Had His Money Stolen.

Noah Foor was the victim of pick-pockets last Saturday night and his loss is about $75 that he had collected that day.

Mr. Foor had spent the afternoon in Ann Arbor where he went to secure work for himself and team on the new sidetrack that the Michigan Central is having built from their yards to the university grounds. On his return home in the evening he took the car on the D., J. & C. that reaches here about 6 o'clock. As the car was crowded he remained on the back platform, which was loaded with other passengers and he stood with his hands on the guards that protect the windows and his position was favorable for the light fingered gentry to gain easy access to his pockets.

Between Ann Arbor and the Dexter road Mr. Foor had his money securely in his pocket. Shortly after the stop was made at the Dexter road he discovered that his purse and its contents had been stolen. As the car was overloaded it is impossible to identify who did the light fingered act.

Been Made Fireproof.

Manager McLaren of the Princess has just completed an improvement which makes for the safety of his patrons, and is one which should be appreciated by them. This is in the matter of the booth where the picture machine is installed. This is made of steel, asbestos and cement and is absolutely fire proof. The openings into the auditorium are so arranged that they would be automatically closed in case of fire, and no wood was allowed in the construction of the booth or its fittings. All of the electric wiring is enclosed in metal and the lamps are protected.

An inspector from the state fire warden's office was here Tuesday and pronounced it one of the best pieces of work of this character that he had found in the state.

Manager McLaren has one of the finest little theatres that can be found in the smaller cities of the state, and is presenting a fine line of films for the pleasure of his patrons.

Christian Lamberth.

Christian Lamberth, of Lodi, died Sunday evening November 2, 1913, at his home after an illness of four weeks.

Mr. Lamberth was born July 30, 1842, in Wuertemberg, Germany, and came to this country with his parents at the age of five years, settling with them in Freedom, where he resided until his marriage. Since then he has made his home in Lodi. He is survived by his widow, nine sons, four daughters, eight grandchildren and one sister.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence and at 11 o'clock from St. John's church, Bridgewater, Rev. Martin Philip officiating.

Will Handle Him

A Clarksville school teacher is convinced there is at least one mother in that vicinity who appreciates the value of an education, for she has received a note from her, reading as follows: "Dear Miss—You write me about whipping Sammy. I give you permission to beat him up any time he won't learn his lesson. He is just like his father and you will have to beat him with a club to learn him anything. Pound nolegg into him. Don't pay no attention to what his father says, I will handle him."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Happenings in Chelsea Forty Years Ago This Week.

M. J. Noyes was at Ann Arbor on the board of supervisors.

Wilkinson & Holmes store was burglarized. The amount taken being about $300.

Chas. Steinbach was advertising in The Herald. The only firm now in Chelsea that was then doing business.

Beef cattle were selling at $3.00 per hundred; dressed poultry at 7 cents per pound, and dressed hogs at $4.00 per hundred.

Teachers' Institutes.

County School Commissioner Essery announces that a teachers' institute will be held in Chelsea on Friday evening and Saturday, November 21-22.

Friday evening Prof. S. B. Laird, of Ypsilanti, will give two talks. D. E. McClure, assistant secretary of the state board of health, will address the teachers. There will also be a class exercise in primary reading.

Institutes will be held at Manchester, on November 14 and 15; Saline, December 5 and 6; Dexter, December 12 and 13, and one is to be held at Milan but the date has not been announced.

Highly Satisfactory.

James Helber, inspector for the state dairy and food department, paid a visit to the places of business in Chelsea on Tuesday of this week, and found that every thing was being done in compliance with the new food laws that went into effect last August.

Mr. Helber informed The Standard that a decided improvement in every possible way had been made by our local merchants and that he was highly pleased with their efforts. The bottomless measures have been discarded, and that all dry measure articles were being sold according to the new laws.

Exemption from Taxes.

The law relating to the exemption from taxation of the homesteads of soldiers and sailors to the extent of $1,000, does not apply where the veterans deed or lease their property according to a ruling by Attorney General Fellows today.

In an opinion rendered to Prosecuting Attorney E. R. Boyles, of Eaton county, Attorney General Fellows says that the law passed at the last session of the legislature, providing under certain circumstances for the sterilization of epileptics and the hopelessly insane, applies only to state institutions and not to the inmates of county infirmaries.

Sow Good Seed of a Pure Life.

President Charles McKenny of the Ypsilanti Normal college believes a great deal of good may be accomplished by teaching sex hygiene in the public schools of the state.

The story of the social sin that annually drags to the bottomless pit of shame and despair tens of thousands of young girls, curses possibly one-half the young manhood of our land with diseases before they are 30, dooms innocent wives to invalidism and the surgeon's knife, renders many homes childless and many worse than childless because of children physically and mentally defective, that destroys domestic happiness, fills the hospitals and asylums, and linked with the saloon and craft, is the great source of civic corruption, has at last been told, not in all its blackness—for no mind or language is equal to the task—but with sufficient detail to challenge attention," said President McKenny.

"It is worthy of note that the relations did not come through the ministers and teachers, but through the one profession that possesses the facts and could speak with authority—the medical profession.

