Pure Refreshing Ginger Ale

No, all ginger ale is not pure, as many of the so-called ginger ales do not contain even the smallest amount of ginger. Verner's Ginger Ale is the real thing.

It is made of genuine ginger root, sugar, and pure spring water.

You'll notice the difference when you try it.

It's a healthful drink, and is most refreshing and stimulating—just the drink for you when fagged out with the heat.

Always on ice at 5c per bottle.

DOGS KILL SHEEP

Fred Hutzel and Howard Congdon Lost a Number of Animals.

Dogs did considerable to the flocks of sheep owned by Fred Hutzel and Howard Congdon. About two o'clock Monday morning Hutzel heard his sheep running and a dog barking. He went to the field where the animals were and found one dead and twelve others with their ears and throat so badly lacerated that they had to be killed. There was but one dog in the Hutzel flock, and the animal proved to have been owned by C. G. Waudby of this place, and Mr. Hutzel shot and killed the dog.

The loss in the flock of Howard Congdon was ten sheep killed outright and thirteen others so badly injured that they had to be killed. It appears that there were two dogs after the two flocks of sheep. The owner of one of which is unknown. The township of Lima will have to pay the owners for the destroyed sheep, unless the owners of the dogs settle the bill.

Messrs. Hutzel and Congdon will in the future kill every dog that they discover running at large on their premises as they do not care to raise sheep to supply food for strange dogs.

Automobile Wrecked.

The 13th day of July seems to have been an unlucky day for J. E. Weber, as well for many other people. Last Sunday while Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Weber and children were driving along Main street in Jackson, in his automobile, a motorcycle rider (license No. 3150) ran into him and his car was badly wrecked. Mr. Weber was driving on the right side of the street and the impact from the collision threw the auto on the curb and it brought up against a fire hydrant. Mr. Weber had just turned into the street and the motorcycle was coming from the opposite direction at a lively clip and the rider seems to have lost his head as he drove straight into auto. The motorcycle rider was thrown into the auto and as he left the cycle he struck one of the bows of the top and broke it. The rider was quite badly injured and his machine was a complete wreck. One of the children was slightly injured but the remainder of the family escaped unharmed. The damage to the Weber auto will be between $50 and $60 and it will have to be taken to the factory in Detroit to have new parts to replace those that were broken and bent.

Sudden Death.

Orrin L. Coy was born at Oakley, Michigan, February 18, 1858, and died at his home in Lima, Wednesday morning, July 16, 1913, from a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Coy resided on the Schanz farm and was employed by O. C. Burkhardt to conduct the work on the farm. The family moved to their present home from Grass Lake last March. Prior to that Mr. Coy was employed on the farm of James Little of Lyndon for six years. The deceased seemed to be in his usual health when he retired Tuesday night.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters and two sons. The remains will be taken to Oakley Saturday morning and the funeral services will be held in the afternoon of that day.

Annual Picnic.

Preparations are being made for the annual picnic on Wednesday, August 13, by the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart. It is hoped that addresses will be given by Congressman Beakes, Rev. Fathers Halliway, of Hudson and Hally, of Dexter, Sidney Doyle, of Detroit and George J. Burke prosecutor of Washtenaw county. Dinner tickets will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The Chelsea band will furnish music and there will be many interesting features.

Why Not in Chelsea?

In a number of the surrounding towns the village councils have provided waste paper boxes which are fastened to posts at convenient spots in the town, for the receiving of paper and other waste which is usually thrown into the streets. The receptacles are emptied by the street commissioner at regular intervals. The plan goes a long way toward keeping the streets in a presentable condition. Why not do likewise in Chelsea?

Notice.

On and after July 20, we will not leave milk unless bottle and ticket are out (excepting those who take stated quantities).

The Decision was Reversed.

The supreme court handed down its decision in the case of School District No. 2, Sylvan, vs. Henry Musbach on Wednesday, July 9. This was an action brought by the District against Musbach to recover about one-eighth of an acre of land which the district claimed by right of possession.

The supreme court in its decision said, in part: "He (Musbach) holding the legal title, and under a claim of ownership, enclosed this tract (the triangle in dispute) previously uninclosed by any one, with his other land, openly, without force against anyone in possession and by peaceful means. It was not done surreptitiously, by force or trick or fraudulent representations practiced on those who otherwise have maintained a previous possession."

"For the reason stated the decree of the lower court must be reversed and complainant's bill dismissed, with costs for defendant."

Judge Steere wrote the opinion but the case was argued before the whole bench.

Hay Field Burned.

The Chelsea fire department was called to the Grantwood addition on Washington street last Saturday afternoon, by a blaze in the hay field which is supposed to have started from a cigar or cigarette thrown from a passing car on the D. J. & C. electric line. About 12 acres of stubble was burned over, reaching across 40 acres of land and extending to within about 1,300 feet of the houses on the property. The department stretched a line of hose and subdued the flames. The seeding on the burned strip of land is probably lost and the 12 acres will have to be plowed up the coming season. Had the hay crop not been cut and drawn away a few days before nothing would have saved the houses as the high wind helped the flames along at a lively rate.

The Battle of Bloody Ford.

A sensational drama of the Civil War which furnishes the background for a most realistic bayonet charge, the rout of the enemy by the Federals, the explosion of a burning powder wagon, the fording of a swollen stream under a rain of bullets by a Southern girl with Northern sympathies, a thrilling rescue of a drowning soldier at Bloody Ford and many other war scenes.

There's a love story, too, running all through. A young clergyman, who answers his country's call, a captain in the Federal army, and two loyal daughters of the North and South are the characters that eventually participate in a double wedding.

This highly sensational two reel Kalem war story will be shown at the Princess on Saturday, July 19.

WRECK AT FRANCISCO

Engineer Killed Instantly—Fireman Died Sunday Night—Two Injured.

A bad wreck occurred on the Michigan Central at the west end of the yards at Francisco about 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The train, No. 16, was a fast east bound express and was running at a very fast rate. As the train approached the yards the engine tender left the track and at the switch point the engine and two of the express cars were turned over at the side of the track.

The train was in charge of some of the oldest and most trusted employees of the company and the accident was not from any neglect on the part of the men in charge of the train. It is thought by experienced railroad men that the tender began to sway from side to side and it left the track a short distance west of where the engine turned to its side.

James S. Martin of Detroit, the second oldest engineer on the line, was at the throttle, and he was instantly killed at his post of duty. Clayton Cole, fireman, of Jackson, was badly scalded and he died at the hospital in that city Sunday night. Thomas H. Whalen, the conductor, was seriously injured, but after the wreck he managed to get to the station and broke into the telegraph office and sent a message, saying: "Stop Chicago flyer" which was following No. 16. After sending the message Mr. Whalen, who is also a telegraph operator, fell in a faint.

J. D. Beattie, the baggage man, had a badly bruised knee. Both of the injured men were taken to Detroit on a train that was following No. 16.

Wrecking outfits were brought to the scene from Jackson, but both were called to another wreck which occurred at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at Rives Junction. The cause was a head-on collision between two passenger trains, one going to Grand Rapids and the other coming from Saginaw. The engineer of the Grand Rapids train failed to obey the positive orders and ran by the meeting point. Nine or ten people were injured in this wreck one of whom died a short time after the wreck. A car on the M. U. T. from Lansing was at the scene of the wreck when it occurred and the most injured were put aboard and taken to the hospital at Jackson.

Wm. O'Connor a resident of this place, was a passenger on the Saginaw train and when the impact came he was thrown over three seats. His back was badly wrenched and he sustained other injuries that will confine him to his bed for some time. Mr. O'Connor is at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Greening, on Grant street, and his wife and children are at Saginaw where they formerly resided. This is the second experience of Mr. O'Connor in a wreck. He was one of the men who was injured when the ice house collapsed at Whitmore Lake a few years ago.

Blue Ribbon Races.

Blue Ribbon week, August 11 to 16, will furnish another illuminated chapter in the history of light harness racing for the year. Since 1885 the meetings of the Detroit Driving Club have been world famous, because the sport has dominated and the attraction has been the best that money and brains could devise.

This year the Blue Ribbon meeting will be the greatest single week of racing in the country for the reason that more good horses are being pointed for the contests than ever before. This is a part of the revival of interest in the American sport of the sulky, which today, is on the threshold of greater popularity than it ever has known.

One of the horses that will start in the M. & M. stake cost $12,000. In the Chamber of Commerce pacing stake are two costing $10,000 and $8,000, and one for which greater amounts have been refused. The value placed by the owners on the horses that will compete in the Blue Ribbon races will run up to a million dollars. The cost of getting them ready and of the horses that have failed to come up to expectations is almost as much.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

EMPLOYEES OF INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT BOARD MUST WAIT FOR PAY.

SUPREME COURT RULES ON THE DISPUTED POINT.

State Tax Commission Will Change Plan of Handling Work and Will Give Personal Attention to All Complaints.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

As the result of an opinion rendered by the supreme court, the commissioners and employees of the industrial accident board will have to wait until the next legislature convenes before they will be able to draw any pay for the services they rendered the state during the month of June, as the court refused to grant Commissioners Kinnane, Kennedy and Deever a writ of mandamus to compel Auditor General Fuller to deduct from last year's appropriation the money the accident board paid for rent and office fixtures. Had the court complied with the demand for a writ of mandamus and Auditor General Fuller had been required to refund to the commission the money it paid for rent and office fixtures, the appropriation of $25,000 which was authorized by the special session in 1912, would have been sufficient to have paid all expenses until the new appropriation was available July 1.

