WRECK ON D. U. R. LINE

Two Limited Cars Meet Head-on at Steinbach's Hill Monday.

Two Deaths—Fifty-eight of the Ninety Passengers Injured—Many Have Broken Bones and Others Bruised and Cut—Twelve in Hospitals at Ann Arbor.

INJURED FROM CHELSEA.

Mrs. Edward Vogel, both legs and one arm bruised.

Mrs. L. C. Kelly, back, right knee and foot, badly injured.

Mrs. Lydia Johnson, both knees bruised.

Miss Julia Clark, of Four Mile Lake, left arm and chest bruised.

Rev. A. A. Schoen, back and both legs bruised, hand and face cut.

Albert Linke, right leg, shoulder and back hurt. Bone in leg cracked.

Adrian Carter, hips, legs and back bruised.

Within five minutes after the news was received in Chelsea every available automobile in town was headed for the scene of the accident, and all who arrived were assisting the injured long before the electric line management even started assistance for the scene of the wreck.

Among those who were brought to Chelsea was Miss Boyle, of Battle Creek, who had a gash cut over her right eye. She was taken to the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Schoen where she received medical attention and returned to her home on an evening train. Two young ladies, who were students on their way to the U. of M. from their homes in Grand Rapids, were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Vogel. One of the young ladies had a gash cut on her neck and one of them lost her purse containing $50, and both of them returned to their homes in Grand Rapids on a night train. H. S. Beecher, of Detroit, who is a traveling man for the Peninsular Stove Co., is at the Chelsea House with both of his legs badly injured.

John Hoeter, who is employed as a baker by Edwards & Watkins of the place, but who resides in Ann Arbor, was accompanied by his wife, who had been spending the day in Chelsea, was aboard the eastbound car had his back badly bruised and received a scalp wound. His physician thinks that Mr. Hoeter will probably be confined to his home for a week or ten days. Mrs. Hoeter received wounds on both of her legs and a severe cut over one of her eyes.

Mrs. A. E. Congdon, of Ypsilanti, who was returning home from a visit at the home of her son, Claire, of this place, received slight injuries, and her daughter, Mrs. James Helber, of Ann Arbor, who had also spent the day in Chelsea, had her nose broken.

The two cars were both badly demoralized and every seat was torn loose and piled up, in some cases on top of the injured passengers. The eastbound car was driven into the big westbound M. U. R. car, pinning many of the helpless victims to the floor. The M. U. R. car was taken to Jackson Tuesday evening and the D. J. & C. car was taken to Ypsilanti Tuesday night. The work of clearing away the wreckage was carried on until Wednesday morning before it was all cleaned up.

Moses Slonin, died Tuesday night in a hospital at Ann Arbor. His brother, Hyman Slonin, is in the hospital at Ann Arbor, and is in a serious condition. Both men are said to be rabbis from Jerusalem who were touring American in the interest of a Jewish educational campaign. Of the others who were injured many of them have broken bones. Most of the wounded passengers were taken to the hospitals at Ann Arbor, but those who were but slightly injured returned to their homes.

So far as the railway management is concerned they seemed to have been extremely negligent in getting physicians and nurses to the scene of the accident, and it was upwards of four hours before the most seriously injured were taken to the Ann Arbor hospitals. The Chelsea physicians were not called by the electric line company, but went out of purely humane sympathy for the injured, and did heroic work after their arrival in relieving the distressed.

Saves Leg of Boy.

"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Agone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors' treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25c at L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co., L. T. Freeman Co.

Do you have an early breakfast? If you do, you can have half an hour's sleep in the morning by using a Gas stove. You don't have to wait for the fire to start. Gas will soon be in Chelsea. It is time to think about it now.

DECIDED ON ROADS.

At the Mass Meeting Saturday Afternoon Two Thoroughfares Selected.

The electors of Sylvan met in mass meeting at the town hall Saturday afternoon and decided to have two of the roads south and west of Chelsea put in first-class condition. The two roads will cover a distance of about eight miles in length, and the work will be done under the supervision of the highway commissioner.

The territorial road from Sylvan Center west to the county line is one of the roads to be put in thorough repair and covers a distance of over three miles. When this stretch of road and the street from the Old Peoples Home to Main street is completed, Chelsea will have a distance of seven miles of good graveled road leading from it to the west limits of Sylvan township.

The Manchester road is the second one decided upon. The work will be carried south from the village limits to the line between Sylvan and Sharon, a distance of five miles. As this is one of the principal routes leading from the south into Chelsea the road is without a doubt a splendid selection.

When the work is completed on both thoroughfares they will furnish two good roads leading into Chelsea.

Held Annual Meeting.

The Jackson Association of Congregational churches held their annual meeting in the Congregational church of this place on Tuesday of this week. The Association consists of sixteen Congregational churches located in Washtenaw, Jackson, Branch and Ingham counties, and most of the societies had representatives present.

The three sessions of the ministerial section were presided over by Rev. A. J. Blair as moderator, and Rev. W. C. Allen, of Leslie, was the scribe.

The Woman's Home Missionary Union of the Jackson conference held their sessions in the Christian Endeavor room and many interesting papers were read and discussed. The sessions were attended by good sized audiences.

The ministerial sessions were held in the auditorium of the church. At the business meeting in the morning Rev. A. J. Blair, of Jackson, was elected moderator, and Rev. C. W. Allen, of Leslie, registrar for the coming year. Rev. Bastian Smits, of Jackson, and Robert Campbell, of Ann Arbor, were elected as corporate members of the American board of foreign missions. Able papers were read by Revs. M. Knowles, A. A. Wood, C. J. Dole, J. W. Sutherland, W. H. Ripston, A. J. Blair and Bastian Smits. A paper on Sunday school work was read by Henry H. Hoffman.

