Sherwin-Williams New Process Arsenate of Lead

is a practical insecticide for leaf-eating insects. It is as strong a poison as is consistent with the absolute safety of the tree.

Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead is easy to mix and apply and stays in solution, does not burn the foliage and has splendid adhesive qualities. It kills the insects, improves the quality and increases the quantity of the crop.

BLACK TEA MAKES CREAM OUT OF SKIMMED MILK.

"There is a something about BLACK CROSS TEA that is found in no other tea." So said a lady to us the other day. She did not know exactly what, or how to describe the difference, only there was a "something" Black Cross tea had that other teas lacked. That "something" was a little more QUALITY.

Again Condemned.

The state board of corrections has again called the attention of the county superintendents of the poor to the bad condition of the county almshouse and informed them that something must be done to fix it up. Two years ago a proposition to issue bonds for a new building was defeated at the polls, but Secretary Murray of the board, suggests that the proposition be submitted again as soon as possible.

Must be Sanitary.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme is paving the way for an investigation of soda fountains throughout the state. He declares that the fountains will not only have to be sanitary, but must serve only drinks that contain nothing harmful. It is understood that the commissioner is having analyses made of certain drinks served at fountains, and if he discovers any ingredients contained in them that is harmful he will make public fact.

Elected Officers.

The Bay View Reading Circle held its final meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. H. H. Avery on Monday evening of this week. A scrub lunch was served at 6:30, after which a business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Mary Boyd; first vice president, Mrs. Geo. Walz; second vice president, Mrs. Anna Hoag; secretary, Mrs. H. H. Avery; treasurer, Miss Nina Crowell. The annual picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Gates on Wednesday, June 11.

Large Head and Horns.

While fishing at Cedar Lake Tuesday James Winters and James Beasley discovered an extremely large deer, or elk head, that they fished out. The head consists of the upper jaw and a pair of horns and is in a fair state of preservation. The find is at the home of James Winters on west Middle street. Experienced hunters claim that they have never seen anything that will compare with it. The head was found at the south end of the lake and it has probably laid in the water for many years.

Mrs. Springfield L. Leach.

Nettie May Wood was born in Dexter township June 2, 1875 and died at her home in Lyndon, Tuesday forenoon, May 13, 1913, aged 38 years, 11 months and 11 days. The deceased was a daughter of Mrs. William Wood, of North Lake. She was united in marriage with Springfield L. Leach at high noon May 13, 1896, and her death occurred on the 17th anniversary of their wedding day. She was a member of the Methodist church and was a highly esteemed friend and neighbor. For the last two years she has been in failing health and for the last two or three months has been confined to her bed. She is survived by her husband, two sons, aged 15 and 7 years, her mother, three sisters, Mrs. B. Isham and Mrs. Fred Schults, both of Chelsea, Mrs. P. E. Noah, of North Lake, and one brother, William H. Wood, of Mt. Pleasant.

The funeral will be held in the Chelsea M. E. church at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Rev. J. W. Campbell officiating. The burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

May Depose Chief of Police.

Saturday evening, as Milo E. Gage, who has been chief of police of Ypsilanti for eight years, was patrolling his beat on the crowded business streets, he was accosted by Police Commissioner Worden, who informed him that he, Worden, and the newly appointed police commissioner, E. B. Gooding, had held a meeting late Saturday afternoon and decided to dismiss Mr. Gage without any formal charges, and ordered the chief to turn over the keys of his office to the city clerk. On inquiry it appeared that no successor had been appointed, and that police commissioner C. D. O'Connor, senior member of the commission, had not been notified of this meeting. As the commission has not yet organized since the change in the city government, May 5, Mr. Gage, upon consulting several authorities, decided not to give up the keys.

Aldermen of every shade of opinion in other matters agreed in telling Mr. Gage not to give up the city's papers and books until some one is appointed to legally receive them. Ypsilanti's arrangement makes the police commission of three members sole authority in the hiring or dismissal of police officers. The mayor and council have nothing to say, except that the mayor appoints and the council confirms one commissioner each year, and the council pays the salaries of the officers.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Dr. G. W. Palmer Had an Encounter With an Infuriated Bull.

Dr. G. W. Palmer is confined to his home on Park street as the result of an encounter with an infuriated bull at his farm in the eastern part of the village Monday afternoon.

Dr. Palmer was driving the animal from the pasture lot to the barn and the animal suddenly turned on him. After the encounter ended Dr. Palmer returned to his home where it was discovered that one rib was broken, his body was considerably bruised and his face and nose was somewhat cut up.

As the animal had been deborned the doctor probably had a fortunate escape from an encounter that might have resulted more seriously. It will be several days before the injured man will be able to attend to his usual business calls.

Saline Publisher Arrested.

Sim R. Wilson, publisher of the Saline Observer, was arraigned before Commissioner Hurd in the federal court at Detroit last Friday morning charged with sending obscene literature through the mails, and entered a plea of guilty. His bail was fixed at $1,500 and was furnished by Andrew J. Warren, of Saline. Two large mail pouches of obscene books, magazines and postcards were seized at his place in Saline last Thursday by United States Deputy Marshal John Trollope, who arrested Wilson on the complaint of Postoffice Inspector E. A. Mackey, of Lansing.

Wilson, it is said, advertised his books through such papers as the Police Gazette and received hundreds of letters daily containing money for the books and cards.

Children of School Age.

According to a report received at the county clerk's office Monday morning, the total number of children of school age in Washtenaw county is 11,221. The statement was sent by Luther W. Wright, superintendent of public instruction.

Kings of the Forest.

The Selig Polyscope Company made a great step forward when it took its large menagerie to California and placed it in the open on a 300 acre farm that has all the surroundings of the animals in real life. This addition gave opportunity for the actors to become familiar with the animals and their habits, so that easy natural results in acting could obtain. The ordinary firebrand blank cartridge shooting episodes that stir up the lymphatic beast of the itinerant menagerie cramped in their little cages are far and away from the big, fine results secured by working with animals in the open.

All the practical experiences, so dearly and so patiently secured by the Selig Company and their employes have been vested in the latest picture play called "Kings of the Forest," which is said to outdo all of the others for blood-curdling and naturalistic effect.

The risk involved, the care necessary and the danger ever imminent in a production of this kind would fill a volume. "Kings of the Forest" is the sensation of the hour in the picture play world. Look out for this on Thursday, May 22. It's by far the biggest feature of its kind ever shown at the Princess.

Wonderful Skin Salve.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve is known everywhere as the best remedy made for all diseases of the skin, and also for burns, bruises and boils. Reduces inflammation and is soothing and healing. J. T. Sossaman, publisher of News, of Cornelius, N. C., writes that one box helped his serious skin ailments after other remedies failed. Only 25c. Recommended by H. H. Fenn Co., L. T. Freeman Co. and L. P. Vogel. Advertisement.

Stimson Wedding.

Invitations are out announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Ella Trelease, daughter of Mrs. John Trelease, of Evanston, Illinois, and Mr. Henry I. Stimson, of Owosso. The ceremony will take place at the home of the brides' mother on Tuesday evening, May 20, 1913, and will be performed by Rev. Frost, pastor of the first M. E. church of Evanston.

The groom is a well-known former resident of Chelsea and is a graduate of our high school. For several years Mr. Stimson was connected with the Glazier Stove Co. and at present he is filling a responsible position with a stove manufacturing company at Owosso.

After a wedding trip to the mountains in Kentucky Mr. and Mrs. Stimson will make their home in Owosso.

Do Not Mail Chain Letters.

The chain letter or postal card on which there is a form of prayer and some instructions for continuing the chain is again coming into the post-office. It is unlawful to mail such letters or cards and postmasters have instructions to take them out of the mail and not deliver them. If any in this vicinity are receiving or writing such communications they should know the facts and not make themselves liable for violating the postal regulations. These epistles contain a threat and are considered pernicious in a sense and are thought to do a great deal of harm and cause much uneasiness among certain people who are subject to nervous troubles or are of a more or less superstitious trend. —Milan Leader.

Compulsory School Attendance.

Five important measures relative to the public schools of the state were passed during the session of the legislature. Superintendent of Public Instruction L. L. Wright considers the amendment to the compulsory attendance law as one of the most vital. Heretofore any children who successfully passed the eighth grade has been exempt from compulsory attendance even though he or she might be under 16 years of age. This exemption will no longer apply unless the child shall secure a permit as required under the law governing the employment of minors, and shall regularly be employed at some lawful work if physically able to do so. District boards must pay tuition of those who have not completed the eighth grade if they are nearer some other school house than their own. The only limit placed upon bonding a school district is that the amount shall not exceed 10 per cent of the total valuation. Any county in the state may now establish a school of agriculture and domestic economy, the state paying up to $4,000 a year for its support. School districts, whether organized under general or special acts, may be consolidated if desired.

The Reincarnation of Karma.

During the early Christian era, Karma, a very spiritual and virtuous High Priest of the Temple of India, resists with all his religious fervor, Quinetrea, a beautiful and fascinating enchantress. Quinetrea eventually conquers and Karma falls a victim to her wiles. She triumphantly taunts him, and outraged at her cruel deception, Karma curses her, and Quinetrea is transformed into a huge snake. Fifteen hundred years later, Karma appears, reincarnated in the personality of Leslie Adams and loves the beautiful helress, Lillian White. Together they visit the ancient temple of Karma and are shown the reptile, which every hundred years resumes human form. While Leslie gazes fascinated, the snake uncoils and Quinetrea stands before him in all her bewitching charm. She holds him with her hypnotic power and forces him to accept an amulet for his betrothed, upon receiving which Lillian falls dead. Karma beholds a vision of his former self as High Priest, again curses Quinetrea, and drops dead across the prostrate body of his betrothed.

This wonderful photo-play returns to the Princess for another night's showing, by popular request, on Tuesday, May 20th.

Notice to Automobile Drivers and Motorcyclists.