It was the contention of the industrial accident board that the legislature did not intend that the printing bills, rent and cost of fitting up the offices should be paid from the $25,000 appropriation. "Such a construction, in our opinion, clearly unwarranted," says the court. "The relation of the commission to the rent for their offices amounts to $1,200 per annum; that they have expended for furniture some $3,000 and that the cost of stationery and printing is about $3,500 per annum. It is scarcely conceivable that the legislature intended to add to the sum specifically provided this additional amount—an amount more than 25 per cent in excess of the appropriation itself."

The court then points out that the board knew as early as September, 1912, when the act went into effect that it would be impossible to pay expenses until July 1, 1913, and keep within the appropriation, and calls the attention of the commissioners to the fact that although the legislature was in session more than three months this year they made no attempt to secure a deficiency appropriation, which they might easily have done. In its opinion the court upholds the interpretation placed on the statute by Attorney General Fellows and former Attorney General Wykes.

During the next few months a complete revision of the system of operating the state tax commission will go into effect and Commissioners Barnes and Carney believe that by paying more individual attention to the work of the employees better results will be obtained for the people of the state of Michigan.

The commissioners announce that they will give individual attention to the work of the field men and instead of leaving the correction of assessments to subordinates to a large extent, they will supervise it personally. A bureau of complaints will be established and those who have a grievance will be sure of receiving immediate attention. The commissioners claim that no complaint will be too small or too unimportant to receive the consideration of the commission.

Some changes are contemplated in the rules governing the operations of the field men. Commissioners Barnes says that hereafter a field man will be required to inform people that they are agents of the state tax commission and that efforts to secure information by misrepresentation will not be tolerated. George G. Winans, of Hamburg, son of ex-Governor Winans, and democratic candidate for state highway commissioner at the last election, has been appointed as a member of the examining staff of the commission. However, the new administration has made comparatively few changes in the department as a majority of the employees appointed during Governor Osborn's term of office have been retained.

At the present time there are about 75 men on the pay roll of the commission. About three-fourths of this number are field men who have been employed in the appraisal of property in the various counties of the state.

Last year an army of 18,324 men and women was employed as teachers in the public schools of Michigan and the aggregate wages paid in 1912 amounted to $9,952,326.67, according to statistics taken from the annual report of Superintendent of Public Instruction L. L. Wright.

The report shows that 10,297 teachers were employed in the graded schools of the state, while the ungraded schools retained 7,577 instructors.

That women are rapidly monopolizing the teaching profession in this state is shown by the fact that the 18,324 teachers in the public schools of Michigan 16,116 are women and 2,208 are men.

It is estimated that there are 68,391 pupils in the private and parochial schools of the state. There are 443 of these schools in Michigan giving employment to 1,662 teachers. However, in making the compilation for the report Superintendent Wright puts the private and parochial schools in a separate list.

Superintendent Wright says there are 491,293 pupils in the graded schools of the state and 304,162 in the ungraded schools, making a total of 795,455, as compared to 783,780 in 1911. The report shows 7,362 school districts in the state. The 43 county normal training schools graduated 497 teachers last year. The two rural high schools were attended by 35 pupils while the two county agricultural school had an enrollment of 64 last year.

There are 8,668 school houses in Michigan, 19 having been added to the list last year, while the total value of the public school property is placed at $40,223,747. The total receipts amounted to $10,189,383.21 while the net expenditures totaled $16,730,370.08. There are 6,077 school libraries. Superintendent Wright says there are 1,240 districts furnishing free text books.

Chairman Lawton T. Hemans, of the state railroad commission, would like very much to know the attitude of the United States attorney general and the members of the interstate commerce commission relative to proposition pending in this state to merge some of the telephone companies into one line and thus save users of the instruments from paying for double service.

Chairman Hemans made a trip to Washington to interview the government officials on this subject, but stated upon his return to Lansing, that he was treated kindly but was given little information.

For some time, according to Commissioner Hemans the Michigan State Telephone company has been willing to sell to the independent companies in communities where the independent concerns are strongest, and would like to secure control of lines in other places where the Bell interests have the largest business.

However, as Commissioner Hemans points out the companies are afraid to proceed, and the commission does not want to approve such mergers, until it is determined that the federal government will not look upon the deal as a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and start prosecutions. Just what the attitude of the present administration is towards the so-called telephone mergers is a question that remains unanswered as far as Commissioner Hemans is concerned.

According to the monthly crop report issued by Secretary of State Martindale, this year's yield of wheat in Michigan will be the smallest in years. The various crop correspondents in Michigan who gather statistics for the state department have sent in rather discouraging reports as far as the wheat crop is concerned and it is estimated that the average yield per acre in the state will not exceed 14.63. The average estimated yield of rye is 13.81 bushels per acre.

The condition of corn is placed at 87, potatoes 88, sugar beets 90 and clover 77. The following table of percentages gives the average in regard to fruit in the state: Apples 58, peaches 53, pears 52, plums 56, grapes 66 and raspberries and blackberries 76.

The estimated acreage of the principal farm crops grown in Michigan for 1913 follows: Wheat 770,586, rye 380,491, corn 1,696,556, oats 1,510,596, barley 82,956, buckwheat 61,702, beans 424,280, peas 64,086, potatoes 356,586, sugar beets 78,781, hay and forage 2,236,784, apples 224,035, pears 9,092, peaches 23,254, plums 3,720, cherries 7,601, strawberries 8,434, raspberries and blackberries 9,086.

Richard D. O'Keefe, of Port Huron, has been appointed inspector in the state highway department by Highway Commissioner Rogers. O'Keefe has been sergeant-at-arms in the senate during the past two sessions of the legislature.

The state railroad commission has issued an order authorizing the Mineral Range railroad to issue $115,000 in corporate notes. The Grand Trunk Western railroad has been granted permission to issue $332,620.47 in bonds. Two years ago this road was authorized to sell $7,339,615.69 worth of bonds at 95 per cent of their par value, but there was a slump in the value of the bonds and 91 was the best that could be obtained. The latest order by the commission is to permit the road to realize the difference.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Sam Robinson has served notice on the proprietors of four moving picture theatres at Albion that they must improve conditions or their places would be permanently closed. Robinson has two inspectors on the road and is doing considerable work along this line personally. An effort will be made to inspect all the theaters in the state.

THREE KILLED IN JACKSON WRECKS

MICHIGAN CENTRAL SUFFERS TWO ACCIDENTS ON SUNDAY.

ENGINEER IS BURIED UNDER HIS ENGINE IN FIRST.

Second Wreck More Serious Than First When Two Passenger Trains Meet in Head-On Collision on High Bridge.

Two wrecks on the Michigan Central railroad Sunday, both near Jackson, resulted in two deaths, the injury of a dozen persons and the shaking up of half a hundred persons. One train was derailed when the tender left the track and two fast passenger trains met head-on in the center of a high bridge over the Grand river two miles north of the city. That more were not killed in the latter crash is considered nothing short of a miracle.

The first wreck occurred half a mile west of Franciscan about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, and Engineer James S. Martin, of Detroit, was killed. He was buried beneath his engine and it was with difficulty that his body was released.

His fireman, Cyalton E. Cole, of Jackson, was terribly scared by escaping steam and will probably die.

The second wreck occurred at 10:30 a. m. on the bridge over the Grand river, when trains 105 and 68 came together on a curve. Both engines were reduced to scrap iron.

No. 105 was bound for Grand Rapids, while No. 8 was arriving from Saginaw. The Saginaw train has reached the switch, which is marked by a sharp curve, and was about to take the siding in compliance with orders when the Grand Rapids train rounded the curve and the two engines met head-on.

The tender of No. 68 shot into the air, plunging into the river, and the impact of the collision was plainly heard in the city.

Engineer Hancock and his fireman were found lying behind the tender of their train and the baggage man was taken from the debris of his car. That he was not killed is a wonder.

Claims to Have Safe Aeroplane.

Christopher J. Lake, one of the inventors of the even keel submarine boat used in the United States navy, has reported to the Aero Club of America that he and his son, Simon Lake, have evolved a type of aeroplane with "inherent stability."

He declared that he had tested the new flyer at an altitude of 60 feet and found that when it was brought in an inverted position it easily recovered its balance and made a safe and easy descent.

"The machine has such great longitudinal stability that the weight of a man moving about the plant would upset the machine only to a small degree," he said. "I believe the day will come when men can walk about with absolute safety while flying in aeroplanes."

Bandit Kills Hotel Officer.

A masked man who attempted to hold up the night clerk at the Cliff House, a fashionable summer hotel at Manitou, Colorado, shot and killed Night Watchman C. Whitehead and escaped to the hills. A posse was sent in pursuit.

Walking past a number of guests on the porch and in the outer lobby, the bandit, covered the clerk, Con Casson, and Whitehead with a revolver and ordered them behind the counter. Whitehead made an attempt to escape but a bullet from the bandit's weapon, killed him. The shot roused guests and without attempting to secure any money or valuables, the bandit jumped a high porch railing and disappeared.

Upholds the Becker Trial.

