Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hewes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Hewes was born in the state of New York, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Canfield in Detroit, Saturday, March 4, 1911, aged 82 years.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Capt. James Davidson, and was for many years a well known resident of Chelsea. She is survived by four daughters.

The funeral services were held in Detroit and the remains were brought here Monday morning and taken to the Sharon Center church cemetery for interment.

Farmers' Club Meeting.

The Western Washtenaw Farmers' Club will hold their next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burkhardt, on Friday March 17th. The following will be the program:

Music.
Roll call. Temperance thoughts.
Reading, Mrs. Chas. Fish.
The orchard, David Woodward, of Clinton.
Recitation, Mrs. Arthur Widmayer.
Is patent medicine detrimental to the cause of temperance, Rev. M. L. Grant.
Reading, Mrs. O. T. Hoover.
Music.

In Serious Condition.

James Smith of 220 Packard street, who has been critically ill for several days the result of an apoplectic stroke, is still in a serious condition.

He passed a bad night Sunday night. Since Mr. Smith has been ill he has not been fully conscious, and has asked continually for his daughter, Miss Tess, who died Saturday afternoon. His mind seemed more clear Sunday but he had apparently forgotten his daughter's illness and has not asked for her since Saturday. It is feared that he will not be able to stand the news of her death.—Ann Arbor News Times. Mr. Smith was a former well-known resident of Lyndon and moved to Ann Arbor five or six years ago. His many friends in this vicinity will be pained to learn of his serious condition and of the demise of his daughter, Miss Tess.

Spelling Contest.

The schools of Sylvan township met at the Sylvan Center school, March 3d for their second spelling contest. Four schools were represented and twenty-four pupils participated. A fine program consisting of dialogues, music and recitations was rendered. The following is a list of those who missed no words and also of those who missed but one:

District No. 6—Miss Rena Notten, teacher. Eleanor Eisenbeiser, Carrie Dykemaster, Walter Oesterle, Ida Oesterle, Frieda Oesterle, Henry Page, Myrta Young, Mary Garbet 1, Hazel Eisenbeiser 1.
District No. 4—Miss Mabel Guthrie, teacher. Louis Fahrner 1.
District No. 7—Miss Mary Weber, teacher. Leon Shutes, Bertilla Weber, Reta Merkel, Charles Wortley 1.
District No. 2—Miss K. W. Riemenschneider, teacher. Ethel Kilmer, Nina Kalmbach, Rhona Orbring, Ora Miller, Gladys Richards, Hilda Riemenschneider and Esther Zeeb.

Has Been Closed.

Ann Arbor Times News: The Warren Lewis pool room in Ypsilanti went out of business Monday night.

By order of Prosecuting Attorney George Burke the telegraph and telephone wires were disconnected and the furniture hauled out. The order closing the room was issued early Monday afternoon, but not until about 4 o'clock was Mr. Burke assured that it had been carried out. Lewis was given the alternative of going out of business or being made defendant in another criminal action besides the one now pending in the circuit court. The room has been in operation about ten years almost continuously, with the exception of a short time last year. The order closing the place was carried out in spite of sudden reticence on the part of various Ypsilanti reformers who were loud in their protests against the joint until asked to swear out complaints. Lewis is apparently out of it for good as he will hardly dare run the risk of certain prosecution by opening up again.

A Dreadful Slight.

To H. J. Barnum, of Freeville, N. Y., was the fever-sore that had plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. At last he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and wrote: "It has entirely healed with scarcely a scar left." Heals burns, boils, eczema, cuts, bruises, swellings, corns and piles like magic. Only 25c at L. Grange Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Cavanaugh Lake Grange will be held on Tuesday evening, March 14th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kalmbach. The following will be the program:

Opening song by the Grange.
Reading, Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider.
Farm orchards, discussion led by H. J. Kruse.
Question box in charge of Miss Rica Kalmbach.
Music.

As there is important business to come before the Grange all members are requested to attend this meeting.

Mrs. John Sumner.

Miss Lizzie Snow was born in Sylvan, August 15, 1839, and died at her home in Chelsea, Thursday evening, March 2, 1911, aged 61 years, 6 months and 15 days.

The deceased has been in failing health for several years. She was united in marriage with John Sumner July 2, 1874 and for the last few years the couple have resided in this village. Mrs. Sumner is survived by her husband, one brother, William Snow, of Cavanaugh Lake, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Monroe, of this place.

The funeral was held from the home on Garfield street, Monday afternoon, Rev. F. I. Blanchard officiating. Interment at Vermont cemetery.

Village Caucus.

The People's Party held their caucus for the nomination of village officers Monday evening at the town hall, and it appears that the ticket at that time placed in nomination will be the only one in the field at the local election this spring, no other caucus having been called.

George Staffan called the meeting to order and Archie Wilkinson was chosen as chairman, Orrin Burkhardt, secretary, and Bert B. Turnbull and Howard Brooks were appointed tellers.

There were only two contests, one being for the office of clerk and the other assessor. On account of the general satisfaction felt over the work done by the present administration most of the nominations were for reelection of present incumbents and the following ticket was placed in nomination:

President—George P. Staffan.
Trustees—J. Edward McKune, Mark Lowry and Frank Brooks.
Clerk—W. Henry Heschwerdt.
Treasurer—George W. Millsbaugh.
Assessor—Wilbur VanRiper.
The following village committee was appointed, Archie W. Wilkinson, George Seitz, Bert B. Turnbull.

"The Golden Girl."

"The Golden Girl," the musical comedy success of Chicago, where it crowded two theatres for nearly a year, comes to the New Whitney theatre Saturday, March 11, matinee and night. The wonderful stage effects, brilliant electrical display and gorgeous costuming makes of "The Golden Girl," what might almost be called a spectacular extravaganza, were it not for the well defined plot and strong dramatic situations that are never lost sight of throughout the performance. Perhaps no one realizes more than Mr. Singer, that the day has arrived when it is necessary to give the amusement seeker in the one night stand the same complete, high class production as that offered in New York or Chicago. He has always believed in this theory, which is substantiated by the road companies that have visited this city under his management. In "The Golden Girl," Mr. Singer has made one of the most elaborate productions and offers one of the best musical comedies sent out from his Chicago theatre.

Through the story of the play there runs a pretty theme of the land of the Magnolias. General Carroll, who served under the "Stars and Bars" is the guardian of Dixie, who goes to West Point to visit the sweetheart of her school days. General Carroll once loved her aunt, but sacrificed this love to serve his country, and when the war was over returned to find that she had died, and placed in his keeping Dixie, who had been named for the South he so loyally served. Features of the production are "The Golden Shower" where a veritable shower of gold descends on a golden costumed ballet, fairly dazzling the eye with its kaleidoscopic effects; and the beautiful "Indian Love Song" illustrated by elaborately costumed chorus figures and novel stage settings.

Mr. Singer has assured us that we will receive the same identical production of "The Golden Girl" as was witnessed by the millions that saw it during its record breaking run at his theatre in Chicago.

Met With an Accident.

Lew Elfring was taken Monday afternoon to his parents' home in Webster with a broken leg. Mr. Elfring was assisting with a gang of men to bale hay at the Balfrance farm, near Four Mile lake. While leading the horses on the water tank a little closer to the hay baler, a barrel slipped off and struck the horses, causing them to start to run. Elfring, holding on to them, fell, the wagon with the tank going over him, breaking his right leg, skinning the side of his face and bruising him quite badly.

Miss Margaret Dealy.

Miss Margaret Dealy was born in Sharon and died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Gerald Dealy, of Lyndon, Sunday morning, March 5, 1911, aged 28 years.

The deceased has been in failing health for about a year. She is survived by her mother, one brother and four sisters.

The funeral was held from the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. W. P. Considine officiating. Interment Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea.

A Difference in Price.

There is quite a range in the price of No. 1 clover hay. The farmers in this vicinity are holding their crop of clover hay at $15.00 per ton delivered in the local market. A few days ago D. C. McLaren & Son received an offer from one of the largest shippers of grain and hay in Toledo, to place No. 1 clover hay on the tracks in Chelsea for $12.50 per ton. As the freight charge from Toledo to Chelsea is $2.00 per ton, and the cost of baling is $1.50 per ton the farmer who sold it could not have received but about $7.00 per ton.

Got After the Lawyer.

Attorney A. J. Waters, of Manchester, questioned Samuel E. Hoopingarmen's veracity Monday afternoon just after the circuit court had adjourned and Mr. Hoopingarmen shook his fist in Mr. Water's face. The dispute went no further, Mr. Hoopingarmen declaring that he wasn't sure what the legal consequences would be if it did.

The trouble arose over the dissolution of the $1,400 attachment held by Mr. Hoopingarmen and John Ziegler on the Sharon property of Mr. Waters' client, William Stipe. Mr. Stipe petitioned to have the attachment dissolved, and his petition was granted. The attachment was taken out to secure their commission for the sale of the land for Mr. Stipe, Hoopingarmen and Ziegler allege.

The threatened altercation Monday was the second of its kind in which Mr. Waters has figured since last summer. In a case in the probate court one day last fall he doubted the word of one of his opponents and the man threw a chair at him. Mr. Stipe recently purchased the M. Lighthall residence in Chelsea and the Thomas Fletcher farm in Lima.

Princess Theatre.

The Princess theatre starting next Monday, March 13, will offer a change of policy. Managers Geddes & McLaren were in Detroit Tuesday and while there completed arrangements for the change in the policy of this popular play house. Hereafter on three nights of each week the admission fee will be 5 and 10 cents. On Tuesday and Thursday a vaudeville act, two reels of pictures and songs, will make up the program, and the other 5 and 10 cent night will be as usual on Saturday with the regular show, but no vaudeville. The vaudeville acts will be booked for one night only changing on Tuesday and Thursday. In this arrangement both the patrons and managers will receive the benefit, as formerly the same vaudeville act for three nights was not relished by the former and was a losing proposition for the latter. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday the admission will remain at 5 cents as in the past. A change has been made in film service also, and instead of showing only five different makes, fourteen different makes will now be shown. These include those that are now shown, also the popular Reliance, Solar, Yankee, Champs, etc. Next week's vaudeville offerings will be Miss Mable Dogan on Tuesday, singing and dancing, and Charlie Denny, the "Boy from Scotland" on Thursday.

