Although the weather was disagreeable there were forty in attendance, An elegant New England dinrer was served by the ladies who were dressed in costume, to which all did ample justice.

The program in honor of Washington and Lincoln was interestingly carried out. Mrs. Howard Everett gave a fine description of the toil of woman from Lincoln's time until today. The character Washington was ably handled by Rev. G. A. Chittenden, after which a solo, "The Faded Coat of Blue," was rendered by Miss Jessie Everett. Lincoln's ability to work out great problems for the common people, and his honesty and fidelty were the prominent features of Rev. M. L. Grant's address. Mrs. Mae Chapman gave an interesting reading on the life of Washin ..

The guest of honor was Fred Everett, of Seattle, Washington, who gave an interesting description of Japan, from our political standpoint, prophesying in the future war between the yellow and the white races, United States in the end, owing to her financial ability, being victorious.

MICHIGAN How Many Matches?

The American people use up the enormous total of seven hundred billion matches a year, but a statement of the number of cubic feet of wood actually converted into matches conveys a very indefinite idea of the number of trees required for the industry. It is the general belief that matches are the by-product of planing mills and other wood-working factories, but as a mafter of fact the best grade of two-inch lumber is used for matches, whilst sash, doors and blinds are the by-products of the match-timber awmills. In a single year the manufacturers cut 225,000,000 feet (board measure) of pine in the Great Lakes region; and one of the 150 odd factories used up 200,000 feet of sugar or yellow pine logs every day. The deduction is that, in common with other industries of the United States depending upon existing forests, the matchmakers are within sight of a shortage in the wood supply, declares dition to steam out to face an enemy. to the great world cruise just finished ended in the total loss of Spanish sea Technical World Magazine. When the present timber holdings have been depleted they, of course, cannot be duplicated in a generation, and the people of this country may have to get along with fewer than twenty-five or thirty matches a day each as at presprobably demand that the practice of foresters plant and grow timber especially for matches. This could readily be done if forests were placed und r management and were no longer left brush to fall before the devastating forest fires, instead of growing merchantable timber.

In the issue of November 26 the Youth's Companion told of trees in this country which had been named after famous Americans. In each case they were so named because of some personal connection with their namesakes. A correspondent from Seattle writes that at Ravenna park somewhat the some custom prevails. In this case, however, a tree is selected and named much as a monument might be reared in honor of a great man. Paderewski, Roosevelt-"the largest fir tree in the state"-and Adam are some of the most recent ones to be chosen. The last, unfortunately, "is beyond christening, as he is very dead.' Gen. Robert E. Lee was to be named on the birthday of that famous soldier, January 19. The exercises at the dedica tion of the last tree included an 'address of welcome, a speech on "The City of Seattle," on "The State of Washington" and on "The United States," after which came the ceremony of naming the trees.

The promotion of Frank A. Vander lip to the presidency of the National City bank of New York, said to be the largest fiduciary institution in the United States, adds another to the list of young men for whom Secretary Gage opened the way to successful careers in the world of finance. An imaginative person in New York, who went by the gas route, left a note suggesting that the government furnish a park where the despondents might go and die. It would be a cheerful place, wouldn't it? However, the suggestion calls attention to the fact that it is against the law to die in the parks now provided. If the would-be suicides care for anything it is to observe the strict letter of the law.

In connection with their shadowing of suspected counterfeiters the secret service men have been enabled to gather much information of the greatest value regarding Black Hand organizations and the operations of anarchists. Yet other investigations along these lines have resulted from the responsibility of the secret service for the safety of the president, and thus without overstepping the bounds of the law of authoriza-

The headquarters of the secret service are in the treasury building at Washington. Here are the private offices of the chief of the service, Mr. John E. Wilkie, who receives a salary of $4,000 per year, and the assistant chief, William Herman Moran, who is paid $3,000 per year. There is a clerical division, employing some half a dozen men; and a large store room where confiscated counterfeiting outfits, spurious coin and other contraband seized by secret service men is deposited and allowed to accumulate until at intervals of about a year a committee is appointed to superintend the destruction of these unlawful articles. The equipment of the secret service headquarters embraces some interesting features including delicate scales for weighing coin whose genuineness is questioned and a "rogues' gallery," consisting of a monster file of photos of counterfeiters and other of fenders against the law.

