State School for Farmers.

Michigan farmers are to be given the opportunity by the Michigan Agricultural college to go to school at home. Plans have been completed looking to the establishment in each county where the farmers desire it of a county school to last a week, with discussions of such topics as live stock, crops, soil, dairying, bee keeping, etc., led by college instructors. To put the plan in operation 25 or more farmers in each county must agree to pay $1 each for the instruction, and a local organization must make all the arrangements and obtain a room suitable for holding the school sessions. Soil will be examined, special local conditions will be studied and efforts will be made to make the course of specific rather than general interest. President Snyder is urging the farmers to write their congressmen urging the passage of the Lever bill, which will obtain for Michigan within ten years an annual income of $100,000 for farm extension work.

Big Judgment.

A judgment for $93,622.23 given a surety company against former State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier by Judge Kline Monday is the largest judgment ever recorded in Washtenaw county.

The amount represents what the surety company paid to the state as the result of Glazier's defalcations while state treasurer, this company having furnished bonds to the extent of $150,000. Of this amount the company paid the state $75,000.46 as its share of the $985,000 of Glazier's indebtedness. The company sued for $120,000, including interest to date, and the $15,000 of liabilities which other surety companies had turned over.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

LUTHER L. WRIGHT IS PLACED AT HEAD OF FLINT INSTITUTION.

SUCCESSOR AS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT REPUBLICAN.

Interesting Process of Taking White Fish Spawns From Detroit River Now in Progress.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing—Superintendent of public instruction Luther L. Wright tendered his resignation to Governor Ferris last week and has been appointed superintendent of the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint, succeeding Dr. Francis Clarke, deceased. Immediately following the resignation of Superintendent Wright the appointment of Fred L. Keeler, of Mt. Pleasant, as superintendent of public instruction was announced at the executive office. Keeler is a republican, and has been deputy superintendent of public instruction for the past five years.

These appointments which are considered the most important made during the administration of Governor Ferris came as a decided surprise to official Lansing. Wright was re-elected superintendent of public instruction at the spring election for a term of four years, and no one here, with the exception of Governor Ferris and a few of Wright's most intimate friends had the slightest inkling of the proposed change. For some time Governor Ferris had been looking for a suitable man to succeed Dr. Clarke as the head of the big institution at Flint, but it was thought that the place would be filled by a democrat. Wright is a prominent republican and has been mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility. The appointment was made as a recognition of Superintendent Wright's efficient service in the educational department of the state government, while Keeler, who is also a republican, was promoted to the head of the department of public instruction because the governor regards him as the logical man for the place.

The new superintendent of public instruction was appointed as deputy under Wright, July 1, 1908. He is 41 years of age and was born in Washtenaw county. His entire life, since leaving the University of Michigan where he was graduated from the literary department in 1893, has been spent in educational work. In 1894 Keeler returned to the university and was engaged in post-graduate work for a year.

After leaving the university he was principal of the high school at Houghton for a year and when the state normal school was opened at Mt. Pleasant, Keeler was the first teacher engaged by the board. For thirteen years he was in charge of the science department at the Mt. Pleasant state normal. His work in the department of public instruction during the past five years has won him considerable praise from educators in all parts of the state. Wright's resignation takes effect November 13.

Luther L. Wright, the new superintendent of the Flint institution needs but little introduction to the people of Michigan as he has been in public life in Michigan for a number of years. He was born in Canton, New York, January 18, 1856. He was graduated from Ripon college, Wisconsin. He was county commissioner of schools in Gogebic county for five successive terms and for twenty years was superintendent of schools at Ironwood. In 1901 he was appointed as a member of the state board of education to fill a vacancy and was re-elected in 1902. In 1906 he was nominated and elected as superintendent of public instruction and has held the position ever since. In 1908 he received the degree of master of arts from the university of Michigan.

Although comparatively few persons are aware of the fact, the taking of white fish spawn from the Detroit river, is one of the most important of the varied activities of the state game and fish department. Deputy State Game Warden D. R. Jones and James Hunter of the game warden's department have begun their annual task of gathering some 90,000,000 white fish eggs at points near Bell Isle and Grassy Island in the Detroit river. About 40 men, including the government experts are employed in the work and it will require about three weeks to complete the task. The big gasoline tug "Cleo" owned by the state department, is used in the work.

At this season of the year the fish come up the Detroit river from Lake Erie to spawn. Big seines are used to gather the fish, and as soon as they are taken from the water, the males and females are placed in separate crates and anchored in the river again. Then, when the proper time arrives, men who are experts in this line of work take the eggs from the female fish while they are still alive, place them in cans and ship them to the government hatchery in Detroit. When the fish are hatched out they are again placed in the Detroit river and in this way an inexhaustible supply of white fish is assured.

After the eggs are taken the fish are sold by the state to defray a portion of the expense. Each female fish will give up 40,000 eggs, or about one quart. Of course, many eggs are lost in handling, but James Hunter, who has supervised this work for the state during the past few years, says that 90,000,000 eggs will probably be taken during the next few weeks.

Owing to the fact that a white fish will not bite an artificial bait, they are placed in the inland streams and lakes. The expense of propagating white fish in the great lakes comes largely out of the federal government.

The industrial accident board states that the Michigan compensation act cost employers of this state $387,098.00 from January 1 to October 1 in adjusting 7,590 accidents of minor personal injuries. These claims were reported to the board by 1,571 employers representing 17.5 per cent of the employers operating under the statute at the close of the first fiscal year.

The injured employees constituted 1.6 per cent of the total number of workers covered by the compensation act. The automobile industry shows the highest cost per accident $67.16, while transportation is second with an average of $66.56. The industries classed under food products show the lowest average cost $35.73. Exclusive of transportation Wayne county is credited with 37.2 per cent of all the compensation paid. The three counties paying the highest amounts of compensation are Wayne, $145,017.74; Houghton $39,574 and Kent $18,608.59.

Among the industries the highest amount of compensation was paid by the manufacturers of automobiles to the total of $67,165.90; transportation second with $54,109.94; copper mining third with $37,921.48. The miscellaneous division including a large number of unclassified industries are fourth with $37,218.07; lumbering fifth with $36,921.52; construction sixth with $34,518.73; iron mining $30,540.36. Coal mining brings up the rear with a total of $2,168.45 paid out in the ninth months in the adjustment of accidents.

Mrs. Hazel Green, widow of Private Ora H. Green, of Battery A First Michigan Field Artillery whose death resulted from injuries received while on strike duty in the copper country, has been awarded $1,800 by the board of state auditors. Owing to the fact that national guardsmen while on strike duty are not protected by the workmen's compensation law, the state board of auditors is authorized by separate statute to pay compensation. Mrs. Green will receive $25 per month until the entire amount is paid. Owing to the fact that the state paid Green's burial expenses, the amount the state paid through the board of auditors is larger than the widow would have received through the compensation board.

During the month of September 5, 269 births and 3,304 deaths were reported to Secretary of State Martindale. There was an increase of 159 deaths and a decrease of 475 births last month as compared to the report for August. Cancer caused 180 deaths, tuberculosis in its various forms claimed 188, and 190 deaths were due to violence.

As the result of an opinion handed down by Attorney General Fellows, there is little likelihood of the state erecting a house of correction for short-term prisoners at Bay City, as the attorney general has ruled that the supervisors of Bay county have no right to call an election to vote on a proposed bond issue of $50,000 with which to purchase a site for the proposed prison, to be given the state.

The attorney-general holds that the act itself does not give the county the right to issue bonds for the purchase of the site and if it did give that right, it would be ineffective because the proposed bonding of the county would be held invalid, as it would not be for county purposes, but to turn over to the state.

During the last legislature, when the question of the state building a house of correction was brought up, Bay county, among others, was eager to secure the institution and offered the state a free site if the prison were located in that county. Acting on this plan, the legislature appropriated $1 for the purchase of the property, this action being necessary to make the legal transfer of the property from the county to the state. One hundred thousand dollars was also appropriated to erect buildings and equip them. The board of supervisors conferred with the board of control named by the governor for the proposed new prison, and all seemed well until the question arose as to the legality of the county issuing bonds.

This ruling does away with the gift proposition and as the appropriation is inadequate to purchase the land and erect the buildings, it looks as though the project for the new prison would have to be put over until the legislature meets again.

CALLS ATTENTION TO CONSTITUTION

SECRETARY OF STATE SHOWS HOW PROVISIONS ARE IGNORED.

RELATIVE TO CREATING REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICTS.

No City or Township May Be Divided Yet East Lansing Has Been in Two Districts for Several Years.

