Benton-Nill Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Benton and Mr. Otto Nill of Jackson, took place at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Willis Benton, of Dexter, at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, November 15, 1911. About thirty guests were present and a supper was served after the ceremony. The bride was gowned in blue poplin. The bride is a niece of W. H. Benton of this place, and is well-known to many of the young people here. After a wedding trip the couple will make their home in Dexter.

Those present from Chelsea were Miss Martha Bruestle, Ransom Armstrong, Willis Benton and family, Elenor and Ruth Dancer and Mr. and Mrs. Berry of Jackson.

New Postal Registry Stamp.

The postoffice department has prepared a special stamp of 10 cent denomination, which will be recognized by postmasters and employees of the postal service for prepayment of the fee on registered matter, domestic or foreign, but ordinary postage stamps may be used to prepay the registry fee when registry stamps are not available.

The new registry stamp is a rectangle on end, the size of the design being approximately three-quarters by seven-eighths inches, and the color light blue. The design shows an eagle with extended wings, perched upon a rock, within a circle set in a panel of plain lines. Above the circle, and following its curves, the words United States Registry appear in two lines, and in the two lower corners the denomination 10 appears within small circles, with the word cents between.

Adjusted Losses.

The directors of the Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance company adjusted the following losses at their last meeting: Sarah Ryan, Northfield, damage to house, $10; W. C. Rodger, Northfield, house struck by lightning, $3; Mrs. A. Miller, Webster, house struck by lightning, $24.04; Sterling Bullock, Pittsfield, building and contents damaged by lightning, $22.86; G. W. Tower, Ann Arbor town, house damaged by fire, $16.21; F. W. Roberts, Salem, horse killed by lightning, $75; George Foster, Ann Arbor town, house damaged by lightning, $6.83; Alice and Augusta Barr, barn struck by lightning, $271.50; Grant Kimel, Webster, horse killed, $100; Charles Walker, Salem, barn destroyed, $200; Fred Evert, Salem, farm personal, $213.17; William Campbell, Pittsfield, tenant house destroyed by fire, $400; S. S. Hamilton, Ypsilanti, farm personal, $6.34.

Entertainment Course.

The Ladies' Imperial Concert Co. of Jackson will give the second number of the Brotherhood Course at the Congregational church next Tuesday, November 21, at 8 p. m. When this company gives one of their charming programs the audience may feel assured that they will go away with something to remember, for a more evenly balanced quartette could not have been arranged. Each member is an artist in her particular work, and owing to the fact that each lady is at present a successful teacher of her chosen line of study, is a sure indication that they will excel.

As a reader, impersonator and story teller, Mrs. Maude Freer-Tuttle ranks among the first. That she loves her work is felt the moment she appears before her audience, and there is an atmosphere about her that is wholesome and natural. She is free from mannerism and affectation and clings to the idea that a reader should never appear to show off her gestures or power of voice, but should give some message, whether it be pathos or humor, the latter of which is Mrs. Tuttle's most pleasing style. She is possessed of a pleasing voice and never fails to charm.

Miss Laura Koch, soprano, a recent graduate of the University School of Music at Ann Arbor, has a voice of fine quality, and wherever she has appeared has been greeted with the warmest enthusiasm. She has wonderful control of the vocal organs and delights her listeners by her clear pronunciation.

Miss Guile Badour, violinist, certainly understand how to touch the hearts of her hearers. She handles her violin with a grace and tenderness that shows that her very soul is in her work.

Miss Elsie Graves ranks among the best of Jackson's musicians. She is not only a brilliant soloist, but her rare talent, constitutes the making of an ideal accompanist. In all forms of piano work she excels.

A few course tickets may yet be secured for $1 each. Single admission 25 cents.

Police Court News.

The police court seems to have done its proportion of business during the past week.

Annon Banter was taken before Justice Withereff last Thursday afternoon, and drew a ten days sentence in the county jail at Ann Arbor for being drunk.

William Downer, of Lima, indulged rather freely Saturday and in the evening was placed under arrest for being drunk. Monday he was taken before Justice Withereff where he was let off on payment of costs.

About two o'clock Sunday morning Marshal Hepburn arrested three men. The parties were in the covered wagon used by Charles Martin for drawing employees to and from the cement works. The men were John Andrews, Edward Montre and Fred Hummel. They were taken to Ann Arbor Sunday forenoon where they remained until Monday morning when they were taken before Justice Withereff on the charge of disturbing the peace. They were let off on the payment of costs.

Good Play at the New Whitney.

It is seldom that theatre-goers have a chance to be entertained and at the same time see actors of the prominence of those appearing in "The Faun" at the New Whitney, Ann Arbor, Saturday night. This will be the most satisfactory play for the ordinary individual given at Ann Arbor this season, being a comedy in the hands of William Faversham and Julia Opp, people seldom seen outside of New York City and with national reputations. The management of the Whitney feel very kindly toward Chelsea people on account of liberal patronage from here this season and are always glad to make reservations when requested so to do by letter or phone, and in making selections of seats will see that Chelsea people get as good as are sold at time of request. Inasmuch as it costs no more to get seats ahead most of the regular patrons from here usually order their seats before the night of the play, and it will be especially wise to do so for the Faversham engagement.

Arrested for Perjury.

Frank M. Root, the former Ann Arbor music dealer whose wife secured a decree of divorce before Judge Kinne last week, was arrested for perjury by Deputy Sheriff Mat Max last Monday afternoon.

Mr. Root is charged with having perjured himself Wednesday of last week when testifying as to the price he received when he sold his store to Grinnell Bros. last spring, affirming that he received no notes whatever from Grinnell Bros. Clinton Nye, Grinnell's secretary, testified that the company paid Root over $9,000 in notes besides $2,000 in cash. The complaining witness is Deputy Sheriff Max and the case will be prosecuted by Attorney Andrew Sawyer, who is acting as prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Root was taken before Justice Doty, of Ann Arbor, Tuesday for an examination which was postponed until Tuesday, November 21st. The court placed his bail bond at $2,500 with two sureties. He was returned to the county jail where he will remain until the bond is properly executed.

The Ladies' Guild of the Congregational church will hold their annual fair and supper Thursday, December 7th.

Sunday School Work.

The executive committee of the Washtenaw County Sunday School Association was appointed last week, and met for the first time Monday evening, November 13, in the city Y. M. C. A. of Ann Arbor, and plans were laid to organize as soon as possible every township in the county for more effective work. The members of the committee are: F. I. Blanchard, of Chelsea; G. A. Young, Y. M. C. A. secretary, of Ann Arbor; Edwin Rawdin, of Ann Arbor; Howard Bartlett, of Saline and W. B. Hatch, of Ypsilanti. C. W. Saunders, of Chelsea, has been appointed president of Sylvan township Sunday school work.

Worked on Large Class.

Wednesday evening was a banner one for Chelsea Castle, No. 194, K. of P. A class of eleven candidates were given the first degree.

The officers and degree team of Ann Arbor Castle, No. 44, K. of P., exemplified the first degree in the long form upon the class. The following were the members who conferred the degree: I. F. Scheede, Dana Hiscok, Don Stark, Claude Kittridge, W. Schoettle, Geo. Scott, Fred Heusel, M. Gross, R. Henry, F. Orlinger, Roy Hiscok, E. L. Walker, Albert Gray, Harry Gillen, E. Washington and W. H. Rhode. They were accompanied by about twenty-five other members of the Ann Arbor Castle.

The work was done in the Sylvan Theatre, after which a buffet lunch was served and a smoker held in the Castle of the local organization.

Naturalization Hearing Postponed.

The question has been asked several times recently if there was any penalty for voting illegally, by persons voting at regular or primary elections who have declared their intentions since May 8, 1892, or whose fathers declared their intention, but never completed their naturalization by taking their second papers. Of course this does not refer to those born in this country, as they are full citizens without question. The answer to those questions is section 11439 of the Compiled Laws. It is as follows:

Section 11439. Sec. 3. Every person not a qualified voter, who shall, at any election, wilfully give in a vote for an officer then to be chosen; and every qualified voter who, at such election, shall vote or offer to vote in any township or ward in which he does not reside, or who shall vote or offer to vote more than once at the same or any other township or ward, or shall give in two or more votes folded together, shall, on conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

It was announced some time ago that the December hearing would be the last before the spring election, but Circuit Judge Kinne, kindly consented, to accommodate those that had neglected their naturalization, to change the standing order to the last Thursday of February. This will be thirty days before the spring election the law providing that no hearing can be had within thirty days before the spring election. This will give time until December 1st in which to file a petition for full papers, as the names must be posted full ninety days. Persons who have received their first papers since May 8, 1892, or who were born outside of the United States, and whose fathers never received their full papers, but who have been voting in good faith, and wish to take advantage of the amended law, which waives the declaration, should attend to making their petition at once. With each succeeding hearing it becomes more difficult for the latter class, to establish their good faith. It is only a question of time when some township, county or state election will be thrown out and declared void, by illegal voting, and individuals prosecuted for illegal voting. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Must Give Security.

The formal decree of divorce in the Root divorce case was entered Monday morning of this week. To secure payment of the $2,000 alimony allowed by the court, Judge Kinne has directed that one of the $3,000 notes given by Grinnell Brothers to Frank M. Root for his music business last spring be deposited by Mr. Root with county clerk, pending payment of the alimony. He is given 60 days in which to appeal to the supreme court, as he declares he will do, or in which to show cause why the alimony cannot be paid as directed.

CLAUDE SEEKS NEW PHRASE

Sister Lucinda Tries to Help, but He Falls Back on "Glad Rags."

"Lucinda!" That was brother Claude speaking, and the interrogative ascension in his enunciation indicated that he wanted to ask her a question. He always asks Lucinda when he wants to know anything.