Speeding on the streets of the village must stop at once. People on foot and drivers of other vehicles have rights which must be respected. I have instructed Marshal H. E. Cooper to arrest anyone found driving faster than the law allows. These instructions will be carried out. D. C. McLAREN, President.

SPIRITUALISTS IN STATE MEETING

DETROIT CHOSEN FOR THE NEXT CONVENTION AND OFFICERS ELECTED.

ROAD BUILDING BEE FOR THE SHORE COUNTIES.

Other Important Michigan News of Statewide Interest: Condensed for the Busy Reader.

The Michigan State Spiritualists' association, in its twentieth annual convention at Grand Rapids, voted to hold their convention next year in Detroit.

President, Samuel T. Penna, Detroit; vice president, Rev. Amanda Coffman Flower, Grand Rapids; secretary, John J. Sheaffer, Detroit; treasurer, Major Fred J. Berns, Detroit; trustees, Mrs. Emma Snow Hoyt, Battle Creek; Dr. O. O'Dell, Paw Paw; and Dr. Julia Walton, Jackson.

Great Road Building Bee.

The greatest "bee" Michigan has ever known will be held June 9, when hundreds of residents of the shore counties from Bay City to Mackinaw City will turn out and do road work for a day, their object being to complete a continuous good road from one end of the district to the other.

Over 4,000 days' work of men and teams have already been pledged by the farmers living along the route of the road. The township of Posen, in Presque Isle county, has taken the lead in this work, over 1,500 days having been pledged by its residents.

Inspection Dates Are Changed.

Orders have been received by the state militia department requiring the completion of the inspection of the Michigan national guard by the army inspectors by June 1. It has been necessary to change the dates of inspection for the upper peninsula companies and some of those in the lower peninsula, as the original inspection schedule carried the dates into June. An additional officer has been detailed to assist in the inspection and the companies affected are being notified.

New School for Traverse City.

Plans were put under way for the establishment of an educational institute in Traverse City, which will involve the expenditure of $50,000, and within a few hours $20,000 was subscribed by business men. Business, horticulture and agriculture will be the lines taught at first and other branches will be added. Plans for the building call for a capacity of 600 students, while an experiment farm will be provided near the city limits. A local business college will be merged with the new institution.

Only Resident Ministers May Marry.

Attorney General Grant Fellows has ruled that marriages must be performed by ministers and others competent to act, who are legal residents of the state and that persons imported for the purpose must acquire residence before officiating. Fellows jokingly declared that he believes in a highup protective tariff and declares that the law might be amended so that "foreign" preachers could officiate in case the "consumer" is willing to pay a good-sized import tax.

State Officer Is Accused.

Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state of California, is charged with malfeasance in office by the joint legislative committee which recently investigated charges in his department. In its report to the legislature the committee recommended that the case be turned over to the attorney general. The collection of $7,700, all of which he kept, it is said, for copies of automobile registrations furnished to insurance companies and others during the time Jordan has been head of the department, is the basis of the finding against him.

Two Drowned in Canoes.

Miss Annetta Fredenburg, aged 19, of the city, and Clarence Howard, aged 20, of Burlington, were drowned in the Kalamazoo river, when the canoe in which they were returning from a picnic up the river capsized. Howard had never paddled a canoe until that morning.

A deal is pending by which the Franklin house, Montague's three-story hotel, is to be transformed into a sanitarium.

Charles R. Johnson, who will receive his A. B. degree at the University of Michigan next month, has been chosen superintendent of the city schools of Comma, for next year, taking the place of E. C. Walsworth, who goes to Mt. Pleasant.

Veda Bean, 3-year-old daughter of John Bean, was burned to death and her sister, Emma, 6 years old, was fatally burned when their father's tent, in which he and his children were camping near Metropolitan, burned. Their mother died two months ago.

After being out 22 hours, the jury in the case of Marie Kethledge, against the city of Petoskey, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, allowing her $1,000 and costs. The alleged injuries sustained when she fell through a walk that was undermined in a wash-out last spring.

Mershon medals were presented to Miss Winifred Vaughan, Miss Ruth Oliver, Master John Currie and Mrs. V. C. Blanchard, of Oscoda, for best stories on bird life in the state competition. The medals are provided by W. B. Mershon, of Saginaw.

CONGRESSMAN YOUNG RESIGNS

MICHIGAN STATESMAN FEELS HE IS NOT ENTITLED TO SEAT.

SAYS MACDONALD RECEIVED MORE VOTES.

Although State Canvassing Board and Supreme Court Had Decided in His Favor He Is Unwilling to Remain.

With his eyes streaming with tears and choked with emotion almost beyond utterance, Representative H. Olin Young, republican of the Twelfth Michigan district, tendered his resignation from the house of representatives.

Discussing the contest instituted by William J. MacDonald, a progressive, Mr. Young declared 458 votes intended for MacDonald had not been counted for him, and he did not feel justified in holding his seat, although the Michigan canvassing board and later the supreme court had denied Mr. MacDonald's protest.

Hon. H. Olin Young.

The announcement came at the close of one of the most remarkable speeches that has ever been delivered in the house.

Not until the close was there an expression of either approval or disapproval of Mr. Young's utterances. Then the house broke into a prolonged applause, which was joined in by all the members.

Mr. Young's resignation will not in the least affect the legal status of the contest for his seat in congress. The house will proceed to try the case as if Mr. Young had not resigned. This has been the uniform practice of the house since its organization.

Bronze Statue of Prof. Bitter.

Friends of Dr. Phillip H. Tappan, the first president of the University of Michigan, have given a bronze statue of the pioneer Michigan educator which has just been completed by the sculptor, Prof. Karl Bitter, of New York, and will be erected in Memorial hall, Ann Arbor, and dedicated on June 25, during commencement week. According to those who remember Dr. Tappan, the bronze figure is marvelously true to life.

STATE BRIEFS.

The Baptist association of the Jackson district will hold its annual meeting at Bellevue Tuesday and Wednesday, June 10 and 11.

The announcement for the Ypsilanti Normal college summer school is out. The session will be from June 30 to Aug. 8, inclusive.

The presidency of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, has been tendered to Prof. Walter H. French, of M. A. C.

A number of Michigan bankers attending the formal opening of the new office of the Industrial Savings bank at Flint. They were given a dinner in the evening by the directors of the bank.

This summer $60,000 will be spent in the erection of new buildings and the repair of old structures at the state school for the blind at Lansing. The school was given $80,000 for building purposes by the last legislature. This money will be expended chiefly on a new dormitory for girls.

Despite the fact that the legislature failed to pass an anti-cigar bill, State Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme is going to make a further investigation. He said that he proposed to set his chemists at work dissecting the paper pipes, and where he finds ingredients other than tobacco, the public, and especially the youngsters, will be apprised.

During April the state game and fish warden's department investigated 226 complaints, as compared with 123 in April, 1911. There were 169 convictions, and the fines and costs amounted to $2,392.

For the first time in the history of the state the supreme court has issued a writ of certiorari against a governor of Michigan. Such a writ was issued against Gov. Ferris on an application made by attorneys representing Wm. D. C. Germaine, former mayor of Traverse City, who was removed from office by the governor April 4.

TO LEARN OF ALFALFA

Farmers of Barry County Will Seek Instruction From Expert and His Assistants.

Convinced by experience that thousands of acres of alfalfa would be grown in Barry county if the farmers were properly educated in methods of growing, members of the Hastings Grange have started a movement to secure the services of Prof. F. G. Holden and his assistants who have been making the "alfalfa campaign" in the western part of the state.

For a number of years many acres of alfalfa have been grown in small patches in Barry county. At first the farmers scoffed at the experiments, but the fact that the alfalfa growers gathered in the dollars for several crops annually has induced many to start experimental fields. Much of the soil in this county is adapted for alfalfa growing, and all that is necessary to develop it is knowledge of methods and enterprise.

To Seek New Treaty.

Renewal of the arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain which expires by limitation on June 4, will be sought by the United States. The treaty in question is of the highest importance, inasmuch as the British government has already asked for the arbitration of the Panama canal tolls controversy, unless the United States sees fit to withdraw the legislation favoring American ships using the canal.

Mexican Rebels Take Town.

Parral, rich mining center of southern Chihuahua state, is in the hands of constitutionalists, the federal garrison of 1,500 having evacuated. B. E. Leonard, master mechanic of a mine at Parral, brought the news to El Paso of the capture of the town by the insurgents. On a motorcycle he rode from Chihuahua City, meeting half a dozen insurrecto bands, including that of Villa. All were mobilizing to cut off the federal retreat.

Two New Cables to U. S.

The chamber of deputies of Portugal authorized government and the European and Azores Telegraph Co. for two cables between the Azores and the United States and one between the Azores and England. The Portuguese government is negotiating with the republic of Panama touching at the island of Porto Santo, 26 miles northwest of Madeira.

Little Town Wiped Out.

When the magazine of the Sunshine Coal & Coke company's mine No. 1, three miles from Masontown, Pa., exploded, the little mining town was wiped out practically. Three persons were killed and forty men, women and children were injured, 22 of them seriously.

President of Hayti Is Dead.

President of the Republic of Hayti, Gen. Tassadre Auguste, died at Port Au Prince after a brief illness. The national assembly was convoked to elect a successor as chief executive. Four candidates were prepared to present their claims to the office—Judge Luxembourg Cavin, former minister of the interior; Michel Orieste, a prominent senator; Gen. Beaufasse Larochette, minister of war, and Gen. Bellard.

Favors Direct Vote for President.

The resolution passed by general assembly memorializing congress to propose an amendment to the constitution to provide for election of the president and vice president of the United States by direct vote of the people having been signed by Gov. Baldwin, of Connecticut, and sealed by the secretary of state, it was forwarded to Vice President Marshall.

Great Britain Recognizes Mexico.

President Huerta was formally notified of the recognition of his government by Great Britain. The British minister, Francis W. Stronge, with due ceremony, presented the king's autograph letter, replying to that of President Huerta. The minister expressed in the name of his government good wishes for the welfare of the Mexican government.

