Waterman's and Sterling Fountain Pens, Sterling Silver Spoons, Silver Novelties, Cut Glass, Gold Clocks, Box Stationery, Perfumes, Chelsea Pen-nants, etc.

Grocery Department.

Fresh and fragrant, choice and Japan's are the TEAS we offer you.

If you have a particularly fastidious tea taste we wish you would try our Tea. You can't help but like it.

It is selected from fresh, tender young leaves carefully prepared.

We make a specialty of Tea and Coffee. We always have our eyes open for the best.

You don't need to know anything about Tea to tell the quality of ours.

YOU CAN HAVE BETTER COFFEE

Rich, appetizing need cost no more than the watery, tasteless kind.

Listen! Wouldn't you rather pay, say 25c for a good, strong coffee than 20c for a poor, weak one? Wouldn't it be better economy? Of course it would. Think how much longer the better coffee will last.

ROYAL VALLEY COFFEES

are unusually strong; and they make richer-flavored coffee because they have more of the rich coffee-oil.

Coffee without that bitter taste—without that burnt flavor—without that muddy color; richer, stronger, better coffee will be yours when you use Royal Valley NERO at 25c, or MARIGOLD at 30c, or TZAR at 35c per pound.

The Paving Question.

Monday evening a meeting of property owners was held in the town hall in connection with the common council to discuss the proposition of having the streets in the business section of Chelsea paved.

The meeting was called to order by President Staffan, who presented some of the facts before the assembly that he had gathered in other places in regard to the cost of paving. "He said that he, together with some of the village council, had been to Ann Arbor where they have tried concrete pavement for the last two years, and had looked over the books and found what it would cost to pave. The pavement as it is laid in Ann Arbor consists of a six-inch foundation of grout, which is not tamped, but put in very wet, next there is a course of one and one-half inches of eight to one of cement and gravel, the finishing coat is one and one-half inches of two to one cement and gravel, with a tar top dressing."

The proposed streets to be paved here extend on Main street from the north lot line of the McKune home-stand to the Michigan Central railroad, east on Middle street to the Congregational church property, west on the same street to the blacksmith shop of Hirth & Wheeler, and on Park street to Martin's livery barn making a total of about 8,000 yards which is estimated will cost about 85 cents per yard, exclusive of the excavating, which would cost about $500.

The proposition is for the adjoining property owners to pay two-thirds of the cost and the village the remainder and also to pay for paving the street intersections.

The question of sewerage was discussed, and some of the citizens present were of the opinion that a sewer system should be adopted before the paving was done. It was finally decided by a vote of 48 to 26 to have the paving question settled at a special election to be called by the common council.

The question of hitching posts on the main thoroughfares received some discussion and the matter of gravel was given considerable attention.

Residence Badly Damaged.

The fire department was called to the house owned by Emory Chipman on the corner of Harrison and Madison streets by a fire about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The residence was occupied by Lester VanFleet and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Melvin A. Drew, who resides with him, was preparing the evening meal at the time the fire broke out. Mrs. Drew lighted the generator of the gasoline stove and the flames from it set the wall paper on fire, she made an effort to put out the fire but was not able to do so. A fire alarm was turned in and as the workmen from the factory were on their way home a crowd soon gathered at the scene of the conflagration. Most of the household goods of Mr. VanFleet were saved but in a damaged condition. Mr. VanFleet had no insurance and for the present he has decided to place his goods in storage.

The pantry where the fire started was badly burned and in order to get at the flames in the ceiling and partitions the firemen had to chop a number of holes. The building is considerably damaged both by fire and water, and the fire department did well to save what they did. Mr. Chipman had an insurance of $600 on the building.

Poock-Schoen Wedding.

At the home of the brother of the bride, Oscar Poock, of 22 Quitman street, Dayton, Ohio, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, June 15, 1911, occurred the marriage of Miss Bertha C. Poock, of Dayton, Ohio, and Rev. Albert A. Schoen, of Chelsea, Rev. Frederick Meusch performing the ceremony.

Rev. Schoen has been pastor of St. Paul's church Chelsea for the last ten years. The congregation and friends extend their congratulations to both the bride and groom.

They will be at home in Chelsea, June 22, to their friends.

Michigan Synod Elects.

The present officers of the Michigan district of the German Evangelical Lutheran synod of North America were re-elected Saturday at the annual conference held at Michigan City. They are: Rev. Paul Irion, Michigan City, Ind., president; Rev. S. Spathef, St. Joseph, Mich., vice president; Rev. G. Eisen, Freedom, Mich., secretary.

Lafayette, Ind., was chosen for the conference of 1912. The twenty-fifth anniversary of the district was celebrated Sunday morning with church services.

Ash Heap a Gold Mine.

Tuesday afternoon the children in the south part of the town dug over one hundred dollars in gold and silver coins from cinders and ashes drawn on the vacant lot of George Kantlehner on Congdon street.

Tuesday afternoon when the hour arrived for the St. Mary's school to assemble the scholars failed to materialize and when the Sisters, fearing the kids had organized a sneak day all their own, secured the assistance of Father Considine and organized a search party, they located the absentees on the vacant lot of George Kantlehner, corner of Lincoln and Congdon streets, where they were making the gold and silver camps of Nipissing and the Klondyke look like thirty cents, figured on the production by the ton.

It seems that when Margaret Dunn went home to dinner she cut across the Kantlehner lot and saw a twenty dollar gold piece in the cinders, and about the same time John Hieber, in making a like saving of time, kicked up a piece of dirt that assayed one silver dollar to the foot. John Lyons also took in the find, but as Mr. Lyons had to tend to the barber shop and Mr. Hieber having engagements more serious than mining for gold they failed to stake claims. Miss Dunn however neglected the more serious affairs of life and notwithstanding the fact her father is local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, did not organize a trust but seems to have let not only the whole school, but also neighboring families in on the rich pickings to be found in the Kantlehner field, so that when the Sisters started on their search all that could be seen was a big cloud of dust going up from the mining region south of the school, where with every known implement from a teaspoon to a garden rake the kids were screening the ashes. When the fog settled a little it was easy to make the deduction that not only was the school deserted but that family ironings were also being neglected.

The pieces found were all gold or silver and ran all the way from the double eagles to dimes, and the various individual mining associations cleaned up all the way from $31.00 to ten cents. The aggregate taken out running in the neighborhood of two hundred dollars.

Inasmuch as Mr. Kantlehner absolutely denies burying the money in the ashes for the purpose of getting the kids to level off his lot, just how the money got there is a mystery. Some people think that perhaps the money came from ashes from the Dr. Holmes house on Main street, Jacob Hummel having drawn a load of ashes from there and dumped it on this lot recently, but as Mr. Hummel is a member of the Village Board it seems scarcely creditable that an amount of this size should pass through his hands without his being able to discover at least part of it. Certainly it is a cache of recent years where ever first planted as some of the coins are dated as late as 1882, and inasmuch as the drainage system of the entire village is being interfered with, by people burying so much money in their back yards that the rain fall does not run off as expeditiously as it should, the Common Council at its next meeting will probably pass an ordinance making this continual planting of money a misdemeanor.

