Doing Business Again.

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed at the Bank Drug Store, 60c.

Regulating Liquor Traffic in Chelsea.

TAKES EFFECT MAY 1, 1907.

The Bill Was Passed by the Senate Wednesday, April 17, and by the House Yesterday, Giving the Common Council Power to Limit the Number of Saloons.

The Number Cut Down to Four.

AN ACT
To grant the board of trustees of the village of Chelsea power and authority to limit the number of places in said village where intoxicating liquors are sold as a beverage, to provide therefor by ordinance, and to provide the manner in which applications for licenses shall be made.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

Section 1. The board of trustees of the village of Chelsea shall have power and authority, in addition to the powers already heretofore granted by the general laws incorporating villages of the State of Michigan, as follows:

Section 2. Before entering upon the business of engaging in the sale of spirituous, fermented or intoxicating liquors as a beverage, the person desiring to engage in such business shall make applications in writing therefor to the board of trustees of the said village, specifying the location of the building in which he intends to keep such saloon or bar. Such applications shall be accompanied by a recommendation, signed by at least ten reputable citizens, that the applicant for such license is well known to them and has a good reputation. If, in the opinion of said board of trustees, such applicant shall not be a person of good moral character, it shall refuse to grant the applicant for such license.

Section 3. The number of places in said village of Chelsea, where intoxicating liquors are sold as a beverage, shall be limited to four, and no greater number shall be licensed within said village until the population thereof shall exceed three thousand, as shown by the last state or national census, or by special census appointed and taken by the said village of Chelsea.

Section 4. When the population of said village shall exceed three thousand then one such place may be added for each thousand inhabitants or fraction thereof in excess of three thousand.

Section 5. After an application for a license shall have been approved by the board of trustees of the said village of Chelsea and before a license shall be issued, said applicant shall pay into the treasury of the village of Chelsea for the use of said village such sum, in addition to the license fee now provided by statute, as may be determined by ordinance, not to exceed the sum of five hundred dollars.

Section 6. The board of trustees of the said village of Chelsea is hereby authorized and empowered to enact such ordinances as may be necessary to carry out and give effect to the provisions of this act.

This act is ordered to take effect May one, nineteen hundred seven.

MORE ROOM NECESSARY

THE STANDARD-HERALD OFFICE

Will Move to the Bank Drug Store Building When Vacated—Many Improvements Will Be Made.

The Standard-Herald will be moved into the store at present occupied by the Bank Drug Store as soon as it is vacated by the Freeman & Cummings Co., which will be about the first of August.

The increasing demand upon our job department by the principal industry of Chelsea—the Glazier Stove Co.—makes it necessary for us to have more room. Our present quarters are altogether too small for the present large amount of job printing turned out each month for the Glazier Stove Co.

In our new location we will have nearly double the floor space we occupy at present, which will give us an opportunity to add to the present equipment of the plant more modern machinery and many other improvements which the rapidly increasing business of the office will necessitate from time to time.

The new location is one of the most conspicuous business corners in Chelsea, and will give to The Standard-Herald the best printing office location in Washtenaw county, being well lighted and, for the present, giving sufficient room to take care of the interests of our patrons.

Great credit is due to Representatives Newkirk and Waters, of this county, and Senator Peek, of Jackson, for the passage of the Act regulating the saloons in Chelsea.

Jurors for May Term.

The following is a list of petit jurors drawn for the next term of the circuit court which will convene in the court house, in Ann Arbor, Tuesday, May 7: Ann Arbor city—Albert T. Bruegel, Adam Goetz, Charles Schuman, George W. Nunn, Robert Kempfert, Thomas J. Keech, Fred J. Bartlett.

Ann Arbor Town—William S. Smith, Augusta—George Russell, Bridgewater—William A. Flynn, Dexter—Herbert Johnson, Freedom—Albert Braun, Lim—Emanuel Wacker, Lodi—Herman Kappler, Lyndon—Orson Beman, Manchester—James Wallace, Northfield—Roscoe Brokaw, Pittsfield—George Read, Salem—Gilbert Thompson, Saline—Henry Bredernitz, Scio—Fred Walker, Sharon—John Grossmann, Superior—Walter Hiseock, Sylvan—P. Schweinfurth, Webster—Frank Rollison, Wm. Latson, York—Fred Gillett.

Ypsilanti—James R. Mowery, Ypsilanti City—E. R. Beal, W. S. Knisley.

Forest Culture.

The kingdom of Wurtemberg, in a considerable part, consists of the same sort of soil that our Michigan waste lands consist of. In this particular kingdom they have 487,000 acres in forest culture. The profits in the last fiscal year amounted to $2,450,000. What can be done there can be done here. If they made a profit of approximately two and a half million on 500,000 acres, we could make twelve times as much with twelve times as many acres. To accomplish such results it is only necessary for us to abandon our present policy and adopt one which agrees reasonably with our present and future needs.

As the problem of reforesting has long been solved in the older European countries, it is unnecessary for us in this country or state to make time-robbing and costly experiments. All that is necessary is for us to study and follow the methods now used in Europe and success is assured.

SOME NICE QUESTIONS FOR JURY TO CONSIDER

Suit of a Chelsea Bank to Collect on Promissory Notes

GROWS OUT OF A HORSE DEAL

Court Will Hear Arguments Monday Morning on Law Points Involved

The suit of the Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank of Chelsea against B. B. Smith and several other farmers to collect $2,400 on three promissory notes, given for the purchase of a Percheron stallion, has brought out several important legal questions as well as some novel questions of fact for the jury.

It has been claimed by all but two or three of the defendants that the notes, when signed by them, contained an agreement that the notes would be void unless the horse came up to the guarantee furnished by the company selling him. The parties to whom the notes were given and the printer who printed them, as well as two of the signers of the notes, testified that the notes contained no such agreement.

M. L. Bray, one of the signers of the notes, was given the amount to be paid by him for inducing his neighbors to take stock, and the sum of $66.67 was endorsed on each of the notes stating that payment had been made in full. This is claimed by the attorneys for the defense to mean just what it says, and it is claimed that the notes have been satisfied.

Besides Bray receiving $200 for assisting in forming the association to purchase the stallion, it was testified that L. J. Garber received $200, Chas. Wierland $100, two other signers $25 each, and then the bank only paid $2,000 for the notes.

Some of the signers testified that they had tried to pay the bank their share, but were refused the privilege, but were still willing to pay, and altogether the case is a complicated one.

Judge Wiest adjourned court until Monday morning at 9 o'clock, when he will hear arguments on the law points in the case, and excuse the jury until Monday afternoon, when the arguments will be made upon the questions of fact.

Lansing Republican, April 20.

A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

COULD BE ERECTED FOR $50,000

The Meeting Tuesday Evening Passed a Resolution That a New Eighteen-Room Central School Be Built.

The special meeting held in the opera house, Tuesday evening, to discuss ways and means of relieving the present overcrowded condition of the Chelsea public schools, was well attended and considerable interest manifested by all present.

Hon. Jas. S. Gorman, president of the board of education, called the meeting to order and briefly outlined three plans that had been investigated by the board. He said that the present school buildings were entirely too small, and that the State board of health could, if they desired, close some of the rooms as being unsanitary, as the health of the small children in many cases was being injured. He then called upon Superintendent Gallup of the schools to tell about the present needs of our schools.

The first plan discussed was an addition—60x100 feet, three stories high—to the present building, which would give ample room for present needs and cost about $30,000.

The second plan called for a 12-room building to be erected on the east end of the lot, that would accommodate the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and the high school department. The cost of this building would be about $38,000 or $40,000.

The third plan was to take down the old buildings and build on the present site a modern 18-room school building—140x90 feet, two stories high—costing about $50,000.

A resolution was passed as being the sense of the meeting that a new building be erected at a cost of $50,000. When voted upon, it was carried with but one nay vote, and a rousing cheer followed the announcement of the vote by the president of the school board.

The board of education expect to issue a call for a special election to vote upon the question, and the electors of the school district will, without doubt, decide upon the best plan to relieve the overcrowded condition of our schools.

Held to Contracts.

The next school term who violates her contract will get into trouble. So many complaints have come in to the department of public instruction because of teachers who make a contract with one school board seem to feel free to jump the contract as soon as they are offered more pay somewhere else, that Representative Perry, of Osceola, introduced a drastic bill which has been reported by the committee on education.

The bill provides that any contract made by a teacher covering a term for any part of which he or she is already under contract, shall be void, and no school money shall be paid on one contract made in violation of another. The department of public instruction is given authority to suspend or revoke the certificate of any teacher who has violated his or her contract.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Lyman Peck and children wish to tender their heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted them in their recent bereavement.

PINKIE PRIM

By popular vote Miss Pinkie Prim,
Was elected "Queen o' May."
Jealousness didn't exist at all.
And the kids all said that they

Were glad that Pinkie elected was.
And they said, "We'll get a chair
For a throne; a crown and sceptre, too,
For our 'Queenlettes', all so fair!"

And, O, the day they went to the park!
Sing-ho! for that merry day!
When soldiers' monument,—cannon, too,
Distracted them from their play.

But not very long;— just long enough
To salute the U.S. flag.
Soon was the May-pole put into place;
On top was "The Grand Old Rag."

Ribbons of red, and ribbons of white,
And ribbons of true old blue;
Every kid caught hold of an end
And interlaced through and through

Until no further could they all go;—
Near smothering Pinkie Prim.
Then of refreshments they all partook.
'Twas the treat of Uncle Tim.

The Sympathetic Typewriter. "Do you know," remarked the man with a cold in his head who was pounding away on his typewriting machine. "I have come to the conclusion that this key of mine is genuinely sympathetic. Every time I've started to write a word that, if I was talking, would show how bad my cold was the blamed old machine would spell it. Just the way I would pronounce it. The keys spelled 'mor-didg', 'brilliant' and 'chestnut' before I could catch it, so that now I have to stop and think out just how each word is spelled before I send—there it goes again—down."

HUMAN BRAIN A PHONOGRAPH.

Takes Records of Environments for Reproduction.

Briefly, the procedure is this. The operator being given the attention of the subject, places in his mind the idea of sleep—which state the object passes into at the moment of the complete absorption of his attention by the operator. In other words, the operator has completely absorbed the environment of the subject, or at least his power of registration—normal sleep being a nonregistering state of mind. The part of the brain capable of receiving impression being no longer active, what is left? The accumulated records of the previous environments of the individual. As the original record was made by the impression of the combined report of an environment made by the senses, a recall of a cylinder may be made by a word picture appealing to as many of them as possible. To the suggested environment the brain reacts with whatever record it has on its cylinders. The subject is not thinking what the operator is "willing" him to do, as is popularly supposed, nor is there new mental action on his part; he is simply reemploying old records put in place by a recall of the environment which gave rise to them. Under hypnosis nothing not already in the brain can be taken out, nor can anything new be put into the brain.—T. Gilbert White, in the Metropolitan Magazine.

Gladstone's Wise Words.

William Gladstone's life was a living example of what a man can do with time well spent. His words are still a bugle call: "Believe me, when I tell you that thrift of time will repay you in after life with a usury of profit beyond your most sanguine dreams, and that the waste of it will make you dwindle, alike in intellectual and in moral stature; beyond your darkest reckonings."

The Evolution of Household Remedies.

The modern patent medicine business is the natural outgrowth of the old-time household remedies.

In the early history of this country, EVERY FAMILY HAD ITS HOME-MADE MEDICINES. Herb teas, bitters, laxatives and tonics, were to be found in almost every house, compounded by the housewife, sometimes assisted by the apothecary or the family doctor. Such remedies as pica, which was aloe and quassia, dissolved in apple brandy. Sometimes a hop tonic, made of whiskey, hops and bitter bark. A score or more of popular, home-made remedies were thus compounded, the formulae for which were passed along from house to house, sometimes written, sometimes verbally communicated.

The patent medicine business is a natural outgrowth from this whole-some, old-time custom. In the beginning, some enterprising doctor, impressed by the usefulness of one of these home-made remedies, would take it up, improve it in many ways, manufacture it on a large scale, advertise it mainly through almanacs for the home, and thus it would become used over a large area. LATTERLY THE HOUSEHOLD REMEDY BUSINESS TOOK A MORE EXACT AND SCIENTIFIC FORM.

Peruna was originally one of these old-time remedies. It was used by the Mennonites, of Pennsylvania, before it was offered to the public for sale. Dr. Hartman, THE ORIGINAL COMPOUNDER OF PERUNA, is of Mennonite origin. First, he prescribed it for his neighbors and his patients. The sale of it increased, and at last he established a manufactory and furnished it to the general drug trade.

Peruna is useful in a great many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and catarrhal diseases generally. THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES HAVE LEARNED THE USE OF PERUNA and its value in the treatment of these ailments. They have learned to trust and believe in Dr. Hartman's judgment, and to rely on his remedy, Peruna.

GONE FOREVER.

Ten years ago a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce and three times he heard of it in the pocket of his neighbors.

The last time he got it back four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He never has seen that dollar since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the circle of usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

Patronize your local merchant who helps you to pay your taxes, support your schools and churches, and lends a helping hand in times of sickness and trouble.

Great Stunt by Geronimo.