Seven employes and officers of the Olds Motor Co., Lansing, were injured at Howell, when the test car which they were to drive from Lansing to Detroit turned turtle. George M. Scott, superintendent, was internally injured; Robert Hoff received cuts on the head; J. W. Steele, engineer, suffered a broken collarbone and other minor injuries, and Geo. Grant had a leg broken. William F. Burton, Bert Gold and H. B. Paton received slight injuries. All were taken back to Lansing. They will recover.

Thomas Craig, Jr., 20 years old, was killed on his farm near Britton. He was trying to break a colt, hitched to a roller, when the animal started suddenly and threw him from his seat. His head struck on the corner of the roller.

A business men's association was organized at Eaton Rapids with the following officers: President, Charles S. Horner; vice president, Clarence D. Knapp; treasurer, F. H. DeGola. The secretary is to be selected by the board of managers.

CALIFORNIA HAS MANY NEW LAWS

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS WITH RECORD FOR PROGRESSIVE MEASURE.

POLICIES OF GOV. JOHNSON ARE VICTORIOUS.

Prominent Among Acts Are Teachers' Pensions and Aid for Discharged Convicts' Wages to Be Paid to Convicts.

The fortieth California legislature has adjourned with a practically unbroken record of victory for the progressive majority in the carrying out of the administration policies outlined by Gov. Hiram W. Johnson.

There was a union of progressive republicans and Moosers to put the program through. Among paternal legislation, the teachers' pension act and that providing aid for discharged convicts stand out. The latter also provides that wages shall be paid to convicts during their incarceration. Courts are restricted from fixing the term of a sentence for any crime except murder.

Balkan War at an End.

The Balkan war between Turkey and the states of the Balkan federation is at an end. The only thing which remains to be done now is the formal proclamation of a treaty of peace. The reply of the Balkan allies to the recent representations of the powers was handed in and it contains a definite promise on the part of the Balkan states and Greece to cease all hostilities until a peace treaty can be drawn.

More Violence by Suffragettes.

Another week of violence was ushered in by the militant suffragettes. Militants burned the Nottingham Boat club. The loss is $10,000. The police found evidence of incendiarism and a copy of the official organ of the Women's Social and Political union. The suffragette, was discovered nearby. The structure contained many valuable racing and other skills.

Rabbit Serum Is Effective.

A marked improvement has been noted in the condition of 50 cancer victims at the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital, who have been inoculated with the rabbit serum recently discovered by Dr. Howard W. Nowell, of Boston university. That is the substance of an announcement made by a committee of five physicians connected with the Evans memorial department of clinical research at the hospital. Within 48 to 96 hours after the first inoculation, says the report, all the patients were made so comfortable that opiates have been dispensed with.

"Woody Tiger" in White House.

The "Woody Tiger" made its official debut as the official toy of the Wilson administration. As this new monarch of childhood entered the front door of the White House, escorted by Mrs. Wade Hampton, the originator of the novel idea, Teddy Bear and Billy Possum, mascots of previous times, looked on with brimming eyes.

Burns to Get Reward.

The $10,000 reward offered by the state of California two years ago for apprehension of the persons responsible for the dynamiting of the Times building in Los Angeles is about to be paid. A bill appropriating that amount to satisfy the claim of Wm. J. Burns was passed in the assembly by a vote of 42 to 14 and sent to the senate. San Francisco members all voted against the bill.

Typhoon Kills Many on Islands.

At least 75 persons perished in a typhoon which struck the Philippine Islands. So far as the military authorities have learned no Americans lost their lives. Many boats were wrecked and the rice, sugar and tobacco crops have suffered.

Dr. Floyd W. Hicks, of Allegan, has been chosen Michigan delegate to the imperial council of the Good Samaritans, which will be held June 3 at Duluth, Minn.

After suffering a week from burns sustained while playing around a campfire, Bobbie, the 6-year-old son of Cornelius Wager, of Harbor Springs, is dead.

A man supposed to be James Gordon, aged about 35, was run over by a Michigan Central train at Ann Arbor and both his legs cut off. He died in the University hospital. There was nothing on his person to tell where his home was.

At the April election Brookfield township, Eaton county, voted to construct two miles of good roads, but because the township board did not place the amount of the appropriation required on the ballot it will be necessary to hold a special election before the work can be started.

HE GOT THE MACHINE

By ELIZABETH SHEAR.

"Gene Filers has a new automobile," said Harry Jungles. He had stopped his trotter at the gate to the Trampton farm for the very good reason that at the gate Pearl Trampton was waiting for the mail man.

"Has he?" inquired Pearl with interest. Then quite casually she addressed the fence post. "I should never—said she, 'marry a man who didn't own an automobile. Why, I wouldn't care if it were a wheelbarrow—just so it was an automobile.'"

"Giddap!" said Harry Jungles to his trotter. Arriving at the town of Three Pines, he told the hardware man who had been pestering him for a month about the mare that he could have her for the price he offered.

"Going to buy a car?" asked the satisfied hardware man when he had paid down the money. "Everybody seems to be getting 'em nowadays."

"I want to buy some thing," Harry told him, briefly. That was one thing about Harry Jungles. He had down to perfection the art of not hearing what people said to him, thereby saving much time in which to think.

If Pearl Trampton passed a good deal of time the next ten days waiting at the mail box it did not disturb anyone but her mother, who remarked on rooms undusted and chickens unfed, but to no avail.

When a young woman puts on a fresh frock every day and troubles to do her hair the new way and nobody comes to view the dazzling results except an aged mail carrier with a wife and six children it is likely to wear her nerves ragged as a natural result.

"She Stared Helplessly."

SYNOPSIS.

At the beginning of great automobile races the mechanic of the Mercury, Stanton, drops dead. Strange youth, Jesse Floyd, volunteers, and is accepted. In the next day the twenty-four hour race Stanton meets a stranger, Miss Carlisle, who introduces herself. The Mercury wins race. Stanton receives flowers from Miss Carlisle, which he ignores. Stanton meets Miss Carlisle on a train. They alight to take walk, and train leaves. Stanton and Miss Carlisle follow in auto. Accident by which Stanton is hurt is mysterious. Floyd, at lunch with Stanton, tells of his boyhood. Stanton again meets Miss Carlisle and they dine together. Stanton comes to track and makes race. They have accident. Floyd hurt, but not seriously. At dinner Floyd tells Stanton of his twin sister, Jessica. Stanton becomes very ill and loses consciousness. On recovery, at his hotel Stanton receives invitation and visits Jessica. They go to theater together, and meet Miss Carlisle. Stanton and Floyd meet again and talk business. They agree to operate automobile factory as partners. Floyd becomes suspicious of Miss Carlisle.

"Jessica has the right to a chance," he agreed. "I'm not going to meddle with things beyond my understanding. An' I'd rather have her your wife than have anything else in the world. Only—you've seen her just once—you can't tell if you want her, yet."

Stanton shot him one straight, expressive glance.
"See it like you?" slipped from him involuntarily; then, furious at his betrayal of sentiment, he dropped the other's hand. "We had better go, or we'll miss the train," he brusquely reminded.

"Oh, she is like me," confirmed Floyd; he turned to look again at the factory. "We are pretty close chums. Yes, you an' I had better be gettin' to the train."

They walked back to the nearest trolley line, both silent.
The subject was not touched again, until the following morning, when they left the train in New York.

"When shall I see you?" Stanton questioned, as they exchanged farewells in the noisy depot. "To-morrow?"

"I'm going to be out of town for the next two weeks," Mr. Green tells me," Floyd replied. "They want me at the Mercury factory, and there are some other tips, too, I believe. Jessica is going to be rather deserted; if you happen to look her up, no doubt she would be glad to speak to some one besides her nurse."

"Thank you," accepted Stanton, as carelessly. "Take care of yourself."
He had not reached the exit when Floyd overtook him.

"Here are the entries for the Cup race," he panted, thrusting a folded newspaper into Stanton's hand. "There are two Atalanta cars to run against us. It's you who need to take care of yourself, until after."

"Floyd, wait! What do you mean?"
"Do you really think—?"
But his mechanic evaded the question.

"Some people are hoodoos," he laughed. "Keep away from them, please. Good-by."
He had not spoken Valerie Carlisle's name, yet Stanton knew against whom he was warned. And the melodramatic absurdity of the idea did not prevent an odd thrill of discomfort and insecurity, from which he took his usual refuge in roughness.

"I'm not in the habit of hiding from people, hoodoos or not. Good-by."
"Oo, very well," acquiesced Floyd oddly. "But if you won't take care of yourself, Stanton—?"
"Never mind."

CHAPTER X.
An Interval.
It was on the second day after his arrival in New York that Stanton called upon Jessica Floyd. This time he went more confidently up the stairs of the quiet apartment house, sure of his right.

four o'clock and I can offer you hospitality.
"What shall I talk to you about?" he doubted. "I am better at listening, I think."

"Oh, anything, everything. Suppose I were Jess; I like what he likes, racing, factories, motor-cars."
Although the season was early, a fire burned in the tiny hearth, on either side of which they were seated, facing each other. In the ruddy light Stanton contemplated the smiling girl, in her pale-blue gown with its lace ruffles foaming around her full young throat and falling low across her hands.

"Your brother has told you of the business partnership that we plan for this winter, Miss Floyd?"
She nodded her bronze-crowned head.

"Yes; I am very glad."
"Did he," a sudden fancy prompted the question, "did he tell you that I was coming here to see you, if I might?"

"Did he know of it?" she asked in counter-question.
Floyd had kept the confidence given him, though no formal restraint had been made. The expression that crossed Stanton's dark face was warm and very gentle.

"He knew, yes. I wish I could have met your brother years ago; I might have been less hard a man, more fit to know him, and you, now."
"You hard!"

"Has he not taught you that I am so?"
In her earnestness she leaned forward, her eyes fearlessly on his.

"Never. Do not imagine he thinks you that, do not so wrong his memory for your kindness. A rough word—what is it? The first gentleness cancels it; what is a friend worth who does not understand?"