Found in Cistern.

After being missed from her home, near Saline, for two weeks, the body of Mrs. Godfrey Dieterle, aged 70, was found in the cistern at her old home in Lodi Wednesday.

It is believed that she drowned herself in a fit of despondency, for only a few days before, it is said, she had been heard to declare that she was sick of life. She had resided, since the death of her husband, with her daughter, Mrs. Andre Girbach. One of the neighbors on the Dieterle homestead happened to look into the cistern and saw the body.

Coroner Johnson, however, will conduct an investigation, with the hope of clearing away any suspicion of foul play.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1900 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from violent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co.

Another Conflagration.

Saturday morning was the scene of another disastrous conflagration at Cavanaugh Lake. The fire started in the cottage of A. E. Winans.

George Smith and Ray Cook were at the cottage for a few days and Saturday morning they lighted the gasoline stove to get their breakfast, and it is not known just exactly how the blaze started, it is supposed to have caught from the stove.

The flames consumed the cottage of A. E. Winans, the barn and ice house on his lot. Dr. A. Gulde lost his cottage which he recently purchased of Frank Leach. The cottage and barn owned by Thomas Fletcher were badly damaged by the flames. A number of fine shade trees on the three lots were entirely ruined.

The loss of A. E. Winans, was about $1,200 and insured for $700. Dr. Gulde's loss is about the same and was covered with a small insurance.

A portion of the contents of both cottages were saved by those who gathered at the scene to assist in fighting the fire.

Mr. Winans has made arrangements to rebuild as soon as possible.

A Sudden Death.

Word was received here Tuesday morning announcing the death of Dr. Aaron B. Avery, one of the most prominent physicians of Pontiac, who dropped dead when attempting to arise from his bed at his home Monday forenoon.

Dr. Avery had been in his usual good health until Monday morning when he complained of feeling ill. He went down town and was in a barber chair when he began to feel faint. He managed to reach his office and his daughter was called by his partner. He was taken to his home and was able to undress and go to bed. A short time afterwards he said he was feeling better and attempted to arise. He fell back dead.

Dr. Avery was born in Lyndon and was 58 years of age. He was a member of the first class that graduated from the Chelsea high school, Hon. James S. Gorman of this place being one of his classmates and graduated at the same time. Dr. H. H. Avery of this place is a cousin of the deceased. He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Mrs. Mary Feldkamp, of Freedom, was pleasantly surprised last Saturday, when her sister, Mrs. Fredericka Wiemeslage, of Norwood, Illinois, whom she had not seen for forty-five years, came to visit her. Sunday Mrs. Katherine Davider, of Manchester, another sister, came and the three sisters enjoyed themselves in talking of ye olden times. Mrs. Wiemeslage was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Miller, of Jefferson Park, Illinois.

NEEDLEWORK

LINEN is perhaps more used than any other material when embroidery is to be done for art, household purposes and wearing apparel.

Much as we use linen nowadays, for our table, our beds and our bodies, it is not a new medium for embroidery. It is ages old, as for centuries linen embroidery has been a domestic industry in foreign lands.

This old work is now being copied widely and the special work belonging to different lands is easily recognized. Thus the old Spanish, Italian and Greek embroidery on the linen was chiefly done in one color—a purple red. A great variety of colors mixed with gold and silver thread is characteristic of Oriental work.

A similar richness of coloring, but generally without the gold and silver touches, marks the Hungarian, Slav, and Swedish peasant work. Old blue and yellow are the predominating tones.

Much of the Italian embroidery of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries was done on very fine linen sometimes in colors, but more often in white, with intricate stitching and much cut and openwork. The modern girl, however, rarely has patience for this exquisite stitching of the olden times. Her work is more splashy and less beautiful.

For this reason the quality of the linen used today are changed, the threads being round and coarser, so they can easily be counted to make easier the copying of the design. The old embroideries, especially the Italian ones, were done on very fine linen. In choosing a linen to embroider it should be hand-bleached, and without much dressing. The threads should be round, especially if any drawn-work is to be combined with the embroidery. There are special art linens for fancy work which are quite distinct from the linens used for sheets and pillow cases.

Unless you are sure you can detect cotton threads and imperfect weaving, it is well to leave the selection of your linen for an elaborate piece of embroidery to a saleswoman in the art needlework department. She will gladly advise you the best grade for your special purposes.

Linen embroidery may be classed under two heads—that where threads are counted, for the material according to a pattern done on checked paper, as in all cross-stitch work. Slav embroideries and various kind of canvas work; the other where the pattern is drawn on the material and the embroidery worked without regard to the threads of the material, as in English embroidery, satin stitch, Kensington, Chinese and Madeira embroideries.

No linen embroidery covers the entire ground of the material, but leaves spaces of the linen for a background to the design.

There are interesting imported linens to be found in most establishments that are adapted to both kinds of linen embroidery. Besides the Irish linen there are Spanish, Silesian and Algerian linens for small stitches and fine work, while the coarser linens of Cuba, Ceylon and Batavia are used for bolder effects and coarser stitching, and Russian linens and the different kinds of canvas gives stitches of any desired size.

Most of these can be found in white cream and ecru, and many of the so-called art linens come in varied tones of any given shade.

Though the old-time embroideries were rarely done on cotton goods we think nothing of putting handsome stitchery on cotton materials sheer and opaque. It is better, however, to make such embroidery sketchy, as the material is not worth fine work.

Unfrayed Scallops. Some housekeepers object to the buttonhole scallop on embroidery, because it frays in washing. This can be overcome in several ways. The surest is to buttonhole a second time over the purled edge, when the scallop has been worked and cut out.

Another method is to run the outline of the scallop with machine stitching before buttonholing. Or in cutting leave a narrow margin and turn back under the scallop and hem to the material.

If these are too much trouble, at least wash the linen before cutting out. The material shrinks and is much less likely to fray. Where the entire piece is not washed, the embroidered edge can be dipped in lukewarm water for a few minutes, then ironed dry and later cut out close to the purled edge.

New Trimming Features. Masses of foliage in the color of the hat, piled over the crown.

Buckles, carbochons and other ornaments made of lace Tuscan and studded with corals or turquoise.

Butterflies and fans formed by wide, pleated satin ribbon.

Heavy cord-shirred effects in ribbon garnitures of all kinds.

Fancy brim facings of layers of various colored net or chiffon.

Wide, flat ostrich trimming bands overlaid with roses.

Handsome brim bands of braid, jeweled or jet embroidered.

IN VOGUE

White for all occasions is to be worn this spring and summer.

All kinds of laces are in use—heavy ones and the daintiest and finest.

Poke bonnets are again in favor and the severe jockey cap is a novelty.

High, small turbans are trimmed with cabochons of garden flowers on the side.

Shorter sleeves are looked for in the models that are to be worn in the coming summer.

Higher and higher mount the toques, higher and higher soar the feathery adornments.

There is a combination of French knots and colored beads seen on the new wists that is attractive.

As for embroidery, French knots are distinctly the thing, whole patterns being worked out in them.