In a single day Geronimo, when in his prime, ran 40 miles on foot, rode 500 miles on one stretch, as fast as he could change horses, and so completely wore out the column which finally captured him that three sets of officers were needed to finish the chase, and not more than one-third of the troopers who started were in at the finish, says a writer in Outlook.

Wrinkled and crafty and cruel is his swarthy face to-day, but the fire of his infernal energy has died and he is no more than a relic of the Geronimo of whom Gen. Miles said after their first meeting:

"He rode into our camp and dismounted, a prisoner. He was one of the brightest, most resolute, determined men I ever met, with the sharpest, clearest dark eye. Every movement showed power and energy."

SKIN SORE EIGHT YEARS.

Spent $300 on Doctors and Remedies but Got No Relief—Cuticura Cures in a Week.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affection. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies and several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success, but this is today the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I want to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fritz Hirsch, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 29 and April 6, 1906."

Custom Strict in Japan.

Society is very strict in Japan about the little matters of hairdressing, and woe betide the woman who would neglect to abide by the prevailing custom. Not alone in the better classes, but among the poorer people as well, the eligible young woman, the widow who wishes to marry again, and the widow who doesn't, may always be distinguished by the way in which they dress their hair—Modern Society.

Lies often tread on the toes of the unshod truth.

LACKING IN GRACE

CHARGE OFTEN MADE AGAINST AMERICAN WOMEN.

Carelessness in Walking and Pose of the Figure Responsible for This Criticism—Home Gymnastics of Great Value.

How to dispose of one's hands is a great test of breeding, and one's good appearance greatly depends on an upright carriage, a good pose of the head and foot. It is a reproach leveled against American women that few of them know how to walk. Indeed, we have heard it boldly asserted that the only women who can walk as the should are the handsome Spanish

BIG BROOCH IS ALL THE GO.

Style of Two Generations Ago Is Back in Favor.

Big brooches are all the go — really big ones, such as were worn two generations ago; only, with the exception of the cameo pins, they are more gorgeous affairs. The modern big brooch gleams and sparkles or is a sheet of vivid color. There is nothing demure about it—it is a striking, effective ornament.

Most of the big pins hold a single semi-precious stone. The stone makes the brooch, for the setting is simply a narrow rim about it. Transparent stones are not, as a rule, backed with setting, as this detracts from their appearance.

Amethyst and topaz seem to outnumber other transparent stones used for these big brooches, such as garnet, peridot, aqua-marine, etc. Well-cut topaz pins gleam like living fire, the amethyst pins glow with a more subdued light.

One of the most fashionable accessories to bridesmaids' costumes at present are the Alsatian bows for the hair. These are especially suitable for young girls, either for the occasions of weddings or for evening functions. They are exceedingly dashing in appearance and yet very simple, and are much more becoming to young girls than feather or aigrette ornaments, while they are also never thought not more becoming than the leaf or flower wreaths.

The bow goes directly in front, a twisted piece of the material going around the high coiffure as a snood. The bows may be made either of gauze sprinkled with crystals, gold spangles, etc., of liberty satin or velvet to match or contrast with the costume, or of cloth of gold or silver. The bow is quite large and very jaunty.

Tips on Neck of Waist.

Here's a point about the neck. The width of the back between the shoulder seams should equal in width that of one of the front portions of the blouse between the shoulder seam and the front of the neck. All told, the neck should be divided into exactly three equal parts, one for each side front and one for the back. A back that does not measure exactly the width of one side front is too narrow and the neck will neither fit properly nor comfortably. The shoulder seam should always remain straight at the neckband. If it needs to be moved the alteration must only be made toward the back or toward the front at the armhole.

Almond Milk. The simplest face bleach known is almond milk, and is good if constantly used. Blanch 30 large almonds. Break into a small basin and put in a lump of sugar. Take a wooden potato masher (not a wire or metal one) and break the almonds and sugar, then slowly, almost drop by drop, add a half pint of rose water. The process is a long one and must be carefully done, the object being to break the almonds as fine as dust. Let stand over night, then strain through muslin cloth. Use the "milk" morning and night, letting it dry on the face.

donnas. Even American women who master the grace of walking well in their youth seem to lose it in old age. Watch an old woman walking; in nine cases out of ten she is flat-footed and ungraceful, and we should do everything that is possible to make old age comely. We dress better than we did, we know better what suits us, and how to put on our clothes properly, which is half the battle.

But—there will be many dissentients to this—there are but few very graceful women, and the increased height in the majority of our sex does not tend that way. We are much too angular and too downright in our movements. The modern school girl, indulges in games much on the same lines as her brothers, to the great improvement of her health and her physique; but when the school days are over there is not that due cultivation of grace which would so materially to womanly charms. Note the swinging gait of well-dressed women in the streets, the movement of the arms accompanying the movements of the body, the lack of repose, and far too often the lack of dignity.

Parents with children should realize Ruskin's injunctions, that the first duty owing to women is to secure a training which shall confirm their health and perfect their beauty.

We rarely realize the ideal Greek beauty, and yet they were a long-lived race, and we probably should add to our length of days if we followed in their footsteps.

There are plenty of paraphernalia for home gymnastics, which should be set up in our bedrooms and used judiciously daily; but simple exercises without anything will do wonders, and keep the body well braced and assure grace of deportment. Some exercises should be carried out every morning, either before or after the daily bath; if the bath be a hot one before, for fear of chills, and before, of course, the corsets are put on.

NOURISHMENT FOR THE BABY.

Neither Milk Nor Solid Food Should Be Forced or Urged.

Do not at any time force or urge milk or solid food upon the child; if he should refuse part or the whole of a feeding, let that meal go, and do not give any food until the next feeding hour comes.

For the first 21 hours after birth very little food is necessary; feed the infant about once in five hours. If it is possible, the baby should be nursed by the mother as the nourishment it receives from her contains certain ingredients which are necessary to cleanse the stomach and intestinal tract of the newly-born, as well as to stimulate the digestive juices to activity. If for some good reason it is not possible for the mother to nurse her child, give as a substitute a little boiled water slightly sweetened, or thin gruel dextrinized. After the first 36 hours milk can be given in a dilute form. Cow's milk can be diluted, plain, or in the form of top milk. The diluted should be thin gruel or boiled water.—Harper's Bazar.

Dolly Varden Hats.

Morning hats are extremely simple. The Dolly Varden is perhaps one of the most becoming novelties, and its simplicity makes its charm even more apparent, says the American Register. Ribbons will be largely used for morning and country millinery, and the full ruche for girls' hats will be revived in taffetas and glaze silks.

IN DOTTED SWISS MUSLIN.

Daisy Apron Ornamented with Colored Embroidery Silk.

Dotted swiss muslin is the material used in making this apron. Quantity necessary is a piece 33 inches long by 30 inches wide. The hem on each side is 1 1/2 inches wide. At the bottom is 2 1/2 inches wide. Yellow embroidery silk is used for feather-stitching the hem. The three rows of embroidery across the bottom represent sent ox-eyed daisies. Yellow silk to be used for the petals, each petal having four stitches, the two center ones being a little longer than the one on each side. Brown embroidery silk is used for the center of the daisies, these being French knots. The top of the apron is turned over 2 1/2 inches and has four rows of shirring. On the wrong side of the shirring sew a piece of plain muslin, so the threads won't break. Fasten yellow satin ribbon on the right-hand side for the belt.

PREPARED FOR THAT.

The dime museum giant was calling on the Circassian beauty, whose love for him had begun to grow cold. "You only want me for my money," she said. "It is true I have promised to marry you, but you can't make a case of breach of promise against me. You haven't any witnesses." "I haven't, hey!" growled the giant, reaching into one of the side pockets of his overcoat, pulling out the midge, and standing him on the table before her.—Chicago Tribune.

NOT WHAT HE MEANT.

He—Have you ever appeared at court? She—Oh, yes, quite often. I have been divorced three times.

A Genius.

"How on earth did Hunker get out of his engagement with Miss Elder after he fell in love with Miss Seadell?" "It was done by a judicious selection of a birthday present." "What did he send her?" "He sent her a book entitled 'How to Grow Old Gracefully,' and she sent his letters and ring back immediately."—Royal Magazine.

Working Mamma. "Mamma," said little John, "I just made a bet." "What was it?" she asked. "I bet Billy Roberts my cap against two buttons that you'd give a penny to me to buy some apples with. You don't want me to lose my cap, do you?" He got the penny.

His Good Intentions. The Hobo—Please, ma'am, if you'll shove gimme sumthin' 't eat I'll shovel de snow off your walk. The lady—Why, there hasn't been any snow on the walk for a month! The Hobo—Well, dat ain't no fault iv mine, lady. Won't you gimme a sandwich fer bein' willin' 't shovel it off if dey wuz enny?—Chicago Daily News.

Sure Signs. Hotel Proprietor—I see you have given our finest suite of rooms to a man called Bilkins. Are you sure he can pay the price? Manager—Yes; he's immensely rich. Hotel Proprietor—How do you know? Manager—He is old and ugly and his wife is young and pretty.—Royal Magazine.

A Reasonable Supposition. Little Tommy Brown—Are you dumb, Mr. Smith? Mr. Smith—No; but why do you ask?

Little Tommy Brown—Because my sister said she had been waiting for you to speak all the winter.—Royal Magazine.

Pertinent Query. "Young man," said the elderly gentleman with the big watch chain, "I laid the foundation of my fortune by saving car fares." "Indeed!" rejoined the flippant youth. "By the way, how long did you act in the capacity of street car conductor?"—Chicago Daily News.

Same Thing. "Did you mean," thundered the flowery orator, "by your recent statement that my veracity was not impregnable to the assaults of a categorical verification?" "No, I didn't," replied the plain citizen. "I just meant you were a liar."—Baltimore American.

Regretted That, Too. Her Husband—If a man steals—no matter what it is—he will live to regret it. His Wife—During our courtship you used to steal kisses from me. Her Husband—Well, you hear what I said.

Quite Commonplace. "My days just flow on," said the milk. "And my life," said the egg, "just follows the beaten path."—Baltimore American.

Analogy. "Why is poker such a popular game?" "I suppose because it stirs things up."—Baltimore American.

WILD AND WARLIKE

LONGGOTS OF THE PHILIPPINES A FEROCIOUS TRIBE.

Secure in Their Mountain Fastnesses, They Have Never Acknowledged the Sovereignty of Spain or America.

There is one wild warlike tribe in the Philippines that has stubbornly refused for centuries to become attracted or assimilated by the Christian inhabitants.

These people are known as the Longgots and are found in the mountains near Baler, says the Manila American. This tribe comes within the jurisdiction of Tayabas, and according to Gov. Quezon's report, there is one section north of Dagcan inhabited by these people where no Christian has ever penetrated, and where the sovereignty of Spain or the United States has never been acknowledged. Gov. Quezon says:

"The Longgots are found only in the mountains of Baler, from Dipaculan, Diarabasin and Dinadiannan to Isabela, toward the north, and from the mountains of San Jose de Cagayan as far as Pantabangan and Carrangan, toward the west.

"They are a ferocious race, always on the lookout for an opportunity to kill the inhabitants of every other settlement.

"The road between Pantabangan and Baler is wont to be the scene of these attacks on the part of these heathen on Christian Filipinos.

"During the time of Spanish government troops were wont to be sent to the mountains to punish the Longgots when they assassinated Christian Filipinos, and then the former would either surrender or remain quiet for some time, paying a tax of 25 centimos for each male inhabitant over 18 and under 50, collectible in tobacco leaves, as they had no money.

"Then their local authorities were appointed from among their number. Practically, however, these authorities appointed by the Spanish government were never acknowledged or recognized by the inhabitants of each settlement, those really recognized, as such being the leaders whose valor and great ferocity inspired terror in all others." The Longgots of San Jose, Dipaculan, Diarabasin and Dagcan were the ones unsubjugated by the Spanish, and as no Christian has been there their number cannot be estimated, but it is known that they are more numerous than the Longgots who were subjugated, from the information given by the latter.

"Their warlike arms are the arrow, the campania la wide bolo, very light and well sharpened, about two and a half hand-breadths in length, and the lance. Their defensive arms is a shield three feet long by one foot wide, called calagag.

"Their attacks are always characterized by treachery, they lie in wait in the bush and ambush their victims; from their hiding place they use their lances, and when wounded, dispatch their enemies, taking their heads and leaving the body where it fell. The head is carried away and preserved as a trophy of war, a feast being celebrated upon the arrival of the head at their settlement.

"For an Longgot to marry it is necessary that he first bring the number of heads of Christians or heathens, which heads must have been cut off by the suitor himself."

Liang's Diplomatic Answer.

One of the surest indications of the revolution of sentiment taking place in China is the popular movement toward the education of women. One of the strong advocates for the new departure is the present Chinese minister at Washington, Sir Liang, whose American school life, when for part of the time he was under the instruction of woman teachers, gave him a lasting respect for feminine intellectual powers. Shortly before he left China for Washington Sir Liang had an interview with the empress dowager and the subject was brought up. "I have been advised," said her majesty, "to introduce schools for girls into the empire. But I have noticed that as soon as women begin the pursuit of learning they are seized with the mania for meddling in politics." Sir Liang was equal to the occasion. "Your majesty's subjects rejoice," he replied, "that the 400,000,000 of China have for their ruler an educated woman."

Growing Old Comfortably.

