harmony with the stars and stripes is now a scene of desolation—broken crates, battered trunks and other remnants in reckless profusion.

ALIMONY AT PISTOL POINT

"Was I ever held up by a highwayman during my western trips?" asked the drummer in the smoking car in response to a question. "Well, I didn't escape the distinction, only in my case the stage robber happened to be a woman. We didn't size up her sex at first because she was dressed up like a desperado and wore a mask and carried a belt full of guns, but she let us know who she was before she got through with the outfit."

"I was seated with the driver of the stage on my way from Circle City to a town named Goldrock, and we were not expecting a hold-up, because such a thing as a stage robber had not been heard of in that neighborhood for some years. We were therefore a little nervous when at a turn of the road a masked figure appeared and a shot was fired over our heads while the driver was called on to hold in his horses.

"The bandit seemed rather nervous and new at the business, I thought, but held a business looking gun in one hand, and that was quite enough to keep us quiet.

"Well, he, or rather she, ordered us all out in a rough voice and lined us up along the roadside with our hands stretched heavenward. I only had a few dollars with me, as I was waiting for a remittance, so regarded the adventure as rather interesting than otherwise. The masked robber looked us over some time—it seemed to me hours—then advanced and motioned for a big, dressy looking man to step out of the line. He was the biggest fellow in the bunch and the biggest coward, too, for he was shaking all over like a bag of jelly.

"The bandit said nothing, but helped himself—I mean herself—to the contents of his pockets. There was a roll of greenbacks that would choke a cow, which she counted over and finally stowed away in her blue flannel shirt.

"You can sail ahead now, gents, when you please," she said, tossing off her mask and revealing the face of a handsome, black-eyed woman. "This meany hound here," pointing to the stout chap whose roll she had appropriated, "was once my husband. I got a divorce from him, and for a year I never could get a cent out of him for alimony; not even the courts would help me; so here I've took the law in my own hands as a high spirited woman should. Good day to you, and turning around on her heels she swung her hat by way of farewell and disappeared in the bushes."

WHEN MEN FOUGHT DVELS

The Earl of Kimberley's much discussed challenge to Col. Sapwell is a reminder that though the days of dueling are considered to have passed in England the fighting spirit will still break out on occasions.

Not so very long ago Mr. Winston Churchill was challenged to an encounter a l'outrance by an irate constituent at Oldham. One hesitates to think what would have happened had Mr. Churchill had leisure enough to resume his martial role.

Lord Beaconsfield once challenged O'Connell to a duel, but the famous statesman found himself bound over to keep the peace in a police court instead of departing across the channel to blow out the brains of his political opponent.

O'Connell himself fought a duel with a member of the Irish House of Commons named D'Esterre and killed his opponent.

Another fatal duel was that in which Lord Camelford, one of the most confirmed duellists of his day and a man who had the death of more than one fellow creature on his hands, was killed by Mr. Best. Both were excellent shots, and one of the two pistols used was supposed to be slightly more perfect than the other. A piece of money was tossed up to decide the choice. Best won, and in the result Lord Camelford fell mortally wounded.

The last duel fought in Ireland was between a Mayor of Sligo and a member of the legal profession, but honors were declared easy, for nothing happened.

Mr. Tierney charged Pitt with "obstructing the defenses of the country," and that oratorical observation sounded so terrible in the ears of the eminent statesman that he sent his seconds to Mr. Tierney.

The two met at 3 o'clock one Sunday morning at Putney Heath, not far from the Kingston road, fired two shots at each other and then returned home quite well for breakfast.

Charles James Fox, Pitt's brilliant rival, took occasion to make some scathing observations on the powder supplied by the War Office and promptly received a challenge from Mr. Adams. Fox accepted, the duel was fought, and the statesman was wounded. "Adams," he is reported to have said on that lamentable occasion. "I do believe you'd have killed me if you hadn't used government powder."

DREAMS OF GOLDEN YOUTH

Under my eyes that I may see The years in backward flow, And let my grizzled locks take on Their youthful golden glow; And far to boyhood's rosy realm Of juley cherry days depart, That I may feel again the flush Of an untroubled heart.

I see a vista long and clear Down to my short pants day, And feel the breeze that stirred the leaves On those sweet morn'gs of May; I see the sunshine flooding down On field and vale and hill; I see the roses broken o'er The parlor window-sill.

The drone of bees is on the air, And scented apple blooms Are drifting in a snowy cloud Whose fragrance filled the rooms; Crouched in the shade down in the yard The gridstone, smut and gray, Waits that same crack as when we ground The scythes to mow the hay.

Barefooted boys, and colts and dogs, Old friends your names come back— I stretch a wistful hand adown Time's fateful death-marked track, And take again my zealous share Of pranks and self-willed ways That we as comrades knew so well In those divine old days.

