NEW ORGANIZATION

New Telephone Company at Waterloo
Takes Over Several Lines.

The telephone lines around Waterloo and vicinity, formerly owned by Lynn L. Gorton have been sold to a new company organized for the purpose of this week known as the Waterloo Telephone Co. The authorized capital stock of the new company is $5,000 with $2,500 paid in.

The new company not only acquires the Gorton lines but also takes over the lines of the Rural Telephone Company that run between Waterloo and Chelsea, and Waterloo and Grass Lake, and also the short lines and subscribers around Waterloo. This gives the Waterloo exchange about 200 subscribers and there will be but one switchboard. The switchboard formerly maintained by the Rural Telephone Company at Waterloo, being now taken over by the new Gorton Company.

All subscribers will have mutual free connection with the Michigan State exchanges at Chelsea, Grass Lake and Stockbridge the same as heretofore.

Standard Apple Barrel.

In the future a standard barrel of apples must be 26-inches between the heads, 64-inches in circumference, outside measurement around the middle, and the heads must be 17-inches in diameter. In accordance with a recent act of congress, such a barrel, if the apples in it are hand-picked and free from blemishes, may be labeled "Standard" but a fine of $1 and costs will be exacted for every barrel that is marked "Standard" and does not conform to the requirements. The law was passed at the urgent solicitation of those who believe that a purchaser has a right to know what he is getting when he buys a barrel of apples.

Making Shipment to Pontiac.

A. L. Arthur, of the Champion Power Spraying Co., of Pontiac, is here superintending the removal of a quantity of the manufactured goods that have been in storage at the Flanders plant here for some time. There are 20 complete outfits, 125 engines and 150 pumps that are being loaded and shipped to the works of the company at Pontiac. The company is a new organization and they have purchased of the receivers of the Flanders Mfg. Co. all of the patents, manufactured stock and in fact everything that is connected with the manufacturing outfits. One of the outfits was shipped from here on Monday to Wellsburg, West Virginia, to Prof. Hill, who is connected with the U. S. agricultural department and it will be used at the experimental station near where it was shipped. Several of the outfits are owned in this vicinity.

New School Book Law.

According to the new law which goes into effect August 14, 1913. It appears that school books may be handled in three ways. First, the retail dealer may purchase from the publisher, using his own money therefor, and sell the books at 15 per cent advance on the wholesale price. Second, school boards may purchase the books from the publisher at the wholesale price, using the district money therefor, and may furnish the books to pupils at actual cost. Third, the board may buy the books from the publishing houses at the wholesale price, using the district money therefor, and appoint a retail dealer or dealers as the agent or agents of the district. The agent or agents may sell the books at ten per cent advance on the wholesale price and receive this ten per cent as compensation.

Dismissed the Case.

Action to set aside a deed brought against Peter Galohan by John Young, former guardian of James Hammill, has been dismissed from circuit court, Judge Kinne not finding sufficient cause for action.

It ends an interesting suit that started following the adjudging of Hammill insane and the appointing of Young as guardian. Upon receiving the commission imposed upon him by the probate court, Young commenced legal proceedings to annul the sale of a 60-acre farm in Northfield township, sold to Galohan by Hammill, alleging that Hammill was insane at the time and thus was incompetent of negotiating the sale.

Galohan's attorney, succeeded in securing for Hammill a second examination and as a result physicians pronounced the man perfectly sane. Young was discharged as guardian and Hammill immediately demanded that the legal action be quashed which the court granted. Hammill is now a resident of Ann Arbor but lived in Northfield township for a number of years.

John McDaid, who works the Sweetland farm, had just drawn the last load of hay from the burned meadow and had reached the barn when he discovered the fire near the woods and some distance from where he had drawn the hay. Mr. McDaid had left his hay loader in the field and it was considerably damaged by the flames. Geo. T. English was on the back part of his farm and went to the assistance of Mr. McDaid in subduing the blaze.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Wm. F. Riemenschneider suffered a stroke of paralysis about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. During the morning Mr. Riemenschneider was about the streets and to his friends he appeared to be in his usual health. During the forenoon he returned to Cavanaugh Lake where he is spending the summer, and in the afternoon went to work putting in a drain from the refrigerator in his new cottage that he has had built this season.

About 5 o'clock a lady who is a guest at the summer home of Geo. Wood heard Mr. Riemenschneider calling and went to his assistance. She found the stricken man lying on the floor near the door, and others who occupy cottages on the camp ground assisted in getting the afflicted man to bed. AUTO WRECKED

On East Guthrie Crossing Monday Morning by Limited Car.

Monday morning the limited car from the west on the D. J. & C., which is due here at 7:40 o'clock struck a large Buick touring car on the east Guthrie crossing. The occupants of the automobile are residents of Milan and were coming into Chelsea from the west. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Feldman and his father. The engine of the touring car became stalled as it reached the street car track and the occupants left the auto and began signaling the limited to stop. Ed. A. Ward and Harrison West, who witnessed the accident, also ran to the car track when they saw the auto stop and tried to bring the approaching limited to a stop, but they were unable to do so. The car came to a stop some distance east of the crossing.

Those who were near the scene of the wrecked auto claim that the approaching limited car could have been stopped and the accident avoided. The front wheels of the auto were demolished and considerable other damage was done. It was necessary to order new front wheels from the factory before the touring car could be brought here for partial repairs. Mr. Feldman drove the auto through to Milan Tuesday afternoon.

Must Wash the Cans.

State Food and Dairy Commissioner Jas. W. Helm is authority for the following:

"With the advent of hot weather comes an enormous increase in the consumption of ice cream and with this consumption comes the usual reported cases of ptomaine poisoning. Ice cream is a healthful product and one of our cheapest and most valuable foods and there is nothing dangerous in the consumption of ice cream provided proper conditions have been maintained in its manufacture. It must be remembered that milk is an animal product and that in hot weather decomposition will set in milk the same as in meat or any other animal product. In the decomposition of any animal product ptomaines are liable to be formed and if the product is then eaten, ptomaine poisoning results which often causes death, and in any event very severe suffering.

The last legislature passed a law providing for a penalty of $100 for any persons who reships ice cream or milk cans back to the factory without thoroughly cleansing them. This law will soon take effect and the Dairy and Food Department proposes to vigorously enforce the same and whenever ice cream cans are found unwashed at any station, prosecutions for the violation of this law will be instituted.

Notice.

Any rumour or report derogatory to the good name or character of our son Leon, or that we have privately or otherwise settled for any misdeemeanor committed by him, is willfully and maliciously false and without the slightest foundation and any person circulating or repeating reports of like nature will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

STRIKE OF TRAIN-MEN IS AVERTED

R. R. COMPANIES WITHDRAW THE DEMAND FOR ARBITRATION OF THEIR GRIEVANCES.

THIS IS DONE TO "PROTECT THE PEOPLE."

Peaceful Settlement of Differences is Assured Through Efforts of Board of Mediation Recently Created.

The threatened strike of 80,000 conductors and trainmen of 45 eastern railroads, for higher wages and improved working conditions, will not be called.

Articles of agreement to arbitrate under the Newlands act the questions at issue were signed by the employees' representatives and the conference committee of railroad managers.

The agreement was not reached until the managers had withdrawn the proposal that their own grievance against the men also should be arbitrated. This claim, the managers announced, they had relinquished to "protect the public" from a tie-up which the employees intended to force if the railroads persisted in pressing their point.