I find I am called an old man by other people, but I get along myself without thinking of this or talking about it, unless some correspondent asks me to, writes Edward Everett Hale, in the Circle. Thus, I am lame, but I do not say I am lame because I am 84. I say I am lame because I had a fall, precisely as I should have said if I were 33 years and 3 months old at three minutes after three in the third month of the year.

Or, in brief, if you can get along without thinking of yourself much, it will probably be a comfort to yourself, and it will certainly be a comfort to your friends.

Bottle Long Affair.

The greatest length of time which any bottle has been known to remain afloat is 21 years. A bottle containing a message, which was thrown overboard by an American sea captain off Newfoundland in 1878, was picked up off the west coast of Ireland early in 1899.

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says:

"Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not reappeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

AGE TOLD BY THE PULSE.

From Birth to Death the Beats Have a Steady Decrease.

How old are you? Ask your pulse. The human pulse has a wide range, even in perfectly healthy persons. The female pulse always beats faster than the male, and from birth to death the pulse beats steadily decrease. It has been said by great authorities that the age and sex of a person could be ascertained by the rate of the pulse alone. Babies at birth have a pulse beat of 160 times a minute in case of a girl and 150 in the case of boys. At the age of four or five the pulse beats will have fallen respectively to 110 and 100. Males and youths' pulses average 95 and 90. Mature men and women average 80 and 75. Elderly men and women have an average of 60 and 50. An old woman's pulse rarely, if ever, sinks below 50, but among men a pulse beat below 50 is quite common. There are, however, great variations consistent with health. Napoleon's pulse is said to have beaten only 44 times a minute.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Gives Advice and Tells of Simple Home Mixture.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying urinary affections.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Karsagon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

"This simple home-made mixture will force the kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the 'full blood count'—that is, 95 per cent. red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health."

HOW CLASSIC WAS WRITTEN.

Bret Harte's Great Poem Result of an Inspiration.

The war correspondent, Frederic Villiers, has recorded a talk with Bret Harte apropos of the poem, "Dickens in Camp." "We all felt his loss most keenly in the States," said Harte:

"On hearing of his death (I) sat down about three in the afternoon to write an editorial on the great author. I wrote one and then tore it up. Then another, after much pains, was written. This did not please me, so I tore it up. I wrote yet another and threw it into the waste paper basket; it would not do. It was getting late, and I was now keeping the paper waiting for press. I was drumming on my desk, absolutely without another thought in my head; I had run dry. Suddenly I mechanically began to write and the result was the thing you seem to like so much. Well, Mr. Villiers, you are not far out. I like it, too."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed, it swells and shuts itself off from the middle ear. ## WEIGHT AND HEALTH

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED THE TONIC TREATMENT.

This Woman Took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Gained Thirty Pounds and Has Been Well Ever Since.

How many women—and men too—are suffering from a general decline in health which the ordinary remedies seem unable to check! How many hands see their wives wasting away, steadily losing health and beauty, are powerless to help! Consumption and other germ diseases find in these debilitated systems easy prey, for lowered vitality is unequal to the task of fighting off the infection of these diseases to which most of us are almost daily exposed.

The symptoms indicating the decline which may have results so fatal could scarcely be better described than in the statement of Mrs. William Manley, 92 Court street, Utica, N. Y. Her case is a typical one. She says:

"For six months after the birth of my baby, I suffered from sick, dizzy headaches, which seemed like a rush of blood to my forehead, just back of the eyes. Some days they twisted so I could hardly see and black spots before me. The least exertion brought on this sickness. My appetite was poor and I was often sick to my stomach. "If I tried to work my feet got very nervous, I was so thin that I weighed only 90 pounds."

"One day when at the drug store I got headache powders I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills instead. Soon noticed that my headache was disappearing and my nerves gradually grew stronger. The pills gave me a hearty appetite and I now weigh over 130 pounds. I believe the pills to be the best tonic and builder a woman can take as they certainly helped me when my condition was critical and I have never been seriously ill since."

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and thus carries health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

If you are ill and the treatment you are taking does not cure you, write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in similar cases. Your druggist sells them or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $3.00, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Bishop Potter's Answer.

A young clergyman in a remote country district wrote last Easter to Bishop Potter, saying that he was about to take a wife, and asking him, to save some other clergyman a long and weary journey, he could not marry himself.

The bishop's reply was marvelous in its concision. It said:

"—Could you bury yourself?"

Health of School Children.

The medical inspection of school children—a subject now provoking general discussion in this country, and particularly in this city—is the topic of a book recently published in London, "The Health of the School Child," by Dr. W. Leslie Mackenzie. He notes that in England, as in certain countries on the continent (and here also, we may add), the physical examination of children is "no longer a question of doubtful politics." It has "passed into the region of administration." A point of great practical interest which he brings out is that, by a little cooperation among the teachers, the amount of work thrown on the doctors and the consequent cost of the inspection may be considerably lightened. Dr. Kerr, for example, of the London county council, "found that, with a little care, the teachers were able to find out almost all the children that suffered from eye defects." This testimony will not surprise casual and unofficial school visitors—among whom we reckon ourselves—who are often amazed at the indifference of teachers to defects of sight or hearing that are a manifest handicap to pupils. Boys and girls who are half-blind or deaf will move slowly from grade to grade, without a word of warning to parent or guardian from the unobservant teacher. We hope that the growing attention to this matter will, even where there is no formal medical inspection, quicken teachers to a duty that is too often neglected.

How intensely practical and sensible is much of the modern missionary work is shown by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the medical missionary of the Labrador coast. In a recent address descriptive of his work he said, "We paid more attention to benefiting the poverty-stricken people by aiding in their physical welfare than by preaching and prayer. We established hospitals to care for the sick, opened stores where clothing and food and tobacco could be obtained at a lower price and of a better quality than in the regular stores. We helped to teach the fishermen more about their business of fishing and the conditions under which they lived, and how they could better the conditions; and by so doing we accomplished a greater good than might have been wrought by a host of preaching and praying missionaries who ignore men's bodies in the cure of their souls."

An American clergyman who has recently returned from Venezuela reports that soon after he reached Caracas he was arrested on the charge of violating a law which forbids foreign clergymen to enter the country. Through the intercession of the American consul he was released on the promise that he would leave within seven days. The reason for excluding clergymen is not evident, for ministers of the gospel are rarely inciters of revolution, at home or abroad.

Women in Great Britain are well represented in the professions and trades, and about 4,500,000 earn their own living. There are 124,000 who teach; 10,000 are bookbinders; over 3,000 are printers, and nearly 500 act as editors and compilers; 1,500 are engaged in photography; civil service clerks number nearly 2,300; 3,800 are engaged in medical work and nursing and 350 women are blacksmiths.

The conductor of a Boston street car who returned $5.89 to a woman who had lost it in his car was rewarded with a smile. Boston must have remarkable street cars. Is there one in any other city where a passenger could smile, even when handed $5.89? And it shows, too, that there are women in Boston who can smile.

Among the interesting things shown in the Longfellow exhibit in the Cambridge public library, in honor of the hundredth anniversary of the poet's birth, was the first manuscript of "Excelsior." The poem was written on an invitation, the poet evidently having used the first piece of paper that came to his hand.

Col. Watterson furthermore remarks that half the people of Spain live on olives and air, while the other half wears cloaks and sombreros. Fortunately the colonel is traveling and taking notes in his private and individual capacity.

A Boston woman who had dropped nearly $5,000 in a street car rewarded the conductor who restored it to her with a pleasant smile. That is probably more than she would have done for a man who stood up to give her a seat.

If the man who started the story that a Wisconsin citizen had discovered $5,000 under a carpet thinks he can reconcile any of his fellow sufferers to the approach of house-cleaning, he is vastly mistaken.

SIDE LIGHTS ON MICHIGAN

TWO EATON COUNTY FARMERS NEARLY 70 YEARS OLD TO BE TRIED.

MURDER OF JOHN BOUTS.

Levi and Charles Tubbs, Father and Uncle of George Tubbs, to Stand Trial for Conspiracy to Kill.

History of the Case.
The first criminal case to be tried in circuit court, Charlotte, will be the murder charge against Levi and Chas. Tubbs, father and uncle respectively of George Tubbs, now serving a life sentence for the killing of Contractor John Bouts in November, 1904.

Both men are nearly 70 years old. Before the Bouts shooting, the family were rich, but the trial of the son made it necessary to put a mortgage on the farm, which is one of the finest in the county.

The prosecution will attempt to prove that the trio entered into a conspiracy and that the old men are equally guilty with the boy who fired the fatal shot.

The defense will contend that the old men did not know that George Tubbs was the man who shot Bouts, and that the belief that shooting was necessary was the product of his own mind.

On the trial of the young man he swore that he shot to protect his aged father, whom Bouts threatened to strike with an uplifted club. George bought the revolver in Nashville the day before the murder, which occurred on a Sunday morning, and the prosecution will try to prove that the weapon was purchased with the understanding that it would be used the next day to prevent Bouts and his men from working on Sunday.

After the shot was fired Powers and Bigley, Bouts' workmen, picked up the wounded man and lifted him into the wagon and drove away. He died before the men reached the road. The defendants dragged the tools of the ditcher out in the road and put back the rail fence and started for the house, where George was arrested a couple of hours later. The two elder Tubbs were taken into custody a few days later, but were afterward released on bail.

George will be brought from Jackson to testify for his father and Uncle Charles and in all probability tell the jury that the old gentlemen knew nothing about the weapon, which he claims he bought to shoot a troublesome dog.

There is considerable local sentiment against trying the old men, but in Kalamazoo, where the Tubbs farm is located, the sentiment is against the old men, it being the general belief in that section that the father and the uncle are really more to blame than George, who mentally is a weakling and who has been a quiet and peaceful man all his life.

"Uncle Charley" is a bachelor and has a reputation for being quarrelsome, and many lay the present trouble to his aggressiveness. Levi has more friends than Charley and George has more sympathizers than both his father and uncle combined.

In view of the wide publicity given the case both at the time of the tragedy and the trial of the young man, considerable trouble will undoubtedly be experienced in getting a jury.

The Short Curtain.
White Pigeon's short curtain sensation had an echo recently when Rev. C. H. Anderson was granted a decree of divorce and was given the custody of his children on the grounds alleged.

Rev. Mr. Anderson engaged Evangelist Leo E. Allen in December, 1905, to conduct evangelistic services at a White Pigeon, the evangelist being a guest at the preacher's home while in that town.

One night he said he peeked under a short curtain and saw his wife and Allen in a compromising position. He went and got two of his church members to look so that they might be witnesses.

Rev. Mr. Allen was acquitted of any wrongdoing at a church trial in Gratiot county. Mrs. Anderson always denied the story. Both were present during the divorce proceedings but neither testified.

Ex-Congressman Stephenson.

A friend of ex-Congressman Sam Stephenson, of Menominee, brings word to Lansing that the old Republican war horse and millionaire lumber operator is nearly at the end of his life. It is a case of old age slowly but surely sapping his vitality. Michigan never sent a more picturesque character to congress than Sam Stephenson or one who in his bliffling hearty way could get more things for his district. He was elected four times.

The Board Quit.

The Big Rapids board of public works has quit. The members feel they were snubbed by Mayor Wright, the council and city attorney. The board of public works suggested that bonds be issued for $5,000 for pumping station improvements. The city attorney says the city has gone the charter limit in its appropriations.

The mad dog scare of a couple of weeks ago in Dundee was proven to be genuine when a cow, owned by Clarence Stowell, was taken with convulsions as it was being led to water. It showed all the signs of hydrophobia and had to be killed.

Rep. Dennis Murray is proprietor of the Keeley institute in Grand Rapids. He has introduced a bill raising the salaries of the aldermen and police judge of Grand Rapids. A new Michigan law permits sending drunks to a jail, cure and the question now is, where will the local police judge send the drunks that are arrested.

THREE DEAD.

Mother Returns Home to Find Children Burned to Death.

While Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hicks, of Port Huron, were down town on a shopping tour Saturday night their three children were burned to death, presumably through the explosion of a can of gasoline.

The charred and blackened remains were found by the mother upon her return. Hicks, when he arrived at the house, found his wife unconscious beside the dead children, with the 15-months old baby moaning in its death agony.

The parents locked and bolted the door of the kitchen when they started down town. The eldest child was a girl, Ethel, 11 years old, then came Joseph, a boy of 9, and Ralph, the baby boy.

Just how the accident occurred is a mystery. A can of gasoline was in the house and it is believed that the children placed it upon the stove and touched a match to it to see the blaze.

Hicks called the neighbors, Coroners Falk and Schwicker, and Under-sheriff Davis were summoned. After looking into the case the officers decided it was an accident and will not hold an inquest.

Hicks is a molder employed at the Malleable Iron works. He is heartbroken over the tragedy and his wife is in a serious condition.

Died in Battle.

Mrs. Thiemie, a well known resident of St. Joseph, has been notified that her son John was among the slain in a recent battle between the troops of Honduras and Nicaragua. John Thiemie left St. Joe several years ago and knocked about the world, wherever there appeared to be a chance of adventure. He wrote home occasionally, but for the past year no one knew where he was. In the course of his wanderings he arrived in Central America about the time the war broke out, and he immediately became a soldier. The news of his death was sent by a chum of Thiemie's. The remains were given a decent burial by the natives, who have a wholesome respect for Americans.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

Dutch dialect monologues and songs are interwoven between the campaign speeches by Gerrit Diekema, Republican candidate for congress.