SAYS LIZARDS ARE LOVABLE

John Muir Stands Sponsor for Their Elevation to the Grade of Pets.

John Muir, writing of lizards in the Atlantic Monthly, affirms that these creatures, repulsive to most people, are really lovable.

"The eye can hardly follow them, but they never make long sustained runs, usually only about 10 or 12 feet, then a sudden stop and as sudden a start again, going all their journeys by quick, jerking impulses.

"These many steps I find necessary as rests, for they are short-winded and when pursued steadily are soon out of breath, pant pitifully and are easily caught. Their bodies are more than half tail, but these tails are well managed, never heavily dragged or curved up, as if hard to carry; on the contrary, they seem to follow the body lightly of their own will.

"Some are colored like the sky, bright as bluebirds, others gray like the lichened rocks on which they hunt and bask. Even the horned toad of the plains is a mild, harmless creature, and so are the snake-like species which glide in curves with true snake motion, while their small undeveloped limbs drag as useless appendages.

"One specimen fourteen inches long which I observed closely made no use whatever of its tender sprouting limbs, but glided with all the soft ease and grace of a snake. Here comes a little gray, dusty fellow who seems to know and trust me, running about my feet, and looking up cunningly into my face. Carlo is watching, makes a quick pounce on him, for the fun of the thing, I suppose, but Liz, has shot away from his paws like an arrow, and is safe in the recesses of a clump of chaparral.

"Gentle saurians, dragons, descendants of an ancient and mighty race, Heaven bless you all and make your virtues known, for few of us know as yet that scales may cover fellow creatures as gentle and lovable as do feathers or hair or cloth."

When Love Is Barred.

"Susie," said the handsome plumber, laying down his tools, which he had taken up by mistake—"Susie, I love yer!"

"Get along now, do!" sniggered the coy kitchen-maid. "You're jokin'!"

"No, I ain't!" said the man of pipes and screws. "I mean it straight!"

"Well, why don't yer choose time for love-makin' when I'm not busy?" answered the basement Venus, with a pout. "Can't yer see I'm washin' up?"

"All right, Susie; don't get cross. Look 'ere, if I spins out this 'ere job so that it lasts till to-morrow afternoon, will yer promise to get yer work out of the way so that we can chat things over like?"

"Tomorrow afternoon, indeed!" snapped Susie. "Yer ain't in a hurry, I must say! What's the matter with tonight?"

"Tonight—in my own time?" retorted the plumber scornfully. "I don't think!"—Exchange.

Lobbying for Scallops.

A unique method of lobbying has been adopted by the fishermen who are anxious that scallops along the Maine coast should be better protected. Each member of the legislature Thursday morning found upon his desk a clean white scallop decorated with the single word, "Help," typewritten upon a piece of white paper and pasted upon the shell. The shells are fine souvenirs of the coast make excellent ash trays or match receivers and will doubtless be treasured by those who have received them long after all the printed matter distributed in the two chambers during this session has passed into oblivion.

In Judgment on Himself.

An amusing story of the adventures of a defendant comes from the Swansea (Eng.) Quarter Sessions, held some days ago. A man named Henry Craggs was indicted for stealing meat, but when the case was called the prisoner could not be found. His solicitor and officials of the court hunted high and low, but it was considerable time before Craggs was discovered. Then he was found among the grand jury, helping to decide whether there was a true bill against himself or not. To his solicitor Craggs explained that he thought the grand jury were all prisoners. Eventually he was found not guilty of the charge.

Of Course Not.

"A woman will forgive a man a great deal if he says her mouth is a perfect Cupid's bow."

"But suppose her mouth isn't a perfect Cupid's bow?"

"Do you suppose that will make any difference?"

It May Be So.

"Sarah Bernhardt says a woman is as old as she acts."

"I suppose she has come to that conclusion after seeing some of the chorus girls who are grandmothers."

DONE AT SAGINAW AND MUSKEGON

THE TWO PARTY CONVENTIONS AND THE NOMINEES TO BE VOTED FOR.

GOVERNOR OSBORN SPEAKS ON RECIPROCIITY; PLATFORM IGNORES SUBJECT.

Features of the Political Gatherings Held at Saginaw and the City of Muskegon.

The Republican state convention, held in Saginaw, was chiefly distinguished by the address of Governor Osborne strongly endorsing the proposed reciprocity treaty with Canada. His appeal, however, was unheeded and there was no reference made to the subject in the resolutions adopted. The ticket nominated follows:

Justices of the supreme court—Russell C. Ostrander, Lansing, and John E. Bird, Adrian.

Regents of the university—Benjamin S. Hanchett, Grand Rapids, and Lucius L. Hubbard, Houghton.

Members state board of education—Thomas W. Nadal, Olivet. Superintendent of public instruction—Luther L. Wright, Ironwood.

Members state board of agriculture—John W. Beaumont, Detroit, and Jason Woodman, Paw Paw.

The election of United States Senators by popular vote is endorsed in these words:

This is said of the governor: "Manly, courageous, well poised, Gov. Osborn is giving to the administration of state affairs an ability rarely equalled in executive performance in Michigan history." The platform concludes: "Too strong commendation cannot be made of the announced purpose of the governor and the appropriation committees of both Senate and House to refuse all special appropriations asked by state institutions which are not absolutely essential to their continued operation. In the present state of finance in which Michigan finds itself the most rigid economy consistent with good public service is demanded. We further commend the determination of the governor and legislature to include in the present budget a sum sufficient to cover the existing deficit in the state treasury and thus relieve the state from the humiliating situation, financially, in which it has been placed."

"We recommend to the earnest consideration of the legislature the adoption of a suitable and proper law providing adequate compensation for injured workmen."

"We commend to the consideration of the legislature the passage of an act giving to the state railroad commission powers of control over express rates similar to those now exercised over railroad freight rates."

The Democratic State Convention held in Muskegon was harmonious in the main. An attempt to prevent an endorsement of reciprocity was squelched. The nominees of the party are:

Justices of the supreme court—John E. Kinnane, Bay City; H. H. Sanford, Mt. Pleasant.

Members board of agriculture—John A. Weston, Lansing; A. E. Stevenson, Port Huron.

Regents of the university—John W. Anderson, Detroit; Dr. Henry F. Krenners, Holland.

Member state board of education—James A. King, Manistee. Superintendent of public instruction—John B. Cleveland, Muskegon.

The platform reaffirms the platform adopted at Kalamazoo in 1910. Congratulations are extended the people on the election of two Democratic congressmen and says:

"We recognize the merit embodied in the true principle of reciprocity properly applied in connection with concurrent downward revision of the tariff, and we commend the statesmanship of the Democratic representatives in congress who rose above partisanship in connection with the pending treaty, and declare that we have full confidence that the Democratic house of representatives will promptly enact measures for the downward revision of the tariff on such commodities and products as will remove discrimination and make the same equitable for all classes."

"We reaffirm our belief in the principles of the initiative, referendum and recall."

The platform concludes with a sharp criticism of the present state administration and adds:

"We renew our declaration of previous campaigns that Michigan will never be redeemed from miserable, questionable politics and political corruption until a complete change in party control is accomplished; and the Democratic party renews its pledge to bring about such reformation if given the opportunity."

The young girls of the Coldwater high school graduating class of 1911 have voted to wear gingham dresses at the graduating exercises, made by themselves.

S. M. Lemon, collector of internal revenue for the western district of Michigan, has resigned. The collector does not give any reason for taking the step.

Lansing will come in for a share of the $2,500,000 which the Pere Marquette railroad is going to spend for improvements this summer. It is proposed by the road to erect a large new freight warehouse in the city and to make other improvements in the way of traffic extension and shipping facilities. The contracts for these improvements have already been made and the work will be commenced in the near future.

STATE BRIEFS.

Rt. Rev. Edwin D. Kelly, of Detroit, consecrated assistant bishop of the Detroit diocese in January, confirmed his first class in Ann Arbor Sunday morning.

Postmaster Blatchford received from the Pere Marquette several packages of envelopes and invoices taken by yeggs last week and abandoned in a box car near Plymouth.

A company to manufacture buttons out of clam shells has been organized in Grand Rapids with a capitalization of $150,000. About 100 people will be employed at the start.

William Timlick, of Caro, aged 20, mistook a gasoline can for one containing kerosene, poured the contents of the can on the fire and was badly burned about the face and hands.

Poses were organized by Sheriff Evans at Cadillac to search for Emerson Sanford, 44, a crippled mute. He wandered from home Christmas day toward Pine river swamps.

Memorial services were held in Lapeer at the chapel at the Michigan Home for the Feeble Minded for those who died during the smallpox epidemic. The victims numbered 18.

Mrs. Melvina Beers, aged 70, was found dead in bed on the upper floor of Jackson apartment house, of which she is the owner. It is believed the woman died from natural causes.

Robert S. Acton, a Michigan Central freight conductor, was killed near Colon while attempting to step from a coal to a flat car. He missed his footing and fell under the wheels.

All the surveying and advance work on the proposed Owosso-Saginaw electric line has been completed and the project, it is said, is now in concrete form. The line will tap a rich farming country.

Kissing good-night a woman on whom he had been calling, Louis Knitel, of Alpena, aged 50, slipped at the top of a flight of stairs and fell to the bottom, his head striking a stone. He died half an hour later.

Senator William Alden Smith, Rep. Fordney, Rep. Nye of Minnesota, Willis L. Moore, head of the weather bureau in Washington, will speak at the "membership" banquet to be given by the Saginaw board of trade March 17.

Clara Phillips, of Portland, has asked for a legal separation from Harry Orcutt, having learned that he was previously married in June, 1908. He was arrested for bigamy in Kalamazoo, but escaped from the county jail there.

Mrs. McFadden, wife of a farmer near Marshall, wrapped her 4-week-old baby so thoroughly in blankets when she drove to town that the baby was smothered to death. She drove to an undertaker and took the infant home in a coffin.

