have learned by dear experience that good material is cheaper in the long run than poor quality, although the first cost may seem a trifle more.

Cheap grain, cheap cattle, cheap farm land, cheap clothes, and cheap food stuffs may look like a saving in money but in the end experience teaches us that they cost more and give less satisfaction to the owner.

Because this is true we cannot afford to sell cheap grades of material without telling you the truth about their quality, for we are compelled to live here among you year after year and depend on your trade, not once but regularly.

Fly-by-night agents and mail order concerns located at a distance may sell you a bill of goods that have nothing to recommend them but price, and take a chance, because they do not have to meet you face to face year after year. With us it is different. Don't experiment with cheap trash but buy your goods at home and get your money's worth. We carry as good a stock af goods as there is to be found in the county.

There is such a feeling of achievement, not to speak of the virtuous feeling of economy in using up odds and ends of food and really making something good out of them. The housewife whose sense of economy will spoil good things by combining them with something unpalatable, is worse than extravagant, for she puts food above the value she has for her family.

Quick Dessert.—This is a dessert which was put together in an emergency with a few left-over bits. A piece of cake, a cup of left-over custard and a banana or two. The cake was broken in bits and the custard poured over it, then a banana was sliced and added to the dish. Whipped cream could be served with it, or simply as it is, it made a most satisfying

BREVITIES

JACKSON-Four places were visited in Jackson Sunday by burglars, three of them being residences and one a business house.

ANN ARBOR-The county school examining board on Saturday awarded 26 second and 57 third grade teachers' certificates.

ANN ARBOR-The stage is being set for the 1913 football season at the University of Michigan and invitations have been sent to 35 candidates for the preliminary practice that is to start September 16 on Ferry Field under the direction of Coach Yost and his assistants.

NORTHVILLE-A well known Northville business man put in a call for an Ypsilanti party Friday and after a long wait, got in his auto and drove over to that city and returned home to Northville again just as the operator was calling to tell him they Fowlerville, were guests of Dr. and had his Ypsi party for him.-Record.

YPSILANTI-Lieut. Ralph Gaudy, of the Ypsilanti Signal corps, M. N. John Hindelang and family, of De- G., who is home from Calumet on a troit, are spending this week at the furlough, has received orders to open home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. a recruiting station here to enlist men to take the places of those who Mrs. F. Hendry and daughter Ruth are in the strike zone and should be are visiting in Stanton where Mr. released to take care of their person-

ANN ARBOR-A supply of blank applications and licenses, required to observe the provisions of the new game and fishing law, now in effect, have been received at the county clerk's office from the state game warden, and if you require one, don't neglect to secure it, for Otto Rohn will catch you if you don't.

JACKSON-Six months to five years in the Detroit house of correction with a recomendation of one year as the maximum was the sentence imposed by Judge Parkinson in circuit court Monday afternoon upon Grace Harper and Mary Harris, two colored girls who pleaded guilty in the morning when arraigned on a charge of larcency from the person.

ANN ARBOR-Work has already started on the excavating for the new contagious disease hospital for which Ann Arbor recently voted $25,-000, and the contract for erecting the Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Phelps and building has been let to Fred C. Weinberg for $22,316. The balance of the $25,000 will be used for painting, glazing and wiring the building. The spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. contract stipulates that the building must be completed by January 5, 1914.

> ANN ARBOR-A chair in horseshoeing in the University of Michigan is the goal of ambition of the Michigan Horseshoers' association which is holding its 20th annual convention in Saginaw-this week. The horseshoers would compromise by accepting a department devoted to their profession in the Michigan Agricultural college, but a representative portion of the members, so Saginaw advices say, is decidedly partial to a chair in horseshoeing in the Ann Arbor university .- Times l'ews.

DEXTER-Two well known and respected young people of Dexter picture that will hold the audience figured in an elopement Sunday night which ended Monday in a marriage at Windsor, Ont. Mark Stebbens, age 18, and Miss Patria Bridgestock, of Detroit, left Dexter Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, and drove to Whitmore Lake and then to Ann Arbor. There Stebbens placed his horse in a livery stable and with his intended bride, took a car for Windsôr. No one has heard from them since. While in Ann Arbor Stebbens stopped long enough to phone friends and inform them of his plans.