Jackson physicians fear Clifford Stettin, aged 47 years, may lose the sight of one or both his eyes as a result of a piece of a dynamite cap which the dead exploded hitting him in the face.

Neither the undertakers of Inland or of Honor had a casket large enough to hold the remains of Mrs. Luther, and a casket factory of Traverse City had to build one of extra large dimensions for her.

Thirteen Sunday schools have united in an organization known as the Saginaw City Sunday School association, and will work to extend Sunday school work throughout the city, regardless of denomination.

Rev. J. Murray Taylor, pastor of Christ church, Saginaw, who is being sued for damages by Mrs. May C. Eastman, denies ever attempting to kiss or hug the complainant, who is a former member of his flock.

Samuel Robinson, statistician of the Michigan State Firemen's association, is sending out circulars calling the attention of Michigan firemen to the thirty-third annual convention to be held in Detroit June 4, 5 and 6. Guy Northrup, of Detroit, is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Fred A. Jelley, of Alpena county, is back home and relates his unpleasant experience of being detained at Ellis Island by United States government officials, on his return from England, on the charge that he was not a resident of this country. Congressman Loud straightened matters out for Jelley.

Some of the farmer members of the house are kicking about the blind bill. They claim it is drawn in the interests of the retail dealers of the state, and does not give the farmer any preference in buying his twine from the prison. An attempt will be made to iron out the proposition when the bill reaches the senate.

Word has just been received from Omaha, Neb., that a private tourist car filled with passengers, many from Elmira, is side-tracked in the railroad yards there, and quarantined. Diphtheria has attacked three passengers and the railroad company refuses to carry the car on to California, and the hospitals won't admit the sick.

Grieving over a disappointment of an adverse law suit, Mrs. Lucinda Smith, aged 70 years, a resident of Kalamazoo for more than half a century, is dead. Mrs. Smith had devoted her home to a local man and wife, and was to receive in return $1,000 cash and a home for life. She alleged she never received the money. She had been living with friends.

Alpena's "Carrie Nation," Mrs. Anna Orban, is again on the warpath. She went into John Smoock's saloon, attempted to drive the bartender out with a big hammer, was herself ejected and then broke the window in the door with her fist. A warrant has been issued for Mrs. Orban on the charge of maliciously destroying property. Mrs. Orban, last September, went into the same saloon, ousted everybody in the place, and with two friends, held the saloon and restaurant in the basement four days before the sheriff could gain possession.

Charles Weimer, a Newton township farmer, became unconscious after having had a big molar tooth extracted. The physicians say he suffered concussion of the brain from the shock.

Allegan high school boys caught a rat, tied the school colors to it, and turned it loose in the school. They had great sport watching the girls do skit dances on their desks.

Jerome Bauerle, a well known man of Kalamazoo, is suing the Michigan Central railroad for $25,000 for the loss of one of his limbs, which was severed from his body when he was run over by a Michigan Central train.

MICHIGAN EVENTS NOTED

A BILL TO STOP THE BREAKING OF SCHOOL TEACHERS' CONTRACTS.

STATE STONE BREAKING

Matters of Note and Comment Gathered Here and There About the State.

Teachers Must Stick.

The next pretty schoolmark who violates her contract will get into trouble. So many complaints have come in to the department of public instruction because of teachers who make a contract with one school board and then jump to another, as soon as they are offered more pay somewhere else, that Rep. Perry, of Oshtemo, introduced a drastic bill which has been reported by the committee on education. The bill provides that any contract made by a teacher covering a term for any part of which he or she is already under contract, shall be void, and no school money shall be paid on one contract made in violation of another. The department of public instruction is given authority to suspend or revoke the certificate of any teacher who has violated his or her contract.

Make Prisoners Crush Stone.

Senator Moriarty, of Crystal Falls, and Representative Stannard, of Iron, in whose district Keweenaw county is located, introduced Highway Commission Earle's bill for a trap-rook crushing prison in Keweenaw county. The sum of $200,000 may be spent in building the prison, which shall be known as the state penitentiary, and shall confine the more dangerous class of criminals. The prison shall be built by the labor of 100 prisoners from Marquette, Jackson and Ionia, and when built the work of rock crushing for road purposes shall begin. The state will pay freight on rock delivered, the localities shall pay demurrage.

Allison Wants a Parole.

Mrs. John Allison, wife of John Allison, who escaped from Jackson prison after he had been convicted of the Richmond bank robbery, and went to Wabash, where he married, is in Kalamazoo in her husband's interests. Allison claims, and so does his wife, that he has been a model man since his escape, and that he should be paroled. She has a 2-year-old daughter, born to her and Allison, and for whom Allison is said to be grieving his heart out. Mrs. Allison has a petition signed by 400 residents of Moline, Ill., testifying to Allison's ideal conduct while in that city.

Twenty-eight Children.

The ancient Mother Goose nursery rhyme of "There was an old woman who lived in a shoe," familiar to every generation and all nationalities, is amply illustrated in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tatrow, of Standish. The twenty-eight children have arrived, and received just as warm a welcome as did the first. If an ordinary dining-room was used, breakfast would reach into the supper time, while one squad were waiting for the others to eat, so an extra large room is used, and it costs $10 a sitting to fill all the hungry mouths. At least, this is the statistical view of the matter.

Fleeced the Housekeepers.

A pretty young woman of 25, stylishly dressed, giving her name as Gerlie McGill, and identified as coming from Midland, was arrested in a drug store, under an accusation by a prominent Saginaw young woman, who saw her enter the store from across the street. She is suspected of having fleeced 25 families out of sums ranging from $1 to $3, representing herself as an applicant for work as servant, and after accepting a place, asking for a small advance to have her baggage sent up and to buy necessities. She is a very clever conversationalist of prepossessing manners.

Adverse Possession.

Senator Traver succeeded by quietness in passing a bill of great importance, which was signed by Gov. Warner. It prevents any person from obtaining title to any part of public property in adverse possession. Any who encroach on a street can be moved off at any time in the future. In one of the lower townships of Wayne a street can be straightened only at an expense of $25,000, because encroaching property owners have adverse possession.

The Rapids Dissatisfied.

Citizens of Grand Rapids do not feel that the United States army engineers sent there to study flood conditions fully appreciate the importance or greatness of the problem presented to them. Without saying good-bye to board of trade, citizens committee or mayor they returned to their stations, Col. Lydecker and Maj. Keller going to Detroit and Col. Townsend to Cleveland. They were in the city just 24 hours.

In passing through a gate the hammer of a gun, carried by O. R. Stone, of Smith's Creek, struck a post, exploding the charge and sending it through his brain.

While Clement Randall was acting as substitute for Albert Barber, rural mail carrier near Bay City, he was stricken with paralysis, falling out of his rig and was found in the mud and water beside the road nearly dead several hours later. He was given the best medical attendance, but died shortly after. He was 53 years old and leaves a widow, two daughters and one son.

A sleek-looking brindle bulldog, evidently of refined tastes, as he wore a stand-up collar and altogether had quite a prepossessing appearance, is treating Hemlock to a select dish of good dog.

ON DRESS PARADE.

Young Ladies Cannot Wear West Point Boys' Overcoats.

D. H. Crissey, a cadet from Michigan, is one of the 17 young men at the military academy who must face trial for lending their overcoats to girl friends during the dress parade Sunday, April 7.

Although 22 young women appeared on the parade ground wearing the gray overcoats five got away before the identity of the owners of the coats was ascertained.

The impression is that the punishment of the young men will not be more severe than the imposing of a few demerits.

Col. Howze was with Col. Scott, the superintendent, when he noticed five young women among the crowd watching the parade who were wearing coats. He winked at that. A few minutes later he saw 17 more girls similarly clad. Some even had cadet caps. Then he called a sergeant of the guard.

"In as courteous a way as possible," Col. Howze said to the sergeant, "inform those young ladies that the officers of the coats they are wearing violated the regulations when they loaned them. Then present my compliments and ask the young women to remove them."

The sergeant did, and most of the young women obeyed. Others objected.

Old Love Was Cold.

After basking in the sunshine of "wedded bliss" for three days, Mrs. A. C. Griffin, the newly-made bride of A. C. Griffin, a prominent farmer of Deerfield township, told her husband she did not particularly care for him or the country in which he resided, and, packing her grip, took the train for her old home in New York city. The circumstances connected with the couple's marriage started out in rather romantic style, and but for the versatile mind of woman, might have ended happily.

Back in New York, 30 years ago, Griffin and his new wife were sweethearts, but as the years rolled by they drifted apart, each having married and raised a family in after years. Recently Griffin learned that his former sweetheart was a widow and still lived in New York. His wife having been dead a number of years, he opened a correspondence with the widow, resulting in their marriage there a few days ago. Mrs. Haverly (that was the widow's name), coming all the way from New York.

The Bryant Disappearance.

Double disappearance—this may be the development in the case of Lora A. Bryant, the State Normal student who dropped out of sight on Monday morning of last week. Saturday her father, George Bryant, of Dowling, was missing.

Mr. Bryant left Ypsilanti for Battle Creek Friday afternoon to interview a mail clerk at Battle Creek relative to his statement that he sat at the same table at a restaurant with a girl of Miss Bryant's description. Not a word has been heard from Mr. Bryant since.

It is known that Mr. Bryant was on the verge of nervous prostration when he left there for Battle Creek. It was his intention to go on to his home at Dowling from Battle Creek. Efforts to communicate with his home today were futile.

Allegan County Oddity.

One of the oddest methods of disposing of a case of drunkenness on record in Allegan county was used by Justice Milton Chase, of Otsego. He let a prisoner off on suspended sentence on his agreeing in writing to acknowledge himself a liar in any court in Michigan, and be prepared to take the punishment for perjury if he ever drinks anything containing a particle of alcohol or buys the same for others while in this state. The name of the prisoner has been suppressed.

New Trial for Charbeneau.

Attorneys Nellis and Marks, of Wyandotte, made a motion before Judge Lockwood, of Monroe, to set aside the plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty in the case of Wm. Charbeneau, who was sentenced to Jackson for from 3 to 10 years on the strength of the story told by Mrs. Sophronia Lagodine who was found nearly dead in a swamp near Rockwood.

They presented an affidavit from the woman exonerating Charbeneau. Judge Lockwood took the motion under advisement, but it is generally believed that he will grant the new trial.

Lie Was Useless.

Fred Clark, a young man accused of raising a pay check, informed Judge West when he pleaded guilty that it was his first offense. The judge was inclined to leniency, appointing an officer to report on the advisability of placing him on probation. Clark's statement proved untrue, however, it being found that he was wanted in Ottawa county. He was sentenced to the reformatory for from five to fourteen years.

Will Recover.

Joseph Neild, the Menominee teamster whose back was broken while attempting to drive into a barn last week, is apparently out of danger. The physicians give out the statement that the bones are knitting together and that, unless something unforeseen arises, the patient will recover from the shock without being paralyzed.

Tom Donovan, for years a leading undertaker of Charlotte, and a brother of ex-Mayor Donovan, is in a precarious condition from a stroke of paralysis he suffered when he heard that a life-long friend, Alvin Cole, was dead. Cole was proprietor of the Thornapple lake resort.

Roy Eastman, Tip Queer, Guy Lutz and Artie Strogelle, aged from 10 to 13 years, all of Sturgis, skipped from school, caught a freight and started for the wild west. At La Grange the sheriff got after them, and they returned. Their combined catch, when they started, was four cents.

MOTHERHOOD IN DISTRESS

MRS. THAW AND MRS. HOLMAN ARE TO MEET IN INTEREST OF HARRY.

EVELYN MAY ASSIST.

Now There Is to Be a More Friendly Spirit That All May Work for the Acquittal of Young Thaw.

Coming Together.

Drawn to each other by the subtle instinct of motherhood in distress, Mrs. Wm. Thaw plans a reconciliation with Mrs. Charles J. Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, according to statements made to friends by Mrs. Thaw since her arrival in Pittsburgh. The importance and significance of such a move on future developments in the case of Harry K. Thaw, who is waiting in the Tombs for his second trial, are great, and friends of the prisoner hope for the very best results from it.

In brief, after Mrs. William Thaw goes to her summer home, in Creston, Mrs. Holman will be invited to go there and have a friendly talk with her hostess. There is every reason to believe that Mrs. Holman will be a valuable adjunct to the forces of the defense in the next trial of young Thaw.

Friends of Mrs. Thaw hope for even more. They believe Mrs. Holman can be induced to take the stand in behalf of her son-in-law; that information of inestimable value may be secured from her. Mrs. Holman's statement, given out last Tuesday, is the primary cause for this sudden change in the situation. It is said, and awakened a response in Mrs. Thaw's breast. Mrs. William Thaw now realizes that she thought too harshly of Mrs. Holman.

Now that Mrs. Holman has shown herself ready to take her daughter into her own home and to aid her in every way possible, the young Mrs. Thaw may be called to Creston to aid in the adjustment of the situation.

Mrs. William Thaw's daughter, the countess of Yarmouth, will have assigned to her the delicate task of making the first overtures to Mrs. Holman, according to the present plans.