"Lucinda," he went on, "I've been invited to a dinner by Agnes and I want to tell him that of course I'll come in evening dress, but I don't want to say just that to him, it would seem too formal; and I don't exactly want to say that I'll come in my glad rags, for that would seem too informal and also it's sort of commonplace and worn. Can't you think of something that I could say instead of glad rags?"

"Why, certainly," said Lucinda; "tell him you are coming in your gleesome paraphernalia."

"Oh, no!" says Brother Claude; "you know that wouldn't do. He'd only laugh at that."

"Well, then," said Lucinda, "you might say that you will appear in your joyous habiliments."

"Joyous habiliments, dear!" says Claude. "That's almost as bad. I don't want any long words in it, nothing fancy and flowery. I want something jolly and pleasant and lively, not grand and overpowering."

"We," Claude, said the patient and ever helpful sister, "just write him that you'll come in your merry regalia. What would you think of that?"

But that didn't strike Claude quite favorably, either, though he liked it better, but he wanted something simpler still, whereupon Lucinda suggested it to him: "Make it happy tags."

But brother Claude only groans at that and says no, that won't do, and he says they won't any of them do, and he guesses he'll have to just write a glad rags and let it go at that.

And that is what he did.

Nonplussed. Little Miss Muffet, who is really so called by her Bryn Mawr friends, is of an inquiring mind. When she sees things she doesn't understand, she inquires about them. She has just returned from the Poconos, where she has been for August and September.

"One thing I wish to know," she said to her friend who always pretends to be well informed. "Possibly you can tell me."

"And what is that, my dear little Miss Muffet?" said he. "Of course I am always ready to tell you anything I know."

"Well, I've never stayed in the mountains during the winter. I only go there in summer, and what I'd like to know is what do the mosquitoes live on in my absence?"—Philadelphia Evening Times.

Wine-Fed Fowls. M. Joubert, professor at the Agricultural college at Fontainebleau, France, claims that he has discovered a new and simple method of making hens lay. He feeds them with wine in addition to their ordinary food. The professor has not allowed his discovery to be made known lightly.

He has been experimenting with fowls of all kinds for several years and finds the same result in every case. In each case he experimented for the four winter months with two sets of twelve fowls of the same breed, adding bread soaked in wine to the food of one of the two sets of twelve. In every case after six separate trials the wine-fed hens laid more eggs in the proportion of twenty eggs a month or thereabout.

Dynamite for Chestnuts. A crew of men laying a water line through the Chestnut Ridge a few miles from Donegal had a day off recently and decided to go nutting. Not satisfied with the slow method of throwing sticks at the burrs, the men bored holes in the trees and inserted dynamite, which was set off with a fuse.

Following the explosion chestnuts could be found spread like a carpet under the trees. While the trunks of the trees were not shattered in all instances, it is said most of them will die. The mountaineers are up in arms over the work of the nutting party.—Greensburg correspondence Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Better So. The professor of elocution was instructing an ambitious young man in the art of public speaking.

"When you have finished your lecture," he said, "bow gracefully and leave the platform on tip toe."

"Why on tip toe?" queried the ambitious young man.

"So as not to wake the audience," replied the professor.—Stray Stories

Red Whiskers. "Plunkville needs a new constable."

"What's the matter with the present incumbent?"

"He has black whiskers and the automobile speeders can see him hiding in the shrubbery. What we want is a constable with whiskers to match the fall foliage."

Fostering Care. Howard—is this hotel up-to-date?

Coward—Indeed it is. They furnish sleeping powders with every bedroom.

NEW PROBLEM UP TO STATE BOARD

CAN RAILROAD COMMISSION COMPEL OUTSIDE CORPORATIONS TO SHOW GOODS.

COMPANY IN WISCONSIN SEEKS TO INCORPORATE.

Claims to Have Capital of $75,000 Represented in Land and Power on Menominee River.

Can the Michigan railroad commission require a public service corporation, organized in another state, to make a showing as to whether it is an extensively watered concern, or possesses actually the property which it claims to have represented in the stock issued?

This question is up for the determination of that body, along with other legal points, as a result of an application of the Peninsula Power company, owning water power rights along the Menominee river, for authorization to incorporate for $750,000, which the commission has tentatively refused on the ground that the company has not shown that it is putting over $250,000 in assets for the stock.

The commission has been informed that a group of men organized the Twin Falls Land company and acquired for about $100,000 land along the Menominee river for use for this power development. It has also been informed that the same group of men organized the Peninsula Power Company in Wisconsin, with a capital stock of $70,000, and transferred to the new corporation the land and assets in exchange for the stock.

The claim has been made that the property is really only worth $250,000 and the commission has demanded that the company make a showing, or allow engineers to appraise the property, which will show whether the property is really worth the amount of stock issued.

The matter will undoubtedly be discussed with the attorney-general before a decision is rendered, in order that the state may prepare for a law suit if the Peninsula company is refused entrance into the state except it complies with the rules laid down by the commission.

Trolley Collision. Sixteen Hurt on Rapid Railway Near St. Clair.

Sixteen persons were injured, four seriously, when a Rapid limited trolley car struck a construction car two miles north of St. Clair.

Signals were given for the construction and limited cars to pass at the switch where the collision occurred, but the work car did not give a clear track.

The construction car was thrown to one side, but the limited kept the rails.

Among the injured are: Congressman Henry McMoran, Port Huron. The car was badly wrecked and much confusion followed the crash.

According to D. U. R. officials, the accident was due to the carelessness of the work car crew.

CROWDS AT APPLE SHOW. Thousands From Adjoining States Visited Grand Rapids.

The Grand Rapids apple show proved a great success and the crowds were so large that the doors were opened in the mornings. This was done at the request of the various railroads entering Grand Rapids.

Many of the visitors were from outside of the state, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio sending thousands.

The various displays were artistically arranged, the various shades, colors and varieties of the apples being so placed as to bring out the beauties of all of them. The booths were constructed of white birch grown in the "model forest" of D. H. Day at Glen Haven.

The displays were not restricted to apples, as there were various other products shown, including a large display of fruit preserved in glass jars. In addition there were daily programs, various speakers telling how to make twice as much fruit grow as formerly did.

BANKS GET POSTAL FUNDS. State Institutions Will Be Permitted to Qualify for Deposits.

Postmaster General Hitchcock gave out the statement that Michigan state banks can become depositaries for postal savings banks funds.

No objection having been made by the state banking departments to such a procedure, Mr. Hitchcock requested the opinion of the attorney general whether there was any legal objection under the postal savings act to the adoption of the plan.

The ruling will be welcomed by the banking interests in the state named and at the same time it will greatly assist the postoffice department in disposing of postal savings funds in many towns which now have no qualified depositaries.

If plans now under consideration by the electrical department do miscarry, it will not be very long before wireless communication is established between the Michigan Agricultural college and the University of Wisconsin. The work so far is under the direction of Prof. Sawyer, and it is hoped that a large number of the students interested in this kind of work will enter into it. It is planned to get connection with the University of Michigan as well, and that institution is to have a system in operation between Ann Arbor and the Case School of Science at Cleveland.

Glazier Petitions Still Come In. There is considerable speculation about the state house as to what action will be taken on the application for the release of Frank P. Glazier, now confined in Jackson prison. Six months ago a postcard campaign was started asking the governor for the ex-state treasurer's release. Up to the present time there has arrived at the executive office approximately 5,000 such postcard requests, and about 200 letters from various parts of the state. At no time has there been a sudden spurt of such requests, and the number arriving daily is about the same as when the campaign was first started.

Killed Husband Who Left Her. Richard R. Hurst was shot dead by his wife in his home in Coldwater. He left her some months ago. She sent for him several times. Finally he went. At the end of a stormy interview he turned to pick up a cigar from the kitchen table, when she put a revolver close to the back of his head and fired. He fell forward dead and she telephoned Sheriff Tyler to come quickly.

She weeps constantly in jail, persisting she loved Hurst and shot because he refused to come back to her.

Has Served U. of M. 45 Years. Next June Dr. Martin Luther D'Ooge, professor of Greek language and literature, will have completed 45 years of service on the faculty of the University of Michigan. Dr. D'Ooge has decided that he has served long enough. He is going to resign, and when his resignation has taken effect he will have established a mark which has never been reached before in the history of the University of Michigan. No other man ever served the university so long since its foundation as Dr. D'Ooge, not even Dr. Angell himself.

Drinks Acid in His Wife's Presence. Falling to effect a reconciliation with his wife, from whom he had been separated since last June, Ezra Case, of Flint, committed suicide in her presence at Montrose. Case swallowed carbolic acid and died a few minutes later. The couple quarreled and Mrs. Case went to the farm of Frank Ruggles, of Montrose, where she obtained employment. Case went to the house and endeavored to induce her to return to Flint, but she refused. Two small children survive.

Freight Cars Derailed. Fifteen freight cars of a west-bound Pere Marquette train were derailed near Trowbridge, but no one was hurt. The reman and engineer stuck to their posts, crawling out of the wreckage uninjured.

The target was set for a Grand Trunk passenger train, which came along three minutes later. It is said that the engineer on the freight paid no attention to the signal, but attempted to pass the open switch.

Take Rap at Parcel Post. Before adjourning in Lansing the Michigan Retail Implement and Vehicle Dealers' association adopted resolutions advocating the appointment by congress of a non-partisan commission to investigate the question of parcel post, all legislation to be deferred until such commission shall have had ample time to act and report. In other ways the organization also showed its disposition to fight the catalogue houses.

The Industrial Arts and Science association, an organization composed of the Michigan manual training teachers in the public schools, will meet in Kalamazoo Nov. 17.

Attorney Robison for the Michigan Central railroad, was before the railroad commission in Lansing and stated that the company will file a motion at once for a rehearing in the case decided in the supreme court last week compelling the road to make physical connection with the D. U. R. at Oxford.

The appointment of primary school money will be 50 cents per capita, and a total of $385,778 will be distributed. Exactly 771,058 children of school age in the state is the number on which the appropriation is based. This is the second appointment this year.