> STOCKBRIDGE-The Skidmore reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Milner, in this village Thursday. Guests were present from Detroit, Grand Rapids, Ypsilanti, Dexter, Dansville, and Adrian. After partaking of a bountiful dinner, a business meeting was held and the following officers elected: C. A. Skidmore, president; Don McVean, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Morrison, secretary; Mary Steinbach, treasurer. Six new members were added to the society: R. Courtland Sweet; Edgar I. Sweet; Clinton G. Skidmore; Minnie, Camburn; Enid Alexander; Catherine Collins. It was voted to meet next year with Zerah Burr at Dexter.

> Minister Praises This Laxative. Rev. H. Stubenvoll of Allison, Ia., in praising Dr. King's New Life Pills tor constipation, writes:—"Dr. King's New Life Pills are such perfect pills no home should be without them." No better regulator for the liver and bowels. Every pill guaranteed. Try them. 25c at L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co., L. T. Freeman. Adver-

The band concert Tuesday evening drew a large crowd from here and the surrounding country. A fine musical program was carried out and Louis Burg sang a popular song that was a feature of the entertainment. There will not be a concert next Tuesday evening as a number of the members of the band will be away from home.

Where's Your Proof?

Let's suppose you owed the grocer $5.00 on account and had handed him a $5.00 bill in payment and he had forgotton to give you credit. If he tried to collect the account later what would you have to show that you had paid it.

Now, suppose you had given the grocer a check on our bank for the amount and he had not given you credit. You would pull that cancelled check on him promptly and show him his endorsement on the back, wouldn't you? Which plan is the safest? We leave it to you.

by Right Kind of Food and Enjoy Hot Weather

It's largely a matter of selecting the hot weather diet with reason.

Summer is Nature's season of activity - seed-time, growing-time, harvesttime—a time of expansion, energy—and Man is influenced to do his part—to put forth greater effort because activity is in the very air.

BUT—caution is necessary to avoid excessive heat from combustion (digestion) of heavy, greasy food (Nature's way of generating body-heat in winter), in addition to the heat of the summer atmosphere.

Grape-Nuts

is the Ideal Food for hot weather because, being largely predigested (and concentrated) in the making at the factory, it is quickly absorbed, a small quantity affording great endurance with little effort in digesting it.

Grape-Nuts, made of Whole Wheat and Barley, contains all the natural elements of these cereals, including the phosphate of potash grown in the grain for rebuilding waste tissue cells, especially of brain and nerves.

Try for breakfast, lunch or supper:-

A Little Fruit; Saucer of Grape-Nuts and Cream; A Soft Boiled Egg; Slice of Crisp Toast, and a Cup of Postum, hot-or iced with sugar and lemon.

Surprising how cool, yet full of healthy energy and "go" one feels on such a meal no matter what the weather.

MUCH LEGISLATION OF VALUE anti-Tuberculosis Workers Have Reason to Be Satisfied With Laws Passed in 1913.

Out of 41 state legislatures in sesn during the season of 1963, laws dealing with tuberculosis were exacted in 30 states, while in 34 states consideration was given to bills dealing with the prevention of this disease. This is a summary of the legislative campaign for 1913, issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Appropriations to the amount of over $5,000,000 have been set aside for the treatment and prevention of tuberuclosis by the various legislatures in session this year. In addition to these, congress will be obliged to set aside nearly $1,000,000 for the maintenance of the United States public health, the army and navy sana oria, and the tuberculosis hospital of the District of Columbia. Among the notable advances in the legislative enactments of this year, are the tuberculosis registration law of Colorado; laws providing for subsidies to local hospitals in Minnesota and Wisconsin, an act providing for the establishment of county hospitals in Indiana, and the establishment of state bureaus for the prevention of tuberculosis in Ohio and California. A complete analysis of the tuberculosis legislation considered and enacted in 1913, is being prepared by the national association.

were used and the result of the first year of the trials were as astounding as those mentioned above and even still more emphatic.

Two sets of trees, as nearly as possible equal in size and vigor, were tried against each other in each experiment, one set being planted in what is usually regarded as the correct manner, while the trees of the other set were stuck into the holes gate-post fashion and the soil placed over the roots was rammed heavily while it was thoroughly puddled.

Out of ten trials with apple trees those which had been put in roughly and rammed gave greater wood growth in the first season than the others in eight instances, the excess ranging from 8 to 89 per cent and one of the exceptions was carried out in such a light and sandy soil that the effect of ramming was slight and of short duration.