Lansing, Mich.—Secretary of State Martindale calls attention to section 3, article 5 of the constitution, which provides that in every county entitled to more than one state representative, the board of supervisors shall assemble at such time and place as shall be prescribed by law, divide the same into representative districts equal to the number of representatives to which the county is entitled by law, and shall cause to be filed in the office of the secretary of state and clerk of such county a description of such representative districts, specifying the number of each district and population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration. The state constitution says no city or township shall be divided in the formation of a representative district.

East Lansing has been divided for years, ever since Ingham county was entitled to two representatives districts, and Prosecuting Attorney Hayden has called the attention of the board of supervisors to the provisions of the constitution. The last legislative redistricted the state, making many changes and there are a number of counties whose boards of supervisors must divide the counties into districts. The law says that boards of supervisors shall meet the second Monday in October, and may continue in session for 15 days, so there is little time left for boards of supervisors to make the necessary changes as follows: Wayne, Kent, Houghton, Saginaw, Bay, Berrien, Calhoun, Genesee, Ingham, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Marquette, Oakland, Ottawa, St. Clair and Washtenaw.

Three additional representatives were added to Wayne county, and the board of supervisors will have to determine how many of these will be added to what Detroit city now has.

The Valuations in Wayne County.

Detroit, Mich.—The Board of supervisors placed the taxing valuation on Wayne county property, approving the work of the equalization committee. The value of Detroit for county and state taxing purposes was placed at $490,425,120. All Wayne county, including Detroit, was put at $585,195,454. Townships' share was $94,771,034. The different townships: Brownstown, $1,998,781; Canton, $1,303,341; Dearborn, $2,852,339; Ecorse, $11,072,975; Grosse Pointe, $16,550,258; Hamtramck, $19,662,933; Huron, $895,604; Livonia, $1,161,407; Montclair, $3,938,967; Nankin, $1,990,161; Northville, $1,602,252; Plymouth, $2,076,159; Redford, $2,287,938; Romulus, $1,046,097; Springwells, $3,158,914; Sumpter, $671,004; Taylor, $899,358; Van Buren, $1,459,384; Wyandotte, $5,231,943.

Large Verdict Is Given.

Ann Arbor—Judge Kinne rendered a verdict for $93,622.22 in favor of the Title Guaranty Surety Co. of Detroit in their case against Frank G. Glazier, ex-state treasurer of Michigan.

The Title Guaranty Co. was on the board of Glazier for $150,000 when he was state treasurer. It contends after he defaulted in his duties to the state it had to pay to the state the sum of $70,590.46 as its share of the $655,000 of Glazier's indebtedness, and it has been put to further indebtedness in this matter to the amount of $12,000. It is also alleged Glazier had agreed to repay part of this bond.

Mr. Glazier did not appear in court.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Milbourn, pioneer residents, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their farm home in Hamlin township, nearly 100 guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Milbourn have spent all of their married life in Eaton county.

The state highway commission recommended that taxes in Clinton county be raised two mills to raise $40,000 for building highways and presented the recommendation to the board of supervisors. The commission also recommended that a highway be built from St. Johns to Fowler. The supervisors adopted the recommendation that taxes be raised.

Mrs. Esther Renham, of Detroit, president of the Michigan Child Welfare league, organized a Saginaw branch of the society.

The sale of the Cutting Motor Co., of Jackson, Mich., was confirmed on Saturday morning in Detroit before Judge Joslyn, referee in bankruptcy. Harris Brothers Co., of Chicago and Detroit have purchased all the plants and equipment. M. Rothchild, representing the purchasers, stated that the plants will be continued in operation by them and cars be produced as heretofore.

WEDS AMERICAN SUITOR

The marriage of Miss Katherine Elkins to Mr. William Hitt puts an end to a long romance. Gossip has said for years that the marriage of the West Virginia belle to the Duke of the Abruzzi was only prevented by the stern disapproval of the king of Italy.

MAY SOON WITHDRAW SOLDIERS

Local Authorities Have Strike Situation Well in Hand and Little Disorder Is Reported.

Calumet, Mich.—No further serious trouble is anticipated, and the force of militia likely will be cut in two soon. Another two weeks will probably see all the soldiers gone home. The mining companies continue to import men.

Another proposition to bring to an end the strike was turned down Monday by the operators because it involved, in an indefinite way, recognition of the Western Federation of Miners. The proposition was presented by two leading democrats of northern Michigan, both strong Ferris men, Circuit Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, of Laurium, and James J. Byers, former sheriff of Houghton county and a wealthy contractor and lumberman. They plan to confer with strike leaders again and later with the operators, when another proposition will be presented, Judge O'Brien says.

Circuit Judge O'Brien plans to bring contempt proceedings against the Miners' Bulletin, said to be edited by Guy Miller, of the Federation of Miners' executive council, because of an attack on him.

Another Wreck on New Haven.

Westerly, R. I.—Fifteen persons were injured, one woman seriously, when the Gilt Edge express, from New York for Boston, over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, went off the track on a curve a mile and a half east of Westerly. Heavy rain is believed to have undermined the roadbed, causing the rails to spread.

Episcopal Close Meeting.

New York.—The triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church adjourned Saturday afternoon after a session which had brought forth of the important results anticipated, although many matters were disposed of. Others were definitely put over till the next convention.

Precautions for the stilling and care of cows during the winter have been summed up on printed instructions and are being distributed to the farmers of the state by State Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme. The instructions make clear the importance of clean stalls in relation to pure milk.

Mayor Bailey, of Battle Creek, has served notice on the Commonwealth Power company and on the Grand Trunk Western railroad immediately to raise two bridges over the Kalamazoo river, on the ground that in their present condition they will menace the city in event of another spring flood next year.

The Michigan Central railroad has announced that it intends to construct new car shops and build a new freight depot at Bay City and that ground will be broken in a few weeks. The work will cost more than $500,000. The road has just spent about three-quarters of a million for new round houses and yards at this point.

President W. S. Linton, Saginaw board of trade, has appointed a committee of 15 to promote a campaign for pure water. The common council committee has started a movement to obtain a filtration plant, and both business and municipal bodies promise to unite so the Saginaw public shall not depend on corner pumps for drinking water.

The board of supervisors of Dickinson county has authorized the sheriff to offer rewards of $25 for the arrest of all men wanted on charges of wife desertion. The rewards will be paid by the county.

George L. Price has tendered his resignation as assistant secretary of the state industrial accident board. He will accept a position as secretary of the Copper Country Commercial Club. Mr. Price was a newspaper man before going to Lansing, having been managing editor of the Hancock Mining Journal.

HUERTA RETAINS DICTATORSHIP

ELECTION IN MEXICO FAILS TO SHOW CONSTITUTIONAL MAJORITY.

VERY LIGHT VOTE IS POLLED IN REPUBLIC.

England Announces That She Will Take No Further Steps Without Consulting Policy of United States.

Mexico City—This city took on the appearance of an armed camp as returns from scattered election districts made it certain that no candidate had received a majority of the votes cast in the presidential contest. Though no disorders attended the balloting here Sunday, and there was no disturbance during the night, troops were brought into the city at dawn to prevent riots on promulgation of official announcement from the government that the balloting had resulted in "no election."

The result of the election means that Victoriano Huerta will remain in office as president. In the returns that have been received thus far Federico Gamboa, former minister of foreign affairs, and Felix Diaz are running a close race, but the number of votes cast is less than one-third of the total voting strength of the republic, which is required by the constitution to make an election legal.

The outstanding feature of the election is the fact that it has only strengthened Huerta in his position as dictator. That Huerta had no doubt that the election would fall was borne out by his decree increasing the strength of the Mexican army from 80,000 to 150,000.

Prescriptions that the election would be a farce were fully borne out by the scenes at the polling places on Sunday. In some precincts not a vote was cast, and latest figures indicate that not more than 4,000 were cast for all the candidates in the federal district, although there are 80,000 registered voters in that section of the republic alone.

Before taking any further steps in regard to Mexico, England intends to await the results of the elections in that country and also information as to the policy of the United States.

Information was given out at the foreign office that nothing would be done without consultation with the United States.

Mrs. Pankhurst at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British militant suffragette, spoke Saturday night to an audience which taxed the capacity of Gray's armory. Although Cleveland suffragists refused to take part in arrangements for the meeting, many crowded into the hall to listen to her address on "The Humanitarian Aspect of Suffrage."

Governor Cox, who was here, was asked to introduce the famous militant, but he was forced to return to Columbus early and was unable to attend. Lieut.-Gov. W. A. Greenlund introduced her at the governor's request.

Woman May Be Police Chief.

Chicago.—A woman for chief of police is being seriously considered by Mayor Harrison. The mayor has not made known his choice for successor to Chief McWeeny, resigned, but it is stated that Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton looms large in the mayor's canvas.