The peaceful outcome of the dispute was the result of efforts made by the board of mediation and conciliation, recently created in the hurriedly passed Newlands act, to meet the situation. The board, consisting of Judge William Lea Chambers, Judge Martin A. Knapp and G. W. W. Hanger, brought about today's agreement after conferences with the disputants which continued more than a week.

Iceland to Have Railway.

Iceland at last is to have a railway. The enterprise is small to begin with, consisting of a six-mile freight belt line around the city and harbor of the capital, Reykjavik; but it is thought that once a beginning is made a railway running across to Thingvall will be built. Two hundred men will be employed and it will cost $500,000. The line will be done in 1915. It is a private enterprise. Iceland lies 155 miles from Norway. It is about the size of Virginia or Kentucky and has more than 80,000 population.

New Discovery to Be Tested.

A new method of giving medical students instruction which, it is said, will largely obviate the necessity of dissection, is to be tried at a Philadelphia medical college. The process originated through the recent discovery by a German student of a fluid by the use of which the human body can be rendered transparent. The fluid is composed of several oils, and it turns the flesh into a sort of transparent jelly, enabling the students to study the veins, muscles and bones even better. It is asserted, than if they resorted to the dissecting knife.

Court Sues An American Magazine.

The Russian Grand Duke Boris purposes following the example of King George and Col. Roosevelt by bringing his detractors into court. Attorneys for the grand duke have given notice of a libel suit against an American magazine which has a wide circulation in England. The article which the magazine published described the grand duke's career in Manchuria during the Russo-Japanese war as a lurid episode, and said that Gen. Kuropatkin sent him back to Russia. The case is to be tried in London. If it comes to trial, and lawyers are trying to gather evidence here now.

Plan Large Suffrage Meeting.

Plans for a widespread campaign for "votes for women" to be carried into all the backward states of the Union, will be laid at a conference of the National Council of Women Voters at Washington, Aug. 13, 14 and 15. Delegates to the conference will be present from Wyoming, Kansas, Utah, Idaho, Colorado, Washington, California, Oregon and Arizona, the states having full and complete woman suffrage; also Illinois, in which women recently won a modified right to the ballot.

At the special election at Cass City on the proposition of issuing bonds to the amount of $11,000 to improve the electric light and water works plant, 167 voted in favor and 54 opposed. A new power building will be erected.

A. K. Edwards is president of the Edward Chamberlain Hardware company and by coincidence is chairman of the grade separation commission appointed by former Mayor C. H. The 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolk, of Ovid, was drowned in a tub of water at their home. The child was floating a berry box in the water and lost its balance.

George Anthony, 49, died from injuries received while at work in the sawmill of the Fletcher Paper Co. plant. Anthony told Mrs. Frank J. Askolski, with whom he boarded, that he had dreamed of being killed. A few hours later he was brought home suffering from the injuries which caused his death.

TREATY TO BE MODIFIED

More Liberty Granted to Nicaragua in Amended Draft of Bryan Proposal.

Important modifications are to be made in the proposed treaty with Nicaragua, by which the United States would establish a protectorate over the southern republic. It has been discovered that by the terms of the agreement originally outlined by Secretary Bryan, Nicaragua would have been prevented from ever joining with other republics to form a single central American union.

This was not contemplated by the administration when the treaty was proposed; and the suggestion has created suspicion among other central American countries. Secretary Bryan and members of the senate foreign relations committee agreed that the original draft of the treaty should be changed.

The United States will not adopt an aggressive attitude, Secretary Bryan said, in attempting to negotiate any additional treaties.

Judge Gardner is Honored.

Judge Henry M. Gardner, of Ingham county, was elected president of the State Probate Judges' association at the convention which was held at Grand Rapids. The other officers are: Vice President, Kleber P. Rockwell, Oakland; secretary-treasurer, Montgomery Webster, Ionia.

As a token of appreciation of his services, Judge Webster was presented with a handsome silver tea set. Retiring President Fred H. Stone was presented with a gold button by the association. The next meeting of the association will be at Bay City.

The cornerstone of the new St. Joseph's Catholic church at Rapson, near Ban Axe was laid. Bishop Kelly, of Ann Arbor, had charge of the ceremonies, assisted by Father Van Dyke, of Bad Axe, Father Hennigan, of Harbor Beach, Father Miller, of Paris, Father Stephanski of Dwight, and Father Connors of Argyle.

Rogers to Defend Caminetti.

Earl Rogers, who was chief counsel to Clarence Darrow in the latter's court appearances at Los Angeles, has practically been retained as chief counsel for the defense of Drew Caminetti and Maury Digs, who is charged early this year eloped from Sacramento to Reno, Nev., with Miss Lola Norris and Miss Marsha Worthington, high school girls. The retention of Rogers in this case promises a bitter contest of a matter which has become of national interest.

Lockout Comes to End.

The lockout of 1,300 union workmen of the building trades which has continued for seven weeks, ended at Kansas City, when members of the building trades council agreed to take the union men back. The conditions of the agreement are that no strike in the future shall be called except after arbitration and that no wage scale shall be changed on any building in course of construction.

To Build Wireless Station.

Robert Henry Hendershott, of Oak Park, Ill., known throughout the country as the "original Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock", and the youngest veteran of the civil war, was one of the most interesting figures at the annual reunion of the Ninth Michigan Infantry in Lansing.

With one or two exceptions Hendershott had attended every reunion of his regiment since the close of the war and he is as vigorous with the drum sticks as the day he marched away from Jackson, October 25, 1861, as a boy ten years and eight months of age. J. C. Hendershott, a son of the famous drummer is the fife of the little martial band, and the senior Hendershott proudly refers to his boy as the best fife in the country. During the two days of the reunion of the Ninth Michigan Infantry Hendershott and his son were kept busy a greater portion of the time and the notes of the fife and drum have resounded through the capitol corridors.

After the battle of Fredericksburg, Horace Greeley sent a telegram to General Burnside that he would give Hendershott the finest drum in the country if the general would permit the boy drummer to visit New York. The drummer boy of the Rappahannock made the trip to New York and the Greeley drum was presented to Hendershott by General Winfield Scott. For more than 50 years that drum has been in almost constant use and Hendershott would not part with it at any price. Hendershott was captured in 1862 in Tennessee, but was exchanged and returned to Detroit where he re-enlisted and served as a drummer until the close of the war. Were it not for the bronze button which he proudly wears, few persons would suspect that Hendershott was a veteran of the civil war.

Labor Commissioner James Cunningham says that there is practically no danger in Michigan of a repetition of the Binghamton fire where 31 employees, mostly women and girls lost their lives when a factory burned.

Cunningham says particular attention has been paid to factory inspection in Michigan and he claims that nearly all the factories are well equipped with fire escapes. Detroit is exceptionally well provided for in this regard according to Cunningham.

The new labor commissioner announced today that he would ask the attorney general whether it is possible to construe a restaurant or a telephone office as a workshop. If the attorney general holds that these places may properly be called workshops, Cunningham says that he will start out to enforce the 54 hour law for women in restaurants and telephone offices, where it is claimed some women and girls work as many as 72 hours per week.

Within the next two weeks Governor Ferris will name a commission to investigate the wages paid to the women workers of this state in compliance with a resolution passed at the last session of legislature.

Governor Ferris asked Attorney General Fellows whether the resolution was mandatory and whether it was absolutely necessary that he name the commission. Fellows declared that there was nothing for the governor to do but follow out the provisions of the resolution.