Stanton bent his head, looking at the fire.
"I have not had much gentleness shown me," he said. "My mother died when I was born; when I was thirteen my father married again. My step-mother was a good woman, whom I loved as well as my father did. But within the second year after the marriage, the horses they were driving ran away, dragging the carriage over an embankment, and my parents died within a few moments of each other while being taken to the hospital. Have I said that my father was wealthy? He was so. He had made his will, a year before, leaving everything to his wife; well knowing that she in her turn would pass all on to me. She was much younger than he, almost certain to outlive him, and entirely to be trusted. But she had never made a will, delayed by chance or forgetfulness, I suppose. When he died five minutes before her, all his fortune passed to his wife; then, upon her death without a will, again legally passed on to her relative. I was left with no share or claim."

"But it was yours by every right! Surely, surely, your step-mother's relatives did not take it?"
"Then they took every penny and every inch, Miss Floyd. And I, at fifteen, was sent out into the world, a beggar, an orphan. They had no interest in me, and I was old enough to support myself. One of them offered to get me a position as office boy."

"Oh, I—lived," he grimly answered. "I asked them for nothing. What personal trinkets belonged to me, I sold, for the first needs; then I set to work. My father had wished me to be a mechanical engineer, and I meant to fulfill his plan. Perfect health I did have—for six years I regularly worked twenty hours out of each twenty-four, until I was graduated from college. For six years I was always tired, occasionally hungry, and took just one recreation; every night I walked through the avenue where my former woman stood, and looked at it. I saw the people who had robbed me go handsomely clad and sleek, I saw their carriages and servants pass and repass. I watched, and I concluded there was just one thing in life worth while."

"The girl shivered slightly, her gaze on his firm profile with its lines of relentless strength.
"You meant to punish them," she faltered.

"Revenge? No; it was not worth taking. I will not deny I thought of that as a boy; as a man I was too practical to waste my time. What I decided to have was money. I found in my aptitude for this automobile racing my best and quickest way to secure a starting capital. If I killed myself in doing it, very good; that was better than poverty. I was poor for six years; poor for a lifetime I will not be."

"No, you will not be," she agreed, her voice quite low and agitated. "You were born to bend circumstance, for good or ill."
"Circumstance bent me, when it set your brother in my path," he corrected. "I never before had a friend, or cared—" He shook his head impatiently, turning fully to her. "Bah, what dead history am I boring you with! Forgive me; I only meant to say there might be some small-excuse for my savagery. It is after four o'clock, I was promised tea."

Jessica rose to cross to the little tea-table, but lingered for an instant.
"Jes once told me that he had been guilty of the impertinence of saying his driver had the best disposition and the worst temper he had ever seen. I think that if he were here, he would apologize for the last part."

"Perhaps he may yet retract the first," he warned lightly, yet touched.
When she summoned him to take his cup, Stanton looked at the brown beverage, then in quizzical surprise at his hostess.

"Yes," she laughed, coloring. "With three lumps of sugar in it. Jes told me that whenever he was out with you, you drank chocolate syrup and sweet. I thought it was only girls who liked sweet, syrupy things."

"And do you always give people what they like?" he asked, amused and oddly pleased.
"I would like to," she retorted.
"Then I would like very much to have you go to the theater with me, to-night."

"As you like," she conceded, her heavy lashes sweeping her cheeks.
The first step was made. For the next two weeks they saw each other frequently. Twice Stanton brought one of the Mercury cars and took Jessica for sedate afternoon drives. Several rainy days she gave him sweet chocolate and sat opposite him before the bright little hearth, listening or talking with the equable sunniness so like Floyd's. Indeed, Stanton soon came to feel with her the sense of companionship and certainty of being understood that he felt with her brother. But he never was rough to Jessica.

SPRAYING OUTFIT NECESSARY FOR THE PRODUCTION OF PROFITABLE FRUIT CROP

Common Mistake to Try to Economize in Purchase of Equipment for Eradication of Orchard Pests—Easy Matter for Farmer to Have Liberal Supply of Small Fruits.

Showing the Good Effects of Spraying.

It is well for the farmer to realize at outset that the conditions are very different from what they were thirty or forty years ago, and that without a good spraying outfit good fruit cannot reasonably be expected. It is well to emphasize the word "good" in this country gentleman, for it is a very common mistake to try to economize in the purchase of a spraying outfit, and so to get one which will make good work impossible, or at least make the cost of doing it twice as much as it should be. The manufacturers of spraying outfits who lead men to believe that an apple tree can be sprayed with a bucket pump are doing an injustice to their own machines, as well as to the men to whom they sell.

All this said, not to discourage the growing of the farm orchard, but merely to point out some things necessary to make it a success; and to show by contrast how easy it is for the farmer to have a liberal supply of the small fruits.

It is poor economy for farmers to try to get on without a home orchard, but it is much worse for them to try to get on without berries and other bush fruits and grapes. All berries are easily grown. The strawberry can be planted one year and be in full bearing the next. Most of the others need only two years in which to bear abundantly. Except in certain localities none of them are seriously attacked by other insect foe or disease.

The currant worm, gooseberry blight, blackberry anthracnose and strawberry weevil will do considerable damage in the aggregate, but all of them are more or less localized, and most of them are easily controlled. A man with a $6 knapsack sprayer need spend only a few hours in a season to protect enough bushes and vines to produce all the small fruits the average farm family will need.

The following are the standard formulae:

Bordeaux Mixture: This is a fungicide and used during the summer on plants that have resistant leaves; it is made as follows: Copper sulphate or blue stone, 3 to 4 pounds; quick lime, 5 to 6 pounds; water, 15 gallons. Dissolve the blue stone in 25 gallons of water; slack the lime in as much water as you can.

Kerosene Emulsion: This is a contact insecticide, used in the summer time for soft-bodied insects, like plant lice; it is made as follows: Soft water, 1 gallon (add borax to soften if water is hard), a good hard soap, 1 to 2 pounds; kerosene, 1 quart. Shave the soap into the water and warm until thoroughly dissolved; then add the kerosene and churn or pump it back and forth into itself for at least 15 minutes or a half hour; when thoroughly emulsified, add 21 to 22 gallons of water to make a 7 per cent. solution; 2 gallons gives an 8 per cent. and 11 to 12 gallons gives a 9 per cent.; the original solution is 15 per cent. Never apply the 15 per cent. first; always start with the 7 per cent. solution and work up to the stronger ones; it is hardly ever necessary to use more than a 7 per cent. for ordinary plant lice. Be careful in making this mixture, for if the oil separates upon the plant the leaves are sure to be injured and likely killed.

Soap Solution: Where foliage is too tender to stand the kerosene, soap, at the rate of 1 pound to 6 to 8 gallons of water may be used instead; it is not as good as the emulsion, but a great deal safer.

Profit in Young Cattle.
The Central experiment station farm at Ottawa, Canada, found that by comparing 1,000 pounds live weight in the case of calves, yearlings, two and three-year-olds, that the profit for each 1,000 pounds was: Calves, $31; yearlings, $37; two-year-olds, $19.10; three-year-olds, $12.50.

Hired Man on Dairy Farm.
The hired man on the dairy farm is seldom out of work and contrary to the popular opinion this same hired man is not so dissatisfied as many would have you believe.

Wage war upon the poison ivy and keep at least the home place free from it. Only the most drastic measures have any effect upon it.
Teach the children to avoid any sort of climber that has a three-lobed leaf. While poison ivy is not fatal in its effects and many people are immune from its attacks, it causes much unnecessary suffering and it often affects and impairs the health.

Start a crusade against the pest among your neighbors and work against the common enemy. Try to pass laws to authorize road supervisors and commissioners to see that their districts are kept clear of it.
Dig or plow it up to the smallest root and branch, for it is so tenacious to life that a twig allowed to lie upon the ground has been known to take root.

If every root cannot be dug touch the broken end with crude oil or some strong acid. A load of fresh manure dumped upon a clump of poison ivy — August will finish it.

PRETTY CAKES AND SWEETS

Easy for Hostess to Entertain the Little Friends of Juvenile Members of Her Household.

A great many parties are being given for children, and hostesses as never before are taking care that the cakes and sweets they provide shall be aesthetically pleasing as well as good to the taste.

An attractive custard, for instance, that they are serving, is reminiscent of the seashore.
To make the custard, put three-quarters of a cup of sugar in a saucepan over the fire and let it "caramel," stirring frequently to prevent burning. Add this to one pint of milk in a double boiler then add two well-beaten eggs and half a teaspoonful of vanilla.

Stir as it cools until it coats the spoon. Now put on one side to get cold. When cold slip into miniature pails, strew the top thickly with brown sugar to represent sand.
Fruit Vol au Vent—Use the fruits in season. Make a case of very light puff pastry. Whip up two cupfuls of thick cream, sweeten and flavor to taste and have ready the fruit, raw or stewed.

Put a layer of it in the case, then a layer of the cream, then the rest of the fruit. Lastly, heap the rest of the cream on top; decorate with preserved cherries.
Meringue Sandwiches a la Noel—Beat three egg whites stiffly, add a pinch of salt and a few drops of vanilla extract, then gradually beat in four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Put the mixture into a forcing bag with a tube, and force it on to a glazed baking- tin in long shapes.

Place in a slightly warmed oven until firm. Remove from the tin and take out the soft centers from the undersides and put back in the oven until dry and crisp. When required for use fill with cream ice, strawberry, pineapple, or orange. Stick two together and decorate with whipped and sweetened cream.

Kitchenettes.

Whenever several saucepans are on the fire at once, place a large, clean, white marble in those containing milk, porridge, custard, stews, or anything requiring constant stirring. The marble will roll about with the boiling, and so automatically keep the liquid constantly stirring. There will then be no chance of burning, and the fatigue of constant stirring and bending over a stove will be avoided.

Never throw away pieces of lemon after they have been squeezed with the lemon-squeezer, for they come in handy for removing stains from the hands and elsewhere. Dipped into salt they will scour copper kettles nicely and remove stains from brass-work. Lemon like this will take stains, dirt and odor from pans and kettles as nothing else will. The odors of fish and onions can thus be easily removed.