The coroner's jury which spent two days investigating the death of Mrs. Martha Howard, a wealthy Kalamazoo negress, whose body was found in the river, returned a verdict that she had been killed and her body thrown into the river.

Jefferson Vincent, 82, of Durand, who died recently, leaves nine children and five brothers. The combined ages of Vincent and the brothers is 459 years. He was a farmer all his life and a pioneer resident of Shiawassee county.

A number of Pere Marquette officials were in Saginaw on a tour of inspection. They will inspect every mile of track to determine how many improvements recommended by division heads can be carried out. The party went to Ludington.

Speaking on "Conservation of Michigan's Resources" at the round-up institute, Judge Charles B. Collingwood stated that the present system of reformatories is adding to the criminal class, instead of reforming misfit boys as they are supposed to do.

Every one of the 1,000 striking corset makers who walked out of the Kalamazoo Corset Co. Monday morning returned to work Wednesday, following an adjustment of difficulties by which the employers agreed to restore the old wage scale.

Despondent because of a heavy debt and the failure of his crops last summer, William Thomas, a young farmer living near Lake Odessa, ended his life. His young wife found his body hanging from a rafter in the barn. He leaves a child.

Fire broke out in the drying room of the plant of the Quaker Oats Co. at Battle Creek. Within an hour the roof had fallen in and the four-story building will be a total loss. The property loss will be about $100,000. A stiff breeze was blowing, hampering the work of the firemen.

A movement has been started to locate oil in Sebawa township, near Jona's, prospectors having been at work for some time. Three land leases have been made, including the Moyer farm and farms owned by Dr. Snyder and Arthur Halladay. The tests must be made within six months.

R. S. Scott was elected secretary of the Calhoun County Agricultural society, held in Marshall. The society decided to pay him a salary of $200 a year. This is the first time the society has paid a salary. The society discovered that it had lost several hundred dollars at the fair last fall because someone forged a quantity of complimentary tickets, sold them and pocketed the money. No trace of the forger has been found.

The first aeroplane exhibition for the upper peninsula will be given by Wright Bros., of Dayton, on the Chipewas county fair, to be held in Sault Ste. Marie next fall, arrangements for which have just been completed.

L. E. Ash, an Arbor railroad special detective who disappeared two years ago, has been located at Sioux Falls, S. D. The address was discovered from a letter which a woman was about to mail on a train and was tipped out of her hand by a gust of wind. The man who recovered it read the address. Ash is a policeman at Sioux Falls. He left a wife and large family destitute in Owosso.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS; WORK UNFINISHED

PRESIDENT TAFT WATCHES CLOSING SCENES, THEN CALLS EXTRA SESSION.

TARIFF BOARD BILL PASSED BY SENATE, IS DEFEATED IN THE HOUSE.

Stormy House Filibuster at Close of the Session Forces Withdrawal of Tariff Bill.

The sixty-first congress came to an end Saturday by constitutional limitation. Despite the peril that threatened some of the big appropriation bills almost up to the last moment they all finally got through and received the signature of the president. The last bill signed by the speaker of the House was the postoffice appropriation act.

Consideration of immediate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona held up the business of the Senate for two hours and threatened to defeat several big appropriation bills. The Senate had under consideration the New Mexico constitution.

Senator Owen insisting that the Arizona constitution should be approved at the same time, held the floor against all efforts to displace him until the Senate leaders agreed to couple Arizona with New Mexico. After the two propositions had been coupled, however, the Senate voted down the resolution, 45 to 39. It was asserted later that this does not mean Mexico cannot be admitted by action of the president.

Tariff Board Bill Passes. Amid turbulent scenes the Senate passed the tariff board bill by a vote of 56 to 23. The end of the long fight for this board, strongly recommended by President Taft, came amid stormy scenes.

The bill provides for the removal of the tariff out of politics. It places inquiries into tariff matters into the hands of a commission of experts, who will investigate one schedule at a time from a purely scientific point of view and report to congress as to what duties should be lowered or increased.

Tariff Board's Death. The tariff board bill passed by the Senate was withdrawn and eliminated by the House, after one of the most riotous filibusters seen in that body for years. The withdrawal was formally made by Republican leader Payne.

The filibusters began with the first movement to put through the tariff board measure under an agreement limiting debate. The Democrats objected to the consideration of the measure and started a series of roll calls which defeated the measure.

All appearance of order was frequently lost in the House. Speaker Cannon repeatedly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to drive members back into their seats. Democrats clamored for the recognition they claimed was denied them, and the Republican leaders adopted every possible expedient to head off the filibuster.

The deficiency appropriation bill was saved by a parliamentary move unexpected by the Fitzgerald forces. Chairman Tanney of the appropriations committee was recognized by Speaker Cannon between the first and second calls of the roll on one of the Democratic motions. Through this means he had the conference report up for consideration before the Democrats could head it off and the defeat of the bill by the time limit was avoided.

The House at 12:35 p. m. adjourned sine die, following a speech by Speaker Cannon, in which he discussed the policy he had sought to observe in presiding over the lower House of congress. The speaker expressed the faith that the next House will observe fair play under the constitution.

Speaker Cannon in his farewell speech said he would be glad to serve under "the general rule" of Speaker-to-be Clark, following adjournment. Members of the house joined in chorus singing "America," and other patriotic songs.

Bradley Stays. Though the committee which investigated the charge that Senator William H. Bradley had solicited a bribe from an appointee of the Senate, who was discharged, made a report that was adopted and was not favorable to him, by a vote of 15 to 14, he was allowed to retain his seat. That ends the matter as far as the Senate is concerned.

CALLS EXTRA SESSION.

President Taft Fixes April 4th as Date for Sixty-Second Congress.

President Taft fixed April 4 as the date for the convening of the Sixty-second congress in extraordinary session. After reciting the steps already taken between the United States and Canada with regard to reciprocity, the president's proclamation says:

"The agreement transmitted to congress stipulates not only that the president of the United States will communicate to congress the conclusions now reached and recommends the adoption of such legislation as may be necessary on the part of the United States to give effect to the proposed agreement, but also that the government of the two countries will use their utmost efforts to bring about such changes by concurrent legislation at Washington and at Ottawa."

"Now, therefore, by virtue of the power vested in me by the constitution, I do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both houses of the congress of the United States at their respective chambers in the city of Washington on the fourth of April, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that they may consider and determine whether the congress shall, by the necessary legislation, make operative the agreement."

What 61st Congress Accomplished. These are some of the more important measures, outside of appropriation bills, that the final session of congress enacted into law:

Providing for forest reserves in the southern Appalachian and White mountains.

Providing for the inspection of boilers on locomotives.

Providing for the purchase or erection of embassies, legation buildings abroad.

Authorization of $3,000,000 for the fortification of the Panama canal.

Provision for two new battalions. Repeal of the act relating to the advertisement of the law's delays.

These are some of the negative results:

Failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Failure of the permanent tariff board bill.

Failure of the resolution to admit to statehood Arizona and New Mexico, killed by a filibuster in the senate.

Failure of the proposal to increase the maximum of the judicial code—regarded as most important for the amelioration of the law's delays.

20,000 U. S. TROOPS ORDERED TO TEXAS

PRESIDENT TAFT, TO QUIET CRITICISMS, ORDERS 20,000 TROOPS TO MOBILIZE QUICKLY.

ARTILLERY, INFANTRY AND CAVALRY TO CONCENTRATE ON MEXICAN BORDER.

Maneuvers to Be on Gigantic Scale Never Before Attempted; All Branches of Service Included.

In answer to charges that the United States army is not prepared for actual warfare, and that it is lacking in every essential that goes to make up a defensive force, the general staff, by direction of the president, has ordered a magnificent test of the whole machinery controlling the mobile army on a scale greater than ever before attempted in time of peace in this country.

Reproducing as nearly as possible war conditions involving hostilities in advance of a formal declaration of war, the president gave the word and within a few moments messages were flying all over the country by wire ordering the assemblage of 20,000 troops in the department of Texas. This is practically one-fourth of the entire United States army, including those troops in the Philippines and other insular possessions.

The navy is to play its part, and a formidable fleet of armored cruisers, supplemented by auxiliaries necessary for the successful maintenance of a hostile naval force on the coast of an enemy will take its place off the Texas shore line.

Military force will establish its headquarters at San Antonio under command of Maj. Gen. William H. Carter, assistant chief of staff, assisted by several brigadier-generals, who will command the brigades into which the grand division will be divided. These brigades will be placed at strategic points throughout the department of Texas, including not only the Mexican border towns, to which particular attention will be given, but also Galveston and the other seaports.

Representative Copley introduced two bills in the legislature of undoubted importance. One provides for the condemnation by public commissioners of private property for the use and benefit of the public, and the scope of the bill is broad enough to permit municipalities to condemn private water works, of which there are a number in the state, and also street railways, though the latter are not specifically mentioned.

The public commissioners are made judges of the necessity of acquiring private property, which is defined to include lands, tenements, hereditaments and tangible and intangible property, whether real, personal or mixed.

Copley's second bill aims to regulate and limit nomination and election expenses by providing that no candidate shall spend more than 25 per cent of the annual salary of the office to which he aspires to secure the nomination, and an equal amount for election expenses. All candidates and political committees are compelled to submit itemized statements of all receipts and expenditures.

House Passes Tax Board Bill. The house Monday, with seven dissenting votes, passed on the third reading the administration bill for a commission of three experts to be appointed by the governor to inquire into the entire tax system of the state and submit a comprehensive plan "for securing the full measure of revenues by way of taxation from every species of property submitted to taxation."

The experts are to receive $15 a day and are to have their report to the legislature by April 15.

Gov. Osborn in his inaugural recommendation a commission for the purpose specified in the bill. By getting a report April 15 the present session will be able to legislate reforms along the lines the commission indicates.

Peary is Made Rear Admiral. Both houses of congress passed the bill to give the rank and retired pay of a rear admiral and the thanks of congress to Robert E. Peary in recognition of his attainment of the North Pole. The bill had been regarded as hopelessly lost in the tangle of legislation in the house, but was revived investigation, but the chief executive found himself almost blocked at the outset with the same obstacle that blocked other similar attempts, the deep-rooted influence of Tammany Hall and its connection with certain powder.

