Plugged Them Through the Window. Chelsea for the past week or ten days has been the news center for all of the large dailies of the state and from the latest reports is probably a good field for the reporters for several days to come.

The latest of the series of events that has taken place during the past week occurred about midnight Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Traub on North street.

Three men called at the home and Mrs. Traub was aroused by what appeaerd to be someone trying to gain an entrance to the house. Mr. Traub, who works on the main street crossing as watchman, is on duty nights and his wife and son are the sole occupants of the home. Mrs. Traubgot busy with a revolver and fired five shots through the bedroom window and one through the front door. She claims that she shot the man at the front door.

It is believed that the prowlers are nembers of the crew of Italian labor ers who occupy the cars on the sidetrack of the Michigan Central and are working for the company. Three of them were met on North street going west just before the shooting took place.

Officer Cooper visited the scene but the birds had flown when he reached the Traub home, and as their cars are near the location they had ample time to get away before the alarm could be sounded. Railway detectives and officers from the sheriff's office made an investigation Monday but their efforts were fruitless.

It is about time this crew of undesirable men were shipped away from here, as almost from the first day they located in this place more or less petty thieving has been reported and the citizens of Chelsea are getting considerably stirred up over the events that have been taking place the past few days.

WAS IT MURDER?

Dead Body of Mrs. Elizabeth Stapish Found in Barn Last Thursday.

Sheriff Stark and his deputies were in Wayne and Inkster on Tuesday and at Grass Lake on Wednesday working on information that some of the Italian laborers at those places were connected with the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Stapish: Five men at Grass Lake are under suspicion and another near Detroit will probably have to prove his whereabouts on the day her death occurred. The Sheriff's office is working on the theory that murder has been committed.

Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Stapish, whose body was found in the barn at her home on west Middle street about five o'clock last Thursday evening.

The last seen of Mrs. Stapish alive by the neighbors was the previous Tuesday when she returned from the business part of the village where she had made a purchase of meat. On Nordman, called at the Stapish home to be kept for reference during the in the forenoon and not finding her, year. concluded that she was away on an errand. Again in the afternoon Mrs. Nordman called but was unable to arouse any one, however she found the back door open. A short time afterwards several of the neighborhood ladies visited the Stapish home and entering the house made a search without results and they also looked in the barn but their efforts were of no avail. The ladies called Frank Brooks to their aid but he was unsuccessful.

Deputy Sheriff McKune and Village Marshal Cooper were called, who accompanied by Howard Brooks went to the Stapish home and took up the search. After going through the house the officers visited the barn Chelsea Standard of the date of Au-The deceased was united in mar- gust 13, 1908, over her face, her legs riage with Edgar Doyle, in Dexter, on were tied with a double strand of Justice Witherell was called to the Stapish home, and acting as coroner impaneled the following as jurors: Last Sunday evening while at the Howard Brooks, Frank Brooks, H. E. D., J. & C. waiting room L. H. Hinde- Cooper, J. E. McKune, Joseph Haetday afternoon.

The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of F. Staffan & Son, where the physicians made a thorough examination on Friday night. The remins were buried in Mt. Olivet cemetery Saturday afternoon.

The inquest was held in the town hall Saturday afternoon and the testimony of several person was taken. Prosecuting Attorney and several from the sheriff's office were present. The inquest brought out the fact, according to the testimony of Mrs. Alice Nordman, that the door of the barn in which the body was found was hooked on the outside. She was very positive on this point, but failed to remember that in opening the door it was necessary to lift it over a stone doorsill. She said that on Thursday she went three times to the house of Mrs. Stapish, taking neigbors with her the last time, and went into the barn looking for her, before calling the officers.

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized phonograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the phonograph. She suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the phonograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The Cowboys are fillarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, glee club singer from sweetheart, becomes interested in the los his place. Fresno, glee club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to discredit. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the gunman, declares the trainer will go back east packed in ice, if Speed fails, A telegram comes from Covington saying he is in jail at Omaha for ten days, Glass in a panic forces Speed to begin training in earnest. Speed declares to Larry that the best way out is for him (Speed) to injure himself. Glass won't stand for it. Glass forces Speed out at sunrise to practice running.

Along the road toward the ranch buildings plodded two dusty pedestrians, one a blond youth bundled thickly in sweaters, the other a fat man who rolled heavily, and paused now and then to mop his purple face. Both were dripping as if from an immersion, while the air about the latter vibrated with heat waves. They both stumbled as they walked, and it was only by the strongest effort of will that they propelled themselves. As they neared the corner of the big, lowlying ranch-house, already reflecting the hot glare of the morning sun, a man's clear tenor voice came to them.

The volley was fired at sunrise, Just at the break of day"

"Oh, no; you don't get pneumony but once." "And, besides," Fresno added, "it wouldn't have time to show up Saturday." "Get that ice-chest out of my room, that's all; it makes the air damp." "No indeed!" said Still Bill. "We're goin' to see that you use it reg'lar." Then of Glass he inquired: "What do you do to him next?" (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Blessing of Contentment. Charles Tellier, the inventor of cold storage, was banqueted in Paris at the age of eighty-five years.

