Mrs. Mary E. Grav.

Mrs. Mary E. Gray, died at the home of her son, Lewis Paine, of Lyndon, Thursday, November 18, 1909, aged 73 years and 7 months. The deceased was born in the state of New York and at the age of 18 years she moved with her parents to Sylvan, and was united in marriage with the late F. H. Paine. who died in this village several years ago. She was married to Wm. Gray, of Plymouth, Indiana, in 1903, who passed away two years ago. She is survived by two sons and three daughters. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the home of her son, Rev. Dunning Idle officiating. Interment Oak Grove cemetery, Chelsea.

New Postal Cards.

Designs for the new postal cards to be issued by the government have been approved by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The cards will be furnished to the postoffice department by the government printing office, in accordance with a contract effective January 1, 1910. On the ordinary card, the head of former President McKinley will appear, as now, but a much better portrait has been selected. On the new small card, intended for index purposes and social correspondence a ikeness of President Lincoln will appear. The two-cent international card will bear a portrait of Gen.

A novel and pleasing innovation has been made for the double or reply, postal card. On the first half will be a portrait of George Washington, while the stamp on the reply half will be a likeness of Martha Washington.

On all the cards the words "Postal Card," will appear on the borders of the stamp and not, as now, as a separate inscription.

Marie Cahill.

It is said that in "The Boys and Betty," Miss Marie Cahill has secured a musical play of an entirely different character from that which the term usually signifies. The story is a consistent and plausible one and were it not that Silvio Hein had composed some really excellent music for it, there can be no question that it might well be played as a straight comedy, in fact, manager Daniel V. Arthur had strongly contemplated beuary 1, 1909, to manufacture them, 52 fore its production of doing this very new companies organized in the same thing. ### PARADISE FOR THE GRIZZLY

Too Many and Too Hungry for Comfort, Says British Columbia Boundary Surveyer.

"Triangulation work, hooking up mountain peaks over vast distances and photo-topographical labors were carried on under great difficulties and dangers in the snow peaks and glaciers of southeastern Alaska and northern British Columbia this summer. It was not the danger of falling over precipices or into crevasses the party feared as much as the possibility that they would be devoured by hungry grizzlies.

"Why, that country up there has a corner on bears. It is the greatest grizzly paradise on earth. It was not an uncommon experience to see as many as six of these huge animals every day. If our records are not perfect we will have to ascribe the blame to the grizzlies."

This was the way J. M. Bates of Ottawa summed up the exciting features of his season's work in connection with the delimitation of the Alaska boundary along the Iskoot river, a tributary of the Stikine. He was in charge of a party of eight men. Mr. Bates has had many adventures in the north since he first began the delimitation of the frontier. Two years ago he wounded a grizzly and in a dash for safety rolled down a glacier with the animal at his heels. Mr. Bates escaped, but the bear was dashed to death. Mr. Bates added:

"J. Sullivan Cochrane, a noted Boston naturalist and big game hunter, had a lively experience near our camp this summer. He was seeking to photograph grizzlies in their native wilds. One day he snapped his camera on a huge bear, when the animal charged viciously. One of its paws hurled the kodak into a ravine, while the other cuffed the intruder. Just then his soon. Three shots did the guide pump into the grizzly, which staggered about, made a plunge at the guide, whose last cartridge was exhausted. Mr. Cochrane, although armed with only a revolver, then rushed to the rescue and dispatched the bear. He told me that he had completed his course in nature studies."-Vancouver Correspondence Seattle Post-Intelli-

"low are you getting on?" said spider No. 1 to spider No. 2.

"Oh, moderately," was the reply; "I don't feel very comfortable on Sundays: I live in the pulpit, under the cushion, and on that day the parson comes and bangs the book, and sends his fists on the side, and I have to keep very close or else some day I think he'll hit me. He bangs with such force that I know he'll squash me to a felly."

"Oh, you come and live with me," said his companion. "I'm never troubled; I'm always comfortable, and never disturbed from one year's end to the other."

"Indeed," said the other spider; "and where do you live?" "Oh, I live in the poorbox," was the reply.-Judge.

Male Chatterboxes.

Are not men in the mass more inveterate gossips than women? Shakespeare's citizens do the real gossiping in his plays, even though he followed tradition in personifying rumor as a dame-"if my gossip report be an honest woman of her word." You will find as much lively and inane chit-chat in any man's clubhouse as in any woman's. The hotel and theater lobbies seethe with the gossiping of men. No village sewing society or mite society can equal the incessant buzz at the grocery store, and when it comes to downright, earnest, unflagging dissection of reputation and pernicious tittle tattle there is no body of women in the land that can hold a candle to the foolish adult chatterboxes at any political headquarters.

The largest pack is the Queen's, 40 couples; master, the earl of Coventy, kennels at Ascot Heath. Of fox haund packs there are 155 in England and Wales, containing 6,239 couples; in Scotland, nine packs, with 326 couples, and in Ireland, 17 packs. with 635 couples. There are also 124 packs of harriers and beagles in England and Wales, with 1,997 couples: 40 packs in Ireland, with 512 couples. and six packs in Scotland, with 116 couples. Thus more than 20,000 hounds are maintained exclusively for hunting in the United Kingdom.

LAW VIOLATORS ARE REVEALED AT ESCA-NABA.

WARDENS: NO ARRESTS.

Fermer Paymaster of Detreit Auto Manufacturing Concern Accused of Stealing Pay Roll of $17,000 While Assisting His Successor.

It's really surprising the number of dead leer that are suddenly making their appearance since the opening of the deer season, and most of them have been dead for several weeks, despite the fact that the season did not open until November 10. Search about Delta county would reveal sundry pits, thickets, hunting lodges and other places of concealment beneath or in which the carcasses of deer found repose until the formal opening of the season.