Baked Eggs.

Eggs are now cheap enough to appear quite frequently on the luncheon as well as breakfast bill of fare. One way of serving them makes a particularly savory luncheon dish: Mince two or three small onions fine and brown nicely in butter; add two teaspoonfuls of cider or tarragon vinegar, a dash of pepper and quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Butter a brown and white, or white enamel ware deep pie dish, spread the onion over the bottom and then break six or eight eggs carefully over the mixture. Place in hot oven and when the eggs are cooked to your fancy spread over them a layer of buttered bread crumbs; let them brown quickly; garnish the dish, and serve very hot.

Cork Flooring for the Kitchen.

An excellent new material is coming into extensive use for kitchen floors. It is a flooring made from squares of cork, pressed under powerful weights and baked. Each tile is about one-half inch thick, in the natural cork brown, and become part of the floor. They are expensive, but for a permanent home they cannot be excelled, as the flooring thus produced is impervious to wear and will not absorb grease or water. The great point is the resiliency to the feet that such a surface gives, besides its sanitary and artistic qualities.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Lettuce Boiled With Spinach.

Do not throw away the large, green leaves of lettuce. Remember they are greens. They may be used, shredded, in a salad, as a parnish, in a vegetable soup or boiled and hashed with spinach or dandelion greens.

Rhubarb Shortcake.

Make a rich biscuit dough and bake in a shallow pudding or baking pan; while hot, split open, butter and spread each half with well-sweetened rhubarb sauce, lay the halves one on the other and serve with whipped cream.

Self-Frosting Lemon Pie.

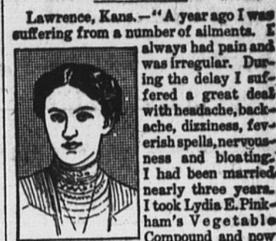

Juice and rind of one lemon, yolks of two eggs, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two tablespoonfuls flour. Line plate with pastry and dot with bits of butter. Beat the whites of eggs very stiff, add to the other ingredients, and bake slowly about three-quarters of an hour. This is delicious.

Pointed Broom.

A whiskbroom that has seen service for some time was trimmed down neatly to a point, and is used for dusting and sweeping the corners of rooms, and especially the stairs. It works splendidly and saves the cost of buying small brushes.—Good Housekeeping.

KANSAS WOMAN WHO SUFFERED

From Headache, Backache, Dizziness and Nervousness, Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lawrence, Kans.—"A year ago I was suffering from a number of ailments. I always had pain and was irregular. During the delay I suffered a great deal with headache, backache, dizziness, feverish spells, nervousness and bloating. I had been married nearly three years. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel better than I have for years. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all who suffer as I did."—Mrs. M. ZEUNER, 1045 New Jersey Street, Lawrence, Kansas.

Montana Woman's Case.

Burns, Mont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me of awful backache which I had suffered with for months. I was so weak I could hardly do my work and my head and eyes ached all the time. Your Compound helped me in many ways and is a great strengthener. I always recommend it to my friends and tell them what a grand medicine it is for women. You may use my name for the good of others."—Mrs. JOHN FRANCIS, Burns, Montana.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, also they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

Don't Persecute Your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal, harsh, unnecessary. Try CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Purely vegetable. Act gently on the liver, eliminate bile, and soothe the delicate membrane of the bowel. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and indigestion, no matter how small. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature.

Tact; Son Gets Down to Tacks.

Henry, age five, had two younger brothers. Henry's father had just moved, and was busy laying the kitchen linoleum. In order to facilitate the work he gave Henry the task of furnishing him with tacks. The little fellow worked faithfully for half an hour. Suddenly, however, he turned to his father and said:

"Papa, you like me best, don't you?"

"Oh, I like all my boys," said the father.

"But don't you like me a little bit better than the others?" queried Henry.

"I like all my boys equally well," answered the father.

"Well, papa," said the lad, after a moment of reflection, "what's the use of my handing you these tacks then?"

Explaining the Game.

At a baseball game in Downs last fall a young woman asked her escort:

"Why does that man behind the hitter wear such a big bib?"

He explained to her that it was to keep the catcher's shirt from getting mussed when the ball knocked his teeth out.—Kansas City Times.

Begin With It.

"Why are people so much disgusted with any one who informs upon another?"

"Why shouldn't they be?"

"Didn't every mother's son of us begin life as squalers?"

CLEARED AWAY

Proper Food Put the Troubles Away.

Our own troubles always seem more severe than any others. But when a man is unable to eat even a light breakfast, for years, without severe distress, he has trouble enough.

It is small wonder he likes to tell of food which cleared away the troubles.

"I am glad of the opportunity to tell of the good Grape-Nuts has done for me," writes a N. H. man. "For many years I was unable to eat even a light breakfast without great suffering."

"After eating I would suddenly be seized with an attack of colic and vomiting. This would be followed by headache and misery that would sometimes last a week or more, leaving me so weak I could hardly sit up or walk."

"Since I began to eat Grape-Nuts I have been free from the old troubles. I usually eat Grape-Nuts one or more times a day, taking it at the beginning of the meal. Now I can eat almost anything I want without trouble."

"When I began to use Grape-Nuts I was way under my usual weight, now I weigh 30 pounds more than I ever weighed in my life, and I am glad to speak of the food that has worked the change." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little booklet, "The Road to Wellville," in plgs. "There's a Reason."

Free read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Warning to Men in Woods.

State Game and Forest Warden Oates has renewed the warning against forest fires sent out to all game and fire wardens in the state. He urges all sportsmen to exercise the greatest vigilance while in the woods, as the dry condition of the moss and underbrush in the northern forests makes the situation highly dangerous.

Did Not Do As Advertised.

Relying on the statement published in The Standard, as well as in the Ann Arbor and Jackson papers, that the D. U. R. would run west bound cars directly from the Hill Auditorium, immediately after the evening May Festivals, a car load of Chelsea people attending the Festival, got beautifully drenched Wednesday evening at both ends of the route. The D. U. R. had no cars running west as advertised, although they had six or seven east bound ones, and the Chelsea people who usually come home on the 10:30 Michigan Central train were not only disappointed on D. U. R. cars as promised, but also held up so that that could not get out, except on the 11:15 car of the D. U. R., which they had they had to take down town. The local city cars all waiting until after 10:30 before leaving Hill Auditorium. We will try and confine our news items in the future, as to arrangements of the D. U. R. to a publication of their time card at regular advising rates. We gave out notice in the above instance at the special request of the managers of the May Festival, and believe they as well as local patrons were imposed upon by the company.

Real Graham Flour.

Having learned that many so-called "graham flours" on the market contain the sweepings from the mill, and that they often contain "red dog," the lowest grade of flour produced, as well as bran and other bi-products the United States bureau of chemistry has defined true graham flour as "unbolted wheat meal made from sound, clean, fully matured, air-dried wheat." This is the result of an extensive investigation just completed. The bureau holds that mixtures should be labeled "imitation graham flour." This distinction is not compelled by pure food decision, but is advised by the bureau of chemistry to "maintain the integrity of the trade."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

S. A. Mapes is having his residence on east Middle street repainted. The annual reunion of the 2d Michigan Cavalry will be held in Lansing on June 17 and 18. The village authorities have men at work relaying the tile drain through the land of John Schenk and Gottlieb Hieber on west Middle street. Michigan Peat may be Valuable.

Considerable interest is being taken by Marquette and adjoining counties in the investigation instituted by the United States bureau of mines into the peat resources of northern Minnesota. If a way can be found to make the peat commercially valuable it is claimed that the fuel problem of the district will be solved. It the peat in northern Minnesota is found to be valuable for fuel purposes it is certain that many thousands of acres of peat in Marquette and adjacent counties in Michigan can also be utilized. Great quantities of peat are found near Negaunee and Ishpeming. Some of the beds are from six to eight feet in depth.

The Hoover Steel Ball Co. expect to commence moving their machinery from Chelsea to their new quarters in Ann Arbor the last of this week.

GOLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Chelsea People Have Found This to be True.

They Are Watching

Every young man in this town is being watched by business men. They have good jobs waiting for the right kind of men.

They may not tell you so, but they are watching to see if you pay your bills promptly, if you are careful about meeting all your obligations, if you are competent, trustworthy and have a bank account. Why a bank account? Because it shows that you are saving. Nobody wants to give a spendthrift a position of trust. We invite young men to become depositors.

JOURNEYING IN CHINA

EVER since the abdication of the emperor it had been rumored in Peking that the imperial family was planning to retire to the palaces at Jehol, situated 180 miles northeast of Peking. Desiring to visit these palaces before their occupancy by the imperial family should render them inaccessible to the public, the correspondent decided to make a trip to Jehol. As Willis R. Peck of the Chinese secretariat of the American Legation was planning to make the same journey, we decided to join forces and travel together.

Mrs. Peck very pluckily insisted on accompanying her husband, in spite of the fact that the country through which we were to pass had been in a more or less disturbed state ever since the revolution, and brigandage had been rife on all the principal trade routes. Mrs. Peck argued that any place was safe for her that was safe for her husband. We tried to tell her that only one or two foreign women had ever gone to Jehol, but she answered that this was the very reason why she wanted to go. In the end her arguments prevailed, though we had some misgivings about the advisability of a woman's making such a journey. When it was finally decided that Mrs. Peck should accompany us, we took care to put in an extra supply of cartridges for our revolvers and guns.

Mules for Transport.
The road which leads from Peking to Jehol passes through some very mountainous country, and is more suitable for mules and donkeys than for horses. We therefore, decided to dispense with horses and to use only pack mules and donkeys. We engaged five pack mules and three donkeys. The owner of the mules and donkeys agreed to send two muleteers with us to care for the animals.

On Tuesday, July 9, we set out from one of the northern gates of Peking and traveled in a northeasterly direction. The pack mules carried parts of the "kang." It is, therefore, not incorrect to say that the Chinese sleep on their stoves.

