PUTTING UP PICKLES?

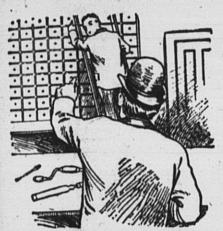

Don't put them up in vinegar that you "guess" is good. Use guaranteed good vinegar—the kind we sell.

We have just received a supply of extra choice Pickling Vinegar, both the pure cider and white wine varities. It is ideal for pickling purposes and will insure best results every time. We would advise that you send us your jug early before this special "make" is all gone.

Best of Pickling Spices are also an important part of our stock now-a-days.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized phonograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed. cheer leader at Yale. and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the phonograph. She suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the-ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the phonograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The Cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet. Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive, Helen Blake asks speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys foin in the appeal to Wallv, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. weapon, and fired between the legs of Glass, who leaped into the air with all the grace of a gazelle. It was due to no conscious action on his part that the trainer leaped; his muscles were stimulated spasmodically, and propelled him from the floor

"Did you hear what I said?" demanded Willie, in a voice that sounded like the sawing of a meat bone. Glass opened his mouth, and when no sound issued, nodded.

"And you understand?" Again the trainer bobbed his head. "Then I guess that's all. It's up to you." Willie replaced his gun, and the fat man threatened to fall. "Come on, boys!" The cowboys filed out silently, but on the threshold Willie paused and darted a venomous glance at his enemy. "Don't forget what I said about Mr. Colt and the

That ecstatic young gentleman wrenched his gaze away from the blue eyes of Miss Blake to see his trainer signaling him from afar.

What is it. Lawrence?" "Got to see you."

"Presently." "Nix! I got to see you now!"

Glass' ruddy face was blotched, and he seemed to rest in the grip of some blighting malady. Beneath his arm he carried a tight-rolled bundle. ERUPTION ON ANKLE BURNED

I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep running ones and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confined around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it, it was always so sensitive to the touch. I could not let my clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt, blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This

Golden Rod Wedding.

One of the prettiest decorative schemes for a fall wedding is to use the gorgeous golden rod as the exclusive flower. It lends itself to either a church or house ceremony equal-ly well; it does not wilt quickly and is found in nearly every locality.

Massed in huge brown crocks and jars, it fills corners and fireplaces; is most decorative in flower holders fastened to the walls and tied with white and yellow gauze ribbon to the ends of the reserved pews in the church it is all that can be desired.

A charming canopy is made by stretching wire netting that comes by the yard, filling with vines and ferns and then studding the whole with clusters of golden rod. The bride may carry white roses and the maids yellow ones, and a beautiful effect is made by having the attendants in filmy white frocks over yellow Take Back the Heart, The Dear Little slips, with yellow sashes and hair or-Have yellow candle shades, yellow ally seek the under sides and there to practically all their feeding.

While immature the insects are called nymphs. The adults are more conspicuous than the nymphs and are especially noticeable at the time the grapes are being harvested. They are then very annoying because they get into the mouths, ears and noses of the pickers. At this time they fly about especially on warm and calm days during the latter part of the season, and drift to other vines or to grass fields, brush land and thickets. in fact, they seek any place that will shelter them during the winter.

The leaf-hopper survives the winter in greatest numbers in dry localities and is absent from low-lying lands, such as clay and some of the loam soils. On the higher soils there is no winter flooding and the rains soon drain away, thus offering the most desirable winter quarters. Here the 'eaf-hopper abounds.

That certain vineyards are more susceptible to attacks by the leaftopper is a common observation. The legree of infestation of vineyards is, Situations in which dead weeds or stream, blackberries and raspberries, The grape leaf-hopper belongs to determine the relative amount of leaf-hopper injury to the vines.

When the nymphs and adults of the summer brood inflict much injury, owing to numbers, considerable damage is done by the hibernating adults in the spring since they attack the young foliage, causing yellowing of the leaves. This damage to the young grape foliage by the adults is needless, however, and can largely be prevented by burning over the winter quarters of the insects, which will destroy the greater portion of them.