The roots of the rammed trees were necessarily more or less injured by the ramming; there was a time when these trees seemed to be suffering from this treatment, but it was of short duration.

It was concluded that the effect of injury to the roots leads to the forma- WORK ON THE LAWN tion of a fresh set of roots, while the ramming puts the soil in close contact with the roots and probably increases its capillarity.

As it may be presumed that trees of all kinds and not fruit trees alone would be similarly affected by the methods of planting, the subject is of great importance.

For my part I cannot believe that the ramming did much damage to the roots, for it is inconceivable that badly mashed roots was the result, for experience shows that roots so injured rot off.

In speaking of putting the trees in small holes, this is samewhat after the Stringfellow method where the roots of the trees are trimmed off to mere stumps and the tops much the same and the trees are thrust into the holes and rammed. The chief object of this system is to make the trees send roots deeply into the soil, as a security against drought.

Great success has attended the system of packing the under soil compactly while keeping the top soil in a fine state of looseness by means of frequent cultivation, followed by mulching. The capillary of the lower soil is increased by its close packing so that water from below is induced to rise abundantly to the roots of the trees and plants while its evaporation is checked by the fine and loose condi-

Almost any practicable degree o pressure over the roots in planting may be advantageous, but it does not follow that solidity to check sideways root growth is also beneficial. If it were so the annual digging, or, rather, forking of fruit plantations would call for condemnation.

Experienced growers of fruit most ly agree that they always find that trees planted well in accordance with what is generally considered the proper methods flourish better than those less carefuly planted and this there is every reason to believe, is the common experience.

I am sure that experiments serve t useful purpose but should strongly recommend growers of fruit not to act on a large scale upon the results of any experiment, and although firm er planting than is usual may be tried, prudence directs that any furth er testing of the methods described should be limited, for some time to come, at least, to small operations.

NEW LANGUAGE HAS EVOLVED HOW TRAGEDY WAS AVERTED

Americans in the Philippines Have Departed in Large Measure From Familiar Tongue.

Fifteen years ago the American flag first floated over a Malay archipelago in the far Pacific. Spanish was the current speech among the upper classes there. The common people spoke a dozen different dialects-unintelligible one to the other.

We came, saw and possessed, and, shortly after the flag, boatloads of teachers arrived with the school books and pedagogy of the west.

The teachers brought American literature with them. They brought American songs, American games, American ideas and American ideals... and they brought the American manner of speech. Meanwhile a reflex action was quietly at work. Without realizing it the new-comers were being influenced by the new land and the new people. New methods of living were enforced on the Americans. Their rules of health did not always apply. Day after day they were surrounded by people observing strange customs, fol-and speaking an unfamiliar tongue. Gradually the customs became less strange, the moral code less different and the tongue less unfamiliar. While endeavoring to establish their ways and methods, the Americans unconsciously were yielding to the ways and methods of the country.

lowing a totally different moral code

Many things of great value in the old order had no place in the new. In particular the old manner of speech often failed to convey the meaning intended

The Americans daily encountered things they had no names for. They met conditions which could not be aptly described in their own tongue. The Filipino obligingly furnished the name or expression from some one of his vernaculars and it passed into the current speech of the American.

Then certain officials, trades, articles of clothing and food that had names in English would be repeatedly referred to by the Filipinos in their own dialect when they talked with their teachers. Gradually the teachers came to use the same expressions.

We have been a separate nation from England for over 100 years and our Americans have been in the Philippines only 15. Yet the language spoken by Americans differs more from United States English than does the English of London.—American Review of Reviews.

In my own cow it is hardly more than blind principle, hardly advanced beyond the oak tree's feeling for its acorns, or the amoeba's for its divided self.-Dallas Lore Sharp in the Atlantic Monthly.

"Siphon" Sisson.

Thomas Upton Sisson, member of congress from the Fourth district of Alabama, is destined to go down in history as the siphon bottle statesman. Which is an unfortunate fate. When the California-Japanese imbroglio was at height Mr. Sisson delivered an impassioned anti-Japanese speech on the floor of the house. "If we must have war," he declared,

"or submit to this indignity, I am for

Later, in the tariff debate, Representative Johnson of Washington, reproving him for this speech, called attention to the fact that Mr. Sisson had voted last year against a battleship program, and then he referred to the southerner as "the sizzling solon from the Mississippi, Mr. Sisson."