"I believe that boys and girls have a right to know the nature of their bodies and the function which their bodily organs play in life. It would be ludicrous if it were not tragical that we are teaching the nature of the teeth and stomach and lungs, and the hygiene of eating and sleeping and exercise, but utterly ignore the most potential function of life. We are silent on these matters of physiology which have most to do with the happiness of the individual and the welfare of the race. There must be continual agitation and enlightenment of the public mind regarding the social evil. Parents must see that no home is safe, that no boy or girl can be sheltered so as to be beyond the reach of the enemy and that to save their children they must save their neighbor's children.

"After the high school has been won it will be possible and logical to move into the elementary field. Public opinion would be ready for the move, and by the time the high school will be preparing teachers who are qualified to carry the work into the elementary schools. Meanwhile an active propaganda can be carried on. Talks to the boys and girls can be given after school hours by persons specially fitted for the work.

"Sunday schools can see to it that no young man passes through the schools without at least one straightforward, wholesome talk from some wise doctor. Churches and clubs can give a place on their programs to the subject of sex hygiene. Suitable books may be placed in the public libraries and approved leaflets may be distributed in stores, shops and factories where there are so many un instructed boys and girls and young men and young women. No earnest intelligent worker need lack opportunity to sow the good seed of a pure life."

How to Handle Gasoline.

It should be known by everybody in these days of gasoline lamps and stoves that gasoline will not explode until its fumes have been mixed with at least six parts of atmospheric air. Gasoline will catch fire as quickly as any liquid known, but let it alone and it will burn out, doing no damage and leaving no scar or sign of fire. Mixed with air in the proportions mentioned it is far more dangerous than dynamite. No receptacle of this liquid should ever be left uncorked for to do so is to make the room where it is kept far worse than a powder magazine. This matter of safely handling gasoline in very easy, and no one should be ignorant of how it is done.

Ask Pardon for Lewis.

Petitions signed by a large number of Jackson business men have been received by the pardon board, asking for favorable action in the matter of Isaac Lewis, a former Jackson policeman, who on February 5, 1907, shot and killed his superior officer, Capt. Holzapfel, in the police station in that city. Capt. Holzapfel was born in Waterloo and was a cousin of Emanuel and William Holzapfel of Lima.

Saved His Foot.

H. D. Ely, of Bantam, O., suffered from horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctor advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. He then wrote: "I used your salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Best remedy for burns, cuts, bruises and eczema. Get a box today. Only 25c. Recommended by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. Hallowe'en was quite extensively observed in this vicinity by the overturning of buildings, removing of farm implements, wagons and buggies along the highway, demolishing auto signs, etc.

Last Sunday R. B. Waltrous' flock of sheep, about 300, broke out of the field and took up their abode on the highway. Automobile drivers met with considerable trouble in getting by them, as the animals were determined to keep to the middle of the road. Geo. Merkel called up the owner and he was away from home. Finally the Misses Barth, Miller and Merkel surrounded the flock and put them in back in the field.

Nervous and Sick Headaches

Torpid liver, constipated bowels and disordered stomach are the causes of these headaches. Take Dr. King's New Life Pills, you will be surprised how quickly you will get relief. They stimulate the different organs to do their work properly. No better regulator for liver and bowels. Take 25 cents and invest in a box today. Recommended by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Penn Co. and L. T. MILLIONAIRE PACKER IS DEAD

PENALTY OF BUSINESS STRESS PAID BY EDWARD MORRIS AT HIS CHICAGO HOME.

SUFFERED NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN ONE YEAR AGO.

Brother Called From Italy Only Reached Bedside Just As the Sick Man's Life Ended.

Chicago—Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co., and one of the wealthiest packers in the world, died at his home on Drexel boulevard early Monday.

EDWARD MORRIS.

Mr. Morris had been ill for several months. Although his condition was admitted to be critical at times, it was denied at his home that there was any real cause for worry. He died at dawn, but news of his death was not given out by relatives until several hours later.

Word was sent to the Blackstone hotel to Ira Nelson Morris, brother and business partner of the dead packer, that death was expected at any time. He arrived at the Morris mansion a few minutes before his brother passed away. He had been called from Italy because of his brother's condition.

Until an hour before his death, Mr. Morris was conscious. All the members of his family were at the bedside when he died. Mr. Morris was born in Chicago 47 years ago and was the oldest son of the late Nelson Morris, pioneer packer. After suffering a nervous breakdown about a year ago he was obliged to give up active business. He spent last winter traveling in California in search of health, but when he returned last spring his friends noted that he had not been benefited by the trip.

Just after celebrating his seventy-ninth birthday Alfred Skipper, a Schoolcraft farmer, fell in his barn and was so severely injured he cannot live.

At the annual convention of the third district W. C. T. U. at Mason, Maude Holmes, of Eaton Rapids, was elected president. Grand Lodge was chosen as the place for the next convention.

Postmaster H. T. McGrath has received an order discontinuing the Chester postoffice after November 1. After that date the Chester patrons will receive their mail on rural No. 7 out of Charlotte.

Arrangements were made at a meeting of more than 300 Pere Marquette strikers in Saginaw to continue the strike against the railroad and for the purchase of fuel for the use of strikers during the winter. A vote was taken as to whether the strike should continue, and more than 99 per cent voted to stay out.

