The story written by the famous Viennese Librettists, Willner and Grunbaum, is even more logical and interesting than that of the famous heretofore little-used as pulp material pioneer in the Austrian capital. Its music by Leo Fall is quite as beautiful. The play is absolutely clean and fresh with no hint of vulgarity that mars so many musical comedies. The dialogue sparkles with fun and there is never a dull moment in the entire "The Dollar Princess" deals with the affairs of the eccentric John Cowder, president of the American Coal Trust. He has a theory that money-hunting foreign noblemen should be taught to work and therefore engages poor but titled people for his servants, paying them fabulous salaries. Vendace of Lochmaben.

Last month an interesting old custom was observed at Lochmaben, in Dumfrieshire, when the towns people exercised an ancient right granted by charter of James VI. of netting the lochs surrounding the burgh for vendace, a very rare fish. The fishing, however, did not prove productive, very few vendace being captured, though in former years they were plentiful. This fish, which is peculiar to the Lochmaben lochs alone, takes no lure, and dies immediately when taken from the water. Its length varies from six to eight inches, and it is greatly prized by epicures, being a fish of great-delicacy.-Court Jour-

A RARE SHEEP OPPORTUNITY

Enormous Receipts at Market-Farm. ers and Sheep Feeders Can Stock Up at Bargain Prices.

CAUSES OF THE RUN

200,000 sheep and lambs received in three days-such, in round numbers, is the record-breaking run thus far this week on the Chicago market! This enormous over-marketing of sheep is the result of temporary and peculiar causes, and offers a rare op-portunity for farmers and sheep feeders to stock up at bargain prices.

This great rush of sheep to market comes mainly from Montana and adjoining western range country, and cannot last more than two or three weeks longer. It is no evidence of over-production. Its principal causes are the recent drought, which so burned out the grass that there will be very little winter feed on the range, and which prevented the putting up of sufficient hay to carry any consider while last winter was a very severe one and hay was so closely fed that there is no old hay left over for the purpose. The consequence is that else lose them in the fierce storms of

The most serious cause of the presthe restriction of the range through occupation and fencing by dry farmers, who are grain growers, and not live stock raisers. The tremendous within the last three years, and especially within the last twelve months is hard for eastern people to realize It is not alone the area actually enclosed by these settlers, but the breaking up thereby of vast regions of grazing lands into such small sections that they are no longer available to stockmen for grazing their flocks, which is one of the main reasons why the sheep supplies of the western range country are being more closely

This means an inevitable shortage at market later on and next year, and with a constantly growing demand for both mutton and wool, it would seem that future good prices are assured.

The western range country has heretofore been the chief source of farmers of the corn belt begin at once a great scarcity of both mutton and wool before long in this country.

Moreover, there is a world-shortage of live stock of all kinds. All Europe is short of sheep, and even Australia's rapidly everywhere, while grazing areas are being reduced. As pasture land is turned to production of cereals,

Thousands of American farmers can turn this situation to their benefit, through increase of both soil fertility and money profit, by beginning right now each to keep a small flock of sheep upon his farm. And by taking advantage of the present opportunity Still going to sea. Forced to stop to buy healthy, thrifty, growing weston the heavily supplied Chicago market, they can stock up at minimum cost, whether they want foundation stock for breeding or the growing kind to fatten for market.

achelor of London, is suddenly aroused from the aimless and indolent life he leads, by the startling news from the law arm of Barnes, Wiloughby & Son, that he s the heir to a sheep farm in Australia bringing in an income of $20,000 a year. The bequest comes from an aunt, Mrs. Georgiana James of Essex. She makes him her heir on condition that he marry the girl out for a stroll on the terrace within ten days or forfeit the legacy to a third cousin living in America. The story opens at Castle Wyckoff, where Lord Vincent and his wife, staunch friends of Terhune, are discussing plans to find Terhune a wife within the allotted time. It seems that Lady Vincent is one of seven persons named Agatha, all whom have een close girlhood chums. She decides to invite two of them to a party at the had seen them depart for a drive to eastle and have Archie there as one of the village, where it seemed young the guests. ### TO RAISE THE MAINE.