However, the secret service bureau at Washington is essentially a nerve center from which are directed the "Last year an amendment was incorporated in the measure providing for the secret service, which provided that there should be no detail from the secret service and no transfer therefrom. It is not too much to say that this amendment has in this confidential corps. Following any occasion such as the been of benefit only, and could be of benefit only, to the crim-public interest to protect criminals in any branch of the public service. and exactly as we have again and again during the past seven years prosecuted and convicted such criminals who were in the executive branch of the government, so in my belief we should be given amplemeans to prosecute them if found in the legislative branch.

"But if this is not considered desirable a special exception could be made in the law prohibiting the use of the secret service force in investigating me nbers of the congress. It would be far better to do this than to do what actually was done, and strive to prevent or at least to hamper effective action against criminals by the executive branch of the government."

In a later message Mr. Roosevelt said: "A pending case illustrates the ramifications of interest with which the government has to deal:

Her Logic.

Anna Margaret had a great many toys, and her mother thought she ought to give some of them away before Christmas to less fortunate children. Anna Margaret was willing to part with the broken trunk and the cracked set of dishes and the onelegged Teddy bear, and a few other toys that were in the same dilapidated condition. But when it came to her pet baby doll, the one that went to sleep with her every night, she rebelled. Mother assured her that Santa Claus would undoubtedly bring her another doll, even better; but she 13fused to be comforted.

"Mother," she wailed, "if God sent Aunt Jessie another baby, would she give Baby Jean away?" She kept her doll.-Harper's Bazar.

Poor Pat. The surgeon of a large hospital was paying a visit to the patients when he come to a cot whereon lay an Irishman who was not bearing his pain very bravely, for he was groaning loudly.

"Shure, you're roight, sorr," groaned the Irishman, who had been severely kicked by a mule, "'specially whin they're the fate of a mule!"-Exchange.

ambitious to shine as sleuths. A large majority of the aspirants naively confess that they have had no experience whatever which would fit them for this highly specialized field. Many of the inexperienced applicants are obviously impossible but even among those who are sufficiently promising to receive more than passing consideration the proportion of inexperienced is overwhelming. Indeed, of the 700 men whose names are now on the "waiting list" of eligibles at the secret service—that is men who have complied with the civil service regulations, governing applications for places in the secret service-more than 600 admit that they are totally devoid of practical experience in this line.

With a profession which above all others needs devotees who can bring to it wide knowledge and thorough training, yet with most applicants sorely deficient in these qualifications, the question naturally suggests itself: Where does the secret service secure its agents? In reply it may be said that upward of a dozen different callings have demonstrated their value as fields of apprenticeship. Another close personal friend of Stewart's is Ed. Hart, alias 'Waterworks' Hart, president of the Council Bluffs Water Company, and interested in the street railway. Stewart's father was interested in, and practically owned and controlled, during his lifetime, a large ranch along the U. P. R. R. in Nebraska,

Omaha states: 'There are three cases against Stewart; one for fencing, one conspiracy, one perjury, all good cases and chances of conviction good.' The amendment in question was of benealt to no one excepting to these criminals, and it seriously hampers the government in the dered the most important service in securing evidence in connection with the land fraud cases in the west. Other secret service men had a hand in exposing the sensational "cotton report leak" in the department of agriculture, and so the list might be prolonged to include practically all the executive departments of the government, not forgetting the part played by these clever-ing charges against naval officers. Because of the fact that its primary tion, the secret service has been enabled to accomplish much in the field that is the chief concern of foreign secret police-namely, eternal vigilance as to the plans and ambitions of the plotters against the world's rulers. Until congress shut down upon it last year the treasury department also used the secret service to detect smuggling enter rises and other frauds upon the customs service and to investigate robberies and irregularities of all kinds and there have recently been some notable ones-in branch mints, subtreasuries, assay offices, etc. One of President Roosevelt's most bitter complaints has been against the hampering of operations in these directions.