For the second time the proposition to bond the city of Ludington for $50,000 for street improvements was lost at a special election. But 50 votes were lacking to pass the measure.

Reps. Holcomb and Kappier were in Saginaw to inspect the Michigan Employment Institute for the Blind. They placed the stamp of approval on the institution.

Luke Stebehus died at Hackley hospital, Muskegon, after lying unconscious for 40 hours. He was suffering from concussion of the brain after a fall from a street car.

Evidence that the United States is lagging behind European countries in aviation is found in the official list of the world's licensed aviators, which has just been compiled by the International Federation. The names of 516 licensed pilots are included in the list. France leads with 331 names; Germany is second with 42; England third with 33; Italy fourth with 27; Belgium fifth with 21 and America sixth with only 18.

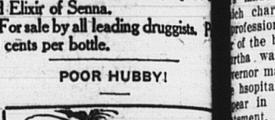

Particularly the Ladies

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and soothing to the system, Syrup of Fig Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times dispels colds, headaches and the effects caused by indigestion and constipation promptly and effectively that it is the perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its benefits, always note the full name of Company—California Fig Syrup Co. plainly printed on the front of the package of the genuine Syrup of Fig Elixir of Senna.

HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUM

"I think the Cuticura Remedies the best remedies for eczema I ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head which was real young. Doctor called it 'rash.' He gave us medicine, but did no good. In a few days the rash was a solid mass, a running sore. We had to hold him and watch it to keep him from scratching his head. His suffering was dreadful. Last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resolvent as directed washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and from eczema, and it has never come back again. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment is good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair. (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, P. O. Box 107, Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910. THE LEGISLATURE AND ITS WORK

MURTHA WILL REPLY TO LETTERS MADE PUBLIC BY THE GOVERNOR.

TO REGULATE PRIMARY SCHOOL FUND PAYMENTS IS NEEDED.

Subjects of Legislative Work Briefly Stated.

BY L. C. WARD.

Murtha Will Reply.

Senator James A. Murtha of Detroit served notice in the Senate yesterday night that he will rise to a question of personal privilege on Wednesday, March 15, to reply to letters made public by Gov. Osborn.

Primary Fund Question to Be Submitted.

The constitutional amendment for the way with school districts piling up money which they cannot use is undoubtedly to be submitted to the people at the April election.

Naughton bill has already passed the House and is on its way through the Senate with every prospect of going through with a hurrah.

It is reported that no school district shall have on hand more than enough to pay teachers' salaries for two years in advance.

The House on Washington's birthday did the biggest stroke of business it has yet accomplished.

Workmen's Compensation Bill.

Now that all of the hearings are over the way the legislature is settling down to business on the workmen's compensation bills.

Many Bills.

The bills continue to flow into the House and it would seem that the members will never stop proposing legislation.

Scandal Brewing.

Another big scandal is brewing. Gov. Osborn has in his possession confessions from two convicts which implicate a present state official.

Will Redraft Primary Law.

Rep. Flowers has set for himself the task of redrafting the present primary law.

Cold Storage.

Rep. Austin has introduced a bill to regulate the cold storage houses and prevent the storing of food so long that it becomes unfit to eat.

Thanks Expressed.

Gov. Osborn has sent neat little cards of thanks to all of the representatives and senators who voted for him for president in a recent poll of the legislature.

Cuts Off Fees.

Rep. Decker slid a bill through both houses with hardly a sound which cuts off all state officials from receiving fees in addition to their salaries.

Rep. Austin jumps down hard on the cold storage plants in a bill which provides such plants must be licensed by the dairy and food department.

Rep. Averill of Kent has introduced a bill at the request of credit companies to permit the organization of companies with a capital stock of $5,000 instead of $10,000 as now.

The Holland-Bricker bill providing a tax upon all mineral reserve lands of whatever nature has passed the House without amendment.

The spring convention will be held on March 2, and there promises to be a fight over reciprocity there.

Some sections as a blow at President Taft, but on the other hand the members are sure to oppose any sanctioning of new trade relations with Russia.

The Military Bill. The Senate committee on military affairs is preparing to introduce a bill similar to the one which Representative Stewart and Ganzer put in the House for reorganizing the National Guard in conformity with the recommendations of the governor.

Hits the Mineral Land Owners. The Holland-Bricker mineral reservation tax bill has passed the House. There was but little discussion on the measure and but two votes were recorded against this important law.

Senator Foster's Forestry Bill. Senator Foster's bill, encouraging private forestry among farmers, and exempting from taxation such lands as are devoted to forestry under its provisions was reported out by the committee on forestry and state lands.

The ways and means committee of the House is not to be the whole works on appropriations this year as heretofore. The institutional committees have outvoted the speaker and will make the trips of investigation.

The House on Washington's birthday did the biggest stroke of business it has yet accomplished. It sat both forenoon and afternoon and passed ten bills in committee of the whole and six bills on third reading.

Another big scandal is brewing. Gov. Osborn has in his possession confessions from two convicts which implicate a present state official, an ex-senator and a prominent Detroit lawyer in attempting to secure the freedom of these men from prison.

Rep. Flowers has set for himself the task of redrafting the present primary law. The law was passed in such a hurry at the last session that it contains many repetitions and contradictions and Mr. Flowers will endeavor to correct these defects and put the law into about half as many words.

Rep. Austin has introduced a bill to regulate the cold storage houses and prevent the storing of food so long that it becomes unfit to eat. It is an echo of the campaign of a year or more back to prevent the piling up of food in the store houses to control prices.

The House passed a bunch of bills on third reading in its late session Monday night. Among them were the Martz bill providing that attorneys appointed to defend in criminal proceedings shall be paid not to exceed $250 in murder trials and not to exceed $100 in other criminal cases.

Rep. Averill of Kent has introduced a bill at the request of credit companies to permit the organization of companies with a capital stock of $5,000 instead of $10,000 as now. The Holland-Bricker bill providing a tax upon all mineral reserve lands of whatever nature has passed the House without amendment.

MINORITY LEADER IN NEXT HOUSE

Considered Likely That Speaker Cannon Will Take Up the Task.

OTHER NAMES MENTIONED

Compromise Be Necessary to Find Acceptable Leader—Senate Republicans Worrying Over Successor to Aldrich—Democrats Plan Tariff Revision.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington. — Republicans of the house of representatives like the Republicans of the senate are discussing in advance the question of the legislative leadership of their party when at the next session it becomes the minority party.

Speaker Cannon will leave the chief chair of the house to take his place on the floor, and there is a feeling among the party members that he ought to be officially recognized by the organization as the leader on the floor.

It seems altogether likely from the advance view point that Mr. Cannon will be leader de jure as well as leader de facto, but there are a good many Republicans who think that it is possible a compromise may be made, and some men acceptable both to organization men and insurgents may be given recognition as actual chief.

Minority Leadership. Senator Money of Mississippi, who will leave the senate on March 4, has been the Democratic leader through the present session.

There is Representative Samuel W. McCall, Republican, of Massachusetts, who piloted the Canadian reciprocity bill through the house at the present session.

It should be said that when the revolt came in the house against the rule of Speaker Cannon that Mr. McCall paid a tribute to the speaker which for eloquence rarely has been surpassed in the history of the house.

The progressive and insurgent Republicans in the house like McCall stand for conservation, and for half a dozen other measures and it is possible that they would half his choice as leader with a whole heart, but it must be said that the chances seem to favor the selection of a man whose "organization orthodoxy" never has been in the least questioned.

The Republicans of the senate still are thinking over the matter of the leadership of their party in that body after March 4 when Senator Aldrich leaves the service.

Senator Penrose is a member of the senate finance committee, the chairmanship of which usually carries senatorial leadership with it. If he is made chairman of the committee, a position which he would get if promotion in regular line were given him, he probably will be made the Republican leader, but it is conceivable that a precedent might be broken and that the leadership might be given to some one who was not at the head of the chief senate committee. It is possible that some such compromise as this may be made, the opponents of Mr. Penrose withdrawing their opposition to him, as finance chairman provided he is not made the leader.

There will be a Republican majority in the next senate of only about six members and the progressives of the party hold the balance of power.

It seems most likely that all the Republicans of the senate will go into a caucus and that some kind of a compromise will be reached by which the insurgent-progressive minority will be given good representation on many of the important committees and that in exchange opposition to the naming of old-time regulars as committee chairmen will be withdrawn.

Before Mr. Taft would enter the field as candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency he said that he was to a considerable extent a downward revisionist and that he wanted his party to understand this in advance.

John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who for several years was the leader of Democracy in the house, will succeed Senator Money in the senate.

Final and definite statement can be made in regard to the tariff revision plans of the Democratic majority in the next house of representatives.

If President Taft should call congress together in extraordinary session the Democrats of the house may put reciprocity through and reserve the tariff revision legislation for the regular session.

There is no extra session of the Democrats of the house at the next regular session will revise the tariff in a number of its main schedules, but will not attempt general revision.

SHE MEANT WELL

"I've got a beautiful surprise for you, Tommy," said the three-months bride to her husband one morning at breakfast.

"Something to eat?" asked Tom, passing by the plate of forlorn-looking biscuits and helping himself to a piece of toast.

"Piggy-wig!" responded the three-months' bride, contemptuously. "Yes, it is something to eat, but you're not going to get it until Sunday morning. It's waffles." The three months' bride folded her small hands in her lap and beamed proudly upon her recent acquisition in the matrimonial line.

"Whew!" whistled Tom, who was always properly appreciative. "Did you ever made any, P. dge?" "No," said the three months' bride. "But I have a perfectly lovely set of waffle irons that one of the girls gave me at my kitchen shower, and I'm just crazy to use them."

The young wife rose half an hour earlier than usual the next Sunday morning. She spread out the cook book on the table.

"Two eggs," she chanted to herself. "It doesn't say whether to beat them separately or not, but I want these to be the finest waffles that ever were, so I'll beat them separately."