The Women's Guild of the local church served a dinner in the dining room at noon.

Choice Clip of Wool.

O. C. Burkhardt on Monday brought to Chelsea from his farm in Lima the finest clip of wool that was ever placed on the Chelsea market, is the statement made by the local buyers.

The clip is from 60 full blood Black Top ewes, from one to five years old, and each fleece is as white as is possible unless they are put through a bleaching process. The length of the staple is from 4 1/2 to 5 inches and the average weight of each fleece is 10 1/2 pounds. Every fleece is perfect, and it is worth the time of any wool grower to go and see the clip. The load was viewed by from 40 to 50 persons on the streets before it was taken to the warehouse.

Filed Answer to Bill.

The answer of Mrs. Marie Hath, of Flint, to the bill of complaint filed last March by her husband, Bert Hath, of Chelsea, was filed Friday morning in the county clerk's office.

Hath accused his wife of desertion and cruelty. Mrs. Hath claims that she left because "hubby" became so enamored of another woman that he neglected to buy anything for herself or the children to eat. She also denies that he has been taking care of the children since, and asserts that she has been doing it herself by working in an automobile factory at Flint. Hath is employed by the Flanders company in Chelsea. The couple were married in 1904, and have two children. They separated in 1908.

ONE KILLED; 50 HURT IN STREET CAR WRECK

TWO LIMITED CARS MEET HEAD-ON ON THE D. J. & C. WEST OF ANN ARBOR.

CONFUSION OF ORDERS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF WRECK.

Passengers Thrown About by Impact and Nearly Everyone Hurt; Two of the Injured May Die.

Misinterpretation of telephone orders is held responsible for the collision of two limited cars, head-on, seven miles west of Ann Arbor, on the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago electric line, in which one man was killed, two fatally injured and 45 others were hurt.

The accident occurred midway between two switches, which is regarded as conclusive that either of the car crews confused orders. The east-bound car crew contends that the orders were to stop on the switch a mile east of where the crash occurred, while the east-bound crew claims that orders were to wait on the switch a mile west of the accident point.

Both cars were traveling at close to 30 miles an hour when the crash came, were telescoped and reduced to mending.

Edward Densmore, who was killed, was sitting in the smoking department, and his body was pinned so fast between the walls of the two cars that it was some time before it could be extricated. He was killed almost instantly.

Car No. 7295, east bound and the smaller of the two, shot 20 feet into No. 32, the larger car, and it is believed that had the two cars been of the same size there would have been fewer injured and possibly no loss of life.

R. H. Halbrook, of Detroit, was sitting beside Densmore, and, seeing the approach of the car from the opposite direction rushed to the door and jumped, followed by the motor man. Both landed in a sand pile and were unhurt.

The regular meeting place of the two limiteds is at the Dexter road switch, but owing to the fact that the dispatcher at Ypsilanti, finding car No. 7295 had left Jackson later than 3:10, its usual time of departure, the orders were given for both cars to meet at the Pink switch, two miles westward. The supposition that No. 33, which left Detroit at 2:10, adhered to the order, but ran past Pink switch as usual, to make the Dexter switch.

A coroner's jury will be sworn to investigate and place the blame for the wreck.

Neither car had a chance to stop as the west bound car was making fast time up Steinhil hill on a curved track and the east bound was coming down the hill. Both motormen applied the brakes, but it was too late. Then they jumped.

DEARINGS PLEAD GUILTY.

Albion Bank Wreckers Present Before Judge Angell in Detroit.

With his gray head bowed, his face seamed and careworn, Henry M. Dearing, formerly cashier of the Albion National bank, stood before Judge Angell in federal court and heard Clerk Voorhels read an indictment charging forgery, fraud and misappropriation of funds. Through the 20 minutes' reading of the indictment, Palmer M. Dearing, the son, stood straight and erect by the side of his father. At the conclusion of the reading both men said "Guilty" in a tone scarcely heard across the room.

The surprising feature of the indictment was the charges made against Addie M. Hollen, the stenographer in the office of Palmer M. Dearing, who was secretary of the Cook Manufacturing Co. It was Miss Hollen, the federal officers say, who forged the numerous notes by which the Albion National bank was able to hide its deficit from the bank examiners.

Both the Dearing's showed the effects of their long stay in jail. Henry M. Dearing, the aged cashier, seemed many years older than when he was brought to Detroit from Albion to await the action of the grand jury. The attitude of Palmer M. Dearing, who was secretary of the Cook Manufacturing Co., to whose misfortunes the insolventcy of the Albion bank is laid, has the appearance of a man whose spirit is broken.

State Finances Are Sound.

With 65 per cent of the state tax collected, the state is over $1,000,000 better off in actual money than it was a year ago.

At that time there was $1,376,000 in cash on hand, according to Auditor General Fuller, while at the close of business Monday night there was $2,494,000 on hand.

In view of this condition it is believed the state's finances are in better condition than in several years and that the deficit has been finally wiped out.

OCEAN LINER TITANIC SINKS; 1,334 LOST

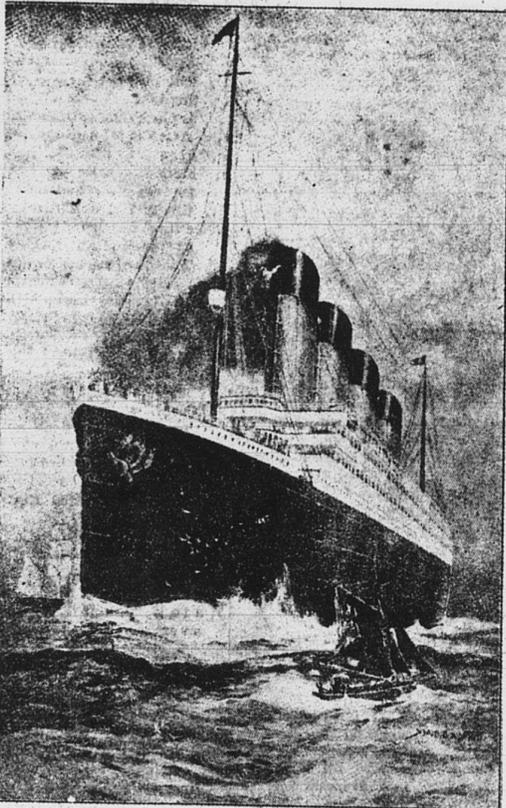

ONLY 866 PERSONS OF 2,200 ON BOARD ESCAPE FROM THE WORLD'S GREATEST OF MARINE DISASTERS.