Two attempts were made by parents to take their children by kidnaping or force from the Grand Rapids juvenile home, one attempt proving successful. While Matron Regester was absent James Hurley visited the home and, after knocking Miss Jennie Neusbaum, an assistant, to the floor, took his two sons, 13 and 11, and escaped. Because she feared her son was to be detained at the juvenile home indefinitely, Mrs. Tich, Jennings made an attempt to kidnap her 13-year-old son, but the effort proved unavailing.

The University of Michigan entertained distinguished guests from Ohio Monday. They were Gov. Cox and other state officials; President Thompson, of Ohio university; trustees of the university; and Walter Sears, chairman of Ohio regents.

The corner stone of Owosso's new Carnegie library was laid Tuesday afternoon, with the Grand Lodge of Michigan, F. & A. M., in charge of the ceremonies. All Masonic lodges in the county had been invited to participate. Dr. J. O. Parker acted as marshal of the day.

AUTO CRASH KILLS THREE

Motor Party at Bay City Ends in Tragedy When Machine Runs into Row of Trees.

Bay City, Mich.—Alex. Turpin, night clerk at the Forest City hotel, died at the West Side hospital Saturday morning from injuries received a few hours earlier in a motor car accident in which Marvin Luke and George Jones of Detroit were instantly killed. Olive Lee, Kate Paplinski and Mary Williams, dining room girls, were all badly bruised, and Miss Lee sustained a broken arm. J. Greeley, driver of the machine, and C. F. Dittman, also of Detroit, escaped without injury.

Creeley invited the party for a ride, promising to bring them back in an hour. They were driving in Marquette avenue when the machine left the pavement and ran into a row of trees "sideswiping" two or three of them before it stopped, a mass of wreckage with the victims caught beneath it. Luke was crushed under the steering apparatus and Jones had a fractured skull.

The Detroit men were employed by the Vinton Co. and had been engaged in decorating Trinity Episcopal church here for several weeks.

Receipts Show Little Decrease.

Washington.—Although the new tariff act with its lowered rates of duty has been in effect practically a month, the customs receipts have so far shown little falling off. According to the treasury statement November 1, the customs receipts for October amounted to $30,138,000, just about $80,000 less than those of October, 1912. The deficit for the fiscal year to date, the statement shows, is $5,757,627, about $3,900,000 more than the deficit at the corresponding period last year.

Pension payments under the Sherwood act are apparently largely responsible for the larger deficit.

The payments in 1912 through October amounted to about $52,500,000 and for the same period this year nearly $57,000,000, an increase of more than $4,000,000 in this one disbursement item.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The sum of $15,000 was voted by the Wexford county supervisors for the building of state reward roads in 1914.

President W. S. Linton, Saginaw board of trade, has appointed a committee of 15 to promote a campaign for pure water. The common council committee has started a movement to obtain a filtration plant, and both business and municipal bodies promise to unite so the Saginaw public shall not depend on corner pumps for drinking water.

Helen Nurnberger, 17 months old, of Saginaw, playing while her mother was doing the family washing Monday, upset a boiler of hot water on herself and died Tuesday from her burns.

The sum of $15,000 was voted by the Wexford county supervisors for the building of state reward roads in Wexford county in 1914. The Wexford County Good Roads association will pay $7,000 toward good roads in the county. It is estimated that eight miles of reward road can be constructed in Wexford in 1914.

CHURCH SAFE BLOWN BY YEGGS

CENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS SUNDAY NIGHT.

SAFE CONTAINING THE MONEY CRACKED BY THIEVES.

The Strong Box Was Taken to the Hallway, Piled Up With Pew Cushions and Dynamited.

Detroit—The safe of the Central Methodist Episcopal church here was blown open by yeggmen and robbed of more than $200. The money was mostly cash, which had been taken up in the Sunday collections. Being the first Sunday of the month the collection was heavier than usual, most of the contributions being paid in monthly installments.

It is the belief that the safe blowers entered by the main entrance to the office on Adams avenue and then departed by the rear door, opening near the alley. The heavy safe was rolled on a large iron pipe about 50 feet, being moved from the office to a place in the hallway. About 50 cushions, taken from the pews of the church, robes, cloaks, etc., were piled over the safe to deaden the sound of the explosion.

The safe stood in the church office under a window facing Adams avenue. To keep out of sight of passersby, it was necessary to move it into the hallway which has no windows facing the outside. An electric light wire was run from the office of Dr. H. Lester Smith, the pastor, to the hallway, where the men did their work.

Central Methodist church has been the scene of several robberies during the last few years. It seems to be a mark for thieves and burglars. During the last few months petty thieves have been causing trouble by stealing such things as electric light bulbs in large numbers and fixtures.

Fire Lose Smallest in History.

Lansing, Mich.—"Never since the organization of the state fire marshal's department has there been so few fires reported to the department during any one month as in October," said John T. Winship, state fire marshal. Commissioner Winship says that during the month there were only 136 fires reported as compared to 249 for the preceding month, and 236 of the corresponding month a year ago.

Fifty-three of the 136 fires were caused by defective chimneys, careless use of matches, etc. Property valued at $487,883.01 was involved with damage amounting to $113,878.19 and insurance on the same amounting to $402,576.03. Fifty fires were of unknown origin, 10 were caused from lightning and two were caused from candles. In October the department made 170 inspections of moving picture theaters, issued 124 orders, and proved 111, issued 104 licenses, making the total number of licenses issued to date, 336. Thirteen theaters were closed.