Perhaps in no section of the state are the state game laws protecting deer violated with more deliberate disregard then in belta county. The county has its share of game wardens. -it has more than its share of deer -yet not a single arrest for violations of the ordinance has been made in the past two months. Less than a half-dozen arrests have been made throughout the county in the last four months. Public-spirited citizens are planning to bring the matter personally to the attention of the state department, in the hopes of having the flagrant evil checked at least to a great extent.

Accused of Theft of $17,000.

Chauncey M. Hammond, a soulfuleyed young man, is incarcerated in the Detroit police station, charged with grand larceny, in connection with the disappearance from the First National bank of $17,787.74, the payroll of the E.-M.-F. company, auto manufacturers.

One of the two satchels in which the money had reposed was recovered by the police. The satchel was guide fired, but not a moment too filled with pay envelopes, but they were empty. This satchel was recovered by an officer who found a boy state line. playing with it at the foot of Eignteenth street.

The lad had it at the end of a string and the satchel was floating in the river. Officers have searched the vicinity in the hope of recovering the other satchel.

A sudden turn was given the case when Chauncey, the much-sought former paymaster of the E.-M.-F. company, voluntarily surrendered himself to Capt. McDonnell. Chauncey's entrance was the signal for a series of star chamber sessions in the chief's

Keno Invites Stopped.

Attendance at "feather parties" and keno games, conducted by various social organizations in Detroit, is destined to be small if dependance is solely on the invitations sent through the mails. Thousands were printed and put in unsealed envelopes bearing 1-cent stamps. They were inspected and found to be missives contrary to postal laws respecting lotteries, and all were destroyed.

One organization sent 2,000 of them and not one will be delivered. Not only can the invitations be destroyed, but the senders can be prosecuted. The postmaster says he hopes a warning will be sufficient.

Stack Falls; Two Dead.

Arthur Brooks, 30, of Ionia, and Campbell McMurcher, of Glencoe Ont., were instantly killed, and Miner Clugston, of LaGrande, Ind., was probably fatally injured by the fall of seven feet of concrete smokestack being erected on the Rapid Motor Vehicle company's plant at Pontiac.

The men were working at the top of the 160-foot chimney removing the framework which is put around the fresh concrete until it hardens. It is believed that the concrete was not sufficiently hard to withstand their weight and plunged to the ground with them.

Flint After Smallpox Cases.

War on the smallpox has begun in earnest in Flint. Fourteen cases have been reported, and there are several suspects, besides, but the city authrities appear to have taken hold in good time, and have the situation well.

The board of health is preparing a pesthouse on Kearsley street, and practically all the doctors in town are on a vaccinating tour. Two of the public schools have been closed, and all have been disinfected. The children have been notified that they must show up at school with vaccination certificates, or take a two weeks' suspension sentence.

M. U. Rahway Wants K., L. S. & C. It is reported at Battle Creek that the Michigan United Railways Co. is contemplating the purchase of the Kalamazoo, Lake Shore & Chicago railway property, better known as the "Fruit Belt Line," which connects Kalamazoo with South Haven. At present the "Fruit Belt Line" is a steam road, but if the M. U. R. secures it it will be made an electric road. The M. U. R. also proposes to connect. with South Bend, Ind., by building an electric road to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

At a conference held in Chicago all railroads removed their objections to the Grand Trunk entering Kalamazoo and it is expected trains will be coming in over that line by Jan. 15.

It is rumored at Grand Rapids that the General Motors company is contemplating a factory in Grand Rapids to care for western-Michigan trade. Local business men are supporting the deal. Dr. Theodore Sands, who was sued for $25,000 for hugging Mrs. Marie Guerrier, will be made defendant in a suit begun, it is said, by the woman's husband, basing its claims on similar charges.

State Land Commissioner Russell, who is attending the land congress in Chicago, has written Assistant Carton that the exhibit of fruits and vegetables from the northern counties of Michigan are the main attraction, and are receiving much favorable notice from experts.

One boat lifted 180 quarts of eggs and 9,000 trout, which is considered a record. The season for spawn fishing is. closed, and no more whitefish or trout can be taken until Dec. 16.

Eugene Miller, of Battle Creek, has begun suit against ex-County Treasurer A. C. Wisner, to recover $50,000 on notes secured by him from parties who loaned money to the late Neil S. The next state convention of the Ancient Order of Gleaners will be held in Saginaw. Word was today received by the board of trade from Grand Secretary George H. Slocum that Saginaw had been selected for the next meeting place, and that the date of the convention had been fixed for January 11, 12 and 13.

About 125 delegates attended the third annual convention of the independent telephone managers at Lansing. The following officers were elected: President, A. A. Birch, Battle Creek; vice-president, C. E. Smith, Cadillac; secretary and treasurer, C. A. Bloss, Owosso. The choosing of a city for the next meeting was left to the executive committee. A writ of mandamus has been issued, citing the Bay City members of the board of supervisors to show cause why they should not be compelled to attend the county meetings, and ratify the decision of the committee on appeals on assessment equalization. The committee recently raised the valuation $2,000,000 and the city members refused to attend the meeting and ratify the report.

Dr. Sands seems less worried about the affair than he is indignant

The trouble between the Alpena Power Co. and the Detroit & Mackinac railroad has been settled temporarily until the courts can decide on its merits. The railroad placed cars for the power company and the Island Mill Lumber Co. on the disputed spur Thursday. The state railroad commission will probably make a ruling. The contempt proceedings against J. D. Hawks; vice-president of the road, may be dropped.

Michigan Central Is Sued for Back Taxes.