Mrs. Britton is a woman of independent means, who has for years been prominent as a social worker. She is familiar with police work; is a member of the police examining board of the city civil service commission, and lectures in the police schools.

War Ships Start on Curise.

Hampton Roads.—Bearing the greetings of the new world to the old, nine dreadnoughts of the Atlantic fleet started Saturday on their way from Hampton Roads to the Mediterranean. The sombre garbed war machines, carrying thousands of the American sailor men, received the final nod of farewell from the Dolphin, bearing Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, and slid slowly out between the protecting capes into the open sea—the course due east.

Hal Warner, 21 years old, of Kalamazoo, is dead as the result of being hurt in a football game. The boy's heart was injured by a fall, say physicians.

Asleep on the Northwestern tracks near Beaver, Elzear David, a woodsman, was struck by a passenger train and killed.

Unconquerable Cat.

There is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast came the slave of man or else he was one only refused to flee or to submit. This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat. When some animals came man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. He simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer, and refused to do one lick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will fawn on you. Beat a cat and it will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.

ECZEMA ON BACK AND CHEST

Pierson, N. Dakota.—"The eczema started on my scalp. It finally went on to the back of my neck, then on to my back, arms and chest. It broke out in pimples first and then seemed to run together in some places, making a sore about the size of a dime. At times the itching and burning were so intense that it seemed unbearable. The more I scratched it the worse it became, and there would be a slight discharge from it, especially on my scalp, so as to make my hair matted and sticky close to the scalp. The hair was dry, lifeless and thin. My hair was falling so terribly that I had begun to despair of ever finding relief. My clothing irritated the eruption on my back. The affected parts were almost a solid scab."

"I had been bothered with eczema for about a year and a half. Then I began using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them daily for two months and I was cured." (Signed) Miss Mildred Dennis, Apr. 30, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: Postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

Gentle Hint. "Pardon me," said the waiter, "I believe that newspaper you are reading is yesterday's."

The patient gazed stoned. "Mayhap, mayhap!" he replied, "but it was today's I am sure when I gave you my order."

But the serving-person, being dermatologically prepared for such remarks, refused to hurry.

Red Cross Ball Blue. All blue, best thing value in the whole world, makes the lady dress smile. Ad.

Test of Temper.

"Cows are placid animals." "Indeed they are! Observe what patience and forbearance they show when thumped in the ribs by flying golf balls."

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized photograph by the defeat of the Centipede ranch. A house party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the photograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, a club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to discredit Speed with the ladies and the cowboys. Speed and Glass put in the time they are supposed to be training playing cards in a secluded spot. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the gunman, declares the trainer will go back and back in ice. If Speed fails, a telegram comes from Covington saying he is in jail at Omaha for ten days. Glass is a partner for Speed to begin training in earnest. The cowboys force Speed to eat in the training quarters and prepare him a diet of very rare meat. Miss Blake bakes a cake for Speed and is offended when Larry refuses to allow him to eat it. Covington arrives on crutches. He has broken his toe in Omaha. Mrs. Keap, engaged to Covington and in love with Jack Chapin, exposes Speed to Helen because Speed had failed to prevent Covington from joining the party.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

"Will you marry me?" asked J. Wallingford Speed.
"The idea!" Miss Blake gasped.
"Will you?"
"Please don't speak that way. When a man cares for a woman, he doesn't deceive her—he tells her everything. You told me you were a great runner, and I believed you. I'll never believe you again. Of course, I shall behave to you in a perfectly friendly manner, but underneath the surface I shall be consumed with indignation." Miss Blake commenced to be consumed.
"See! You don't acknowledge your perjury even now!"
"What's the use? If I said I couldn't run, and then beat the cock, you'd believe I deceived you again. And suppose that I can't beat him?"
"Then I shall know they have told me the truth."

"And if, on the other hand, I should win?" Miss Blake's eyes fell—"Helen, would you marry me?" Speed started toward her, but she had fled out into the twilight.

Dusk was settling over stretches of purple land, and already the room was peopled by shadows. Work was over; there were sounds of cheerful preparations for supper; from the house came faint chords of laughter.

It was the hush that precedes the evening as it does the dawn; the hour of reverie, in which all music is sweet, and forgotten faces arise to haunt.

Speed stood where the girl had left him, miserable, hopeless, helpless. And certainly his love was lost. He had stayed on in the stubborn superstitions belief that something would surely happen to relieve him from his predicament—fortune had never failed him before—and instead, every day, every incident, had served to involve him deeper. Now she knew! It was her golden heart that had held her true thus far, but could any devotion survive the sight of humiliation such as he would suffer on the morrow? Already he heard the triumphant jeers of the Centipede henchmen, the angry clamor of the Flying Heart, the mocking laughter of his rival.

"I Love You!" Wally Said.

He groaned aloud. Forsooth, a broken toad! Of all the countless tens of thousands of toes in Christendom, the one he had hung his salvation upon had proven weaker than a reed.
"What cruel jest of Fate was this? If Fate had wished to break a toe, why had she not selected, out of all the billions at her disposal, that of the most other athlete than Culver Covington—even his own."
J. Wallingford Speed started suddenly and paled. He had remembered that no one could force a crippled man to run.

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "I'll do it!" He crossed quickly to the bunk-house door and looked in. The room was empty. The supper-bell pealed out, and he heard the cow-men answer it. Now was the appointed moment; he might have no other. With cat-like tread he slipped into the sleeping-quarters, returning in a moment with a revolver. He stared thankfully at the weapon—better this than dishonor.

"Why didn't I think of it before? It's perfectly simple. I'll accidentally shoot myself—in the foot!"
But even as he gazed at the gun he saw that the muzzle was as large as a gopher-hole. A bullet of that size would sink a ship, he meditated in a panic, and as for his foot—what frightful execution it would work! But—it were better to lose a foot than a foot-race, under present conditions, so he began to unlace his shoe. Then realizing the value of circumstantial evidence, he paused. No! His disability must bear all the earmarks of an accident. He must guess the location of his smallest and least important toe, and trust the rest to his marksmanship. Visions of blood-poisoning beset him, and when he pressed the muzzle against the point of his shoe his hand shook with such a palsy that he feared he might miss. He steered himself with the thought that other men had snuffed out life itself in this manner, then sat down upon the floor and cocked the weapon a second time. He wondered if the shock might, by any chance, numb him into unconsciousness. If so, he might bleed to death before assistance arrived. But he had nothing to do with that. The only question was, which foot. He regarded them both tenderly. They were nice feet, and had done him many favors. He loved every toe; they were almost like innocent children. It was a dastardly deed to take advantage of them thus, but—he advanced the revolver until he pressed firmly against the outside of his left foot, then closed his eyes, and called upon his courage. There came a great roaring in his ears.

How long he sat thus waiting for the explosion he did not know, but he opened his eyes at length to find the foot still intact, and the muzzle of the weapon pointing directly at his instep. He altered his aim hurriedly, when, without warning of any sort, a man's figure appeared silhouetted against the window.

The figure dropped noiselessly to the floor inside the room, and cried, in a strange voice:

"Lock those doors! Quick!"
Flinding that it was no hallucination, Speed rose, calling out:

"Who are you?"
"S-h-h-h!" The stranger darted across the room and bolted both doors, while the other felt a chill of apprehension at these sinister precautions. He grasped his revolver firmly, while his heart thumped. The fellow's appearance was anything but reassuring; he was swarthy and sun-browned, his clothes were ragged, his overalls were patched; instead of a coat, he wore a loosely flapping vest over a black sateen shirt, long since rusted out to a nondescript brown.

"I've been trying to get to you for a week," announced the mysterious visitor hoarsely.

"Why do you want? Who are you?"
"I'm Skinner, cook for the Centipede."

"The man I race?"
"Not so loud." Skinner was straining for the faintest sound from the direction of the mess-house.

"I'll kill him!" exclaimed the Eastern lad. But the other forestalled a murder by running on, rapidly:

"Listen, now! Hump and I jobbed this gang last month; we're partners, see? He's got another race framed at Pocatello, and I want to make a get-away."

"Yes! yes! you needn't stay here—on my account."
"Now don't let's take any chances to-morrow, see? We're both out for the coin. What do you want to do—win or lose?" Skinner jumped back to the door and listened.

"What?"
"Don't stall!" the stranger cried, impatiently. "Will I win or will you? What's it worth?" He clipped his words short, his eyes darted furtive glances here and there.

"Can I win?" gasped Speed.
"You can if there's enough in it for me. I'm broke, see? You bet five hundred, and we'll cut it two ways."