The chief executive believes that this work can better be accomplished through the state labor commission. The special commission that he will appoint must serve without compensation and it is his contention that the paid and trained workers of the labor department are better able to perform this work.

Governor Ferris will confer with the state board of corrections and charities before naming the members of the new commission.

As the result of an order issued by Brig. Gen. P. L. Abbey, of the Michigan National Guard there will be a uniformity of training among the various companies of state militia after the men return from their annual summer camp at Ludington and it is believed in state military circles that this order will result in a greatly increased efficiency.

Heretofore, during the winter months, some of the companies have been devoting their time to rifle practice while others have gone in strong for field drill and other phases of national guard life. Under the new order of things the company commanders will prepare a program and submit it to Capt. Radsdale, the regular army officer detailed by the government to act as instructor for the state troops.

Fine Art of Visiting.

An Atchison girl who spends much of her time visiting has made a study of the art and is a very successful guest. One of the first things she does upon arriving is to call her hostess and family into her room and exhibit every rag she owns. She empties boxes, trays and trunks to the bottom layer. She says it saves her hostess the trouble of snooping among her things when she is out—Atchison Globe.

Better Let the Women Tat.

Tattooing is the least expensive sort of fancy work a woman can do. Many girls admit that they could crocheted three balls of cotton while they are tattooing one. Men, it will be easier on your pocketbooks if you let this harmless task go blithely on, for those gay sofa cushions are soon done and then thread and linen must be bought for a new one. For a woman's fingers must be employed.—Kansas Industrialist.

Horrible Death in Elevator Shaft.

Powerless to move, a man named Fulmer, employed at an abattoir, lay at the bottom of an elevator shaft at Philadelphia, Pa., the other day, and waited the descending lift, which crushed him to death. The man had fallen into the shaft, and his cries for aid were drowned by the noise of the machinery. The man fought desperately against the freight laden elevator. His body was flattened almost to the thinness of paper.

Those Good Old Times.

Bobby's grandfather often referred to the good old days when such commodities as meat, vegetables, fruit, etc., were grown and prepared at home. One day at dinner the mince pie was praised. "But I'll bet," declared the five-year-old boy loyally, "it's nothing like the pie that grandma used to make when she raised and picked her own minces; is it, grandma?"

Welsh Gold Mines Still Worked.

Welsh gold mines, in one of which a rich vein is reported to have been struck, have been systematically worked for over sixty years. Gold was first discovered in the principality in 1845, in a lode, on the Clogau mountain.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE GOVERNOR

WHO CALLED FOR THE MILITIA TO POLICE THE STRIKE ZONE?—THE SHERIFF.

THE GOVERNOR AIMS TO HAVE THE PEACE PRESERVED.

The Conference at Lansing Between the Governor and Representatives of the Strikers—Miners Leaving.

Protesting against martial law, as advocated in the copper mining districts by Gen. P. L. Abbey of the state troops, Attorney A. W. Kerr, counsel for the miners, made an impassioned plea to Gov. Ferris to interfere if the mine owners refuse to treat with the Western Federation of Miners for a settlement of the copper strike.

The plea was made at a conference between Vice-president C. E. Mahoney of the Western Federation of Miners and Attorney A. W. Kerr, representing the strikers on one side and Governor Ferris on the other.

Mr. Mahoney and Attorney Kerr had been sent to Lansing by the strikers in a mass meeting held Sunday. "We court the fullest publicity in this matter," said Vice-president Mahoney, when Governor Ferris suggested an open conference in the executive office.

Vice-president C. E. Mahoney declared hundreds of petitions had come to the federation asking the national organization to lend assistance to the Michigan miners.

"On July 14 of this year the local unions of the upper peninsula made certain requests of the mine owners," he said. "Upon arriving in the copper country July 25, I found conditions as quiet as they are in Lansing today. I was sure that if you would come to the copper country you would not have called the troops. I want to protest to you against strong-arm and gun men being brought in to break the strike, operating under the protection of the state militia. All boilers that are used for fire protection purposes are manned, but there was no argument to have the pumpmen kept at work."

"I don't think, governor, you were properly informed by the employing companies, when you sent troops to the copper country," declared Mr. Mahoney.

"Not a single mill-owner for anyone connected with the operation of the mines has ever asked for troops," replied the governor.

"I want you to distinctly understand that I want justice for all sides at all times. I won't take sides in this matter. There can't be a one-sided justice; you can't operate the golden rule with one man. You have to have two," said the governor.

"Now troops are not there to coerce the miners or to assist the mine-owners."

"The soldiery are taking sides if they are to assist in the operation of the mines," said Mahoney.

The most serious effect of the strike in the copper country thus far, from the good-of-the-country point of view, is the fact that it is causing hundreds of men to leave here for other fields. Experience in Cobalt and other mining camps has been that when miners leave during a big strike they seldom return. It is not the discontented, wandering element that departs, but the worker who wants to keep busy and who fears that he will be idle for weeks or months if he stays. In the early days of the big Cobalt strike more than a year ago 1,000 miners left the Canadian camp and have never gone back.

The Storm Damage.

Nine fires, which caused an aggregate loss of $37,500, followed in the wake of the electrical storm which swept Michigan late Sunday night and early Monday morning, all except the $10,000 blaze in the Masonic temple at Charlotte being due to lightning.

Newly cut wheat and hay were drenched in the fields and in some instances corn was damaged. Wires were torn down, and a score of poles along the Michigan Central, leveled by the wind, shattering communication for several hours.

Most of the damage Sunday night was not known till later, owing to the crippled condition of wires, and because the path of the storm was through the country side.

While no estimate could be made on the damage to crops, reports do not indicate that any great destruction was wrought. In fact several places welcomed the rain owing to the parched fields, gardens and pastures.

While fishing in a tax at Marquette, Joseph Merawit, 35, a trainman, and M. F. Blaster, 30, a bartender, were drowned when the boat lurched and threw them into the water. Both were married.

James M. Pennell, head of the Northern Marble & Granite works, and chairman of the Cheboygan board of supervisors, died at the age of 50 years. For years he has been prominent in republican, civic and Masonic circles. He leaves a widow and three children.

Notwithstanding the high cost of living the D. & C. Navigation Co. have not raised the price of meals on either Buffalo, Mackinaw or Cleveland line of boats, as has been done by all hotels, furnishing like quality of service. Their rates, both American plan and a la Carte service are much lower at the present time than can usually be obtained at first-class hotels. On account of the hot weather this will be the biggest year experienced by the company in passenger business as the northern boats have carried to capacity and many people usually going east by rail have taken advantage of the boats to dodge discomfort and dirt occasioned by railroad travel.

Social Forms and Entertainment

The Postage Stamp Code.

Ever since I have had this department, lo, these many years, I have been besieged by youthful readers for the "stamp language." As these little messengers go around the world, some one has devised these significations according as to how they are placed on the envelope. I cannot imagine remembering all the various positions, but I am glad to print them as they are, for all those who have asked for them, and hope a long felt want has been supplied.

A stamp placed at the top right-hand corner means—Business; or I wish your friendship.

Same corner, upside down—Write no more.

Same corner, crosswise—I send a kiss.

Same corner, horizontally—Do you love me?

At the bottom right-hand corner—You are very cruel.

Same corner, upside down—Can you not trust me?

Same corner, horizontally—You are changed.

In the middle, at right side—Write soon.

Same place, upside down—I am sorry.