Mightiest of Ocean Liners Strikes an Iceberg off Grand Banks at 10:25 Sunday Night and Founders at 2:20 Monday Morning.

Although 868 souls are reported to be on the Carpathia it is apparent that all of them are not passengers, for it was necessary for members of the Titanic's crew to man the lifeboats which set out from the sinking liner. How many of the crew were assigned to each boat is a matter of conjecture. While the names of the survivors are largely of saloon passengers, the rule "women first" should apply equally to the second cabin and steerage, and may have cost the lives of many prominent men above decks. It is natural that the names of the more obscure survivors would be slower in reaching land.

False news and false hopes and an international belief that the palatial Titanic was unshakable, followed the slowly unfolding accounts of her loss without precedent. Eager crowds in a dozen cities in the United States besieged bulletin boards when it became known that the giant liner had really sunk with terrific loss of life, and in New York city hysterical men and women crowded into the White Star line offices seeking news of relatives.

On her maiden trip. In the melancholy roll of marine tragedies that which overtook the Titanic is the first on record where in a conspicuous vessel has met disaster on her maiden voyage. The nearest approach to such an unfortunate fate was the cruise of the Naronic, which, singularly enough, belonged to the same line. She went to the port of missing ships on her second voyage. Carrying about 300, all told, she steamed out of this port on her return trip, nearly 20 years ago, and since then there has never been a word as to how she met her fate.

The greatest marine disaster in the history of the world occurred Sunday night when the Titanic of the White Star Line, the biggest and finest of steamships, shattered herself against an iceberg and sank with 1,334 of her passengers and crew in less than four hours.

Out of 2,200 people she carried only 866 were known to be saved. Most of these were women and children. They were picked up from small boats by the Cunarder Carpathia which found, when she ended her desperate race against time, a sea strewn with the wreckage of the lost ship and the bodies of drowned men and women.

Among the 1,310 passengers of the giant liner were: Col. John J. Astor and his wife, Isidor Straus, Major Archibald W. Butt, George B. Widener and Mrs. Widener of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Harper, Wm. T. Stead, the London journalist, and many more whose names are known on both sides of the Atlantic. The news that few besides women and children were saved has caused the greatest apprehension as to the fate of these.

When the Titanic plunged headlong against a wall of ice at 10:25 Sunday night, her fate established that no modern steamship is unsinkable, and the White Star line believed that the Titanic was practically invulnerable and insisted, until there was no doubting the full extent of the catastrophe, that she could not sink. The great ship was the last word in modern scientific construction, but she found the ocean floor almost as quickly as a wooden ship.

On her maiden trip, the Titanic, built and equipped at a cost of $10,000,000, a floating palace, found her grave. Swinging from the westerly steaming lane at the south of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland to take the direct run to this port, she hurled her giant bulk against an iceberg that rose from an immense field drifting unseasonably from the Arctic. Running at high speed into that grim and silent enemy of seafarers, the shock crushed her bow. From a happy, comfortable vessel she was converted in a few minutes into a ship of misery and dreadful suffering.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

GATHERING AT BAY CITY ELECTS TWO SETS OF DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

ROOSEVELT DELEGATES ELECT DELEGATES AND LEAVE HALL.

State Chairman Knox Refused to Call Convention to Order and the Taft Delegates Proceed Without Him.

The Republican state convention, for selection of delegates to the national convention held in Bay City on the 11th, was one of most extraordinary features in which the state militia and the city's police force were prominent figures, and the result is a delegation composed of Taft supporters and one of Roosevelt adherents. This will give the national convention a very bitter contest to settle as to which delegation shall be seated. The two factions fought for control of the Bay City convention with a fierceness rarely, if ever before, equaled in a Michigan convention. There were some very unusual methods employed, there was much bitter incrimination, and finally a split, two conventions, two sets of delegates and as a result, not favorable to a harmonious settlement even in the national convention, where final decision as to which delegation is the legally chosen one will be made.

Both sides adopted resolutions commendatory of candidates they favor and both maintained their organization the legal one. It was a fight to a finish and both sides claim to have won.

Outrages in Mexico Must Stop at Once. The state department has made strong representations to the Madero government against Orozco, the Mexican rebel leader. President Madero has been given to understand that this government may not longer tolerate the brutal treatment of innocent Americans, the killing of American missionaries, the rifling of American mills and other insults to this government on the part of Orozco and his followers.

In presenting to Madero the case of Albert Fountain, an enlisted soldier who was captured and assassinated, Mr. Heberlein, an American mining engineer, who was taken prisoner, and a department declared that the recognized government must be held responsible for these outrages. Madero has been informed that the killing of Fountain was nothing less than a cold-blooded, premeditated murder.

The Mexican government has been asked to try Orozco on the charge of murder in the Fountain case and if Orozco is ever found in the United States he will be arrested on that charge and returned to Mexico under a demand for trial.