"Of course you'll have to run fast enough so we don't tip off."
"How fast is that?"
"Oh, ten-four." Carelessly. "That's what Humpy and I did."
"Ten and four-fifths—seconds?"
"Certainly. Don't kid me! They're liable to break in on us."
"Mr. Skinner, I—I can't run that fast. Fifteen is going some for me."
"What!" Skinner stared at his opponent strangely.
"That's right. I'm a lemon." "Ain't you the Yale champ?" The guy that goes under 'even time'?"
Wally shook his head. "I'm his chum. I couldn't catch a cramp."
The brown face of the Centipede sprinter split into a grin, his eyes gleamed. "Then I'll win," said he. "I'm the sucker, but I'll make good. Get your money down, and I'll split with you."

"No, no! Not you! Me! I must win!" Speed clutched his caller desperately.
"All right, I'll frame anything; but I can't run any slower than I did with Joe and make a live of it. They'd shoot us both."

"But there's a girl in this—a girl I love. It means more than mere life." Skinner was plainly becoming nervous at the length of the interview.
"Couldn't you fall down?" inquired the younger man, timidly.

The cook laughed derisively. "I could fall down twice and beat you in fifteen." After an instant's thought: "Say, there's one chance, if we don't run straight away. There's a corral out where we race; you insist on running around it, see? There's nothing in the articles about straightaways. That'll kid 'em on the time. If I get too far ahead, I'll fall down."

"B-but will you stay down? Till I catch up?"
"Sure! Leave it to me."
"You won't forget, or anything like that?"
"Certainly not. But no rough work."

In front of the cowboys, understand? Sh-h!"
Skinner vaulted lightly through the window, landing in the dirt outside without a sound. "Somebody coming," he whispered. "Understand: Merchants' Hotel, Albuquerque, noon, Sunday." And the next instant he had vanished into the dusk, leaving behind him a youth half hysterical with hope.

Out of the blackest gloom had come J. Wallingford Speed's deliverance, telling me about this foot-race. What in the deuce is the matter with you, anyhow? Why didn't you let me know?"

The girls drew closer, and Speed saw that Miss Blake was pale.
"I wouldn't have allowed it for a minute. Now, of course, I'm going to call it off."

"Oh, Jack, dear, you simply can't!" exclaimed his sister. "You've no idea the state the boys are in."
"They'll never let you, Chapin," supplemented Fresno.

The master laughed shortly. "They and he did not pause to consider the ethics involved. With light heart he hastened to replace the borrowed revolver in the bunk-room just as voices coming nearer betokened the arrival of his friends from the house. As he stepped out into the night he came upon Jack Chapin.

"Hello, Wally!"
"Hello, Jack!" They shook hands, while the owner of the Flying Heart continued.

"I've just got in, and they've been won't, eh? Who is boss here, I'd like to know?"
"They've bet a lot of money. And you know how they feel about that photograph."

"It's the most idiotic thing I ever heard of. Whatever possessed you, Wally? If the men make a row, I'll have to smuggle you and Glass over to the railroad to-night."

"I'm for that," came the voice of Larry.
"I suppose it's all my fault," Miss Blake began wretchedly, whereat the object of their general solicitude took on an aspect of valor.

Prophetic Retort.
The governor of Virginia, at a time when Washington as a mere youth ventured to remonstrate against the injustice of a certain decree, turned fiercely upon the young man and inquired:

HINTS AND FACTS OF HORSES AND MULES

Home From the Fields.

(By J. M. BELL.)
The very high price of both hay and grain is forcing farmers to sell all surplus stock. Some prices can be picked up by farmers who are supplied with feed.

Some buyers want the advice of a veterinary before they purchase, if so, then by all means pick your man. When a horse or mule has done his steady work in a city for 20 years, is sour stiff and generally incapacitated, he is a poor investment for anyone more certainly the farmer who is looking for a bargain.

Some men wash their teams all over, each evening when work is done, (during the summer season), a good plan as it removes sweat most effectually. Cribbing is a bad habit at the best, the only way to stop it is to use a tight strap around the cribber's neck. The writer has cured several of these unsatisfactory animals.

Interfering behind is a bad habit in a horse, as a remedy use only one or two nails on inside of shoe and curve shoe properly inside.

A balky horse had best be gotten rid of as a balky horse. Let the other fellow cure him.
Shying can sometimes be cured by letting the horse pass slowly by the terrifying object. Severe punishment rarely makes a cure.

Musty hay carries many ills.
Keep a good-sized lump of rock salt in each horse trough.
Save money by having the old horses' teeth flattened so they can grind their feed.
Water for the horses should be fresh from the pump during the winter months—no ice water.

Work or exercise the stallion daily, and your next season's colt crop will be much more satisfactory.

LIME IMPROVES SOIL CONDITIONS
On Some Land It Is Necessary as Actual Plant Food for Alfalfa and Clover.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)
When we apply lime to our soil we look to its effect upon the soil rather than to its direct influence upon the plants. While many farms contain sufficient deposits of lime, it is also true that many soils are deficient in this element.

Lime has various functions. It corrects soil acidity; thus stimulating the action of the bacteria that assist in making plant food available and gather nitrogen from the atmosphere. It changes dormant plant food, into active plant food, by carbonating the soil water and makes it a more powerful solvent.

It improves the physical condition of the soil by making a heavy soil more friable and a loose soil more compact. On some soils it is needed as an actual plant food, for such crops as alfalfa and clover.

There are various kinds of lime used for agricultural purposes and each kind has certain advantages but my experience has led me to believe that it is much safer to use the carbonate, or ground limestone, because it does not have a tendency to destroy the humus in the soil, especially if large quantities are used at one time.

On heavy soils that are inclined to be wet the caustic lime will have more beneficial effects and liberate more plant food. Such land requires a more powerful agent to tear apart and decompose the soil particles and improve its physical conditions. For sweetening the soil the carbonate, or ground limestone, is equally valuable.

Lime should be applied early in the spring, when it has not been applied the previous fall, and should be applied a number of days before fertilizer and be thoroughly incorporated with the soil.

If fertilizer containing nitrogen is applied where it will come in contact with the caustic lime there will be a waste of ammonia and a consequent loss of fertility.

No horse is well broken until he has no fear whatever of the automobile. Try to turn your horse's back to the wind and blanket him when tying him up, as the wind blowing against his breast is apt to lay the foundation of rheumatism, stiffness and similar ailments.

If the brood mares are not worked regularly, each that they get out in the open air and sunlight and move around.

Often we do not appreciate the virtues of the modest, unassuming mule. He costs no more than a horse colt to foal and raise and is less trouble and expense to put in the harness. He is not as susceptible to disease as the horse, and he is not so easily made stiff or lame. He requires less feed than a horse of the same size, yet will do as much or more work with less fatigue. He will do you 20 years' faithful service.

See that the animals are comfortable and that they have at all times plenty of water.

This may be the threshold of the horseless age, but just try to buy a pair of good horses and you will find out that the horse is still in good demand.

The best sale you can possibly make of your farm crops is to sell them to your stock in the way of food. And then, too, the fertility of the soil is kept where it will bring the biggest returns.

With the increased prices of horses, more attention is being paid to the care of the feet.

Most of the trouble with horses' feet is caused by improper shoeing. "Breaking a horse" is a harsh expression. Nowadays the farmer "gentles" the colt without ruining its disposition.

PROPER CARE OF SWEET POTATOES
Unlike Other Vegetables, Tubers Should Be Stored in a Warm and Dry Place.

(By L. M. BENNINGTON.)
Sweet potatoes need to be handled carefully if they are to be kept through the winter and unlike most other vegetables, sweet potatoes should be kept in a warm, dry place.

In the first place sweet potatoes must be dug at the right time. They should be dug before the hard frosts have killed the tops, for this injures the quality of the tubers somewhat.

After digging, the potatoes must be handled as carefully as though they were eggs. Irish potatoes can be shovelled around rather carelessly, and often a bruise in one of the potatoes, or even a decayed spot, will not affect the other part which is left in sound condition.

But not so with the sweet potato, for a bruise at one end will affect the quality of the sound part at the other end and will render it unfit for use. This fact is not generally understood by many growers who handle sweet potatoes as carelessly as they do Irish potatoes.

This fact is responsible for many of the potatoes of poor quality which are served during the winter.

After being handled, the sweet potatoes should be stored in a warm, dry place. A temperature of 60 to 70 degrees is about right for the proper keeping of sweet potatoes.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

His food supply would be probably better selected, varied and cooked if the daily supervision were allotted definitely to one who has been trained for the purpose, and chosen because of capacity for the office.

BREAKFASTS.