in any great public function. It is this field service which makes it necessary for every secret service man to abandon all thought of habitation with social and family ties. He may be ordered from New York to Texas or from the mountains of Tennessee to San Francisco at an hour's notice, and it is impossible to predict in advance how long he will remain at any given place. True to its name and p licy the secret service aims to let the public know just as little as possible regarding its personnel. No secret service operative allows his photograph to be made, much less ublished, if he can help it, and he seldom acknowledges his vocation. At the headquarters of the secret service there is a rule against disclosing the name or address of any of the sleuths and in no government publication, not even in the "Blue Book," which is supposed to list every government employe, can there be found any roster of the secret service men or information as to the salaries paid them.

However, it may be stated that the pay is not high, considering the hardship and danger involved, and the secret service is likely to attract only men whose love of a life of adventure and excitement outweighs their desire for monetary reward. A new recruit in the secret service starts out as an assistant operative at $3 per day and, if he proves worthy, it promoted in due course to the rank of operative at $5 per day. As an operative his pay may increase to $7 per day but the secret service operative whose salary reaches the point just short of $50 per week must have proven his worth

Al. G. Field's Minstrels. There have been many delineators of eccentric comedy on the stage during the time minstrelsy has been before the people. But few, if any of them have approached the position in this line held by Billy Clark of the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels Entirely original in his conception and characterization of his part the "The Man From Onionville," Indian Teriter, Teritry." Billy Clark jumped at a bound from a comparatively unknown comedian to one of the greatest on the stage. Clark is what might be called a quiet comedian. His work is as smooth as oil. He gets laughs without effort and they are hearty laughs. They come from the heart because his wit is such as to touch the deeper feelings in our nature. Billy Clark is seen in the first part in which he sings his great hits "There's Always Something Wrong" which is a quaint negro plaint, and "I'd The Y. P. I. SYNOPSIS.

Three girls — Elizabeth, Gabrielle and Elise-started for Canada to spend the summer there. On board steamer they were frightened by an apparently demented stranger, who, finding a bag belonging to one of them, took enjoyment in scrutinizing a photo of the trio. The young women met a Mrs. Graham, anxiously awalting her husband, who had a mania for sailing. They were introduced to Lord Wilfrid and Lady Edith. A cottage by the ocean was rented. Two men called. They proved to be John C. Blake and Gordon Bennett, one a friend of Elizabeth's father. A wisp of yellow hair from Mr. Graham's pocket fell into the hands of Elise. Mrs. Graham's hair was black. Fearing for the safety of some series Lady Edith left them in a the hands of Elise. Mrs. Graham's hair was black. Fearing for the safety of some gems, Lady Edith left them in a safe at the cottage. Mr. Gordon Bennett was properly introduced, explained his actions on board ship. Elise, alone, explored the cellar, overhearing a conversation there between Mary Anne and a man. He proved to be her son, charged with murder. At a supper, which was held on the rocks, Elizabeth rather mysteriously lost her ring, causing a search care the teriously lost her ring, causing a search by the entire party. Gabrielle witnessed a stormy scene between Lady Edith and Lord Wilfrid, jealousy being the cause Mary Anne brought back Elizabeth's Mary Anne brought back Elizabeth's ring. Elise went sailing with Gordon Bennett. He tried to persuade her to return the jewels left in the girl's care by Laily Edith. At midnight Elise saw two men-one of them Gordon Bennett-attempting to force an entrance into their boathouse. She admitted to herself that she had nearly loved him and be-river it's all their boathouse. She admitted to hersel, that she had nearly loved him and believed herself used as a tool. Mrs. Graham, sick, told Elise of her husband's love for another woman. Gordon Bennett and Blake returned with Mr. Graham's body. He had been, murdered. Lord Wilfrid grew sulky. Lady Edith ham's body. He had been, murdered. Lord Wilfrid grew sulky. Lady Edith confided to Elise that Blake and Ben-nett were thieves. Lady Edith led her to where they were trying to break in. T girls were awakened late at night by noise in the cottage.