Charles Becker's application for a new trial on the charge of slaying the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was denied by Supreme Court Justice Goff, of New York. Counsel had sought to reopen the case on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Justice Goff, who was the trial judge in the Becker case, and in the case of the four gunmen also convicted, held that the former police lieutenant had had a fair trial before him and denied the plea. If relief comes to Becker now, it must be through the higher courts. For months he has been in the death house at Sing Sing.

Traveling men have decided to walk in Ann Arbor. The local organization which has a membership of about 50, has taken action to boycott local taxi and cab drivers. Alleged exorbitant prices is given as the reason.

Returns of a referendum among miners of Houghton county show a majority of 4,000 miners voted to strike if the companies do not grant a minimum wage of $3 a day, shorter hours and better working conditions.

The Michigan State Holiness Camp Meeting association, which will open its twenty-eighth annual 10 days' meeting July 24, has obtained, in addition to its other speakers and evangelistic workers, Rev. Will H. Huff, of Sioux City, Ia., evangelist, and Rev. I. H. Hodge, of Wichita, Kas., evangelist and temperance orator.

COL. HENRY WATTERSON

Veteran editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier Journal, frequently referred to as "the last great editor," announced just before making the opening address at the Perry Centennial celebration at Put-in-Bay, that it would be his last public appearance as a speaker.

IRISH FIGHT AT FESTIVAL

Unionists and Nationalists in Furious Combat Join Forces Against the Police.

Many persons were injured at Belfast, Ireland, in rioting which broke out during the Orange festival. Thousands of nationalists and unionists took part and for a time the fighting was so serious it was thought troops would be necessary to quell the trouble.

Revolvers and stones were freely used. Mounted policemen charged the mobs, wielding their clubs vigorously.

Many windows were broken and a number of policemen were injured, two so severely that they had to be taken to the hospital.

Rival factions of nationalists and unionists first fought each other furiously and then when a large body of police appeared and endeavored to separate them, joined forces and attacked the policemen.

The fight raged along the streets for more than an hour and a half. Sticks were freely used by the civilians, who also threw showers of stones, accompanied by an occasional revolver shot. The policemen drew their clubs and charged, and hand to hand fighting went on till about 5 o'clock, when the crowds dispersed. Only one arrest was made.

Col. James N. Cox Dead.

Col. James Nye Cox, the former adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard, dropped dead on the porch of his residence at Houghton. Col. Cox was born at Fair Haven, April 10, 1844. He served in the civil war with the Third Massachusetts, leaving the service at the close of the war with the rank of a brevet captain. He served on the military staff of Gov. Alger and every succeeding one till Gov. Osborn, who relieved him of the duties of adjutant-general. Returning to Houghton county, Col. Cox took up his residence at Houghton. He was appointed a year ago county agent of the state board of corrections and charities, and probation officer of Houghton county. He was prominent in Masonry and a member of the Loyal Legion and the G. A. R. He is survived by his widow and one son, Dr. Harry Cox, of Winona, Mich.

Henry Wants New Inquiry.

In a resolution offered by Rep. Henry, of Texas, the house was urged to renew the investigation of the money trust through the appointment of a special committee of 11 members of the house banking and currency committee. Under the Henry resolution this committee would have all the inquisitorial powers conferred on the old committee and, in addition, it would have the right to examine into the affairs of the national banks.

James Ricard, a farmer near Seneca, was struck by a mail train on the Wabash and fatally injured. His team was killed.

Two Michigan Central passenger trains crashed head on in the Orion yards, causing a slight panic among the passengers of one of the trains. The other train carried no passengers and was attempting to make a switch. The engines of both trains were badly damaged.

State Labor Commissioner Cunningham, who has been at Flint with a view to establishing a state free employment bureau, has been offered an office in the city hall, rent free for a year. It is probable that the offer will be accepted.

Attorney John Comiskey, of Escanaba, was instantly killed, and his law partner, Newton G. Spencer, injured when a motor car, in which they were returning from Menominee, turned over into a ditch at Nadeau. Comiskey and Spencer were caught under the wind shield of the car.

MANY KILLED AND HURT IN WRECK

TRAINS COLLIDE AS RESULT OF BOYS' PULLING WHISTLE CORD.

OVER TWO HUNDRED PASSENGERS INJURED.

Electric Train Near Los Angeles Crashes Full Speed into Cars Ahead Televising, Two and Wrecking Another.

To meddlesome youths who played with the train whistle is attributed the loss of 12 lives and the injury of some 200 persons near Los Angeles, when two Pacific electric trains collided, telescoping two cars and wrecking another at Vineyard station, near the city limits. Many of the injured will die.

Three trains loaded with excursionists to the beach at Venice, 16 miles from Los Angeles, had stopped at a curve, where a switch is turned. The last train began moving forward while the two foremost trains remained at a standstill.

Carol Bartholomas, conductor of the last car of the center train, jumped to the track with his light to flag the approaching train. Some youths, passengers say, pulled the whistle in jest. This, it was said by railroad men, was interpreted by the motorman of the oncoming train as the signal to go ahead.

With a crash of breaking glass, splintering timbers and the cries of passengers, the motor car of the last train drove into the rear of the center train. The motorman of the moving train had given full speed. A curve had prevented his seeing the standing cars.

Strike Riots in Kentucky.

An attempt to run street cars in Lexington resulted in general rioting in which many strike-breakers were injured, some of them probably fatally. The first car started from the barns, manned by strike-breakers and guarded by deputy sheriffs, was attacked by strike sympathizers, who burned the car, disarmed the officers and threw the strike-breakers in the street. Every car that was run downtown was boarded by union sympathizers and the crews were roughly handled. The police were siding with the strikers and made but few arrests. Governor McCreary has been asked to send state troops to Lexington.

Congregation Visits Other Church.

"We have been preaching Christian union for years; it is time we were taking some practical steps toward cultivating the spirit of union," declared Judge H. C. Barnett in the Tabernacle Christian church at Franklin, Ind. He then proposed that the entire congregation go across the street to the Presbyterian church and worship, as an evidence of good will and Christian brotherhood. All the 250 members of the congregation fell in with the plan, and headed by the pastor, Rev. William J. Wright, crossed to the other church. They were given a hearty welcome.

Four Killed in Ohio.

Four persons were killed and a score of others hurt when Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 15, the Wheeling Chicago express, westbound, crashed into a Cambridge & Byersville interurban street car at a crossing in East Cambridge, Ohio. The street car was demolished. The dead are: Fred Rainey, 26, and Dola Fairchild, 32, Cambridge, O.; Edward McNeely, of Columbus, O., and William Carter, of Indianapolis, Ind., who died at the city hospital two hours after the accident.

Mr. Bryan Needs the Money.

William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, who delivered a lecture at Hendersonville, N. C., declared that he was forced to lecture that he might live decently, the salary paid by the United States government not being sufficient for his needs. Thousands of persons were present when the secretary made his statement. He also declared that there never would be another democratic convention, and that candidates in the future would be chosen by preferential primaries.

Eight Drowned Near Boston.

Grafton Morgan, first officer of the White Star Line steamship "Cymric," and Capt. Arthur G. Ayres, superintendent of the Sailors' home at Charlestown, together with six men employed as freight handlers by the Boston & Maine railroad, were drowned in the outer harbor when the shipwrecked. Six other men of the party on the ship were rescued.

The Detroit, Monroe & Toledo electric line has established an all night service. Express and freight cars will only run from 8 p. m. till 8 a. m., leaving the line clear during the day.

State Insurance Commissioner Winship has appointed William A. Stewart, of Port Huron, chief clerk of the department, to succeed Bert Grove, who has held that position for several years. Mr. Stewart formerly was chief clerk of the Grand Trunk road, and was at one time chief clerk of the White Star line.

SEEN AND HEARD IN MICHIGAN

Pontiac.—Probate Judge K. P. Rockwell and Superintendent E. A. Christian of the Pontiac State hospital will be speakers at the seventeenth annual meeting of the probate judges of Michigan at Grand Rapids July 21 to 24. Doctor Christian will speak on suggestions for "After Care of Patients Released From Asylums." Inspectors of the state auditor's department at work here announced that Oakland county stands third in the amount of business transacted by its probate court, Wayne being first and Kent county second. The inheritance tax from the Julian Williams estate was the largest received and totaled $2,530.

Cadillac.—Thieves broke into the ginseng bed of the Egley farm, two and one-half miles south of here, making away with about $750 worth of the roots. Bloodhounds were sent out from Coopersville to trace them, but lost their scent, owing to the badly trampled condition of the ground, caused by the people who came to look at the beds after the theft. A reward of $100 has been offered for the thieves.

Lansing.—"The Evolution of the Fly" will be one of the features of the Michigan "health special" which will leave Lansing August 4 for a tour of 50 cities. Plaster of paris flies operated by an electrical device will show their methods of spreading disease. Although the train will visit the upper peninsula, Secretary Dixon of the state board of health has received many requests that the exhibit be kept north of the straits.

Muskegon.—Cecil Heaps' new motor yacht, the Eileen, was the scene of a wedding when Miss Jennie E. Halversen of Chicago became the bride of Richard Ward Hillman of New York. The service was performed by Justice Benjamin J. Oosterbaan. Mr. Hillman and his bride and other friends will cruise down Lake Michigan to Chicago, making stops at South Haven, Benton Harbor and Michigan City.