TAFT HONORS LINCOLN

Attends Dedication of Cabin-Shrine in Hodgenville, Ky.

Beside the crude, mud caked cabin that was the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, President Taft paid homage to the great soul of his predecessor.

The Lincoln memorial building in which the cabin has been enshrined and the Lincoln farm association to the guardianship of the federal government and the president formally accepted the trust. The memorial building, the cornerstone for which was laid two years ago at the centenary celebration of the great emancipator's birth, was dedicated.

In a drizzling rain 10,000 persons from all sections of the nation, assembled to take part in the dedication. The skies cleared, however, shortly before President Taft was introduced as the principal speaker.

Special trains from Louisville, New York and other cities brought large crowds.

"PROPHET" SEE IN JAIL. Evelyn Arthur See Sentenced to From One to Five Years.

Evelyn Arthur See, founder of the "Absolute Life" cult, deserted by his disciples, was sentenced in Chicago to the penitentiary for a term of one to five years by Judge Lockwood Honore in the criminal court.

Mona Rees, high priestess of the cult, and Mildred Bridges, See's other child disciple, were not present. Mrs. Stephen H. Bridges and Felicitas Rees, the girls' mothers, also were absent.

Attorney James Callahan said for the defense that an appeal to the supreme court for a writ of superdeas would be made as soon as enough of the bill of particulars had been approved by the court. If the supreme court denies the writ See will have to go to Joliet.

Railroads Get New Hope. Sweeping reductions in freight rates to intermountain points in the west, which were ordered by the interstate commerce commission a few months ago, have been held up on appeal by the United States commerce court. The reductions, affecting all railroads in the United States except a few in the south and applying to practically all articles in interstate commerce, were to have become effective Wednesday next, but the court has entered orders enjoining the commission from enforcing the decrees.

King and Queen Sail for India. King George V. and Queen Mary, accompanied by their attendants and parties, sailed today from Portsmouth on the new, luxurious liner Medina, for India, to attend the coronation durbar in Delhi, India in December.

As this was the last appearance of the king and queen in the capital for nearly three months, their departure was made with much ceremonial. Accompanied by the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, and escorted by imperial horse guards, they drove in an open carriage by a roundabout way to Victoria station.

ELECTION AFTERMATH. The next Massachusetts legislature will stand as follows: Senate, Republican, 27; Democrat, 19. House, Republican, 146; Democrat, 92. Socialist, 1. Independent, 1.

Commission form of government won in at least two cities west of the Missouri river, namely Chanute and Manhattan, Kas. In both the propositions carried in every precinct.

Election results in many Utah cities and towns indicate wide gains by both Democrats and Socialists. The Socialist gains were made largely in the mining camps, Eureka, Murray, Mammoth and Stockton electing Socialist officers.

For the first time in the history of rock-ribbed Democratic Mississippi, a Socialist candidate for a state office has come within an ace of winning, if he is not actually elected, James R. Lester, Socialist candidate for lieutenant-governor, is so close to T. G. Bilbo, nominee of the Democratic party, that Socialists claim he will sit in the governor's chair next term when the governor is not at home.

The election was a great victory for the Socialists in Lawrence county, Pennsylvania. In New Castle the Socialists elected the mayor, 11 councilmen and two city assessors. In Wheatland they swept the entire ticket and in Pymatuning they elected five school directors.

With little more than a third of the precincts in Nebraska heard from a majority of between 8,000 and 10,000 is indicated for Letton and Rose, Republican candidates for supreme justices. Hamer, the third Republican candidate, has been badly out because of anti-temperance affiliations.

Gov. Osborn was among the speakers Tuesday, who gathered at Lafayette, Ind., on the spot where, 100 years ago, a little band of pioneers under command of Gen. William Henry Harrison, put an end to the domination of the Indians in the middle west.

Suit for $10,000 damages against Henry Schieferstein was begun in Charlotte by John Fairchild, machinist, who claims that Schieferstein alienated his wife's affections. The Fairchilds are parents of several children, one of whom is grown up, and Schieferstein is a member of a well-known grocery firm.

Practical demonstration of the effectiveness in destroying aeroplanes of a new explosive shell, even when the explosion occurs as far distant as 100 yards from the airship, is reported to have been made in aerial target practice by the Pacific fleet off Coronado Island.

BLOOD FLOWED IN STREETS OF NANKIN

IMPERIAL SOLDIERS TAKE REVENGE ON DEFENSELESS WOMEN AND CHILDREN

3,000 ARE DEAD AND 75,000 ARE HOMELESS.

Headless Bodies Strew Bloody Streets of City—Famine Now Threatened—Pekin Government Makes Concessions.

More than 3,000 native Chinese men, women and children are dead and 75,000 are homeless as a result of the wanton slaughter throughout the city of Nankin by the imperialist army.

Reinforcements arrived Saturday and joined the rebels and the attack on the imperialist army was resumed. Aroused into a frenzy of rage against their enemies for the massacre of defenseless Chinese, the rebels fought desperately for vengeance.

The streets of Nankin presented a most gruesome picture. Hundreds of dead bodies lay among the smoking ruins of dwellings. The property of the Chinese was first looted, then fired.

Most pitiful were the corpses of boys and girls, headless and naked any lying where they had fallen.

Seek Out Hidden Natives. Detachments of Manchou soldiers, with blood dripping from their swords, invaded the homes of all residents of the native quarters looking for hiding natives. Some that they found were killed outright. Others were tortured before being put to death.

Hundreds of useless human heads were piled like so many cannon balls in the gutters. Hands and feet, cut off in torture, strew the debris of the burned quarter.

Famine now threatens as the soldiers have carried off all the food. Hundreds of children and women were stabbed, but left alive to die under foot.

Chinese, leaving everything behind them, are fleeing terror-stricken and destitute, to the shelter in the fields at the rear of the reform forces. The latter are attempting to check the slaughter or avenge the slain because of their lack of ammunition.

PREPARE FOR HOLY WAR. Arabs Invite Tunisians to Join Them in Attacking Italians.

Various reports have been received from Tripoli to the effect that the Arabs are preparing for a holy war and that they have sent delegations to Tunis to invite the natives to cross the frontier and join the Mohammedans in Tripoli.

Eight balloons hovering over the Turkish entrenchments outside Tripoli gave the directions to the Italian fire in a hard scrimmage at Port Henid and Sidi Mers Saturday, according to dispatches received at the Italian embassy in Washington.

The Italian artillery fire was directed by the signals from the balloons and the Arabs finally were forced to withdraw from the camp at Ain Sar, leaving their cannon.

According to the report from a naval attaché, who visited the front the Italian advisers state, the Turks are using a form of projectile which violates the international convention.

Beattie Appeal Denied by Court. The supreme court of appeals denied the petition for a writ of error by Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., convicted of murdering his wife in Richmond, Va., last July.

This decision on the appeal from the judgment of the Chesterfield court, which sentenced him to die in the electric chair November 24, is final. Clemency or reprieve by Gov. Mann only can save the condemned man.

200 Killed in Mexican Fight. Federals and rebels met in battle at Juchitan, Oaxaca, according to meager information obtained from official sources here.

Two hundred are reported dead. The city is cut off from rail and wire communication.

A telegram from Oaxaca carried a report that Jose Gomez, deposed jefe politico, the chief of the rebels, was captured and shot.

Mr. Markey was one of Port Huron's most prominent citizens and possessed thousands of friends all over the state.

How Weak Kidneys Cause Rheumatism

How Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills Unfailingly Restore Kidneys and Bladder—Cure Rheumatism—Trial Package Free!

Every one knows rheumatism is caused by excess of uric acid in the system. The poisonous accumulation is there because the kidneys fail to filter it from the blood. Kidneys are diseased, too weak to perform their full duty.

Naturally the thing to do is to restore the kidneys to normal—make them extract and expel the uric acid poison. That's how to really cure rheumatism—there's no other way.

That's how Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills cure. That's why their cures are honest, not make-believe—permanent, instead of lasting only while the effect of the medicine lasts.

No matter what the form of rheumatism—articular, inflammatory, muscular—whether in your back (lumbago), your feet (gout), or in any part of the body—there's one remedy you can absolutely depend upon. One that not only stops every ache and pain, but that banishes their cause.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills drive out the poisons—cleanse the clogged kidneys—strengthen and invigorate them, so they do their work as Nature intended. If troubled with any rheumatic condition, any kidney or urinary trouble, don't delay treatment one hour! There are no ailments more destructive—that so quickly lead to fatal results—if not promptly checked.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold under a positive guarantee. Druggists are authorized to refund money in case of dissatisfaction. Price, 25c and 50c. Sample package free, if you'd like to try them first. At druggists, or sent direct by Dr. Derby Medicine Co., Easton Rapids, Mich.

Caring for Consumptives. There are now four special methods by which consumptive workmen in the United States are being cared for. In such cities as Albany, Elmira and Binghamton, N. Y., the unions support a separate pavilion or hospital. In cities like Hartford, New Britain and South Manchester, Conn., the workmen contribute towards the maintenance of a fund for the care of consumptives. The employers also contribute to these funds. There are also two national sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis owned and operated by labor unions; one by the International Typographical union, and the other by the Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union. In Massachusetts, Illinois and elsewhere large corporations and manufacturers have agreed voluntarily to care for all their consumptive employees for a limited length of time.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Many Chelsea People Have Kept Well By Keeping Their Kidneys Well.

The first symptom of kidney trouble may be only a slight pain in the back, a feeling of stiffness or soreness in the loins, or some annoying irregularity of the urinary passages. Urine is discolored and sediment gathers upon standing. Next comes a dull, throbbing backache, sharp, knife-like pains, headaches, dizziness, and usually lameness when arising in the morning. No one can afford to delay until these troubles become serious. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, the tried and tested kidney remedy that has cured thousands. Chelsea readers should find convincing proof of merit in the following statement. It's from a resident of this locality.