ROAD MAKES A HARD FIGHT

Vast Amount of Testimony Collected by State's Experts May Consume Over Four Weeks in the Presentation.

Lansing.-The case of the people of the state of Michigan against the Michigan Central Railroad Company, to recover back taxes alleged to be due the state from the company, was begun in the common council chamber before Judge Wiest. The attorneys in the case are Attorney General John E. Bird. Otto Kirchner of Detroit, and Thomas E. Barkworth for the state and Henry Russell, O. S. Butterfield and Henry Campbell and G. H. Mc-Pherson, accountant, for the railroad company.

The suit involves nearly $10,000,000 which the state claims is due for taxes and goes back from the time the road was first granted a charter. nearly a half century ago, and runs up to the present time.

In opposition to this suit the railway has a case started in Wayne county to collect some $6,000,000 from the state for the loss of its charter.

During the term of Justice Charles Bisir of the supreme court as attormey general this suit for the collection of taxes was instituted. It has once been in the supreme court on demurrer and was taken up before Judge Wiest in chancery.

It is expected that four or five weeks will be consumed in presenting the vast amount of testimony which the state has been collecting by means of expert accountants and research by attorneys into the history of the Michigan Central during the years it has been the premier railway of the State to Fight Flats Board.

At a meeting of the St. Clair Flats commission Attorney General Bird intimated to the members, that if they carried out their present plans to begin deeding the land at the expiration of the time allowed for filing claims, which is November 30, he would enjoin the commission and if possible prevent the members from disposing of land which he claims is already state property.

Secretary of State Martindale, who is one of the members of the St. Clair Flats commission, stated that the board would begin appraising the land and deeding it after the time for filing claims had expired. He in- Pere Marquette offices it was stated ferred from Attorney General Bird's actions that the legal representative of the state would like to have the commission refuse to deed the land. so that the people, who are now located on it, would start proceedings against the commission.

In this manner the present occupants would be compelled to bear the expense of a big legal battle to retain the property and would cost some of them the savings of a lifetime.

Mr. Martindale contends that inasmuch as the law was enacted at the last session of the legislature, which gives the commission the right to dispose of the land in this manner, legal proceedings, if there be any, should not fall upon the shoulders of those who are unable to bear the expense, and Commissioner Russell and Auditor Fuller take the same stand as Secretary of State Martindale.

of the owners of hotels and cottages along its shores, providing a normal level has once been established.

Hamlin lake, in Mason county, was formed as the result of the establishment of a dam there many years ago for lumbering purposes. The builders of the dam were also the owners of the property adjacent to the lake and there are now a number of resorts along the shore, based upon the uniform height of the water as maintained by the dam.

Now the resorters claim the owners of the dam at the outlet often lower the level of the lake to a point where their docks and boats are left high and dry. As a result of having enjoyed this benefit for many years, it is held that the resorters have acquired the right to have the water maintained at the normal level so long as the owners of the dam maintain it. and if their rights are threatened or interfered with, may have them protected by a bill in equity. State court opinions, as well as a Wisconsin case directly in point, are cited by the attorney general.

Chance for Fine Hunting.

Because the native deer on Grand island, the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company's big game preserve, have become so numerous that they are destroying the vegetation and their forage, they are to be hunted this fall under certain defined restrictions. Invitations to participate in the sport have been issued to various persons, among whom is former Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago. Each person must take out a permit, the cost of which is $10. In addition to obtaining the regular state or non-resident hunter's license, and owing to the fact that elk, moose, caribou and game birds are protected it will be necessary to have guides accompany all hunting parties.

As there are more than a thousand deer on Grand island, there is no question that some excellent sport will be enjoyed. It is said that the elk are even more destructive to the island forage than the deer, but as elk are protected until 1913, none can be killed off this fall. However, the game warden has given permission to have a few of them transferred to parks in other parts of the country. and their number will be somewhat reduced in that manner.

Pathos, tenderness, hysteria and even humor were intermingled in the scenes incident to the deliverance of the men, who had sat during the slow passing hours and days with death at their elbow, into the life giving air and into the arms of their frantic victory, and according to Frank B.

In spite of their long burial and special prosecuting officer, the gov. the accepted belief that a short time ernmert has won every point for under such conditions seems an age, which it contended. some of the men thought that it had been only 24 hours since the fire to the United States supreme court, started.

The men found themselves as they had saved themselves, and chance States circuit court of appeals, alcontributed to each event. Cut off by the flames in one of the tunnels the men had rushed in terror to the shaft where escape was impossible and then back to a chamber at the farther end. Assembled here under the Standard Oil trust becomes etthe leadership of George Eddy, one of the mine examiners who was below when the fire started, the entrapped men, panting with excitement and fear, took counsel. Soon after they had arrived at the chamber some rocks and dirt fell into the passage Oil company from a further continpartly blocking it. This fortunate happening gave them an idea, or helped them to carry out an idea they already had. The men. under Eddy's direction, began to add to the obstruction and make a barrier between themselves and the noxious gases which would in a short time thought that with the end of the comcertainly stiffe them if permitted to

When the entrance had been entirely closed the men sat down to wait-waited for deliverance or death. The hours passed, and they knew it must be night. They were aware that many of their companions lay dead just before the barrier, and they realized that they might soon join them. They listened for sounds of parties coming to their aid. They have been placed by both the Pennheard nothing.