FAMOUS CHURCH.

Mexico City's Grand Cathedral Damaged by 'Quake.'

It has been discovered that the Cathedral of Mexico City, one of the largest and most famous churches in the world, was cracked from top to bottom by the recent earthquake. The fissure is an eighth of an inch wide. An engineer has been appointed to examine the building.

The cathedral is centuries old. It is built on the old site of the Aztec temple, and is the largest and most sumptuous church in America. It towers above the other public buildings grouped about the central plaza of the city. It faces the north side of the plaza.

This edifice, founded by the Spaniards in 1573 and finished in 1657, cost $2,000,000 for the walls alone. It is built in the form of a Greek cross, 426 feet long by 205 feet wide. There are two great naves, three aisles and 20 side chapels. The magnificent high altar is supported by marble columns, and is surrounded by a tumbago balustrade with 62 statues of the same metal, silver and copper alloy serving as candlesticks.

The elaborately carved choir is enclosed in tumbago railings weighing 20 tons, and valued at $150,000. The interior of the cathedral is in Doric style, the exterior in renaissance. The structure is adorned with a fine dome and two open towers, 218 feet high. At the foot of the left tower is placed the famous calendar stone, the most interesting relic of Aztec culture.

Jamestown Exposition.

From the standpoint of location, beauty of surroundings and historic interest, the Jamestown Ter-Centennial exposition, at which Michigan may be represented by a structure of her own, will easily surpass all previous efforts of the kind, causing the exposition at Chicago and St. Louis to, in some respects, pale into insignificance by comparison.

The great show will be opened at noon Friday, President Roosevelt officiating in the inauguration ceremony, and will close November 30; at midnight.

Located in the heart of a region teeming with warlike memories, and more than ordinarily attractive from a scenic standpoint, the exposition is expected to draw millions of people to the shores of Hampton Roads. It is held to commemorate the landing of the first permanent English settlers in America.

Enormous Death Rate.

There were 5,000 deaths from plague in India during the week ending April 13. Seventy thousand of these occurred in the United Provinces and the Punjab.

The epidemic began in the Punjab in October, 1897, since when nearly a million and a half of deaths have occurred.

Royal Mudge, of Charlotte, has been tendered the appointment from the district to the naval academy at Annapolis and will accept. Mudge was second in the competitive examination for examination at Annapolis. He is now examining at that time prompted by Congressman Gardner to offer him the place which is open through a vacancy.

Fire totally destroyed the farm house of John Gordon, a farmer living near Wixom. The fire originated from a defective chimney. Loss estimated at $1,500.

THE FAMINE.

The Awful Condition in China Is Appalling.

Combined death total of such cataclysms as San Francisco, Vesuvius, Martinique, Galveston, Johnstown and Bermuda pale into insignificance compared to harvest of death now being reaped in China. An area as large as the state of New York has been completely divested of every trace of food by floods which swept away crops. Ten million persons are starving, brigandage has broken out, parents are selling their children into slavery and shame to get money to leave this stricken section, and human flesh is being eaten. Diplomats fear that desperate unfortunates may precipitate a rebellion that will go to much greater extremes than former Boxer uprisings.

Mothers have not hesitated to throw their babes into the rivers, and in many cases are helping after them to die the same death at a short time later.

So difficult is the work of relief that in many parts of the famine infected district it is only known to a few that the outside world is making any effort toward succor.

The lack of food has forced the substitution of some horrible travesties on edibles, and even these wretched makeshifts are sold at a price that puts them beyond the reach of the poor.

Dowdies Hard Up.
That the surviving members of the house of Dowrie are in dire straits and are in need of ready money is taken from the announcement made by prominent White Lake residents that another auction sale of the personal household effects of the Ben Mac Dhuil estate will take place in the near future, probably before the end of this month.

Mrs. Jan Dowrie is scheduled to arrive at Ben Mac Dhuil in a week or so, and a number of boarders are coming with her. She will also bring a typewriter to the resort and besides arranging a small summer resort where refined people may rest on White Lake shores, many think that Mrs. Dowrie plans to write and publish stories relating to the inside workings of Zion City.

It was stated some time ago that the surviving members of the Dowrie family would reveal secrets and the heralding of the typewriter is taken as the forerunner of the exposure of the long-awaited secrets.

SERIAL STORY

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Author of "THE MAIN CHANCE," "ZELDA DANZON," Etc.

Copyright 1906 by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

One thing only I found—the slight scar of a hammer-head on the oak paneling that ran around the bedroom. The wood had been struck near the base and at the top of every panel, for though the mark was not perceptible on all, a test had evidently been made systematically. With this as a beginning, I found a moment later a spot of tallow under a heavy table in one corner. Evidently the furniture had been moved to permit the closest scrutiny of the paneling.

Glenarm House really promised to prove exciting. I took from a drawer a small revolver, filled its chambers with cartridges and thrust it into my hip pocket, whilst meanwhile Larry Donovan de Marionettes. My heart went out to Larry as I scented adventure, and I wished him with me; but speculations as to Larry's whereabouts were always profitless, and quite likely he was in jail somewhere.

The hat of whose excellence Bates had hinted was no disappointment. There is, I have always held, nothing better in this world than a properly placed ham, and the specimen Bates placed before me was a delight to the eye, so adorned was it with spices; so crisply brown its outer coat; and a taste, that first tentative taste, before the sauce was added,—was like a dream of Lucullus come true. I felt that I could forgive a good deal in a cook with that touch,—anything short of arson and assassination!

"Bates," I said, as he stood forth where I could see him, "you cook amazingly well. Where did you learn the business?"

"I can hardly say I know it, sir. Your lamented grandfather grew very capacious, Mr. Glenarm. I had to learn to satisfy him, and I believe I did it, sir, if you'll pardon the conceit."

"He didn't die of gout, did he? I can readily imagine it."

"No, Mr. Glenarm. It was his heart. He had his warning of it."

"Ah, yes; to be sure. The heart or the stomach,—one may as well fall as the other. I believe I prefer to keep my digestion going as long as possible. Those grilled sweet potatoes again, if you please, Bates."

The game that he and I were playing appealed to me strongly. It was altogether worth while, and as I ate guava jelly with cheese and toasted crackers, and then lighted one of my own cigars over a cup of Bates's unfailing coffee, my spirit was livelier than at any time since a certain evening on which Larry and I had escaped from Tangier with our lives and the curses of the police.

The day had offered much material for fireside reflection, and I reviewed its history calmly. There was, however, one incident that I found unpleasant in the retrospect. I had been guilty of most unchivalrous conduct toward one of the girls of St. Agatha's. It had certainly been unbecoming in me to sit on the wall, however unwillingly, and listen to the words—few though they were—that passed between her and the chaplain. I forgot the shot through the window; I forgot Bates and the interest my room possessed for him and his unknown accomplice; but the sudden distrust and contempt I had awakened in the girl by my clownish behavior annoyed me increasingly.

There was no doubt about his surprise; he fell back, staring at me hard, and instinctively drawing the hammer over his shoulder as though to fling it at me.

"Just stay where you are a moment, Morgan," I said pleasantly, and dropped to a sitting position on the wall for greater ease in talking to him.

He stood sullenly, the hammer dangling at arm's length, while my revolver covered his head.

"Now, if you please, I'd like to know what you mean by prowling about here and rummaging my house!"

"Oh, it's you, is it, Mr. Glenarm? Well, you certainly gave me a bad scare."

His air was one of relief and his teeth showed pleasantly through his beard.

"It certainly is I. But you haven't answered my question. What were you doing in my house to-day?"

He smiled again, shaking his head.

"You're really fooling, Mr. Glenarm. I wasn't in your house to-day; I never was in it in my life!"

His white teeth gleamed in his light beard; his hat was pushed back from his forehead so that I saw his eyes and he wore unmistakably the air of a man whose conscience is perfectly clear. I was confident that he lied, but without appealing to Bates I was not prepared to prove it.

"But you can't deny that you're on my grounds now, can you?" I had dropped the revolver to my knee, but I raised it again.

"Certainly not, Mr. Glenarm. If you'll allow me to explain—"

"That's precisely what I want you to do."

"Well, it may seem strange,"—he laughed, and I felt the least bit foolish.

Like a flash he flung the hammer over his head and drove it at me.

ish to be pointing a pistol at the head of a fellow of so amiable a spirit.

"Hurry," I commanded.

"Well, as I was saying, it may seem strange; but I was just examining the wall to determine the character of the work. One of the cottagers on the lake left me with the job of building a fence on his place, and I've been expecting to come over to look at this fall. You see, Mr. Glenarm, your honored grandfather was a master in such matters, and I didn't see any harm in getting the benefit—to put it so—of his experience."

I laughed. He had denied having entered the house with so much assurance that I had been prepared for some really plausible explanation of his interest in the wall.

"Morgan—you said it was Morgan, didn't you?—you are undoubtedly a scoundrel of the first water."

"Men have been killed for saying less," he said.

"And for doing less than fire through windows at a man's head. It wasn't friendly of you."

after the flying figure of the caretaker. He clearly had the advantage of familiarity with the wood, striking off boldly into the heart of it, and quickly widening the distance between us; but I kept on, even after I ceased to hear him threshing through the undergrowth, and came out presently at the margin of the lake about 50 feet from the boat-house. I waited in its shadow for some time, expecting to see the fellow again, but he did not appear.

I found the wall with difficulty and followed it back to the gate. It would be just as well, I thought, to possess myself of the hammer; and I dropped down on the St. Agatha side of the wall and groped about among the leaves until I found it.

Then I walked home, went into the library, alight with its many candles just as I had left it, and sat down before the fire to meditate. I had been absent from the house only forty-five minutes.

CHAPTER VIII.

A String of Gold Beads.

A moment after I had flung myself down before the fire, Bates entered with a fresh supply of wood. I watched him narrowly for some sign of perturbation, but he was not to be caught off guard. Possibly he had not heard the shots in the wood; at any rate, he tended the fire with his usual gravity, and after brushing the hearth paused respectfully.

"Is there anything further, sir?"

"I believe not, Bates. Oh! here's a hammer I picked up out in the grounds a bit ago. I wish you'd see if it belongs to the house."

"It doesn't belong here, I think, sir. But we sometimes find tools left by the carpenters that worked on the house. Shall I put this in the tool chest, sir?"

"Never mind. I need such a thing now and then and I'll keep it handy."

"Very good, Mr. Glenarm."

We were not getting anywhere; the fellow was certainly an incomparable actor.

"You must find it pretty lonely here, Bates? Don't hesitate to go to the village when you like."

"I thank you, Mr. Glenarm; but I am not much for idling. I keep a few books by me for the evenings. An anecdote is not what you would exactly call a diverting village."

"I fancy not. But the caretaker over at the summer resort has even a lonelier time, I suppose. That's what I'd call a pretty cheerless job,—watching summer cottagers in the winter."

"That's Morgan, sir. I meet him occasionally when I go to the village; he's a very worthy person, I should call him, on slight acquaintance."

"No doubt of it, Bates. Any time through the winter you want to have him in for a social glass, it's all right with me."

When I plunged into the wood in the middle of the next afternoon it was with the definite purpose of returning to the upper end of the lake for an interview with Morgan, who had, so Bates informed me, a small house back of the cottages.

In The Waiting Room

By Emily Watson

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The notes of a popular song echoed sentimentally through the big station waiting room. With one accord the despondent occupants of the benches, turned to look in the direction whence it came. A young man had entered at the south door and was making his way across the floor. His clothes were those of the well-to-do mechanic; over his shoulder was slung a canvas bag of tools. Behind him came a colored porter bearing a step ladder.

The young man paused beneath the big station clock and glanced up at the dial. The hands pointed to nine, in open disregard of the fact that the afternoon sun was streaming in through the western windows. "Damn thing's taken to going two hours fast a day," explained the porter.

"Put the ladder here," said the young man, "and we'll soon see what's gone wrong." Still carolling, he mounted and began observations.

It still wanted three-quarters of an hour to the departure of the New York express, when a girl entered. She glanced round the room, then crossed over to the full length mirror, which hung on one of the walls. After a critical survey of herself she opened a satchel and drew out a hand-glass, a comb and a perforated chamber powder bag. Raising her spotted veil, she combed to a still greater height her already exaggerated pompadour, readjusted the angle of her hat, carefully powdered her face and studied in the hand-glass the result of her operations. Finally satisfied, she pulled down her veil, returned the toilet articles to the bag, and shut it with a snap. She smoothed down her jacket, hitched out of place by the raising of her arms; and then, shoulders well back, and with an exaggeration of the fashionable gait, she haughtily strolled to an empty bench and seated herself.

The clock-maker had finished his job to his liking, and was stowing away his instruments, preparatory to descending the ladder. At the sound of his singing the girl started, and looked nervously round.

"I suppose You're Awfully Mad with Me."

"Jim!" she murmured incredulously. Then, after a moment's hesitation, rose and stealthily moved to a bench directly in front of the clock.

The girl was elaborately gazing in a direction away from the clock, and had assumed a pose calculated to show at once the lines of her figure, and the abstraction of her mind.

"Nelly," said the clock-maker, staneing humbly before her, "Nelly"—Slowly she forced her thoughts and her eyes from the far distance, and looked him up and down. For a moment a little bewildered from drew her neat eyebrows together, then a smile of enlightenment brought a dimple into play.