There is probably no meal where dainty service and pretty dishes are more appreciated than at the first meal of the day, when the appetite needs urging. It is much better to have two or three well prepared dishes than too much variety. For young or old, fruit is a most acceptable beginning, and the season brings its own variety. One of the most appetizing and wholesome dishes for children, and in fact for any one, old or young, is the whole wheat. Get it from the mill or granary, if you are fortunate enough to live on a farm where you can have plenty of cream; if not, top milk is very good to serve with it. Soak the wheat over night, then cook it for eight hours in a double boiler or fireless cooker until the grain is soft and easily digested. Salt while cooking.

Breakfast Muffin.—A simple little breakfast cake, easy to make and very good is this: Beat an egg, add a half cup of milk, salt, two tablespoons of baking powder; add flour to make a soft batter, add two tablespoons of melted fat and pour into well greased gem pans to bake in a hot oven.

When bananas are not liked uncooked, they are delicious baked with butter; add lemon juice with a sprinkling of sugar and a pinch of salt.

One needs to remember that most of the prepared cereals need double the time for cooking that is specified on the box.

A well made and seasoned hash is another good breakfast dish which is usually a great favorite. If baked in greased cups instead of the usual method it makes an agreeable change.

Eggs in a multitude of forms are one of our most easily prepared breakfast dishes, and one of the most nutritious. Omelets, too, are of endless variety, changing the flavor by the sauce or filling used in them.

An ordinary poached egg served with a nice, smooth, well flavored sauce will lose its ordinary commonness entirely.

Toasts and coffee are too good, when well prepared, to slight by not mentioning. Toast should be well browned and crisp. Coffee clear and well flavored and most important of all, all hot things should be served piping hot.

Sweet lady, tell me, can you make a pudding?

PRACTICAL PUDDINGS.
Baltimore Pudding.—Take half a cupful each of molasses, milk and beef suet, a cup of flour and a cup of raisins, the juice and rind of a lemon, half a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of ground cloves, and mace and cinnamon. Steam five hours and serve with an egg or hard sauce. The hard sauce may be prepared from two tablespoons of creamed butter, a cup of powdered sugar and two or three tablespoons of whipped cream. Flavor with vanilla.

Cranberry Roly Poly.—Make a short biscuit dough, roll it out about a half inch thick and spread generously with a layer of chopped uncooked cranberries well sprinkled with sugar. Roll up and pinch the edge; lay in a buttered plate and steam forty minutes, then set in the oven to dry. Serve with cream and sugar.

Queen of Puddings.—Take one pint of bread crumbs, one quart of milk, one cup of sugar, the yolks of four eggs, the grated rind of a lemon and two tablespoons of butter. Bake in a pan of hot water. When done, spread over the top a small glass of jelly, then cover with the meringue made from the whites of the eggs, a cup of sugar and the juice of the lemon. Bake until brown.

Date Pudding.—Beat the whites of five eggs until stiff, add a cup of granulated sugar and three tablespoons of baking powder. Add one pound of chopped walnuts and a half pound of dates. Bake in a slow oven for thirty minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Oatmeal Pudding.—To one quart of milk add a cup of uncooked oatmeal, one-half cup of sugar and a half cup of molasses. Add salt, dot with butter and bake an hour and a half in a slow oven. Serve with cream.

Father's Next Rebuke.
This is a story told of an old Evangelical clergyman who had a son in orders. The young man became a full-blown Ritualist. For some time the old man refused, but pressed to do so, he at length consented, and chose the text, "Lord, have mercy upon my son, for he is a lunatic."

Costly Ivory Mats.
There are but three mats of ivory in existence? The largest one measures eight feet by four feet, and, although made in the north of India, has a Greek design for a border. It is used only on state occasions, like the signing of important state documents. The cost of this precious mat was almost incalculable, for more than 6,400 pounds of pure ivory was used in its construction. Only the finest and most flexible strips of material could be used, and the mat is like the finest woven fabric.

Uncle Sam Protects the Birds.

The killing of migratory birds is now regulated by federal statutes which were recently passed by congress to take the place of state laws governing the killing of such fowls, and which went into effect Wednesday, October 1st.

The enforcement of the laws has been placed in the hands of the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture, and the game wardens who have acted in the past in seeing that the state laws were enforced will also enforce the federal statutes.

The new laws govern the killing of all water fowls, woodcock and shore birds. Hereafter there will be no spring season for hunting the above birds and the fall seasons have been limited. Ducks, geese and brant may be shot between September 1 and December 15; rails and coots, between September 1 and November 30; woodcock from October 1 to November 30; black breasted and golden plover, jack snipe, Wilson snipe and greater and lesser yellow legs from September 1 to December 15.

The hunting of migratory birds on the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri rivers is also prohibited at any time. The shooting of wood ducks is prohibited until the 1918 season.

How To Care For Milk

The board of agriculture at Washington has promulgated the following rules for care of milk in the house.

1. Keep it cold.
2. Don't expose it to the air.
3. Wash the bottles thoroughly in warm and cold water.
4. If not delivered in bottles, be sure that it is delivered by reliable persons, and in a covered vessel.
5. If you have no ice, keep the milk in a pail of water, preferably running water.
6. If you have no ice-box, make one out of a sawdust-filled box, set a stone crock or pail in the bed of sawdust, place your milk bottle in it, and surround it with cracked ice.

The board of health has received a copy of these instructions and wants to impress on everyone that his duty to keep the milk clean after it is bought is as great as the milk-dealers in preparing it for sale.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Postoffice Tower Loses Its Light Mystery

WASHINGTON.—The light in the tower of the Postoffice Department building in Washington no longer holds out to burn. It is not to be supposed that President Wilson and his postmaster general, Mr. Bursleson, prefer darkness to light, but why the "glim" was doused is just as much of a mystery to the people of this town as it is the reason for its lighting when Mr. Taft was president and Mr. Hitchcock was postmaster general.

There is a huge open space above the clock in the postoffice tower. It is a chamber with nothing for walls but four corner pillars, which support the higher reaches of the pinnacles. One night during the Taft administration, and without any preliminary notice, a glaring, dazzling white light shot out over the avenue from the darkness of the tower room.

That light burned nightly all during the incumbency of Mr. Hitchcock and for some time after Mr. Bursleson took command. Then it suddenly was extinguished, a night landmark disappeared and people who have asked why have been met with a mysterious look just like that with which they were answered when they asked "why" during the days succeeding the first appearance of the glare.

It is true that Mr. Hitchcock once in answer to a query as to the whys and wherefores of this dazzling illumination said, "Ask Mr. Weed." Mr. Weed was then the chief clerk of the postoffice department. He in turn was asked the wherefore of the light, and he said, "Ask Mr. Hitchcock."

The appearance of the light and its disappearance are dark mysteries. Some one said that the blaze was originally kindled to frighten from their nightly roosting place a pair of falcons which preyed on the domestic pigeons of the capital. The falcons, however, were seen after the light had burned for some time. Now the light is out, and perhaps economy has something to do with it. The chances are that few people in Washington would care much about it one way or the other if it were not for the obstinacy of the government officials of two administrations in refusing to answer plain people's questions as to why the electric switch originally was turned on and afterward was turned off. The attitude of the officials is that of the schoolgirl who when asked who won the battle of Saratoga replied, "I know, but I won't tell."

Pennsylvania avenue is darker than it used to be.

Revolver Duels in Club With Bullets Made of Wax

DUeling practice with regulation .44-caliber revolvers and wax bullets will be a feature of the instruction at the Washington Fencers' club, which will open its new home in Connecticut avenue northwest in the near future. The duellists will face each other in the salle d'armes 60 feet apart. They will be protected with wire masks and body guards. The hand gripping the revolver will be guarded by a metal shield, which is adjustable to any style of weapon.

M. Francois Darrieulat, maitre d'armes of the club, has sent to Paris for the dueling outfits, and expects to have them ready before the opening of the season. The shells for the mock duels are loaded with sufficient powder to propel the wax projectile in a straight line for 60 feet with sufficient force to make it stick to the mask or clothing or the "victim" of the attack.

"The wax bullet will shoot as true as a lead bullet, yet will not injure the participants," said M. Darrieulat. "The head will be guarded by a strong saber mask. This practice will be excellent for army officers and others who wish to learn to shoot accurately. The poverty of having another person for a target and being a target at the same time ought to appeal to persons in Washington as it has appealed to revolver shots in Paris. The salle d'armes is 80 feet long.

giving plenty of space for the "duels." The hall is 25 feet wide. At the rear is a dressing room, 20 by 25 feet. The wall is light bronze green, and the ceiling and woodwork is cream colored. Large windows at the front of the hall and several skylights afford plenty of light for fencers and revolver shots at day practice and numerous ceiling lights will make night contests possible.