Same place, horizontally—I am married.

At the top left-hand corner—Good-by, sweetheart.

Same corner, upside down—I love you.

Same corner, crosswise—My heart is another's.

Same corner, horizontally—I hate you.

At the bottom left-hand corner—I seek your acquaintance.

Same corner, upside down—I wish you joy.

Same corner, horizontally—Will you meet me?

In the middle, at left side—Accept my love.

Same place, upside down—I am engaged.

Same place, horizontally—I long to see you.

In the middle at the top—Yes.

Same place, upside down—On conditions.

Same place, horizontally—Are you jealous?

In the middle at the bottom—No.

Same place, upside down—You are too loving.

Same place, horizontally—My parents object.

Of course all these messages are carried by a single stamp—either a two-cent one fixed on a letter or a penny one on a postcard.

Two penny stamps on a letter carry quite different set of meanings, as the following list will show:

Two stamps at the top right-hand corner mean—Meet tonight, same place.

Same corner, upside down—Your father suspects.

Same corner, crosswise—Danger.

At the bottom right-hand corner—Going away.

Same corner, upside down—See you on Sunday.

Same corner, crosswise—Can I call?

At the top left-hand corner—Why are you silent?

Same corner, upside down—Do you love another?

Same corner, crosswise—Hope you are well.

Quotations for Farewell Dinner.

Here are some appropriate quotations for use at a dinner given in honor of a guest who is about to depart upon a long journey:

Though lost to sight, to memory dear.

Absence breaks slender ties, but rivets strong ones.

I count myself in nothing else so happy

As in a soul-remembering my good friends.

Where'er I roam, whatever realm to see,

My heart untraveled, fondly turns to thee.

Farewell; a word that must be and hath been;

A sound that makes us linger; yet—farewell.

What shall I do with all the days and hours

That must be counted ere I see thy face?

The place cards may be painted with a bunch of forget-me-nots, or tie a spray of artificial ones on with a bit of "true blue" ribbon.

A Good Thing to Know.

To increase the lasting capacity of candles keep them in the icebox for 24 hours before using. They will burn much slower, and to the up-to-date hostess who uses candles constantly this is quite an item. It is quite customary to light the dining room all around entirely with candles placed around the room or the plate rail, mantel and sideboard. These are not shaded, and it is a very pretty idea to have individual candles at each plate. These are usually shaded.

Motto for a Sun Dial.

Could you have anything more beautiful than these lines by Henry Van Dyke? It is called "The Sun Dial at Wells College."

"The shadow of my finger cast Divides the future from the past; Before it, sleeps the unborn hour, In darkness, and beyond thy power; Behind its unreturning line, The vanished hour, no longer thine; One hour alone is in thy hands— The now on which the shadow stands."

MADAME MERRI.

A STRANGE WOOLING

Action on a Sudden Impulse Lays the Foundation for Success.

By ELIZABETH SCHOEN COBB.

It was a strange wooling, if it could be called such. On the one hand was Bryce Wharton, with strong, earnest love. On the other, trustful, sympathetic Milly Dover. What she thought, what sweet words of encouragement she might have had in mind to speak to the ingenious, impetuous young man whose handsome face would appeal to any girlish imagination in a vivid way, she was not allowed to express.

"I have told you just what my heart dictated," Bryce had spoken. "I must not ask you to tell me what you think of it, for it would be unfair to yourself and to your family. I only ask you to allow me to hope you will once in awhile remember that I am going to work at an ideal, to come back and tell you of it when I have reached the goal."

"You will be regretted now, and surely welcome then," murmured Milly, and with a brief handshake he was gone. She was almost at the point of tears. "Oh, why did he not—did he not see that I am interested in him, and all he may do, and—"

and then pretty Milly hid her blushing longing face in her hands, and only the mellow moonlight and the cooling nightingales saw and pitied. Headstrong and resolute, set upon an idea and determined to carry it out, Bryce strode down the lonely country road in the direction of home. It had been a new home to him for the past month. It had been as well a new home to his cousin, Evan Gray. Both were orphans. Both had been summoned home from different colleges for an interview with wealthy John Gray, their uncle.

He was a generous-hearted, indulgent old fellow, but he had some practical ideas in that active mind of his. The Elms was a royal home of its kind. He had been a builder of note.

"You Give Me a Shock."

In his day, and the stately mansion was a sample of his own architecture. He was going on a long trip to Europe. His nephews had graduated. They were welcome to remain, young masters of the house, until his return.

"Then to decide on what you intend to do in the world for a living," was the ultimatum of the old man. "Enjoy yourself for the present, let your minds follow through a year of ease and enjoyment. They will all the more clearly respond to the call for duty when you start out on the real business of life."

The cousins found comfort, luxury and ease indeed in their new life. They had cultured social surroundings and the Dovers were their nearest neighbors. The first time the young men met the fair daughter of the house, Milly, the peerless, they mutually decided they had found the fairest thing on earth.

Bryce found Evan lying in a hammock, dozing, when he reached the Elms. Evan was languid, settled down into the indolence of being as though it was going to last forever.

"I say," he observed, drowsily, "what's this I hear of your leaving in the morning?"

"A simple fact, that is all," replied Bryce, seriously.

"A journey somewhere?"

"No; I am going to the city to look for work."

Evan sat up and regarded his cousin in bewilderment.

"You give me a shock!" he observed. "What's your idea?"

"I cannot afford to waste a year for nothing," was Bryce's response. "Why, another month of this motiveless life would divest me of all energy and ambition. Besides—"

Bryce paused. He could have told of the urging influence of his love for Milly, but he refrained before a possible rival.

"Sorry," yawned Evan. "Going to leave the field to me, eh—the fair Milly included?"

"She is worth any man's winning," replied Bryce, softly, and went into the house to finish his packing.

The latest aspiration in Evan's mind, if it might be designated as such, was to become an artist. He was a fair draughtsman, and might in time become an architect. The wishes of Mr. Gray had guided both his nephews in the line in which he had made his business success. By Bryce, however, aside from that, a natural constructive predilection had been inherited. His favorite reading was descriptions of the great structural triumphs of the world, and he reached the city with a pretty fair idea of the road he was about to pursue.

Once a well known packer and a multi-millionaire had made an address at college that had made a great impression on Bryce. He had told how, in his early days, he had given up a good clerical position to accept forty dollars a month in the operating department of the plant until he knew every cut of meat intimately. "Get the rudiments—know the foundation," was his slogan of enterprise.

That was just what Bryce did. He wasted no time in minor clerical capacities. He went to a large firm of contractors erecting a giant skyscraper in the heart of the great city, wore overalls, helped lay the foundation, helped setting the mammoth stone pillars, and found that he had learned something.

One day he was given charge of a portable forge.

His work was to stand above the set steel beams beside the portable forge and heat red hot the bolts used to clamp these and the girders together. It was wonderful, the expert skill acquired in seizing these seething bolts in a pair of pincers, and swinging them so true to a line that the riveter was able to catch them always in the tin pail he held for their reception.

It was nearly noon one eventful day when Bryce held one of the heated bolts ready to swing it to the riveter. In the street below a sudden commotion attracted his attention. A man on horseback was urging up his steed. He had a leather bag on the saddle before him, a revolver menacing a shrinking crowd in pursuit. Even up at that distance from the ground, where human beings below seemed to be mere mimes, Bryce could hear the shouts proclaiming the horseman to be a fugitive thief.