Seated on lumps of coal they chatted with each other cheerfully as they could in an effort to keep up their spirits. Suddenly a grim thought entered their minds. They had not to the late Gen. Henry W. Lawton. water. Their dinner pails had contained some food but nothing to allay

This discovery almost took the courage out of the stoutest hearts. But feeling about in desperation along the walls and floors of the black pit which held them, they came upon a damp place. It offered them a chance, and they began to dig. After a while water began to ooze into the black mass they had removed. It was ever so little at first, and was sapped up by the soil as a blotter absorbs ink. Then as the digging progressed a little faster, trickling but never flowing. The men threw themselves upon the bottom of the chamber and pressed their lips and tongues against the black slime. It gave relief if it did not satisfy; they might die, but not

The food in the dinner pails had been assembled into one stock, and this was sparingly and equitably apportioned, but in the nature of things it could not last for long. The men at times would shout and then listen tensely for sounds of approaching aid. But they heard nothing. The slender stock of food ran low and then gave out. Surely help would come. They pounded on the walls and shouted, but their echoes were the only answer.

Hunger, slightly appeased hitherto, now became agonizing. In their frantic efforts to find something with nourishment in it the men ore the bark from the cedar posts which were used for supports in the walls.

With increasing bodily weakness their minds began to fail. They lost count of the days and nights, which, at best, they could imperfectly keep. They would lapse into unconscious ness at first like sleep and then like worse torpor.

At last the life-giving water began to be exhausted, and it became necessary for them, weak and almost helpless as they were, to dig deeper into the walls for more. It was this last work of despair, the thump and click of the picks which the rescuers heard while they were carrying out the bodies of the dead. Almost at the same time the miners heard sounds made by the rescue party. They gave a faint cheer and waited. The men on the outside dug away vigorously at the barrier. Slowly it was reduced, and then through a hole made at the top a ray of light from a lantern shone through, feeble and tiny, but in meaning glorious as the full sun after a tempest. They knew they were saved.

The signal corps has had for more than a year past a balloon squad or balloon detachment made up of enlisted men of the signal corps, who devote their entire time to aeronautical work, but the new organization is separate and quite apart from this. Indeed, it is generally considered to represent a higher development of military specialization, in the same proportion that the aeroplane marks an advance over the balloon as an instrument for use in warfare.

The new aeroplane detachment. which at the outset numbers only 11 men, or rather a corporal and 10 privates, is further notable from the fact that it is the first organization of the kind in the world. The American war department has been severely criticised for being behind the military departments of certain foreign governments, particularly France and Germany, in aeronautical investigation and experiment, but it has now. in some degree, made up for lost prestige by naugurating the first fullfledged aeroplane corps. The federal government's new aviation field is. for the time being, as much a school of instruction for the men of the aeroplane squad as it is for the two lieutenants who are to qualify as the army's pioneer aviators. There is this difference, however, that the men, in effect, have to work out their own salvation as aeroplane mechanicians and aerodrome keepers, while Lieut. Lahm and Lieut. Humphries had a competent instructor in the person of Wilbur Wright to teach them the alphabet of aeroplaning:

that the new aeroplane squad was organized at the very made to pick outset of the army's experiments in this most important men who by branch of aeronautics. The outcome is sure to be in reason of traincontrast to the history of American military ballooning, ing or temperaherein there were innumerable disappointments. Particularly was this the case during the Spanish-American expected to dewar, when the war department sought to get results with war balloons in the hands of men who had had no opportunity to specialize in this unusual line of work. The newly-organized aeroplane detachment, on the other hand, will grow up in our military aeroplane work from its inception. What is more, these caretakers of the sky men of the aersentries have acquired experience of the most valuable kind in establishing Uncle Sam's first aviation field. It is not meant, of course, that the soldiers had much hand in clearing the field, blasting out stumps or erecting the unpretentious shed that shelters the $30,000 craft, but they did almost everything else connected with setting things in order, not forgetting the transportation of army aeroplane No. 1 by wagon from its previous resting place at Fort Myer, Va., a dozen miles away. The insight thus gained into the how of such things will be well nigh invaluable, since it will make it possible to send this squad around the country to lay out aviation fields wherever needed by the army.

Now, however, that the flying machine has been turned over to the government, all this devolves upon the men of the aeroplane detachment. They look after the weight tower, haul up the weight and arrange the starting rail with due reference to the direction of the wind. In addition to moving the machine from the shed when a flight is ordered they make the preliminary inspection and tests of the working parts and start the motor. Finally it falls to the lot of this group of young men to procure the needed material and make all necessary repairs. There is no doubt that they will get plenty of practice in tinkering with the sky scout for it is expected that once the army officers have the new vehicle to themselves they will inaugurate a series of experiments and introduce new attachments designed specially to adapt the aeroplane to the exigencies of cidedly alert and take a real interest in their noval occupation. Corporal H. Marcus, who is in command, hails from Detroit and has been in the military service o the country for 12 or 13 years, although he has only been in the signal corps about a year and a half. Another man who has had considerable experience in the army is

B. T. Hyde of Washington, D. C., whereas E. O. Eldred

of Denver, a member of the old balloon squad, has now had two and a half years of practically continuous aeronautical work. Other members of the aeroplane detachment are Bert Brown of Brooklyn, Roy J. Hart of Washington, D. C., Eulie P. Gomeringer of Brooklyn, K. L.

Kintzel of Tamaqua, Pa., Bruce Pierce of Atlanta, Ga.,

F. G. Clark of Gloster, Mo., and S. J. Idzorek of New liam A. Abolin, who enlisted in the army from Jersey

City, and while the quarters which have been provided at the new aviation field are not perhaps quite as comfortable as the barracks at a military post, they serve the purpose very acceptably and are a big improvement over a camp with canvas tents. The frame building which houses the aeroplane at College Park is about twice as large as the aeroplane shed which was constructed at Fort Myer, Va., when the Wrights first brought their machine there. The rear portion of the College Park structure is given over for sleeping quarters for the men. Just back of the building is a double tent, which serves as kitchen and mess or eating tent.