Dainty Costumes

THE dainty frock at the left is of white voile made up over pink taffeta. It is in empire style, shirred at the top and again at the bottom, where it is finished with a ruffle edged with tulle lace. It is trimmed with folds of the pink taffeta and Irish lace insertion.

The one on the largest girl is of white pique. The skirt is embroidered with a wide band of English embroidery and with tulle which is considered with dots. The jacket is trimmed in the same way and ornamented with pearl buttons. The collar is of English embroidery bordered with the dotted bands.

The charming little coat is of light blue alpaca. One side of the front is turned back to form a large revers and the coat is trimmed in front and back with straps of the material fastened with gold buttons. The collar and cuffs are of guipure finished, to look their best, with little plaques of fine lace.

TO CARE FOR THE HOMELESS CHILD

New State Law Promises to Be More Efficient.

AGENTS' REPORTS REQUIRED

Secretary Murray Expects to Work Out a System by Which Officers Will Keep in Touch With the Friendless Ones.

Lansing—Under new laws the state's supervision over neglected, homeless and dependent children promises to be much more efficient and Secretary M. T. Murray of the state board of corrections and charities expects ultimately to work out a system by which state officers will keep in touch with every one of these friendless little ones until their future is definitely arranged.

The new laws require reports from county agents and probation officers relative to all cases coming under their jurisdiction, and it is made mandatory that institutions placing out children, first secure the approval of county agents of the proposed home, and the agents must make reports to the board relative to the treatment of the children.

Under another law the day of placing minors in county jails is at an end. As, revised by the legislature, counties are prohibited from using lockups as detention places for children, and must provide families to take charge of the minors, or provide a detention building especially for them. As the statute makes it a misdemeanor for any person to violate the act, it is not believed that any municipal or county official will take a chance on disobeying its terms.

Reports coming in indicate that the vigorous campaign which Secretary Murray has waged during the past year against decrepit, insanitary and crowded almshouses, is having effect. Two trips to most of the counties of the state were made by the secretary during the year in prodding county officials to remedy conditions at their county infirmaries, many of which were buildings of a character hardly fit for stables, to say nothing of their use as homes for aged and infirm persons. Not all counties are included in the category, of course, but many are. Since then, however, Secretary Murray has received notice of the erection of new infirmaries in three counties and plans for improvements and additions at several others.

Port Huron City to Be Military Camp. General orders issued from the adjutant general's department say that every branch in the state's military service must report at the annual encampment at Port Huron August 9 to 18. This includes the infantry brigade, the First cavalry, battery A, signal corps, hospital corps and engineers' company.

This will be the first time in several years that all arms of the service have been assembled at the same time at one camp. Section 4 of the orders reads:

"The commanding officer, First brigade, will report there with his staff at sunrise, August 8, and will assume command of the camp. He is authorized to extend his jurisdiction for one mile around same during this period in accordance with section 21, M. L., and will issue all necessary orders and instructions and will be held responsible for the maintaining of good order and discipline at all times in camp and its surroundings including the city of Port Huron, in so far as the troops are concerned."

Railroad Board Sits in Alpena. The three members of the state railroad commission, C. L. Glasgow, G. W. Dickinson and Lawton W. Hemans, arrived at Alpena and are holding court in the city hall council chamber in the case of the Churchill Lumber company against the Detroit & Mackinac Railway company.

Several weeks ago the lumber company secured an injunction in the Alpena circuit court compelling the railroad to switch log trains to the local yards on a track next to the river, where the logs could be most easily unloaded for conveyance to the Churchill mill. The injunction was issued pending a final hearing in the case before the railroad commission. The railroad meanwhile applied to the supreme court for an order for the circuit judge to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not be issued, compelling him to release the railroad from the injunction. This order was denied.

All the head officials of the railroad and many prominent lumbermen are attending the hearing, which promises to continue several days as only one witness, President Kimball of the lumber company, was heard.

New Michigan Corporations. The following companies have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state: Grand Rapids Pearl Button company, Grand Rapids, $50,000; Fruit Belt Land corporation, Manistee, $25,000; Wagenhals Motor company, Detroit, $100,000; principal stockholders, William G. Wagenhals, E. P. Gray, James W. Ballentine, Judge Durand Cigar company, Detroit, $10,000; principal stockholder, Abraham Davis; Tabbella County Farmers' Grain company, Joist Pleasant, $20,000.

Meeting of State Pioneer Society. The thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Michigan State Pioneer and Historical society opened at Lansing with a large attendance. The reports of President C. M. Burton, Secretary H. R. Pattengill and Treasurer B. F. David were given. Memorial addresses to Theodore Potter, lately of this city, and Judge John C. Patterson of Milwaukee were delivered by Rev. William Putnam and Miss Nathan Judson of Lansing. A paper, "Aunt Emily Ward," was read by Mrs. George N. Jones of Marine City and special musical numbers were rendered.

A reunion of the Alumni association of the university of Michigan was held. President H. B. Hutchins of the university gave an address and former Gov. Fred M. Warner gave a memorial address to P. Dean Warner, his father, who was prominent in Michigan politics for many years. Other numbers of the program were addresses on "Michigan's Loss," by Joseph Grousel of Detroit, and on "Early Transportation, East and West," by Lew Allen Chase of the University of Michigan.

After the meeting a reception was held for Mrs. Caroline P. Campbell of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Elizabeth Horner Burling of Ripon, Wis., both of whom are members of the D. A. R. Mrs. Burling being the daughter of territorial Gov. John S. Horner of Michigan.

Food Chemist to Return to State. Floyd W. Robison, former state analyst in dairy and food department, who is now connected in a similar capacity with the federal service, will shortly return to Michigan and become director of the dairy and food department of the Detroit testing laboratory. Mr. Robison became prominent as a food chemist during his service for the state owing to his ability in proving adulterations in many foodstuffs which the manufacturers believed could not be detected. He also served as expert witness for the federal government in many of its most important adulteration cases and was generally considered an exceptionally efficient public servant in driving various adulterations out of the market.

He is well known throughout the state because of his activity in tracing spurious products, as well as his lectures before farmer organizations relative to matters of interest to them. It is not understood that he will sever entirely his connection with the federal service, but, will, in his work in Michigan endeavor to aid manufacturers to comply with the law rather than show them how they may evade the law.

W. C. T. U. Opens State Meeting. One hundred and fifty delegates from all over Michigan assembled at Potoskey to attend the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Michigan Women's Christian Temperance Union, the session convening with the president, Mrs. E. L. Calkins of Battle Creek, presiding. All the other officers at large are in attendance, including Mrs. Leona T. Field, Ann Arbor, vice-president-at-large; Mrs. Julia R. Parish, Bay City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Annie L. Andrus, Detroit, recording secretary, and Mrs. Stella B. Roben, Big Rapids, treasurer.

Following the opening service came the roll call by the secretary, showing 167 members have died during the year. Committees were appointed as follows: Finance, Mrs. Stella A. Brown, Big Rapids, and Mrs. D. G. Porter, Potoskey; credentials, Mrs. Annie L. Andrus, Detroit, and Mrs. Ella F. Linn, Algonac; courtesies, Mrs. Leona T. Field, Ann Arbor, and Mrs. D. C. Osborn, Potoskey. The department superintendents made reports on various matters.