Mrs. Lewis Burg, Garfield St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills for I know them to be a remedy of great merit. I suffered intensely from backache and in the morning upon arising I felt lame and weak. A distressing kidney weakness clung to me persistently and I was anxious to get relief. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and soon after beginning their use, I was free from my aches and pains. I have been feeling much better every way since taking this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You are not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust.

They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Chelsea only at our store—The Rexall Store. L. T. Freeman Co.

Young Worker's Tragic Death.

The sweep's boy—the "ramoneur," has still to work his tortuous way through the chimneys in France and an accident which has just occurred at Fleury-sur-Ardeles calls attention to the necessity of putting a stop to the practice. A little Savoyard, named Charles Ravolse, fourteen years of age, was sent up the chimney of a baker and at the end of three-quarters of an hour he had not descended. The alarm was given and the boy was perceived blocked in the chimney, which had to be demolished before his dead body could be freed. He was hanging by the neck, having been caught in a portion of the chimney measuring less than six inches across and asphyxiated.

Birds for Mosquitoes.

Experience of the past few days has convinced everybody that the scientific war on the mosquito is a flat failure. Insectivorous birds are the only remedy, and not all of them like mosquitoes. The swallow, which does, is not a street dweller; the night hawk flies high and is a rarity, and the bat is promptly driven out of every house he enters. What's left but to slap and scratch?—Brooklyn Citizen.

Wagner's Parentage.

Discussing the autobiography of Richard Wagner, the Oesterreichische Wochenschrift says that no one will ever know whether the truth has all been published as to the master's parentage. "It is a fact, though, that he was registered at school as Richard Geyer and did not take the name Wagner until he was fourteen years old," says this authority.

THIS WAITER WAS SATISFIED

Old Negro Receives One Dollar for Every Cent He Collected From Wealthy Man.

"The shrewd waiter will accept a tip, no matter how small it is, and pretend that he is satisfied," said a hotel manager yesterday. "When I hear of persons giving extraordinarily small tips it reminds me of an old negro waiter we used to have at Palm Beach a few years ago. His name was Winfield Scott."

"A wealthy but eccentric New Yorker arrived at the hotel early in the season, and Scott took charge of his table. He took his three meals at the same hours each day. At the end of the first he solemnly handed the waiter one cent. Scott was wise, so he bowed and showed his teeth and said: 'Thank yuh, sub.' The next meal the same thing happened, and so on to the end of three months, when the waiter was about to leave. Scott waited on him with the greatest punctiliousness at every meal and never hinted that the tip he got was not perfectly satisfactory."

"After he had finished his last meal the waiter said to the waiter: 'Scott, how long have I been here?'"

"'Jes' 90 days, sub,' was the answer. 'I have given you something after every meal, haven't I?'"

"'Yes, sub.'"

"'How much does it amount to?'"

"Scott told him. 'Have you got all those pennies?' the waiter asked."

"Scott said he had, and the waiter told him to bring them. Scott returned with a bag of pennies and handed them over."

"'I'll take them,' said the man. 'Now this is yours,' and he handed over to the waiter $90."

DOCTOR'S FEE IN JAPAN

Physician Receives a Present of as Much as Patient Can Afford.

A Japanese doctor never dreams of asking a poor patient for a fee. There is a proverb among the medical fraternity in Japan: "When the twin enemies poverty and disease invade a home, then he who takes aught from that home, even if it be given him, is a robber."

"Often," remarked a recent lecturer on "Life in Japan," "a doctor will not only give his time and medicine free to the sufferer, but he will also give him money to tide over his dire necessities. Every physician is his own dispenser, and there are very few apothecaries' shops in the empire."

"When even a rich man calls in a doctor he does not expect that he will receive a bill for medical services; in fact no such thing as a doctor's bill is known in Japan, although nearly all modern practices are in vogue there."

The strict honesty of the people does not make it necessary for the doctor to ask a fee. When he has finished his visits to the patient a present is made to him, just as much as the patient can afford. The doctor smiles, bows, thanks his patient, and the transaction is settled.

Quartz Mills in Alaska.

Alaska has produced more than 200 million dollars in gold since 1898. So far only placer gold has been mined, except at Treadwell; but new quartz mining has assumed first importance, and quartz mills are going into Alaska in great numbers. For more than a decade the trail to the interior was lined with weary men carrying their packs and stumbling along over rocky ledges now found to contain more gold than the distant placers. As the great quartz mines in the Sierra Nevada succeeded the placer camps of California, so the quartz mines of Valdez are succeeding the famous placers of the interior. There is no healthier, happier nor more promising prospect for a young man of energy than the quartz ledges of Alaska.

Chauffeur as Critic.

"Dramatic critics could take a lesson from taxicab drivers in the art of damning a play," said a western man. "In addition to their capability they have a peculiar opportunity for exercising their talent. The other night I told a chauffeur who had driven us to a certain theater that he might call for us and take us home."

"'Very well,' said he. 'About what time? At the end of the second act?'"

"'Why at the end of the second act?'" I asked.

"'I guess the rest of the play is no good,' said he. 'Anyhow, a good part of the audience goes home then.'"

Rushing for Trains.

Mrs. Charles Whitney, who lives in Overbrook and whose husband comes to town every morning, called the maid yesterday with rather excited direction.

"Oh, Sarah!" she said, "I hadn't noticed how late it is. Go upstairs and tell Mr. Whitney to hurry or he'll miss his train."

"I have called him," Sarah answered proudly, "and he says, 'ma'am, that if I put the grapefruit just outside the door and the chops on the top step and the rolls and coffee on the landing he can catch the 8:10 train.'"

Well Illustrated.

"Sometimes a virtue can be exaggerated until it becomes a vice," said the earnest adviser.

"I see exactly what you're coming at," replied Tarantula Tim. "Whereas four acres is a blessing 'n' greatly to be admired, five of 'em kin create untold dissension."

English Girl's Tragic Fate.

The startling case of a North London (Eng.) girl who has contracted leprosy contains elements of tragic interest. The dreadful disease was contracted by the victim wearing, as part of a fancy dress costume, a wig of eastern origin. Some time ago she went to a fancy dress ball. The costume, that of a Chinese lady—was pronounced perfect in every detail. Unfortunately the wig she wore was only too real. It came from the east. About a week after a strange mark appeared on her forehead and she consulted a specialist, who found that she was suffering from leprosy. She has now been removed to a leper colony. Diligent inquiries were made to discover the antecedents of the wig, and it now has been found that it had at one time been worn by a leper.

Heat as a Family Doctor.

A dry, steady warmth applied in the right place is often the greatest help in relieving pain and treating diseases. Not until the electric blanket was successfully operated did the disadvantages of the hot water bottle, such as its weight, uneven heat and so on become prominent. The electric blanket has passed from the experimental stage to that of a practical necessity. Not only this, but it is made in many different shapes so as to be most convenient for special uses, as for a chest and back pad, cap, collar, sweating jacket, etc. In its soft elderdown cover the warming pad or blanket is the ideal comforter and the foe of pain. Control is arranged so as to give a low, medium or high temperature by the turn of a switch.

Found a Job.

"What's your husband so ugly about?"
"He's been out of work six weeks."
"I should think that would suit him first rate!"
"That's it! He's just got a job today!"—Megendorfer Blaetter.

A Burglar's Awful Deed.

May not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap, of Leadville, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co.

Everybody Welcome

Face to Face

There is a fellow in Madison street, Chicago, who has made himself famous by advertising his business with a cut of a bald head showing a back view, and right on the bald spot in black letters were the words: "This is Tom, meet him face to face." We presume many have been reading these advertisements of ours whom we have not met face to face. We say this in all modesty and admit by so doing that there some people in the country who are not yet patrons of this bank. To all such we say "it is never too late to mend," and if you will come around and give us a chance to meet you face to face we shall be very much pleased and know that our superior facilities for handling your business cannot fail to appeal strongly to you. Whether you are ready to open an account or not, drop in and see us. You will be made welcome and we shall be more than happy to meet you "face to face."

Someone connected with the Flanders Manufacturing Co. seems to have made the discovery that the main purpose of a large overhead office force was to use up assets and keep workmen filling up cards instead of making motorcycles, consequently the clerical force has been reduced considerably, many being either discharged or transferred to other departments. Deputy Sheriff J. E. McKane was in Toledo Monday where he secured Joseph G. Saunders, who had been placed under arrest by the police of that city for the local authorities. Saunders was taken before Justice Witherell Tuesday and his examination will take place Friday. He was taken to the county jail at Ann Arbor. Saunders is suspected of being one of the parties who held up Joseph Weber Wednesday evening of last week.

A quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Julia Trinkle, of Lima, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, November 15, 1911, when her daughter, Miss Amanda B., was united in marriage with Mr. Reuben A. Grieb, Rev. G. Eisen, pastor of St. John's church, Rogers' Corners, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the young couple. A dinner was served at the close of the ceremony.

MILITARY SERVICE IN HAWAII

By KATHERINE POPE

Schofield barracks, twenty-five miles from Honolulu, the Fifth U. S. cavalry is in garrison, and the original cavalry camp has been added to comparatively recently by the arrival of two battalions of the Second Infantry and a full battalion of the First field artillery. There are now three regimental headquarters, three colonels and three bands at Schofield barracks, but to Honolulu folk generally it is still thought of as the "cavalry camp."

One may travel thither by train, and a pleasant journey it is speeding along close to the sea, flashing by fields of sugar-cane, with short halts at tiny stations to let off or take on diminutive Japanese, presently leaving the sea and climbing through narrow gulches to the tableland a thousand feet above sea-level. The sun may be shining away with full glare, but the air is fresh and vital, one feels like taking effort, responding to the various invitations to effort that here are offered. Away over to the right stretches the long low line of the Koolau Range. To the left lies the mass of the Waianae mountains, the plains at their base, in front of the Gap, dotted with the various buildings of Schofield barracks. Looking a good place to "do service" and proving a decidedly interesting place to visit.