She bustled around and presently an odor of well-cooked ironware began to fill the room. The young wife dampened a finger and applied it daintily to the outside of the waffle iron.

"Psst!" the waffle iron remarked. "I guess you're hot enough," said the young wife, happily. "This batter looks rather queer and bubbly, but I suppose it's all right. Now, here goes."

She carefully opened the irons and deposited a spoonful of batter in each receptacle. Then she closed them and waited a few minutes. An odor of neatly browning waffles and very smelly waffle irons rose to her nostrils and gradually filled the room.

It opened its jaws with a vicious pop and then shut them again with a clap that made the young wife dance away from the stove and cover both eyes with her hands under the impression that they were full of red hot batter.

At this crucial moment the little demons that preside over such annoying affairs moved Tom, the large and innocent, to open the door. Ignorant that the situation was explosive in a high degree, he called, jovially: "Breakfast ready, Pudge?"

Card From Frank A. Stivers.
To my friends who so loyally supported me in my candidacy for the nomination for circuit judge, I desire to make public acknowledgement of my sincere gratitude for their efforts in my behalf. The disappointment because of the result is more than compensated for by the knowledge of warm-hearted friendship on the part of scores of men in all parts of the county, who, with disinterested zeal and without hope of reward, earnestly sought to bring about my nomination. More valued by me than any office could possibly be is the high respect and confidence of these friends of mine to each of whom I give assurance of my hearty thanks.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION
Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.
A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.
Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.
Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store.

While drawing stone for the new Catholic church at Manchester, Jas. Scully had the misfortune to break his leg. He was loading stone at the farm of Adam Schaible and in attempting to loosen a large rock he lost his hold and fell backwards, but one foot being mired he could not move it and both bones were broken just above the ankle. The injured man was removed to his home west of Manchester. This is the first accident to happen since work on the new church was begun.

The many friends of Rev. A. A. Schoen, pastor of St. Paul's church, will be pleased to learn that he will remain with the society. Mr. Schoen received a call from St. John's church at Jackson, but decided to remain in Chelsea. Next Sunday morning the tenth anniversary of his pastorate here will be celebrated with appropriate exercises. The society has nearly doubled in membership since Mr. Schoen has been in charge of the parish and the society has made a substantial raise in his salary.

A Few Bushels of Grain.

A few bushels of corn planted in the ground becomes many bushels of grain. So with the few dollars you put in our bank from time to time. The rain causes your grain to grow and the interest we pay causes your dollars to grow. Would the ablest business men in the country have a bank account if there were no advantage or convenience in it? Would they have been able to reach their present commanding position if they found they had spent half their time worrying about the safety of the money they had made? We invite you to open an account as they did and the advantages they found will surely come to you. When you have earned your money don't let it slip away from you; ten here; twenty there, a hundred somewhere else, soon make a thousand dollars. We offer you our bank as a safe place in which to deposit your money.

BAD TEETH VS. GOOD HEALTH

By J. J. McCarty, M.D.
COPYRIGHT BY PEARSON PUBL. CO.

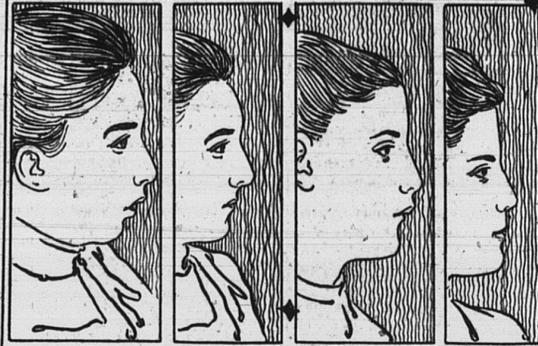

THERE are in this country eight factories devoted to the manufacture of artificial teeth. Last year the manufacturers sold over 60,000,000 of these teeth and this year they expect to sell between 78,000,000 and 80,000,000; and every one of these teeth goes to replace a natural tooth which, if given proper care and attention, should last out one's lifetime. Unclean mouths and teeth are responsible for these conditions, for it is a fact fully established that less than eight per cent. of the American people use a toothbrush or make any effort to keep their teeth and mouths clean. In order to have good health we must have sound teeth, yet we are permitting our teeth to decay at a pace that is alarming, which, if unchecked, will lead to a nation of broken-down, dyspeptic men and women.

The first of the permanent teeth, the first molar, usually appears about the sixth year and for that reason has been designated as the "sixth year's molar." These molars are by far the most important of the permanent teeth, performing the duties of grinders of all foods that enter the mouth. From the seventh to the eighth year the incisors appear and perform the functions of dividing the food. The bicuspid teeth begin to make their appearance between the ninth and tenth year and the canine from the twelfth to the fourteenth year. Around the twelfth year the second set of permanent molars appears, followed by the third or wisdom teeth, whose appearance varies from the seventeenth to the twenty-fifth years. These teeth, assisted by the muscles of mastication which control the movements of the jaws, perform the important function of preparing our food for proper assimila-deformed dental arches due to adenoids in the nose.

Is insanity in many cases due to defective teeth? That is a question that has aroused much interest in the profession due to an interesting series of experiments made by Dr. Henry S. Upson, professor of neurology in the Western Reserve Medical school, Cleveland, Ohio. He found among the insane in the asylums of Cleveland and Columbus many cases of dementia precox and melancholia, these patients all showing dental impaction of the teeth. Taking nine of these unfortunate creatures, Dr. Upson had them operated on dentally and the results obtained were sensational in the extreme. Six of these have fully recovered, two much improved and one showed no mental change at all.

The common cause of all our dental troubles, is decay of the teeth, known technically as dental caries. It is a disease known to have existed for centuries. In the British museum is a skull of a mummy dated 2800 B. C., showing evidences of well-marked caries. Dr. L. M. Waugh of Buffalo, quoting from Guerin's "History of Dentistry," calls attention to a collection of Egyptian writings dating back to 1550 B. C., in which are mentioned a number of remedies for this disease. Decay or caries of the teeth is largely due to neglect or failure to keep the mouth and particularly the teeth properly cleaned. If food particles lodge between the teeth and are not removed they eventually ferment. During this fermentation process the mouth bacteria acting on the carbohydrate foodstuffs produce acid fermentation. These acids dissolve the lime salts of the teeth, exposing the dentine to the action of microbes which rapidly destroy the tooth structure. It is the general supposition that teeth always decay from the outside; as a matter of fact the change takes place from within outward and goes on rapidly until there is quite a large cavity. Frequently toothache or extreme sensitiveness to hot or cold food or drink are the first intimations that decay has taken place. Sometimes there is no pain at all and a chance examination discloses the cavity in the tooth.

These tooth cavities are ideal incubators for all kinds of bacteria. Many of the pathogenic bacteria require heat and moisture for their development and the unclean mouth and teeth offer all these conditions. It is not uncommon to find the pus-producing organisms, the bacillus of diphtheria and tuberculosis, in these tooth cavities.

The cases of unclean mouths are legion; not only among children, but among adults. It is estimated that only eight per cent. of the people in this country take care of their teeth.

In a recent paper read before the Society of Medical Inspectors of New York, and commenting on the condition of children's teeth, Dr. Merritt said: "It may be said without fear of contradiction that if the teeth of the coming generation are to be saved it must be done during their school life. In the city of New York there are in this year of 1910 over 600,000 school children, a very large percentage of whom are in need of dental treatment. Few of them ever make use of a tooth brush; their mouths are filthy beyond belief, and most of them have one or more decayed teeth."

Dr. William H. Potter of Boston, at the solicitation of the school board of Brookline, Mass., recently examined the mouths of the school children in that exclusive suburb of Boston and found that 58 per cent. of the children had diseased and defective mouths and teeth.

The school inspectors of Cleveland, Ohio, examined 33,000 children last year and discovered 77 per cent. of them to have defective teeth. It has been estimated that there are over 9,000,000 children in the United States who have defective and diseased teeth and 5,000,000 with enlarged glands and 7,000,000 with defective breathing, due to adenoid growths in the nose.

Dental caries frequently originates during pregnancy and should receive immediate attention. There is an old and true saying, "a tooth for every child," but this can be avoided if the prospective mother will follow the instructions of her physician and her dentist.

tion by means of the saliva of the mouth, which contains a ferment called ptyalin, that has the property of changing carbohydrate foods, such as vegetables and cereals, into starch. By a thorough mastication with this ferment the food is prepared so that when it reaches the gastric juices of the stomach digestion can be more readily advanced, and certain portions given off to supply the daily needs of our marvelous system with proper nutrition.

During the days when baby is wrestling with its first teeth the young mother seeks aid in such contrivances as rubber rings and pacifiers, permitting the little one to chew them ad libitum, believing that they promote nature's efforts and assist the child during the dentition period. Her good neighbors have told her all about these adjuncts to teeth cutting and the wonderful results that they have obtained through their use. The mother does not realize that all these contrivances are dangerous to the health and well-being of her child, often being the means of introducing some serious contagious or infectious disease of a most dangerous character. It has been found that rubber rings or pacifiers are bacteria carriers, being loaded with germs of a most virulent type. Even if cleaned and sterilized, there is another reason why they should never be used. They deform the mouth. The dental tissues of the infant are soft and yielding and the use of rings and pacifiers often distorts the mouth and gums, frequently resulting in what is known as mal-occlusion of the teeth, a condition where the upper and lower sets do not properly meet.

The sixth year molar is the most important of all teeth. It is often lost because parents frequently think that it is one of the temporary set. This error is due to the fact that it is cut while most of the first set of teeth are in the mouth. When this tooth is lost nature makes an attempt to close the space, with the result that the entire articulation is destroyed. The space thus created between the teeth is difficult to keep clean, due to the food particles being forced into these spaces. Its loss is also one of the chief causes of irregularities of the other erupting teeth. It is the belief of the entire dental profession that the early loss of this tooth is responsible for more misplaced teeth and ill-shaped jaws than any other condition of the mouth.

Every mother should become familiar with the location of this important tooth. Beginning at the center in front and counting backward on either side, above and below, it is the sixth tooth cut. The mother should carefully watch for any defects found in this tooth, and if cavities are located they should be repaired at once in order that the usefulness of the tooth can be saved.