A good well has been provided close at hand. The aero-plane shed is perhaps a third of a mile across the aviation field from the railroad station at College Park and is several hundred yards farther distant from the trolley line to Washington. However, horses and automobiles in the work.

While, as has been explained, the new aeroplane detachment is entirely separate and distinct from the balloon squad, its brief history is linked at many points with that of the older branch of the aeronautical division. Some of the star members of the original balloon squad have latterly been transferred to the aeroplane detachment and indeed the new organization will have a sort of a dual existence as a regular aeroplane corps and emergency balloon squad, since the members will have charge of any flights that may be made from the capital in signal corps balloons, the regular balloon squad having been transferred meanwhile to Fort Omaha and Fort Leavenworth. The present membership of the aero-plane detachment, alike to that of the balloon squad, is expected to be merely the nucle s for a much more numerous body later on-when Uncle Sam shall have gone in more extensively for military aeronautics.

The aeronautical division of the signal corps, of which both the new aeroplane detachment and the balloon squad are branches, was established as a result of the pride and interest aroused by Lieut. Lahm's victory in the first great international balloon race, held in Europe in 1896. The young American army officer, then barely 28 years of age, who, unknown and unheralded, defeated the most experienced aeronauts of Europe, is the selfsame Lahm who is now qualifying at College Park as our premier army aeroplanist and who is in general command of the aeroplane detachment. He had made about 40 balloon flights ere he ascended for the first time in an aeroplane and he has the complete confidence of his men-an important requisite in a new and untried realm such as military aeronautics. The order formally creating the aeronautical division of the signal corps was issued on August 1, 1907, and the new organization was launched with a membership of a sole individual, Sergeant Edward Ward, who has since graduated to the position of head chauffeur for the chief of the general staff. Gradually the membership grew to a dozen or more. At first the work of the new organization was merely with the old balloons of foreign make which had been purchased by the United States during the Spanish war and had been in storage ever since. Then came army dirigible No. 1, which the war department purchased from Capt. Thomas Baldwin, and finally the initial Wright aeroplane, which is now at College Park. At the outset the headquarters of the aeronautical division were at Fort Myer, Va., and the noncommissioned officers and enlisted men of the aeronautical division displayed their versatility by handling indiscriminately spherical balloons, dirigible and aeroplane.

When the signal corps completed its fine, new plant for generating hydrogen gas at Fort Omaha it was decided to make the western post the headquarters for all army balloon work and the dirigible was transferred thither. With it went the balloon squad. Consequently, When the Wright aeroplane was accepted by the government and preparations were undertaken for establishing a government school for aeroplanists, it was necessary to organize an aeroplane detachment as a new adjunct. As has been explained, some of the most capable men were transferred from the balloon squad and others were selected from the ranks of the signal corps, every there will be many days when aeroplane flights at College Park will be few and, far between, but the men of the

LIBUT LANG, LIBUT MUMERICA UNCLE AND PRINCES ABROPLANTIES

The sure thing men of to-day (incorporated) know this and build upon it. One of the biggest of them claimed not long ago that if he were given time he could sell worthless stock to three Americans out of every five, provided the gullible three had the money or could raise it.

He actually counts upon one victim for every 50 circulars sent out through the mails. The common average, as the postal officials tell you, is one dupe for every hundred circulars. Not bad, considering the cheapness of printing and postage.

There is a firm in New York that collects and sells addresses of people who buy things through the mails or who have at some time evinced a desire to do so. These addresses are sold at $8 a thousand. They are assorted under various headings. If, for example, 12,000 men have sent in applications for wives to a New York matrix bureau that list is worth $6 to a $3 diamond ring concern that is setting up a circular mill.

The sure thing operator has passed through various stages of progress. The now unsafe shell game, gold brick and green goods swindles which he operated with such profitable results in the eighties and the early nineties made way for the half-interest game, which flourished 10 years ago, and the employment game, which is still going on, though not to its former extent.

The half-interest advertiser sold you a partnership in anything from a peanut stand to a piano factory. When you had bought it the next thing was to find it, or if you found it you discovered that it belonged to somebody else who knew nothing about the men who sold it to

The employment game consists of an opportunity to sell on high salary the goods or the stock of a company in which you must first buy shares. Then when you have paid over your money you are assigned a territory, generally a long distance from the company's office. After you have gone at your own expense to Milwaukee, Dubuque or Kansas City, there to await telegraphic orders as to what to do next, you take it out in waiting. The orders never come, and when you get back to the company's office you find that the company has floated away on the magic carpet, nobody knows where. But it was soon found by the swindlers that these devices, like the green goods game, were rather crude and almost equally unsafe. So to the education of the man who ran the half interest or employment scheme was added a post-graduate course in high finance. It came to be recognized by the swindling gentry that there was nothing like a corporation when one wanted to do a really safe and prosperous business. Then, too, the corporation must have something some-If it is a mining company it must have a hole in the ground. If it is a rubber or coffee company it must have some sort of concession from the Mexican or a South American government, which it is always very easy to get. If it is a cotton concern it must have a fence corner somewhere down south. These things are actually necessary in order to show in court when the time comes that the men who have taken your money have endeavored to carry out their part of the contract and that they have failed is merely their misfortune. For to fail in business is not necessarily a aeroplane detachment will have something to occupy their leisure time on such occasions. Foremost among the occupations planned is practice in telegraphy. All of the men of the signal corps are expected to know something of the practical side of telegraphy and this accomplishment will be especially essential to the members of the aeroplane detachment because of the important work in wireless and other telegraphy which the United States army officers propose to carry on by means of airships and war balloons. In order to qualify the men for this work, short telegraph lines have been constructed at the College Park field, with sending and receiving stations at opposite ends of the building and at almost any hour of the day members of the detach-

How late in the autumn the aeronautical activities will continue at College Park will be dependent of course largely upon the weather. The government has leased its aviation field until next March, with privilege of renewal and in the event that the coming winter is an open one it would not be surprising if work continues off and on all through the winter. The men of the aeroplane detachment can be made comfortable in their presentent quarters, and the machine is well housed. The experience which the members of the aeroplane detachment are gaining will undoubtedly prove valuable in enabling them to take charge of the field when the next international aviation meet is held in this country next year as the result of the victory of Glenn Curtiss in France a few months ago.