It is a very beautiful and healthful spot where the soldiers are stationed—though a little far from town to suit the soldier boys—and sincere are the regrets of officer and officer's wife when the order comes to move on. The barracks are located on what were once ranch lands, and part of the property is still used for that purpose. The old estate included wide plains, mountain, valley and ridge, stretched from the top of the Waianae mountains down to the public highway, across this into pine-apple and sugar-cane territory. Leliehua ranch was leased crown land; the 30-year lease almost run out when Uncle Sam took possession of the 16,000 acres—a goodly exercise ground for cavalry men and cavalry horses.

When I visited the place, for me the interest began at the very entrance gate. The gate differed little from the ordinary barnyard affair, but on the high framework there was printed in three languages an order to those entering there, a sign expressed in English, Hawaiian and Japanese. English and Americans that ran might read "Keep This Gate Shut." The Hawaiian direction was, "Poni Ka Puka." The Japanese chicken-scratching I forbore to give.

Schofield barracks being close to the pineapple country and the workers in the fields Japanese, there was necessity for using the Japanese language. The little pineapple village of Wahiawa lies only a short distance beyond the Leliehua gates, but is such a new and small center that the soldier finds here nothing of consequence in the way of amusement, long for the moving pictures, band concerts, sea bathing, peopled streets, and "corner" social offerings of Honolulu. And various causes are pointing towards the permanent settlement of the soldiers, the centralization of troops in Honolulu.

As it is now Honolulu seems fairly well settled. Off at the west end Fort Shafter, set upon a hill, keeps guard over the town below, and not only promises present and future protection, but also gives a valuable object lesson in soldierly trimness and finish—a needed object lesson to the slovenliness that marks various portions of what should be one of the fairest cities in the world. At quite the opposite end from Fort Shafter, off there about the famous headland, old Diamond Head, Fort Ruger is situated, companies of coast artillery here—at Shafter, infantry. Between Forts Ruger and Shafter lies Fort de Russy, eventually to be an artillery post.

It is generally understood in the army that the men do not like service in Hawaii. They complain of lack of variety, that life here has too much sameness, and they complain because service in Hawaii does not mean increased pay or time allowance, but of these granted elsewhere in the tropics. Yet many of the men give other testimony, approve of the equable climate, the cool trade-winds, discover no little variety in the multitudinous costumes; the inland boy finding in this port in the Pacific a babel of voices, a marvelous motley people—Hawaiian, Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese, Korean, Porto Rican, Filipino, East Indian, Scandinavian, German, French, Anglo-Saxon and others. He hobbles with all of them, picks up a jargon that he is never to lose—but which it would take a Kipling to put into cold print.

The officer who obligingly answered my questions and also volunteered information regarding the invasion of "The Islands" by Uncle Sam's men, told me that while the soldiers were supposed to be indifferent to service in Hawaii, still there were very few desertions. And then we both laughed—for where would the disgruntled desert to? They could scarcely swim the 2,000 miles to San Francisco, and departing vessels are watched by sharp and experienced eyes. If they fled to the mountains or the cane-fields, some day they would have to leave this seclusion, and to secure safe seclusion in a small, sea-girl tale is very difficult. One thing and another keep the soldier to his task, and it is probable that the days do not drag so very heavily, that at the end of service here the soldier leaves with no little of aloha (love, or liking) for Hawaii.

WITH "TRUMPET AND DRUM"

SHERIDAN'S SON, A LIEUTENANT IN THE FIFTH CAVALRY

PASSING IN REVIEW

One constantly comes across the man in khaki—at the beach, in the park, on the cars, on the streets, in the curio shops, in the little show houses. And he is said to the credit of the soldiers that as a whole they seem a very orderly, self-respecting lot, mind their own affairs, treat you with respect, merit respect from you. I would not go so far as to say that they are invariably sober and upright, but then neither are ununiformed men. The "military" instead of adding a hoodlum, undesirable element to Honolulu's "ethnological laboratory," may be said to have brought quiet rather than disturbance; and that here "military" discipline and smartness give tone. Well cared-for, well groomed horses are perhaps an aid to the humane society. Well cared-for, well groomed humans set a certain pace are not to be discounted in the general trend from the primitive to the civilized. And looked at from the narrower interpretation of society, folk of wide travel, of social experience and graces, are an addition to an isolated community.

A uniform generally attracts attention, but a uniform on horseback special attention. The average person is fond of a dashing figure on horseback, a good horse and a good rider, and the day I visited the cavalry camp at Leliehua I found much pleasure in watching hundreds of good riders and mounts. Though at first approach to the barracks the army mule was much more in evidence than the army horse. There were mules in the corral, mules in the long low sheds, mules driven to great wagons, mules led and one or two officers' carriages were drawn along by mules. Such a big part of things, it seemed incumbent to take a picture of a worthy representative, and I asked a man in authority if I might, then if he would have brought forward a fine specimen, was assured that the one brought forward was considered by its groom—or whatever the attendant is called in the army language—"the best mule in the United States army."

On leaving the corral we passed the soldier's quarters, afterward drove on to Officers' Row, marveling at the wonderful cleanliness and trimness everywhere, all as clean and fresh as the air that blew down from the mountains over the wide open stretches. The dwellings were but temporary affairs, but already had an established look, suggesting they were occupied by people that kept to the habit of making themselves at home as soon as landed. Having a note of introduction to the colonel, we asked direction to his quarters, found his house at the head of the row and an orderly on the veranda. Also a cat, which gave a peaceful, domestic look to the abode of the man of war. Shortly the colonel appeared, bade us welcome, and informed us that the next day was monthly muster, to which we should consider ourselves invited, and advised us to be present in the field at nine o'clock sharp. We spoke of a camera, asked permission to use this weapon on the range, were assured officers and men, horses and mules would be "de-lighted."

On this muster day at Schofield Barracks the Fifth cavalry was complete, the entire regiment now stationed together for the first time since the Civil war. The Fifth made a fine showing as men and horses passed in review before the colonel, and we congratulated ourselves that we had front seats for the play. It was very picturesque—the wide plains bounded on either side by mountains, the cavalrymen capering hither and yon, their sabers and rifles gleaming, and, for contrast, joyous skylarks singing overhead. The ladies of the post and we visitors were allowed close to the reviewing stand, had an excellent view of the horsemen as they went by first at a walk, next at a trot, then at a gallop. The mounted band, the color bearers, the officers, the soldier boys, the picture as a whole was well worth seeing. There was a stirring suggestion of the pomp and circumstance of war, and we liked it—as a play, were glad it was only the pomp and circumstance of practice. The music was inspiring, the dipping of the colors and the officers' uncovering thereto, aroused emotion in us that out here so far from "the states" Uncle Sam was looking after his citizens, promising them protection. But we hoped that the soldiers would never have to face grim reality at Leliehua, that those skylarks there would never be disturbed by the crack of rifles used on men as targets. It was a hot morning, but "muster" went on to the last detail. After the review horses and men were inspected in companies, or whatever they call the groups, were examined critically fore and aft, stood and sat like statues while they went through the ordeal. It was a fine opportunity to get pictures, and we were grateful indeed when the colonel sent over his orderly to tell us we might go along the line and snap what we liked during inspection. There were a number of groups that presented themselves as having good picture qualities, and we were especially pleased when the son of famous Phil Sheridan stood forth in range of the camera, the lieutenant and his horse both such desirable models.

"Mr. Sheridan"—as the "Service" people say—is among the best of the polo players that the Fifth cavalry send out against the island men. At Schofield Barracks they have a splendid polo field, one of the finest in the world, of regulation length. Polo is encouraged in the army, for the sake of the horsemanship and the strengthening of qualities specially desirable in the soldier. The polo matches, sometimes played out at Leliehua, but oftener in the field at Moanalua, just a few miles from Honolulu, are largely attended, arouse much enthusiasm. The island players, riders from infancy, as a rule prove too much for the cavalrymen, though the latter have done excellent work the present season and shown excellent ponies.

At the polo matches the army is out in full force. There are autos and carriages filled with ladies from the various posts, officers walking about visiting auto and carriage. Enthusiasm runs high; the army people are one in their partisanship; the island people divided, as their interests lie; if any of their kin are among those hard-working fellows on horseback it would be against nature for them not to be "agin" the army; but if they are free from personal bent, then a brilliant play by an officer will get it just applause. All races go to the games, the Oriental now taking a keen interest in sports; one sees his impassive face lighted up by alert attention, his eastern calm giving place to expressive approval. At the baseball games there is a no more interested spectator than the smooth-shaven, smooth faced Chinese man of affairs—unless it be the smooth-complexioned, mustached Japanese of a like class.

The tennis courts are popular at Schofield Barracks, stand at the end of the street named Officers' Row, and before the little club house. The barracks form a little world of their own, a pleasant seeming little world of polo and tennis and tea and balls and riding parties, and mountain trips. Trails have been cut here and there in the mountains, peaks not so very long inaccessible are now more or less easily conquered. There are mountain excursions where the ladies are included as well as trips involving army practice and discipline. The Waianae range, with its numerous deep gulches, forested ridges and cloud-capped peaks, offers a good field to climber and explorer, and since the coming of the men in khaki the mountains have been opened up, as it were. Surveys have been made, trails cut, passes assailed, every here and there on the island one comes upon little encampments of soldiers out on their quest of learning the lay of the land, studying and making conditions. The alert and omnipresent Japs, it is said, know the island better than any folk here save a few of the old natives; the Jap sampan men are thoroughly acquainted with the coast, the charcoal burners with remote mountain fastnesses, the agricultural laborers with both lowland and mountain valley. But the men in khaki know a thing or two themselves, and are quietly, steadily adding to their knowledge. A company of engineers is stationed here and is now at work making a military map of the island of Oahu.