The reorganization of the club has caused considerable interest in Washington society. The first fencers club was started about 17 years ago by Gordon Strong, Count Arthur Cassini, Russian ambassador, and a number of persons from diplomatic and society life participated in the bouts with foil and saber.

Robert M. Thompson is president of the new club. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, is vice-president. Henry Breckinridge, assistant secretary of war, is secretary-treasurer, and his brother, Dr. Scott D. Breckinridge, is captain of the salle d'armes.

Shrieks of Locomotive Whistle Startle the Capital

A PALL of terror hung over the city's superstitious for more than a half hour the other night, when the prolonged weird shriek of a siren whistle, such as ordinarily goes up as an announcement of distress and tragedy, sent its distinctive and frightening tones to every corner of the District.

"A wreck on the railroad," "A steamer sinking on the river," declared the more alarmed, and scarcely had they uttered the words when the minds of the imaginative began working and telling those near by that, "Yes, ten carloads full of people, smashed to smithereens outside the Union station." In another quarter it was a "whole steamboat full of people sinking to their deaths in the river—another Titanic tragedy right at the city's gates.

And still the whistle shrieked. It was 8:10 o'clock, and the weird notes of distress had been coming to the city for nearly a half hour.

"Oh! can't somebody save them?" almost cried a woman as she took a taxicab in front of the Willard for the "scene of the tragedy."

"No, it's not a wreck," decidedly answered an individual on the other end of the telephone, after the territory in which the whistle was sending out "distress signals" had been located. "Please don't bother me," continued the voice, exhibiting tones of anger. "About a million people have asked me the same fool question."

Further inquiry elicited that a whistle on one of the locomotives in a railroad yard on New Jersey avenue had broken, and couldn't be stopped from shrieking until it had made its run to the station.

Despite the alarm and "corroborated" stories of the tragedy, no contributions for the sufferers were collected.

Onion Lovers Shudder at Deadly Devastatrix

LOVERS of beefsteak and onions were startled the other day when the department of agriculture announced that the tylenchus devastatrix had invaded the United States and the future of the onion industry was in jeopardy.

The invader with the imposing name is known also as the onion eelworm. Hitherto it has confined its operations to Europe, Africa and Australia, where it has wreaked havoc, but now it has made its appearance in this country.

The government experts, in warning the growers of onions, did not minimize the gravity of the appearance here of the eelworm. It seems impervious to chemical remedies that have been tried for its eradication and the eggs of the insect, the experts declare, will survive two years of complete dryness.

"The worms are seldom over one-twentieth of an inch long," says the department experts, "and are very slender and transparent, so that their presence is not generally detected by the naked eye, and the grower, therefore, often remains in ignorance of his losses."

The pest attacks all floral and vegetable bulbs and is regarded as highly dangerous. In view of this the department urges that all infected plants be sent to it for microscopical examination.

COIFFURE COPIED FROM CLASSIC GREEK MODEL

EVIDENTLY pleasing to its pretty wearer is the new coiffure in which she has accomplished a hair-dress not far from the classic Greek model. She has taken a liberty with the original in introducing a puff over the ears which extends over the cheek. The ear is not quite hidden. There is more of a fringe over the forehead also than a close copy would provide for. But the puff over the ear is a modern note just now in high favor. The little fringe is admissible because to so youthful a wearer it is sure to be becoming.

The front hair must be parted off and waved in loose waves for this hairdress and it is not a bad idea to back to the knot, leaving it very loose and soft looking.

The puff is the only portion of the coiffure that there may be some difficulty in managing. It takes a considerable amount of hair to make it full and soft and yet firm enough to retain its shape. It is not difficult to roll in a little extra hair. The easiest way is to use a pinned on puff if the natural hair is thin.

Where the part shows in this coiffure a small side comb would better be placed, or a short band of narrow velvet ribbon used to conceal it.

The hair is soft, without supports in this coiffure and admits the wearing of close-fitting hats. If not too close-fitting.

If there is a scanty supply of natural hair, twist in a short-switch with it to form the knot at the back. This is a beautiful coiffure and really suited to women of any age—below seventy, we will say.

In Velvet and Steel.

In the latest expression the coquettish neck bow is a cute little affair in black velvet ribbon edged at both sides with tiny steel beads and centered with a tiny design in the beads or with a little steel buckle. Some of the bows are of inch-wide velvet ribbon, formed into four loops and lacking ends. But others are composed only of seven or eight ends radiating from a steel circlet. The metal edging prevents the narrow velvet from curling or twisting, and although the beads are tiny to attach them is easy. Moreover, the use of steel on neck wear is rather a novel fashion, and that is what the average woman is looking for.

The Suspender Girl.

The shirtwaist girl is now going it for suspenders, but they are a glorified vision of the idea which she has stolen from her brother's wardrobe. In fact, so glorious are they that it seems a pity that they must be covered by the middie blouse which she wears with her tennis and golfing skirt. The straps are of dull gold or silver lace supplemented by jeweled chains that hang from each shoulder and in front fasten under a golden horseshoe with a scarab-set center.

Most Fashionable of the Season's Neckpieces

STANDING ruffles are quite the thing just now and will be for some time to come. Most of them are provided with fine wire supports at the back to hold them up, but fall as they will at the sides and front. It is a fad to leave the throat uncovered or veiled lightly with net or lace provided in these ruffs.

Nearly all of them are made to be "laundered" conveniently; if not in one piece, then in such a way that the washable portion may be easily taken away from its support and put back after its cleaning. These ruffs are worn in coats or under them, under "urs, marabout and jackets. They protect both the neck and the coat.

When designed to be worn under an outer garment they are often finished with a jabot. Two examples of this design are shown in the picture. In one of them (at the left) the ruff is sewed to a band of insertion of shadow lace and is wired at the back in two places. A jabot of net edged with shadow lace is plaited on at the front. A pretty finishing touch is provided by four tiny satin-covered buttons on the jabot. The piece is fastened at the front with a brooch or bar pin.

In the second ruff the lace plaiting (which is sewed into a very narrow band of fine muslin) is beaded to a supporting collar of black satin. It is finished with little buttons of white satin.

The standing ruff is not to be considered by the woman whose neck and face are thin or scrawny. Fine net in high collars and chemisettes will do wonders for her, but the standing ruff will detract rather than add something toward her good looks.

A pretty crocheted neckpiece is intended for a slender neck. It is made of two shaped bands boned or wired at the back and sewed to a piece of velvet ribbon at the front. Baby velvet ribbon, matching the wider ribbon used forms two little crossbars at the front. They are finished with small buttons of crocheted. A little rose, two leaves and a pendant fuchsia blossom, all in crocheted, are sewed to the velvet ribbon at the front. This is one of the prettiest of the new designs and is most durable. In fact, it will last for years. Anyone familiar with crocheted can make it.

Three small fads of the hour made of silk or ribbon are shown in the picture. One of them is a bow of silk crepe de chine. The silk is cut in bias strips three or four inches wide, which are made into plain folds slipped along the edges together. A small cravat bow, two hanging ends finished with little balls covered with the crepe, make up this charming garniture for the neck.

The other two pieces are made of very narrow folds of silk fashioned with little flower forms and hanging ends. In one of them fine strands (each supporting a tiny rose made of the same silk fold) are braided together. Three of these strands are finished with little silk balls matching them in color. Half way of the length of the pendant ends they are fastened together with three little silk roses like those at the top. Two strands are cut off at this point, leaving three pendant.

Silk in three colors is used in making this pretty trifle of elegant neckwear. Three strands are made of one color (blue, for instance), a fourth of pink and a fifth of light green. But any combination that pleases the maker may of course be substituted for the colors mentioned.

The other little piece is also made of narrow folds in three contrasting colors. Strong colors, as sapphire blue, emerald green and carmine red, are used for this piece. Small "button roses" of silk make (in a group) a sort of brooch at the top. The three pendants are finished with little circles made by gathering the silk folds on one edge.

There is nothing more appropriate for a Christmas gift than any one of these neckpieces. The small ones require scraps of bright silk and careful workmanship in making. The ruffs of net and lace are easier to make.

Gathered Smiles

CRAFTY HUSBAND.

An arcade shopkeeper tells us that a well-dressed man of about forty came into his place the other day and asked to see some chafing dishes. He didn't care for the first one shown him, nor the second. "Let me see some nicer ones—more expensive," he said. So some very fussy ones were shown him, but still he was not satisfied. "I want a chafin dish that is extremely showy," he explained. "Something that will attract attention on any sideboard. All gold and silver and chasings and things."

"Well, here's one that is distinctly an ornament," said the salesman. "The only trouble is that it's so fine. Your wife don't want to use it for anything but to look at."