Jackson.—Frank Bernard and Leo Mitchell, who are being held for a

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are broken over the loss of their much-cherished photograph of the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is held at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Stover, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the photograph. She suggests to Jean, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to get back the photograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The cowboys are hilarious over the prospect.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

It was growing dark when the rattles of wheels outside the ranch-house brought the occupants to the porch in time to see Nigger Mike halt his buckboard and two figures prepare to descend.

"It's Mr. Speed!" cried Miss Blake. Then she uttered a scream as the velvet darkness was rent by a dozen jagged flames of flame, while a shrill yelping arose, as of an Apache war-party. "It's the boys," said Jean. "What an earth has possessed them?"

But Stover had planned no ordinary reception, and the pandemonium did not cease until the men had emptied their weapons.

Then Mr. J. Wallingford Speed came stumbling up the steps and into the arms of his friends, the tails of his coat streaming.

"Really? This is more than I expected," he gasped; then turning, he looked the straw hat to the half-revealed figures beyond the light, and cried, gayly: "Thank you, gentlemen! Thank you for missing me!"

"To-ee!" responded the cowboys. "How do you do, Miss Chapin?"

Speed shook hands with his hostess, and in the radiance from the open doorway he saw that his face was round and boyish, and his smile peculiarly engaging.

She welcomed him appropriately; then said: "This reception is quite as startling to us as to you. You know, Mr. Speed, that we have with us a crowd of yours." She slightly drew forward. "And this is Mrs. Blake, who is looking after us a bit while mother is away. Roberta, may I present Mr. Covington's friend, and ask you to be good to him?"

"Don't forget me," said Fresno, making into the light.

"Mr. Berkeley Fresno, of Leland Stanford University."

"Hello, Prez!" Speed thrust out his hand warmly. Not so the Californian. He replied, with hauteur:

"Fresno! Fresno! and allowed the new-comer to grasp a limp, moist hand."

"Ah! Go to the head of the class! I'm sorry you broke your wrist, however." The eastern lad spoke lightly, and gave the palm a hearty squeeze, then turned to Jean.

"I dare say you are all disappointed, Miss Chapin, that Culver didn't come with me. But he'll be along in a day or so. I simply couldn't wait."

"I did think when you drove up that night be Mr. Covington with you," Miss Chapin remarked, wistfully.

"Oh no, that's my man," Speed answered around him. "And, by-the-way, where is he?"

The sound of angry voices came through the gloom, then out into the night came Still Bill Stover, Willie, and Carara, dragging between them a peculiar person who was rebelling.

"What's this?" questioned Miss Chapin, stepping to the edge of the veranda.

"This gent stampedes in the midst of our welcome," explained the foreman, "so we have to rope him before he gets away." It was seen now that Carara'sariat was tightly drawn around the new arrival's waist.

Then the valet broke into coherent speech, but he spoke a tongue not known to his profession.

"That welcome stuff," he said, forth, in husky, alcoholic accents, "that goes on the door-mat!" It fair to yourself—it really isn't. And that racket means welcome, I don't want it. Take that clothes-line off of me." Carara loosened the noose, and his captive rolled up the steps mopping his face with his handkerchief.

"What made you run away?" demanded Speed.

"Any time a bunch of bandits unhitch their gats, I'm on my way," sputtered the fat man. "I'm gun-shy, see?"

And when this hold-up comes off I beat it till that Cuban rummy with the medals on his deer rides a live horse up my back."

"You don't appreciate the honor," explained his employer; then turning to the others, he announced: "Will you allow me to introduce Mr. Lawrence Glass? He isn't really a valet, you know, Miss Chapin, and he doesn't care for the west yet. It is his first trip."

"I have heard my brother speak of Larry Glass," said Jean, graciously.

Mr. Glass courted awkwardly, and swinging his right foot back of his left, tapped the floor with his toe. "You were a trainer at Yale when Jack was there?"

"That's me," Mr. Glass wheezed. "I'm there with the big rub, too. Wally said he was going to train during vacation, so he staked me to a trip out here, and I came along to look after him."

"Come into the house," said Jean. "Stover will see to your baggage."

As they entered, Mr. Berkeley Fresno saw the late arrival bend over Helen Blake, and heard him murmur:

"The same unforgettable eyes of Italian blue."

And Mr. Fresno decided to dislike Wally Speed, even if it required an effort.

CHAPTER IV.

It was on the following morning that Miss Blake made bold to request her favor from J. Wallingford Speed. They had succeeded in isolating themselves upon the vine-shaded gallery at the rear of the house, and the conversation had been largely of athletics, but this, judging from the rapt expression of the girl, was a subject of surpassing interest. Speed, quick to take a cue, plunged on.

"I would have made the Varsity basketball team myself if I hadn't been so tiny," said Helen. "I have always wanted to be tall, like Roberta."

"I shouldn't care for that," said the young man.

"You know she was a wonderful player?"

"So I've heard," mused Helen. "I have never forgotten what you told me that first day we met. About your friendship for Mr. Covington. I think it is very unselfish of you."

"Oh, I wouldn't say that," ventured the young man, vainly racking his brain. "Nobody could help liking Culver."

"Yes; but how many men would step aside and let their best friend win prize after prize and never undertake to compete against him?"

Speed blushed faintly, as any modest man might have done.

"Did I tell you that?" he inquired. "Indeed you did."

"Then please don't speak of it to a mortal soul. I must have said a great deal that first day, but—"

"But I have spoken of it, and I said I thought it was fine of you."

"You have spoken of it?"

"Yes; I told Jean."

The Yale man undertook to change the conversation abruptly, but Miss Blake was a determined young lady. She continued:

"Of course, it was very magnanimous of you to always step aside in favor of your best friend; but it isn't fair to yourself—it really isn't. And so I have arranged a little plan where by you can do something to prove your prowess, and still not interfere with Mr. Covington in the least."

Speed cleared his throat nervously. "Tell me," he said, "what it is."

And Miss Blake told him the story of the shocking treachery of Humpy Joe, together with the miserable undoing of the Flying Heart. "Why, those poor fellows are broken-hearted," she concluded. "Their despair over losing that talking-machine would be if it were not so tragic. I told them you would win it back for them. And you will, won't you? Please!"

"I'll take ten chances," he said. "Where does the raffle come off?"

"Oh, it isn't a raffle, it's a foot-race. You must run with that Centipede cook."

"I'll run a race!" exclaimed the young college man, aghast.

"Yes, I've promised that you would. You see, this isn't like a college event, and Culver isn't here yet."

"But he'll be here in a day or so."

Speed felt as if a very large man were choking him; he decided his collar was too tight.

"Oh, I've talked it all over with Jean. She doesn't want Culver to run, anyhow."

"Why not?" inquired he, suspiciously.

"I don't know, I'm sure."

"If Miss Chapin doesn't want Culver to run, you surely wouldn't want me to."

"Not at all. If Mr. Covington knew the facts of the case, he would be only too happy to do it. And, you see, you know the facts."

Speed was about to shape a gracious but firm refusal of the proffered honor when Still Bill Stover appeared at the steps, doffed his faded Stetson, and bowed limply.

"Mornin', Miss Blake. To the rear Speed saw three other men—an Indian, tall, swart, and saturnine, who walked with a limp; a picturesque Mexican with a spangled hat and silver spurs, evidently the captor of Lawrence Glass on the evening previous; and an undersized little man with thick-rimmed spectacles and a heavy-hanging holster from which peeped a gun-butt. All were smiling pleasantly, and seemed a bit abashed.

"Good morning, Mr. Stover," said Helen, pleasantly. "This is Mr. Speed, of whom I spoke to you yesterday."

Stover bowed again and mumbled something about the honor of this meeting, and Miss Blake cast her eyes over the other members of the group, saying, graciously: "I'm afraid I can't introduce your friends; I haven't met them."

The loquacious foreman came promptly to the rescue, rejoicing in an opportunity of displaying his oratorical gifts.

"Then I'll make you acquainted with the best brandin' outfit in these parts." He waved a long, bony arm at the Mexican, who flashed his white teeth. "This Greaser is Aurelio Maria Carara. Need I say he's Mex, and a preemier roper?" Carara bowed, and swept the ground with his high-peaked head-piece. "The Maduro gent yonder is Mr. Cloudy. His mother being a Navajo squaw, named him accordin' to the rights and customs of her tribe, selecting the title of Cloudy-but-the-Sun-Shines, which same has proved a misnomer, him bein' a pessimist for fair."

Miss Blake and her companion smiled and nodded, at which Stover, encouraged beyond measure, elaborated. "He's had a hist'ry, too. When he

The dainty rose geranium, which in the window is but a moderate plant, is another of the immense shrubs if it can have a chance in rich garden soil. Another year we shall use more for bedding around tall growing plants, placing them three feet apart, so that they will have a chance to preserve a symmetrical form by not being crowded. They soon become a mass of fragrance, the foliage being fine in combination with geraniums or almost any other blossoms. Then if you want a delicate perfume on handkerchief or note paper, slip two or three of the leaves into the box. When canning sweet apples, place a leaf in the top of each can, and again you have the rose flavor in a most perfect form. There are so many uses for the leaves, and the more you have the more ways you will find that you can use them. Besides the plants are in themselves objects of beauty.

Cosopsis will be more than pleased with the numerous variety now obtained from a mixed packet. In addition to the well-known "Lady's Breastpin," yellow with brown center, there are some colors in double form which are especially beautiful; another favorite is a beautiful bronze.

