THE PROPOSITION WAS CARRIED.

Chelsea is to Have a Modern $30,000 High School Building Breeted in the Western Part of the Town.

The electors of School District No. 3, fractional, Sylan and Lima, at the special election held in the town hall, Tuesday evening, June 11, voted to have a new $30,000 high school building erected on a site north of the electric line, west of Main street, south of the Michigan Central and east of Wilkinson street.

The meeting was the largest ever held n the school district. The whole number of votes cast was 522. There were 355 electors who voted "yes", 158 "no" and nine votes were thrown out because the voters had marked in both the "yes" and "no" space on the ballot. The proposition to bond the district having a majority of 39 over the two-thirds vote required by law.

The meeting was called to order by the Hon, J. S. Gorman, president of the school board, who stated the object of the special election, and W. J. Knapp, W. P. Schenk, Dr. G. W. Palmer and L. T. istered by H. D. Witherell. When the polls were opened, the electors of the nearly two hours the inspectors were engaged in taking down the names and securing the ballots as they were offered by the qualified electors of the school

The school board will proceed in the ourse of a few days to advertise the bonds for sale, select the proposed site, and have plans drawn for a modern high school building that will be a credit to the enterprising citizens of Chelsea.

The present public school building is not to be abandoned but the school board will have it thoroughly overhauled and put in a proper sanitary condition. A new heating plant is to be installed to replace the one now in use. The unsightly and germ infested plantation buildings, on the east boundries of the present school site will be removed. with the lawns of our citizens, who reside in the vicinity of the present public school. When the new high school building is completed the old school house will be used for the lower grades of the school district.

One of the greatest menaces to civilization is dust. Wherever a forest is growing, a single tree will hold up into the air many branches, twigs and leaves, all acting as brooms and gathering and checking dust. Where have we better friends than trees, which drop acid on the ground, purifying our water, absorbing the poisonous gases which fill the air and check and gather that locality. Mrs. Helen Ellis Smith.

Miss Helen M. Ellis was born in the state of N. Y. July 12, 1833; and came to Michigan with her parents ten years later. She was married to Horace A. Smith April 4, 1856, and has been a resident of Chelsea ever since.

For the past year her home has been with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Winans. from which home she took leave and entered into the future life on Monday, June 10, 1907.

She was the happy mother of eight children, four of whom are still living. On the 5th of April, 1850, she united with the Congregational church at Chelsea, of which she has ever been a worthy and exemplary member.

Being of a quiet, unostentatious disposition, the excellences of her character were best known to those with whom she came in most frequent contact; by all of whom she was highly esteemed. Mrs. Smith has been in feeble health for several years, and her release from suffering and entrance upon the rewards

Mrs. Mary McNamara.

Mary Mason was born in Limerick, Ireland, 72 years ago last January and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Remnant, of Chelsea, Monday, June 10, 1907. The deceased came to America in childhood and was united in marriage with Thomas McNamara September 12, 1860. The deceased is survived by two sons and one daughter, Dr. Frank McNamara, of St. Paul, Minn., E. J. McNamara, of Niagara Falls, and Mrs. Wm. Remnant, of Chelsea, and one sister, Mrs. B. "I can't tell, sir, but mighty little, I should say. The shot through the window the first night he was here seemed to shake him a trifle, but he's quite settled down now, I should say, sir. That shot of Morgan's was a great mistake. The young gentleman isn't to be frightened away as easily as that."

"Morgan's a fool. But what is Glenarm doing? He probably doesn't spend much time on this side of the fentedoesn't haunt the chapel, I fancy?"

To my own knowledge he had a couple of millions, and he couldn't have spent it all on that house. He reduced his bank account to a few thousand dollars and swept out his safety deposit boxes with a broom before his last trip to Vermont. He didn't die with the stuff in his clothes, did he?"

"Lord bless me, no, sir! There was little enough cash to bury him, with you out of the country and me alone with him.'

"He was a crank and I suppose he got a lot of satisfaction out of burying his money. But this hunt for it isn't it up before Glenarm got here or I shouldn't have been in such a hurry stood within the door. to send for him. But it's over there somewhere in the grounds. ."Thank you, sir."

"I don't want thanks. I want the money or securities, or whatever it is. I've got to go back to my car now, and you'd better skip home. You need't tell your young master that I've been here.'

I was trying hard to remember, as I stood there with clenched hands outside the chapel porch, that Arthur Pickering's name was written in the list of directors of one of the largest trust companies in America and that he belonged to the most exclusive clubs in New York. I had come out for my walk with only an inverness over my dinner tacket, and I was thoroughly chilled by the cold mist. I was experiencing, too, an inner cold as I reflected upon the greed and perfidy of man.

"Keep an eye on Morgan," said Pickering. "Certainly, sir."

"And be careful what you write or

CHAPTER XIV.

The Girl in Gray. My first thought was to find the crypt door and return through the tunnel before Bates could reach the house. The chapel was open, and by lighting matches I found my way to the map and panel. I slipped through and closed the opening; then ran through the passage with gratitude to the generous builder who had given it a clear floor and an ample roof. In Yes, and he hit me over the head my haste I miscalculated its length, with a club. It was his indiscretion, pitching headlong into the steps under the trap beneath Glenarm House brary in broad daylight, and it wasn't at a gait that sent me sprawling. ant was almost too abrupt. I dismissed him as quickly as possible, and listened to his step through the halls as he went about locking the doors. The locking-up process had rather bored me before; to-night I listened with interest for every sound.