I hear the laughter of the girls, And catch their mirthful eyes; I see the shelf that held the row Of juley cherry pies, And I remember, too, how oft The odors of spiced cake Have haunted through the nights and days A hungry boy awake.

Do I recall a famous crack, With cookies by the score, That tempted fleehing hands of mine Behind the pantry door? It all revives so plain to-day— No more, friend, Time, you're thanked; I see and know and feel too well A boy my mother spanked. —Clifford Kane Stout.

DAKOTA'S CAVE OF WINDS

The great Wind Cave has the form of an eight-story house, each story, or stratum, containing a distinct formation of its own, and each containing chambers of a size and magnificence of decoration such as has never been found in any subterranean cavern of the world.

It is a dream, a nightmare, a vision carved in solid stone under the green hills of Dakota. Stone as white as the milk the hired man used to give us to drink in the dawn of a happy June morning, stone as red as the heart of the first bloodroot that you see in the spring when the world was all spring to you, and stone that is blue with a blue that all the painters who have ever painted Venice have tried to get for generations and have failed.

Frozen fountains are there, white with the leaping foam of untold ages, sculptured cats and horses, and great monsters to be dreamed about o' nights and feared in dark corners in the daytime. Organs built by the hands of giant gnomes for a Titan to play wild hymns of praise upon a kitchen for the cooking of weird dishes never thought of up here in the sunshine, all manner and all kinds of rooms, ninety miles of them, down there under the hoofs of the gallant little range horses who pound the grass into hay the year round, up there in South Dakota.—Four-Track News.

Now my head is entirely clear and my hair is growing splendidly. I have used Cuticura Soap ever since, and shall never be without it. (Signed) Ada C. Smith, 209 Grand St., Jersey City, N. J."

Have Proved Their Worth.

The campaign undertaken by interested publications to undermine the faith of the people in proprietary medicines has drawn forth the following from a high medical authority: "It must never be forgotten that the interest of the manufacturer is to put out a remedy which is not only meritorious but safe. With a small army of enemies constantly on the alert, ready to seize upon and magnify every unfavorable circumstance, how few are the cases of accident or injury from the use of proprietary medicines! Complaints in regard to the use of such remedies are exceedingly rare and utterly insignificant, in comparison with the amount sold and the millions of people who avail themselves of these remedies."

The Richest Man.

Croesus was king of Lydia, a country of Asia Minor, in the seventh century before Christ, and was renowned for his prodigious wealth. His country was conquered by Cyrus and annexed to Persia, 546 B. ## FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters— Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter.

Too often this is never imparted or withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties.

Girls' over-sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start the menstrual period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.) "I am but fifteen years of age, am depressed, have dizzy spells, chills, headache and backache, and as I have heard that you can give helpful advice to girls in my condition, I am writing you."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.) "It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my months were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches.

But since taking the Compound my headaches have entirely left me, my months are regular, and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Matilda Borman, Farmington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills, of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makers, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 Men's Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00, Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2.17, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Equestrian used; they will not wear away. Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.

TWO BAD CASES

Of Cancer and Cataract Cured by Dr. Wilkinson, 25 Dwight Building, Jackson, Mich.

Somerset Center, Mich., Oct. 27, 1905.

Anyone having a cancer knows what it is to suffer, and they will also know what a relief they experience when they get cured. I had a cancer on my nose for one year, which annoyed me very much. I went to Dr. Wilkinson and in six days from the time he began treating it the cancer came out. It has now been three years since it has been removed and there has been no sign of its returning.

Mrs. DORA BAKER.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 20, 1905.
341 TenEyck street.

For the benefit of others who are suffering with deafness and roaring noises in the head, I wish to say a few words. For six years the roaring noises in my ears were terrible, terrible. I thought many times I would lose my mind, they were so excruciatingly annoying. Of course, my hearing was much impaired. I spent much money trying to get relief and had concluded to give up and quit everything when I heard of Dr. Wilkinson and thought I would try once more, and how glad I am that I did, for I am almost entirely free of the roaring and my hearing is much better. Only occasionally now do I have a slight roaring and I scarcely mind it at all, thanks to Dr. Wilkinson.

An Idle Contention.

It is idle to pretend that women are as free, or nearly as free, as men. They are not. It would be easy to prove that. Men know it quite well, and you might search far before you could find a man anxious to change his sex. He knows that if he could change his sex he would lose some of his freedom and to such a loss he could with difficulty reconcile himself. —Liverpool (Eng.) Mercury.

Neighborhood Notes.

Outside parties are talking of buying the Manchester brewery.

It cost a man $10 and costs to steal a pipe in Saline the other day.