All the next day we were gradually approaching the mountains and were beginning to wind our way up a beautiful valley through which flowed a large river, which we crossed by means of a ferry boat. We were now passing through a beautiful farming country. We noticed that the farmers did not live on their farms, but were congregated in villages and towns. Almost every farmer had a hut on his farm, where he could camp out while watching his crops.

As soon as we had traveled a day's journey from Peking we began to attract a great deal of attention. The people were curious to see the foreigners. The children often fed before us, crying, "the foreign devils are coming."

Accept the Republic.
Wherever we stopped we tried, by conversing with the people, to ascertain their attitude toward the republican government. It was very clear from what they said that they accepted the republic as an accomplished fact, and believed that it had come to stay. Just what a republic was the ordinary people did not seem to know. Most of them seemed to think it was a new order of things which would gradually compel the Chinese to cut their ties and to follow foreign customs in general. Some of the more intelligent people believed that the republic would in some way lead to a participation in the government on the part of the people. Just how this participation was to come about they did not know or care. The great majority regarded the form of government as no concern of theirs. It was for the officials in Peking to decide on the form of government. They did not care what form of government they decided upon so long as the taxes were not increased.

While chary about talking politics, the people were not averse to discuss-

GENTLE ADA FERRIS

John Folsom's Mascot Saved Him Just in the Nick of Time.

When Folsom was sent to the Philippines he told Miss Ferris that he would have something very important to write to her as soon as he had established himself. It was something which he could not say to her then because Ada Ferris was rich and Folsom had his way to make in the world. But when he looked into her eyes he knew that she would wait—that she was the kind that would wait years—perhaps for ever.

It was lonely in Manila, in spite of men friends who took one out to dinner and whom one entertained at one's bachelor quarters. In fact John Folsom had only one real friend—Minnie, his little monkey, who had been captured, a tiny baby, in the forests of Mindanao. She was the tiniest and most affectionate creature that he had ever seen. One day he found her perched gravely in front of Ada Ferris' photograph, examining it, evidently with approval, for she made a little chattering noise that signified happiness.

"Some day, Minnie," said Folsom, as she snuggled into his coat, "some day we three will be in a world of perfect happiness."

Then he sighed, for he had not written to Ada Ferris so regularly as he had been used to do. Perhaps it was because his promotion came slowly. It could not have been because of Lillith Aintree, Judge Aintree's daughter, who was the belle of the American colony, and who distinctly liked Folsom.

Held It Toward Him.

There could not have been a greater contrast than between Lillith and Ada; the one proud, mirth-loving, self-willed; the other gentle, sweet and affectionate. In his heart Folsom knew that his new flame could not compare with the girl whom he had left behind him in Boston. But Ada Ferris was far away and Lillith was near, and in his loneliness he found it impossible to resist her overpowering attraction, her personality, vibrant with youth, and his, he knew, as soon as he should say the word that would make her his.

Minnie did not like Lillith Aintree. There had never been any love lost between them. The very first time that Lillith and her mother called at his bachelor quarters—I think he was giving a tea that day—the little creature ran screaming from her and, climbing the curtain pole, sat at that safe elevation and grinned at her. "Minnie doesn't seem to like me," said Lillith one day. "Don't you think you ought to get rid of her, John?" (They called each other by their first names now.) "I mean—"

She paused in well calculated confusion. John knew what she meant. They had been strolling along the water front together and he had never felt her influence so strongly as that day. But at the words a sudden chill fell upon him and before his eyes there rose the gentle image of Ada Ferris, waiting.

Her letter never altered in tone, except that they had become a little more reserved, a little more distant, in response to the unconscious change in his. And ever he halted between his two loves, now resolutely faithful to Ada and now overpowered by the exotic allurements of Judge Aintree's daughter.

The old life seemed very far away now. The new life was pleasant and alluring. He had been taken up by the colony; everybody believed that he and Lillith were engaged. He must make his decision.

The day of his decision came. It was a perfect afternoon in the season of rains. John Folsom, his little companion perched on his shoulder, was seated in a swinging chair in Judge Aintree's garden. He had brought Minnie with him because she whimpered so when he left her, and because he felt, somehow, that she was a talisman to him. Deep in his heart he knew that Lillith would never bring him happiness, but her presence drove reason from his brain and deadened his heart against all memories of the girl back east. Lillith was seated in the hammock under the tree, and all the other guests had discreetly withdrawn to a distance.

She had meant to capture him that day and never had she looked more captivating. She was dressed all in white, her little feet, in their neatly fitting shoes, swung to and fro with the motion of the hammock. Over her head she carried a white parasol. John Folsom looked at her and the spell was on him. He came to her side. "Lillith," he began hoarsely, taking her hand. "I—I—" He choked; he could not continue. On his shoulder, one arm about his neck, Minnie was muttering and scolding. She meant to warn him, but John was past warning now.

Just then he heard the judge calling him. "Folsom, come here!" he yelled. "Come and get some iced lemonade for Lillith and yourself!" He hurried away, glad of the respite, glad to compose himself. He must be articulate, he must be clear-headed, for he had to tell Lillith about Ada.

And yet he knew she would not care. She would have no scruples about usurping the other's place.

To his surprise the monkey left his shoulder and sprang to the lowest branch of the tree under which the hammock hung. Folsom hurried away and presently, coming back with the lemonade, saw something which astounded him.

Lillith, in an access of fury, had reached up and grasped the monkey, and now, holding her fast by the throat with one hand, was thrashing her with the other. The little animal was nearly choked, she could not scream, but, with both hands over her head, strove vainly to ward off that shower of stunning blows. Then Folsom came up as Lillith flung the creature from her.

Minnie crept sobbing into John's arms. He turned and faced the girl who, disheveled and flushed with passion, stood gazing at him unceasingly. "I thrashed the little beast," she said.

"What did she do to you?" asked John quietly.

"She sat on the tree and made faces at me," Lillith answered petulantly. "And I tell you, John, unless you get rid of the beast you must—"

She had meant to say "get rid of me," but something in John's face checked her.

"I'm sorry if I hurt her, John," she said. "But the little wretch hates me and I can't bear to be hated. I want to be loved, John," she added, lifting her face toward his.

A sudden loathing for her came with his new understanding. "Lillith," he said, "a woman who would beat a helpless dumb brute would beat a child."

"What do you mean?" she cried. But he said no more. Holding the monkey tightly to him he walked away. And Lillith knew. She knew that the mother instinct, which alone can hold a man, had failed her; she knew that she had irrevocably lost him. He had found her out at last.

"Little mascot," said John, when he set Minnie down upon his table, "there's a long letter from some one in Boston that we haven't answered yet. Shall we write to her this afternoon?"

And Minnie picked up his pen just at that moment and held it toward him.

SECRET OF NATURE FOUND

Fact That It Is Possible to "Taste" Electricity Has Been But Recently Disclosed.

In some forms electricity is invisible, while in others it may be seen. The lightning flash and the electric light are easily seen, but the current itself is really invisible to the eye. The sense of feeling can detect the presence of the mysterious element, and the sense of smell has been known to locate the presence of the wonderful power, but it has just been discovered that we may taste electricity.

Metals of an opposite nature will, when properly connected, throw off a small current of electricity, and this may be tasted by taking a piece of bright, clean tin about the size of a silver dollar, and placing either above the tongue or beneath it, with a silver dollar on the opposite side. Keep the outer edges of the silver and tin apart for a moment, and see if you can detect any taste.

Then bring the outer edges of the metals together with one above and the other beneath the tongue, and instantly there will be a sour taste in the mouth. This is actually tasting the electric current that is produced by the contact of the two metals, and which in making the circuit is passing through the tongue which is very sensitive.

Ambulance Miniature Hospital.

The new French Schneider ambulance is a veritable portable hospital, being a truck probably the largest size yet constructed and having an operating room in the middle part, with two smaller rooms at the ends. It contains an electric plant which is used for lighting, water pumping and sterilizing, and for surgical motors. Water is pumped in by hose from a well or pond, and after passing through the ultra-violet ray sterilizer, it is stored in a tank. When the ambulance is brought to the spot, for instance, on a battlefield, a wing in the shape of a tent is formed by a tarpaulin on each side of the wagon, and the two tents are electrically lighted through windows in the sides of the car.

Many Years on One Job.

For continuous service on one job, Councilman Henry Glace of Mauch Chunk, Pa., thinks he is entitled to first place. Mr. Glace entered the service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, at the Packerton car shops, in September, 1874, more than thirty-eight years ago. He was then put to work on the bolt machine and he has been at that particular work ever since.

Not on the Map.

Joan was a most conscientious pupil, eight years old. During one of the school study periods the teacher noticed her searching a large atlas intently with a most puzzled expression. After a few minutes she asked the child what she was looking for. "Oh," said the anxious student, "Miss Kane said we were to find all the places spoken of in the history lesson on the map, and it says that 'Columbus was at the Point of Starvation,' and I can't find it anywhere!" —Youth's Companion.

THE RIGHT SOAP FOR BABY'S SKIN

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe the sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczemas, rashes and other itching, burning infantile eruptions. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

"I see you have a new cook," said Mrs. Keen, as she smiled at the hostess across the table.

"Yes," replied the hostess. "How did you know?"

"I've been studying the thumb prints on the plates," replied Mrs. Keen.

Certainly.

"I think an elopement is usually a blunder."

"Well, it is a miss-taken move."

What He Did.

In "Little Humorists at School," Mr. H. J. Barker tells a story of a school mistress who asked one of the little girls in her class, the daughter of a man who was not always so sober as he ought to have been: "What is your father?"

"Please, miss," was the prompt reply, "when he's working he's a brick-layer; but when he's out of work he's a teetotaler!"

Real Difference.

"I begin to perceive," said the tired business man, as the comedian executed a funny fall, "the difference between the classic drama and musical comedy."

"There are many differences."

"Yes. But the chief one is that while the classic drama uses cymbals, musical comedy uses the bass drum."