Taft Approves Plan to Fix Cause of the Explosion.

The battleship Maine will be raised by the cofferdam method and the question settled for all time as to whether the vessel was blown up in Havana harbor by the Spaniards or by an explosion in her magazine. The cofferdam method consists in building the huge box of steel piles about the wreck and then pumping the water out. This watertight box will be 415 feet long and 275 feet wide at the widest place. It will leave 50 feet clear on all sides of the wreck, and this will take in the turret of the Maine, which was blown off by the explosion.

Prudent Bridegroom. "The uncertainties of life in New York are reflected in wedding rings," said the jeweler. "Of all the wedding rings I have sold this season more than half were brought back after the ceremony to have the date put on. The rest of the inscription was engraved when the ring was purchased, but in order that the date might be correct it was cautiously omitted until after the knot was tied."

Just Guessed. "Mrs. Wadsworth, I am very glad, ndeed, to meet you. But, haven't I had the honor of being introduced to you before? What was your name formerly, if I may ask?"

"My maiden name?" "No; your name before you were divorced."

"How did you know I had been divorced?"

"Why, hasn't everybody?"

Popularity of Thals.

"Every other young actress is calling herself Thais," said Henry E. Dixey at a dinner at Mauquin's. "Thais McGinnis, Thais Endicott, Thais Schmidt-the thing is universal.

"Universal and ridiculous: for they who have read Anatole France's story of 'Thais' know that she was a very naughty little girl, indeed. I am quite sure that no real reader of Thais' would ever, under any circumstances, consent to be called such a name.

"It makes me think of a man who, taking his infant daughter to be baptized, told the clergyman to call her Venus.

"'But I refuse to call her Venus," said the clergyman, indignantly. 'Venus is the name of a pagan goddess." "'Well, how about your own girl, Diana?' said the man."

COFFEE WAS IT. People Slowly Learn the Facts.

"All my life I have been such a slave to coffee that the very aroma of it was enough to set my nerves quivering. I kept gradually losing my health but I used to say 'Nonsense, it don't hurt me.'

"Slowly I was forced to admit the truth and the final result was that my whole nervous force was shattered. "My heart became weak and uncertain in its action and that frightened me. Finally my physician told me, about a year ago, that I must stop drinking coffee or I could never expect to be well again. "I was in despair, for the very thought of the medicines I had tried so many times nauseated me. I thought of Postum but could hardly bring myself to give up the coffee. "Finally I concluded that I owed It to myself to give Postum a trial. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions, and what a delicious, nourishing, rich drink it was! Do you know I found it very easy to shift from coffee to Postum and not mind the change at all?

"Almost immediately after I made the change I found myself better, and as the days went by I kept on improving. My nerves grew sound and steady, I slept well and felt strope and well-balanced all the time.

"Now I am completely cured, with the old nervousness and sickness all gone. In every way I am well once more.

It pays to give up the drink that acts on some like a poison, for health is the greatest fortune one can have Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Rea

"Jumping Jupiter." The first big musical show of the season at the New Whitney theatre Carle, in "Jumping Jupiter" who J. Hauer and wife, rural mail car-artists, including Edna Wallace Hoprier of Woodland, Barry county, visit- per, (specially engaged) will be the gala attraction for one night Wednesday, October 26. This newest musical farce which the elongated comedian has scored his biggest hit in, comes direct from a record breaking run in Chicago at the beautiful Cort Theatre. "Jumping Jupiter" is strictly a show designated primarily to enter-