"Get your watch," advised Gabrielle, "and your pins and things. I've got all mine in this chamois bag, except the gold beads; they wouldn't go, so I'll just carry them. I'm not afraid, but I would rather have my things with me, somehow."

I collected my small store of valuables, and we formed a procession of three and ventured downstairs, walking softly, as though afraid to disturb some one.

With every step our confidence returned: We tried the front door and found it closed and bolted; the windows in the hall and living room were securely fastened; the dining room also appeared impregnable; and when we found the door to the safe tightly closed, I was beyond measure relieved, and almost ready to laugh at my suspicions.

In the kitchen we found the cellar door open, and debated whether we should lock it and thus prevent Mary it. He turned and looked at me stead-Anne's return, or walt and greet her ily, and again I involuntarily averted in disapproving array.

sylvania on the Present Relation of the Learned Professions to Political Government Coupled with a Eulogy of the Life and Works of George High Character as a Man.

Philadelphia, Feb. 22.-Hon. William H. Taft, president-elect of the United States, was the principal speaker at the exercises in the University of Pennsylvania, commemorative of the birth of Washington.

He chose for the subject of his address the "Present Relations of the Learned Professions to Political Government." He discussed at considerable length the influence which the learned professions, in this day, have upon national and municipal government. He outlined luminously the part each of the important professions plays in a government by the people and compared their influence, one with another. In brief part, he said:

"It is the duty of every citizen to give as much attention as he can to the public weal, and to take as much interest as he can in political matters. Americans generally have recognized these duties, and we find active in political life, men representing all professions, all branches of business and all trades. I propose to-day to invite your attention to the present relation of each of the learned professions to progress. It has made the construc-Ministry Placed First. "The first profesison is that of the ministry. "The next profession is that of the teacher. Of course, the great number of teachers are engaged in primary and secondary instruction and in industrial or vocational work. Their relation to politics and government is of the utmost importance though indirect. It is, and ought to be, their highest duty to instill in the minds of the young girls and boys the patriotism and love of country, because the boy is father to the man and the patriotism of the extreme youth of the country may well determine that of the grown men. The effect of an intense patriotism which thrills through the nerves of the boys of a country is illustrated in the immense strength which Japan derives from it. No one who visits that interesting country or comes into contact with the Japanese can avoid seeing its patriotism. The term 'Bushido,' is a kind of apotheosis of patriotism. The joy with which Japanese give up their lives in defense Washington-The First President's of their country has its foundation in a real religious feeling, and is most inspiring to all who come to know it. It should be full of significance to those of the teaching profession who become responsible for the thoughts and ideals of the young."

To the writer, in whatever capacity he may labor, Judge Taft attributed great influence, either for good or for Judge Taft paid a high tribute to the profession of medicine, because it had contributed to the preservation of the health of all the people. He pointed out that the profession had en exalted by its great discoveries and by its assistance in the expansion of our government in the tropics and in the construction of the Panama canal. He said:

Medical Profession Eulogized.

He said that lawyers often were selected to carry on governmental work. because the executive faculty was a very marked attribute of the modern lawyer. While he realized that there were defects and weaknesses in the profession of the law, he regarded it as the most important in its relation to political government. # Facts For Sick Homen

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

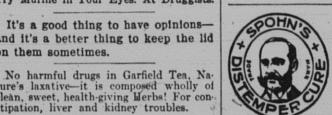

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy. Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E, Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St. North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

ERSONAL KNOWLEDGE Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of The Well Informed of the World. A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort. A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made. This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of —Syrup of Figs — and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of -Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna — as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of - Syrup of Figs - and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for — Syrup of Figs — or by the full name — Syrup of Figs and Elivir of Senna.