MEXICAN DICTATOR MUST RESIGN

HUERTA ORDERED TO RETIRE WITHOUT LOSS OF TIME; CAN NOT LEAVE ADHERENT AS SUCCESSOR.

AMERICAN ULTIMATUM IS EAGERLY AWAITED BY OFFICIAL.

Only Two Answers Are Believed Open to Huerta—First, Refusal to Comply With the Demand; Second His Retirement As Demanded.

Mexico City—President Huerta has been told he must resign the presidency of Mexico without loss of time and that he must not leave as his successor General Aureliano Blanquet, his minister of war, or any other member of his official family, or of the unofficial coterie whom he might be expected to control.

This ultimatum from Washington was conveyed to President Huerta through his private secretary, Senor Rabago, by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, acting under instructions from the state department.

Senor Rabago presented the memorandum to his chief but up to Monday evening President Huerta had returned no answer and, as far as could be learned, had guarded its contents from almost all of his official and intimate counselors.

Those who learned of the Washington note regard General Huerta's position as one in which he will be forced to give one of two answers—refusal point blank to comply with the demand, possibly going so far as to hand the diplomatic representative his passports, or the elimination of himself officially.

Federation to Open Stores.

Calumet, Mich.—Officials of the Federation of Miners are making efforts to keep their men in line and checkmating, as far as possible, efforts of the Commercial club to induce the men to return to work. They are establishing stores at Calumet, Laurium, Allouez and Painesdale, where goods will be sold strikers at cost. They claim they can support 5,000 strikers and families through the winter.

Fearing they will be discriminated against the non-socialistic Finns, headed by Finnish business men of the district, have applied to the companies for re-employment. They have been assured they will not be discriminated against if they renounce the federation.

Princess Theatre.

Starting next Wednesday evening the Princess will offer the first one of the ten big features which they will run during the next ten weeks. The first feature is entitled "The Great Aerial Disaster" a drama of the air, in three big parts, 91 novel scenes, and employing 300 people. It was produced by the Itala Film Co. who produced the well known "Fall of Troy." Its principal scenes show the stage of the Alhambra Theatre, The Dance of Fire, The Underground Cafe of Paris, the Exciting Aerial Race with death and the Disaster in the Clouds. This film has been endorsed by press, pulpit and public.

Manager McLaren of the Princess starting last Monday reduced the price to children. Hereafter children under twelve years will be admitted for 5 cents but all children not in arms will be obliged to have tickets. This reduction in price will be appreciated by those who attend the Princess, especially the "kids."

"Modern Eve."

"A Modern Eve" is now being played in practically every capital city of the German empire, and its fame is spreading all over Europe. Simultaneous with its Chicago premiere at the Garrick theater. April 21, 1912, it was brought out in Copenhagen. The piece has that universal appeal which is found in the theater only once in a decade.

The success of "A Modern Eve" in Chicago was so immediate as to be almost without precedent. Neither "The Merry Widow" nor any other musical production staged in Chicago during the past decade have caught the public taste with such rapidity. Capacity houses were the rule at the Garrick theater from the very opening of the engagement. "A Modern Eve" will be at the Whitney theater, Tuesday, November 11.

Fire Prevention Responsibility.

Woman as a factor in fire prevention was an important feature of the organization work of the "Fire Show" which was given in Madison Square Garden, New York. Domestic fire prevention is rapidly being reduced to a science by expert specialists. Good housekeeping means neatness and cleanliness, and neatness and cleanliness should in themselves do away with those stacks of inflammable rubbish, in corners, closets and store rooms, that are the cause of so many fires. Some of the points emphasized at the show were that super-heated attics have caused many fires; ordinary matches will ignite at 110 degrees F.; fireproof installation of stoves means the saving of many child lives, etc.

The fire peril, it is contended, is just as great in many metropolitan residences as in suburban and rural homes because of conditions that intelligence and care would do away with. A special committee of women had charge of this department of the fire show.

Eighty-Three, and at College.

One of the regularly enrolled students of the University of Wisconsin is Mrs. Amy Winslip, aged eighty-three. She is known as "the oldest junior in the world." Some of her grandchildren got ahead of her in the winning of a college diploma, but she promises herself now that she will soon overtake them. "I can't remember when I did not believe in woman suffrage," she says.

ALFALFA

Alfalfa is rich in feeding value.

TO PROMOTE ALFALFA.

Burlington to Run Combination Trains Through Southern Iowa and Northern Missouri—600 Alfalfa Lectures to Be Given in Two Weeks' Campaign—700 Automobiles to Be Used in the Work.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad will run an alfalfa combination railway and automobile train for a two weeks' campaign, making about 60 stops in southern Iowa and northern Missouri, beginning July 28, 1913, from Des Moines.

The plan, as worked out by the Burlington in co-operation with the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester Company of New Jersey and the agricultural colleges, is far in advance of any agricultural extension work ever carried on.

Will Stop at Sixty Points.

Local committees at each of the 60 points on the railroad will arrange for five to ten automobiles to carry the speakers in all directions into the country to farm homes, school houses and inland towns within a radius of from four to ten miles, where alfalfa lectures will be given.

During the campaign over 600 alfalfa lectures will be delivered by the party to as many audiences, and from 500 to 700 automobiles will be brought into the service of this great educational movement.

These campaigns are conducted on a strictly co-operative basis.

