Many growers sprayed their orchards last spring with LIME-SULPHUR SOLUTION against San Jose and other scale insects, but in some cases the scale was so bad that one spraying did not control them, and in other cases the surrounding orchards were not taken care of-the result is that many orchards will require spraying against the scale this Fall when the leaves have fallen. The fine quality of apples this fall have demonstrated beyond a doubt that spraying the trees is time and money well spent. To obtain the best results use Sherwin-William Lime Sulphur Solution. We have it at 35 cents a gallon. Special price by the barrel.

New Tree Disease.

Ann Arbor Times News: Professor Lovejoy of the forestry department of the university has recently received a specimen of a diseased red maple tree, a branch cut from a tree growing on the grounds of the State Hospital at Pontiac.

The disease causes large tumorlike growths to appear on the branches. nvestigation shows that similar inury to trees has been reported from several different sections of this state and also from northern Ohio. The branch from the Pontiac tree was turned over to Dr. Pollack of the botanical department, who found this disease to be identical with one which for a time threatened the red maples of this section some months ago, and on which he had been experimenting. Dr. Pollack believes the disease to be caused by a bacteria which probably is introduced into the living tissue of the tree through the sting of some insect. This appears to be something new, since only one other tree disease, the "crown gall" has been reported as being caused by bacteria, although a great many tree species are attacked by fungi.

Professor Lovejoy recommends that all branches of the tree showing these tumors or swellings, be trimmed out and burned immediately. Since the disease seems to develop slowly it is probable that periodic pruning and burning of the infected limbs will prevent the spread of the disease, and save the afflicted trees.

Queer Spot Where Library of the State University of Louislana Had Its Beginning.

The curious beginning of the Chicago public library, which was once housed in an abandoned water-tank, is matched by the library of the Louisana State university, which had its first quarters in an old powder magazine, asserts a correspondent of the Dial. The State university occupies the buildings and grounds of the old army post of Baton Rouge, which was abandoned as a result of the electoral controversy of 1876-1877. The following extract from Fay's "History of Education in Louisiana," gives a description of the library as it was from 1866 to 1903: "Far off to the northeastern corner of the garrison inclosare is a long low building, entirely without windows, save for two small grated apertures at each of the narrow ends, while for entrance a heavy iron door is swung in the center of the southern front, a place more like a prison house than a scholar's quiet domicile among books. Few have ever seen such a building; and as you enter for the first time it fairly oppresses you to observe that you pass through a doorway whose walls are five or six feet thick. Within, the room presents an equally strange sight. Along the walls book shelves extend around the whole parallelogram, save for the trifling space of the small windows. The ceiling is so low that you can almost touch it at the bookcases, but it rises in low heavy arches, only to sink again archwise on massive square pillars in the center of the room. Thus are formed two long corridors with low arches that fall into a succession of vaults down the passage. The central pillars are girt around with square bookshelves, all with their burden of vol-

"The building was the old powder magazine of the barracks when soldiers, and not scholars, were stationed there. You would think it dark: but the whiteness of the ceiling counteracts in some measure the deficiency of apertures for light, and on complete returns indicate that the legfair days, at least, one reads without islatures elected at yesterday's polls Cox, Democrat, for governor, will he difficulty until after sunset. HOME IN POWDER MAGAZINE DEMOCRATS HAVE LARGE MAJORITY OF ELEC-TORAL VOTES; CARRYING MANY HEAVILY POPULATED STATES.

> SPLIT AMONG REPUBLICANS LOSES THEM MANY STATES.

> Solid South With Majority of the Eastern States Insured the Election of Wilson in Early Returns.

> With the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency and Thomas R. Marshall to the vice-presidency assured by the earlier returns, the reports up to 3:30 Wednesday morning gave indications that the electoral vote of the democrat candidates would pass the 300 mark.

> The size of the majority given the democratic national ticket of the states outside of Illinois, that might give electoral votes to either Taft or Roosevelt were matters of conjecture at that time.. It was certain, however, that Illinois would give an overwhelming majority to Roosevelt, while the race in Pennsylvania was so close to bring all three candidates within range

Early returns gave Gov. Wilson and Gov. Marshall the "solid south" and the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Indiana and Missouri. As the night advanced and returns from the west began to come in these earlier estimates were confirmed, and Montana, New Jersey and New Mexico were added to those that seemed certain for the democratic candidates, while scattering returns from San Francisco and Los Angeles made it probable that California might join the Wilson-Marshall column.