"Why, if it isn't Jim Morris!" she exclaimed.

"I came to fix the clock," he explained. "I'm a clock-maker, you know. But I suppose you've forgotten that as well as everything else."

"I've such a lot of gentlemen friends," she apologized, "and it's so long—"

"It's only three months," said the young man, reproachfully. "I suppose," he went on dejectedly, as he sank into the bench, "I suppose you're awfully mad with me?"

"Why Mr. Morris, the idea!"

"Of course I ought to have known anyone as pretty as you was bound to have more fellows than one," he continued. "And I oughtn't to have chewed the rag when I saw you playing up to Michael Donovan, and swallowing his compliments as if they were Huyler's best,"—his voice grew choky—"you don't know, Nelly, how a chap feels when he loves a girl. Why, he'll plan for hours how to bring one kind look to her eyes, and he'll hug himself for days remembering a smile—and then when he sees her looking up to another man, and blushing and dimpling the way he's come to believe she only does for him—why it's awful—that's what it is,"—and he brought his hand so violently down on the bench that his tools were set on a jangling. "But even if I was jealous," he went on, "that wasn't any reason I should have acted the way I did. Insulted you by refusing to take your ward when you swore that you

HOW THEY SCORED.

A teacher in one of the public schools was recently complimented because of the success attending the examination of her pupils. It was noticed that her class of boys seemed to be able to solve all problems.

When a question was asked every boy's hand in the class was raised.

The principal of the school was putting the questions, and the lady teacher would call on a pupil to make the answer. Although more than a score of questions were asked, in no instance was an incorrect answer given. The principal was so pleased at the result that he made special reference to Miss Dash's proficiency as a teacher in each of the class-rooms he visited.

Probably envy was caused by the fact that in no other class-room did the pupils seem to be so well up in their studies. One of the teachers, whose pupils did not acquit themselves very creditably, made an investigation and succeeded in gaining the confidence of one of the boys under Miss Dash's care.

"Now, Johnny," said she, "how is it that all you boys know the answers?"

"But we don't all know," said Johnny.

"But you all put up your hands as if you did."

"Miss Dash tells us all to put up our hands when the question is asked. We boys who don't know the answer put up our left hands, and the boys who know the answer put up their right hands, and then Miss Dash only asks the boys who have a right hand up."

Information Wanted.

They were joint occupants of the parlor sofa—a man about town, she the heroine of three divorce suits.

"Will you be my wife?" he queried.

"Before giving you my answer," she rejoined, "I would like to know if your income is sufficient to pay me the alimony to which I have always been accustomed."—Chicago Daily News.

The Newest Star.

First Theater Manager—What is all this talk about your having got hold of a new star, who is to drive the town wild?

Second Theater Manager—All true, every word of it; crowded houses assured for months.

"Is he a tragedian or comedian?"

"Um—he isn't much of either, but he can swim like a fish, and we're going to have the biggest tank on the continent."—N. Y. Weekly.

Find a Place for Him.

Manager—I can't do a thing with Smith, the new clerk. I've had him in three departments, and he sleeps all day long.

Proprietor—Put him at the pyjama counter and fasten this card on him: "Our nightclothes are of such a superior quality that even the assistant who sells them cannot keep awake."

HER ANCESTRY.

He—Ah, you are a true daughter of Eve.

She—Indeed I'm not. Our family only goes back to William the Conqueror.

Needed a New One.

"That story," remarked the man who had been listening to his wife's bit of gossip, "strikes me as being made of whole cloth."

"So much the better," rejoined the wife of his bosom. "All the old gossip in the neighborhood has been worn threadbare."—Chicago Daily News.

An Advantage.

"A life of temperance and self-denial tends to promote cheerful conversation," said the philosopher.

"I suppose it does," answered Mr. Dustin Stax; "it may disappoint your stomach some, but it will keep your physician from talking to you about your liver."—Washington Star.

AT THE BOARDING HOUSE TABLE

A Few Things Explained.

"Well," said Neverthink, the clerk, at the boarding house breakfast table, as he speared a biscuit with his fork, "I see this man, ex-Senator Lorton, has confessed out in San Francisco. That was quite a graft mixup out there, I guess."

Miss Chunky, the fat school teacher, hurriedly put her coffee cup down and coughed. Then she laughed.

"Now, what do you think of that?" she said. "Ex-Senator Burton out in Frisco! Oh, Mr. Neverthink, you'll be the death of me yet. You'll make me laugh myself to death. You ought to read the newspapers."

"What's the joke?" asked the clerk, folding a pancake preparatory to putting it in his mouth.

"Why, ex-Senator Burton isn't mixed up in that San Francisco affair. He's from Kansas City, Mo. He never was in Frisco, so far as I ever heard."

"Pardon me, Miss Chunky," came from Wheat, the grain man, "but aren't you wrong about Burton's being from Kansas City? I think—"

"There you go again, Mr. Wheat. Of course, anything I say in your presence is wrong. In fact, when you're near I'm a regular know-nothing," and the fat school teacher cast a look of scorn at the grain man. The latter went down behind his newspaper and there was silence for a moment.

"Well, didn't somebody confess to grafting out there in Frisco?" asked Neverthink.

"Sure," said the fat school teacher. "It was this man Rueff Schmidt."

"Didn't they try to blame the big fire on him, Miss Chunky?" asked Miss Prim, the little old maid.

"Oh, no. I think not," was the reply. "The earthquake caused that, beyond a doubt."

"I thought," said Neverthink, stirring his coffee round and round, "that the Japs got mixed up in that trouble and that President Roosevelt wasn't going to let them go to school."

"Silly boy!" came from Miss Chunky. "At the time of the earthquake and fire there were no Japs in Frisco."

"Did they fire them all out?" asked the grain man from behind his paper.

At first the fat school teacher thought the question was meant seriously. "I think not," she said. Then the quiet laughter of the grain man made her realize that he had sprung a joke and that she had "bitten."

"But, by the way, Mr. Wheat," she added, "I'd rather you wouldn't spring any of your coarse witticisms at my expense. You ought to be playing end-man in the minstrel show of George Cohan. You're funnier, I think, than even George Primrose Dockstader. But your work is coarse."

The grain man did not reply. The railroad man next to him smiled faintly.

"I thought," said Neverthink, "that it was just the other way. I understood the Jap school children wanted to labor and the president said, 'No, sir; you'll go to school.' Then when he did it this Queen Alexandra, dowager empress of China and Japan, got sore."

"Goodness me, Mr. Neverthink!" said the fat school teacher. "Why on earth don't you put in a few minutes a day and read the newspapers? You talk idiotically. The empress of China has nothing to do with Japan, further than to keep Siam out of her hands. And Queen Alexandra is the wife of England's kaiser, not of China's milkdod."

"That so?" said Neverthink, innocently. "I thought it was the other way."

The grain man smiled at the railroad man and the latter smiled back. But they both kept discreetly quiet. Everybody was busy eating for a couple of minutes and then Neverthink said:

"I see Harry Thaw has got his lunatic commission. Looks like that fellow can get anything he wants, eh?"

"He didn't want it," responded Miss Chunky quickly. "He says he'd rather go to the electric gallows than to an insane asylum."

Married, Tuesday afternoon, April 23, 1907, at St. Paul's parsonage, Miss Freda Hartman and Mr. George Seitz.

Miss Rose Seitz, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Charles Hartman, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. Schoen. The young couple received a number of handsome presents. They left immediately after the ceremony for a short visit with friends in the western part of the state. The newly wedded couple will make Chelsea their future home.

The Old-Fashioned Sea Captain.

Is the old-fashioned sea captain extinct as a type? He stuck close to his ship in the moments of disaster, doing what he could to save the lives of passengers and crew, and, if necessary, gave up his life in the effort. He may often have erred in his extreme devotion to duty, but he held unflinchingly to the loftiest ideals of responsibility and self-sacrifice, and his example was of incalculable value to his profession and to humanity. Are we to regard him only as a memory, or does he anywhere to-day survive?—Brooklyn Eagle.

Be Moderate.

It is well not to be too wicked. To be acquainted with every form of sin may leave us too little to live for.—Life.

School Notes.

The Manchester-Chelsea game occurs on the Manchester diamond, Friday, April 26.

"Scenes in a Union Depot" will be given in the opera house, Friday evening, May 3d, for the benefit of the junior class of the Chelsea high school.

The State meeting of superintendents and boards of education occurs at Lansing, May 3-4. Chelsea's educational interests will be represented by two members of the board of education and Superintendent Gallup. A very interesting and timely program has been prepared.

The monthly report cards will be sent to the parents again next week. Parents should examine these reports and see if they can account for the absence, tardiness or poor scholarship that may be reported. This interest on the part of parents will stimulate the children to better work.

The baseball game with the Cleary Business College resulted in a victory for the Cleary boys. Our boys won honor, if they did not win honors. They are good losers, which is quite as important as being good winners. Mr. Cleary and his boys were very cordial and courteous to the visiting team. It is up to us to do as well by them when they come to Chelsea for the return game, May 1.

Mr. Pitkin, superintendent of schools at Belding, visited our schools Friday in search of teachers. Before he left he had engaged our much esteemed principal, Miss Shaw, for the principalship of Belding schools next year. We are sorry to lose Miss Shaw, but we congratulate her upon the $150 increase she receives. Her six years of faithful and efficient service has endeared Miss Shaw to many students and parents. Our best wishes go with her to her new field of labor.

The famous Troubadours Orchestra will give entertainments at the M. E. Church, Saturday afternoon and evening, April 27, under the auspices of the senior class. This is one of the best entertainments in Chelsea this year. The program for the afternoon is free to pupils of the public and parochial schools. Admission for all others will be 25 cents. Miss Murray entertains with selections from popular authors, short stories, humorous characterizations of quaint and strange people, brisk and bright monologues. The music will be furnished by Italians playing the harp, flute and violins. The seniors take pleasure in presenting this program and are confident that all patrons will appreciate and enjoy it.

Carried.

Moved by Stimson, seconded by McKune, that this meeting stand adjourned until Monday evening, April 29, 1907.

Carried.

W. H. HENSELSCHWERDT, Clerk.

Our Most Humiliating War.

As we have said, but for Osceola there would never have been any Seminole war at all, and all things considered, his career marks the most humiliating war the United States ever engaged in, says a writer in the Outlook Magazine. There were less than 6,000 Seminoles, men, women and children in all Florida, when hostilities began with the murder of Gen. Thompson by Osceola. That great chief's cunning, capacity and courage had cost the nation no less than $30,000,000 and the lives of three soldiers for every Indian brave that he led. Such an appalling record of destruction stands against no other fighter on all our frontiers.

A Happy Definition of Expert.

An expert alienist seems to be a man who gets $100 to $200 a day for knowing more things than a lawyer can make him tell.

CHURCH CIRCLES

M. E. CHURCH.
Rev. Joseph Ryerson, Pastor
The usual services will be held in this church next Sunday.

CONGREGATIONAL.
Rev. M. L. Grant, Pastor
"Cyrus Hamlin and the Unspeakable Turk," will be the evening theme at the Congregational church next Sunday. This is the second of a series on "Modern Apostles." "The Tri-Church Union" will be the morning subject.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.
Rev. A. A. Schoen, Pastor
The pastor will use for his morning subject next Sunday "The Ministry of the Spirit." The evening subject will be "Philip Melancthon."

The Young People's Society will hold their usual Sunday evening meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.
The Christian Science Society will meet in the G. A. R. hall at the usual hour next Sunday, April 28. Subject: "Everlasting Punishment." Golden text, "Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed." Romans, 6: 6. Responsive Reading:—Psalm 14: 1-9, 8, 12, 17, 22, 23.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. T. D. Denman, Pastor
Service as usual at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

The Washtenaw Baptist Association will be held at the Baptist church in Ann Arbor, Wednesday and Thursday, May 1st and 2d.

Mrs. T. D. Denman attended the convention of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of the West at Jackson, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Twenty New Engines.

Twenty new engines arrived at the round house in Jackson from the Schenectady shops, last Thursday, to supplement the rather deficient motive power of the Michigan Central. Ten are switch engines and ten road engines.

The new road engines are the biggest thing ever seen in this section of the country, as they are the most powerful. They are denominated "consolidated simple engines," but they will still further increase the length of freight trains. Each is capable of pulling 3,000 tons over the road, or 400 tons more than the "compounds." This will be better understood by the lay mind when it is said it will mean an average of more than ten cars added to the already long trains. The limit with the old type of engines, regulated by the draw-bar pull, was eighty cars. Under favorable circumstances the new engines will haul nearly 100 cars.

These engines constitute the advance guard of the new type adopted by the road. They are seventy feet long, over pilot to tender, carry 7,000 gallons of water in the tank, and fifteen tons of coal in the tender.

"Everything in the engine way is increasing in size, except the fire-boy," said an engineer the other day. With this new type of engine it would seem as though the limit of power had been reached. They carry 210 pounds of steam. A few years ago the newest type of engine carried but 130 pounds. This was increased by the later patterns to 200 pounds.

The switch engines are nearly as large as the road engines.

All will be put on runs as soon as possible. They are needed in moving the phenomenal business of the Michigan Central road.—Jackson Patriot.

To Measure Natural Gas.