The people will provide: 1st. A guarantee of at least five to ten automobiles at each railroad stop to carry the speakers to the points in the country where meetings are to be held.

2nd. Hall suitable for the central meeting in towns where train stops.

3rd. Any community desiring a campaign must send in a request to the railroad, agricultural college co-operating, or to the International Harvester company, signed by a representative number of farmers and business men.

The railroad will provide:

Sleeping cars and dining service for the alfalfa campaign party, and baggage and exhibit cars, literature, etc.

The Agricultural Extension Dept. will provide:

1st. Speakers. 2nd. Assistance in organizing and advertising campaign.

3rd. Educational charts and other equipment for lecture purposes, bulletins, literature, etc.

4th. Follow-up men, when possible, to assist the farmers in getting a start with alfalfa.

Heartly co-operation on the part of the people is absolutely necessary to make these campaigns successful.

ALFALFA ENRICHES THE LAND

Besides Producing More Abundant Harvests Alfalfa Adds Plant Food to the Soil for the Use of Other Crops.

Wheat	Bu. Per Acre
Alfalfa Sod	61.0
Timothy Sod	42.
Barley
Alfalfa Sod	30.
Timothy Sod	20.
Corn
Alfalfa Sod	24.
Timothy Sod	18.

The experiment set forth in the accompanying chart was made in Canada, where it was found that alfalfa sod yielded 61.5 bushels of wheat per acre, as compared with 42 bushels on timothy sod.

Barley yielded 30 bushels per acre on alfalfa sod, and only 20 bushels on timothy sod. Canada is not a corn country, yet the experiments show similar results. Alfalfa sod yielded 24 bushels per acre of corn, as compared with 18 bushels on timothy sod. This is only one of many such experiments which give the same results, proving alfalfa to be a soil-enriching crop.

PLOW IN FALL.

Good Drainage, Fertility, Lime, Inoculation and Good Seed Put in Early.

By S. S. Seaton, Plymouth, Ohio. "I made the start to grow alfalfa last year and am well pleased with my success, but can do better the next year for the reason that I will do the plowing the fall previous and thus do away with weeds to a great extent. The seeding can be made earlier, which means so much, and the ground holds the moisture better. Good drainage, fertility, lime, inoculation and good seed put in early will produce the 'smile that won't wear off'."

"Petticoat Minstrel."

Boyle Woolfolk's "Petticoat Minstrels," the only female minstrel organization in the world worthy of the name, will be seen at the Whitney theatre for three days starting Thursday, November 6, and will present entertainment which challenges description. Included in the roster are the names of the brightest feminine stars of this form of entertainment. Queens of minstrelsy appear under surroundings which make their engagement a notable one, especially when it is taken in consideration that the show comes at popular prices. His company includes Nettie DeCoursey, a star of rare entertainment. Reichardt Sisters, Transfield Sisters, Selma Corbett, Olivia Leannett and other artists who have gained fame in this line of entertainment.

The show in its entirety is very highly spoken of everywhere. A recent engagement in Chicago brought forth the most enthusiastic praise on the part of critics of that city. The reports proclaim Boyle Woolfolk's "Petticoat Minstrels" as the leading organization of its kind, as deserving of rank among the notable enterprises of modern showdom, pronounced the cast as "very superior" and proclaimed the setting and costumes "extremely rich."

Embalmers Examination.

The State Board of Health announces an examination for embalmer to be held in the senate chambers. Lansing, November 17, 18 and 19. The fee is $5.00 and application for the examination should be filed one week before the date of examination.

HOUSEKEEPERS Must be Watchful

For great efforts are being made in this vicinity to sell baking powders of inferior class, made from alum acids and lime phosphates, both undesirable to those who require high-grade cream of tartar baking powder to make clean and healthful food.

The official Government tests have shown Royal Baking Powder to be a pure, healthful, grape cream of tartar baking powder, of highest strength, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world.

TECUMSEH—The proposed power and electric line from Tecumseh to Britton and Ridgway, will soon be in operation. The poles have all been erected and linemen are busy wiring. The electric light company will furnish lights for farm houses along the route. The villages are five and six miles from here.

ANN ARBOR—Earl Schlemmer, of this city, lost his right hand while hunting Friday. Schlemmer, his 15-year-old brother, Lloyd, and Harry McCain were hunting rabbits when a gun in the hands of Lloyd Schlemmer was fired, tearing off Schlemmer's hand. Lloyd recently walked out of a second story window in his sleep and broke an arm.

BRIDGEWATER—H. W. Bartlett, president of the Washtenaw County Sunday School association, will conduct a rally at the Bridgewater Center Sunday school at 2:30 o'clock, Sunday, November 9. Members of the Lancaster and of the Iron Creek Free Baptist Sunday schools, as well as the general public, have been invited to be present.

ANN ARBOR—Estate of Frederick H. Trinkle, deceased: Affidavit of publication filed; proof of will filed; certificate of probate of will filed; Mary M. GRASS LAKE—In all the history of Grass Lake there is record of only one abduction. About twenty years ago a squaw, whether Ottawa, Chipewaw or Pottawottamie, nobody knows, was violently seized and spirited away from in front of Dan Walker's drug store. Slueths were put on the job, but it was several weeks before they found her. She was Dan's tobacco sign.—News.