Shortly before midnight, Col. Roosevelt made the following statement: "The American people by a great plurality have decided in favor of Mr Wilson and the Democratic party. Like all good citizens I accept the result with entire good humor and contentment. As for the Progressive cause, I can only repeat what I have already so many times said: the fate of the leader for the time being is of little consequence, but the cause itself must in the end triumph, for its triumph is essential to the wellbeing of the American people.

By probably not less than 40.000 plurality Theodore Roosevelt carried Michigan, and the state's electoral vote will be cast for him. Woodrow Wilson ran second.

The vote, as shown by the returns from b68 precincts, out of 1,872 in the state of Wayne county:

ROOSEVELT . . . 62,331 WILSON . . . . 46,916 TAFT . . . . . . 43,783

On the earlier returns it appeared that Roosevelt would have not less than 100,000 over his nearest competitor, but as the counties whose population is more largely rural came in, his percentage of lead fell off, and Tart gained. With the same number of precincts neard from, Woodbridge N Ferris leads for governor by slightly over 3,000. The figures are:

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS. early returns indicated a plurality for him of 75,000 to 1000,000, but the more freely the figures came in, the more ground he lost, and the more Mussel-man ganed. On account of the tremendously heavy vote cast, the great number of offices voted on, and the fact that there were three parties in the field, resulting in much splitting of votes, the count was very slow.

Lindquist is a winner in the eleventh, but in the twelftn there is the Beet Joe" has pulled through victor in another tough battle. The early returns are as a rule only on president and governor, though fragmentary returns on the suffrage amendment indicate that the vote on that proposition is very evenly divided. The returns on congressmen are very scattering. For congressman at-

Lindquist is a winner in the eelventh, but in the twelfth there is the strongest kind of a probability, based on incomplete returns, that H. Olin Young will be succeeded in the next congress by W. J. McDonald, the Bull Moose candidate.

One feature of the returns is the way the Bull Moose ticket ran in the upper peninsula. The vote cast in the state was the heaviest ever known, practically the entire registration going to the polls to vote. The three-sided contest for all offices was, of course, largely responsible for this, while good weather and the general closing of factories in all cities helped greatly.

In general the Democrats held their normal vote, and in many cases increased it, while the Republicans and Progressives combined polled far more than the normal Republican vote.

CHAPTER XXXIII.—Continued. Mallory put out his hand: "Would you be kind enough to lend me your razor again this morning?"

"Sure thing," said Ashton, "You'll find your blade in the box there." Mallory then negotiated the loan of one more fresh shirt from the Englishman, and a clean collar from Ashton. He rejoiced that the end of the day would bring him in touch with his own baggage. Four days of foraging on the country was enough for this soldier. Also he felt, now that he and Marjorie had lived thus long, they could survive somehow till evening brought them to San Francisco, where there were hundreds of ministers. And then the conductor must ruin his early morning optimism, though he made his appearance in the washroom with genial good mornings for all. Mallory acknowledged the greeting, and asked offhandedly: "By the way, how's she running?" The conductor answered even more fear; "Good Lord, my transport sails at sunrise."

"Oh, we ought to make 'Frisco by midnight, anyway." "Midnight, and sail at daylight!"

"Unless we lose a little more time." Mallory realized that every new day managed to create its own anxieties. With the regularity of a milkman, each morning left a fresh crisis on his doorstep.

"Well, the worst I can say of him is, he's the kind of man that doesn't lift the plug out when he's through with the basin."

He liked this so well that he wished he had thought of it in time to crack it over Ashton's head. 'He decided to hand it to him anway. He forgot that the cardinal rule for repartee, is

"Better never than late." As he swung out of the men's room he was buttonholed by an individual new to the little Trans-American colony. One of the camp-followers and sutlers who prosper round the edges of all great enterpises had waylaid him on the way to the battleground of marital freedom,

The stranger had got on at an earlier stop and worked his way through the train to the car named "Snowdrop." Wellington was his first victim here. His pushing manner, the almost vulture-like rapacity of his gleaming eyes, and the very vulturine contour of his profile, his palmy gestures, his thick lisp, and everything about him gave Wellington his immediate pedigree. It ill behooves Christendom to need reminding that the Jewish race has adorned and still adorns humanity with some of its noblest specimens; but this interloper was of the type that must have irritated Voltaire into answering the platitude that the Jews are God's chosen people with that other platitude, "Tastes differ."