Bankers to Attend State Meeting. The Michigan Bankers' association convention in Detroit promises to be well attended with more than three hundred state bankers scheduled to arrive and many guardians of money from other states.

Robert W. Bonynge of Denver, a member of the monetary commission, will be one of the speakers. Among the outside bankers expected are: Ledyard Cogswell, president of the New York State bank, Albany, N. Y.; Charles D. Buckus, cashier of the First New York National; Louis G. Kaufman, president of the Chatham & Phoenix National, New York; formerly of Marquette; Lewis E. Pierpont, president of the Guaranty Trust Co., New York; and George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental & Commercial National bank, Chicago.

Flatly Contradict Sweet. Grand Rapids building contractors made flat contradictions of the remarks made by George P. Sweet, secretary of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers' association, which is named as a defendant in the government trust-busting proceedings in Chicago. Sweet declared that the merchants of the state did not combine to maintain high prices.

Go to Port Huron Next. At the annual state convention of the Michigan Bill Posters and Distributors' association, held at Kalamazoo, Port Huron was selected as the next meeting place, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, L. R. Bennett, Port Huron; vice-president, W. R. Solomon, Jackson; secretary, H. C. Walker, Detroit; treasurer, E. R. Smith, Battle Creek.

Several addresses were made by speakers from outside the state on subjects of interest to the bill posters.

DESTRUCTIVE PLUM CURCULIO ATTACKS CULTIVATED FRUITS

Insect Is Distributed Over Practically All of United States East of Rocky Mountains and Has Been Fully Designated as Most Injurious of All Insect Enemies of Orchardists in Every Section.

(By FRED E. BROOKS, West Virginia University Agricultural Experiment Station.)

The plum curculio is a snout beetle about one-fifth of an inch long. Its color is a mixture of black, brown and white, with the darker shades greatly predominating. On the back are several prominent humps which give the insect a roughened appearance and make it difficult to distinguish while on the tree from the bark or from a dry bud. It is armed with a curved snout one-third as long as the body.

The insect is a native of this country and is distributed over practically all the United States east of the Rocky mountains. Before orchards were planted within its range it undoubtedly fed and bred on wild plums, crab apples and hawthorns, but with the settlement of the country it turned its attention more to cultivated fruits, although it continues to breed on the wild, native varieties. It attacks plums, peaches, nectarines, apricots, cherries, apples, crab apples, pears, quinces and hawthorns, and has even been reported as breeding on persimmons. On account of the usual abundance of the insect and the great variety of valuable fruits which it attacks, there is little doubt but that it has been rightly designated as the most destructive of all the insect enemies of the orchardist in this section of the country.

It injures the fruit by puncturing holes through the skin with its snout both for the purpose of feeding and egg-laying. The feeding punctures may be made in apples at almost any time during the summer, but the egg punctures are made mostly while the apples are small. These wounds, and the subsequent feeding of the larvae which hatch from the eggs, cause the fruit to become dwarfed in size, lop-sided, knotty and otherwise misshapen.

The injuries done by the plum curculio are not so easily prevented as are those of some other insects, and yet there are a number of methods that can be used against them with a very satisfactory measure of success. In dealing with the insect on apples by far the most effective means of preventing loss is spraying with one of the arsenical poisons, such as paris green, or, preferably, arsenate of lead. Even where spraying is practiced, however, it is a good plan to use in connection with the operation some of the other measures suggested here, if the best possible results are to be obtained.

The apple curculio has been confused often with the plum curculio, but in reality it is quite distinct from that species in both appearance and habits. The apple curculio is more reddish-brown in color, the form is more robust and on the back are four prominent humps, the front two of which are much larger than any of the humps on the back of the plum curculio. The snout of the apple curculio is almost as long as the rest of the body, or three times the length of that of the other species. The snout is carried projecting forward, instead of hanging down like an elephant's trunk, as is the case with the plum curculio.

In attacking the fruit the apple curculio bores through the skin, in a manner similar to that of the other species, but after the puncture is completed and the egg laid, only an indistinct speck is left on the surface to mark the place of injury, whereas the plum curculio makes the conspicuous crescent-shaped mark. A glance at the insects or at their work is sufficient to enable anyone, who is at all well acquainted with the species, to distinguish between the two.

Where the apple curculio becomes troublesome care should be taken that no thickets of wild crab or hawthorn are allowed to remain as breeding places near the orchards. Such thickets may produce thousands of the beetles and when the wild fruit becomes insufficient for the great number of beetles they may seek places to feed and oviposit in cultivated orchards.

The jarring method, as recommended for the plum curculio, is effective when used against this species. Spraying with poisons is likely to be beneficial, but it is probable that not as many of the beetles will be killed by the operation, as in the case of the plum curculio, for the reason that in feeding they consume little of the exposed surface to which the poison is applied.

Milk-Fed Chickens. Milk-fed chicken, which is the finest meat in the poultry line, is allowed no exercise whatever. It is kept in a close coop, where it has barely room to turn around, and is never allowed to leave it except when it goes to the guillotine.

Incubator Chicks. It has been pretty well proven that an incubator chick, if it has been properly incubated and gets the right kind of food and treatment afterward, is just as thrifty as his forty-second cousin who was hatched and raised by a hen.

A trial package of Munyon's Paw Paw Pills will be sent free to anyone on request. Address Professor Munyon, 533 & Jefferson St., Philadelphia, Pa. If you are in need of medical advice, do not fail to write Professor Munyon. Your communication will be treated in strict confidence, and your case will be diagnosed as carefully as though you had a personal interview.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour, they do not gripe, they do not weaken, but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are 28 feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produce rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion or enjoy good health. I had my way I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physics.

Regular size bottle, containing 45 pills, 25 cents. Munyon's Laboratory, 533 & Jefferson St., Philadelphia.

Honor Pupils.

As one incentive for better attendance and to cut down the number of tardy cases, School Commissioner Evan Esery has given certificates of honor to pupils neither absent nor tardy for each term. More than 1,000 term certificates have been awarded this year.

Teachers say that better attendance and fewer tardy cases have resulted.

Pupils who were neither absent nor tardy for the term were given a diploma to that effect.

Extend Thanks.

To the friends of the Michigan Children's Home Society.

Dear Friends:

We are in receipt of the draft for $82.00 which was the gift of the people of Chelsea on Children's Home Day toward the fund for blind and crippled children in our care. The management of the Home are indeed grateful to all who contributed on that day and extend to you their sincere appreciation of your support and co-operation. To the Tag Day committee who worked so faithfully and strenuously we also wish to express our gratitude. Our expressions of appreciation are given in behalf of our dear little ones who we know would say "thank you."

Yours very sincerely,

The Michigan Children's Home Society.

Mrs. CORA LAMPING,
State Superintendent.

Princess Theatre.

The feature at the Princess Saturday night will be as usual a western drama, but this time without cowboys, as only Indians take part in the picture. "The Way of the Red Man" is a high class story of an Indian who goes to Carlisle college. "The Professor's Romance" a deliciously refined comedy, a story of an old college professor, who is left a young lady to take care of while her father is abroad. He wants to marry her, but he does not. "Bertie's Brainstorm" a tale of a dude who is much conceited but who loses all of it before the finish of the picture.