Flood Sweeps Tallulah, La. As far as the eye can reach north, east and west from the highest point in Tallulah, La., nothing but water can be seen. The Mississippi river's flood tide, escaped from a break in the levee near Alsatia, swept through town with the speed of a mill race. Many buildings are afloat. Scores of people, driven even from the roofs of their dwellings in Tallulah, now are homeless.

A mile and a half north of Tallulah along the Iron Mountain railroad the water is up to the cross-arms on the telegraph poles. It is believed that further out the poles are submerged.

The sugar beet has more enemies than any other important agricultural produce of the country. In the south, the beetles and blister beetles attack it; in the states from Michigan to Kansas the grasshopper, and in other sections the white grub, the curly top leafhopper, the web worm, the wire worm, the beet army worm and the beet aphid. The department of agriculture estimates that the annual loss to the sugar beet growers from insects pests runs from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. The department is conducting experiments to find means of preventing this loss.

Probably Made a Hit. A young woman who presides over one of the kindergarten schools of Cambridge appeared at her desk recently attired in a new close-fitting skirt. With no thought other than the conducting of her regular routine work, the teacher went about her duties. She noticed, however, that one of her charges was paying little attention to his work, but following her with his eyes wherever she chanced to go. Approaching the little fellow with the intention of ascertaining the trouble, she said: "Well, Tommy—" Before she could go any further the youngster shook his boyish head and said: "Say, teacher, that's a classy skirt you've got on!"—Boston Post.

PIMPLES ON FACE 3 YEARS

"I was troubled with acne for three long years. My face was the only part affected, but it caused great disfigurement, also suffering and loss of sleep. At first there appeared red, hard pimples which later contained white matter. I suffered a great deal caused by the itching. I was in a state of perplexity when walking the streets or anywhere before the public.

"I used pills and other remedies but they failed completely. I thought of giving up when nothing would help, but something told me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a Cuticura Booklet which I read carefully. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and by following the directions I was relieved in a few days. I used Cuticura Soap for washing my face, and applied the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. This treatment brought marvelous results so I continued with it for a few weeks and was cured completely. I can truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are not only all, but more than they claim to be." (Signed) G. B. Baumel, 1015 W. 20th Place, Chicago, Ill., May 28, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

WHAT WILL CURE MY BACK?

Common sense will do more to cure backache than anything else. I will tell you whether the kidneys are sore, swollen and aching. It will tell you in that case that there is no use trying to cure it with a plaster. If the passages are scant or too frequent, proof that there is kidney trouble is complete. Then common sense will tell you to use Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A TYPICAL CASE—Edward Forche, 1833 Cleveland Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "My eyes were puffed from droopy and my hands and feet terribly swollen. For three months I was completely laid up. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the awful back pains, stopped the swelling and made me feel one hundred per cent better."

Women From Forty-Five to Fifty Are Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The "change of life" is a most critical period in a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason. When her system is in a deranged condition, she may be predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of some organ. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected. These symptoms are calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of women's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Mrs. Estella Gillispie

ONE CASE OUT OF MANY TO PROVE OUR CLAIMS.

St. Anne, Ill.—"I was passing through the change of life and I was a perfect wreck from female troubles. I had a displacement and bearing down pains, weak fainting spells, dizziness, then numb and cold feelings. Sometimes my feet and limbs were swollen. I was irregular and had so much backache and headache, was nervous, irritable and was dependent. Sometimes my appetite was good but more often it was not. My kidneys troubled me at times and I could walk only a short distance. "I saw your advertisement in a paper and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was helped from the first. At the end of two months the swelling had gone down, I was relieved of pain, and could walk with ease. I continued with the medicine and now I do almost all my housework. I know your medicine has saved me from the grave and I am willing for you to publish anything I write to you, for the good of others."—Mrs. ESTELLA GILLISPIE, R.F.D. No. 6, Box 34, St. Anne, Illinois.

The Chelsea Standard

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, East Middle street, Chelsea, Michigan.

O. T. HOOVER.

Terms:—$1.00 per year; six months, fifty cents; three months, twenty-five cents. To foreign countries $1.50 per year. Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application.

Entered as second-class matter, March 5, 1908, at the postoffice at Chelsea, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

INCOMPETENT EXECUTIVES.

The recent wreck on the D. U. R. east of this town, and the method of handling the injured would seem to indicate that it is time for the state officials to move for a Receiver for this branch of the system. The executive officers show their incompetency in the kind of men they select for various positions. The first call for assistance did not come from uninjured trainmen but from one of the passengers, Mrs. Edward Vogel of this place, walking nearly three-quarters of a mile and calling for assistance from Chelsea, so that the first doctors reached the scene of the wreck nearly three-quarters of an hour after the collision and at that an hour and a quarter before the company even responded with a flat car. For nearly two hours the injured were cared for and assisted by individuals moved by humanity and showing executive ability absolutely lacking on the part of the officers of the company.

With Ann Arbor within ten minutes run from the accident and full of nurses and doctors, the fact remains that for two hours Chelsea physicians and Chelsea citizens, together with the local farmers, were the only persons extending help to the injured. The only Ann Arbor doctor there, while representing the company, seems to have got there on the initiative of Mrs. Helber, a passenger, rather than through any action of the officials.

The day has long since passed when railroad accidents can be handled idealistically, under the supposition that if everything is kept silent there is no damage. The accidents happen in space and time, and in space and time must be handled, and if the D. U. R. proposes to go back to methods of thirty-five years ago, when to ignore and conceal accidents was the custom then the sooner a receiver takes charge the better for the traveling public.

The Flanders team will be equipped with the best uniforms, gloves, etc., that money can buy and a very strong aggregation of ball players will make Flanders a hard proposition to defeat on the diamond this year. The following line-up will be used Saturday, April 20, against the Chelsea high school:
William Miller, 1b; L. Holt, 2b; T. J. Kelley, 3b; H. French, ss; Geo. Wackenhut, lf; Max Kelley, cf; J. S. Dunn, rf; Chester McCombs, p; G. Bockres, c.