If that doesn't sound like a siphon bottle, what does? The resemblance caught the fancy of the cloakroom congressional kidders, and they are ringing the changes on it whenever Mr. Sisson happens along.

New Bed of Scallops. The demand for sea food is a persistent and an increasing one, so much so that in some lines the supply is threatening with extinction. This is particularly true of the lobster, which is every year becoming scarcer and consequently dearer, and even the succulent clam is not found in its former abundance in those haunts to which it once gave fame. But the scallop is a good substitute, and the report just made to the secretary of commerce that a bed of the giant variety, thirty miles wide and extending from Rhode Island to the Virginia capes, has been found, is very reassuring. The common kind are plenty enough, but they are only half as large as the giant variety, and not accounted so great a delicacy. This new source of supply is regarded as practically inexhaustible, and it is not likely to have an immediately lowering effect upon the price of a hotel order.

BANDIED JOKES WITH KINGS

Witty Sallies Which Royalty Has In voked, Sometimes Very Much at Their Own Expen

Carlyle observed that 'kings are ill to joke wi'," but there have nevertheless been plenty of jok-ers so andacious as to "josh" royalty with impunity. Indeed, there have been rulers with a well developed sense of humor, such as Charles II. capable of enjoying a sally at their

It is related that one day when Charles was inspecting a warship at Chatham he asked Killigrew: "Don't you think that I should have made a good shipwright?" Charles was proud of his reputed skill in naval architecture, and, no doubt, by this query sought a compliment. But Killigrew, who was nothing of a courtier, re plied instead:

"I have always thought that your majesty would do better at any trade than your own."

A lively example of French retori to royalty is afforded by the story of Marshal Bassompierre and Louis XIII. The marshal had given his majesty an account of his embassy to Spain, setting forth the manner in which he had entered the Spanish cap ital mounted on a mule. "An ass seated on a mule!" exclaimed Louis, with a laugh. "Yes, sir," replied the marshal, "and the joke of it was I rep resented you!"

Good old Queen Bess, it appears, had a pretty wit, which she was by no means loath to exercise upon her subjects. In one verbal duel, at least, Elizabeth got the worst of it. Observ. ing in the gardens a courtier to whom she had promised promotion that had not materialized; her majesty thrust her head out of the window and called

"What does a man think of, Sir Edvard, when he thinks of nothing?" "Of a woman's promise, your majesty!" was the response. Among the neatest retorts to royal ty whereof we have record was that alleged to have been made to the Prince of Wales, afterward King Will iam IV., by the secretary of the admiralty.

William had been bantering the sec retary for some time at table. "When I am king," said he, "you shall not be secretary to the admiralty. What do you say to that?" "God save the king!" rejoined the witty secretary.

Brittany Bridal Superstitions. It is interesting to note the number of shrines in Brittany dedicated to marriage. "At Ploumanach, a village on the northern coast," says a writer in Country Life, "there is a shrine picturesquely situated amid the rocks which the sea washes round every day. Only at low tide can one clam ber over the rocks to the canopied girl desires to marry she sticks a pin in the nose of this saint; should it drop out within the year she believes Premiu her desire will be fulfilled. On another occasion, near Douarrenez, in the Finistere district, I came across a small shrine decorated with orange blossoms in a hedgerow, where s young girl whom I had previously seen tending her flocks was kneeling in prayer, after which she rose and dropped a pin down the well. By ques tioning her I found that it was the custom there to drop a pin down the well before the saint, and eventually, after the wedding ceremony, the bridal blossoms were brought and hung round the shrine."-Tit Bits.

Mysterious Number 9.

Has it ever occurred to you that strange feats may be performed with figures? Multiply the figure 9, for instance. Multiply it by 2 and you get 18, and 8 and 1 make 9. Five 9's are 45, and 5 and 4 make 9 again. Three 9's are 27, and 7 and 2 make 9. Four 9's are 36, and 6 and 3 make 9.

Nine is indeed a mysterious number. Take any row of figures you fancy, say 8642, and if you reverse them and subtract, 8642—2468, you have left 6174, which added together, makes 18, or twice 9. Take the 18, and 8 and 1 make 9 again. If you take five figures, say 76543, reverse them, 34567, and subtract, you get 41976, which, added together, makes 27-that is, 7 and 2 make 9, or three 9's are 27.

Thirty-seven is another number specially adapted for figure juggling. Multiplied by 8, 37 becomes 111, and no matter what multiple of 3 you