Miss Mary Spiraugle as usual will sing two illustrated ballads.

The Farmer and His Banker

Our bank never fails to give as good service to the farmer as it gives to any business man. As a matter of fact few banks could exist in this day and age of the world without the co-operation of the farmers. Often a farmer can make money by borrowing, and we are glad to advance money at any time. Do not hesitate to call on us when you want money. We welcome a responsible borrower quite as heartily as a substantial depositor. It will pay every farmer to carry a checking account with us. Our burglar proof safe, together with conservative management makes our bank an absolute safe place for your money. Deposit your savings and grow with a growing bank in a growing community. Why not come in and talk it over with us today? Accounts may be opened by mail and monies deposited or withdrawn in this way with equal facility. The rural route solves the problem. It is not necessary to come to town to do your banking. We make a specialty of serving the farmer.

UNCLE SAM'S LATEST SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPHS

THE PULMOTOR — THE NEW APPARATUS INTRODUCED BY UNCLE SAM FOR RE-STORING LIFE

UNCLE SAM has very good reason to plume himself because of a number of important recent achievements that most distinctly make for progress. Some of the triumphs have taken the form of new inventions for doing things that were virtually impossible of accomplishment heretofore and others, none the less valuable, have been in the line of discoveries of ways and means for doing things that have been done heretofore, but of doing them more easily, more quickly, more economically or more effectively than has heretofore been deemed possible.

The national government has been taking the lead in scientific, mechanical and engineering development to a constantly increasing extent in late years. For, of course, the reader will understand that in speaking of Uncle Sam's current triumphs in the field of invention and experiment, reference is made not to the federal government as represented by its own experts and employees. Now the national government has always been a contributor to the cause of science and invention, there being dual reasons for its activity in such direction. On the one hand the central government, with paternal instinct, has been bound to contribute in every way to the well-being of the whole people and as is well known such benefit is more often than not conferred through the instrumentality of scientific discoveries and inventions. Obviously then it is up to Uncle Sam to foster Yankee ingenuity by every possible means.

Yet the second incentive to federal activity in this broad field has been even more of a spur than the first. It arises from the fact that the national government is, to an extent but this does not prevent the magnet from doing stunts of great popular interest now and then.

When the magnet is charged with its full electric current of 125 amperes a piece of metal weighing hundreds of pounds might be suspended at the pole pieces and the leakage, that is the "stray magnetic field" way out at the ends of the magnet is sufficient to support in all sorts of positions wrenches and bars of iron weighing as much as five or six pounds apiece, whereas wire nails in series of half a dozen or more, end to end, are supported in horizontal position. One of the most amazing tricks performed by the magnet is to support a glass dish by means of a small piece of iron placed inside the dish, the power of magnetic attraction being exerted upon the iron through the thickness of the layer of glass. Another impressive illustration of the power of this monster magnet is afforded when a handful of nails are thrown in the air perhaps three or four feet away from the magnet. As though whisked in by an invisible hand and almost more quickly than the eye can follow the operation, these nails are one and all drawn to the highly magnetized surface.

This new magnet, a world's record breaker in size as well as in power, was constructed specially for the United States government by a firm of instrument makers in Switzerland. The circumstances connected with the designing of the magnet illustrate how great minds may run in the same direction. Mr. Frederick Bates, the United States government expert who is at the head of the division of polarimetry at the bureau of standards and working in conjunction with other government scientists, just worked out the detailed plans for such a magnet when he discovered that the foreign instrument makers who ultimately built this one for our government had been covering the same ground at the same time, each inventor unconscious of the activities of his rival on the opposite side of the Atlantic.

Perhaps the most unusual attribute of this magnet is that it is made available for continuous use, this being accomplished by replacing ordinary insulated wires such as are commonly used with copper tape. This copper tape is surrounded by insulating oil. Through this oil there are run coils of copper tubing about one-half inch in diameter and through this tubing cold water is circulated to carry off the enormous heat which is developed. In the same room with the new magnet is a yet newer invention—the product of government scientists—which promises great things. It is known as a vacuum gauge and it will enable more minute and more accurate measurement than has heretofore been possible in the case of a vacuum.

One of the most notable of Uncle Sam's scientific triumphs of the present year is the new system of multiplex telephony mentioned above and which by its disclosure of a method of transmitting a number of telephone messages simultaneously over the same wire is expected to greatly reduce the cost of long distance telephone conversation. In connection with the development of this new form of telephony which will make one wire do the work of ten, Major Squier and his associates have carried on some experiments which, though originally intended only as a means to an end, now promise to have a distinct value of their own in disclosing the possibilities of transmitting music by telephone.

The music of a phonograph or graphophone

air-tight connection between the human lungs and the mechanical lungs of the machine. It is said of this new invention that it will "make a corpse breathe," meaning that it will compel the diaphragm to move in a body in which life is wholly extinct. The new device costs $800, making it one of the world's most expensive pieces of rescue equipment, as it is certainly one of the most effective. Comparatively little experience is required for its successful operation.

Government officials have within the past few months invented several new machines for quickening and cheapening the manufacture of paper money and postage stamps and whereas these inventions may not find very extensive adoption outside the government workshops, they will exert an important influence there. Among these new inventions is a remarkable combination machine which at one operation stamps the successive serial number on each bank note, impresses in color the official seal, cuts the sheets of money into individual notes and counts the bills—tasks that formerly required as many different machines and an immense expenditure of time. Another new invention is a machine which automatically trims at one stroke all four edges of a sheet of bank notes. A third new invention is a machine for automatically wetting the sheets of paper used in printing our currency—a chore that had for-

was the particular form of melody transmitted and the results were really surprising in many respects. For one thing the music as heard at the other end of the line was remarkably clear and sweet. Indeed it was seemingly more perfect tone production than that obtainable under any other conditions inasmuch as the telephone served to entirely eliminate the "needle nose," the one suggestion of the mechanical which talking machine inventors have never been able to entirely eliminate. It is believed that this disclosure of the possibilities of transmitting music by phone will ultimately enable people to enjoy concerts by the best vocal and instrumental talent when seated in their own homes. This would, of course, prove an especial boon in the case of suburbanites and residents of the rural districts where the use of the telephone has increased so tremendously in recent years. In the experiments with multiplex telephony the graphophone music was employed to still further demonstrate the possibility of using a single wire for the transmission of various messages simultaneously, each independent of the others. For instance, on one occasion Caruso, by means of a "talker," sang on the line while "The Charge of the Light Brigade" (as recited into a separate transmitter close at hand) was carried over the same wire at the same time without in any way interfering with the famous tenor's voice.

Of Uncle Sam's recent innovations in technical equipment none bids fair to ultimately work greater wonders than the lately introduced Pulmotor. The Pulmotor is a delicately adjusted machine that occupied a portable case not much larger than the ordinary dress suit case, and its function is to bring back to life persons supposed to be dead. The government provided the first of these new miracle workers for the use of the newly established United States bureau of mines in its work of rescuing men overcome by the poisonous gases in coal mines, but the advent of the invention is opening up life-saving possibilities in other fields, as, for instance, at bathing beaches and in city hospitals—in short in any case where death is threatened through the filling of the lungs with gas or water.