Sunday, April 21, at the same park the Flanders team have as opponents the Chelsea town team. Both teams are confident of victory and as the Chelsea town team are making an extra effort to get a strong line-up, and as their efforts have not been in vain, one of the most interesting games of the season will be played on that date. General admission will be 15 cents. Both games will be called promptly at 3 p. m. (standard.)

PAY by CHECK

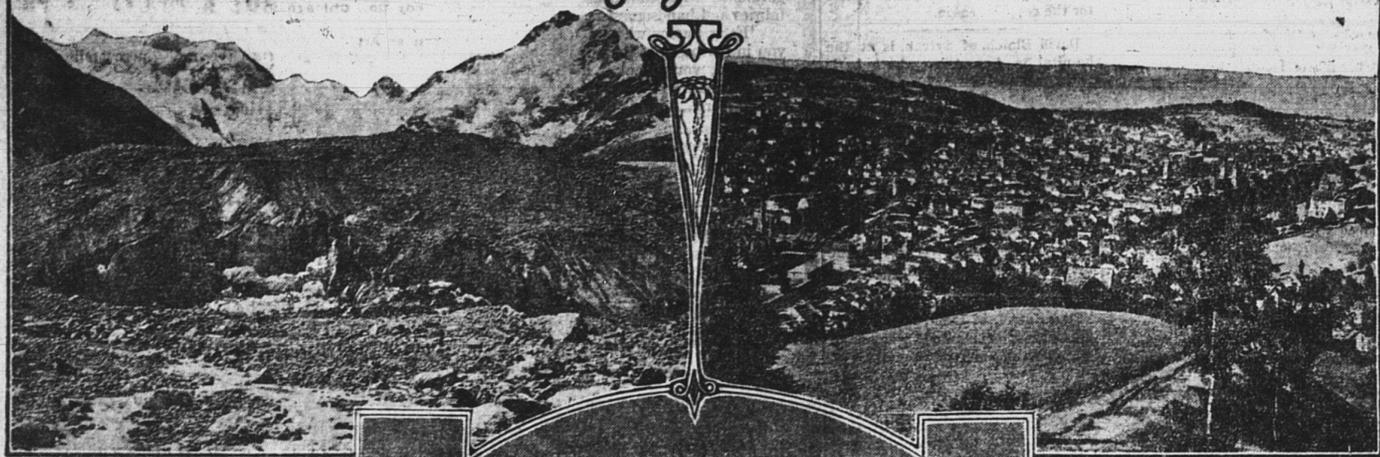

When a farmer sells his produce of any kind to a business man he receives his pay by a check. The business man knows this check will come back to him and be a receipt. If the business man finds it to his advantage to pay all bills by check, why should not the farmer be equally wise and pay his bills by check? A check account eliminates all chances of error and is an undisputable receipt. A large number of farmers are now banking with us, but there are others that should be. Are you one of them?

HARNESSING GLACIER STREAMS

How Switzerland Capitalizes Its Barrenness

By Gregory Underhill

MOOUTH OF A GLACIER

ST. GALLEN, SWITZERLAND

WHO has not known Switzerland the past five years knows not the Switzerland of today. The cascades, the torrents, and rivers run there still, but they are controlled and utilized. The mountains rear their lofty heads, but not as of old. They are conquered and harnessed.

The early summer of 1911 indicated that the heat was to be unusual in Italy, and that we must leave our villa on the heights near S. Miniato for some cool retreat, and Switzerland was decided upon. Our approach thither was by Lago di Como, planning to remain a few days at Tramezzo, where the summer preceding we had enjoyed for nearly two weeks, the companionship of several American friends.

From Tramezzo we took steamer for Menaggio, crossed by the railroad to Porlezza on Lake Lugano, over which we sailed, past Lugano to Capo di Lago and by the "rack and pinion" railroad to Monte Generoso, conceded to offer the widest, most varied, and beautiful expanse of mountain scenery in Switzerland, its only rival the Gorner Grat.

In our approach down the Lake of Lucerne by the historic point where Tell jumped ashore, past the Rigi, and the many summits that rise from the shores of that historic lake, we began to observe the wonderful results of Swiss energy and ability. The rack and pinion railroad takes one to the summit of Pilatus, about 6,000 feet altitude, where the night may be passed in a large comfortable hotel, and returns you to Lucerne next morning for the moderate charge of twenty-five francs, covering all charges for the excursion. The rack and pinion also ascends the Rigi some 3,000 feet, on whose summits are several good hotels. The general impression made by such ascent was well voiced, I think, by an American girl, whom I overheard saying: "I was really disappointed with the Rigi, but I am glad I went up, for I should always have thought I had missed much, if I had not gone."

As, even in this age of travel, not every one goes to Switzerland or has observed the difference in principle of construction between the rack and pinion and the tunicular, I may say here that the former has a middle rail on the roadbed, with teeth deep and broad, and the motor car usually has four cylinders with similar teeth, each cylinder so successively revolving as to reciprocally insert its teeth between the teeth of the middle rail, and so force the car up. It usually descends by gravity, controlled by brakes, in either case moving at very slow pace, rarely six miles an hour. It is obviously much safer than the tunicular, having so much more holding surface, and no more, depending upon a single support. The tunicular is run by a single cable on the principle of the elevator. It has the advantage of being usable on much steeper grades than the rack and pinion can be run on, even at an angle over 60 per cent, while the rack and pinion seldom exceeds 25 per cent, and usually runs at about 20 per cent. Both systems are armed with very efficient brakes, but in case of mishap I should prefer to be on the "rack and pinion."