It will be remembered that the United States army balloon squad did efficient work in connection with aeronautics at the Jamestown exposition and at the start of the great international balloon race at St. Louis. The same proficiency could be expected of the army aeroplanists in handling the machines at the meet next year. Especially would they be qualified to render such aid to the avaiators if the meet is held at the College Park ground. Washington and Baltimore are now cooperating energetically for the selection of this territory as the scene of the aerial free-for-all of 1910, and it is expected that one of the strongest claims for its selection will be found in the fact that Uncle Sam has ready to hand at College Park an acceptable aviation field manned by soldiers who are thoroughly familiar not only with local conditions but also with the technical side of aeronautics.

Dated, Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 20th, 1909. JAMES TAYLOR, WM. J. KNAPP,

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the principal, interest, taxes, and insurance due and payable under the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Edwin Clough and Cleme Clough of the city of Ypsilanti, Michigan, of the first part to Hattie M. Bonsteel of the second part; which said mortgage is dated July 27, 1997, and was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Washtenaw county,

July 27, 1807, and was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Washtenaw county, Michigan, on the 29th day of July, 1907, in Liber 110 of Mortgages at page 186.

And which said mortgage was duly assigned by the said Hattie M. Bonsteel to James F. Clough on the 10th day of August. 1908, the deed of assignment thereof having been duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county of Washtenaw on the 2d day of November 1909 in Liber 16 of Assignment of Mortgages at page 129.

That in and by the said mortgage it was expressly agreed: That should any default be made in payment of the said interest, taxes, assessments or insurance or any part thereof, on any day whereon the same is made payable and should the same remain unpaid and in arrears for the space of thirty days, then the principal sum named in the said mortgage with all arrearage of interest thereon, and all taxes, assessment, and interest thereon, and all taxes, assessment, and insurance unpaid shall at the option of said obligee or her assigns become and be due and payable immediately thereafter notice of which payable immediately thereafter notice of which option was thereby expressly waived.

That certain installments of principal, payments of interest, insurance and taxes due and payable upon said mortgage debt and upon the premises in said mortgage described having become due and payable and default has been made in the payment thereof on the day whereon the same were by the terms of shid mortgage due and payable and the same have remained upaid and in arrear for the space of thirty days and upwards: and the assignee of the said obligee in said mortgage named now and by the virtue of

and in arrear for the space of thirty days and upwards: and the assignee of the said obligee in said mortgage named now and by the virtue of this proceeding elects by the virtue of the said option, to have the full amount of the said principal sum now unpaid with all arrearage of interest thereon and all taxes and insurance paid upon said mortgaged property to become and be due and payable immediately.

By reason of which default in the payment of the amount due upon the said mortgage the power of sale contained therein has become optrative, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instuted to recover the debt secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due and owing upon the said mortgage debt for principal and interest the sum of Seven Hundred. One and 63-100 Dollars ($701.63) Fourteen and 76-100 Dollars ($44.76) for taxes and Four and 55-100 Dollars ($44.76) for taxes and Four and 55-100 Dollars ($45.76) for insurance paid under the provisions of the said mortgage therefor and the further sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney fees as provided by law and stipulated in said mortgage.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the said mortgage and in pursuance of the statute in such cases made and provided, such mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein at Public Auction to the highest bidder at the East front door of the Court House, at the City of Ann Arbor, in said Courty of Washtenaw is held on Monday the 21st day of February A.

D. 1910 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, which said premises are described in the said mortgage as follows: All of lot sixteen (16) in R. W. Hempill's addition to the City of Ypsilant, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

CHELSEA ELEVATOR COMPANY

In The Twelfth Century.

In Venice the "Bancho" was organized, the word meaning bench, to give the people a central point where notes might be made, money borrowed and deposited for safe-keeping or for transfer to distant points.

The present day bank came into existance in 1649, when the present Bank of England was established in London.

Primitive banking was simple, the advantages given the people were few. Banking today is also simple but the people receive many benefits not dreamed of in its early history.

Banks are organized by several men putting their money together in the shape of bank stock and opening a place for business. These men not only put their money into business, they also include their standing. Thus the bank is stronger that any one of them; as strong as all of them together.

Every bank is a benefit to the community. It facilities business, gives the people a place to keep their active and surplus funds, and each dollar in the community does more work because the bank exists.

This bank is a material advantage to the public-to each man and woman in particular. We seek the opportunity to demonstrate the benefit of our service to YOU.

Dinner Favors.

We are never too old to admire things freely, and the hostess who desires to give favors has a wide selection from which to choose for almost any occasion. A clever person with deft fingers can make charming cards and bonbon boxes; the latter may be round or square, six or eight sided, heart or diamond shaped. Recently I saw dainty pink satin boxes, oval in shape, the cover bearing a photograph on satin of the ship on which the guest of honor at this dinner party was to sail.

Meaning of Rosemary.