BROOKLYN—The fine farmhouse of Mrs. Walter Forgan, two and a half miles north of Brooklyn, caught fire at 11 o'clock Monday morning from a stovepipe passing through the ceiling of the dining room, and was entirely destroyed. The fire was discovered too late to save the building or the furniture on the second floor, though the contents of the first floor. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $2,000, insured in the Jackson Farmers' Mutual Company.

JACKSON—Mrs. Lucy Thurman, for many years national superintendent of colored work for the W. C. T. U., has withdrawn from active work.

JACKSON—William Hastings, who is under arrest at Lagrange, Indiana, on suspicion of robbing a postoffice, was arrested here not long ago for the alleged larceny of silverware. His wife is living here.

HOWELL—After November 1st the postoffices at Anderson and Plainfield will be discontinued. From that date on the patrons of Plainfield office will be served by rural from Gregory and the Anderson office by rural from Pinckney. Democrat.

PLYMOUTH—A special election to be held on Monday, November 17, for the purpose of submitting to a vote of the people the proposition of Pontiac parties for the installation of gas works, storage, and distributing tanks, mains, pipes and conduits in the village of Plymouth.—Mail.

ANN ARBOR—The university oratorical board split over the advisability of inviting Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst to speak as an extra attraction on the lecture course. A heated discussion was brought to a close when it was suggested that the matter be referred to a committee.

STOCKBRIDGE—Another Salvation Army man was in town last Friday soliciting contributions. While we, with other people in Stockbridge are glad to help in every good cause, it looks to us as if these small villages were being worked to about the limit, and it has got so that we average about one a week of these solicitors, and those who have been in the habit of donating are now turning them down.—Brief-Sun.

HOWELL—Miss Mae McDonough of Deerfield while assisting Mrs. Robert Eager of Ocoela, Monday while washing, by accident the fingers of one hand were caught in the rollers of the clothes wringer bruising them quite badly. The machine is operated with gas engine power. Mrs. Eager who was in bed ill at the time got up and ran to the young lady's assistance and shut down the engine, otherwise the accident might have resulted quite seriously.—Democrat.

MANCHESTER—Notices have been posted on the door of the pool room stating that boys under 17 are not allowed there. We wonder where boys are to find a refuge. They are not allowed to have company at home and play games, so they go out upon the streets. They had no room for them in the stores, the hotels don't want them, there is no club room, so where will they go? They do not want to go to the saloons and the pool room now bars them out. Poor boys, we are sorry for them.—Enterprise.

CAMPAIGNING FOR ALFALFA

Object of the Work and Results Obtained—Some of the Prominent Features.

GOING TO THE FARM HOMES

Thirteen Campaigns Have Been Carried on in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois—Holden's Plan Meets Warm Reception With the Farmers.

Prof. P. G. Holden, director of the Agricultural Extension Department of the International Harvester Company of New Jersey, has planned and put into operation a new method of extending agricultural knowledge.

Holden was the originator of agricultural demonstration trains; of agricultural short courses, and many other effective plans, through the agency of which millions of dollars have been added to the agricultural wealth of this country.

The latest plan of Holden is to place alfalfa upon every farm. There are three prominent features in his plan:

- (1) The introduction of a comparatively new crop into the Corn Belt, Southern and Eastern states.
- (2) Going direct to the homes of the farmers, where meetings are held in the fields, and success and failure discussed according to local conditions.
- (3) The use of that most modern vehicle—the automobile.

Purpose of Campaign.
The primary purpose of the campaign is to show the American farmer that alfalfa is the most profitable crop he can grow; that it can be grown profitably upon every farm; that it enriches the soil; increases farm values; stimulates live stock growing and dairying; produces double that of other hay crops, and is better feed.

Thirteen campaigns have thus far been successfully conducted in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

Some of the Results.

Results of the Kent county (Mich.) campaign are:

- (1) Six thousand farmers visited at their homes during a five-day campaign.
- (2) Thirty-two meetings held.
- (3) Three hundred and seventy-five miles traveled by the Alfalfa Automobile Train.
- (4) One hundred and thirty-six alfalfa talks made by the Holden staff of alfalfa lecturers.
- (5) Many applications for similar campaigns from all parts of the United States.

The Kent county campaign has been followed by campaigns in Allegan, Barry, Grand Traverse and St. Clair counties, Michigan; Van Wert, Marion, Fulton, Williams and Champaign counties, Ohio; and Sangamon and Kane counties, Illinois.

Great Meeting in Ohio.

At one meeting in Ohio upon the farm of Joseph E. Wing, near Mechanicburg, nearly 4,000 people gathered from all parts of Ohio and adjoining states to learn more about alfalfa. At this great meeting the Ohio State Alfalfa Growers' association was organized. Over 300 automobiles made up the alfalfa train. It is recorded as the greatest agricultural assemblage in the history of Ohio. Other Ohio counties where the work has been taken up report success on every hand.

Sangamon and Kane counties, Illinois, have both conducted great campaigns. At one meeting in Williamsburg, Ill., over 1,200 farmers came to hear the alfalfa lectures.

In all of these campaigns which were conducted within a period of about two months nearly 50,000 farmers have been reached with the gospel of alfalfa.

As a result also of the campaign work it is conservatively estimated that 200,000 acres of alfalfa will be seeded during this and the coming season.