Chemical analysis of grapes taken from sprayed and unsprayed vines show that the fruit from vines protected from the leaf-hopper is superior to fruit from vines subjected to the attacks of this pest. Analyses of grapes from sprayed vines give a gain of from 8 to 68 per cent, in sugar over those from untreated vines, while the unsprayed grapes had from 0 to 10.6 per cent, more acid than the sprayed grapes. The color of the grapes from sprayed vines was darker and richer. This shows that spraying, properly done, will minimize the injury by the leaf-hopper. Experiments in New York during 1912 showed that "Black Leaf 40" (50 per cent. nicotine), one part to 1,600 parts of water or bordeaux mixture, is an efficient spray for the leaf-hopper. The spraying must be done at the time when the maximum number of nymphs are present. One must judge the time by watching the development of the insects. Sufficient spray mixture must trees collect, provide the very best be used to drench the insects and the conditions for the wintering of the under sides of the leaves must be leaf-hoppers. TURKISH TRADE MARKS

AZAR" TAKES PLACE OF AMER ICAN DEPARTMENT STORE.

Business Done.

Bazars take the place of departmen stores in Bagdad. The word "bazar' means bargain, but in the Turkish sense it is generally applied to a series of shops forming a continuous row on both sides of a thoroughfare. As Turkish streets are narrow, often only eight or ten feet wide, congestion results. The shops themselves are small, the more commodious being only eight by ten feet, and the smaller five by six feet. One whole side opens on the street.

In Bagdad, writes the American consul, bazars are divided into several elasses, according to the location and the wares sold. The classification fol-

Karia bashi is the name of the bazar where groceries, candies and liquids are sold. Sug-el-shorga is where fruits and vegetables are sold. The name is also applied to the district, and it is generally understood that the drug stores are in the bazar sug-elshorga, though it is so only by accident. In the sug-el-sarai wearing apparel, haberdashery, antiques and rugs are sold. Sug-el-chukhechi is the bazar where Bagdad-made cloth, such as prints, calico and silk goods, is sold. Yemenchia is the bazar where native shoes are manufactured and sold. Sug-el-sefafir is the coppersmith bazar. The copper is heated and worked while hot inside the shops, but the cold sheet copper is hammered into shape out in the street.

Bab-el-agha is occupied by the blacksmiths, tinsmiths and carpenters. The blacksmiths make chains, nails, locks and horse and donkey shoes. The tinsmiths manufacture tin vessels, pots, water cans and lanterns. The carpenters make practically all the furniture used there and coffins, doors and door and window frames.

Different bazars are segregated in different parts of the city, and the district often takes the name of the bazar. Some bazars are also named after the district in which they are situated, there being no sharp divisions of the bazar according to the material sold. An example is the buzar Sug-el-hanoon in the Jewish district, which is said to be patronized by Jews only. In each bazar there is a khan for every ten or twelve shops. These khans are two stories high and rooms on the four sides all opening Most of the scenes are interiors, and from his store last week Wednesday into the court. "Offenberg was the first city to erect a monument of this kind. The upper part consists of a statue of Sir Francis Drake, who introduced the plant into Europe. This, as well as the pedestal, is draped with garlands of the potato vine, with full-grown tu-bers attached. On the pedestal, on one side, is Sir Francis Drake's name, the second side explains what a blessing the potato has been to mankind, the third records that the statue is the gift of a certain Andrew Frederick of Strasburg. The fourth contains the names of the erectors. A statue similar to this is placed in the town of Murz. and I have been told that there are other copies in many small towns."

and Pauline Buhl met at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hadley, in Washtenaw county, August 20. The day dawned bright and clear, and was one to be remembered. The guests began to arrive early from Lansing, Wacousta, Mt. Pleasant, Reums, Potterville, Diamondale, Plainfield, Iosco, Gregory and Unadilla. After hand-shaking, pleasant greeting and general getting acquainted, dinner was announced, and sixty guests set down to a chicken pie dinner and all of the other good things that go to make up a feast. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in singing, storytelling and games, which passed the time all to quickly. Then followed the election of officers and plans for the coming year.

was passed at five o'clock in the afternoon, after which came the good-byes and hoping we shall all meet next year with our newly elect-ed president. Each and every one who was detained at home and could not be with us missed a delightful time, for aunt and uncle know how to entertain royally.

Hoping our ranks will not be broken and no harm come to any of us, that we may meet again. A hearty invitation is extended to all present and those of the relatives not present to come to Wacousta August 20, 1914.