Strolling along Officers' Row at Schofield Barracks, we stopped at one of the white-washed "bungalows"—as a soldier boy called it—for a call on an officer's wife and a chat about army life from the woman's point of view. Our hostess surely spoke from the standpoint of one that knew; three generations of her family having served in the army or navy—her mother in a period of twenty-five years lived in thirty-one different stations. This being picked up and moved from place to place, little more of three or four thousand miles or so—has its advantages, tends to the increase of adaptability and breadth; and it is very admirable the philosophic way the ladies of the army accept the temporary shelters provided for them, take the little shacks and make them so attractive and homey. About the verandas along the Row vines were climbing and blossoming; in the tiny lawns exotic looking young trees were growing and various ornamental shrubs, tubs of ferns bordered the paths, in the little garden beds cosmos were blooming, very effective against the white-washed walls. And the interiors were charming, suggested travel and love of books.

The places were so attractive that inconveniences were not thought of by us till brought to light by our hostess, who laughingly told of once being kept two hours in the bathroom when an early caller had possession of the all-too-public sitting room. And laughingly told of conditions as they were a year back, when the present "bungalows" were but sheds with tent wings. And the back of the house, if we cared to investigate, was still just a tent; and sure enough we found the Jap servants out there ironing under canvas and getting ready the luncheon with such conveniences as could be set up in a canvas shelter. But all appeared snug and sufficient and homey.

As we sat on the little veranda and sipped cooling drinks—very refreshing after the hot, unshaded field—we had a talk with the host, came in weary and warm from the morning's work. The captain spoke highly of the men in the regiment, and regretfully of the way people generally regard the soldier; declared it was unjust, unmerited, declared their men were a good set. The captain spoke of the dearth of decent amusements and decent society for the soldiers, said many of them craved better things than were available, the majority of them were by no means means roystering and wasters; he declared the black eye given them generally.

Only a very few of the enlisted men had their families with them at Schofield Barracks; at the time of our visit there was a small number of khaki shelters serving as homes for soldier's wife and children; the tents pitched near the bottom of the gulch some distance beyond the polo field. Down in this gulch a number of Hawaiians dwelt, cultivating taro, raising papaya and bananas, but with large leisure for visits and music and lying at ease under the leafy, low-drooping branches that almost hid their little dwellings. We caught a glimpse of a Hawaiian girl in a wine-red hololua (native dress) with two or three khaki-clad figures near by. Soldier boys studying native life perhaps.

In the late afternoon we drove to the Gap in the Waianae mountains and halted there in the glory of the sunset, looked down on the plain with the barracks standing out so clearly in their isolation, on the broad range land beyond; farther away the sugar-cane and pineapple fields, then upon the Koolau range, at this hour flushed and gilded into wonderful beauty. The place was marvelously quiet; it did not seem possible that a cavalry camp was dwelling there on Leliehua ranch. Leliehua seemed little disturbed by the presence of the men in khaki; doubtless even the ghosts that hovered about the old heiau (ancient temple) at the foot of Mount Kaia, found themselves molested to no great extent. Probably at nightfall they still set out to wander through the gulches and over the ranch on those unwelcome visits to their kindred. As we drove home in the quick-falling darkness we wondered if ever the ghosts met with challenge from the scattered sentries keeping guard at Schofield Barracks.

Force of Habit. First Suffragette—Do you think Miss Laxbones will carry her district? Second Suffragette—Not if she can get a porter to carry it. After all, young women judge a man more by his accomplishments than by what he has accomplished.

Agricultural. Mother—Yes, Johnny, the queen bee is boss. Johnny—How about the presidential bee?

Proved. "There's no question about it," said Scribblegh. "England is the place for an author to live in who wishes to write perfect English. We become merely the expression of our environment, after all, and I wish to do my work in an atmosphere in which the language I use for the expression of my ideas is spoken in all its pristine purity. Do you not agree with me, Lord Miggleton?" "By Jowwe, you're bally right, sir, top!" replied his lordship—Harper's Weekly.

MRS. SELBY AND PRIZE BABY

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel sure that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap, for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old, won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet-faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says: 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.' (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, California, Jan. 15, 1911.

Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going upstairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cure is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sure remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

WELLS WHAT SAVED HER LIFE.

I had tried several remedies but they did not seem to give me any relief. My doctor said I had kidney and liver trouble which I could not believe, as the pain seemed to be in my stomach. At times I had such dreadful pains that I could not move for three or four days and nothing would bring relief. I could not walk and in a short time I lost ten and one half pounds in weight. I also had fainting spells, backache and always that tired and sleepy feeling.

A lady friend who appeared to be troubled in the same way as myself, recommended Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I procured several bottles and gave it a thorough trial and am glad to say that I am feeling perfectly well and like a new person. I cheerfully recommend Swamp-Root to all sufferers. I truly believe that Swamp-Root saved my life.

Senator Benjamin F. Tillman relates an amusing anecdote about a colored man named Jeff, who has been with a neighboring South Carolina family since before the war.

"One day," said Mr. Tillman, "his mistress was rather surprised when Jeff asked to have a few days off to go, as he put it, 'up to de old state o' Bostin'." To see his aunt.

"Why, Jeff," said the lady, "your aunt must be pretty old, isn't she?"
"Yes'm," he replied; "yes'm; mah aunt must be pretty old now—she's out ah hundred an' five years ole now."

"One hundred and five years!" exclaimed his mistress, "what on earth she doing up there in Boston?"
"Deed, I dunno what's she's doin', ma'am," rejoined old Jeff, in all seriousness, "she's up dere livin' wid er gran'mother."

INVOICING OF STOCK ON HAND IN FARM WOOD LOT

By J. FRED BAKER,
Professor of Forestry, Michigan Agricultural College

"Taking Invoice of Farm Woodlot."

There are a great many farms during the last few years that have changed hands, and the purchaser paid a greater share of the price by cutting off the stock on hand in the woodlot.

Selling, buying or holding a farm woodlot, it is well to know the amount and value of what you have on hand, and the rate at which your forest crop is growing. There are many ways of ascertaining the volume of any given stand; one of the simplest may be described as follows:

Measure the diameter of the tree's breast (four and one-half feet from the ground), and record on a blank tally sheet under the proper headings.

In taking these measurements, it is best that two or three persons work together. One person carries the tally sheet, tacked on a light board or placed in a notebook. The other two measure the diameter of the trees at breast height, and call out the measurements to the tally man. For example, one white oak has been measured and found to be four inches in diameter. The tally man records it by making a dot under the four-inch column and opposite the species—white oak. If it had been two white oaks, he would have made two dots; four, four dots; five, four dots and a single bar; six, four dots and two bars, etc., until ten is reached, which completes the box with the two diagonals across it.

The trees are measured by the use of calipers, which simply consist of a rule with one solid arm and an adjustable one, as seen in figure 24. The space between the two arms as read on the rule is the diameter of the tree in question. Home-made calipers, which will answer fairly well, may be made by adjusting a movable arm on a square. Any carpenter will make this.

boiling point must be maintained for several hours—four or five—or for an hour or two or three successive days. The writer has found the latter the safest method. The first hour's boiling is supposed to kill all the molds and the parent bacteria, but upon cooling the seeds germinate and form a new crop of bacteria. The second hour's boiling kills the second crop of bacteria before new seeds can form, and the third hour's boiling makes "assurance doubly sure."

Keeping the Air Out.
After the cans of vegetables are sterilized and tightly sealed, allow them to stand over night, top side down, and after looking them over to see that there is no air vent, dip each can in melted paraffin so that the rubber is covered with a thin layer.

Utensils.
Use broad-bottomed, enameled or aluminum stew pans, spoons, measuring cups, etc. Glass cans are best. The one in most general use with a tin top lined with glass is open to the objection that some of the tin may be dissolved and affect both the color and wholesomeness of the contents. The can with a glass screw top in one place is better, but for vegetables the can with a glass top which rests on top of the rubber should be used and renewed each season. A common wash boiler which holds about thirteen cans may be used for sterilizing the vegetables. A slat or wire bottom should be inserted so as to hold the cans away from the boiler bottom and still allow the flow of water. Use only three or four inches of water, for it is the steam that does the cooking.

Corn.
Select young, tender ears of sweet corn, husk and silk, then with a sharp knife shave off the outside of the kernels and scrape the inner juicy portion from the cob. Fill the cans, add one teaspoonful of salt, then pour in sterilized water from the teakettle until it runs over. Put on rubbers and tops, but do not seal. Set cans in the boiler, pour in the cold water, cover, bring to a boil and boil for one hour. Remove cover, and when the steam has escaped screw or clamp the tops so as to prevent the air from entering. The next day loosen the tops and repeat the boiling. Fasten tops as before and cool. The third day repeat this operation. Then when cool paraffin and put in a cool, dark place.

Peas.
Use young peas. Shell and pack the cans, add one teaspoonful of salt, fill with the sterilized water and proceed as with corn.

Complete Sterilization.
The room in which the work is to be done should be as free from dust as possible, the clothing, hands and everything to be used should be thoroughly clean. The cans and tops should be placed top down in a kettle of cold water and boiled for about ten minutes. All utensils should be sterilized in the same way. The water to be used in filling the cans should be boiled for a half hour in a teakettle and then cooled. The cans must be taken out at a time from the boiling water just as they are to be filled. The tops should be taken from the boiling water and placed directly on the cans. The rubbers must also be put into the boiling water for a few minutes. The boiling point is usually sufficient to kill the parent bacteria, but the seeds will live and germinate after the vegetable has cooled and so the destructive work is only arrested, not completely checked by this process. To be sure that the vegetable is perfectly sterilized, the

MICHIGAN LAND AND APPLE SHOW

Banquet for Visitors Given at First State Exhibit.