of the cast, rather than in force of numbers. "Jumping Jupiter" does not rely on ts star alone to make its way, broad as his shoulders are for such a burden. Edna Wallace Hopper, with marked talent for comedy, claims a fair share of the honors. The test of "The Road" has shown Miss Hopper to be almost equal of Lillian Russel as a drawing card. Her intelligence and personality always gives her a high rating, while her notions of clothes makes every woman take notice. The speed of "Jumping Jupiter" is helped by several other pace makers. This is Will Philbrick with his rolypoly person and his unexcelled skill in coon songs: Cherida Simpson with her diverse talent; Ina Clare with her imitations; Corrick Major with his famous bass voice; Burrell Barbaretto with his easy style as a juvenile actor. The chorus, too, is unusual. By way of correction, it is not a chorus-it is Mrs. Wm. Christened "Stonewall" at Manassas. Stonewall Jackson, as every schoolboy knows, was plain Thomas J. Jackson until in the battle of Manassas when the day seemed to be going against the southern forces, Gen. Bee rode up to Jackson and in despair exclaimed: "They are beating us back," and Jackson replied: "Then we will give them the bayonet." Catching the inspiration of Jackson's indomitable will, Bee galloped back to his command and shouted: "There is Jackson standing like a stone wall. Rally behind the Virginians. Follow Gen. Bee charged at the head of his men, and in a little while fell mortally wounded with his face to the front. From that time Jackson was known as "Stonewall," and his command became immortal as the Stonewall brigade.

Stonewall Jackson's ancestors had lived in Maryland and Virginia for more than 100 years and were of Scotch-Irish descent. They were all honest. God-fearing people, and they were of fighting blood, taking a conspicuous part, first in the Indian troubles, and then in the revolutionary war.

Not Robust in Boyhood.

The boy who was to become one of the greatest military commanders the world has ever known, was born in 1824 in Clarksburg among the beautiful mountains of what was then Virginia, and now West Virginia. He was left an orphan at an early age by the death of his father, and his mother being unable to support him, he lived with an uncle, through whose kindness he was given the benefit of the best schools of those times. Without showing any special aptness as a hard study learned his lessons well academy.

He performed the duties of this place with industry and fidelity, though the kind of people he was thrown in contact with officially, were not such as to aid in the development of character.

As he approached manhood he did not display that sober, serious nature that afterwards dominated him. The spiritualization of everything he did, and his rule of making every act of his life a religious act came later. At this time he was little different from other. young men in attending horse races, house raisings and country dances. His truthfulness and aggressive honesty remained untarnished from childhood. PLEASES PEOPLE OF WALES

Investiture of Heir to British Throne With Title of Prince of That Country Is Politic.

Though the investiture of the new Prince of Wales carries with it no actual power over the people in his nominal domains, it conveys some valuable perquisites and titles not to be disdained ever by royalty. The earldom of Chester goes with the principality and is in a sense considered part of it. By a statute of the Order of the Garter in 1805 the Prince of Wales becomes a knight of the order as soon as he receives his title. There was an annuity of 40,000 pounds settled on the prince in the course of Queen Victoria's reign, also he gets the revenues of the duchy of Cornwall, which sometimes amount to 100,000 pounds a year. The Princess of Wales receives an annuity of 10,-000 pounds, which becomes 30,000 in the event of her widowhood. Both the Prince and Princess of Wales have separate households, and George III even made general rules for their regulation in a vain attempt to keep the heir to the throne out of debt. The title of Prince of Wales is not hereditary. It must be re-created each time a new candidate appears. Usually it is bestowed by patent and investiture, though in a few instances the monarch's eldest son has become prince simply by virtue of a declaration. The latter condition exists at present and will exist until next July. Though, as suggested, the ceremony conveys to the Prince of Wales no actual power, it is calculated to have a powerful sentimental effect on the Welsh people, an effect that ought to be heightened by the fact that in the present instance the pageant takes place, for the first time in centuries, on Welsh soil-that is, in Carnarvon, the birthplace of the first Prince of Wales, afterward Edward II of England. The traditionally independent spirit of the Welsh people for several centuries has ceased to exhibit itself in militant rebellion, but of late it has manifested itself in a big effort to revive the Welsh language and literature. It is said that there are a half-million of people inside the principality who never speak English. Under such conditions, it is easy to see how a formal, even if somewhat medieval, acknowledgement of the separateness of the principality may appeal to the people at large and mightily tickle them.