IT'S HARD TO WORK

It's torture to work with a lame, aching back. Get rid of it. Attack the cause. Probably it's weak kidneys.

Heavy or constricting work is hard on the kidneys, anyway, and once the kidneys become inflamed and congested, the trouble keeps getting worse.

The danger of running into gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease is serious. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, a fine remedy for backache or bad kidneys.

An Illinois Case

James E. Poynter, Rossville, Ill., says: "I was laid up with kidney trouble. My back pained so I couldn't move. The kidney secretions were in terrible condition. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me in short order and for four years the trouble has never returned."

DRAWING WATER FROM A WELL

our provisions and baggage, while the sure-footed, sturdy Peking donkeys served us as mounts.

Toward noon we reached the town of Sunho, where we rested in a Chinese inn and had lunch. Here we saw the filtering tanks of the Peking water works, which were the last signs of modern improvements we saw on the whole journey. After a short siesta, we set out again and arrived at Niu Luen Shan, a walled city, about seven in the evening. In the west suburb of the city we found a fairly good inn. A Chinese inn usually consists of a number of one-story houses arranged around a large open courtyard. The guest rooms and stables all front on the same courtyard, which is usually full of horses, mules, donkeys, camels and a great profusion of merchandise and baggage. To those unaccustomed to Chinese inns the stamping and braying of the mules is very annoying.

A room in a Chinese inn has no furniture, excepting a table and a couple of chairs. Instead of a bed, there is a raised platform of brick called a "kang," on which the traveler spreads his bedding. In the front part of the "kang" is a small fireplace which connects with a number of air passages radiating to all ing the affairs of their own particular community. We found every particular community had its own fund of legends and folklore. At Shihshia, where we stopped for lunch on July 11, we were told that the place owed its name to the fact that there was a huge stone in a neighboring valley resembling a gigantic treasure chest. This stone is said to contain a vast fortune in the shape of gold, silver and precious stones.

Cooler in Mountains.

We traveled in easy stages, averaging about twenty-six miles a day, which was about all our animals could stand, owing to the hot weather. As we began to wind our way up into the mountains the air became somewhat cooler. We were also greatly refreshed by finding springs of clear, cool water which issued from the mountain sides. We had hoped to reach Koupsikou pass and the great wall on the evening of July 11, but a thunderstorm forced us to take refuge in a mountain inn at a place called Hsiakalling. We spent the night there and set out early the next morning. We had traveled only a few miles when we saw in the distance the fortresses of the great wall capping the peaks of the highest mountain range.

HAVE LONG DURATION OF LIFE

Salt Water Denizens Attain Immense Age, if Scientific Investigations Are Correct.

Water, particularly salt water, seems to conduce to longevity. There are gigantic mussels, and oysters whose age is assumed to be comparable only with that of the Cape Verde baobab tree and the big tree of California, which live for 5,000 years. In fact, there appears no particular reason why mussels should ever die, though it is also true that, considering the sort of life a mussel leads, there seems no particular reason why it should ever have lived.

Sea anemones, again, delicate and sensitive though they look when we see them in the rock pools, may attain a great age. Sir John Dalyell, a Scottish naturalist, captured in 1823 a sea anemone of the liver-colored sort, so common around our shores. Its age was then estimated at seven years. It flourished in Edinburgh until 1887, and was just attaining a vigorous and sober maturity when, from some unknown cause, it died—London Mail.

Very Plain Criticism.

Children are not always grateful beings, and they are notably hard to entertain. At a birthday party a kindly natured adult had toiled hard in the effort to amuse the children by means of parlor magic, ventriloquism, burlesque dancing and the like. The other adults present were highly amused, and some of the children deigned to chuckle mildly. The mother of the hostess, however, felt that full justice had not been rendered, so before announcing refreshments she took pains to thank the entertainer, and to call the attention of the youngsters to his gifts.

"Mr. Blank is very funny, isn't he, children?" she concluded.

From the rear of the room came a small, shrill voice: "Yessum, but not so funny as he thinks he is!"

Paraphrasing the Immortals.

Tennyson's "Brook" and Scott's "Lochinvar" were recently set for paraphrase at a girls' school. The conscientious students set to work with a dictionary. Here follow specimens of the results: To bicker down a valley—"To bicker down an undignified quarrel in a low place among the hills." He staid not for brake—"He never stopped for a mechanical contrivance to reduce speed by means of friction."

Neighborly.

Not long since a man moved into a certain village. After a week or so a friend called on him and asked how he liked his new home. "Pretty well," he said. "Have you called on your neighbors yet?" "No," he replied; "but I'm going to if any more of my wood is missing."

Quite So.

"Do you believe in the office seeking the man?" "That depends altogether on the amount of his shortage."

What Ails You?

An invitation is extended by Doctor Pierce to every sick and ailing man or woman to consult the Faculty of the Lloyds' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y., by letter. Write your symptoms fully and frankly, and your letter will be carefully considered, fully answered and its statements strictly private and absolutely confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Makes for rich, pure blood and thereby invigorates the system. For a torpid liver and its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, nervousness, depression, constipation, coated tongue with bitter taste, and of a general debility after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good.

To Restore Good Health

The first thing to do is to correct the minor ailments caused by defective or irregular action of the organs of digestion and elimination. After these organs have been put in good working order by timely use of

Social Forms and Entertainments

Mother Goose Party.

Maskerade and fancy dress parties are always delightful, but of all the pleasant gatherings which I have attended the Mother Goose party takes the lead. Invitations to the effect that Mother Goose will be pleased to welcome her geese at the residence of whoever gives the entertainment on such an evening, are sent out fully two weeks in advance. The request to come in costume representing some one of the characters found in "Mother Goose" can be written on a small card and inclosed in the envelope with the invitations. These invitations can be made very pretty if one can paint, by having little water color or pen and ink sketches on them—such as little "Jack Horner" or the "Three Blind Mice" pursued by the "Farmer's Wife," with her "Carving Knife."

Portraying Nature With Bible Verses.

Very recently a correspondent asked me for some Bible scheme to interest children, to be used as part of a Sunday school program. Seems to me the following arranged by Harriette Wilbur would be acceptable. Learning the verses as given will teach the children about the Bible and how much it contains about the flowers that we have today. This could be used on "Children's Day," which is observed in so many churches early in June.

- 1. Lily (Luke 12:27). Bouquet of lilies, anemones or some lilaceous flower.
2. Grass (Luke 12:28). Bouquet of long grass blades tastefully arranged.
3. Star (Matthew 2:9-10). Large star.
4. Vine (John 15:1, 5). Long, graceful cutting of a grapevine.
5. Cedar (Psalms 92:12). Branch of cedar.
6. Wheat (Matthew 13:24-30). Stalks of wheat.
7. Flower (Isaiah 40:8). Bouquet of any flower in season.
8. Palm (John 12:12, 13). Palm branches.
9. Mustard (Matthew 13:31, 32). A mustard plant from some wheat field; the larger the plant the better.
10. Willow (Psalms 87:1, 2). Long willow branches.
11. Barley (Ruth 1:22). Stalks of barley.
12. Fir (Psalms 54:16, 17). Branches of fir.
13. Rose (Isaiah 24:1). Bouquet of roses.
14. Rushes (Isaiah 35:7). Handful of tall rushes.
15. Oak (2 Kings 13:14, revised version). Some oak branches.
16. In concert: Psalms 46:11, 12, 13

A Flower Contest.

When all the guests had arrived Mother Goose, with Old King Cole, opened the grand march and the music played merrily. A piano will do for the dancing, but the addition of a violin is a great improvement. Much merriment was occasioned when the masks were removed before the refreshments were served. While the young people are home for the summer vacation some one may give a party like the one described, and I am sure it will be successful. Of course, the masking is not essential, but adds a little spice to the enjoyment. The refreshments need not be elaborate, but a large bowl of lemonade should be conveniently placed where it will be easy of access to all.

A Novel Card Party.

This pretty card party was conducted like a cotillon and was a great success. It was given for forty guests, and the tables were scattered throughout the large rooms of a spacious country house. In the first place each

It is more easy of the instep buckle over the base in place, and a helps to hold them in place, and a small strip of suede, which clings to the stocking, is usually fastened over the instep and about the ankle with bands of ribbon. These bands are fastened on opposite sides of the slipper rim about an inch from the guest found her place at table with three others by means of a souvenir name card.

When all had arrived and were seated at the tables the hostess was very particular to personally introduce each partner, if unacquainted, which made everyone feel more comfortable. Then the bell rang and playing began. Four games were played and the losers were the ones to move, going to a table for favors. These they gave to the winners at the other tables, who were taken to the table of the losers, and thus they met an entirely new set of players. There was no counting of scores—simply the best three hands winning out of four. There were ten sets of favors. After five sets of favors had been used refreshments were served, then playing was resumed until all the favors had been used. At the last each loser brought an extra favor for his favored partner and herself, which called forth much merriment, as they were large paper sacks blown out and tied at the top with various colored ribbons. They were to carry the favors home in, and they were used. It certainly was a very jolly party, and the idea is adaptable to all card parties where the hostess desires something out of the ordinary. The favors may be as elaborate as the purse will permit. The ones at the party described consisted of bonbons in fancy boxes, imported chocolate salted nuts in dainty receptacles, paper aprons, neck ruffs of flowers, fans, parasols, paper hats, post cards, etc.

Albion.—What is said to be the only known triple-yolked hen's egg ever known in this section and perhaps in the country was laid by a hen on the farm of Edward Lutza, seven and one-half miles southwest of this city. Lutza noticed the extraordinary size of the egg when he found it in the nest of a black Minorca hen and thinking it was an ordinary double-yolked affair he placed it under a setting hen to see what would happen. Three perfectly formed chicks, all attached to each other, however, by a strip of cartilage, were hatched, but lived for but a short time.

Port Huron.—It was learned that James Marks, barber, sent to Jackson prison years ago from St. Clair county for the murder of his wife, will be released this week. It is said that the prisoner has only a short time to live, and the fact that he is in such feeble health has inspired the pardon board members to give him his liberty. Relatives near here have agreed to care for him for the remainder of his life.