The great American habit, the "bolting of food," is one of the most serious conditions of our modern life. Dr. Osler has said that the American nation could be divided into two classes, bolters and chowers, with the bolters leading by a large majority. Dr. H. C. Sexton of Shelbyville, Ind., at a meeting of the Indiana Dental association, delivered an interesting address in which he deplored this habit, and advised that a national movement should be organized to be known as the "chewing movement." He said: "The education of the average man, woman and child has been sadly neglected. They have not been taught to use their teeth. When we bolt our food we ignore one of the most important ferments, ptyalin, in our saliva, that has much to do in the process of digestion. But the American habit is to spit, and Americans are the greatest spitters of the world. Between meals they will spit out the invaluable saliva, then when they eat they wash down every unchewed bolus of food with copious draughts of water, coffee, or in summer iced tea. What a foolish, disgusting habit it is and more than foolish, more than disgusting, it is killing in its hurtfulness.

It has been stated that fully 75 per cent. of the people of this country bolt their food. This habit is usually acquired during the early years of childhood and carried on during one's whole life.

It should be the duty of all parents to make their children eat slowly and chew their food properly. Nature has placed these teeth in our mouth for a purpose, a very valuable purpose, too, and if we neglect to properly use them we are inviting conditions that seriously threaten our health and general welfare.

Diseases of the nose and mouth have a great influence upon the dental arch of the mouth, particularly adenoid growths in the nose. If the nose is filled up with these adenoids the free passage of air along the nasal membranes becomes obstructed and results in the child becoming what is known as a "mouth breather." In this change from the normal physiological nasal breathing the dental arch is deformed and irregular teeth is the result. Many of these cases are deplorable, for it not only impairs the ability of the individual to masticate food properly, but it interferes with the voice and changes the whole facial appearance of the person. Another deplorable condition due to these nasal growths is the effect they may have on the mentality of the child. They become stupid, forgetful, inattentive and lack the power of mental concentration. This is caused by these growths obstructing the lymphatic circulation of the brain, preventing the proper supply of nutrition so essential to its development. These adenoid growths not only affect the dental arch of the mouth, but they are the frequent causes of deafness in children. Dr. W. A. Mills of Baltimore, discussing this subject at a recent meeting of Washington dentists, said, "one-half our idiots and insane in our institutions today are so as the result of

"While in Corpus Christi for my health, and visiting my youngest son, who has four of the ruddiest, healthiest little boys I ever saw, I ate my first dish of Grape-Nuts for supper with my little grandsons."

"I became exceedingly fond of it and have eaten a package of it every week since, and find it a delicious, refreshing and strengthening food, leaving no ill effects whatever, causing no eruptions (with which I was formerly much troubled), no sense of fullness, nausea, nor distress of stomach in any way."

"There is no other food that agrees with me so well, or sits as lightly or pleasantly upon my stomach as this does."

SERIAL STORY

When a Man Marries

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Author of "The Circular Staircase," "The Man in Lower Ten," etc.

Copyright 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and his ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selma, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selma and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to suggest that Kit play the hostess for one night, but Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Aunt Selma arrives and the deception is taken ill. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance. Bella insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Bella tells Kit that she is the Jap servant. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man lacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallop," printed on it. The guests suddenly realize their predicament, the women shed tears, the men consider it a good joke. Harbison pleads with Kit to tell him the real situation of things. She finally tells him of Bella's incarceration in the basement. The all important question arises as to how to preserve the means and perform the other household duties. Harbison finally solves the matter. He writes out slips containing the various departments of his or her duties.

Well, it ended by Jim's graciously permitting Bella to remain—there being nothing else to do—and by his magnanimously agreeing to keep her real identity from Aunt Selma and Mr. Harbison, and to break the news of her presence to Anne and the rest. It created a sensation beside which Anne's pearls faded away, although they came to the front again soon enough.

Jim broke the news at once, gathering everybody but Harbison and Aunt Selma in the upper hall. He was palpatingly nervous, but he tried to carry it off with a high hand.

"It's unfortunate," he said, looking around the circle of faces, each one frozen with amazement, and just a suspicion, perhaps, of incredulity. "It's particularly unfortunate for her. You all know how high-strung she is, and if the papers should get hold of it—well, we'll all have to make it as easy as we can for her."

With Jim's eye on them, they all swallowed the butler story without a gulp. But Anne was indignant.

"It's like Bella," she snapped. "Well, she has made her bed and she can lie on it. I'm sure I shan't make it for her. But if you want to know my opinion, Mr. Harbison may be a fool, but you can't ram two Bellas, both nee Knowles, down Miss Caruthers' throat with a stick."

We had not thought of that before and every one looked blank. Finally, however, Jim said Bella's middle name was Constantia, and we decided to call her that. But it turned out afterward that nobody could remember it in a hurry, and generally when we wanted to attract her attention, we walked across the room and touched her on the shoulder. It was quicker and safer.

The name decided, we went downstairs in a line to welcome Bella, to try to make her feel at home, and to forget her deplorable situation. Lelia had worked herself into a really sympathetic frame of mind.

"Poor dear," she said, on the way down. "Now don't grin, anybody, just be cordial and glad to see her. I hope she doesn't cry. You know the spells she takes."

We stopped outside the door, and everybody tried to look cheerful and sympathetic and not grimy—which was as hard as looking as if we had had a cup of tea—and then Jim threw the door open and we filed in.

Bella was comfortably reading by a stool and a pillow behind her head. She did not even look at us for a minute; then she merely glanced up as she turned a page.

"Dear me," she said mockingly, "what a lot of frumps you all are! I had hoped it was some one with my breakfast."

Then she went on reading. As Lelia said afterward, that kind of person ought to be divorced.

Aunt Selma came down just then and left everybody trying to feed plain Bella's presence to her, and explain Bella's presence to her, and explain while I was sitting hopelessly in front of the gas range, and showed me about it.

"I don't know that I ever saw one," he said cheerfully, "but I know the theory. Likewise, by the same token, this tea kettle, set on the flame, will boil. That is not theory, however. That is early knowledge. 'Polly, put the kettle on; we'll all take tea.' Look at that, Mrs. Wilson. I didn't fight bacilli with boiled water at Chickamauga for nothing."

And then he let out the policeman and brought him into the kitchen. He was a large man, and his face was a curious mixture of amazement, alarm and dignity. No doubt we did look queer, still in parts of our evening clothes and I in the white silk lace petticoat that belonged under my gown, with a yellow and black pajama coat of Jimmy's as a sort of breakfast jacket.

"This is Officer Flannigan," Mr. Harbison said. "I explained our unfortunate position earlier in the morning, and he is prepared to accept our hospitality. Flannigan, every person in this house has got to work, as I also explained to you. You are appointed dish-washer and scullery maid."

The policeman looked dazed. Then, slowly, like dawn over a sleeping lake, a light of comprehension grew in his face.

"Sure," he said, laying his helmet on the table. "I'll be glad to be doing anything I can to help. Me and Mrs. Wilson—we used to be friends. It's many the time I've opened the carriage door for her, and she with her head in the air, and for all that, the pleasant smile. When any one around here was having a party and wanted a special officer, it was Mrs. Wilson that always said, 'Get Flannigan, Officer Timothy Flannigan. He's your man.'"

My heart had been going lower and lower. So he knew Bella, and he knew I was not Bella, although he had not grasped the fact that I was usurping her place. And the odious Harbison man sat on the table and swung his feet.

"I wonder if you know," he said, looking around him, "how good it is to see a white woman so perfectly at home in a civilized kitchen again, after two years of food cooked by a filthy Indian squaw over a portable sheet-iron stove?"

So perfectly at home! I stood in the middle of the room and stared around at the copper things hanging up and the rows of blue and white crockery; and the dozens and hundreds of complicated-looking utensils, whose names I had never even heard, and I was dazed. I tried with some show of authority to instruct Flannigan about gathering up the soiled things, and, after listening in puzzled silence for a minute, he stripped off his blue coat, with a tolerant smile.

"I went down-stairs despondently, and found that Mr. Harbison had discovered some eggs and was standing helplessly staring at them.

"Omelet—eggs. Eggs—omelet. That's the extent of my knowledge," he said, when I entered. "You'll have to come to my assistance."

It was then that I saw the cook book. It was lying on a shelf beside the clock, and while Mr. Harbison had his back turned I got it down. It was quite clear that the domestic type of woman was his ideal, and I did not care to outrage his belief in me. So I took the cook book into the pantry and read the recipe over three times. When I came back I knew it by heart, although I did not understand it.

"I will tell you how," I said with a great deal of dignity, "and since you want to help, you may make it yourself."

He was delighted.

"Fine!" he said. "Suppose you give me the idea first. Then we'll go over it slowly, bit by bit. We'll make a big fluffy omelet, and if the others aren't around, we'll eat ourselves."

"Well," I said, trying to remember exactly, "you take two eggs—"

"Two!" he repeated. "Two eggs for ten people!"

"Don't interrupt me," I said irritably. "If it wasn't enough we can make several omelets, one after the other."

He looked at me with admiration.

"Who else but you would have thought of that!" he remarked. "Well, here are two eggs. What next?"

"Separate them," I said easily. No, I didn't know what it meant. I hoped he would; I said it as casually as I could, and I did not look at him. I knew he was staring at me, puzzled.

"Separate them!" he said. "Why, they aren't fastened together!" Then he laughed. "Oh, yes, of course!" When I looked he had put one at each end of the table. "Afraid they'll quarrel, I suppose," he said. "Well, now they're separated."

"First separate, then beat!" he repeated. "The author of that cook book must have had a mean disposition. What's next? Hang them?" He looked up at me with his boyish smile.

"Separate and beat," I repeated. If I lost a word of that recipe I was gone. It was like saying the alphabet: I had to go to the beginning every time, mentally.

"Well," he reflected, "you can't beat an egg, no matter how cruel you may be, unless you break it first." He picked up an egg and looked at it. "Separate!" he reflected. "Ah—the white from the—whatever you cooking experts call it—the yellow part."