Such is the result of the initial work of campaigning for alfalfa, but vastly more than this tangible result has been accomplished. Every farmer throughout the region where the work was conducted is talking about alfalfa. The co-operation of the schools in the territory is a very important and effective feature. School officials, from the highest to the lowest, have never failed to appreciate the opportunity.

Professor Holden has expressed himself as considering it the most wonderful experience and the most beneficial trip from the farm standpoint that he has ever taken.

But this is not all—wherever the farmers of any community are interested in the growing of alfalfa, when possible a follow-up man, thorough in his knowledge of alfalfa culture, will be sent out to assist them in getting a start. He will live with the farmers and aid them in solving the problems at home. He will go from farm to farm upon request and study success and failure.

Before the coming of 1914 campaigns will have been conducted in every part of the United States and Canada. Interest is growing so rapidly that many counties have organized campaigns and undertaken the work without assistance from the outside.

SAVE THE ALFALFA LEAVES.

Sixty Per Cent. of the Feeding Value of Alfalfa in the Leaves—Hay Should be Cut at Right Time and Cured so as to Preserve the Leaves.

Of the entire alfalfa plant, according to Kansas bulletin 155, the stalk comprises 60 per cent. and the leaf 40 per cent., whereas the quantity of the protein in the stalk is only 40 per cent., while the protein in the leaf is 60 per cent. Moreover only 20 per cent. of the fat is to be found in the stalk, while 80 per cent. is in the leaf. It is, therefore, very important that alfalfa be harvested at the proper time, and carefully handled so that all the leaves will be saved.

Save the Alfalfa Leaves.
When possible to do so it is best to cut alfalfa late in the afternoon and evening. Dew or rain on the freshly cut alfalfa will not injure it. Where a tedder is used, it should be started in the morning as soon as most of the dew is off and before there is any danger of knocking off the leaves. It is often advisable to go over it more than once.

Alfalfa hay is harvested and cured in much the same way as clover, except that it should be cut before it is in full bloom or as soon as the young sprouts or shoots start to grow at the base of the plant.

When alfalfa is left too long, the leaves fall off and the stems become woody, and the yield of the next crop is greatly reduced.

Alfalfa Equal to Wheat Bran.
The alfalfa should be raked and either put in the barn or if it is not sufficiently dry, put into hay cocks. It is a matter of economy to have two or three hundred hay caps (made of six cent cloth one yard square) to use in case of bad weather.

Twenty pounds of salt sprinkled over each load of hay will help to prevent heating and also add to the palatability of the hay.

ALFALFA ADVICE.

I Got a Good Stand—Others Can Do It—Some of the Things I Did.

By J. M. Elliott, Dell Roy, O.
"The most important things in growing alfalfa in this locality are: 1. A well drained soil. 2. A good well prepared seed bed. 3. An inoculated soil. 4. Lime in some form unless soil is already provided with lime. 5. Good seed.

My experience is as follows:
In 1911 we plowed one-half acre of wheat stubble in July; manured some before plowing. Harrowed thoroughly. Secured some inoculated soil from a neighboring farm which we mixed with fertilizer; also soaked seed in commercial liquid called Farmogerm and sowed same last of July. Did not cut it first season, but cut once in July, 1912, and got four tons from it in the summer of 1913. This year we have plowed four acres which had been previously manured and proceeded same as season 1911, except that we did not use any commercial inoculating liquid as in 1911, but inoculated the soil with soil from the sowing of 1911 and at this date, June 13, 1913, have about five tons from the four acres for the first cutting and the second season's first crop of one-half acre is ready to cut at least one ton of good hay. I believe if the five conditions above named are faithfully carried out, that alfalfa can be made a success.

GOT A GOOD STAND.

Sowed Alfalfa After Early Potatoes in August—Applied 1,000 Lbs. of Lime Per Acre, 300 Lbs. Fertilizer—Some of the Essentials.

By JOHN S. STALTER, Somerset, O.
My experience with alfalfa is as follows: In the spring of 1910 I planted one-half acre of bottom land to early potatoes. I dug the potatoes the middle of July and disked the ground each week until August 22d and I seeded fifteen pounds of alfalfa to the acre with 1,000 pounds of lime and 300 pounds fertilizer to the acre. I got a good stand and it has done well ever since. I consider it an exception that I got a stand without inoculation, as it is generally a failure where the land is not inoculated.

Most Important Essentials.

I consider it the best forage crop we have in Ohio.

I think the most important essentials in growing alfalfa are well drained land, plenty of lime, from 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer per acre, 20 pounds of good seed per acre, and 8 to 10 loads of manure per acre, a good seed bed and all of the weeds killed before seeding, and 300 or 400 pounds of inoculated soil to the acre. Weeds soon smother the alfalfa. I would advise any one that falls the first time to try it again as it is well worth trying until you do get a stand. They should start with a small patch.

ALFALFA MOST PROFITABLE CROP

Adds Fertility to the Soil—Yields Three to Four Crops of Hay Each Year in the Corn Belt.

EXCELS EVERY OTHER CROP

The Introduction of Alfalfa as a General Farm Crop in the United States Will Revolutionize Agriculture—Means More Live Stock, Better Soil and Larger Returns From the Crops That Follow.

By PROF. P. G. HOLDEN, Director Agricultural Extension Department International Harvester Co. of New Jersey.