Jackson.—Full confession to the charge that the had embezzled sums aggregating $30,000 from the state penitentiary board of trustees was made before the board by its defaulting secretary, Lawrence Yergler. Yergler placed a roll of bank notes among them $680 before the trustees, saying that was all he could raise to make up the shortage.

Flint.—A baby not more than twenty-four hours old, was found on the rear step of the home of Dr. Francis D. Clarke, superintendent of the Michigan home for the deaf. The child was in a market basket to which was tied a note, "Please take this unfortunate child in. He has a miserable lot for a father." The baby has been taken to the city hospital. County Agent Turner is endeavoring to locate the parents.

Ithaca.—Superintendent of Schools F. A. Knapp has been asked to resign owing to his expulsion of pupils concerned in the recent act of vandalism in the high school building. He has a three-year contract, two being yet to run. The town is divided on the question as to whether he should be supported or ousted for his action.

Jackson.—Married less than three weeks the honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. John Berry was rudely interrupted when the groom was placed under arrest on a warrant charging him with the desertion of a wife and three children who reside in Saginaw. Berry's right name is Claude Bissonette. He came to Jackson last winter and secured employment on the Michigan Central as a switchman. He met Miss Clara Breanizer, aged nineteen, and after a courtship of a few months he asked her to become his wife. The girl's father objected to a hasty marriage, but the couple eloped to Windsor and were married. Bissonette has confessed to the officers that he deserted his Saginaw wife and children about a year ago.

Alpena.—The extensive plant of the Northern Planing Mill company owned by Thomas Nicholson, was destroyed by fire. The owner estimates his loss at $30,000, part of which was covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have started from a hot box on a planer while the men were at dinner.

Ypsilanti.—Mayor Frank Norton at the meeting of the common council made the following appointments: Board of public works, E. A. Mellencamp; police commissioner, Elihu Gooding; fire commissioner, James Drury; park commissioner, R. W. Hemphill, Jr.

Saginaw.—J. I. Bolton of this city received a card from Phoenix, Ariz., written by Leo Thalheim, who was reported a suicide in Los Angeles a few days ago. His son, according to dispatches received at that time, had gone west in search of his father.

Grand Rapids.—Justice John C. Loucks, in sentencing John Hamling of Wyoming township, to thirty days in jail for wife-beating, declared that he would rather sentence the respondent to the whipping post if there were such an institution now.

Bay City.—Chester Wisner, nineteen years of age, who was employed by the U. S. Express company as a deliveryman and collector pleaded guilty in police court to the charge of embezzlement and was bound over to the circuit.

NEWS OF MICHIGAN

Cheboygan.—Fred Peterson, eight-year-old son of Mrs. Wessell of this city, met a terrible death by being crushed to pieces by the immense auto truck used to haul chips from the Olds saw mill. The young man had finished his day's work and for a little excitement, decided to ride to the paper mill and back with the driver, Joe Beauchamp. After leaving the mill the machine suddenly skidded and scraped the side of the blacksmith shop. Peterson heard the noise, and fearing that something would happen leaped to the ground and landing between the machine and building and was crushed nearly in two.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher!

Dr. Albert W. Kahl, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have used Castoria in my practice for the past 25 years. I regard it as an excellent medicine for children."
Dr. Gustave A. Eisenbrauer, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."
Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."
Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."
Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."
Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."
Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

BREVITIES

JACKSON—Only about one-third of the applicants for teachers' certificates at the recent examinations at Jackson were successful.

SALINE—Saline baseball enthusiasts have organized an association to promote the great National game in that burg the coming season.

PLYMOUTH—At the last meeting of the village council it was decided to purchase 350 barrels of oil to be used on the streets to keep the dust down.

POWLERVILLE—Ed. Lasher delivered to Will Sharr on Monday 28 head of Herford steers and received a check for the sum of $2,430.75, or $86.80 each.—Standard.

MILAN—Six members of the family of Herman Johnson are ill with diphtheria as the result of drinking water from an abandoned well which examination showed to be full of slime and reptiles.—Leader.

JACKSON—Ninety lodges of the I. O. O. F. of southern Michigan will hold their annual celebration at the Oddfellows' home grounds in this city August 6. It is expected the outing will be attended by 3,000 members of the order and their families.

JACKSON—George Irwin, aged 66, of Kalamazoo, serving a 5 to 12-year sentence in Jackson prison for a serious offense, suicided in his cell Monday morning at 1 o'clock by cutting his throat with a razor. Death followed the act within 30 minutes.

CLINTON—Saturday our genial station agent, G. R. Wolf, completed 21 years of service at the Clinton depot. This speaks of faithful and conscientious service for the railroad company and as a true and accommodating servant of the public.—Courier.

TECUMSEH—Mrs. Geo. N. Stacy, editor and proprietor of The Tecumseh Herald since the death of her husband Geo. N. Stacy, which occurred December 1907, passed away Thursday, May 8, at noon, after an illness of less than a week. The funeral was held Sunday from the family home.

ANN ARBOR—Thomas E. Barkworth, of Jackson, is suing Andrew Campbell, of Pittsfield, for $1,500 alleged to be due on a bill rendered by the Jackson attorney for the defense of Campbell's son Robert, who was arrested, convicted and served time before he was pardoned by Gov. Chase Osborn.

BLISSFIELD—Supt. W. L. Reed, of the village schools, has resigned his position and has accepted a similar position with the Tecumseh schools at an increase of salary. He will be succeeded by Mr. Sawall, of the Pittsford schools, who comes to Blissfield highly recommended. Supt. Reed has been at the head of the Blissfield schools for ten years and under his supervision they have reached a high degree of efficiency.—Advance.

TECUMSEH—A Roman Catholic church in Tecumseh is practically an assured thing. Negotiations have been concluded between Rev. E. A. Fisher and the Tansley Real Estate Agency, by which a site for the proposed new church has been secured on the southeast corner of Chicago and Oneida streets. It is stated that work on the new structure will be commenced in the near future and that it will be constructed of stone and brick, somewhat similar to the churches built by Fr. Fisher in Manchester and Blissfield.—News.

ANN ARBOR—Judge Kinne Friday morning granted a temporary injunction to William Buxton, restraining Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry of this county and Drain Commissioner Daniel Sullivan of Monroe county from letting the contract for the cleaning of the Falk drain in York township and the adjoining township in Monroe county. The drain is about two miles long, and according to Buxton the commissioners are planning to clean out only half a mile of it. He asks that the whole drain be cleaned or none of it at all.

ANN ARBOR—A paper filed in the county clerk's office Friday awards George W. Langford, damages in full in settlement of his case against the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago railway. Suit for $300 was brought by Mr. Langford last fall after an interurban car struck his automobile while it was stalled on the company's tracks on Packard street. The plaintiff declared that the traction car was exceeding the speed limit, and that the motorman failed to pay any attention to signals for him to stop given by Langford.

No Cream Separator being manufactured to-day has so many recent improvements as has the

UNITED STATES CREAM SEPARATOR

We have the strongest force of skilled mechanical men that are connected with any Separator concern.

These men have spent much time right in the field studying the needs of the farmer in regard to cream separators, and getting their criticisms and suggestions on all kinds of Separators.

One of the greatest complaints they have found has been the rusting of the skimming device in Separator bowls. We are the first and only manufacturers to use a metal that is strictly non-rusting.

Washing the Separator is a necessary duty. We are the first to invent a Mechanical Washer which will clean the U. S. Separator in half the time usually required to clean a Separator.

The United States Separator, 1913 model, is one of the lightest running and is commonly admitted the closest skimming Separator as well as requiring fewest repairs.

Free Booklet. These and other big advantages are fully described in our new Separator Booklet. Better yet, ask one of our dealers mentioned below, for a FREE DEMONSTRATION and see the Separator with its without-an-equal feature.

Economy in Painting Your House does not mean buying the paint sold at the lowest price per gallon. It means getting the paint that covers the most surface per gallon and gives the greatest number of years of service—in other words, the best value for your dollar.

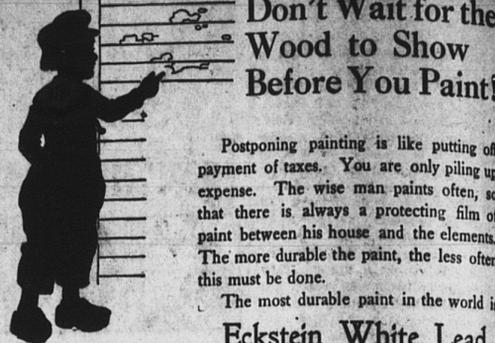

ACME QUALITY HOUSE PAINT

costs less because it takes less and lasts longer. Let us show you pleasing color combinations, estimate quantity needed, or be of any other service we can, whether you buy or not.

Come in and get an Acme Quality Painting Guide Book and some color suggestions.

Don't Wait for the Wood to Show Before You Paint!

Postponing painting is like putting off payment of taxes. You are only piling up expense. The wise man paints often, so that there is always a protecting film of paint between his house and the elements. The more durable the paint, the less often this must be done.

The most durable paint in the world is Eckstein White Lead (Dutch Boy Trade-Mark) and Pure Linseed Oil when mixed to suit the conditions of the wood. All good painters do it this way. Make sure that yours does it, too, and that he uses Dutch Boy white lead and linseed oil. Drop in at our store and get our "Painting Points," containing valuable suggestions on selecting color schemes for inside and outside your home.

"Nearly all those Wagons and Buggies are Studebakers"

Every year over one hundred thousand Studebaker vehicles are sold.

This tells you what the farmers of the country think of the Studebaker wagons.

This appreciation has been constantly growing for sixty years.

This appreciation has been earned by the determination of Studebaker to produce an honestly built wagon that will do a full day's work and keep on doing it, and not to build a cheap one.

The man who buys the Studebaker gets all the improvements gained by the experience of two generations of wagon builders.