A sudden impulse inspired Bryce with the idea that he might be of some use in the situation. He believed he could halt the fugitive where others had failed. He gave the pincers a swing. Whiz! the flaming bolt cleaved the air and landed on the saddle directly in front of the horseman.

There was a flash as the saddle cloth burst into flame, a shriek of agony from the steed. Then horse and rider rolled to the ground, and some officers rushed up and the episode was over.

When Bryce was summoned below by the building superintendent, it was to learn that his promptness had halted a thief who had snatched a bag from a bank messenger containing a small fortune. His recognition by the bank led to a princely reward, but, more valued than that to an influence exerted in his behalf that gave him a position as manager for one of their clients who was the most prominent builder in the city.

The day that Mr. Gray returned home and Evan started out dolefully "to make his mark in the world," Bryce, with a fair bank account and established business standing, received a welcome from his proud old uncle that made him thrill with pride and pleasure.

And when he made his second love confession to blushing Milly and asked her to become his wife, she hid her timid head upon his shoulder and whispered sweetly:

"My answer is the same as it would have been a year ago—yes."

Turkish Holidays.

In nothing is the natural soberness of the Turk more manifest than in his holidays. He keeps fewer of them than his Christian compatriot, and most of them he celebrates in such a way that an outsider would scarcely suspect the fact. This is partly, perhaps, a matter of temperament and partly because Islam has not yet passed a certain stage of evolution. A holiday, that is, is still a holy day. Secular and patriotic festivals are everywhere of comparatively recent origin. In Turkey, where church and state are one to a degree now unknown in western countries, there was no real national holiday until 1909. Then the first anniversary of the re-establishment of the constitution was celebrated on the twenty-third of July (July 10, old style). A highly picturesque celebration it was, too, in Constantinople, at least, with its magnificent array of rugs and medieval tents on the Hill of Liberty, its review of troops by the sultan, its procession of the guilds of the city and its evening illuminations.

A Musical Feast.

The old farmer and his wife lived near the village church. One warm Sunday evening, while they sat dozing on the porch, a cricket set up a loud chirping.

"I just love that chirpin' noise," said the old man, drowsily, and before the cricket had stopped he was fast asleep.

Soon after the church choir broke into a beautiful chant.

"Just listen to that!" exclaimed his wife. "Ain't it beautiful?"

"Yes," remarked the old farmer, sleepily. "They do it with their hind legs."

Domestic Science Applied.

Demosthenes was practicing oratory with pebbles in his mouth. "Fine," we assured him, "you can talk while eating your wife's biscuits."

RESULTS SECURED BY SPRAYING POTATO

Good Showing for One Hill of Potatoes.

The early blight of potatoes appears in Wisconsin between August 15 and September 25, and does considerable damage to fields not sprayed to control the disease. The excellent results secured by spraying by the horticultural department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin show the advantages of such treatment.

This department advises that growers spray at once after August 15, and not wait until the blight appears. If the grower is then careful to note the condition of his vines and the development of the true early blight disease, he can govern the subsequent application of the mixture according to the weather and the appearance of the field. Usually at least three applications will be necessary to get the best results, and in some seasons four applications are advisable.

The amount of spray mixture applied per acre will depend upon the size of the vines. Early in the season 100 gallons of the mixture may be needed to cover from one to three acres. At the last spraying, when double nozzles should be used, 100 gallons will cover from one to one and one-half acres, and possibly two acres in some cases. The mixture can be economized greatly by avoiding any leakage in the nozzles and running the mixture through as fine a cap as possible and still cover the foliage.

Spraying is generally better adapted to the standard late varieties. Substantial increases in yields have been obtained from spraying early varieties which were planted late. Success from spraying early varieties, which were planted late, is exceptional in this state.

Failures in spraying for blight are often the result of one or more of the following causes: Impoverished soil, weakened potato seed, injury from the potato beetle, carelessness and inattention to essential details.

The first three causes are especially noticed during the dry season. The more favorable the tillage conditions, the larger the returns which may be expected from spraying.

I believe more injury has been done by clay soils by plowing too deep than by all the cropping yet done in the country. One fact worthy of our attention is that in the cultivation of clay soils we must keep the humus or organic matter as close as possible to the top of the soil until the physical condition of the soil is such that the air may have access to the soil as deep as the organic matter is turned under.

Vegetable matter, when exposed to the action of the air, will soon decompose into carbon or vegetable mold and carbonic acid. Large quantities of vegetable mold and carbonic acid make the soil plow up light, loamy and free from clods. On the other hand, if this organic matter is plowed under deep, the air cannot reach it in the saturated, wet soil, and the decomposition goes on slowly, and the product will be widely different. Under such conditions the nitrifying bacteria cannot perform their work.

When the air can have free action through the soil, the clods will decompose into carbonic acid, which will liberate the plant food in the soil and provide the growing plants with nourishment.

When it is desired to deepen the cultivation of clay soils, the work should be gradual and there must be a thorough intermixing of the soil with vegetable matter as fast as it is brought up from below.

As a general rule it will be better to apply fresh manure to the clay soils, for the reason that fresh manure mixed with the soil goes through a process of fermentation which not only increases the availability of its fertilizing elements, but also assists in rendering soluble the portions of hitherto insoluble constituents of the soil.

On a large proportion of clay soils there will be more benefits from the manure when it is applied as a top dressing to the grass lands. In this way we grow more manure to incorporate with the soil when it is plowed.

After a clay soil has been improved by underdrainage, tillage, and fertilization so that it will grow good crops of clover, it is an easy matter to adopt a rotation of crops in connection with live stock feeding that will make sufficient manure to return to the soil to maintain it in a high state of fertility.

Strawberry Plants.

Some people say that strawberry plants set out the last of July or the first of August will give a paying crop the next spring, but we believe that to be a bad practice. Better set plants in the spring, permit not a single blossom to come to fruit the first year, and then the second year will give you a bountiful crop.

Species of Grapes.

There are about 40 species of grapes in the world, more than half of which are found in North America. Few other plants on this continent grow wild under such varied conditions and over such extended areas.

D. A. R.'S NEW HOME

Franklin's Old Print Shop Made Permanent Quarters.

Annis Stockton Chapter Dedicated Burlington, N. J., Headquarters With Most Elaborate Ceremonies—First in State.

Burlington, N. J.—Benjamin Franklin's old print shop, in which he turned out paper currency for the Colonial government of New Jersey was opened here with elaborate ceremonies as the home of the Annis Stockton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The exercises centered about the presentation of a high American flag by the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, to the patriotic women, who from their headquarters here will open a campaign to appropriately mark the various spots of Revolutionary interest in this section.

Mrs. Harriet N. M. Pancoast of Palmyra, regent of the Annis Stockton Chapter, presided at the opening of the home. Following the address of welcome by Mayor E. E. Mount, John S. Merrill of Trenton, president of the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, with his staff and color bearers and escorted by troops of local Boy Scouts, presented the big flag to Mrs. Pancoast. The history of the old house, as it appears on the county records, and the traditions attached to it, were related by Henry S. Haines, state surveyor general. The principal address was made by Mrs. Charles Yardley, East Orange, state regent of the D. A. R.