When natural gas was first brought into use in America there seemed to be a general idea that the supply was inexhaustible. It was sold at low rates and usually without measurement. This method encouraged waste in the consumption of gas, and was shortly abandoned by the larger companies. To-day nearly all consumption is sold by measurement. It is believed that the time has now come when it is possible to procure statistics of the quantity of gas consumed, and next year this will be undertaken. The method will give such figures in the future that a more direct knowledge will be obtained of the capacity of gas areas to maintain a commercial supply of gas for a certain number of years.—Iron Age.

Many Uses for Pulp.

Paper or wood pulp has been used for wheels, rails, cannon, paving bricks, water pipes, telegraph poles, lanterns, rubber, textile fabrics, cottons, barrels, milk bottles, straw hats, sponges, thread, porcelain, bullets, shoes, building boards, paint, entire house-uses and even stoves, that stood the well.

Life and Love.

Life is a crust of bread that love transforms into a banquet.

LEFT NOTHING FOR HEIRS.

Eccentric Frenchman Carried Resentment to the Grave.

There has just died at Belle, France, an old man of 72, who during his lifetime was notorious for his eccentric and miserly habits, though he was in possession of an income of $4,000. His funeral was attended by a large number of relatives, who were astonished to discover only a few coupons in the house after the funeral. The will was then opened, and it read as follows: "My dear relatives: I am afraid you are going to be disappointed. I know that none of you have any sort of affection for me, and that if you come to my funeral it will be in the hope of dividing up between you whatever I may leave behind me. I now inform you that I have left no money whatever. I sank the whole of my fortune some years ago in a life annuity. All the money that remained over and above what I spent of the annuity I have given away or burned. I hope this will be a little surprise for you." A search revealed, however, $1,000 worth of annuity stock, the coupons of which appeared to have remained unpaid, but on going to the bank to have these coupons cashed the heirs discovered that the coupons had been paid, but at the special request of the old gentleman, who had given a separate receipt for each coupon, they had not been canceled. "This is only a little surprise I am keeping back for my heirs," he said. It appears that on the occasion of the annual festival the old man deliberately burned $10,000 worth of bank notes, which he found he had been unable to spend.

BODY NOT TO BE SACRIFICED.

Physical as Well as Mental Education Demanded.

The man or woman who will train the mental faculties without any reference to the physical, shows a faulty qualification for the work in which he or she may be engaged, says the Knoxville Journal. The mind may be ever so well trained and stored with knowledge of the books; but unless there is behind it a reasonably strong body, life runs the risk of being a failure; if not that, an existence of pain that serves as a limitation upon its possibilities. It is a species of cruelty to educate the mind at the expense of the body. Better let a child grow up into manhood or womanhood with an inferior education than with a better education of the mind and a body weakened in the effort. The fact that so many men in this country have succeeded in business and in professional and public life have been the sons of farmers, whose early life has been spent out of doors, has been a subject of remark; may it not be accounted for on the ground that in their boyhood their physique was developed so that in after life, besides their mental acquirements, they had strong bodies with which to do the work they have so successfully performed? This is not only possible, but very probable.

How to Treat Employees.

Every store that I know of in America obliges its help to stand on their feet from morning until closing time. Behind each counter in my store is a chair. I want my employees when not busy to sit down and rest. As I walk through the different departments in my store my employees do not have to feel that they must brace up because the "boss" is coming around. My employees are doing right all the time because they know that I am doing right and using them as near right as I know how. My employees would far rather have me home than abroad. I guess that I am an easier fellow to work for than the manager, but he cannot be very severe with them, because I always tell him to use them just as I use him. I tell every man at the head of a department, "Be kind to the help under you. Do not speak to them in any other way than the way I speak to you. Handle your help so that they will respect you and so that they will regret to leave my employ."—Everybody's.

Submarine Lifeboat.

When a submarine boat becomes disabled beneath the surface of the water and cannot rise its crew is in a bad predicament. To remedy the difficulty an inventor has contrived an auxiliary boat to be carried in the submarine and to be a part of it, practically, until needed. In time of accident the crew of the incapacitated submarine would enter the little craft and when the containing chamber had been flooded the bolts would be withdrawn and the vessel with its human freight would clear itself and rise to the surface.

Unapplauded Heroes.

It is a strange thing that the applause of men greets only those who fight with men. They who battle with the enemies of man, with disease, with accident, with unknown forces, and unknown seas and lands, these men must fight, and, if necessary, die almost unnoticed by their fellows.—Lancet, London.

Small Beginnings.

It is a remarkable fact that some of the societies which have done most to regenerate the world have been cradled within the walls of city taverns in the darkest hours of our national life.—Thornton Hall, in the Sunday Strand.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla. The liver will quickly respond, and so will the bowels.

PUSH THE COUNTRY'S TRADE.

Invaluable Work That is Done by American Drummer.

"The American drummer is the greatest patriot in the world," said W. I. Clark, in the Washington Post. "I believe no other men can touch the Americans in selling goods or boosting their country. The traveling men of the United States have made our foreign trade. They are good mixers, quick to catch on and are the greatest civilizers we have, with the exception of the newspapers. How faithful and patriotic they are none but those who have seen them can appreciate. Their patriotism is put to the real test, for anyone who has traveled in a foreign country longs to get back home when he has been years away from his fireside. But the men stick to their work, knowing that it is up to them to make trade. And they are doing it bravely and surely. There is no better trade-mark in Europe today than that which appears on American goods. Foreign countries know it, too, for many of them are continually making imitations of our manufactured products, and some are even going so far as to mark them with American names. The people of Europe are beginning to look upon goods that come from America the same as we looked upon woolsens and other articles a few years ago that were marked imported."

OFF CAME THE HATS.

It isn't hard to persuade women to remove their hats "in meeting" when you know how to go about it, says the Kansas City Star. Harry K. Shier, the singer who assists Rev. R. H. Crossfield, the evangelist, in his revival meetings, knows how. This is the way he did it recently at the First Christian church, Eleventh and Locust streets. "We want a good song service this afternoon," he said, "but before beginning I want to ask the women in the audience to join with me in a breathing exercise. You know to sing well you must breathe well. First I'll ask you to raise your hands to the back of your hat, and remove one hat pin, then the second. Ah, I see you're taking them off. Now let's sing the first verse of No. —" And the women didn't mind it a bit.

DRODYCK CUT OUT OF ROCK.

At Port Florence, on the shore of the great lake Victoria Nyanza, which is the chief source of the Nile, there is a drydock cut out of solid rock by natives who had never before done much serious work. The dock is 250 feet long, 48 feet wide and 14 feet deep. It is 3,700 feet above the level of the sea, or nearly three times the altitude of Lake Chautauqua.

Excuse the Idler.

There lives not a man who has not time to do all there is for him to do. "Lack of time" and "hard luck" are the whines of the man who is an idler and who has not the push and vim to open fortune's door.

Pneumonia's Deadly Work.

Had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable. My husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed at the Bank Drug Store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching phlegm. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. King's New Discovery. It cured me permanently."—Hon. John Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.

JOHN SMITH'S BUSY DAY.

Certainly Accomplishes Much in the Twenty-Four Hours.

"The person in this town that arouses my profoundest respect," said the gray-headed New York man, "is John Smith. I admire him because he accomplishes so much. No other man that I know of performs one-half the stunts that are credited to Smith. A study of yesterday's news reports reveals how prodigious are his labors. According to the papers he began the day—say about three a. m.—by shooting a burglar. At six o'clock he scalded himself with a pot of hot coffee, and at ten o'clock he fell into a coal hole in Tenth avenue. But not even these disturbances impaired Smith's vigor, for after repairing damages he found time to figure as a principal in two weddings and one divorce. Also he appeared in a police court on a charge of arson, was a witness at two trials, attempted to cut his throat with a razor, drove a runaway team hitched to a pickle wagon, and as a wind-up to his activities was run in on a charge of disorderly conduct. All of which, it strikes me, constitutes a pretty strenuous day even for a Smith."

FUNNY ERROR OF PRINTER.

He Was Not Expecting Latin in Newspaper Copy.

William F. Waller of 3417 Harrison street, now a real estate man, but formerly a printer, newspaper man and publisher, was talking recently of amusing typographical errors. "From 1881 to 1884, when Rose Field was managing editor of the old Kansas City Times, I was foreman of the composing room," he said. "One night Field wrote an editorial paragraph poking fun at the Latin a morning contemporary had printed. Field wound up his effort with a quotation from one of Cicero's orations. The words were 'O tempora! O mores!' meaning 'O the times, O the manners.' The paragraph went up late, and the proof-reader didn't even get a long distance look at it. The paragraph was in the paper the next morning, but the quotation read: 'O tempest, O Moses!'—Kansas City Star.

Where the Gold Goes.

Egypt is having a boom, and that explains in part the old mystery where all the gold goes to. There is a crazy land speculation in Cairo, the cotton crop is increasing at good prices, the area of arable land is increased by the new Nile dam, rain is more common from the same cause. And gold is being hoarded in the oriental way usual when times are good. A consular report says that nearly $20,000,000 was sent from London recently, but it has all been absorbed. The sellers of the cotton crop have the money hoarded in their houses. The gold-bearers' bazaar is crowded all the time and it is estimated that each week many pounds sterling in gold coin are melted or beaten into bracelets, necklaces and chains. That gold is always hoarded in Egypt is proved by the fact that some George III. sovereigns are coming into circulation.

Eyes and Exercise.

It was a matter of surprise to Emerson that the following little piece of advice by De Quincy should not have attracted more attention: "The depth and subtlety of the eyes varies exceedingly with the state of the stomach, and if young ladies were aware of the magical transformation which can be wrought in the depth and sweetness of the eye by a few weeks' exercise I fancy we should see their habits on this point altered greatly for the better."—Health Record.

Only Way to Do Good.

There is only one way to make men better. The work must be done from the inside. The see must be planted in the human heart. The individual conscience must be awakened and enlightened. No reform theory can be made which is automatic. The individual must do the reforming within himself, and all that the outside world can do is to lend him a sustaining hand, a cheering voice and an encouraging look.—Exchange.

Short Cut to Secrecy.

The officials of the Imperial Chinese telegraph administration have been notified that it has been decided to inflict the penalty of decapitation upon any telegraph employee who may in future be found guilty of revealing the contents of secret official telegrams to outsiders.—South China Morning Post, Hongkong.

The Law.

Thou shalt worship the Almighty Dollar with all thy heart, with all thy soul and with all thy might. This is the first and great commandment; and the second is like unto it: Thou shalt love thy neighbor less than his money. On these two commandments hang all the "law" and its profits.—Life.

A Daily Thought.

It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy.—Ruskin.

Bitten by a Spider.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Hockleyville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Buckle's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Hails every sore, 25c at the Bank Drug Store.

RAFFLES COW TO BUY LEG.

Ingenuous Scheme of a Man Disabled by a Train.

If there is more than one way to skin a cat, there is certainly more than one way in which to acquire a cork leg. The usual way is to earn money and buy it, says the New York World. The way adopted by Julius Thorne, who lives at Glens Falls, is to let a cow raise herself and then raffle her off for a leg. Thorne was hit by a railroad train about a year ago, and when the doctors cut off his left leg, a disease of the bone set in. The injured man was taken home, where, while he lay on his back waiting for the bone to heal, he cast about for some means whereby he could procure a cork leg. Being supplied with little in the way of the world's goods, Thorne was forced to use his ingenuity. From a neighbor he bought for a couple of dollars a sickly calf less than a month old. This he raised on skimmed milk provided by another neighbor who made his own butter, and in time the calf got strong enough to be turned out to pasture. Grazing around cost little, and while the calf was growing and fattening Thorne made baskets that he might have enough cash to winter the animal. By fall he had earned enough to more than do this, and recently he started a raffle. All his friends took tickets, and when the drawing takes place Thorne will celebrate by wearing his new cork leg.

AROUSING THE COURT'S IRE.

Young Man Glad to Be Victim of the Judicial Wrath.

A certain squire of a small city in Connecticut, who betrays his patriotism by presiding in a small office painted red, white and blue, had a case before him which attracted an unusual crowd to the temple of justice. A young man was up before him on a charge of stealing brass, and the prisoner's friends were out in attendance to see that he got a fair show. Before the case opened the noise and confusion became so great that his honor declared that the next man to indulge in any unusual outburst would be ejected from the room. He had hardly ceased speaking when a young man shouted, at the same time waving his hat above his head: "Hooray for Squire Hooligan!" "Put him out," roared the court; and in another instant the interrupter was rushed to the door. His honor ordered that the prisoner be brought before the bar for trial. The court officer hurriedly glanced about through the crowd, and then a great light suddenly fell upon him. "Can't do it, your honor," he replied. "The young fellow you just put out was the prisoner."

Don't Know Right From Left.

"The thing that surprised me most when I began to teach," said the instructor of a class of adults in manual training, "was the number of people who can not tell, instinctively, the right hand from the left. Fully a third of my pupils hesitated a moment before obeying instructions to do this thing or that thing with the right hand or the left. The thing that fixes the proper hand in their minds finally is some incident in which that hand has figured. By recalling that story they know which hand to use. One of the brightest women I know declares that the only way she can tell one hand from the other is to remember the time when, as a child, she tried to milk a cow and was sent flying heels over head. She approached the animal from the wrong side, and the picture of the position of her right hand then is so vivid that it enables her to distinguish that member to this day."