The correspondent who asks the meaning of the word "Rosemary" may be glad to know that the word means "fragrance," and I am sure she will be happy to have a copy of the dear little verselet given below, which was written by Alice Fenn Coffin on the first birthday of a dear child whose mother's name was Mary. While it was not written for publication, I feel that every mother who has a "Rosemary" should have the winsome lines. so here they are in our department, although they do not come under the class of "novel entertainments," it would be most appropriate to read them at a "Rosemary's" birthday

The jaunty military jacket is putting in a claim for favor in the world of fashion, and bids fair to win out. Wonderfully beautiful ball gowns are made of two-tone satin with a jetted chiffon tunic held up by garlands of flowers and loops of velvet ribbon.

Use of Gold Lace.

Gauzy gold lace is a favorite combination in the evening gowns of diaphanous fabrics for the tiny sleeve and tucker, which the smartest models show. A black liberty satin princess gown, so finished, is one of the season's best models.

the Canadians themselves than to the people on this side of the line, our Canadian cousins celebrated their Thanksgiving a month or more earlier than we do. It may be that the Canadian turkey had become impatient, and sounded a note of warning, or it may be that the "frost on the pumpkin" declared itself. But whatever the reason, their Thanksgiving day is past. It may have been that the reasons for giving thanks so much earlier than we do were pushing themselves so hard and so fast that the Canadians were ashamed to postpone the event. They have had reasons, and good ones, too, tor giving thanks. Their great broad areas of prairie land have yielded in abundance, and here, by the way, it is not uninteresting to the friends of the millions of Americans who have made their home in Canada during the past few years to know that they have participated most generously in the cutting of the melon." Probably the western portion of Canada, comprising the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have the greatest reason of any of the provinces to express in the most enthusiastic manner their gratitude. The results in the line of production give ample reason for devout thanksgiving to Providence. This year has surpassed all others in so far as the total increase in the country's wealth is concerned. There is no question that Providence was especially generous. The weather conditions were perfect, and during the ripening and harvesting period, there was nothing to interfere. And now it was well it was so, for with a demand for labor that could not be supplied, there was the greatest danger, but with suitable weather the garnering of the grain has been successfully accomplished. There have been low general averages, but these are accounted for by the fact that farmers were indifferent, relying altogether upon what a good soil would do. There will be no more low averages though, for this year has shown what good, careful farming will do. It will produce 130 million bushels of wheat from seven million acres, and it will produce a splendid lot of oats, yielding saywhere from 50 to 100 bushels per acre. This on land that has cost but from $10 to $15 per acre-many farmers have realized sufficient from this year's crop to pay the entire cost of their farms. The Toronto Globe says: "The whole population of the West rejoices in the bounty of Providence. and sends out a message of gratitude and appreciation of the favors which have been bestowed on the country. The cheerfulness which has abounded with industry during the past months has not obliterated the conception of the source from which the blessings have flown, and the good feeling is combined with a spirit of thankfulness for the privilege of living in so fruitful a land. The misfortunes of the past are practically forgotten, because there is great cause to contemplate with satisfaction the comforts of the present. Thanksgiving should be a season of unusual en-

The neighbor's dog sits out on the front lawn and howls dismally. The man in the window looks out and yells: "Sh-h-h, you beast!" The dog continues to howl. The man again comes to the window and this time hurls a shoe at the dog. Still the animal howls. Another shoe follows. The next day the man's wife goes around in her stocking feet because she can't find her shoes. The man hasn't the price of another pair of shoes for her, and the next night the dog howls louder than ever.

ANCIENT METHOD OF HEALING

Laying on of Hands is One of the Oldest Prescriptions Known to Men of Medicine.

For countless ages among barbaric, pagan and Christian peoples the belief was current that individuals diseased and "curtailed of their fair proportions" could be healed by "touch," by the "breath," by words and prayer, by the wearing of amulets and talismans by "charms" of every conceivable and inconceivable kind. These superstitions, under various aliases," are remarkably in evidence even in the advanced civilization of our day. The healing of the sick by the application of hands is of vast antiquity. It is to be found in the records and the practices of the early Egyptians and Jews, the Assyrians and Indians. One of the earliest recorded examples is to be found in the Old Testament. We are told that Elfsha brought to life a "dead" child by stretching himself three times upon the child and calling it so. Complaining will do no m aloud to God.

Readers of history are acquainted with the supposed healing powers of the kingly "touch."

It was believed for a long time that living together and breathing upon a sickly person would produce salutary as well as harmful effects. Young children and virgins were supposed to have the power to "cure" by breathing upon the patient and sprinkling him with their own blood. This method of "cure" is mentioned by Galen. Pliny and Virgil. History tells us that the great Barbarossa, when dying, was advised by his Jewish doctor to have young, robust boys placed across his stomach, in lieu of fomentations. The following curious inscription, cut in marble, was discovered at Rome by the archaeologist Gomar:

To Aesculapius and Health, this is erected by L. Claudius Hermippus,

A Teutonic writer, Hufeland by name, from his vast reservoir of experience, gravely informs us that "when we consider how efficacious for lameness are freshly opened animals. or the laying of a living animal upon any painful affection, we must feel convinced that these methods are not to be thrown aside." Curing by "words" was common in the early ages. They cast out the disease spirits by exorcism. Ulysses, mythology has it, stopped a hemorrhage by words, styptic words, evidently. Cato cured sprains by the same means.

Various astrological signs inscribed upon amulets and talismans-of minerals or of metals-were supposed to prevent and to cure diseases when fashioned dyes only have the idea forn on the body of the sufferer. Herbs, roots, loadstones, bloodstones, pieces of amber, images of saints. were also worn for the same reason. The Buddhists, for instance, had a sort of eligious reverence for the sapphire. They called it the stone of stones (optimus. quem tellus medica gignit).-New York Medical Journal.