LESSONS TO REMEMBER IN FLOWER GARDEN

An Excellent Arrangement of Clematis and Honeysuckle. This Corner of the Garden Has Been Transformed into a Spot of Beauty by the Clever Arrangement of the Vines.

(By BESSIE L. PUTNAM.) They say that experience is a dear teacher, which is in some instances true. It is equally true that it may be more expensive to turn a deaf ear to her teachings. There should be lessons learned constantly on the farm which will aid in making future work more effective.

The flower garden has many of these lessons, little things which should be remembered another year. One of these which impresses us is the way robust plants will spread out and fill up every available space.

In planning for next summer's garden, take well into consideration the habits of the various species and plan accordingly. There are some of slender habits which may be planted quite closely together, while others branch out and become a tangled mass.

The poppy belongs to the former class. While it sends up several flowering stems there are few lateral branches. Upward is its motto. The cosmos, on the other hand, even though planted far apart when the little seedlings are placed in the ground, soon spreads out its long, delicate foliaged branches several feet each way. When the plants were placed in the ground in May you thought them so much more dainty than the aster that it was hard to give them treble the space. Yet the way they grew during the summer was proof that they needed it, and then some. Few annuals in rich soil require more room, as few make a finer autumn display.

The dainty rose geranium, which in the window is but a moderate plant, is another of the immense shrubs if it can have a chance in rich garden soil. Another year we shall use more for bedding around tall growing plants, placing them three feet apart, so that they will have a chance to preserve a symmetrical form by not being crowded. They soon become a mass of fragrance, the foliage being fine in combination with geraniums or almost any other blossoms. Then if you want a delicate perfume on handkerchief or note paper, slip two or three of the leaves into the box. When canning sweet apples, place a leaf in the top of each can, and again you have the rose flavor in a most perfect form. There are so many uses for the leaves, and the more you have the more ways you will find that you can use them. Besides the plants are in themselves objects of beauty.

Cosopsis will be more than pleased with the numerous variety now obtained from a mixed packet. In addition to the well-known "Lady's Breastpin," yellow with brown center, there are some colors in double form which are especially beautiful; another favorite is a beautiful bronze.

"Bordeaux spray 5-5-50 strength, should be applied with a stickler added, as the leaves are waxy and spray will not stay on otherwise. ## THE KITCHEN CABINET

SPRIT, O my spirit, Why art thou out of tune? Art thou lingering in December, When the earth is in its June? Hast thou lost thy part in nature, Hast thou lost the key? Art thou angry that the anthem Will not, cannot, wait for thee? —J. G. Holland.

RED, BLACK AND WHITE CURRANTS.

Currants are a favorite fruit with most people. The red currant is the most used for jellies, although many like the combination of red and white, making a light-colored jelly. The combination of red currant and red raspberry is especially delicious.

The black currant is not so common now, but makes a peculiarly delicious jam for those who are sufficiently old-fashioned not to forget "grandmother's garden," where the black currant bushes were always found.

To be in the best condition for jelly making, the currants should not be too ripe nor picked after a heavy rain. Pick over the currants, but do not remove the stems. Wash and drain, and mash in the bottom of a preserving kettle with a wooden potato masher; add a few more and mash until there is enough for the receptacle. Cook until the currants have a white appearance, strain through a collander, then put the juice in a jelly bag to drip. Measure the juice, boil five minutes, then add an equal measure of heated granulated sugar, or less if sour jelly is desired. Boil two or three minutes, try a little in a cold saucer; if a thin skin forms at once, pour into glasses. Jelly to be of good consistency should be just firm enough to keep its shape when turned from the glass. It should be clear and of good flavor. Let stand for a day or two in a sunny window to set, then cover and put away for winter use in a cool, dry place.

The delicious bar le duc currants may be prepared at home if one cares to take the time for it. Use the large cherry currant and remove the seeds with a large needle. Cook the currants very carefully and mix with currant jelly. Put away in glasses, carefully covered.

These may be prepared when making jelly, and a glass or two saved for the bar le duc currants. This conserve being very rich, is only used in small quantities, or as a garnish for cheese or salad.

Nothing is easier than fault-finding, no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business. —Robert West.

DINNER NOTES.

A few suggestions for seasonal dinner menus may be enjoyed at this time. Fruit soups are quite popular among the Scandinavian people, and are becoming better known and appreciated among the American. A delicious cold soup on a hot day is most satisfying and refreshing.

Iced Fruit Soup.—Put a quart of berries or sour cherries and a quart of cold water over the fire in a granite saucepan; heat slowly to the boiling point, boil for three minutes, add sufficient sugar to sweeten palatably, stir until dissolved, and press through a sieve. Reheat, and when at the boiling point add a tablespoonful of arrow root which has been blended with a little cold water. Stir until well cooked, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and set away to cool. Serve cold in small glasses.

Fried Chicken, Virginia Style.—Prepare a fat young chicken and joint it as for a fricassee. Wipe it and dredge with salt, pepper and flour, then lay out on a platter. In a deep frying pan try out a half pound of fat bacon, add one scant cup of lard, and when smoking hot lay in the pieces of chicken, cooking only enough at a time to allow plenty of room to turn them. The thickest pieces will take ten minutes to cook. Place on a hot platter and keep hot while the rest is cooking.

Almond Delight.—Make a rich pastry and fill it with the following mixture: Blanch and chop fine one cupful of almonds. Put a cup of granulated sugar into a frying pan, add a teaspoonful of water and place over a slow fire until melted, stirring briskly until the sugar turns a golden brown. Turn this out on the crust quickly before it cools. Beat three eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pint of milk. Pour over the crust with the almonds and bake in a hot oven at first. Cover with a meringue or with whipped cream, and serve.

Mrs. Cyrus B. Ward.

Miss Ann Lampson was born in the state of New York, November 5, 1821, and died at the home of her son, Geo. Ward, Wednesday afternoon, July 16, 1913.

Her parents settled in this state when she was about 15 years of age. She was united in marriage with Cyrus B. Ward at Howell, in May, 1847, and they resided in Isoco for a short time.

The family made their home at Elsie for a number of years, and moved to Sylvan in 1858, and the same fall moved to Sharon where they resided for two years. They returned to Sylvan Center in 1860, and the family made their home there until about four years ago. Mr. Ward died five years ago. One daughter, Miss Amanda, was killed by an electric car on the D. J. & C. electric line about three and one-half years ago. Another daughter, Mrs. Hattie Holcomb died at her home in Los Angeles last June.

She is survived by one son, George Ward of this place, and one daughter, Mrs. Marion Rogers, of Newell, South Dakota. The funeral will be held from her late home at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Rev. C. J. Dole officiating. Burial at Maple Grove cemetery, Sylvan Center.

Ordination Service.

Next Sunday will be gala day for the Bethel Evangelical church of Freedom, and a day of anniversary.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon will occur the ordination of Rev. Edwin F. Mayer, recently graduated from the Eden Theological seminary at St. Louis, Mo. The rite of ordination will be administered by the father of the young man, Rev. Dr. F. Mayer, pastor of Bethel Evangelical church, who will also observe the silver jubilee of his ordination and as pastor of the church, the sermon being delivered by Rev. J. Newmann, who 25 years ago ordained the present pastor. In the ordination of the younger Mayer, the father will be assisted by Rev. J. Wulmann of Manchester, and Rev. G. Eisen of Rogers Corner.

There will be no morning service at Bethel church, but all friends of the church and the pastor are cordially invited to come to the afternoon service.

Fighting White Plague.

Through its main office and its local societies much profitable work has been achieved by the Michigan Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, as is shown by the annual report of this association which is just out of the press.

According to this report 6,423 cases of tuberculosis were reported during 1912, and 2,615 deaths occurred during the same year from this disease. This is an increase of cases reported and a decrease of deaths reported compared with the preceding year. The State Association credits the increase of cases reported to the better enforcement of the law compelling the registration of cases of tuberculosis.

A. Riley Crittenden, who took up the management of the Tidings at Howell a few months ago, has resigned and the owners of the paper have engaged Fred A. Bush, an experienced newspaper writer, to run the paper. Mr. Bush goes to his new field from Hastings where he has been on one of the newspapers in that place for some time.

Sentenced to Ten Days.

August Redies, of Ann Arbor, said that he wanted to see the green grass once more, and so he took a little vacation and came to Chelsea Wednesday. He looked upon something besides the grass, and Marshal Cooper found him taking a nap on the railroad track, and gathered him in. He was taken before Justice Witherell, who gave him a fine of $5 and costs or ten days in the county jail. As five cents was the most that he could rake up, he was taken back to dear old Ann Arbor this morning, and is now sojourning with Sheriff Stark.

Aid Improvement.

Desirous of developing a state wide movement along the line of improving and beautifying school grounds, Superintendent of Public Instruction Wright has just issued a bulletin giving excellent plans for school grounds and directions for planting trees and shrubs. The bulletin was prepared by Professor C. P. Halligan of the Michigan Agricultural College and contains designs for rural, village and city school grounds together with lists of trees and shrubs desirable and undesirable, which can be grown easily in Michigan.

In harmony with encouragement of school improvement, the department of public instruction has also just issued a book of plans for four, six and eight room school buildings, suitable for village and ward schools. These represent the most modern ideas as to proper heating, lighting, ventilating and arrangement and it is expected, will aid in giving the state more practical, attractive and sanitary school buildings. The bulletins containing the school ground designs and the school building plans will be sent free upon request.