The ladies of the Pinckney M. E. church realized $260 from their recent carnival.

The Manchester village school district has $200 to its credit from the dog tax fund.

Dr. H. E. Brown, of Stockbridge, has moved to Jackson and will practice medicine in that city.

Citizens of Ypsilanti are making arrangements for advertising that city on an extensive scale.

Bion Raymond sold his 80-acre farm in Sharon, part of the old Wait Peck farm, to Emil Filber, of Jackson, for $4,200.

Less than two miles of the Toledo-Ann Arbor electric line remains to be graded and 15 miles of steel have already been laid.

Charles Fink, of Stockbridge, threshed 248 bushels of beans from eight acres of land, an average of 31 bushels to the acre.

Frank Watkins, for many years a farmer in Sharon, who six years ago moved to Napoleon, died there the other day, aged 75 years.

Mrs. Myron Davis, of Pinckney, fell from a chair while helping decorate the opera house for the M. E. church fair and broke two ribs.

In Jackson the price of milk has been increased from 5 cents to 6 cents a quart. High prices of farm feed products is given as the cause.

The district schools in Manchester township have very commendably raised funds for the soldiers' monument in Oak Grove cemetery in that village.

E. H. Andrews, at one time a merchant in Dexter, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, and the father-in-law of County Clerk Harkins, died in Armada Friday night from pneumonia.

Clarence VanKuren, of Decatur, dropped dead of apoplexy on the street in Ann Arbor Friday afternoon. He was 46 years old and was taking treatment at the University hospital.

The Fred Campbell farm in Sharon was sold at administrator's sale the other day for $1,370, which cuts the dead man's estate, over which there has been so much talk, down to but little over half its estimated value.

The library committee of the Ann Arbor board of education has received a check for $5,000 from Andrew Carnegie, the first installment of the $30,000 which he donated to build a public library in that city.

It cost the city of Ann Arbor $214.06 to feed one team of horses from Nov. 1, 1904, to Nov. 1, 1905, a period of one year. In that time 17,166 pounds of hay, 2,000 pounds of straw, 389 bushels of oats and 500 pounds of bran were consumed.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up toward the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at Bank Drug Store.

Southwest Sylvan.

Wm. Hagadon is working for C. Gage this winter.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing down pains, lameness, back ache, headache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well.

Mrs. S. Anspoker, of 309 North Shawassee street, Owosso, Mich., says, "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me, for I used them two or three years ago when for some cause such as a cold or the grippe my kidneys troubled me. I do not know what I would have done without them as my trouble was steadily growing worse in spite of all the medicine I took. The kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. I could not rest comfortably, nights and always arose tired and worn out mornings. My general health was poor and this trouble was a great drain on me. I had taken so much medicine that I had little confidence in any, but I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon noticed an improvement in my condition and grew steadily better. I cannot speak too highly of this valuable preparation and am glad to recommend it at all times."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 14-15

Why Farms Run Out.

Forty years ago money was made on farms that nowadays are not paying expenses, and that are running farther and farther behind year after year. The explanation is that the farms have been cropped regularly and exhaustively; that is, cropped and not fertilized sufficiently. A western paper figures out the exhaustion of farm land. Counting the market value of commercial fertilizers at the figures now prevailing, the production of certain staple farm crops would take out of the soil as follows:

Eighty acres in meadow, from which one ton of hay per acre was removed each year for 40 years, $408 per year, or for 40 years $16,320.

Eighty acres in potatoes, 125 bushels per acre, $561 per year; 40 years $22,440.

Eighty acres in wheat, 20 bushels per acre, 800 pounds of straw, $455 per year; 40 years $18,188.

Eighty acres in corn, 30 bushels per acre, $454 per year; 40 years $18,144.

If these four crops were grown in rotation the annual yearly loss would be $469.50; 40 years $18,780.

Eighty acres devoted to making beef, $75.30 per year; 40 years $3,014.

Eighty acres devoted to cows where the milk was sold from the farm, $130.62 per year; 40 years $5,224.

Eighty acres devoted to cows where only the butter product was sold from the farm, $1.16 per year; 40 years $46.40.

Forty years ago many of the farms made butter, which removed only an insignificant amount of fertility. They began to ship away milk, and the fertility went with the milk. They grew other crops which carried off large amounts of fertility. In the 40 years from 80 acres, potatoes took $22,440 worth of soil fertility; possibly the farmer replaced $2,000 worth in the form of fertilizers. The $20,440 he probably reckons as "saved," but his land is ruined.

Tillers of the soil cannot afford to overlook the fertility question. It is with them from the start to the finish whether the finish be bankruptcy or amassed wealth.—Hoard's Dairyman.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment. HENRY C. LOCUST.