The Squaw Winter. "When does the Indian summer come, anyway?" she asked.

'Why, it doesn't always come at all, but when it does come it comes j st after the squaw winter," replied her friend.

"Squaw winter! Well, I never even heard of that before. When is we was all of us only as fit to dis that?"

"Well, he first protracted period of cold weather that we have is called the squaw winter out in the country. After this spell of frosty weather there are sometimes several days of unseasonable mildness and warmth that we call Indian summer. Some years there isn't any warm spell after the frost has well set in and we have no Indian summer. But the equaw winters always come. The years when there isn't any Indian summer the squaw winters just glide into the real hard winters so that you can't tell where one stops and the other begins. It is only when there is an Indian summer that you can distinguish the squaw winter."

Evening Things Up. In Chicago, recently, a mutual friend introduced two men. One of them was smoking. Very deliberately he blew a lungful of of smoke into the other man's face. "That means trouble," gasped the other man, pulling off his coat. "Oh, no," said the offender, calmly. "It didn't mean trouble last night when you blew smoke in my face." "I never saw you before," stormed the smokee. "No, but I've seen you," said the first man. "You passed me in an automobile last night and while you and I were waiting in a jam you blew a cloud of gasoline and oil smoke into my face that I'm tasting yet. Want to fight about that?"

"No," said the victim, "but I'd like to buy you a good cigar. That one you're smoking is worse than automohile smoke"

Peace was ratified at the corner drug store.

Bald Heads.

Thomas, five years old, came face to face the other day with an uncle he had never seen before, and noticed that this uncle had a bald head sur rounded by a fringe of hair-such s head as the cartoonists used to draw of David B. Hill. This fact, added to the uncle's extreme height and thin-

"Say, mamma," he said, turning to his mother, "my new uncle grew up so ast his hair didn't have time to ch the top of his head!"

Love who may-I still can say, Those who win heaven, blest are they. -Browning. CHAPTER I.

A young man was walking slowly along the country road.

His eyes, fixed moodily before him, saw nothing. But his feet kept to the narrow, path that skirted its edge, avoiding the wheel-tracks and hoofprints of the frozen surface, and keeping well within the line of stiffened aster and golden-rod that rose on gray stalks beside the stone wall on either side

Beyond the wall fields of stubble stretched, brown and bare, in the twilight. Everywhere hung the cold, unvarying light, except along the western horizon, where a band of orange glowed against the darkening sky. Its brightness fell upon the shoulders of the young man, emphasizing the listless stoop and the slow, dispirited walk. The air of dejection might have belonged to a man of 60.

No human being was in sight. Presently he turned his head and looked back, listening. The movement brought his face into the glow of light. It was a strange face, the dark, troubled eyes full of inquiry, the flexible lips, slightly parted, waiting upon silence. Slowly a smile of amusement crept into the eyes, spread over the face and drew from the lips a quick laugh.

Twigs and Grass Interwoven With Branches.

In order to protect their homes from orange to purple and hung its from earthquakes many of the natives light around them. In the distance a in the territory around Chilpancingo gray, weather-beaten house lifted and other towns in the State of Guerrero, Mexico, live in trees. Some of "There's mother," said the young these tree homes are of large size and are ingeniously constructed. A tall, raw-boned woman, with a Reeds and grasses are interwoven shawl pinned over her head, squaw- with the twigs and branches of the fashion, was coming down the path tree, much in the manner that a bird builds its nest.

BUILT TO DEFY EARTHQUAKES | The prime object of elevating these houses into the trees, however, is to keep them from being shaken down by the severe earthquakes which visit the Guerrero territory at frequent intervals.

The rocking of the earth gives the trees a swaying motion that does no damage to the houses. In some localities whole villages of these tree homes are to be seen. None of them suffered damage from the recent earthquakes which wrought such ruin to the buildings on the ground.

Helpful Hints.

When washing a sweater do not wring it but squeeze all the water possible from it. Cold water is best, and have the soap dissolved in the water; do not rub it on the garment. When washed rinse in water of the same temperature and lay to dry in the bright sunshine on a sheet on the grass. Turn it until well dried. In this way the garment does not lose its shape.

Remember that flavoring extracts are very volatile and should be added when possible to the mixture when

Make your own vanilla by getting a fine vanilla bean, cover with alcohol. This will extract the flavor and it will last a long time; more alcohol being added as it is used.

Red peppers which are so fine for flavor in many dishes, may be canned now as the markets are offering them. Wash the peppers and cut in strips with shears; pour boiling water over them and let stand five minutes; drain and plunge in ice water having a piece of ice in the water. When the peppers are thoroughly chilled, fill cans, packing closely. To one quart of vinegar add two cupfuls of sugar, boil 15 minutes and pour over the peppers, overflowing the cans.

Seal and store in a cold place.

"They ain't no sense as I kin see In mortals such as you and me A faultin' Nature's wise intents, And lockin' horns with Providence."

-James Whitcomb Riley. Tips for the Tired.

The old saw: "Let your head save your heels," is one we all need to keep constantly before us. One housekeeper lays all things to be carried upstairs, on a certain chair near the door, that she will have to pass through, in this way saving many needless trips on tired feet.

Where one's household is large and duties many, a slate in the kitchen is a great convenience. It may be used for jotting down supplies needed, or suggestions of different members of the family for favorite dishes, extra work to be done, or a hundred other things peculiar to each household.

For tired feet a hot foot bath, the water of which is made very salt, by using the common barrel salt, will rest the feet wonderfully, and it is said to cure corns if done each day, for a week, soaking the feet 15 minutes each time. For burning feet a little epsom salts