Seven Quart Peck Measure.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme is preparing to begin his new work as an official sealer of weights and measures when the bill passed at the last session of the legislature takes effect August 15. A set of weights and measures has been secured by Helme and will be sent to the bureau of standards at Washington in order that they may be approved by the federal government.

Helme says there is a concern in this state that is doing a thriving business turning out "peck measures" that hold but seven quarts. The inspectors employed by the dairy and food department will make the inspections, but an effort will be made to co-operate with the city and county sealers of weights and measures. The bill passed at the last session of the legislature gives boards of supervisors the right to employ a county sealer of weights and measures. It also provides that two small counties can divide the expense and hire one man to perform the work.—Ex.

Social Forms and Entertainment

Idea for Cotton Wedding.

The first year of wedded life brings the "cotton" celebration and the occasion may be made a regular frolic if only a congenial few are bidden to make merry. Make the invitation spell shape, a good sized one. Then decorate with cotton batting sifted over with diamond dust; mass it on the window sills, mantle, on the piano and everywhere that it will be effective. The host may wear a cotton suit for this occasion and it will be easy for the hostess to wear a cotton gown. If a suit cannot be managed for the bridegroom, he can wear a cotton shirt and necktie. Perhaps it will be possible to get real cotton plants with the bursting cotton pods which may be used in lieu of flowers. Here is a laughable stunt with which to start the evening's fun. Have narrow white cotton tape arranged as for an old-fashioned spider web, wind it in and out, over and under furniture, but instead of having all the guests play at once ask one person at a time and allow three minutes to see how much tape he can entangle and roll up in that time. When the umpire calls, "Time's up," the piece of tape is cut off, and after all have had a chance, each piece of tape is measured and the one having the longest piece is awarded a prize, which should be of cotton fabric. In the instance where this was done the reward was a cotton batting doll candy box filled with candy. We have all seen the cotton Santa Claus figures and the little doll Christmas tree ornaments? Well, these would be just the thing for favors at an affair of this kind.

Another pastime would be to pass a basket filled with different colors and lengths of cotton tape with knots tied in them and the trick is to see who can untie the greatest number of knots in the time set. A prize may be offered for this. In the south little bales of cotton may be obtained, which would be appropriate souvenirs for this celebration.

Novel Hard Times Party.
Here is a new version of a "hard times" or "poverty" party. The invitations were written on brown paper such as butchers use for wrapping meat, and the lettering was done with a heavy lead pencil. At the top of the sheet was this nursery rhyme:
Hark hark; the dogs do bark;
The beggars are coming to town—
Some in rags, and some in tags,
And some in a silken gown.
Followed by the request to dress "in gladdest rags" and come to the address on the day, date and hour given. Masks to be removed at 10:30. The hostess handed each "beggar" a dance program number as high as the number of her guests, and as each entered the large living-room, which had been cleared for dancing, a number was pinned upon the back so votes could be registered as to "who was who," for the best (or worst) costume. One may imagine the fun such a party would make. Prizes were awarded and card tables were provided for those who did not care to dance. Refreshments were served after the unmasking. Some of the beggars represented were the typical tramp with his entire worldly goods done up in a bandanna handkerchief, which he carried on a stick over his shoulder; the wandering band of gypsies in gaudy colors and many beads and gew-gaws; an old organ grinder with a life-sized toy monkey, which was a mechanical toy and performed most natural stunts, and the little flower girl with her twin sister, the "match" girl.

Alphabet Contest.

Perhaps some of you can devise a better name for this pastime, but I am sure every one who knows their "A, B, C's" can play it.

The answers to all the queries are made by simply using letters, and it will be well for the hostess to give several examples before beginning the contest:

1. Containing nothing. M T (empty).
2. Statement of indebtedness. I O U (I owe you).
3. Part of a house. L (ell).
4. An insect. B (bee).
5. To behold. C (see).
6. A famous poem. L E G (elegy).
7. A tent. T P (teepee).
8. A number. A T (eighty).
9. Unit of measure used in printing. M (em).
10. All right. O K.
11. Slang expressions. G or O G or O U (gee—oh gee—oh you).
12. A foe. N M E (enemy).
13. Indefinite quantity. N E (any).
14. A vegetable. P (pea).
15. Intemperance. X S (excess).
16. An image. F E G (effigy).
17. Poorly dressed. C D (seedy).
18. Two of a kind. W (double up).
19. To covet. N V (envy).
20. A bird. J (jay).
21. A verb. R (are) or B (be) or C (see).
22. A common beverage. T (tea).
23. A girl's name. L C (Elise).
24. Another one L N (Ellen).
25. Yet another. F E (Effie).
26. Still another. K T (Katie).
27. A literary effort. S A (essay).

Bible Contest.

Some days ago a correspondent requested a Bible guessing contest to use when she entertained her Sunday school class. Here are a few questions and may be helpful, and I have no doubt others may be added to make it longer. The answers are not given, for it will be much more instructive if they are looked up, with the aid of a concordance:

Give the first and last words of the Bible.

Whose three daughters were the fairest in all the land?

How old was Methuselah when he died?

Who was called "a ready scribe in the law of Moses?"

Give the names of the three persons who were put in the fiery furnace.

Who was the author of the expression, "What hath God wrought?"

Who was Moses' brother?

Who went down into a pit on a snowy day and slew a lion?

Who said: "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved?"

Who was the mother of Samuel?

MADAME MERRI.

Vaporous Blouses.

Summer blouses of chiffon or net as delicate as the stuff that dreams are made of, had an irresistible appeal even when they were first shown in the chilly days of spring. Their own intrinsic charm won immediate popularity for them then. But now, with the days of mounting mercury at hand, this diaphanous quality is to be the supreme touch of elegance of the season. It characterizes entire toilettes composed of layers of net, chiffon and filmy materials.

FREEDOM IN BURMA

No One Interferes in the Affairs of Another.

Remarkable Trait of Burmese Character is Their Unwillingness to Interfere in Other People's Business—Each Acts for Self.

London.—A remarkable trait of the Burmese character is their unwillingness to interfere in other people's affairs. Whether it arises from their religion of self-culture or no, I cannot say, but it is in full keeping with it. Every man's acts and thoughts are his own affair, think the Burmese; each man is free to go his own way, to think his own thoughts, to act his own acts, as long as he does not too much annoy his neighbors. Each man is responsible for himself and for himself alone, and there is no need for him to try and be guardian also to his fellows. And so the Burman likes to go his own way, to be a free man within certain limits; and the freedom that he demands for himself he will extend also to his neighbors. He has a very great and wide tolerance toward all his neighbors, not thinking it necessary to disapprove of his neighbors' acts because they may not be the same as his own, never thinking it necessary to interfere with his neighbors as long as the laws are not broken.

Our idea that what habits are different to our habits must be wrong, and being wrong require correction at our hands, is very far from his thoughts. He never desires to interfere with anyone. Certain as he is that his own ideas are best, he is contented with that knowledge, and is not ceaselessly desirous of proving it upon other people.

And so a foreigner may go and live in a Burman village, may settle down there and live his own life and follow his own customs in perfect freedom; may dress and eat and drink and pray and do as he likes. No one will interfere. No one will try and correct him; no one will be forever insisting to him that he is an outcast, either from civilization or from religion. The people will accept him for what he is and leave the matter there. If he likes to change his ways and conform to Burmese habits and Buddhist forms, so much the better; but if not, never mind.

It is, I think, a great deal owing to this habit of mind that the manners of the Burmese are usually so good, children in civilization as they are. There is among them no rude inquisitiveness and no desire to in any way circumscribe your freedom by either remark or act. Surely of all things that cause trouble nothing is so common among us as the interference with each other's ways, as the needless giving of advice. It seems to each of us that we are responsible not only for ourselves, but also for every one else near us; and so if we disapprove of any act we are always in a hurry to express our disapproval and to try and persuade the actor to our way of thinking. We are forever thinking of others and trying to improve them; as a nation we try to coerce weaker nations and to convert stronger ones, and as individuals we do the same. We are sure that other people cannot but be better and happier for being brought into our ways of thinking, by force even, if necessary. We call it philanthropy.

Dies a la Cleopatra.

Cincinnati.—Two weeks ago C. H. Bishop, president of the C. H. Bishop Flour company, watched the death struggles of a cat he had chloroformed. That incident, it is believed, suggested to him a way out of his own difficulties. Bishop was found dead in his home, 1005 Windsor street, and he had used chloroform to bring about the end. In a note to his wife he said business reverses and bodily infirmities had mounted higher than he could withstand and that "this is the only way out."

HAD PREMONITION OF DEATH

New Jersey Man's Fear of Coming Disaster Laughed at by Comrades, but It Was Verified.

John Hueselmans, superintendent of a lumber yard in Harrison, N. J., started home after a day of intense worry through fear of impending disaster. His premonition caused several of the workmen to deride him. John Bissell of Newark led in the scoffing. As Hueselmans was passing a 40-foot-high pile of heavy timbers Bissell, who was at work on top, uttered a warning cry and leaped to the ground. As he did so the great bulk of lumber swayed and toppled over. Hueselmans was buried beneath the mass and was instantly killed. Bissell, by his leap, avoided the crumbling pile and landed just beyond the timbers. The fall, however, resulted in his receiving numerous fractures and he was removed in a critical condition to St. Michael's hospital.