The ascent of the Wetterhorn is made by a car suspended from a cable dangling in mid-air. The ride across the S. Gothard from Lugano to Lucerne had been interesting. We were now to attempt an even wider pass, the Brunig, on our way to Interlaken, mainly taken over by the "rack and pinion." The development in the rural region is remarkable, and particularly in recent years. The view of the Jungfrau from the park at Interlaken was not nearly as attractive as it was last year, when in the very cool summer it was completely covered with glistening snow and ice.

The courage and strength of the Swiss is shown in reaching out from the old established centers to new fields, selected because of their favorable exposures; sometimes approached by the funicular, or rack and pinion, sometimes only over a donkey path, and even for miles on foot. Saas-Fee, for example, at 6,000 feet altitude is so approached from the Vloz to Zermatt.

VILLAGE OF ST. MORITZ

large open restaurant, salotto, and entrance room containing even post office facilities (except for the open spaces in the mountain sides) you are completely entombed in solid rock beneath great bodies of snow and ice in the very heart of the Swiss mountains.

It is the loftiest tunnel in Europe, probably in the world, measuring ten feet wide and fourteen feet three inches in height, cut through limestone so hard and tenacious that a lining of masonry is unnecessary. The gradient is one in four, the track is three feet four inches wide; the last stretch starts from Kleine Scheidegg, on which only a score of years ago not a single house stood. Now several large buildings have been erected, hotels, shops, sheds, etc., and they are the center of great animation; the cries of railway and hotel porters, and the ringing of bells, mingled with the conversations carried on in every known tongue by tourists, are heard on every hand. Over 2,000 persons are carried to the Kleine Scheidegg in a single day. The Jungfrau railway is worked by electricity, and its engines are the finest mountain engines in the world.

The Wengen alps and the Jungfrau railway is not worked after October. Because of the heavy snowfalls, water is difficult to procure. From November to May, fresh water is entirely lacking, every drop required for drinking, washing, etc., and for the drills, is obtained from snow, melted by electricity. Fourteen-quarts of snow make one quart of water. Incredible quantities of spow fall here, the entire lower story of the houses is buried in snow, and a thick wall of it rises in front of the windows. The worst ice of the colonists is the so-called "Fohn," under its impact the buildings tremble to their very base. In the open air it is impossible to make head against the "Fohn," the only thing to do is to lie down flat on the ground and to hold on to whatever one can grasp, taking advantage of the lulls to advance a few yards.

The first station after entering the great tunnel is Elgerwand, excavated in the rock. Nowhere except on the Jungfrau railway is there a station blasted out of the interior of a mountain and yet commanding a magnificent view. In the evening an electric searchlight of 34,000,000 candle-power throws its beams far and wide. It is said that by its light a newspaper can be read in the streets of Thun, sixty miles distant. At last we reach Elmsee, the present terminus, 10,370 feet above sea level. The station is a marvel of constructive ingenuity. A large hall, excavated, pierced with several openings on the south side, twenty feet wide, forms a comfortable room which can be heated, with parquet floor and glass windows. On one side are the apartments of the stationmaster, with a post office, the loftiest in Europe; on the other, the kitchen of the restaurant and the larders. No wood or coal is used. Electricity does the cooking and heating.

Soon the railway will be carried to a point near the summit, where an elevator, a genuine perpendicular lift, will take the tourist 240 feet to the very summit of the Jungfrau (13,428 feet).

A two days' drive over the Grimsel Pass took us through tunnels, under overhanging arches, by leaping cascades, roaring brooks and rivers, and endless chains of pines and firs, broken occasionally by a small holding of cleared land. A level bit of land is always cultivated, and chalets are raised here and there, the goats crossing our track, the cows, with their bells keeping time with the footfalls of our horses, and always in ever-shifting lines the everlasting hills, rising higher and higher. Who knows how they came there?

All along I have been impressed with the sagacity and energy with which the Swiss exploit their rugged country, whose chief assets are mountains and glaciers, ordinarily the most profitless. And, yet, in doing so, they kill the romance of mountaineering. The imagination that kindles the courage that dares, the glory of being one of the elect few to achieve such ascents, the fine ecstasy of conquest, the exhilaration of the hardly won far-distant reaches, all are to disappear before mechanism and finance. In about two years any gaily old gentleman and delicate, gray-haired (never old) lady on the summit of the Jungfrau, at 13,670 feet altitude, can look sympathizingly down upon the toilers below.

Mont Blanc, the highest summit of the entire range, is being rapidly harnessed clear to its summit, with its equipment of rack and pinion. Even the Matterhorn is partially equipped with fixed ropes, and some attempts at paths have been made. On can reach the summit of the Rigi and return in a few hours, or remain in a comfortable hotel.

I have alluded to the exploiting of the mountains. The glaciers are being similarly utilized. All the mountain railways are run by electricity, so are the cars in passing through the Simplon Tunnel. Soon the S. Gothard line will be electrified, and in turn the other railroads will follow. The only hindrance is the delay and first cost in substituting electric motors for steam. As I drove by the fierce rushing torrents, mainly fed by snow and glaciers and apparently untailing, I estimated that at no distant day Switzerland would supply electricity profitably not only for its own requirements, but also for nearly all Germany. In time those snows and glaciers are to pay the entire expenses of the republic, averting the necessity of taxation. A gold mine will give out; those mountain summits and glaciers will not.

The Italians were shrewd and able in utilizing, capitalizing the forestier, but the Swiss are far in the lead, the most highly organized, scientific absorbers (another word nearly escaped me), I think, on the face of the earth. When I found myself taxed for the band I protested. I had not asked for any band, or agreed to pay for one; I would pay something if they would not play. Of course, it ended in my paying. A Kursal-tax is levied on tourists, through the landlords. A friend of mine protested that her mother, past eighty, never entered it. The official replied there is no requiring such payments, but your landlord will have to pay if you do not; she paid it.