"Tellier," said a New York correspondent, "has now been granted a pension, but up to now he was poor almost to the starvation point. He could not even afford cold storage by the pound?"

"I interviewed him on his poverty, and he lit up the interview with an epigram. "'I was never really unhappy,' he

INTERRUPTED STORY. ART'S DISCOURAGEMENTS.

Supper was in progress and the father was telling about a row which took place in front of his store that morning. "The first thing I saw was one man deal the other a sounding blow, and then a crowd gathered. LIGHTNING FROM FOG BAN

Captain of Pacific Coast Schooner Tells of Strange Bombardment of His Vessel.

Capt. A. Sunderberg of the steam schooner Wasp, which plies between Seattle and California ports, reports a strange experience at sea on Augusti. In a report made to the Hydrographic office Captain Sunderbox says that at 10 p. m., when six miles east by south of Point Conception, his vessel ran into a thick fog back which hung close to the water. Without the fog rising in the lesst, violent electric storm broke out, and for one hour and 14 minutes the blanket of heavy mist was pierced continually by discharges of atmospheric electricity and vivid flashes of angular zigzag and forked lightning. At 12:25 a. m., August 8, the steel foremast of the Wasp became charged with electricity from the top down to the spring stay. Captain Sunderberg says this was not the usual display of St. Blmo ire as the mast gave out as if from a powerful wireless appear-

tus. While the vessel was bombarded by main mast, her officers and crew

VALUE AND EXTENT OF COAL IN MICHIGAN DETERMINED BY EXPERTS.

WAGES HIGHER THAN IN OTHER FIELDS.

Attorney General Passes On Points in the Pray Law and Holds That It Applies to Local Option Counties Only.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing, Mich.-State geologist, R. C. Allen and the board of state tax commissioners have completed a tentative appraisal of the coal land and coal mines of Saginaw and Bay coun- clined to the opinion that they would ties. Nearly all of the developed coal not be included within the provisions beds in the state are contained in of this section. Where, however, those two counties, although coal has they do conduct the business of transbeen mined in a number of other localities outside of these two counties my opinion that they would come un in the past and some operations are in progress at the present time in of the proven coal areas are in the counties of Saginaw and Bay.

A. Smith and he has satisfied the commission that he is thoroughly compedetail the location, acreage, thickness, tonnage and quality of every known bed of minable coal in Saginaw and Bay counties. They also have made a careful investigation of the financial operations of the coal companies. They have submitted a report in which they have given a full description of the Michigan field and have explained carefully all of the conditions, both physical and financial, which govern the mining of coal in Michigan and have made comparisons with such coal producing states as Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Ohio. All this work has been done for the purpose of making a precise determination of the value of a ton of coal in the ground in Michigan. Coal beds have been divided into two classes, those which are now being mined and those which have been developed by drilling but from which coal has not yet been produced. Coal beds that are too thin to be mined, or of such at any price have been excluded as worthless. In general, it appears from the investigations which have been made that the Michigan coal bed must be at least 30 inches thick in order to be mined at a profit. The recovery from a bed of coal on the average is about 1000 tons per acre foot. This is, 1000 tons is obtained from an acre of coal one foot thick, although in order to be mined the coal must be at least 30 inches thick. A bed of this thickness will produce about 2,500 tons per acre.

The appraisers find that there exists in Saginaw and Bay counties a total of 23,795,000 tons of coal which has been developed by drilling or underground entries which are yet unmined. Of this amount 5,620,000 tons are tributary to shafts which are now in operation and 18,200,000 tons are in the beds which have not yet been opened for mining operations. The investigation also shows the very interesting fact that if the mines produce at the average rate of production which has been maintained during the past five years the total minable coal beds now known in these countles will be exhausted in 15 years. Further than this, Geologist Allen says that the coal which is now tributary to operating shafts will be exhausted in four years at the same rate, providing the undeveloped reserves are not drawn upon.

made in the report which has been submitted to the state tax commission by the appraisers of the geological survey, it is concluded that the minable coal beas which are tributary to the hands of receivers appointed by mines now in operation, are worth on the United States court, the sate railan average of $450 per acre and the corresponding value of coal beds which have no shafts or other underground entries in them is worth $100 per acre. There are 1,575 acres of proven coal tributary to operating shafts and 5,601 acres of coal which has not been opened up by shafts or underground entries. Geologist Allen places a tentative valuation of $561,-000 on the coal properties of Saginaw county and $689,000 on the Bay countv mines.

As a final result of the calculations

This value includes in all cases the value of the mine plant, the machinery and equipment, but it does not include in any case the surface value of the acreage such as farm lands, or real estate such as buildings which are net a part of the actual mine plant.

State Geologist Allen finds that the wages and general social conditions surrounding the Michigan coal miner are better than are found elsewhere in the United States, and while the cest per ton of mining coal in Michigan is higher on account of, among other things the higher wages paid to the miner, the industry has a commendable position in maintaining a relatively high standard of wages and of reduced profits to the operators.