Little Jimmie Wellington, hot in pursuit of Ashton, found himself fountain pen poised, pleaded: "Vat is checked in spite of himself; in spite of himself deposited somehow into a seat, and in spite of himself confronted with a curvilinear person, who said: "Excoose, pleass! but are you gettink off at R-r-reno?"

"I am," Wellington answered, curtly, essaying to rise, only to be delicately restored to his place with a graciously permitted two souls to be gesture and a phrase: "Then you neet me.'

"Oh, I need you, do 1? And who are you?"

"Who ain't I? I am Baumann and Blumen. Our cart, pleass."

Wellington found a pasteboard in his hand and read the legend:

Really Nothing Remarkable in the Simple and Frank Explanation of the Small Boy.

We were walking down the street Sunday and we saw the most beautiful child sitting on the front steps of a pretty house, says Ted Robinson. His eyes were so big and blue, his curly head so golden, his innocent smile so frank and inviting that we could not resist the temptation to enter into conversation with him.

"Well, son," we said in the idiotically genial way with which an adult usually addresses a child, "how old are you?"

"Four." lisped the infant. (He didn't really lisp it, because you can't lisp when you say four; but that's the way! children are supposed to do.) "Isn't that fine!" (It would have been just as fine if he'd been three.

BACKACHE"GETS

Many who suffer from backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable, fretful and nervous. Not only does constant backache "get on the nerves", but bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, and uric acid irritates the nerves, keeping you "on edge" and causing rheumatic, neuralgic pains, Doan's Kidney Pills cure these ills by curing the kidneys. Here's proof:

a perfect sunny morning in Feb ruary we stood on the hillside overlooking the town of Ajaccio and rejoiced that we had come to Corsica. The magnificent gulf lay before us with a grand range of mountains on the opposite shore, and, best of them all, Monte d'Oro rose up eight thousand feet into the sky, his peak decked with just a sprinkling of snow, as if he alone could wear that glittering crown while all lesser heads remained uncovered. In early spring the neighborhood of Ajaccio is very beautiful. There is a fascinating daintiness about the almond blossom, and you may look from its delicate pink over the soft, gray olives and the shining blue water to the purple haze of the mountains beyond. Many lovely walks are to be had all around, but to see the full beauties of the island one must go further afield.

Soon after our arrival we engaged a tiny carriage and started to explore the wonders of Piana and Evisa. There is much that is worthy of note on the fortyfive miles of road leading to Plana, but on arriving at the top of the hill overlooking the village, all that has gone before is eclipsed. Suddenly the Gulf of Porto, with Piana in foreground. comes into view. We greeted this first glimpse of Porto with a gasp of surprise and delight

Seen through the translucent yet slightly harv atmosphere of a perfect day it is marvelously beautiful moene. Away down beneath us the blue sea lay calm and tranquil in the evening light, while the beautiful headlands of Cappo Senino and La Scannola stretched out beyond. The perfect outline and shapes of these noble headlands,. all of a glowing red, and the deep purple shadows that melt into the deeper blue of the sea below. make a scene of supreme beauty never to be forgotten, and far beyond the powers of the camera

On reaching the notel we had a hurried meal and started for our first visit to the Calanches with what remained to us of the evening light. No description can give an adequate idea of the absolute magnificence of the gorges and gulfs and towering piles of red-colored rocks, They must be seem to be appreciated. Down, down, away so deep, a small torrent was carving its way still deeper through the granite rock below, and up and up, tier upon tier rose above, with glades of splendid pines and bushes making valleys in the recesses. Rocks of all forms, weathered into ragged, fantastic shapes, often honeycombed into caverns and caves innumerable, greet you on every side. Weird shapes appear round corners like gnomes who seem to resent intrusion. Every bend in the winding road presents a fresh scene of wonder, and we passed from deep gorges to masses of towering rocks, and on again to wider ravines opening out to sea with the distant headlands beyond.

After this first sight of the Calanches we spent weeks exploring and scrambling about among its wonders, yet there was always something new to see. One of our rambles was to a promontory called Cappo Rosso, where we came on a goatherd's hut, which proved to be a headquarters for making the "Broccia" or "Brouch," as it is called. A dead tree stood near the door hung with an assortment of black pots, while near by lay a heap of wooden tubs. We were pleased to note that all the pots and tubs were kept really very clean, and were hung out in the open air. Seeing this, and knowing that the goats' milk had to undergo much boiling before the "Broccia" was made, all fears as to the hygiene of the cookery departed. Good the "Broccia" is when well made, and we had many opportunities of enjoying it. Piana has a name for making some of the best "Brocefa" in Corsica, so we know what it aught to be like. It is snow white, with the consistency of cream cheese, and it is eaten with sugar and occasionally with the addition of a few drops of ears de vie.