When I heard Bates clumbing to his own quarters I quietly went the rounds of my own account and found everything as tight as a drum. I was tired enough to sleep when I

BANSHEE OR DEATH WRAITH.

This is One of the Oldest and Most Respectable Ghosts.

One of the oldest and most respectable types of ghost is the banshee, which may be regarded as a near relative of the "death wraith," inasmuch as it gives warning of impending death by uttering lamentable wails, says Lippincott's. Some families take great pride in the possession of such "spooks," a good example of which is described by Mrs. Levey of 7 Castle terrace, London, who writes: "The night when my mother lay dying was one of great pain. At about nine o'clock there came a fearful wail of a woman's voice as if swaying to and fro past the windows. I ran to the window, but no human being could be there, as the room was two flights up and no houses near. She died at 10:30 p. m. My father and family sat at dinner on the evening of February 4, 1868, when the same fearful cry or wail filled our house. At eight o'clock next morning my youngest brother died quite suddenly. The same thing happened on my father's death in 1887; likewise on the death of my sister in 1889, and on the death of another brother in 1890." This banshee seems to have been rather out of place in London, such wailing ghosts (which are not seen and cannot therefore be properly termed apparitions) being especially domesticated in Ireland, where they are usually associated with dilapidated castles and an impoverished and long-de-

To Free and Correct the Blood.

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acid are there ready to spring and grip tightly the mu cles controlling the heart's action. Don't neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system or sooner or later they will overcome you

The only true way to cure rheumatist is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand like deposits in the muscles. forces the kidneys to perform those du ties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric O is the one remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric O is s liquid taken internally, three times daily, and does not contain any morphia, opium or other so-called "pain deadeners." Standardizing Education. Administrative officers of the Carlogie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and of the General Education Board are entrusted with the LONGEST SESSION EVER. handling of enormous funds, the interest on which is to be applied, in the Grand Rapids Home Ready to Be one case to pensioning college professors, and in the other to holping needy colleges. The task of the officers of both these institutions has been, and is, complicated by varying educational standards and the lack of an established criterion. One of the earliest works of both institutions, therefore, is likely to be a sort of standardizing of education in America. The question, "What is a college?" would be swered to-day in different ways by different men. There is a vast difference between the institutions that bear the name, in the requirements for admission and in the courses of study which must be taken to entitle the student to a degree. There were a few preliminaries as to Horsley's birthplace and real name and his first days in the North Idaho cessful attempt at the Vindicator mine country, and then Hawley led him down to the destruction of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine. Horsley said that W. F. Davis, later the president of the union of the Western Federation of Miners at Cripple Creek, had command of the mob. He told of the seizure of the train, the theft of the giant powder, the attack upon the mines, and concluding, said: "I lit one of the fuses myself."

Destruction of Vindicator Mine.

Horsley then told of his flight into Montana and of various journeys in the western country until he turned up in Cripple Greek in 1902, went to work in the mines and joined the Western Federation of Miners again. The witness told of the plot to blow up the Vindicator mine. He confessed that after the strike began he went down into the mine "high grading, and there discovered a quantity of powder. He reported this to Davis, and there, he said, began the plot to do violence in the mine. He said the first attempt was a failure because the cage man discovered him and his pal and drew their fire, but later a contrivance was successfully fixed by which a discharged pistol set off a bomb and killed Superintendent Mc-Cormick and Foreman Beck. Five undred dollars, he said, was the reward for the murderer. Then came the journey to Denver, where the witness said he met Moyer, laywood and Pettibone and entered

- PINKIE PRIM -

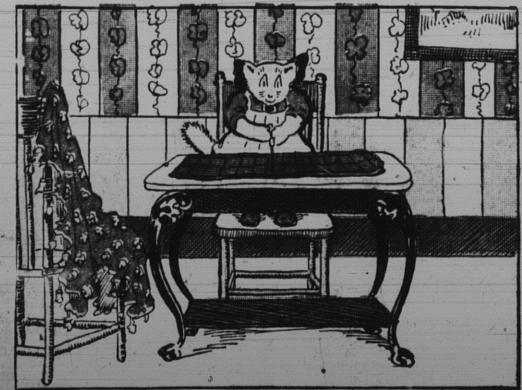

Two heaping cups of sugar,—
And three-fourth's-cup of cream,—
Of chocolate, two squares, please,—
O, won't it be a dream!

A table-spoon of butter;—
When all is stirred and boiled,
Until it "lumps" in water,—
Just look how Pinkie's toiled!

Then beat till granulated,—
(Full fifteen minutes,—yes!)
When Pinkie Prim makes FUDGE,—well,
It's pretty good, I guess!

On Grandma's marble table
Poured out, and cut in squares,
It looks and smells so good, sir,
That Grandma comes downstairs.

Evirybody gets a piece,— Including Newsie Jim. Best of all, an order comes, From her rich Uncle Tim!

His broker friends have tried it;
"It's good!" his friends all judge.
Maybe, some day, she'll get rich!
Will Pinkie, making FUDGE!