BIG PRIZE TO TRAVERSE CITY

L. E. Hall of Ionia Wins First Award—Several Speakers From Various Counties Give Short Addresses.

Lansing.—O. K. White, orchard expert of the Michigan Agricultural College, and Prof. H. J. Eustace, the judges of the individual exhibits at the Western Michigan land and apple show at Grand Rapids, have made their awards. Frank Smith of Traverse City was awarded the grand prize. The first prize was given to L. E. Hall of Ionia; second prize to J. O. Fraleigh of Ravenna; third prize to William Mathews of Grand Rapids.

Honorable mention was awarded to W. S. Smith of St. Johns, Carl Newberg of Grand Rapids, the Huguenot Fruit farm of Harbor Springs, Charles E. Gilson of Sparta and S. P. Barnhart of Grand Rapids.

A banquet was given in the Pantages for the notable visitors to the show. Milton McRae, president of the Detroit board of commerce, and Lieut. Gov. John Q. Ross spoke. Several speakers from the various counties made brief addresses.

The Coliseum presented a beautiful picture. Attractive bungalows line the sides of the big hall and fill the central part of the floor, all beautiful with their trimmings of autumn leaves and evergreens, while one of their principal points of attractiveness is the wood from which they are constructed. It is white birch and comes from the big timber tract of D. H. Day of Glen Haven.

Many odd effects will be found in the different booths and the Michigan apple plays the leading role everywhere.

Right in the center of the hall there is a huge tower, the upper part of which is covered with a beautiful design of apples and grains, while the lower part is filled with huge jars of preserved fruits. The displays of the West Michigan Development bureau and the Original Fruit Belt people will give the visitors something to talk about for the rest of their lives, for it is certain that never before in Michigan, if anywhere, were so many and so fine apples exhibited to the public. It would give the boasted western apple grower something to think might seriously about, for the displays demonstrate fully what Michigan can do in the way of scientific apple growing.

Implement Men Close Meeting.
Before adjourning the Michigan Retail Implement and Vehicle Dealers' association adopted resolutions advocating the appointment by congress of a non-partisan commission to investigate the question of parcels post, all legislation to be deferred until such commission shall have had ample time to act and report. In other ways the organization also showed its disposition to fight the catalogue houses.

Grand Rapids made a strong bid for the next annual meeting of the association, but Saginaw's invitation was accepted by a majority of two votes. The ninth annual meeting will be held November 19, 1912.

Officers were elected as follows: President, W. L. C. Reid, Jackson; vice-president, A. L. Gleason, Copeville; treasurer, O. H. Boylan, Kalamazoo; directors for 1912-13, C. L. Glasgow, Nashville.

Consider Tax Unjust.
Mining men from the iron country of the upper peninsula and Alexander Dow of the Detroit Edison company of Detroit, presented reasons to the state commission of tax inquiry as to why they considered the proposed corporate excess tax an unequal and unjustifiable tax. Frank A. Bell of the United States Steel corporation and William F. Belden of the Cleveland Cliffs Mining company spoke strongly against any attempt to increase the tax on iron mining properties and Mr. Dow said that any increase in the taxes of a public service corporation, such as the one he represented, is reflected back on the patrons who pay the taxes, at least indirectly.

Mr. Dow pointed out that in determining the rates which are charged consumers, the amount of taxes paid must necessarily be considered, and when the tax runs above a certain per cent, then the consumer is affected seriously, as the tax interferes with the securing of certain business in which the margin of profit is small, but which enables the corporation to keep down its rates to the small consumer.

Few Failures Due to Competition.
Only five business men in all lines of trade failed in Michigan in 1910 from too much or too free competition, is the interesting statement made by Frank E. Goodwin in an address on "Cost Accounting" given before the eighth annual meeting of the Michigan Retail Implement and Vehicle Dealers' association. In the past four years, 1907 to 1910, the failures from competition numbered 16. "Forget that there is any such thing as competition in the bad sense," said Editor Goodwin.

State and City Combine to Save Girl

Through the efforts of Governor Osborn, Dr. Robert L. Dixon, secretary of the state board of health, and the council of the city of Port Huron Miss Roberta Gilchrist, twenty-four of that city, has entered the state sanatorium at Howell again in an effort to regain her health.

The case of this young lady is probably the most unique of any in the state and which was brought to the attention of the state officials by Dr. M. A. Patterson of Port Huron. In September, 1910, Miss Gilchrist was sent to the sanatorium by her father for treatment, the father bearing the expenses at that time. She remained there until January of the present year, when she was called home on account of the illness of her father, who died during her stay at home. With the death of her father the means of support for keeping her at the institution were withdrawn. Loath to ask charity, the girl went to the home of a sister, where she remained for some time, and finally was discovered by Dr. Patterson.

The St. Clair county poor commissioner refused to put expense on the county, and in desperation Dr. Patterson appealed to Governor Osborn. The governor laid the matter before Dr. Dixon of the state board of health, who went to Port Huron, and a conference was held at which time the poor board again refused to stand the expense.

Favors Revision of Hunting Laws.

State Game Warden W. R. Oates has returned from the upper country, where he has been planning and investigating, in preparation for the deer hunting season. Owing to his familiarity with hunting and the woods of the upper peninsula, the warden has taken an unusual interest in the matter of enforcing the game laws, although it is generally admitted that the last legislature made a useful job of the biennial revision of these statutes, as a result of which no hunter is safe in the woods without an attorney and bondsman, except that such construction has been placed on them as will allow for reasonable enforcement.

"Lots of deer," said the major, "and plenty of hunters. The latter are crossing the straits now in army corps and within a few days there will begin the shipment of deer carcasses by the score. Most of the hunters waited for the snow to come before going north, and as a result the business of watching the shipments out of trophies of the chase has just begun."

Asked what percentage of chances a man takes in going into the woods in these days of high power rifles and numerous amateur hunters, Warden Oates replied: "Pass a law prohibiting the killing of any except horned male deer, and the mortality record of our woods would be greatly decreased, in my judgment. Excitable hunters, as it is, shoot first and then look to see what stirred in the bushes. If there was a penalty for killing does, then the shooter would have to wait until he could determine whether it was really a deer or another man with a gun, and the loss of life would be lessened. I have investigated records in Pennsylvania and other states having such a law, and find that the sudden decrease in figures showing the loss of human life is startling. If each hunter has to wait to see whether it was a buck or doe, he would also ascertain whether it was a deer or human being, before he shoots."

State Crop Report.

The monthly crop report as issued by the secretary of state shows the condition of wheat as compared with an average per cent, is in the state and upper peninsula 90, in the southern counties 87, in the central counties 93, and in the northern counties 94.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in October at 129 flouring mills is 251,062 and at 143 elevators and to grain dealers 329,944, or a total of 571,996 bushels. Of this amount 392,774 in the central counties and 33,767 in the northern counties and upper peninsula. The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in the three months, August-October, is 5,000,000.

The estimated average yield of corn in bushels is 32 in the state, 33 in the southern counties, 31 in the central counties, 30 in the northern counties and 37 in the upper peninsula.

The per cent of acreage of clover seed harvested as compared with average years, is 64 in the state and northern counties, 61 in the southern counties, 69 in the central counties and 81 in the upper peninsula. The average yield per acre in bushels is 1.49 in the state, 1.39 in the southern counties, 1.68 in the central counties, 1.64 in the northern counties and 2.00 in the upper peninsula.

The estimated average yield of potatoes per acre, in bushels is 92 in the state, 84 in the southern counties, 87 in the central counties, 105 in the northern counties and 123 in the upper peninsula.

Glaizer Petitions Still Come In.

There is considerable speculation about the state house as to what action will be taken on the application for the release of Frank P. Glaizer, now confined in Jackson prison. Six months ago a postcard campaign was started asking the governor for the ex-state treasurer's release. Up to the present time there has arrived the executive office approximately 200 such post card requests, and at 200 letters from various parts of the state.

OTHER PART ALL RIGHT.

He—When we are married we will live on bread and kisses, won't we, darling?
She—Oh! I don't like bread.

Youth and Age.

"The difference between youth and age was never so well put," said Rev. C. W. Penlow, in an address at an Ocean Grove beach meeting, "as by a playwright who once wrote: 'Youth, which is forgiven everything, forgives itself nothing. Age, which forgives itself everything, is forgiven nothing.'"

Silent Innuendo.

"That woman always speaks kindly of others," replied Miss Cayenne; "but she always does it in such a way as to imply that she is making some terrible mental reservations."

Tree Destroyers.

Porcupines are good climbers, and when unable to get enough apples wind-blown to the ground, swarm a tree and cut down the finest bearing limbs as quickly and neatly as a bear can sever the trunk of a young hemlock. Besides that, when other food is scarce they nibble the bark off young apple trees, and can destroy a newly planted orchard in a short time. They also are a great enemy to the young spruce, but why they eat them is a mystery, as it is not found that they even eat the tenderest shoots.

Could Hardly Hear

Senses of Taste and Smell Were Also Greatly Impaired.

"I was afflicted with catarrh," writes Eugene Forbes, Lebanon, Kansas. "I took several different medicines, giving each a fair trial, but grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I was about to give up in despair, but concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking three bottles of this medicine I was cured, and have not had any return of the disease." Hood's Sarsaparilla effects radical and permanent cures of catarrh. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

BREVITIES

JACKSON—Ruth, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Butler, of Jackson, fell into an open cistern in the basement of the family residence about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and was drowned. The child was 6 years old.

MANCHESTER—The gentlemen who went to Detroit last Thursday to investigate a manufacturing proposition were not very favorably impressed with it, although they found it about as represented by Mr. Fischer.—Enterprise.

DEXTER—On Monday evening the village council passed an ordinance giving the Ann Arbor Gas Company the right to lay pipes and supply gas to the village and this ordinance is to be submitted to the electors for ratification on the 27th day of November.—Leader.