"Exactly!" I exclaimed, light breaking on me. "Of course, I knew you would find out." Then back to the recipe—"beat until well mixed; then fold in the whites."

"Fold?" he questioned. "It looks pretty thin to fold, doesn't it? I—upon my word, I never heard of folding an egg. Are you—but of course you know. Please come and show me how."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

A Dog and a Bum. In a vacant lot at the corner of Eleventh and Larimer streets was an old white dog that wasn't well. He crawled over near a billboard and lay down. Lots of people saw him, but nobody paid any attention to him until a trampish-looking fellow came along. He was "Hard Times" personified. He went over and petted the dog.

"What's the matter, old boy?" he asked. "Sick?" The dog seemed to appreciate the uncouth one's attentions. The man petted him a little more.

"Wait, I'll get you a drink," he said. He went to a saloon near by and returned with a tin basin full of water. The dog lapped up some of the water and the man poured the rest on the animal's head. In a couple of minutes more the dog arose and slowly walked away, wagging his tail. He was much better.

Just an old dog—just an old bum—that's all—Denver Times.

Girl Messengers for Postoffices. Arrangements for the employment of girls instead of boys as indoor messengers in the general postoffice and in some of the principal provincial postoffices are being completed, and it is anticipated that the experiment will be made on January 1 at the latest. At St. Martin-le-Grand it is hoped to employ the girls mainly in the telephone and telegraph departments, where women form a considerable proportion of the staff. The wage to be paid to the girl messengers will be one shilling less than that of the boys.—London Times.

A Hard Job. "So that's the baby, eh?" "That's the baby."

"Well, I hope you will bring it up to be a conscientious, God-fearing man."

"I am afraid that will be rather difficult."

"Pshaw! As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

"I know, but this twig is bent on being a girl, and we are inclined to let it go at that."

Things He Had Missed. "I never spent money as freely as you do," said the young man's father.

"Neither did I play football nor engage in other hazardous amusements."

"It's too bad," was the thoughtful reply, "but I don't see why you should tell me your troubles."

Couldn't. "Go home with your wife and settle your troubles out of court."

"No, your honor, I refuse to strike a woman!"

Liquid Foods for Invalids. There is a mistaken idea among many people that beef extracts are very nourishing; they are more stimulating than nourishing, but should always be included in the invalid's diet.

Those who know, say that many people have been starved to death being fed on beef extract. Beef essence and tea may be made in the home at less expense and are of greater value as a food.

Beef tea contains albuminous matter, extractives, salts and a small amount of fat. The fiber which remains after these substances are removed contains much protein matter, which is a valuable food. Although the meat is tasteless, with the addition of seasoning it may be used as a wholesome food.

Beef Essence.—Use a pound of round steak from the top of the round. Wipe and remove all fat, cut in small pieces. Place in a glass jar with a cover, put on a trivet in a kettle and surround with cold water. Allow the water to heat slowly, keeping it at a temperature of 180 degrees Fahrenheit. Let it stand two hours, then press the meat to obtain all the juices. Salt to taste.

Cracker Gruel.—Scald a cup of milk and add half a soda cracker rolled and sifted. Cook five minutes in a double boiler. Season with a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt.

Oatmeal Gruel.—This is a gruel that is cheap and very nutritious. Add a half cup of oatmeal and a teaspoonful of salt to three cups of boiling water and cook three hours in a double boiler. Force through a strainer and dilute with milk or cream; re-heat and strain a second time.

Barley Gruel.—Mix three teaspoonfuls of barley flour with cold water to form a thin paste. Add a cup of boiling water and boil 15 minutes; then add half a cup of milk, a fourth of a teaspoon of salt, reheat and strain.

Indian Gruel.—Mix two tablespoonfuls of corn meal, a tablespoon of flour and half a teaspoon of salt together; add cold water to make a thin paste. Add gradually to three cups of boiling water and cook gently one hour. Dilute with milk or cream. A richer gruel may be made by using milk instead of water and cooking three hours in a double boiler.

Down With 'Em. Young Lord Fairfax, in a brilliant after-dinner speech at the club house in Turkoed, praised women.

"Down with the misogynist," said Lord Fairfax. "Down with the cynical type of male brute who says with the Cornish fisherman:

A Generous Gift. Professor Munyon has just issued a most beautiful, useful and complete almanac. It contains not only all the scientific information concerning the moon's phases, in all the latitudes, but has illustrated articles on how to read character by phrenology, palmistry and birth month. It also tells all about card reading, birth stones and their meaning, and gives the interpretation of dreams. It teaches beauty culture, manicuring, gives weights and measures and antidotes for poison. In fact, it is a Magazine Almanac, that not only gives valuable information, but will afford much amusement for every member of the family, especially for parties and evening entertainments. Farmers and people in the rural districts will find this Almanac almost invaluable.

It will be sent to anyone absolutely free on application to the Munyon Remedy Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

DISCOURAGEMENT is the biggest mortgage a person can carry. —John Bower.

It is easy enough to be pleasant when life goes by like a song. But the one worth while is the one with a smile when everything goes dead wrong.

Discouragement. There are women all over this broad land who are growing old and stooped with the burden of discouragement. Convictions are never so bad that they could not be worse, and we can always find those who are not as comfortable as we are and are also carrying the same load of discouragement.

We cannot expect the boys and girls to be self-reliant, to cultivate self-restraint and stick-to-itiveness and grit when they see the mother and father sit down and give up.

There are hard places in all lives, disappointments, reverses and discouragements are bound to come some time or other in all lives, so that it is necessary that in early youth the right value of things should be taught.

The boy or girl who learns to appreciate the processes of nature that are every day going on under the eye, to enjoy the beauty of a sunrise or a sunset, to see God in everything, has a power that no amount of book learning could ever give.

Far too many of both men and women have an idea that to be rich in the possession of money is the chief aim of life.

Money is truly a necessity and one that we cannot do without; but the riches of a well-stored mind cannot be compared to a full purse.

Discouragement and worry often are the result of tired, over-worked nerves. Get out into the open air, take a brisk walk, call on a less fortunate neighbor, forget self and unpleasant thoughts will fly away.

If we could remember that we live but a moment at a time and that often the bridges of discouragement and failure are but mirages that fade away as we approach, life could be much fuller and sweeter.

Is an Expensive Affair. The child welfare exhibit in New York, which will be open for a month, will give every possible information in regard to the home and the child. The cost of putting in the temporary structures in which the exhibits are shown was $15,000, and besides this the sum of $60,000 has been raised to carry on the exhibition. Many of the prominent men and women in New York are interested in the work, and have contributed liberally toward it. One of the largest contributors was Mrs. Russell Sage.

FRENCH BEAN COFFEE, 1 CENT A POUND

It will grow in your own garden. Ripening here in Wisconsin in 90 days. Splendid health coffee and excellent to grow about one cent a pound. A great rarity; a healthful drink. Send us today 15 cents in stamps and we will mail you package above coffee seed with full directions and our mammoth seed and plant catalog free. Or send us 31 cents and we add 10 packages elegant flower and unsurpassable vegetable seeds, sufficient to grow bushels of vegetables and flowers. Or make your remittance 40 cents and we add to all of above 10 packages of wonderful farm seed packages and novelties. John A. Salzer Seed Co., 182 S. 8th St., La Crosse, Wis.

The Point of View. This is a true story. A certain belle was present at a certain Chopin recital. During the "March Funebre," her eyes glistened and her whole attitude of rapt attention was as if the music had entranced her very soul. Her whole face was expressive of admiration and intense interest. When the pianist had finished, the escort of Miss "Belle" turned to her and said: "How beautiful!" To which she replied: "Yes, indeed; doesn't it fit her exquisitely in the back? How much do you suppose it cost in Paris?"

Big Assets

Four hundred thousand people take a CASCARET every night—and rise up in the morning and call them blessed. If you don't belong to this great crowd of CASCARET takers you are missing the greatest asset of your life.

CASCARET is a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest asset in the world. Million boxes a month.

44 Bu. to the Acre

In a heavy yield, but that's what John Kennedy of Edmonton, Alberta, Western Canada, got from 44 bushels of Spring Wheat in 1910. Reports from other growers in that province from other crops show other excellent results—such as 100 bushels of wheat from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of corn from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of soybeans from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of alfalfa from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of timothy from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of red clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of white clover from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of lucerne from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of vetch from 120 acres, or 100 bushels of sainfoin from

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

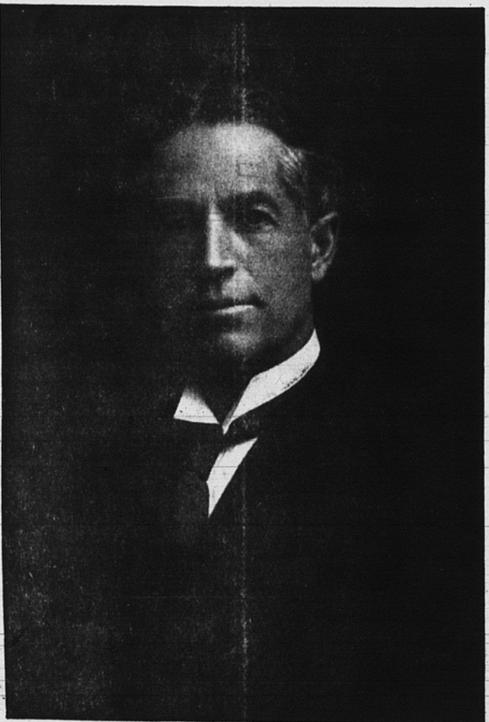

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.

ARTHUR BROWN

The Democratic County Committee makes the following strong argument in support of its candidate for Circuit Judge:

Mr. Arthur Brown, Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge, was born in York township, this county, forty seven years ago. A poor boy, by his own exertions, he secured an education in the common schools and Law Department of the University of Michigan. He was County Clerk from 1891 to 1895, during which time he graduated from the Law Department of the University and was admitted to practice in this county.

He has been a successful lawyer, a successful business man and possesses in an eminent degree those qualifications of knowledge, independence and integrity necessary to make a successful judge.