The Annis Stockton Chapter, by these exercises, becomes the first society of the D. A. R. in New Jersey to purchase and own its own historic headquarters. The officers of the chapter are: Regent, Mrs. Harriet N. M. Pancoast, Palmyra; vice-regent, Mrs. Richard Holuman, Mount Holly; secretary, Mrs. Frank Blackburn, Palmyra; treasurer, Miss Beesie Warnick, Woodbury; chaplain, Miss Sara E. Batchelor, Riverton. The trustees are: Mrs. R. W. Rice, Riverton; Mrs. David G. Baird, Beverly; Mrs. Joseph Roberts, Riverton; Mrs. Lawrence D. Fixary, Palmyra.

Because of the significance of Burlington as the early home of Annis Stockton, the chapter selected this city as the site of their permanent home. As Annis Boudinot, the famous woman after whom the chapter is named, spent her youth here with her brother, Elias Boudinot, and later married Richard Stockton, one of the five Jerseymen who signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Franklin cabin is one of the oldest buildings in South Jersey, having been erected more than two centuries ago. It is near what was the end of the New York post road in colonial days, where the Philadelphia boats tied up at the old Burlington wharf.

In the history of his own life Franklin tells how he stopped in Burlington as a poor boy while en route from New York to Philadelphia. He missed the Philadelphia boat and, awaiting the next passage, stayed at the home of an old woman, who "was very kind and with utmost good will" gave him a dinner of beefsteak. When his aged hostess learned he was a printer, she advised that he open up a shop in this town; but with only a few copper coins in his pockets he could not finance the project and went on to Philadelphia, where he had already procured a position.

His employer later received an order from the government of New Jersey for a big issue of paper money, and Franklin, as a trusted and expert foreman, was sent to Burlington to set up the print shop and print the currency. He made Burlington his home for many months before completing the work and then returned to Philadelphia, later to establish there a publishing business still in existence. During his employment here the author of "Poor Richard's Almanac" won the close friendship of many prominent Burlingtonians and in later years frequently visited this city.

WOE BROUGHT MOTHER FOX

On one of the large estates in Hingham, a few weeks ago, a fox was found to be destroying poultry. The time of the raids, and their boldness, were proof enough that the fox must be a female with young. Poisoned meat was prepared for her, and at once the raids ceased. A few days later one of the workmen of the estate came upon the den of a fox, at the mouth of which lay dead a whole litter of young ones. They had been poisoned. The mother had not eaten the doctored food herself, but had carried it home to her family. They must have died from the burrow, for it was evident from the signs that she had dragged them out into the fresh air, to revive them, and deposited them gently on the sand by the hole. Then in her perplexity she had brought various tidbits of mouse and bird and rabbit and placed at their noses to tempt them to wake up out of their strange sleep and eat as hungry children ought to eat. Who knows how long she watched beside the still forms, and what her emotions were? She must have left the neighborhood soon after, however, for no one has seen her since about the estate.—Dallas Lore Sharp, in the Atlantic.

THE MEXICAN TALK FEST IS NOW ON

THE PRESIDENT AND MR. WILSON DIFFER RADICALLY AND A RESIGNATION IS DUE.

THERE MAY BE A WAY OUT OF THE FUSS WITHOUT MEDICATION.

The Abdication of Huerta Would Smooth Over Things Some So the Influential Mexicans Think.

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson resumed his conference Monday with Secretary Bryan on the Mexican situation. Mr. Wilson had expected to quit Washington, but remained at the request of the secretary to continue his extended report of the conditions in the southern republic.

Ambassador Wilson talked for an hour with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, submitting chiefly a recommendation that the United States use its influence to stabilize Huerta's regime.

No policy was evolved—at least, none was announced—but it became known that the president's ideas and those of Ambassador Wilson as to the course to be pursued are so radically different that the administration officials interpreted the day's developments as forecasting the acceptance of Ambassador Wilson's resignation.

While the chief officers of the American government were debating the facts of the situation, it became known that a movement was on foot which might eventually spare the United States the necessity of offering mediation or any other kind of interference in Mexican affairs on which the national pride of Mexico is sensitive.

The plan contemplates a repetition of the process by which Diaz abdicated in favor of a provisional president acceptable to both factions in the revolt against him. Prominent Mexicans of influence are interested in the idea and have informed Secretary Bryan that if the American government would refrain from any policy of mediation, at least for the present, they felt confident of bringing about an understanding between the warring forces looking toward a peaceful solution of political difficulties.

Ornamental Officer Dispensed With.
Washington belles are mourning over the news that the genial and handsome Maj. Thomas L. Rhoads had been ordered to Winchester, Va., for duty with the provisional cavalry brigade there.

For some time the air had been thick with rumors that Maj. Rhoads would depart, in line with President Wilson's expressed opinion that military aides were an unnecessary grandeur for a democratic president, but the women hoped.

This is the beginning of the end, for the rest of the White House aides will probably be returned to their regular posts and whenever necessary for an aide arises, he will be detailed from nearby army posts or naval stations.

Davis for Solicitor-General.
John William Davis, of Clarkburg, W. Va., representative of the first West Virginia congressional district, was nominated by President Wilson to be solicitor-general of the United States. Mr. Davis was the choice of Attorney-General McReynolds from a long list of prominent lawyers to fill the important $10,000 post. He will be second ranking legal officer of the country. Mr. Davis, who is 40 years old, has had a prominent legal career. He is serving his second term in congress.

Lives Saved By Towerman.
Scores of lives were saved when a towerman in Burnham hill, threw the Ohio river special on the Pennsylvania road into a derail and averted its collision with a through Wash-burn train from St. Louis. The train took the ditch at a high rate of speed. The locomotive was overturned, but aside from minor injuries suffered by the fireman no one was hurt. It is reported that the block signal calling on the Pennsylvania train to stop was set and that when the special whizzed by the towerman took the only course he could to avert a collision.

SOME GOOD EATING.

Here is the ideal summer dessert. Peach Sherbet.—Put a pound of sugar and a quart of water on to boil twenty minutes, let cool, then add one and a half cupsful of peach pulp, the strained juice of an orange, and the juice of half a lemon. Freeze.

A Novel Sponge Cake.—The ingredients for this cake are four eggs, a cup of sugar and a cup of flour. Beat the whites very dry and fold in the sugar, a quarter of a cup at a time. Add the yolks one at a time, cutting and folding them in, adding so lightly that the whites will be streaked with yellow. Cut the flour into the mixture in the same way and bake in a slow oven in a buttered pan. Do not stir to remove the streaks, for it will spoil the texture of the cake.

Grilled Chicken and Mushrooms.—Any pieces of cold chicken will serve for this dish. Sprinkle the pieces with red pepper and salt, brush with melted butter and toss in fine bread crumbs. Place in a hot oven, cut the stalks from half a pint of mushrooms, place them in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter, a dust of mace, pepper, salt, a squeeze of lemon juice, a quarter of a cup of stock or water and a tablespoonful of flour. Cook gently for five minutes, then pour on to small pieces of toast. Prepare the chicken and serve around the toast. Serve hot.

Bacon, Toast and Tomatoes.—Cook very thin slices of bacon until crisp, place on narrow strips of toasted bread. Cook tomatoes in the hot fat and serve with the toast and bacon.

Cucumbers With Brown Sauce.—Peel three or four medium sized cucumbers sliced in halves lengthwise then in halves crosswise. Scrape out the seeds, season each with salt and pepper, and roll in flour; saute in hot drippings until well browned, drain, place in a saucepan and cover with brown stock, simmer until tender. Arrange on toast and pour the sauce over.

Raspberry jam spread between the layers of a plain cake and the top covered with whipped cream, makes a delicious cake to eat fresh.