A crowded trolley car was passing the lumber yard at the time. The passengers, many of them workmen on their way home, rushed to the spot and began moving the timbers. It was half an hour before Hueselmans' mangled body was extricated.

Woman's Way.

"John," she said, "I have an awful pain in my right side. I'm afraid it's appendicitis."

"Are you?" he replied, without looking up from his paper.

"John," she demanded, "why don't you worry?"

"I am worrying, damn it! That's the way with you women. It doesn't make any difference how hard a man worries, you're never satisfied unless he makes a noise about it."

Tongue-Tied.

"Money talks."

"I know, but my husband has an impediment in his income."

A man should be a credit to himself, but he wants a little cash thrown in.

When Ex-President Taft Was Married.

It was formerly a pleasant custom of society reporters to indulge in predictions as to the glorious future of the happy pair. A journalistic prophet of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in writing of the wedding of Miss Helen L. Herron, daughter of John W. Herron to William Howard Taft, which occurred twenty-seven years ago, had this to say:

"William H. Taft is one of the young men of the city who may be depended upon in public affairs. He is one of the highest standing of the graduates of Yale, and his original powers, perfect integrity and courage and correct instincts, as well as thorough information, have made him useful, won for him the friendships and enmities most complimentary, and opened for him a career that has the highest promise of great distinction."

Her Lucky Day.

Frances is only a little girl, but she has a quick mind and the gift of language that sometimes distinguishes children who associate much with their elders. The other day Frances came home to her mother with cheeks like roses and eyes like stars.

"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, happily, "I've had the best luck this morning! I got downtown just at the psychological moment!"

"Did you, dear?" was mother's pleased inquiry. "And what happened?"

Said Frances, solemnly: "I saw a parade."

Horrible Thought.

Senator Borah of Idaho tells this story of how a psychologist and medical professor was received in a small town in his state:

The professor was talking to a young society but about the possibilities of the journeyings of one's soul. "Why, my dear young lady," he declared, "it is possible for you in your sleep to travel to other planets in the middle of the night."

"Oh, professor!" she cried in evident alarm. "Not in my nightgown!"

—The Sunday Magazine.

Many a spinster realizes that girls are wise who marry while yet in their teens.

Introduction Needed.

"Housekeeping," said a pessimistic New York bachelor, "will soon be a lost art—in this town, at any rate."

"What makes you think that?" asked a woman friend.

"Do you know what eggplant looks like before it is cooked?" was his apparently irrelevant reply.

"N-o-o," the woman replied, "I don't believe I do."

"Right there," said the bachelor, "you have an answer to your own question. If you were the only woman who didn't know raw eggplant when you saw it, or if eggplant was the only raw vegetable you were not acquainted with, I would have no grounds for the assertion; but I have it on the authority of restaurant proprietors and marketmen that half the women who eat all their meals out could not call eggplant, salsify, parsnips, kohlrabi, and most of the turnip family by name if they met them face to face. Is that true?"

"I am afraid it is," the woman acknowledged. "But most men wouldn't recognize them, either."

"Oh," said the bachelor, "that's different. We are not supposed to be up in such things."

Sensitive "Jeems."

The Nuriches were very proud of the English butler they brought back with them, and so, you may suppose, they were not a little annoyed when, at the end of a month, he gave them notice.

"What's the matter, Parker? You have been here such a short time?"

"Yesir. But you see when you engaged me, I thought you was sparragrass and champagne people; but when I found out that you eats cabbage, carrots and such like common vegetables, and drinks beer, I sees, see I, this here ain't no place for a sensitive person like me. So I must leave you. I can't breathe a beery atmosphere."

We know a persistent salesman who wonders if it would be worth while to show St. Peter the latest card index system.

Some men are kept so busy maintaining their dignity that they never have time to do anything else.

Summer Hats of Shavings.

Many of the handsomest summer hats worn by women all over the country are made of shavings.

It seems that Japan is a thriving center for this shaving industry and wooden ribbon of this sort appears in various forms, some presenting a satin finish and others resembling silks and crepes.

About twenty per cent. is sent here in the shape of wooden ribbons, while the rest is worked up into the familiar "chip braid."

Some years Japan sends $1,000,000 of this material into this country. It appears that the American women like the product better than European, for the United States is her largest customer. The material is easily dyed and is so thin and flexible that exquisite effects can be produced.

Tired of Bossing.

When Mary went home to Ireland for a visit to the old farm, after a four years' course in general housework in America, she found a new baby brother. "And he was that spoiled you couldn't live in the same house with him," recounted Mary to her old mistress. "Such a rascal as he had had! I told me mother 'twas different altogether from the bringin' up of us older children. 'Twas do this, an' we done it—or got a whippin'. But with the little wan now—if she says to him 'do this,' he says, 'No, I don't want to,' an' never a budge does he make. But my mother was not set back by my scoldin'. She just said, 'Oh, well, wait until you've lived as long and as much as I have, and you will get tired of bossin', too.'"

Richness Personified.

Ikey—Fader, vot means a "phrat-crut?"

Fader—One of dem fellers dot's so rich he needn't to fail any more—Puck.

Natural.

"As soon as I approach a baker for my enterprise he flies from me."

"Well, don't you think it the natural thing for an 'angel' to fly?"

Our friends are generally willing to take our part, and theirs, too.

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERS, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1830 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

Boys' View of Policemen. A boy's view of policemen is thus expressed in the examination papers of the Albert Street school, Bury, Nottingham, England:

"One of our well-known men in the large towns is the policeman; he is a very large man, and looks very smart in his suit of blue. "If he sees a boy who ought to be at school, he tries to catch him and take him to school, where he is punished. "His duties are many. At night he walks quietly down the streets in case there are any robbers. He carries a lamp about with him to see where the robbers escape. If the robber hides, he will be traced. The policeman carries a staff, a whistle, and handcuffs in case he needs them."

No, it won't, father," said the youngest McTavish. "He'll not get it if we got my foot on it." — Young's Magazine.

LIBRARY COURSE FOR TEACHERS

BAY VIEW ADDED TO THE TOWNS WITH SUMMER TRAINING SCHOOLS.

CONDUCTED BY THE STATE LIBRARIAN.

Courses Cover Elementary Library Economics and Are Inspirational, Technical and Practical, Lasting Six Weeks.

This year Bay View will be among the places to be benefited by the educational work carried on by the state library. Marquette, Big Rapids and Kalamazoo have for the last three years been favored with a summer training school and this year it was deemed advisable to add Bay View. Mrs. Mary Spencer, state librarian in the country to conceive this idea and other states have followed suit. The library course for school teachers is directed more for the rural school teachers than others, as this class of teachers do not have the opportunity of receiving a library course such as do teachers in the cities. The courses are not intended for the professional training of librarians, but to make teachers more efficient through an intelligent use of books. The courses cover the subject of elementary library economics and will be inspirational, technical and practical. The courses will last six weeks.

Stores Burn at Pinconning. Fire which started in the millinery store of Mrs. Frank Johnson, in Pinconning, destroyed her combined store and dwelling and all the contents, and spread to the barber shop of George Dermer and the dwelling and grocery store of Mrs. Henry Stevens, destroying both places. Mrs. Johnson's loss is estimated at $2,500; Dermer's at $1,000, and Mrs. Stevens' at $500. All the losses are covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Johnson was away from home for the night.

May Sell Company at Auction. A decree of foreclosure was ordered in the United States court in the case of the Real Estate Trust Co., of Philadelphia, against the Michigan Lake Superior Power Co., of Sault Ste. Marie, which calls for payment on the part of the power company of $5,285,000. In default of payment the property will be sold at public auction.

The trust company was appointed trustee ten years ago, and since that time the power company has made no payment. The court also ordered the power company to pay interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from May 1, 1913, and costs.

Court Decides Against Road. Efforts of the Pere Marquette railway to keep from the W. R. Roach Co., of Hart, a copy of an agreement which the road claims it made with the company, and which apparently renders the railroad immune from paying an damages in the event that a spark from one of its locomotives sets fire to the company's warehouses, were frustrated when the supreme court affirmed Circuit Judge Sullivan's decision that the railroad must produce the agreement.

The matter came up in a suit for $40,000 damages which the Roach company brought against the railroad.

Charles E. Sweet is Dead. Charles E. Sweet, one of the most prominent attorneys in southeastern Michigan, died at his home at Dowagiac, after several months' illness. Mr. Sweet was a past grand master of the Michigan lodge of F. & A. M. He also served as exalted ruler of the Dowagiac lodge, B. P. O. E., and held many city offices. He was 52 years old, and is survived by a widow and two children. Mr. Sweet was at one time candidate for attorney general.

Escaped Convict is Captured. Joseph M. Miller, alleged slayer of Carrie Jennett in Detroit in 1902, and who escaped from the Jackson prison farm, where he had been a trusty, was captured on the farm of Newton L. Bryan, three miles west of here. In custody of Warren Simpson, who was at once notified of the capture and who came after the escaped convict, Miller left to resume serving his life sentence, after being locked up in the Tecumseh jail for a few hours.

John A. McKinley, a farmer, near Wasepi, is dead as the result of falling from a hayloft and striking on the back of his head. The postponed extension of the Pere Marquette railroad from Hart to Ludington by way of Pentwater is taking on definite form. S. M. Felton and Dudley E. Waters, receivers of the road, General Manager F. H. Alfred and several division engineers made a trip over the route by automobile. The preliminary survey has been completed.