Mr. Brown is a firm believer in the old fashioned virtue of economy. In almost every campaign of recent years he has arraigned the State administration for its extravagance in State affairs, in much the same manner that the present Governor is now doing. Not only has he preached economy in the administration of public affairs but he has practiced it. In 1903 he was nominated by his party for Mayor of the city of Ann Arbor. The city was heavily in debt, its officers and laborers had not been paid for some months and default had been made by the city in the payment of interest upon its bonds. In that campaign it was claimed by the opponents of Mr. Brown that the only solution of the problem was to issue and sell city bonds to the amount of $40,000 in order to pay the deficit.

Mr. Brown said "No, elect me to the office of Mayor and I will pay the city's indebtedness in two years." He was taken at his word and elected, and not only made good but at the expiration of his term of office left $23,000 in the city treasury, notwithstanding the fact that the city raised more money in taxes during his term of two years than it had raised the previous two years or for any like period since.

Mr. Brown now says that if he is elected that he can save to the tax payers of this county $3000 and upwards per year in the cost of maintaining the Circuit Court.

We respectfully ask the voters and tax payers for their support, confidently believing that if they will elect Mr. Brown Circuit Judge that he can and will again make good.

By order of the Committee,
ROSS GRANAGER, Chairman,
E. J. ABBOTT, Secretary.

BREVITIES

HOWELL—A United States recruiting station has been established in Howell.

UNADILLA—James Barton has sold his farm and is making arrangements to move away from here.

CLINTON—Mr. and Mrs. Ira Van-Gieson left Monday afternoon of last week to look over their new farm he purchased recently near Stockbridge.

BRIDGEWATER—Frank Rawson and family, who have been residing in Clinton, have returned to the farm in this township which they vacated when they moved to Clinton.

ANN ARBOR—Mrs. Margaret Hartchens of this city is dead after a two months' illness from heart disease. Exactly 32 years ago, even to the very hour, Mrs. Hartchens' husband died. Mrs. Hartchens was 72 years old.

GRASS LAKE—A little daughter, the ninth by the way, has just appeared in the family circle of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lehman of Grass Lake. The eldest daughter, a miss of about sixteen years, was married recently to Clyde Dowling of Jackson.

MANCHESTER—A double yolked egg is not an uncommon thing, but Mrs. Geo. Wurster was surprised, a few days ago, upon breaking a medium sized egg, to find it had three yolks. This is a record breaker and Mrs. Wurster declares she has the best hens in the country.

ANN ARBOR—Proceedings for divorce were begun Monday by Mrs. Margaret Carson against William Carson of Ypsilanti. She alleges gross neglect. Judge Kinne granted an injunction restraining Carson from molesting her or her three children. The couple were married in 1900.

BRIDGEWATER—The Brighton post-office was entered by yeggmen for the third time in 15 months last Thursday night and the safe was blown with nitro-glycerin, but owing to the fact that two lessons had taught the postmaster not to leave any money or stamps in the strong-box over night the men got nothing for their pains. As usual, there is no clue to the identity of the yeggs.

YPSILANTI—Incorporation papers of the Ypsilanti Indian Shoe company were received Monday at the county clerk's office from the office of the secretary of state at Lansing. The company, which is incorporated for $10,000, is to manufacture and sell shoes and leather novelties. The incorporators, all of whom live in Ypsilanti, hold 150 shares of stock each, $5,500 of the $10,000 having been paid up.

GRASS LAKE—Oscar Pease, one of the oldest residents of Grass Lake, died at his home here Sunday. He was 81 years old. Mr. Pease was one of the first white children born in this township. His parents settled here in 1829, when the territory was a dense wilderness. Mr. Pease for many years lived on the family homestead near here. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and one of the oldest members of the Methodist church.

ANN ARBOR—Washtenaw county had a hand in exposing the alleged Alaska land frauds which resulted in seven indictments being returned Monday by the federal grand jury in Detroit. Six of the 24 jurors were from this county. Four were from Ann Arbor, one from Ypsilanti and one from York township. Deputy Sheriff Leo Kennedy, John Foster, Judge Watkins and William Clark were the ones from this city. Dr. McLaughlan of York and Frank Stoll of Ypsilanti.

ANN ARBOR—Dr. C. S. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational church, in this city, announced from the pulpit Sunday that he had decided to accept a call to the First Congregational church at Columbus, Ohio. This is the church presided over for years by Rev. Washington Gladden, who is soon to retire. Dr. Patton received a call to the same church three years ago. He will go to Columbus next week to arrange for taking up the work there. He expects, however, to remain in Ann Arbor until the last of May.

PLYMOUTH—And still the merchants are swindled by the check game. A farm hand working for W. J. Colwell, west of town, came into D. A. Jolliffe & Son's store a day or two ago to make a trivial purchase. He claimed that he had quit Colwell's employ and that the latter had given him a check for $18 in settlement for wages. The story looked plausible enough and the young man was given the difference in cash. After the fellow had gone, Mr. Jolliffe thought it wise to call up Mr. Colwell over the telephone only to learn that he had not given the check, which it is said looked as if made and endorsed by the same hand. A hurried search around the village didn't bring anything tangible as to the young man's "whereabouts" or "whereabouts," mail.

ANN ARBOR—Judge Kinne Monday ordered discharged a mortgage given in 1840 by Aaron Goodrich to D. D. Wallace on lot two, section 10, Saline. The present petitioners were Charles Guthard and Henry Schroen.

ANN ARBOR—Judge Kinne Monday reserved his decision in the special appeal of Judson Richardson of Manchester, who is complaining because of an alleged illegal attachment levied by Deputy Sheriff George Dietle.

Card of Thanks.

To my friends throughout this county: I beg to send forth to each and all of you, my most earnest thanks and gratitude for the unstinted support and loyalty shown by you to me at the primary election, March 1. I have only the kindest considerations for those who gave their support to my rival candidates. I seriously regret their disappointments. I am sure that they acted conscientiously and I trust that their opposition may serve to instruct and guard me against errors in the future.

Knowing that my campaign was clean and honorable, I trust, that on Monday, the third day of April next, my nomination will be approved and confirmed by the good people of this county to whose supreme arbitrament I now confidently commit my cause.

Forced To Leave Home.

Every year a largenumber of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Olanaline, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, laryngitis, asthma, croup—all throat and lung troubles. 50c.—all Trial bottle free at L. P. Vogel, H. H. Penn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co.

Sylvan Theatre.
The Sylvan Theatre will be open the week of the 20th, as on Monday night, March 20, the Hunt Stock Co., the old time favorites, will open a week's engagement. Mr. Hunt and his wife, Miss Fitzgibbon, have surrounded themselves with a strong supporting company, among them being several of the best favorites. Chelsea will be presented and high class vaudeville will be given between acts. Special scenery for each production is carried by Mr. Hunt, and patrons of the Sylvan can rest assured that the old standard set by this company in past years will be maintained.

GOOD WORK

Done Daily in Chelsea, Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Chelsea still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Martin Howe, South St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with beneficial results and consequently I am in a position to recommend them. I had a dull, heavy ache in my back and there were acute pains through my kidneys. The kidney secretions also passed irregularly and caused me much annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills soon relieved the pain and lameness and helped me in every way. Our experience with this remedy has convinced us of its merit."

Village Election.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the village of Chelsea, state of Michigan, that the next ensuing annual election will be held at the Town Hall, main floor, within said village, on Monday, March 13, 1911, at which election the following officers are to be chosen, viz:

One Village President, one Village Clerk, one Village Treasurer, three Trustees for two years, one Assessor.

In accordance with the Constitution of the state of Michigan and Act 200, Public Acts of 1909, should there be any proposition or propositions to vote upon at said election involving the direct expenditure of public money, or the issue of bonds, every woman who possesses the qualifications of male electors and owns property assessed for taxes or owns property subject to taxation jointly with her husband, or with any other person, or who owns property on contract and pays taxes thereon, all such property being located somewhere within the district or territory to be affected by the result of said election, will be entitled to vote upon such propositions, provided such person has had her name duly registered in accordance with the provisions of said Act.

The polls of said election will be open at 7 o'clock a. m. and will remain open until 6 o'clock p. m. of said day of election.

Dated this 25th day of February, A. D. 1911.

W. H. HESELSCHWERDT,
Clerk of said Village.

Registration Notice.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the village of Chelsea, state of Michigan, that a meeting of the Board of Registration of said village will be held in the west room of the Town Hall, within said village, on Saturday, March 11th, 1911, for the purpose of registering the names of all such persons who shall be possessed of the necessary qualifications of electors who may apply for that purpose.

WOMEN ELECTORS.

In accordance with Section 4 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the state of Michigan and Act 200, of the Public Acts of 1909, the Board of Registration of said village will register the names of all women possessing the qualifications of male electors who make personal application for such registration; provided that all applicants must own property assessed for taxes somewhere within the village above named, except that any woman otherwise qualified who owns property within said village jointly with her husband or other person, or who owns property within said village on contract and pays the taxes thereon, shall be entitled to registration.

Following are the qualifications of male electors in the state of Michigan:

Every male inhabitant of this state, being a citizen of the United States; every male inhabitant residing in this state on the twenty-fourth day of June, eighteen hundred thirty-five; every male inhabitant residing in this state on the first day of January, eighteen hundred fifty; every male inhabitant of foreign birth who, having resided in this state two years and six months prior to the eight day of November, eighteen hundred ninety-four; and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States two years and six months prior to said last named day; and every civilized male inhabitant of Indian descent, a native of the United States be an elector and entitled to vote; but no one shall be an elector or entitled to vote at an election unless he shall be above the age of twenty-one years, and has resided in this state six months and in the township or ward in which he offers to vote twenty days next preceding such election.

Said Board of Registration will be in session on the day and at the place aforesaid from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 6 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose aforesaid.

Dated this 25th day of February, A. D. 1911.

W. H. HESELSCHWERDT,
Village Clerk.

A meat market, above all places, should be clean and sanitary. When the meat comes on the table you like to know it comes from such a market. It doesn't cost much to be clean—just some water, a little soap and an hour's work now and then. We pride ourselves on cleanliness. Order today from a clean market. The choicest meats.