After our stay at Plana we drove on to Evisa. through such a wealth of magnificent scenery that it is impossible to describe it here. The road itself is a triumph of engineering skill. It descends from Piana to the sea-level at Porto, then rounts to a beight of three thousand feet, performing marvess to the way of lacets as it climbs round the mountain-sides, yet the gradient is quite gentle all the way and the surface remarkably good. At nearly every point where the lacets cut away into the mountain there is a sorge or ravine, some large, some small, but all beautiful. Many of these are so wild and rugged that the thought at once struck us what perfect iding places they would be for bandits, and how appossible it would be for any gendarmes to tion, seized the goat, undid its bell, tied it round his own neck, and commenced to push his way on all fours through the bushes, tinkling the bell and rustling among them as he went. Nearer and nearer the gendarmes he came, but he just went boldly on in the dark, "acting the goat" to such good purpose that the unsuspecting sentinels merely thought that an old goat was eating its way along among the bushes in the erratic way goats have. So Bellacoscia passed right through the guarding gendarmes and clean away. When morning dawned the certain capture was not effected, and Bellacoscia was free to give more trouble in the future. Another time he was flying from capture, the gendarmes close on his heels, when he found the way blocked by a river in flood, and escape seemed impossible. Every minute his pursuers were gaining. He thing that -that I-er-" could not cross, and to go back meant certain capture. Again his wits saved him. He scrambled down to the marshy banks of the river where there were some dark, reedy pools, cut a hollow reed, put one end in his mouth, and sank himself down into the slimy black water till he was completelly covered, with only the broken end of the reed projecting into the air, and through this he breathed in comfort. The gendarmes came rushing down to the river, where a moment before they had seen the fugitive, but now, edly been there, he had never gone away, and he certainly was not there now!" Towards evening we reached Evisa, a happy little village rejoicing in a grand position, and well worth a visit. If it were only to see the view looking down the gorge to the Gulf of Porto, that alone would be worth the journey. Just before the forest of Altone commences one should leave the road and scramble across a field to a projecting mass of rocks, for there can be seen a sight that must equal many of the finest prospects in the world for majestic beauty. An immense gorge enclosed by magnificently shaped mountains extends below, crowned at the end by that king of them all, Cappo d'Orto, and away beyond lies the blue sea, all hazy and soft in the distance. While standing on the rocky projection overlooking this impressive scene, a sense of littleness comes over the beholder, and one Seels

Influence Exerted by the "Continuation School" in the Fatherland.

An American manufacturer who had wondered at the success of his German competitors was struck by certain big, flaming, official-looking posters on the billboards and around public buildings in Berlin. He might have seen similar posters in every city and town in Germany. Twice a year these official posters summon the youth of the land to obligatory attendance at the trade and commercial schools, Hubert Evans writes in Harper's Weekly. Indirectly, they tell why the American or the English manufacturer finds in the German such a dangerous competitor. They reveal the secret of Germany's wonderful commercial and industrial prosperity and of her commanding position as a world power. To the philosophically inclined they suggest interesting reflections on the transformation of idealists and dreamers into a nation of materialists and doers.

There is scarcely anything in all Germany so. new and modern as the continuation schools. This whole movement has been a matter of only a few years, and in its present form the continuation school is a child of yesterday. These institutions receive from the nation more care and solicitude than is bestowed upon the children of the imperial family. They are still in a rapid process of change and development. Their very success has encouraged further changes and more stringent legislation in their behalf. It is only a few years ago that an imperial industrial law was passed giving community authority to establish and maintain obligatory continuation schools for youths, thus making good the failure of certain German state governments to provide for such school by state law. One of the last acts of the reichstag last December was to amend ployed in offices, stores and factories, as well as to boys. The whole subject is still so new and fresh that every day the German press has some interesting item of continuation school newsthe opening of more domestic science schools for girls, the establishment of training colleges for continuation school teachers, the publication of new laws and material decrees.

DEATH CLAIMS VICE-PRESIDENT SHERMAN

JAMES SCHOOLCRAFT SHERMAN PASSED AWAY AFTER A LONG ILLNESS CAUSED BY BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

WIFE AND THREE SONS WERE AT BEDSIDE WHEN DEATH OCCURRED.