If the women of the world would develop a sense of beauty, would apply it, first, to that body which is the fairest thing God ever made; second, to the clothing of that fair body in all honor to the immortal soul within, they would do more to elevate the race and purify politics than even the right of suffrage will accomplish.—Ellen Richards.

GRUELS FOR THE INVALID.

For those who have the care of the "What shall I prepare that my patient will enjoy and be able to digest." Gruels are cooked mixtures of flour and grains with water or milk. The milk should not be added until the gruel is thoroughly cooked.

The important point to remember in preparing gruels is that a long time is needed to soften and dissolve the starch of the grains, which is not easily digested unless well cooked.

Gruels should be taken slowly, in order to allow the saliva to act upon the starch and be thoroughly mixed in the mouth.

Cracker Gruel.—Mix together four tablespoonfuls of fine sifted cracker crumbs, a teaspoonful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt; cook with a cup of boiling water for two minutes, then add a cup of milk. Serve without straining. This gruel may be more palatable to some if the sugar is omitted.

Indian Meal Gruel.—Blend a tablespoonful of Indian meal, a half tablespoonful of flour, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of cold water and a cup and a half of boiling water. Boil on the back of the stove an hour and a half. Dilute with milk or cream. Strain and serve.

Oatmeal Gruel.—Pound or grind a half cup of oatmeal, put into a tumbler and fill it with water. Stir and pour off the meal water into a saucepan. Fill the tumbler again, stir and pour off, and repeat as long as the water looks milky. Set the sauce pan on the back of the stove and let the mixture simmer for an hour, or cook in a double boiler two hours. Strain, season with salt and serve. Thin with milk or cream, if too thick.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Lansing.—The next annual encampment of the Landwehr Michigan regiment will be held in Saginaw. At the closing session held here the following officers were elected: Colonel, Adolph Splottsofer, Jackson; major, Max Richter, Detroit; adjutant, Karl Koss, Detroit; paymaster, John Wolf, Detroit; trustees, Emil Resch, Lansing; Adolph O. Hase, Grand Rapids; Ferdinand Bergmann, Saginaw. Delegates to the national encampment were Fred Rau and Otto Tiedmann of Detroit.

Port Huron.—Relatives of John Patton, twenty years old, the Pere Marquette brakeman who was killed by an inbound train in Balsey, near Flint, and whose body has been brought to this city for burial, take exception to the report that the youth had fallen asleep on the track after he had been sent back to flag the oncoming train. Railroad men say, however, that Patton was overworked and exhausted, and lay down to slumber, and that this caused his death.

Bozette City.—The Bolted Basket company's plant here was destroyed by fire with a loss of $15,000, partly insured. A heavy west wind threatened the northern portion of the city where a big wood yard, owned by the Bozette City Chemical company, is located, but the department was able to keep the fire in check. Several dwellings caught fire from flying fire brands, but were extinguished before much damage was done. The plant will be rebuilt at once.

Lansing.—One hundred survivors of the Ninth Michigan infantry were in Lansing for the forty-fifth annual reunion of that regiment. Henry Ries came all the way from Dayton, Wash., to attend the reunion. Lafayette Davis and C. H. Rhodes of Saginaw were members of Company F, the same company to which Ries belonged and the two Saginaw men met their old Washington comrade for the first time since they were mustered out 51 years ago.

Kalamazoo.—Kalamazoo's celery crop is endangered by the appearance of a new pest. Growers have just discovered there is a small worm working in the plant and unless some immediate remedy can be found for it, the plants will all be killed. The M. A. C. has been asked to assist in finding out what the pest is and to suggest a remedy.

Lansing.—According to the monthly mortality report compiled by Secretary of State Martindale, 3,096 deaths occurred in Michigan during June, while 5,290 births were reported. There were 520 deaths of children under one year of age. Tuberculosis claimed 194, cancer 214, pneumonia 174, while 277 deaths were of a violent nature.

Calumet.—Twenty mines in this and neighboring counties were closed owing to a strike called by the Western Federation of Miners.

Jackson.—The automobile of William Edwards, of Munith, a village a few miles northeast of Jackson, turned turtle when it struck a washout in the roadway. Two sons of Edwards, Henry, thirteen years old, and Robert, nine, were killed. Their father and uncle who were also in the car escaped serious injury.

Holland.—Earl Hendrixson, five years old, was killed when the wheels of a wagon in which he was being taken to a doctor, passed over a loose seat on the wagon; and when the horse shied both were thrown out. Mrs. Hendrixson was uninjured.

Battle Creek.—Jesse Reincke, twenty years old, was drowned while bathing in Nottawa lake in Tekonsha township, near here. The lad stepped off a ledge in the lake and went down before any one could reach him. His father, William Reincke, and a friend were with him, and saw him go down, powerless to go to his rescue because neither could swim.

Traverse City.—Maggie Jatoga, an Ottawa squaw, who was one hundred years old her last birthday, died at her home in Yuba. She spent her entire life in the Grand Traverse region, being born in an Indian village where Sutton's Bay is now located. A niece, Angelina Skibegosh of Yuba, is her only known relative.

Saginaw.—The barn of George L. Burroughs, in Saginaw county, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The barn was filled with hay and was the biggest in the county. The loss is about $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

Alma.—Pine river has been the scene of the biggest turtle catches made in the state this year, during the past few weeks and now the supply is practically exhausted. It is said that at least 5,000 pounds of turtle were taken from the river near Alma during the last two weeks. The turtles are being shipped to eastern markets.

Standish.—The soldiers' and sailors' reunion of northern Michigan will be held in Cheboygan about the middle of September. Spanish-American war veterans will also participate.

Not Too Hot.
The kindly district nurse had sent to Mary's cheerless home fuel and food and clothing. Several days later she visited the house to find Mary and the family warm, comfortable and happy.

"You're such a good woman," said the little mother earnestly. "And I've been praying to the dear Lord every night that he will bless you, and when you die send you to a nice, warm place."

Just Wanted to Be Sure.
For four entire hours had the lady remained in the shop. She had visited every department and worried the majority of the salesmen without spending a penny.

Toward the close of the afternoon one of the salesmen, feeling somewhat exasperated, ventured to make a mild protest.

"Madam," he asked sweetly, "are you shopping here?"
The lady looked surprised, but not by any means annoyed.

"Certainly," she replied. "But what else should I be doing?"

For a moment the salesman hesitated, then blurted out:
"Well, madam, I thought perhaps you might be taking an inventory." Then the lady melted away among the shadows by the door.

Don't Poison Baby.

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. BREVITIES

MILAN—The K. of P. Lodge of this place will hold a carnival on August 6 and 7.

HILLSDALE—Preparations are under way for the twenty-sixth annual encampment of the Tri-State (Ohio, Indiana, Michigan) Soldiers' and Sailors' association, to be held at Camp Minera, Montgomery.

BRIGHTON—Many of our able bodied men are still engaged in the frog catching business. They would not turn in and help our farmers out in haying or harvest although they catch the jumpers on their farms.

ANN ARBOR—Homer P. Finley, 70, a prominent resident of this place, was seriously injured when the sidewalk on which he was standing on Huron street suddenly collapsed and dropped him into a sub-basement, a distance of 12 feet.

WILLIAMSTON—For months past the officers and committees at Williamston have been bending every effort toward making the Home Coming to be held there August 6, 7, 8, 1913, the biggest event of the kind ever pulled off in Michigan.