The Pulmotor is, in effect, an automatic breathing machine, its function being to draw the poisonous gases out of the lungs and to force into the lungs in turn the life-giving oxygen. The mechanism includes a cylinder in which oxygen is stored under pressure, a blowing and suction valve actuated by two accordion bellows, and a hood or mask which fits over the mouth and nostrils of the patient, making an "Philosophers are not all dead yet," said the dentist. "I met one this morning who knocked me out of two hours' work on a day when I have nothing to do anyhow, and will make me work overtime tomorrow, when I shall be crowded with engagements. He was howling with a toothache. 'Better come around and have it attended to,' I said.

"Can't do it today," he said, "I'm too busy."

"But you can't work when you are crazy with the toothache?" I argued.

"Oh, yes I can," said he. "There are half a dozen other things I want done to me that hurt pretty bad, and if I have them done when my tooth is on the rampage they won't seem so bad, because one hurt will neutralize the other. I always take advantage of a toothache to dispatch those disagreeable jobs."

"Maybe not many people could stand that kind of philosophy, but apparently that man is going to get away with it."

It was during a hot spell and on the hottest night of the week that a South side teacher took a number of her little charges for a car ride. In the public square they piled out and were marched to the telegraph set up by a man who vends peeps at the heavenly bodies at so much per peep. The children were told that they might look at the moon, a little lecture accompanying the lesson that the moon was a cold body.

"It broke out at midnight in the Von Biffers' house on the avenue," he said, "and just as we got there, Miss Von Biffer came stumbling out of the flames and smoke carrying her little niece all wrapped up in her arms. It was the bravest act I ever saw."

"What was she wearing?" inquired the fireman's wife.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how untrue it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 6, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, was a young man of about thirty, who had been married for a year and a half. He was a well-to-do man, and his wife, Mrs. Wilson, was a very attractive woman. They had a young daughter, and were living in a comfortable home. Jimmy was a very kind and generous man, and his wife was a very devoted and loving woman. They were very happy together, and their life was a very pleasant one.

But one day, Jimmy was called away from home. He was called to a place where he had to stay for a long time. He was very sad to leave his wife and daughter, but he had to go. He was very busy when he was away, and he did not have time to write to his wife. He was very tired when he came home, and he was very happy to see his wife and daughter. But his wife was not happy to see him. She was very angry with him, and she was very sad. She was very disappointed in him, and she was very hurt. She was very angry with him, and she was very sad. She was very disappointed in him, and she was very hurt.

Jimmy was very sorry for what he had done, and he was very sorry for what he had said. He was very sorry for what he had done, and he was very sorry for what he had said. He was very sorry for what he had done, and he was very sorry for what he had said. He was very sorry for what he had done, and he was very sorry for what he had said.

CHAPTER XX.

Breaking Out in a New Place. Hunger roused everybody early the next morning, Friday. Lella Mercer had discovered a box of bonbons that she had forgotten, and was divided them around. Aunt Selina asked for the candied fruit and got it—quite a third of the box. We gathered in the lower hall and on the stairs and nibbled nauseating sweets while Mr. Harbison examined the telephone.

He did not glance in my direction. Betty and Dal were helping him, and he seemed very cheerful. Max sat with me on the stairs. Mr. Harbison had just unscrewed the telephone box from the wall and was squinting into it, when Bella came downstairs. It was her first appearance, but as she was always late, nobody noticed. When she stopped, just above us on the stairs, however, we looked up, and she was holding to the rail and trembling perceptibly.

"Mr. Harbison, will you—can you come upstairs?" she asked. Her voice was strained, almost reedy, and her lips were white.

Mr. Harbison stared up at her, with the telephone box in his hands.

"Why—er—certainly," he said, "but unless it's very important, I'd like to fix this talking machine. We want to make a food record."

"I'd like to break a food record," Max put in, but Bella created a diversion by sitting down suddenly on the stair just above us, and burying her face in her handkerchief.

"Jim is sick," she said, with a sob. "He—he doesn't want anything to eat, and his head aches. He—said for me—to go away and let him die!"

Dal dropped the hammer immediately, and Lolla Mercer sat petrified, with a bonbon half-way to her mouth. For, of course, it was unexpected, finding sentiment of any kind in Bella, and none of them knew about the scene in the den in the small hours of the morning.

"Sick!" Aunt Selina said, from a hall chair. "Sick! Where?"

"All over," Bella quavered. "His poor head is hot, and he's thirsty, but he doesn't want anything but water."

"Great Scott!" Dal said suddenly. "Suppose he should—Bella, are you telling us all his symptoms?"

Bella put down her handkerchief and got up. From her position on the stairs she looked down on us with something of her old haughty manner.

"If he is ill, you may blame yourselves, all of you," she said cruelly. "You taunted him with being—fat, and laughed at him, until he stopped eating the things he should eat. And he has been exercising on the roof, until he has worn himself out. And now—he is ill. He—has a rash."

Everybody jumped at that, and we instinctively moved away from Bella. She was quite cold and scornful by that time.

"A rash!" Max exclaimed. "What sort of rash?"

"I did not see it," Bella said with dignity, and turning she went up the stairs.

There was a great deal of excitement, and nobody except Mr. Harbison was willing to go near Jim.

He went up at once with Bella, while Max and Dal sat cravenly downstairs and wondered if we would all take it, and Anne told about a man she knew who had it, and was deaf and dumb and blind when he recovered.

Mr. Harbison came down after a while, and said that the rash was there, right enough, and that Jim absolutely refused to be quarantined; that he insisted that he always got a rash from early strawberries and that if he did have anything, since they were so touchy he hoped they would all get it. If they looked him in he would kick the door down.

When the doctor came he said it was too early to tell positively, and he ordered him liquid diet and said he would be back that evening.

Which—the diet—taken me back to the famine. After they had moved the Jim, Mr. Harbison went back to the telephone, and found everything as it should be. So he followed the telephone wire, and the rest followed him. I did not; He had systematically ignored me all morning, after having dared to kiss me the night before. And any other man I knew, after looking at me the way he had looked a dozen times, would have been at least reasonably glad to find me free and unmarried. But it was clear that he was not. I wondered if he was the kind of man who always makes love to the other man's wife and runs like mad when she is left a widow, or gets a divorce. And just when I had decided that I hated him, and that there was one man I knew who would never make love to a woman whom he thought married and then be very dignified and aloof when he found she wasn't, I heard what was wrong with the telephone wire.

It had been cut! Cut through with a pair of silver manicure scissors from the dressing table in Bella's room, where Aunt Selina slept! The wire had been clipped where it came into the house, just under a window, and the scissors still lay on the sill.

It was mysterious enough, but no one was interested in the mystery just then. We wanted food, and wanted it at once. Mr. Harbison fixed the wire, and the first thing we did, of course, was to order something to eat.

Aunt Selina went to bed just after luncheon with indigestion, to the relief of every one in the house. She had been most unpleasant all morning.