Universal Sorrow is Shown at Demise of Distinguished Statesman Who Gave Life to Public.

After a long illness, Vice President Sherman died at his home in Utica, N. Y., at 9:42 o'clock, Wednesday night, of uremic poison caused by Bright's disease.

He had been sinking since early morning and it was realized that death was a question only of a few hours.

There was slight relief shortly after 7 o'clock caused by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting, and at best gave only temporary hope. At 9 o'clock the pa-Man-No. I just dropped in to ask | tient's temperature rose to 106. From that time his condition rapidly passed from bad to worse until the end. Mrs. Sherman bore up bravely under the shock of her husband's death. as also did the other members of the family. Although it was said at the house that the hopelessness of Mr. Sherman's fight against death had been realized since Friday, the blow nevertheless was a crushing one.

A few of the intimate friends of the family called to express their sympathy, among them Dr. A. H. Holden, pastor of Christ Reform church, where the Shermans worship.

Vice President Sherman Laid to Rest.

With simple but impressive services the body of Vice President James S. Sherman was laid in a crypt within a beautiful mausoleum in Forest Hill cemetery, in Utica, N. Y.

Under a canvas covering that served as a shield against a chill November wind were gathered the Sherman family, President Taft, members of his cabinet, justices of the United States of the house of representatives and a few intinmate friends and business associates of the vice president, while without a throng who had assembled to pay a final tribute stood reverently until the strains of "Asleep in Jesus," by the Hayden Male chorus, which marked the conclusion of the services, had died away.

Six Nuns Die in Flames.

Sacrificing their lives to rescue 87 orphan children in their charge, six Sisters of Charity perished in a fire that destroyed St. John's Orphanage in San Antonio, Tex. One baby fell to its death with Mary of the Cross, mother superior of the institution, who left her place of safety in a vain effort to save the child. Another orphan is missing, and it is feared it did not escape.

Flames broke out in the building early morning. Roused from their sleep the nuns marshalled their charges to fire escapes, remaining at their posts until flames barred the way to safety. Two of the sisters, Kostka Farrell and Monica Montez, were killed by jumping.

Three sisters escaped. Instructed to pilot the first column of frightened children out of danger, they gained the ground in time to escape the crash

The children owe their lives to the initial daring and self-sacrifice of the nuns.

Wilson's Head Cut

Gov. Wilson was injured early Sunday morning by being thrown violently against the top on a touring car in which he was returning to Princeton after his speech at Red Bank.

One of the ribs of the top cut a gash nearly three inches long in the top of his head and he was temporarily dazed. After the wound had been dressed by Dr. J. G. Titus of Hightstown the governor continued to his home in Princeton.

Foot Ball Game at Ann Arbor Results in Score of to 7 6.

"Bottles" Thomson won the Michigan-South Dakota game for the Wolverines by four successive line bucks, in the last five minutes of play. Paterson's boot gave the one point needed after the touchdown had been made and the final score was 7 to 6 in Mich

For a team of as little fame as the westerners have, the put up the strongest game seen on Ferry field in some time. They opened the scoring in the second quarter with a long forward pass and 10-yard run for a touchdown. After that, they held, and the game became a punting duel in which Thomson had the best of Ferguson, who did the kicking for the westerners.

Michigan's line was weak at different times, and they had difficulty in stopping the Coyote forward pass. The Dakota line was also loose, but it was impossible for Michigan to gain con-

DANDRUFF COVERED SCALP

3002 Cass St., St. Louis, Mo .- "For five years I suffered with itching of my body and scalp. My trouble began with a rash on my lower limbs which was very annoying, and my scalp was literally covered with dandruff. My hair used to come out by the handfuls and the itching of my body and scalp was terrible. I had used almost all the skin remedies on the market with no results, when I wrote for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave me instant relief. Within one month's use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely cured. I cannot discover one strand of my hair coming out and I have not lost a minute of sleep since using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which entirely cured me of itching of my body and scalp in its worst form. I also find the Cuticura Soap a benefit in shaving." (Signed)

The Woman Makes the Home

She makes it best who, looking after the culinary department, turns her back resolutely upon unhealthful, or even suspicious, food accessories. She is economical; she knows that true economy does not consist in the use of inferior meat, flour, or baking powder. She is an earnest advocate of home made, home baked food, and has proved the truth of the statements of the experts that the best cooking in the world today is done with Royal Baking Powder.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny-unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used.

Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "but stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stow Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silver ware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.