The railroads are practically all owned by the government, and the rates are high; the mountain rates, very high. Of course, as they are expensive, and the season is short, they should charge accordingly; but I have paid 50 cents a mile for each of my family. All trunks are weighed and charged for at high rates. On the mountain railroads even the hand-pieces are so charged. Not every one, these tunnel-days, has crossed the Passes, and noted the admirable road-engineering in which the Swiss, as well as the Italians, are past masters. And they protect their roads; automobiles being allowed only on certain roads and passes, and at certain hours. We might well take lessons from them. Automobiles, like the railroad cars, should have their special roads, and be restricted to them.

In the season Switzerland is a mob. The extreme tunnel road to Elmsee, only six miles long, is carrying three thousand passengers a day, running trams in three sections, at fourteen cents a mile. The income is easily reckoned. I should advise all Americans to time their visit to Switzerland for June or September, unless they are fond of "winter sports" and are strong enough to bear

Every winter sees a decided increase of visitors who come to slide down hill, skate, and revel in the snow and ice. Toboggan slides of three to four miles, run with proper safeguards, are arranged; the return ascent is made by railroad or other similar contrivance. Artificial ice ponds, if natural ones are not near, are cleared of snow for the skater.

Switzerland is to be as much of a winter resort as a summer one—perhaps more. In short, the canny Swiss are likely to coin money out of snow and ice.

The KITCHEN CABINET

A MAN without ambition is like a bird without wings. He can never soar in the heights above, but must walk like a weakling, unnoticed with the crowd below. —W. H. Cottingham.

SOME USEFUL DISHES.

An omelet that is not common is: Ginger Omelet.—Beat five eggs until light, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little grated rind of lemon peel and a bit of nutmeg. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in an omelet pan and pour in the mixture. Have ready two tablespoonfuls of chopped preserved ginger mixed with a tablespoonful of ginger sirup; put in the center of the omelet, roll and turn out on a heated dish and serve.

Stewed Kidneys.—SKIN and cut up four kidneys, put on to a plate with one chopped shallot, a quarter of a teaspoonful of powdered herbs, a pinch of salt and pepper and a teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce. Roll each piece of kidney in the seasoning, put a tablespoonful of butter in a pan, and when hot brown the kidneys. Add a half cup of stock after adding a tablespoonful of flour to the butter, and simmer the kidneys very slowly five minutes. Serve with the sauce poured around the meat.

Fish Pudding.—Take any kind of cold cooked fish, twice the quantity of cold boiled potatoes, pepper, salt and red pepper, drippings or butter, egg or milk. Remove all the bones from the fish and chop it, then rub the potatoes through a sieve with a wooden spoon, add to the fish, season and add a tablespoonful of melted butter for every pint of the mixture. Moisten with egg or milk and put in a well greased mold to bake twenty minutes. Serve with:

Egg Sauce.—Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a sauce pan, add a tablespoonful of flour, then add a cup of milk. Cook until smooth and cook for five minutes. Add salt, pepper and a hard cooked egg chopped fine, and serve.

Cottage Pie.—Rub cold cooked potatoes through a sieve; butter a deep pudding dish, put in a layer of potatoes, then a layer of meat; add a little pepper, salt and a little gravy. Continue until the dish is full. Score with a fork and dot with pieces of butter.

LEASURE comes through toil and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one. —Ruskin.

FOOD FOR THE INVALID.

The problem in the home where there is a sick one is the serving of food that is well prepared and palatable. To cater to a fickle, unreasoning appetite is not the pleasant mission in life, but one which must be accepted and worked out with study and patience.

Milk Shake.—Put a cup of milk in a glass jar, sweeten to taste and flavor with fruit or vanilla. Pack in ice until very cold, then shake until it froths well on top.

Hot Lemonade.—Bake a lemon in the oven until very hot, remove and cut out the pulp with a spoon; sweeten and add a cup of hot water. Strain and serve.

Hot water added to the juice of one lemon and two tablespoonfuls of sugar (to a pint of water), served boiling hot, is another manner of preparing lemonade.

Egg Nog.—Separate the yolk from the white of an egg, beat the yolk until thick. Add to three tablespoonfuls of milk or cream. Stir in the beaten white and flavor to taste with lemon juice, nutmeg or vanilla. Sweeten with a tablespoonful of sugar.

Toast Water.—Make dry toast, break into small pieces, put into a bowl and cover with water. Cover the bowl with a plate and let it stand a few minutes. Drain the water off and serve hot or cold.

Custards and soft cooked eggs are dishes easy of digestion, and as custards may be varied by different flavors one may have a different kind often served.

Flaxseed Water.—Pour a pint of boiling water over a tablespoonful of flaxseed, and let it steep two or three hours. Strain, flavor with lemon juice and serve.

Another Use for Medicine.

A Chicago family which employs as its butler an old-fashioned negro was constantly annoyed by the door of the house getting out of order. On several occasions an electrician who used some sort of white powder in his work, had been called in to fix the bell.

One evening when there were guests at dinner, one of them complained of a sore throat. The mistress of the house turned to the butler and said:

"Sam, when dinner is over, go to the drug store and get a small bottle of Dobell's solution."

"Before De Lawd!" exclaimed the negro in genuine distress. "Is dat do-bell out of ordah ag'in?"—Popular Magazine.

COFFEE HUNTS

One in Three.

It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is a poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York hotel man says: "Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffer from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse."

"A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep perfectly, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was injuring me?"

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken to Postum. She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitation of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change."

"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum."—There's a Reason.

Ever read the above notice? A man appears from time to time, who has made a change from coffee to Postum.

BRIGHTON—Few people bear the distinction of reaching the age of 100 years, but Mrs. William Suhr of Genoa will become a centenarian on Saturday of this week.—Argus.