When she found herself ill, however, she insisted on having Bella, and that made trouble at once. We found Bella with her cheek against the door into Jim's room, looking mandolin while he shouted love messages to her from the other side.

At first she refused to stir, but after Anne and Max had tried and failed, the rest of us went to her in a body and implored her. We said Aunt Selina was in awful shape—which she was, as to temper—and that she had thrown a mustard plaster at Anne, which was true.

So Bella went, grumbling, and Jim was a maniac. We had not thought it would be so bad for Bella, but Aunt Selina fell asleep soon after she took charge, holding Bella's hand, and slept for three hours and never let go!

About two that afternoon the sun came out, and the rest of us went up to the roof.

I stayed on the roof after the others had gone, and for some time I thought I was alone. After a while, I got a whiff of smoke, and then I saw Mr. Harbison far over in the corner, one foot on the parapet, moodily smoking a pipe. He was gazing over the river, and paying no attention to me. This was natural, considering that I had hardly spoken to him all day.

I would not let him drive me away, so I sat still, and it grew darker and colder. He filled his pipe now and then, but he never looked in my direction. Finally, however, as it grew very dusk, he knocked the ashes out and came toward me.

"I am going to make a request, Miss McNeil," he said evenly. "Please keep off the roof after sunset. There are reasons. I had risen and was preparing to go downstairs."

"Unless I know the reasons, I refuse to do anything of the kind," I retorted. He bowed.

"Then the door will be kept locked," he rejoined, and opened it for me. He did not follow me, but stood watching until I was down, and I heard him close the roof door firmly behind me.

Ask the Grocer.

Paternalism with a vengeance is practiced in certain New York groceries. It is benevolent paternalism though.

"Ma wants two pounds of sugar," said a child to a patriarch in the trade.

He consulted a calendar on the wall.

"I guess you'd better take only a pound today," he said, "and go kind of slow on that. The week is only half gone, but you have already eaten up three-fourths of your allowance. Tell your mother so."

The child promised to deliver the report on financial depression.

"That is the only way on earth to keep those people from running into debt," said the grocer. "The system is common in this neighborhood. I do it at the customers' request. Every day pay women with spendthrift husbands and an extravagant disposition of their own deposit enough money with the grocer and butcher to see the family through the week. They instruct us to let no one overdraw the amount and except in cases where extra food is actually needed we stick to our end of the bargain."

Care of Screens.

Window and door screens usually get very dusty during the latter part of the summer, and it is poor economy to put them away in that condition; neither is it a good idea to wash them just before storing unless they are most carefully dried to prevent rusting. Kerosene applied with a paint brush cleans the wires better than water, and also prevents rusting.

His Intelligence.

Negley—You seem to have a poor opinion of Polder's intelligence.

Gayer—You would, too, if you knew he had been looking in the city directory three days for Ziegler's address and had got only as far as the D's.

Good Scheme.

"Out at my uncle's the people go to bed with the chickens."

"Well, at the price chickens sell at now they are certainly worth watching."

Still Smoking.

"In the other life," said the new life addict, "we simply develop what have been our tastes in this."

The New Version.

"Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of your belt."

"Humph!" ejaculated a listener.

"The New Version."

The National Grange

MASON PLAN IS SPREADING

Wide Approval Is Given Educational Scheme Started in Little New Hampshire Town.

The little town of Mason, N. H., nestled back among the hills, has come into considerable prominence through the adoption of many Granges in the country of a plan for education which originated in Mason. The little Grange in that town was anxious to do something and increase the agricultural efficiency of the farmers; so a fund was raised and three of the bright young farmers of the town were sent to the State Agricultural college at Durham, for the winter short course devoted to specialized agricultural training—in dairying, fruit culture, market gardening, or whatever course the student might elect. All the young men's bills were paid by the Grange money, and they went and made the most of their chance.

The result was that the young men brought back new ideas, improved methods and broader views and proceeded at once to cultivate their acres better than had ever been done before. The whole community has caught the inspiration of their enthusiasm and agricultural activity and courage in that community have been greatly increased by the Grange investment.

Other Granges, in other states, learned of what had been done in the little town of Mason and have at once adopted the plan. Sometimes the successful young men have been determined by a lively voting contest, and some State Granges have even taken up the idea and have offered prizes in literary work a number of scholarships in the short term courses of their respective state agricultural colleges.

In view of the fame that the Grange at Mason, N. H., has thus achieved, it may be added that the idea was originated by a woman, who wanted to see her Grange rendering some genuine service to the community. She had not the money to start such a fund as would be needed, so she secured a vacuum cleaner and announced that it was for rent, one-half the proceeds to be devoted to this educational fund. This was the start made towards a worthy undertaking.

GROSS INSULT TO FARMERS

That Is What They Think About the Annual Distribution of Free Seeds.

How the farmers of the country feel towards the free seed distribution which congress annually votes to continue may be judged with considerable accuracy from the following editorial which appeared in the last issue of the National Grange Monthly. It is refreshing to find this sentiment among the farmers themselves; and with its continuance it seems as if the farce must ultimately cease. Says the Monthly:

"The agricultural appropriation bill as prepared by the congressional committee on agriculture will include the usual provision for free seed distribution. The amount agreed upon for this purpose is $309,590. It is not likely that there will be any effective opposition to this part of the bill. So long as voters do not object to this useless and extravagant expenditure of public money, free seed appropriations will probably continue. It is difficult to understand the process of reasoning that a congressman must follow to figure any great vote-producing power out of a two-for-five package of worthless garden seeds. Nevertheless, as a legalized attempt at vote buying the congressional free seed graft must be considered in a class by itself. It is a gross insult to the moral status and intelligence of the American farmer, and yet voters stand for it. The Grange has opposed this system of seed distribution for years and if farmers were thoroughly organized so as to make their power felt, this would be the last appropriation congress would ever make for this purpose."

Hadn't the Material.

"I really never saw such an impudent man as that Mr. De Borrowe," said Miss Wratby. "He actually had the nerve to ask me the other night how I managed to get that lovely tinge of auburn in my hair!"

"Really? Well, why didn't you box his ears?" asked Miss Slimm.

"Why, I only had my Easter hat-box handy, and that wasn't big enough," said Miss Wratby.—Harper's Weekly.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES
CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I wish to let you know of a couple of recent cures which I have made by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. Last August, Mr. of this city came to my office, troubled with a severe skin eruption. It was dermatitis in its worst form. It started with a slight eruption and would affect most parts of his body, thighs, elbows, chest, back and abdomen—and would terminate in little pustules. The itching and burning was dreadful and he would almost tear his skin apart, trying to get relief. I recommended all the various treatments I could think of and he spent about fifteen dollars on prescriptions, but nothing seemed to help him.

"In the meantime my wife, who was continually suffering with a slight skin trouble and who had been trying different prescriptions and methods with my assistance, told me she was going to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and give them a fair trial. But as I did not know much about Cuticura at that time I was doubtful whether it would help her. Her skin would thicken, break and bleed, especially on the fingers, wrists and arms. I could do nothing to relieve her permanently. When she first applied the warm baths of Cuticura Soap and applications of Cuticura Ointment she saw a decided improvement and in a few days she was completely cured.