ANN ARBOR—Because he has been arrested three times in as many weeks, during which time he has either been in jail or drunk, Arthur Wood, a painter by trade and a musician by profession, will spend the next 65 days at the Detroit House of Correction.

BROOKLYN—Wampers lake has been named as the location for the sixth annual Square Town picnic on August 21, the date having been permanently fixed two years ago by mutual consent for the third Thursday in August of each succeeding year.—Exponent.

TECUMSEH—A civil service examination for the position of postmaster at Britton will be held at Tecumseh, Saturday, August 23. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the Britton postoffice and the age limit is 21 years for males and 18 years for females.

DEXTER—At the recent special election held in the opera house the electors of the village by a vote of 110 to 2 decided to accept the $9,000 offered by the Eastern Michigan Edison company for the municipal electric plant and to grant the company a franchise to use the streets.

ANN ARBOR—Mrs. A. W. Snell, of Whitmore Lake, was seriously burned when a gasoline stove exploded as she was filling the tank. The burning fluid was thrown into her face and about her head. Bystanders beat out the flames. Mrs. Snell is a proprietor of a boarding house. She will recover.

MANCHESTER—The horde of Lenawee county oh, so dry young men who come here at least every Saturday and fill themselves and suit cases so full that they can scarcely walk under the load, make so much disturbance at the depot and on the trains that railroad detectives have been sent here to try to have at least, order preserved.—Enterprise.

SALINE—The buildings on the farm of John Gordon had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, when a straw stack was burned. It is believed to have been started by a cigarette left near it by some strangers, and it soon spread to the stack. It required some quick work on the part of Mr. Gordon and helpers to save the barns.—Observer.

NORTHVILLE—The subscribers of the Michigan Telephone company say that until some kind of decent service is assured that they will not even pay one month rental in advance, let alone 3 months that the company propose to collect. If subscribers pay three months in advance they have no assurance they will get even as good service as they now get.—Record.

JACKSON—A man giving his name as L. Sanderson was arrested here on complaint of a farmer, who alleges Sanderson stole his horse. Sanderson was later identified as Alfred Stafford, sentenced to Jackson prison about four years ago from Berrien county for horse stealing. He was immediately sent to the prison and will be forced to serve the remainder of his prison term, about 11 years.

HOWELL—The continued absence of Chas. Conklin, living just a few miles south of this city is causing all manner of conjecture. Mr. Conklin left home on Sunday morning, July 13th, about 10 o'clock, saying he was going over to the other place to salt his sheep and he seems to have dropped completely out of sight from that time. Mr. Conklin was comfortably situated and had no reason for disappearing, and owing to the fact that he has been suffering with some subtle malady of late it is feared he has lost his identity and is a wanderer unable to tell anyone who he is. No one seems to have seen him since he started to salt the sheep and he may have died in the woods somewhere in this vicinity.—Tidings.

JACKSON—Harry Pennow, 17, is in jail on a warrant charging him with attacking the 10-year-old daughter of William Weathers.

BRIDGEWATER—Louis Mertz, of Bridgewater, and Miss Betke, of Scio, were married last week. They have gone to housekeeping on the Mills farm.

TECUMSEH—The corner stone of the new St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic church will be laid next Sunday afternoon, August 3, at 2 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Rt. Rev. Edward D. Kelly of Ann Arbor, assistant bishop of Michigan, assisted by several priests.—News.

YPSILANTI—A spectacular fire was caused when lightning struck a barn owned by Edward Baxter, near Sheldon's switch, during the storm Sunday night. The crops in the barn were all ablaze before the flames broke through the roof, lighting up the sky so as to be noticeable for many miles. The loss is considerable.

ADRIAN—Albert Holbrook, of Oden township, is in the county jail, charged with poisoning his cousin's two cows. He admits placing paris green in a place easily reached by the cattle. James Holbrook, who lost the cattle, is a neighbor of Holbrook and both lease their farms of their grandfather, with a pasture in common.

MANCHESTER—An automobile driven by John Huber skidded in the sand and went over a bank Monday evening about five miles north of town. William Heschelwerdt, one of the passengers, was thrown over the windshield and had two ribs broken; Matt Huber, the other passenger, received a shaking up but was not injured. The machine was badly wrecked.

SALEM—A reunion of local veterans of the Civil war was held at the home of Mrs. Hammon of Salem Thursday, July 24th. A fish dinner was served to the old soldiers by the hostess and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Several of the gray-haired men told stories, one man sang "Marching Through Georgia," while two of them with an old fife and drum gave musical selections.

HOWELL—Harry Moon, treasurer of Hamburg township, has through his attorneys commenced suit against Louis Howlett and Arthur Prosser executors of the estate of the late G. J. Baetcke of Brighton to recover moneys deposited in the bank at a late hour on the date in which the bank was opened for the last time. The amount involved is $506.12. An injunction has been granted by the circuit court restraining any further dividends.

JACKSON—Preferring death to living with her husband, Mrs. Albert Kaminski, 20, took her baby in her arms Monday afternoon and wandered to the Jackson Junction yards, where she seated herself between the rails of the track and waited for a train to grind out the life of herself and child. The woman was taken to the Jackson, Friendly home, where she stated her husband abused her unmercifully. The husband was arrested on the charge of assault and battery and was given 65 days in the Detroit house of correction.

ANN ARBOR—Three frightened youngsters, members of the gang who bombarded a houseful of Hungarian and Greek laborers Friday night and who were arrested Saturday on warrants issued upon the complaint of John Shadford, owner of the property, appeared in Justice Thomas' court Monday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge of raising a disturbance. The boys, who were the ringleaders of a party of 20, visited the foreign headquarters with bricks and stones, and also an assorted collection of noise-making devices, proceeded to pass an enjoyable evening at the expense of the natives, who finally drove them away with a shotgun.

JACKSON—William Hunter, aged 45 years, residing five miles north of the city on the Cooper road, and his nephew, Archie Edwards, aged 18 years, of Manistee, Mich., were instantly killed at 8:15 o'clock Monday night when a buggy in which they were riding to town was struck by north-bound Lansing-Owosso local No. 60, two miles north of Jackson on the Gravel road. The bodies of the two men were picked up forty feet north of the crossing, lying against a fence and the horse, which was literally cut to pieces was found lying fifty feet away from the crossing near the track. In Memoriam.

Mrs. Jacob Koch died one year ago July 27, 1912.

One long year has passed away,
Still we are thinking day by day,
Of our dear mother so full of love,
Who has gone to dwell in Heaven above.
More and more each day we miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healing,
But they little know the sorrow
Which lies within our hearts concealed.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother:
'Tis sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you, oh, so dearly,
In death we do the same. E. K.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Chelsea Readers.
For months Chelsea citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Chelsea residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Chelsea reader.

Mrs. Charles Grant, 604 S. Main St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "I gladly confirm the public testimonial I gave for Doan's Kidney Pills a few years ago. They promptly relieved me of backache and kidney trouble. I am constantly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Advertisement.

It Didn't Work.
"Doctor, what is the remedy for snoring?" asked Walter.
"You breathe through your mouth when you sleep," said the physician.
"Then if I wake up and find my mouth open, the—" interrupted the man of medicine.
A few nights later Walters tried it on his mother-in-law, repeating softly, so he would not alarm her:
"Do not be afraid; I am not a burglar!"
Now he is sorry that he isn't.—Woman's World.