DISHES WITHOUT MEAT

ESPECIALLY APPROPRIATE DURING THE HOT WEATHER.

As Nourishment Without Heating Is the Object to Be Attained These Recipes Are Particularly Valuable Just Now.

Something that will nourish without heating is the demand in the way of edibles at this season.

Spinach Eggs—Four eggs, spinach, white sauce, butter, cream.

Cut in halves four hard boiled eggs and rub the yolks through a sieve. Season some cooked spinach with a little butter and cream and fill the whites of the eggs with the mixture. Place in a buttered baking dish and pour over the whole a good white sauce. Use the yolks for a garnish over the top and brown in a quick oven.

Escalloped Tomato—Two cups of tomatoes, two cups of bread crumbs, one-quarter cup of butter, salt and pepper.

Cook the tomatoes with the seasoning until tender. Into the melted butter stir the crumbs, but do not let them brown. Place in a buttered casserole or pudding dish alternate layers of the tomatoes and crumbs until all are used. Let the last layer be crumbs and bake to a light, golden brown.

Bean Fricassee—One pound of marrow beans, one tablespoon of butter, one cup of milk or cream, mushroom or tomato catsup, vinegar, pepper and salt, minced parsley.

Boil the beans until tender and drain. Brown the butter in a frying pan and add the beans, stirring until thoroughly seasoned with the butter. Dry and add a little minced parsley, salt and pepper. Stir in the milk or cream and let it stew for a few minutes, then season with mushroom or tomato catsup and a little vinegar.

Corn Chowder—Two cups of sweet corn, four cups of milk, four cups of diced potatoes, two tablespoons of butter, one onion, eight soda crackers, salt and pepper, two cups of boiling water.

Put half of the butter into a saucepan, add the onion sliced and let cook slowly for five minutes. Then add the potatoes and the corn, with two cups of boiling water. Let cook for twenty minutes and add the milk, the remainder of the butter and salt and pepper to taste. Break the soda crackers into a dish and pour the chowder over them. Serve at once.

Plum Rack. Simmer gently together in an enameled sauce pan one quart of fine ripe plums and one cup each of sugar and water. When the fruit is tender remove the stones, drain off the syrup and put the pulp into a bowl. Return the syrup to the sauce pan and when boiling hot dissolve into it one-half ounce of gelatin which has been softened in one-half cup of cold water. Stir until the gelatin is thoroughly dissolved, then add the plum pulp, one-half cup of blanched almonds coarsely chopped, and if not sweet enough a little more sugar. Mix all well together and pour the mixture into a square mold. When quite cold and firm and time to serve cut it carefully into neat blocks, pile them irregularly around the sides of a glass dish and fill up the center with whipped, sweetened cream. Serve with any light cake.

Porch Cushions. Clover, cattail, hops and shredded corn husks make splendid fillings for cushions. The first cushion should be a white linen embroidered with clover blossoms and green leaves. A large crane of gray amid the green leaves, and blossoming brown cattails is suitable for the next cushion. The hop leaf and flower are both graceful, and would look neat embroidered on dark green denim. Corn flowers should adorn the cushion cover of the husk cushion.

Lily Cake. This cake is cheap and is very fine grained. One cup sugar and a small tablespoon of butter mixed to a cream, one cup of milk, one cup flour, one tablespoon cornstarch and two even teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla or almond and the whites of two eggs beaten stiff and added last. Be sure and sift baking powder, cornstarch and flour together. The yolks of eggs may be used for a chocolate cake.

To Clear Soup. Many housewives dislike to strain soup. This discovery may make it easier: Pour the soup, while hot, through a muslin cloth which has just been wrung out of ice water. When it has all been strained, heat again and serve.

Bath Mittens. Very good bath mittens may be made from the good parts of rough towels. Each child may thus have one, thus making the morning rub much more comfortable.

When Polishing a Range. Always keep an ordinary blackboard eraser near the kitchen range, using it to wipe off the top. This keeps the range clean, and you only need to wash and polish it once a week.

Buttonholes in Towels. When making towels that are to hang on nails or hooks, I work a buttonhole in each of two opposite corners, than a "hanger" is always ready, whichever end of the towel is taken down.

His Need of the Moment. An old dandy was encountered by the expedition sent by Uncle Sam for the relief of sufferers by the Mississippi floods. Uncle Eph was in a dilapidated looking skiff or dugout, which he was having considerable trouble to keep afloat. He was busy paddling with one hand and bailing out his craft with the other when the relief boat came within hailing distance of him: "Hello there, uncle! What do you want?" "Nothing but wings, boss," was the answer.

ECZEMA IN WATER BLISTERS

748 Congress St., Chicago, Ill.—"My eczema broke out like little water blisters. Each one was full of water and would itch until I would scratch it open, then the water would run out and it would get sore. I first got the eczema on the back of the hand and I scratched it so hard I made it all sore. Then I got it on my legs just above the ankle and above the knee.

"I used what they call — and it stopped the itch but it got worse. Then I used —. In all I had the trouble for about two years. One day I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper. I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I tried them and then bought some more. Cuticura Soap and Ointment left my sores nice and smooth. I used them for six weeks, and am now cured; the eczema left no marks." (Signed) F. W. Horrich, Oct. 19, 1912.

HOW COCA COLA REFRESHES.

The remarkable success which has attended the sale of Coca-Cola has been explained in many different ways. Some have attributed it to "good advertising;" others to "efficient management;" others, to its "delicious flavor;" and still others to the fact that it was the first in the field of "trade-marked" soft drinks.

In this connection, the opinion of a manufacturing chemist who has analyzed Coca-Cola and studied its history for many years, will prove interesting. He attributes the popularity of the drink in large part to its quality of refreshing both mind and body without producing any subsequent depression. He points out the fact that the chemical composition of Coca-Cola is practically identical with that of coffee and tea (with sugar added) the only material difference being the absence of tannic acid from Coca-Cola. He points to the laboratory experiments of Dr. Hollingworth of Columbia University and of Dr. H. C. Wood, Jr. of Philadelphia which prove conclusively that the caffeine-containing beverages (coffee, tea, Coca-Cola, etc.) relieve mental and muscular fatigue by rendering the nerves and muscles more responsive to the will, thus diminishing the resistance produced by fatigue. These experiments also demonstrate the fact that the caffeine group of beverages differ from the stimulants in that the use of the latter is followed by a period of depression which calls for more stimulation, thus resulting in the formation of a "habit."—Adv.

Why Druggists Go Insane. Little Lola's mother had sent her to the corner drug store for a stamped envelope, giving her three pennies with which to pay for it. "Well, little girl," said the druggist, "what can I do for you?" "If you please, sir," answered Lola, politely, "my mamma wants three cents' worth of stamped envelope."

tent that any alarm was felt, either by himself or his immediate family, act, should Mr. Wing not comply with the orders. With not a legal right to back his company here, and with the Addison company having every right vested by the state, it does not seem necessary that the citizens of Addison should longer be run by Mr. Wing's methods.—Courier.

Rid Your Children of Worms

You can change fretful, ill-tempered children into healthy, happy youngsters, by ridding them of worms. Coughing, rolling, grinding of teeth, crying out while asleep, companied with intense thirst, pains in the stomach and bowels, feverishness and bad breath, are symptoms urday.Mrs. George Scherer spent last place.Miss Margurite Graber, of Detroit, is visiting friends in and around Francisco. She is the daughter of former pastor J. E. Graber.The huckleberry crop promises to be very light and short, the poorest, in fact, in many years. Reuben

Keller is handling them as usual.A bad railroad accident occurred
Sunday morning at 5:15 when a train made up of empty baggage cars was deadheading from Chicago to Detroit.
The trucks of the tender left the tracks about 1500 feet west of the switch in the west yards. Just when the engineer, Jas. S. Martin of Detroit discovered something wrong, will never be known; but all brakes were found set after the accident.
When the engine struck the switch,
the trucks caused the tender and engine to lurch and both engine and tender plowed down the embankment where the engine turned over onto its right side. The engineer was dead, his foot caught and pinioned and his body literally cooked by steam and boiling water in which he lay when assistance came to his rescue. The fireman Clayton, Cole of Jackson was so badly burned and otherwise injured he died in the city hospital at Jackson Sunday night.
The conductor Thomas J. Whalen of Detroit was badly injured but it is not thought to be serious. He was taken to his home in Detroit. Two express messengers riding in the first baggage car back of the tender were badly shaken up, but escaped injury.
The first three baggage cars were derailed and badly crippled, but kept upon the grade. The road bed was torn up for several rods, and the switch so completely demolished as to make one think there had been no track there. The ties were piled up in every direction and the switch rails bent and twisted like straws.
The body of the unfortunate engineer was removed from the wreckage after a coroner's jury had viewed the remains, and undertaker Foster of Grass Lake came with a willow retainer in which the body was placed and removed to Detroit. The coroner's jury composed of Stuart
Daft, Jacob H. Walz, Geo. Bohne Jr.,
Jonn Helle, Henry Frey and Lewis
Walz, rendered their verdict Monday afternoon. Their verdict was that James S. Martin came to his death by being scalded to death in the wreck of his engine, cause of wreck unknown to the jury. Wrecking crews and officials of the road were on the scene soon after the accident occurred, and work to clear the east bound track was begun at once. The crews worked till one o'clock Monday morning to accomplish this, then they worked till late in the afternoon before the engine was righted and taken away.