Origin of Writing.

The revelations made at the remains of a great prehistoric palace at Knossos, in Crete, which is believed to shall get a rope and commit sulbe the original of the fabled "Laby. cide." rinth," would seem to carry back the existence of written documents on that. Papa said distinctly he would Greek soil some eight centuries beyond the earliest known monuments of Greek writing and five centuries beyond the earliest dated Phoenician record as seen on the Moabite stone. These discoveries, therefore, place the whole question of the origin of writing on a new basis. It is thought that the Cretan hieroglyphs exactly correspond with what, in virtue of their names, we must suppose to have been the pictorial originals of the Phoenician letters on which the alphabet is based.

Among these are Aleph, the ox's head; Beth, the house; Daleth, the door, and so forth. This contravenes "He growled and started in. Chocolate Nut Cake.-Cream threeourths of a cupful of butter, add one and a half cupfuls of sugar gradually, then alternate a half cupful of milk with two and a quarter cups of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder several times to insure a thorough mixing, then add three squares of grated chocolate, a cupful of broken pecan meats, a teaspoonful of vanilla and the whites of eight eggs beaten stiff. A little salt is an improvement. Bake in gem pans about wenty minutes.

Bachelor's Buttons .- Rub together four tablespoonfuls of butter and ten tablespoonfuls of flour. Add five tablespoonfuls of sugar to the flour mixture and five to two well-beaten eggs, flavor with anise and combine the two mixtures. Make in small balls and bake. Dip in melted fondant and sprinkle with nuts.

Fondant.—This is the foundation for French candies and is used for cake frostings. Use four cupfuls of sugar, one cup of water and a table spoonful of glucose. Boil until a little dropped in water will make a soft, waxy ball. Cool and stir until white and creamy. It will keep for weeks and always be fresh for use by heat ing over hot water. May Sell 100,000,000 Red Cross Seals. Twenty-five million Red Cross Christmas seals have been printed and are being distributed by the Amerlcan Red Cross, and arrangements have been made to print 100,000,000 if necessary. It is expected that this number will be needed. While the sticker is perforated like those used last year, it is intended for use only as a seal on the back of letters. The seal is one inch square with the conventional Red Cross in the center and the words, "Merry Christmas, Happy New Year. American Red Cross" in a circle about it. The colors are red and green. The design is by Mrs. Guion Thompson, of Waterbury, Conn., who received $100 as a prize for her sketch.

The Place of Honor. Farmer Hodge was of the good, oldfashioned school, and he always gave a feast to his hands at harvest time. It was harvest time and the feast was about to commence. Giles was the oldest hand and the hostess, with beaming cordiality, motioned him to the seat by her right hand. But Giles remained silently unresponsive.

"Come," said the hostess, "don't be bashful, Mr. Giles"—he was just Giles on ordinary occasions-"you've a right to the place of honor, you know." Giles deliberated a moment, then spoke. "Thank you kindly, Mrs. Hodge," he said, "but if it's all the same to den'!"

HENRY P. PAUL.

We here present the cut of one of Bridgewater's substantial and much respected farmers, H. P. Paul, the democratic candidate for County Treasurer. Though he has held the office of highway commissioner for six years, he is in no way an office seeker. He has done his work well he brought to town a load of the seed and his many friends persuaded him to let his name be presented because they believed he would help the ticket, and if elected would make an honest, competent and obliging treasurer. He is a practical farmer, and owns his home one mile south of Silver Lake. When a young man he warned the plumbers trade, and is an expert in that line, but after traveling considerably and working in some of the large cities he came back on his farm and took up agriculture again. He has a wife and one daughter, and if elected, and his friends say he surely will be, he will leave a pleasant home for one in the city. We might add that Mr, Paul does not know the way of politics but has a keen sense of appreciation of what is done for him.