In an opinion rendered to Prosecutsome phases of the Pray bill passed at the last session of the legislature which apparently have been overlooked so far and the information which was secured by Hayden in order to answer several questions proposed by the Lansing Brewing company, will probably serve as a guide to other oreweries and liquor dealers in Mich-

The Lansing Brewing company asked whether a man engaged in the draying business and able to comply with all the other requirements of the Pray bill can transport liquor without violating the law. "By express provision this section only includes railroads, express and transportation companies within this state, or doing business within this state," says Fellows. "The word company as used in this instance does not necessarily mean a corporation. However, as to individual draymen whose business is confined to a particular city or village where they are located, and who do not conduct the business of transporting goods from town to town or from county to county, I am inporting goods from town to town, it is der the terms of the section."

In answer to Hayden's query as to other counties. However, Geologist | whether beer paid for in Lansing can Allen says that more than 90 per cent be shipped into "dry" territory, Attorney General Fellows says the question of where the beer is paid for it not In making the appraisals of the coal material in determining whether or properties the tax commission secured not there was a violation of law. the services of State Geologist R. C. "Where the intoxicating liquor is Allen. Mr. Allen was assisted in this bought and paid for and delivered to work by Assistant State Geologist R. the purchaser within territory where such sale would be legal and lawfu?, and the purchaser then takes the tent to supervise this work. The ap-liquor with him into prohibited terripraisers have made maps showing in tory, there would be no violation of the law so far as the vendor is concerned, but if the vender goes further and ships the consignment to the vendee without complying with the requirements of the act, there would doubtless be a violation regardless of the fact as to where the liquor was paid for and the sale completed. "Fellows also holds that the Pray bill applies only to local option counties."

> Governor Ferris has asked Auditor General Fuller to prepare a statement showing Michigan's financial condition at the present time and according to figures prepared by the auditor general there is about $1,250,000 available in the general fund.

However, it is claimed that if the various state institutions call for their appropriations before the first of the year the state will be approximaely $500,000 in debt and the board of state auditors cannot borrow more than $250,000. It is not thought, however, that Michigan will go "broke this year, as an effort will be made to induce some of the state institutions to wait until after the first of the year for a portion of their money.

In case the institutions refuse to wait it has been suggested that the auditor general refuse payment and make them start proceedings in the supreme court to force payment. It s unlikely, however, that it will be necessary to resort to drastic measures as the various institutions have always shown a disposition to co-operate with the auditor general when there is a scarcity of cash.

When the bills of the military board were totalled September 17 it was found that the cost of maintaining the state troops in the copper country has been $215.549.90 and it is said that there are some outstanding bills not included in this list.

The state railroad commission has ssued an order requiring the Pere Marquette to restore its daily passenger service between Elmdale and Freeport which was discontinued some ime ago.

the Michigan Central R. R. to reduce its rate on gravel from Roscommon to Grayling from 40 to 30 cents per ton. When the Michigan Central was given its right of way it was stipulated that gravel would be hauled for 25 cents per ton and the shippers objected to the commission when the rates were raised several weeks ago.

Despite the fact that a railroad is in road commission has authority to isare ordinarily served upon railroads by the state commission, according to a ruling by Attorney General Fellows. This ruling applies particularly to the Pere Marquette.

Roland Mosher, of Mt. Clemens, and Ellsworth O. Elmer, of Devereaux, have been appointed as sugar beet inspectors by Dairy and Food Commisisoner Helme. Their salaries will be $150 per month and expenses.

money was in her purse. Thomas E. Shaffer, an inspector in the state fire marshal's department says there is a burning need for inbuild good roads. spection of theaters in some sections of the state. In fact he found a theatre in Paletka in flames when he went to inspect it.

Application has been made to the state railroad commission by the Tri-State Railway company, of Michigan, for permission to incorporate for $100,000 and construct an electric line from Pioneer, O., to Hillsdale, Mich. The incorporators of the new company are Charles H. Heller, Miles T. Davis relatively high standard of wages and are Charles H. That's What Every Cne Says Who Tries

N'I imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same

Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you mu black it every few days. It's not a question of oft-repeated application. It's a question of the stove polish to use.

Black Silk Stove Polish is so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison—it's in a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant glossy shine that does not rub or dust of . It anneals the iron—becomes a part of the stove. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine.

Get a can and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you car used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 30 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

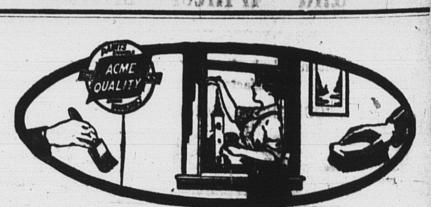

"I sent to you for a can of Black Silk Stove Polish and found it so much better than any I had ever used that I asked my hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling nearly everyone in the place your polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in stove polishes."

"I was visited."

"I was visiting friends and they used Black Silk Stove Polish on their stoves, made the best shine I ever saw, and after blacking, the polish did not rub or dust off. is way ahead of any polish I have ever used." Ask Your Dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand not have the best. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Ill. Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel for grates, fenders, registers, stove pipes, etc. Prevents rusting. Not affected by heat or cold. Produces a permanent glossy black surface. Can, with brush for applying enamel, only 25 cents. Ask your dealer. ware or tinware. It has no equal for use on automobiles