"I lost no time in recommending the Cuticura Remedies to Mr. and this was two months ago. I told him to wash with warm baths of the Cuticura Soap and to apply the Cuticura Ointment generously. Believe me, from the very first day's use of the Cuticura Remedies he was greatly relieved and today he is completely cured through their use. I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies and shall always have a good word for them now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits." (Signed) B. L. Whitehead, M. THE HEART

If the blood is poor and filled with the poisons from diseased kidneys or inactive liver, the heart is not only starved but poisoned as well. There are many conditions due to impure blood—such as dropsy, fainting spells, nervous debility or the many scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever sores," white swellings, etc. All can be overcome and cured by

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

This supplies pure blood—by aiding digestion, increasing assimilation and imparting tone to the whole circulatory system. It's a heart tonic and a great deal more, having an alterative action on the liver and kidneys, it helps to eliminate the poisons from the blood.

To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles, thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and do not permit a dishonest dealer to mislead your intelligence with the "just as good as" kind. "The Discovery" has 40 years of cures behind it and contains no alcohol or narcotics. Ingredients plainly printed on wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of wrapping and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the French cloth-bound book. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Incident That Probably Has Forever
Discouraged Kind-Hearted
Mr. Jones.

Chivalrous Mr. Jones purposely dropped a fifty-cent piece at the foot of a poorly dressed woman who passed through the Subway turnstile loudly lamenting that the ticket agent had cheated her out of half a dollar, then he picked the money up and gave it to her.

"Excuse me, madame," said Mr. Jones, "I think you dropped this."

"Oh, no," she said, "it can't be mine. Perhaps you dropped it, yourself."

"Oh, no," said Mr. Jones. "It is yours, I am sure. I picked it up just as you passed."

She took the money, and hurried after another man who had passed at the time the money dropped.

"Excuse me, sir," she said, "I think you lost this."

"Thanks," said the other man, and jumped aboard a train that was ready to start.

"—!" said chivalrous Mr. Jones.—New York Times.

BREVITIES

ANN ARBOR—A divorce was granted Monday morning to Mrs. Ada Walsh from William Walsh of Augusta for cruelty.

HOWELL—The dog poisoner got in his work on several in this city within a few days back. Some of them were fine blooded animals—Tidings.

ANN ARBOR—William Herz of this city was Monday morning granted citizenship by Judge Kinne. Mr. Herz's petition was held over from the naturalization hearing June 2nd because of the absence of one of his witnesses.

HILLSDALE—An unusual divorce case came up here the other day when it developed that the complainant, Mrs. Emma Seidel, suing for divorce, was supporting the parents of her husband and the parents backed up the statements of the woman against their son.

MANCHESTER—Last Saturday Adam Schaible heard dogs in his woods and on going there caught them chasing his sheep. Ten sheep were killed or are missing. Supervisor Renau went there to investigate. They are trying to find who is the owner of the dogs.—Enterprise.

MILAN—At a meeting of Catholics Monday evening at the home of H. D. Keller it was decided to begin at once to build the new Catholic church. The edifice will be 40x50 feet and the material for walls and trimmings will be concrete and sandstone. The church will be erected on the North street lot, purchased last fall, which is 132x132 feet.—Leader.

MANCHESTER—So many complaints have been made of children running the streets at night that the council took the matter up last night and decided that parents must keep their children at home. The marshal will look after the matter and if parents and children do not comply with the request the council bell will be rung at 9 o'clock; after which any boy or girl found on the streets will be taken in charge by the marshal.—Enterprise.

CLINTON—The jury in the case against David Richardson of Onsted, after about two hours deliberation, found the defendant guilty of violating the local option law. Judge Chester has passed sentence in this case giving Richardson 61 days in the Detroit House of Correction without fine. Richardson asked the court to appoint an attorney to defend his case as he had no means, therefore the sentence was given in time in prison instead of a part fine.—Local.

JACKSON—Humane Officer Pulling is having much trouble these days with farmers who work their horses with sore shoulders. Monday he made a flying trip through the country, and located several offenders. He found one farmer working a horse with a gall on his shoulder as big as a turnip and a sore on top of that as large as a goose egg. Mr. Pulling gave him warning that a repetition of the offense would land him permanently before the judge, and he gives warning to all others that he is "after them" to the limit.—Patroit.

ANN ARBOR—In the matter of settling up the affairs of the Toledo Portland Cement company, formerly of Manchester, the order of the circuit court Thursday in regard to an accounting by the receiver, W. L. Watkins, of this city, has the nature of an agreement between the creditors and the receiver. One of the creditors came into court Thursday questioning Mr. Watkins' disposition of about $15,000 of the funds that have been in his hands and asking that he be required to account for it. On Mr. Watkins showing that everything was open and above board the court refused arbitrarily to order him to make an accounting unless he should do so voluntarily, which Mr. Watkins expressed a willingness to do.

JACKSON—The police offer $50 reward for the conviction of those who robbed two homes on the last circus day. Those who leave home to attend the circus should turn the bull dog loose in the house and put a padlock on their pockets.—Star.

ANN ARBOR—Judge Kinne Monday morning granted Ernest Barton, Ann Arbor town, a divorce from Ethel Barton, who is to receive $1,500 alimony and her son, Wayne Barton, is to get $100 a year until he is 18, when the amount is to be increased $50.

JACKSON—Game Warden Farrand is doing his duty fearlessly in the protection of birds. He last week caused the arrest of Patrick O'Brien of Leoni for the second time for killing cat birds because they picked his cherries and for the second time Judge Russell fined him $10.—Star.

HOWELL—The Army worms have appeared on several farms near Williamston. They destroyed six acres of hay for John Showman. The only way to stop the advance of the millions of worms is by plowing a deep furrow ahead of them in which they fall, and then spray poison over them, or burn them.—Standard.

STOCKBRIDGE—William Longnecker is lying in a critical condition at his home near Plainfield from the effect of an accident last Sunday. Longnecker was shearing his sheep when in some manner he slipped, falling on the shears in such a manner as to pierce his lungs. At present he is in a critical condition and his recovery is doubtful.

NORTHVILLE—The slot machine question came before the council Monday night in the shape of a petition from the members of the school board for their elimination. The council discussed the question for a few moments and finally decided that it was a matter that was up to the village president.—Record.

YPSILANTI—Ypsilanti has two cases of smallpox in the pest house in that city. Both of them are mild and no spread of the disease is anticipated, although a general vaccination has been advised. The patients are both men and were employed in one of the factories in Ypsilanti. The men in the factory have all been vaccinated by order of the city physician. The matter has been kept as quiet as possible on account of the big G. A. R. encampment which is to be held there soon.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Chelsea Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back. A lame, weak or aching one. Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case: John Lyons, Lincoln St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "In view of my personal experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I can say that they are a good kidney remedy. My kidneys troubled me for two or three years, the secretions being highly colored and containing sediment. I had pains across the small of my back and was miserable in every way when I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They entirely relieved me and I have had no cause for complaint since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other