The customer's face brightened wonderfully.

"I'll take that one," he grinned.

NOT NEGOTIABLE.

The Dyspeptic—Why do you trouble me with your stories of hunger? I envy your good appetite.

The Hobo—Yes, but there's one great trouble about a good appetite. De better it is de more difficulty you find in tradin' it off fur somethin' to eat.

Dead Horses.

A man was fixing his automobile. "Trouble?" asked a bystander. "Some," was the laconic answer. "What power car is it?" "Forty horse," came the answer. "What seems to be the matter with it?"

"Well, from the way she acts, I should say that thirty-nine of the horses were dead."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Misdirected.

Her smile was very sweet to see. But, ah, it wasn't meant for me. How sad is life, as on we jog! That smile was wasted on a dog.

Ingratitude.

"I helped an intoxicated man out of the gutter several weeks ago and put him aboard a car."

"Yes?" "The other day he wrote to the police asking them to find my address." "Ah, I see. He wants to force $10,000 on you."

"No; he says he thinks I must have pinched his watch."

Woman's Woes.

"Then you're not glad that your husband struck you?" "Oh, I suppose I am for the sake of the children. But it's pretty tough on a woman of fifty to have to go in for high heels, fashionable dresses and straight fronts."

Just Like Her.

Mr. Styles—Fido is getting more like you every day, dear. Mrs. Styles—How so? "Why, every time I do anything he don't like he snaps at me."

BY THE WAYSIDE.

Dusty Rhodes—I hate fleas. Weary Walker—Me, too, pard. They make me awfully irritated.

Never Saw One. The city urchin knows the gnu. The lark on its lough. He learns about 'em at the zoo; He wouldn't know a cow.

A Difference of Taste. Mrs. Liston Wells—Don't you think Miss Thumford is playing that nocturne too fast? Mr. Boardman—Too fast! Good heavens, madam! She can't play it through too fast to suit me!—Puck.

One Case.

"This agitator says money ought to be smashed." "A queer statement. Can money be smashed?" "Well, I once saw a conductor knock down a nickel."

What They Read.

"Got through reading your paper, yet?" "Just finished it." "Lend it to me for a moment?" "Can't. Threw it away. It was 96 in the shade at 4 o'clock yesterday, and McGugin and Schultz is today's battery for the home team."

"Thanks. Well, so long. See you later."

Not Denying It.

Long Suffering Wife—I don't know how I ever came to marry you, anyhow! You've always had a hard face on you!

Equally Long Suffering Husband—That's true enough. You've kept my nose to the grindstone for fifteen years, and it's still a fairly good nose.

A Kind Man.

"Hush! There are burglars in the pantry eating those pies I made this afternoon!" "All right, I'll look after them." "Oh, George, you are never going to attack them!" "Certainly not. I'm going to take them a bottle of painkiller."

Two Good Reasons.

Tourist (in Kentucky)—I wonder why this shabby little hamlet is called Dell Delight?

Colonel Nosepaint—Because, in the fust place, it is in a dell; and, secondly, because we have fo' applejack distilleries within a stone's throw of each othuh, suh!—Puck.

Office Chat.

"Wombat is always willing to stay late," remarked the junior partner. "Has his heart in the office work, eh?" said the senior partner. "Not so much that. He has his family in the country for the summer, and he's thankful for any excuse to stay in town."

Not Superstitious.

Mrs. Lakeside—Mrs. Weeds was married on Friday, and in less than a year she was a widow. Mrs. Wabash—Now she will probably want to be married thirteen times, to see how that would affect her luck.—Puck.

ROMANCE ALL GONE.

He—It's quite romantic our meeting here again this summer. She—It would be, only I've married since I saw you last summer.

Parcel Post.

It injures romance much, indeed. In case a dandelion sweet. Expects to get a tender screw and gets a pound of meat.

Before and After.

Bacon—You know, a girl, before she is married, has an idea she can live on love. Egbert—Of course. "But after marriage, different. She can't even live on alimony then."

Scientific Problems.

"Much energy is not utilized. There ought to be some way of conserving the rays of the sun." "Yes, and look at all the energy that goes to waste in chewing gum. If we could only harness the gum chewers, eh?"

Fishless Fisherman.

"So you took a day off from your work and went fishing?" "Yes," replied the man who insists on being cheerful. "Have any luck?" "Certainly. A day off is luck enough."

Restricted Styles.

Jane—Good gracious, do you call that a bathing suit? Mamie—Why, yes. Jane—It surely wasn't designed for the water? Mamie—No, for the photographer.

Similar Needs.

"We must have an organ to support us." "Why, that's just what the street musician said to his monkey."

Local Atmosphere.

"And you didn't see any windmills in Holland?" "Not one." "That will hurt the tourist business. I should think the hotelkeepers would get together and maintain a few."

Its Kind.

"I notice there is to be a race between a railroad train and an aeroplane." "Then I suppose it will be a race with a flying start."

ELECTRIC "SPANKER" MAKES BOYS BEHAVE

No Unruly Pupils Since Reputation of the "Persuader" Became Generally Known.

Huntington, W. Va.—Two small schools in this city where discipline has always been a matter of the instructors' strength of arm, have been transformed by means of an electric "spanker" into institutions of learning with the best average department of all the schools in the city, according to Superintendent Wilson M. Foulke. Both schools known for years as unruly, had so exhausted the patience of the school board as to force that body to adopt heroic measures to put down the general bad behavior of the pupils.

Delivers Five Sharp Blows a Second.

A day or so after the school season opened a carpenter and an electrician appeared at one of the schools and began the installation of a "spanker" in a small ante room where the children had access at all times, when the school sessions were not on. As the "spanker" gradually assumed shape, and the electric connections were made, the unruly pupils began to ask question and finally they were given a demonstration of its ability to administer punishment. Working on the same system as an electric vibratory massage machine the "spanker" delivers about five sharp blows a second. After several of the boys had allowed themselves to be used as subjects for a test of the spanker they had some stories to tell of its punishing powers.

Immediately the spanker was completed in one school, it was installed in the other institution where rules were rarely obeyed. The reputation of the machine, however, had gone before it and no one cared to test its corrective powers. According to Superintendent Foulke, since the "persuaders" have been installed and their abilities become known, not one unruly pupil can be found in either school, and better still, the average of both schools for the first school month will be the highest of all the schools in the city, something hitherto unheard of.

HE TORE DOWN TOMBSTONES

Insane man, Denied Death and Resurrection, Tears Down Scores of Gravestones.

Shreveport, La.—"I wanted to see the Saviour was a man of his word," was the only explanation Abraham Walchansky gave the police for wrecking Oakland cemetery. Oakland contains the bodies of many of the leading families of Shreveport and more than twenty graves were torn up and tombstones of many others overturned.

Walchansky is a young man of good family. Recently he is said to have manifested symptoms of being unbalanced mentally. Previous to that he had attracted attention by his peculiar religious beliefs.

One morning he visited the cemetery and laid himself at full length on a grave, expecting, he explained, to die peacefully and have the Saviour resurrect him.

Death did not arrive as per expectations, and in a fit of rage Walchansky rose and began his work of destruction.

He tore down headstones, and when the police arrived they found a score of these scattered over the walks and in the pathways.

Walchansky was released from the parish prison after having telephoned a merchant that he intended to kill him. The authorities gathered him in time to prevent bloodshed.

Child Falls Two Stories; Uninjured.

Paterson, N. J.—When Louis Bujamin's doll fell from the two-year-old child followed the toy. His distracted mother met him on the stairway as he was returning with the doll. The child was uninjured.

Caught With the Goods.

New York.—A moving picture film 1,000 feet long was wound about the body of Victor Weiss when he was arrested by police who charge him with robbing a film company's plant.

rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove.
Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer.
If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind.
Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

BREVITIES

TECUMSEH—The teachers of the high school have been provided with an eye chart for the purpose of testing the eyes of the pupils. Should the eyes of any of the pupils prove defective the parents will be advised.
—Herald.

BRIGHTON—Almost every morning about 8:25 you can see somebody sprinting for the early Detroit train.
Sometimes they win the race, sometimes not. That train usually pulls in a little ahead of time and leaves at just 8:25.—Argus.

CLINTON—Clinton has a commercial association! At the town hall, last Monday evening, a gathering of men representing nearly every trade in town, proceeded to get together for the one purpose of a local commercial association.—Courier.

ADDISON—The last of the long board platforms at Addison Junction is soon to disappear, in their place will be made cinder walks covered with fine crushed stone, which will be less expensive to maintain and more suitable in every way.—Courier.