STOCKBRIDGE—The water-works question is again being agitated in this village. The village needs it, and it is only a question of a little push and enterprise.—Brief-Sun.

PLYMOUTH—It is reported that Plymouth Grange is contemplating the building of a co-operative store, having an option on the Fuller property, Main and Ann Arbor streets.—Mail.

BROOKLYN—John Weeks marketed his 1911 wheat crop in Toledo last week. He made shipment from Napoleon, receiving $2,367.40 for the two carloads, not a bad cleanup for one season's work.—Exponent.

MANCHESTER—The question is being agitated to have our business men purchase the Manchester house and open it to the public again. We certainly need a good hotel with plenty of accommodations and it would seem to be a move in the right direction.—Enterprise.

YPSILANTI—Mrs. Lydia Washnoge, wife of Ira Washnoge jumped in the river near Webster Bros. lumber yards Thursday in an attempt to commit suicide. Some men working in the yards fished the woman out and she will recover. Domestic and financial difficulties are said to be responsible for her act.

DEXTER—George W. Pratt, aged 70 years and an honored resident of this village, passed away Friday afternoon. Death was due to paralysis. He is survived by a son, Harry Pratt, a daughter, Miss Agnes, both of this village; a brother John J. Pratt of Dexter and a sister, Mrs. Harriet Booth of Detroit. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

FOWLERSVILLE—The Business Men's Association met at the Odd Fellows hall Friday night, adopted constitution and by-laws, debated the proposition for heating the wooden school building by steam, decided to grease the streets, enjoyed an "eat-fest" and a smoker. Next meeting the question of band concerts, gala day celebrations and the publicity problem should be threshed out.—Standard.

SALINE—At a meeting of the Common Council of the Village of Saline held April 8th, 1912, a commission of orchard and fruit inspectors were appointed composed of the following: F. C. Wells, A. A. Townsend and Fred Jerry. This commission will make an inspection of the fruit and shade trees in the village and anyone having trees infested with insects or fungous diseases will be required to spray the same or cut them down and burn them. We feel confident that our citizens are public spirited enough to attend to this matter when informed.—Observer.

MILAN—Wednesday morning at an early hour Frank Reece committed suicide by hanging himself at the old Everett Davenport farm, now occupied by Will Guenther, where he was employed. He and Mr. Guenther had finished the milking and the latter went to the house for a short time and when he returned he found Mr. Reece hanging from a rafter and dead. He was a single man about 45 years of age and was on bail at the time of his death, having been arrested last week on a serious charge. This is a bad blow for his family who are highly esteemed and respected in this community.—Leader.

Remember, we are right here where you live, and our personal reputation is at stake when we make this statement. Certainly nothing could be more safe and secure for you.

The most scientific, safe, efficacious, and altogether dependable treatment we know of for kidney diseases, and urinary ailments in general is Rexall Kidney Pills. The Split-Log Drag.

Michigan Farmer: Experience has shown that no money expended in road improvement, provided the work is done at the proper time, is so effectively applied as that used in the smoothing down of roads in the spring with the split-log drag, or some of its near relatives which are now manufactured and on the market in a ready-to-use form. No step could be taken which would go farther toward the improvement of the average roads within any township than the judicious use of a split-log drag, or similar implement, upon all these roads at just the proper time this spring. With the season as late as it is, action taken toward this end will be most timely and the work could be done at the season when it would be most effective, during the early part of April.

"The Light Eternal."

The development of religious drama is probably one of the most striking illustrations possible to cite in proof of the gradual broadening of the public mind. Like all innovations, plays dealing with a biblical theme have led a precarious existence on the American stage, but seem now to have passed through the last stages of the stress and opposition that has beset them. About 1890 Henry E. Abbey abandoned his plan to present the Passion Play in this country because popular disapproval spoke in no uncertain tone. However, after a lapse of centuries, the idea of once more utilizing religious themes had lodged in the dramatic mind, and in 1894 Hannele was first attempted in New York City, though it met with no very gratifying reception. Five years later Ben-Hur burst upon the public view with a shaft of light to represent the deity, and about the same time Wilson Barrett's "Sign of the Cross" was accepted by a certain class. Then in 1902 Everyman, sheltered by a sort of educational mantle, gave us the voice of Adonai summoning the hero to the judgment seat. In the same year Mrs. Fiske played Mary of Magdalen, which was pervaded by a divine omnipresence. Following this came two plays in which the Savior appeared in disguise and shaped the destiny of those He came in contact with—"The Passing of the Third Floor Back" and "The Servant in the House," and though the disguise deceived nobody, remonstrance was somewhat allayed by the fact that the central characters did not bear the title that was in every mind. The voice of Christ was first heard last season delivering beautitudes in the New theatre, New York, and a bit later He was seen in His own person in Sarah Bernhardt's presentation of La Samaritaine. Last season also brought forward another notable religious drama—"The Light Eternal," an adaptation of Cardinal Wiseman's Fabiola, which will be seen at the Whitney theatre Ann Arbor, Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20, Saturday matinee. From an open protest at the mere mention of the Passion Play to the acceptance of the person of the Savior as a stage character is a considerable step. Apparently the day of the biblical play has again arrived. At any rate the public seems ready to accept and approve religious drama in any form, so long as it bears the stamp of sincerity and truth.

They Speak For Themselves.

We purchased of Chas. E. Paul a year ago a No. 2 Fearless Manure Spreader Manufactured by Walter A. Wood Co. and like it very much. It is very simple and also light draft. One pair of horses handles it very easily.

DICK CLARK AND SON.

We find that the Fearless Spreader purchased of C. E. Paul runs easier and spreads faster than any other spreader that we know of. We have used the American, Clover Leaf and International and the Fearless has got all of them beat.