SALINE—Corn thieves have been putting in their work in Pittsfield township of late helping themselves to the husked product as it lay in the field. Last Friday night someone cut the wire fence of W. S. Harwood, entered the field and hauled away a good load of nice ears.—Observer.

JACKSON—Michigan lodge No. 50, F. & A. M., closed its year Wednesday evening, when it worked the third degree. The unusual feature was presented of having the candidate and all the floor workers for the evening come from one institution, the Jackson postoffice being the contributor of all the talent as well as the fellowcrafts. A chicken pie supper was served at 6:30.

FRANCISCO—The school house which the German Lutherans of this place erected this summer is completed and school has opened with two sessions each week; Wednesday afternoons and Saturday forenoons. A departure from the old custom has been inaugurated in that the instructions will be in English instead of German. The confirmation class of 1912 will be the first English class ever confirmed in this church. Seven pupils are in attendance, but more may enter later.

YPSILANTI—L. F. Nowlin, of Jackson, was unable to find his pass Friday night, and was put off train No. 14, going east, by Conductor Blakeley. Saturday morning Detective Hugh G. Dwyer, of Detroit, made a complaint charging Nowlin with using indecent and profane language on the train in the hearing of other passengers. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was allowed to go upon the payment of the costs, amounting to $4.40.

HILLSDALE—People who want the night watchman during the night have a very easy and effective way of locating him now. A red light has been placed in front of the postoffice and this is on a separate switch, so that one can call the telephone office and the operator can switch on the light. If the night watchman is anywhere on the street he will soon see the light and call up to find out where he is wanted.—Hillsdale Daily.

MANCHESTER—John Delker of the east side store had a close call last Saturday from being severely burned. He had been out delivering goods and was returning to the barn when Prof. McCallum discovered his coat was on fire. He called to Mr. Delker and he quickly grabbed off his coat which was badly burned on one side. His vest and shirt were also considerably burned before he smothered the flames. A spark from a cigar he was smoking probably was the cause of mischief. The incident was somewhat laughable to the bystanders, serious as it may have been.—Enterprise.

MANCHESTER—Work on the new catholic church is progressing. The plasterers have begun operation, the windows are expected to arrive any day, the seating is here ready to be placed as soon as the plastering is finished. Rev. Fr. Fisher intends to dedicate the church on Thanksgiving day if possible.—Enterprise.

FRANCISCO—Mrs. Martha Locher observed her ninety-third birthday November 8. Mrs. Locher is in possession of a fine mentality, can read some without the use of glasses and is very well physically for one so advanced in years. She received a number of birthday remembrances and many cards bearing congratulations and best wishes from her friends.

ANN ARBOR—George Ross, aged 10, through his father, as next friend, has started suit for $10,000 damages against Frank I. Cornwell, a local merchant for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile accident about three weeks ago. The declaration alleges that as young Ross was riding on his bike the Cornwell auto run him down and broke both ankles.

William Faversham in 'The Faun.'

William Faversham is to bring his new play, "The Faun" by Edward Knoblauch to the New Whitney theatre Ann Arbor, Saturday, November 18. It will mark his first stellar appearance in other than tragic or at least serious roles and will bring into view the work of another member of the school of young American playwrights which has been of such conspicuous worth to the stage during the past few years. The title of Mr. Faversham's new offering is calculated to arouse speculation and perhaps involuntarily to suggest that it is for the delectation of the "highbrow" goodness, how many sins that poor expression has had to answer for, but in reality it is one of the merriest comedies of recent years, yet one written with considerable serious purpose. It's mission was to amuse, to interest and to, perhaps, instruct by calling attention to the hollowiness of many of our modern shams and by proclaiming the gospel of happiness.

Founded upon the idea of bringing a faun—a faun in mythology was a son of Pan, the god of the flocks and shepherds—into modern life and surroundings, Mr. Knoblauch's unique play finds its comedy opportunities in the unconventional manner in which the faun meets and disposes of modern conventions, the nonchalant manner in which he brushes aside social traditions and the plain yet thoroughly wholesome manner of speech in which he indulges. Where he finds gloom he dispels it, where unhappiness he banishes it, where cant he demolishes it. He finds the modern world a wonderful place but with many things out of place in it and he proceeds to set them right.

All this to an accompaniment of rapid fire comedy and amusing yet pungent and satirical philosophy that, so it has been said, make the play as entertaining as it is unusual.

Mr. Faversham has achieved a personal success of remarkable dimension in his creation of a character altogether new to the stage, while the company of which Miss Julie Opp is the foremost supporting member, has been highly commended.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it is the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co.

Annual Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will hold their annual chicken pie supper and fair at the town hall Wednesday, November 22. Aprons, dressed dolls, witch cloths for cleaning silver, and other articles will be on sale. Home made candy will be a special feature. Supper will begin at 5 p. m. and continue until all are served. Price for supper 25 cents. Every body come.

Princess Theatre.

The Princess theatre will offer vaudeville on Thursday and Friday of this week, Miss Dorothy Small, singer and child impersonator being the attraction. Miss Small presents an act different than any at the Princess for some time and changes her program each evening.

The Saturday night feature at the Princess is the great Vitaphone war drama, "Wages of War," a story of love, war and delicate romance between a northern cavalrman and a southern beauty. It is replete with pathos of "love deferred," the catering of troops in marsh uniforms, a sisters sacrifice for the one beloved. See this picture and you will go away pleased with life's compensations.

Other pictures on the program are "Her Dad, the Constable," a funny comedy of rural life in the west, "In the Shadow of the Pines," a beautiful story of undying love and perfect faith. The picture program closes with an educational picture entitled "Among the Japanese," a subject depicting interesting phases of life in the Orient.

Miss Spinnagle will sing two big favorites entitled "Billy" a late hit and the old timer "By the Old Mill Stream."

Coming attractions for next week at the Princess are as follows: "Mutt and Jeff" and an Imp comedy picture on Tuesday night. The management of the Princess were disappointed in their Mutt and Jeff picture not arriving for Tuesday of this week but are sure of the one for next Tuesday. On Thursday, November 23rd, "The Declaration of Independence" Edison superb picture will be the feature.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should not be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, healthiest and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Chelsea who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief, aiding to neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25 cent box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For each case, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. L. T. Freeman Co.

LIFE ON A BOER FARM

NOT INVITING FROM AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW.

Woman Traveler Describes the Monotony and Discomforts She Found in the Agricultural Regions of South Africa.

An American woman traveling in South Africa was detained by floods and compelled to spend a month on a Boer farm.

"The first night's monotony," she writes in Health Culture, "was broken by the roaring of ostriches under our windows. We thought it was a tame lion.

"The farmer and his family lived chiefly on sour bread and sour skimmed milk. I was therefore hungry most of the time and the ripe figs hanging in clusters were pretty alluring. After pushing back the skin of the fig and enjoying the soft fruit with its tropical taste I had a refreshing night's sleep, only to awaken in the morning pretty well scared, for my tongue was so swollen and black that I could not talk.

"The Boer wife laughed and enjoyed my discomfort and explained that the skin of the fig had numerous fine thorns and I had not been careful to remove it when eating.

"When I told the farmer's wife that I liked buttermilk in quantity I noticed that I had a cupful or so given me, but she threw it by the palld to the pigs. They were of far more consequence to her than I, for they would stay longer with her and were her familiars. I was not.

"Then again, when I was hungry for butter on my bread, a white clammy substance made from 'sheep tail fat' was handed to me, and I could not allow the farmer's wife to see me quiver. She sold her butter in the village close by at 75 cents a pound, more or less. Sour bread and green strawberries (plenty of them) were considered good enough.

"The Boer family was one of the wealthiest of their kind. There was not a ripple of fun or exuberant life in anything but the live stock. Conversation was a dead language—unknown.

"The women are mute beings, accepting their destiny with a deep stillness. The wife gives of her strength to the limit, and dies after giving birth to a dozen or more children, to make way for wife number two, who gives another dozen children to her country. Her adobe house, with its dirt floor made of antihill clay mixed with beef gall, is a chamber of horror to an American traveler.

"The farmer depends upon his ten to eighteen children, of all sizes, to help him. A Kamfr as an employee is undependable as the wind that blows. Yet that Kamfr is the hired man in the mines and elsewhere in South Africa. The white man as a day laborer is a general failure. He cannot be worked in droves like the Kamfr from the interior, whose language, in clicks and vowel sounds, is hardly human.

"The Boer is not long lived. One seldom met an aged Boer of the old stock. Oom Paul Kruger, who was 75 years old when he died, was an exception. Hatred toward the Uitlander and the lust for gold and power was what kept the fires of life burning at white heat within him.

"To stem the elements alone in Africa takes the stoutest heart. Favers assailed the discouraged and underfed home boy. The easily forced streams become rivers, like swirling Niagaras, in a few hours and the terrific thunderstorms paralyze one sensitive to electrical influences.

"There is no pretty little, far-off streak in the sky which the amateur photographer can catch on his film, but the air is charged with electricity so appalling in its violet hued and deep orange earthbound clouds that one has to come to a complete standstill whether walking or riding on the open veldt, so as not to attract the ribbonlike lightning playing around him and venting its fury on any moving object."

Notice.

Edward A. Krug, tailor of Ann Arbor, formerly under Brook's Billiard Room, has moved his family to Chelsea, and is now located on Jefferson street where he will continue to do all kinds of ladies' and gents' cleaning, pressing and repairing. Work called for and delivered. Phone 179.

JACKSON—Miss Lena Brooks, 25, colored, well known because of having worked in a large number of homes as a maid, dropped dead in a local drug store Saturday evening, after she had asked the clerk for a sheet of paper and an envelope, to write a note. It is thought death was due to heart trouble. In Miss Brooks' pocketbook were found two capsules containing strychnine. She has an aunt living in Ypsilanti.