Bells Led to Burglar's Capture.

Nocturnal clock striking and too much of it has enabled the Paris police to lay their hands upon a gang of burglars and their very valuable booty.

The inhabitants of a house in the Fanbourg du Temple quarter, complaining to the police that for some time past they had heard an extraordinary amount of what sounded like electric bell ringing in the night time, that seemed to come from rooms in a certain direction, the police first verified the fact for themselves and then raided the rooms. Here they found two men busily engaged in testing a number of timepieces, of which they had stolen 200 from a manufacturer's warehouse, and were selling as tested.

Of Arabic Derivation.

"Zephyr" and "cipher" and "zero" are words that come to the English from the Arabic "sifr," which meant literally "empty," and so "nothing" and the figure that represents nothing. In medieval Latin this figure was called both "ciphera" and also "zephyrum," the latter probably from association with "zephyrus," or something even lighter than air. Hence, through the Italian "zefiro," there is the word "zero" as a doublet with "ciphera."

Man's Labor Expensive.

The daily work of a grown man has been found by a French physiologist to be about 0.47 horsepower per hour. He calculates that 250 workmen at three francs per day, or a total of 750 francs, would yield 100 horsepower, which would be supplied by horses at a cost of 60 francs, and by a gas motor for 250 francs.

O, Pickles!

A woman writer says: "Marry a man with a good digestion and no nerves if you want a pearl of a husband. All of the seven deadly sins do not make a man as hard to live with as a genuine, well-developed case of liver. Choose, therefore, as a husband a man who is hearty and husky and who can eat three square meals a day. A preferred type of this man is the one who is frankly fond of good eating and who has a Welsh rarebit recipe and a special way of making salad dressing. Grab a man like that the very first opportunity you get, for as a husband he is lovely."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Derived from the French.

Persia's ruler is the "shah," which word entered the English language long ago by way of the Arabic and old French, arriving in the form of "check." "Chess" is really "checks," kings; and the cry of "Check!" means one's king is in danger. Hence the verb and substantive "check" in all their English meanings: "check," or "cheque," which was originally the counterfoil of a bill that served to "check" fraud; "checked," from the aspect of the chessboard, and "exchequer," from the checkered pattern of the tablecloth on which the king's accounts were kept with counters.

Jewsharp Corner.

With an extraordinary outlay of about $150 in gold coin, Dell Seale cornered the jewsharp market here, buying the last 500 of those instruments known to be in existence. These he distributed broadcast among the youngsters of the town and among the relic hunters of mature age, and the testive twang of the hideous things was heard on all corners last night, to the discomfiture of all the cats and dogs in Astoria Christendom.—The Astorian.

Went Long Without Food.

How long can an animal live without eating? Last year a dog was imprisoned for 29 days in a rabbit warren at Guildford, England, yet was dug out alive. During the siege of Metz, in the Franco-Prussian war, a dog was confined without food or water for 39 days; while Dover records have the story of a pig which, buried alive by a fall of cliff, came out all right at the end of 160 days.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should, never be used, except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. I buy Hall's Catarrh Cure by mail, and get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co., Testimonials free. Sold by all druggists, 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well Known Remedy.

For months Michigan readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit. A. Douglass, living at 10 Building St., Hillsdale, Mich., says: "I have been a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back ached constantly and my stooping or over exertion always aggravated the trouble. If I took cold it would always settle in my kidneys and at these times the pain and annoyance would be most severe. My kidneys were much disordered, the secretions being very frequent in action, containing a sediment of an offensive odor and much discolored. I used many remedies, but nothing gave me relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. They positively cured me from every sign of kidney trouble." (From statement given Dec. 16, 1901.)

CURED TO STAY CURED.

On Dec. 1, 1906, Mr. Douglas confirmed above statement saying: "I cheerfully re-endorse statement I made recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in 1901. The cure has been a permanent one and I have not suffered the slightest symptom of kidney trouble since."

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have a natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or gripping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and thereby their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before.

Laxative Food—Ex. Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never grip or nauseate. 30c. 50c. and $1.00.

THE SEASON'S NEWEST FURNITURE DESIGNS

WHEN BUYING FURNITURE

The safest plan in buying furniture is to keep to simple lines. A great change has been wrought in furniture designing in the last few years, and less elaborate carved work is to be seen. Furniture dealers endeavor to offer pieces that are well and substantially made, but designed on artistic lines, so that they will be, in truth, a joy forever. If the buyer is in doubt about the enduring qualities of a desired piece, he should seek the advice of the dealer, who can generally be relied upon to give competent assistance.

The housewife who is thinking of refurnishing her home this season has already begun her study of the shop windows, well knowing that the newest goods are put on display as fast as they arrive. She gives attention not only to the furniture shops, which have their "spring" displays as well as millinery shops, but she watches for the newest ideas in drapery, wall paper, etc. From the window she often receives an inspiration that later develops into a most charming apartment.

In one of the shop windows a display of new draperies has been attracting much attention. The rich, lustrous silks and the dainty cretonnes were alike pleasing, and it depended only upon what sort of an apartment the drapery was to be used in, to decide whether one preferred the former or the latter. If for a bedroom the cretonne was given first choice.

In another store, where furniture is carried exclusively, delightful window effects are worked out. For instance, a bedroom window suite will be displayed in one window, a dining room outfit in another, and so on.

SILKS FOR SUMMER

In voile and similar sheer stuffs one finds many one-tone stripe designs, with stripes of varying width achieved in the weaving, or often with satin finished stripes. Lovely sheer voiles are shown, too, with big satin finished dots in self tone at rather wide intervals over the voile surface.

For Fever Blisters.

5 grains of arsenic, 5 grains of iodoform, 5 grains of salicylic acid, 5 grains of boracic acid, 5 grains of zinc oxide, 5 grains of starch, 5 grains of talc, 5 grains of powder, 5 grains of soap, 5 grains of water.

Cure for Rheumatism.

Take one glass of water and add one teaspoonful of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of oil, one teaspoonful of honey, one teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of molasses, one teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of lard, one teaspoonful of tallow, one teaspoonful of grease, one teaspoonful of soap, one teaspoonful of water.

Excessive Perspiration.

Take one glass of water and add one teaspoonful of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of oil, one teaspoonful of honey, one teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of molasses, one teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of lard, one teaspoonful of tallow, one teaspoonful of grease, one teaspoonful of soap, one teaspoonful of water.

For Darker Eye-Lashes.

Take one glass of water and add one teaspoonful of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of oil, one teaspoonful of honey, one teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of molasses, one teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of lard, one teaspoonful of tallow, one teaspoonful of grease, one teaspoonful of soap, one teaspoonful of water.

liquid in a powder, and add the remainder of the rose water to it. It should be applied with a very tiny camel-hair brush.

Newest Beauty Treatment.

The newest and best complexion treatments are a combination of scientific massage and electricity.

Nail Bleach.

Lemon is a good nail bleach, but grease should be applied immediately afterward, as the acid is drying.

For Headache.

A foot bath, provided a handful of common soda is added to the water, will very frequently relieve a headache, especially if followed by a brisk rub.

The Hair.

Cleanliness is as essential to the hair as to other parts of the body, especially as dust and other impurities are very apt to collect on it. The periods between washings must be regulated by the necessities of the case and by common sense.

DAME FASHION'S LATEST

Bright Roman plaid belting, is fancied by the gay minded.

Cherries and lilies of the valley are one of the combinations for a spring hat.

Mushroom and pretty shades of brown are prettier than their names would indicate.

Most becoming of the hair wreaths are those of tiny roses, set well together, without any visible green.

Hat bandeaux are very low and used at the back of the hat only. They are banded with maline, as they were last year.

The rise to favor of cloaks and circular shawl wraps has been rapid. In light pastel shades of cloth they are usually found.

Linens are to be more popular than ever and predictions are that one shall see more costumes of colored linen than in past seasons.

Fascinating are the little square theater purses, like miniature suitcases in shape. Of delicately tinted leather, they contain wee opera glasses, folded fan, mirror and powder puff.

Nearly all hat brims are faced underneath. Taffeta, satin and chiffon, plain, plaited or shirred, are used. Many of the natural toned and colored straws are lined with sound very new, but is charming at any rate, and is also expensive, and this may save it from the popularity that kills.

Belts of heavy satin finished elastic, with plain and gold buckles, made in almost all of the modish hues and are especially good in the dark blues—colors never attractive in leather.

Batiste robes, with colored spots ranging from the size of quarters to pin points, make very effective gowns. The spots are largest at the hem, and are gradually reduced in size until they near the waist line.

It is notable that the mushroom hat is as prominent as and even prettier than last year.

There is no abatement in the use of braids on spring suits. They are found on skirts as well as on coats and jackets.

Hats are actually to be worn on the head, not miles above it, and the elaborate cache-peigne of tulle and ribbon is no more.

Very large rough straw hats are often trimmed with a single long feather wrapped around the crown and sweeping down to the shoulder at the side or back.

The tailored princess gown has come to stay. It is found in rajah silk, pongee and taffeta as well as in

NEAT SUMMER HAT.

FOR AMATEUR MILLINERS

Women who are clever enough to trim their own hats ought to be interested in a little invention for holding the hat in any position while it is being trimmed.

It is one of those simple little affairs that makes one wonder why it hadn't been thought of long ago, for

ODDS AND ENDS

For Health.

For the sake of general healthfulness set one or two boxes of unstacked time in the cellar in some out of the way corner. It is an invaluable aid in drying out the cellar in the spring just after the regular cleaning.

Burns.

For a burn or a scald take of oil of olive, three ounces; white wax, two ounces; sheepsuet, an ounce and a half; minium and castile soap, of each half an ounce; and camphor, three drams; make them into a salve by melting them together; anoint with oil to take out the fire; then put the plaster on; dress it every day.

Nervous Children.

The nervous child should have his own bed and a quiet room, not so quiet that the whole household is hushed for his repose, but where no loud noises may disturb his slumbers.

People who own pet guinea pigs must remember that the little creatures suffer greatly for want of water. Clean, fresh water should be supplied for them as regularly as food.

Good Light.

Do not work by flickering light. Fine needlework, particularly colored embroidery, should be worked only in a good light.

Ink On Carpets.

If you spill ink on the carpet do not try to wipe it up with a rag. If you do you will surely spot your carpet. Do not touch the ink, but as quickly as possible get some salt, and cover the spot thickly with it. The salt will absorb the ink and you cannot tell where you have spilled it. Be sure and leave the salt on for twenty-four hours, or until it is thoroughly dry. If you scrape it off before it is thoroughly dry, it will do no good. Be sure it is dry, then sweep up the salt in a dustpan, and you cannot see where the ink was spilled.

Wood ashes are a satisfactory fertilizer for the roots of sweet peas.

To Clean Wall Paper.

Oil marks, and marks where people have rested their heads, can be taken off the paper on walls by mixing pipe-clay with water, to the consistency of cream, laying it on the spot, and letting it remain 24 hours, when it may be easily removed with a case-knife or brush.

Brass Beds.

Never clean nor rub a brass bed with anything but a soft dannel cloth or an old silk handkerchief. In course of time the lacquer will wear off. Then the only thing to be done is to have it rebrassed. In case of an enameled bed with brass trimmings, such as knobs, etc., which unscrew, it will usually be found cheaper to buy new ornaments than to have the old ones done over.

To Clean Stained Woodwork.

A little cold tea mixed with warm water and applied with a soft woolen cloth will make stained woodwork look bright and fresh.

A Strong Glue.

A strong glue, which is useful in emergencies, is made by taking a small piece of gold boiled potato and rubbing a piece of paper with it for about five minutes. This is excellent for all sorts of mendings and will stick as firmly as any glue you can buy.

flexible steel band that fits on the crown of the hat and that may be made larger or smaller as desired. One of the most troublesome things about trimming a hat is holding it in such a position that the hat isn't crushed, yet firmly enough to sew the trimming on, and there was probably never a woman who didn't wish she had at least three hands while she was struggling with a bandeau or a facing. The hat holder does away with any desire for an extra hand and saves considerable temper and no doubt a certain amount of time.

NEW SPRING SHIRT WAIST.

WOMEN MOST ECONOMICAL

The stories of woman's extravagance are as ancient and as senseless as the "mother-in-law" joke. There are extravagant women and there are extravagant men; but the women are not responsible for the extravagance of men, while the men are responsible for the extravagance of women. Women, as the same reason for appreciating the value of money as men. Hungry and fathers, as a rule, are very stingy or fail to let their children know their real financial situation.

the average man can. I have never met a man yet who prated of the extravagance of women who stinted himself on cigars or his stomach or his necktie; but if the woman wants a new 90-cent shirtwaist this man will want to know what she has done with the one she bought two years ago!

If men had to become the housekeepers and look after the children we would hear very little of the extravagance of women and much of their wonderful ability to economize and make things "go the farthest."

THE JUMPER FROCK.

The "jumper" frock looks very nice with a pompadour ribbon sash, its short kimono sleeve and the line of its bodice outlined with the same. The soft, chine flowers are a pleasant change from the everlasting embroidery, and contrast delightfully with the lace blouse that inevitably accompanies such a frock.