ANN ARBOR—Samuel G. Tubbs and wife ask the return of two farms in Scio which they decided to a daughter with the provision that they keep the old people so long as they lived. They charge they have been subjected to cruel treatment, which resulted in their leaving.

PINKNEY—The petitions of Jas.
Roche and M. B. Markham of Pinkney to the Board of Supervisors asking that their farms be set outside the village corporation lines have been granted and hereafter this property will not be assessed for village taxes.—Dispatch.

SALINE—Several north-end youngsters have been amusing themselves stoning passenger trains, and the other day one of them broke a coach window. Mayor Rose interviewed their parents and it is to be hoped the desired results will ensue. It is better the children be dealt with by their parents than a big corporation.
—Observer.

JACKSON—The sale of the Cutting Motor Co. of Jackson, Mich., was confirmed on Saturday morning in Detroit before Judge Joslyn, referee in bankruptcy. Harris Brothers Co. of Chicago and Detroit have purchased all the plants and equipment of this Jackson company. Mr. Rothchild, representing the purchasers, stated that the plants will be continued in operation by them and cars be produced as heretofore.

TECUMSEH—The fortieth annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Ann Arbor district Detroit conference of the M. E. church will be held in Tecumseh, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 4 and 5. The sessions will be held at the Methodist church, commencing with an afternoon session on the first day. Pastors and delegates from the several churches in the district will be present.

HOWELL—By virtue of a new ruling of the postoffice department, the postoffices at Plainfield and Anderson will be discontinued after November 1st. It is the policy of the government to reduce the cost of the postoffice department by shutting down all of the small offices in rural communities which can be served by rural carriers. Hartland will probably be the next place to be discontinued in this county.—Tidings.

ANN ARBOR—The suit of Arthur
C. Green of Raisin against the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago interurban line was commenced in the Washtenaw county circuit court at Ann Arbor on Thursday. It was for $30-000 damages for injuries received in a head-on collision near Chelsea, April 18, 1912, the results of which have caused Mr. Green to be in a crippled condition ever since. The trial lasted until Saturday, when the jury returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Green for $3,250.

BROOKLYN—A young dog of the bull terrier breed was killed while attacking Henry Wisner's sheep Sunday evening. Another dog, a dark colored Shepherd, that has previously been seen in flocks, was with the terrier but could not be approached near enough for a shot. None of the sheep were killed but many badly injured, including Mr. Wisner's fine Shropshire buck, "Bill," which is always more than friendly in answering the call of all who pass on the Cement
City road.—Exponent.

ANN ARBOR—Each member of the U. of M. debating team that meets teams representing the University of Chicago and Northwestern university, December 15, will receive in addition to an R. A. Alger gold medal, $50 in cash, provided in a gift announced today, by Ransom E. Olds, the pioneer motor car manufacturer and philanthropist of Lansing. The subject to be debated this year is,
Resolved, that the state should establish a minimum wage for unskilled labor, constitutionality conceded.

ANN ARBOR—Leslie E. Delt, of Calumet, sophomore engineering student in the U. of M., is under arrest charged with the larceny of a $100 mandolin from a music store here.

DEXTER—Dogs have been doing considerable damage among the several flocks of sheep in Webster, recently. Bert Moore, Howard Ball, Jacob Bruckner and William Grostic are the heaviest losers so far.— Leader.

STOCKBRIDGE—Mrs. Mary Palmer, 76 years old, since returning from Ann Arbor in July, has pieced and quilted a quilt for Mrs. George Sly which contained 1152 pieces; also finished one she had started for herself containing 1951 pieces.—Brief.

Installing New Switchboard.
Starting today, telephone service will be interrupted on the different lines due to the extensive replacements of switchboard cable and other office equipment.

All subscribers will be notified in advance and it is hoped that the cut-over will not consume more than thirty minutes, thus insuring as short an interruption as possible under the conditions.

Weber, James Howe, Herman Heim,

vester Weber, Henry Clark, William Wheeler and M. P. Schwickerath. A cordial invitation is extended by the Ushers to all their friends.

Talks Apples To The Farmer.
David Woodward who owns a fine fruit farm in Bridgewater, gave an interesting and instructive talk before the Columbia farmer's club which was published in the Brooklyn Exponent.

"The San Jose scale which is a sap-sucking insect is fast destroying un-sprayed fruit trees, and no wonder when it is known that a healthy plant will produce 200 every 30 days which in turn keep up the scale census by a multiplied total of about 4,000,000 in a single summer. I am finding that an oil spray is more effective than the lime sulphur solution, because it will spread around the limbs and twigs whereas the lime sulphur does not extend itself. This is for the dormant spray. For the later ones I use lime sulphur and of course the arsenate of lead poison. This year I sprayed five times. The early damp weather made the apple scab troublesome and I sprayed twice in August for the side worms which were bad."
The Woodward orchard had about half a crop or two loads this year and will sell at $2 per bushel box or $4 and $5 per barrel, most of them direct to consumers at Indianapolis, Ind. All are picked and packed now, having cost $150. Twelve of the fifteen people employed were women at $1.50 per day.

"In planting new trees I would set no Baldwins and spies. There are many better apples than Baldwin and the Spy is late, coming into bearing."
Steel's Red or Canada Red is a favorite with the public and the Grimes Golden outtrunks all other for quality.
"Apple fruit buds, like nearly all fruits, are first formed in July and August for next year's crop and if there is not enough vitality to grow the apples already on the tree no fruit buds will set for next year.
Never have cause to prop a tree.
Thin it. At the present price of labor you cannot afford to grow fruit over 16 feet from the ground. Keep your trees headed low. Don't trim a tree up, trim it down. I pick a third of my apples from the ground. I should almost want to shoot anybody that wanted to drive under my trees.
Michigan apples have a far finer flavor than any western apple and when we become as honest in packing them we will have the top of the market."

Notice.
No hunting or trapping on my farm, Godfrey Trinkle, Freedom.

Dr. Browne at Congregational Church.

The National Council of Congregational churches, of America, is just closing at Kansas City. It has been a notable gathering, both in its make-up and in its accomplishments. Ministers and laymen of international repute have been, for two weeks, in the sessions of the council and its affiliated societies. Dr. J. K. Browne, of Har-poot, Turkey, who has been attending these meetings, is coming east on a speaking tour. Chelsea people will have the privilege of hearing him at the union service in the Congregational church Sunday night, November 2.

Dr. Browne is familiar with the events attending the recent upheavals in the Turkish Empire. The struggle, hardly yet concluded, has been the fiercest Europe has suffered under since Napoleon's day, and perhaps the most significant of any world event except our Civil War, in the last hundred and twenty-five years.

Where is Your Boy?
The worst habit that boys can fall into is that of loafing around on the streets at night. It is then they cast their lot in slippery places and at any moment they are likely to fall from grace. All good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are there counteracted and nullified.
They learn nothing that is good—but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred precincts of home, with good books for their companions, are the future hope of this republic; they will fill our legislative and congressional halls and sit in judgment upon men and measures;
while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums. Parents who are responsible for these broken laws of decency will have broken hearts and bowed heads in the awakening years that will inevitably follow.—

Choral Union Series.

The great Paderewski will appear in Ann Arbor, March 2, 1914. After exchanging nearly a score of telegrams with his eastern manager, the Choral Union authorities were finally able to arrange a date mutually agreeable.

The fact that there are no concerts scheduled between the appearance of Carl Flesch, February 18 and the Festival in May, makes a long gap. With Paderewski coming, the gap will be broken somewhat, and on the other hand, no two concerts will be too close together, as would probably have been the case had he been scheduled earlier. With the State Teachers' Convention this week, with its two concerts on Thursday and Friday and the Matzenauer concert early in November, it was found impossible to arrange for Mr. Paderewski's appearance to open the Choral Union series. Accordingly, the series will be opened by Madam Matzenauer November 12 and will be closed by Paderewski, March 2. Patrons of the Pre-festival concert series are reminded of the fact for the convenience of ticket-takers, ushers and also for themselves, if they will detach from the course booklet, the Matzenauer coupon which is the second in the booklet, for admission to the Matzenauer concert, instead of bringing the entire booklet.

Special cars will leave Hill Auditorium immediately after all concerts for the accommodation of Chelsea and Jackson patrons.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Chelsea People
A little backache at first.
Daily increasing 'till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders may quickly follow;
Dropsy and often Brights disease.
This frequently is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Chelsea citizen.
C. Lehman, 420 Garfield St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "Several years ago I was bothered by weak kidneys and backache. There was a constant lameness across the small of my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. At night I was restless and arose in the morning all tired out. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and they put a stop to the trouble. My kidneys became normal and the lameness left my back. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have found them to a fine remedy."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that