Alfalfa Should be Grown on Every Farm

1. It is a profitable crop.
2. Increases farm values.
3. Excels every other crop in yield per acre in feeding value as a drouth resister as a soil enricher.
4. No harder to grow than clover.
5. Make a beginning—start now grow some alfalfa.

Repeated experiments made by the agricultural colleges, and the results obtained by the actual growers of alfalfa in the semi-arid sections of the west, throughout the corn belt states, and in the south and east, are conclusive evidence of the great value of alfalfa.

Many of us are slow to recognize its great value, but alfalfa will soon be grown abundantly and profitably upon every farm. It is no more difficult to grow than clover and gives double the yield. The deep rooting habit of alfalfa enables it to resist drouth when clover, timothy, blue grass and other forage grasses die for want of moisture. Alfalfa roots grow deep into the soil—far beyond the reach of other plants for moisture.

Its drouth resisting power is of no greater importance than its great value as a soil enricher. The long roots bring phosphorus, potash and other plant foods from below and store them in the upper soil for the use of other plants. Experiments show greatly increased yields of other crops grown upon alfalfa sod.

Alfalfa is rich in protein the most essential element in feed to make bone, blood and tissue in growing animals.

Why We Need Alfalfa.

There is no combination of feeds so economical for the production of beef, pork, mutton, butter and eggs, as corn and alfalfa. Neither will give the best results alone. We need alfalfa because it balances up the corn ration and saves the large waste of starch which always takes place where corn is fed alone. We need alfalfa because we can in this way grow on our own farms the protein more profitably than we can buy it in feed stuffs. We need alfalfa because it feeds the soil and enables us to grow larger crops of corn and oats. We need alfalfa because it produces on an average double the feed value per acre of clover or any other forage crop.

Advisable to Inoculate.

In regions where alfalfa has not been grown it is found to be necessary to inoculate the ground by sowing three or four bags of soil secured from a field where alfalfa or sweet clover has been grown for a number of years; or where it is more convenient, artificial culture, such as "nitragin," "farmogerm," etc., may be applied. Where alfalfa has not been grown before it may make the difference between success and failure.

Alfalfa a Poor Weed Fighter.

Alfalfa, when small, grows slowly, and is not a good fighter, i. e., cannot compete with weeds and especially with crab grass and oats, wheat, or barley, as the case may be, and when these are cut off the alfalfa is in no condition to compete with foxtail and other weeds during the dry weather of July and August. When sown in the spring without a nurse, crop, there is a constant struggle with the weeds during the entire season, and the weeds generally come out best, leaving a poor patchy stand of alfalfa.

Alfalfa Essentials.

A well prepared, firm, solid seed bed, plenty of good barnyard manure, and fallow to kill the weeds, are most important. Lime? Yes, one to two loads per acre, and by all means inoculate. Ground too wet for corn is not suited for alfalfa.

Make a Beginning—Start Now.

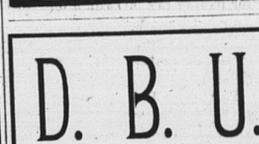

Every farmer should try at least a small piece of alfalfa and if he does not succeed at first, try again and keep on trying until he does succeed. It is worth the while. If the work is thoroughly done and at the proper time, you will most certainly succeed in securing a good stand; if the work is half done and out of season, you will just as certainly fail. Make a beginning—start now.

A Shine In Every Drop!

Black Silk Stove Polish is different. It does not dry out; can be used to the last drop; liquid and paste quality; absolutely no waste; no dust or dirt. You get your money's worth.

Black Silk Stove Polish

is not only most economical, but it gives a brilliant shine that cannot be obtained with any other polish. Black Silk Stove Polish does not rub off—it leaves four times as long an ordinary polish—and it leaves your work as good as new. Don't forget—when you want to shine your stove, your automobile tires, rims, prevent rusting. Use Black Silk Stove Polish for stove, car, tires, brass, or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. Has no odor. Suitable for use on automobiles.

D. B. U.

(Detroit Business University)

The oldest and most influential business training school in Michigan is giving today the most modern and thorough courses which fully qualify its graduates for high grade positions.

Tuition costs more in this school than in many others, but the results prove it to be the cheapest in the end. Low grade work and cheap instruction are found in cheap schools. The D. B. U. is not in that class.

We invite you to write for our curriculum and to spend six months with us during the present school season.

Chester, Mich., October 30, 1913. To the President and Council of the Village of Chelsea:

Your committee have carefully checked the pay rolls of paving district No. 2, and to the best of our knowledge this report correctly shows the amount of moneys expended on paving district No. 2.

The different pay rolls and bills are on file with the village clerk and are open to inspection to anyone interested. Materials used on paving district No. 2:

540 loads gravel. 11401 barrels cement. 59 barrels asphaltum. Cost to abutting property per foot front $1.92.

Fashions of the Past.

We never know our blessings until we lose them. How we used to ridicule and rail at those "slow coaches" the old-fashioned horse-drawn omnibuses that lumbered from station to station!

The maids often lost their situations because their skirts swept the lintels of doors and soiled them. I heard one of them say in answer to a civil remonstrance from her mistress: "As soon, mum, go naked as without my crinolines," crinolines being the generic name for all infatig underskirts.—London Truth.

Da Vinci's Mona Lisa. The Mona Lisa of Leonardo da Vinci represents "Madonna Lisa," a Neapolitan, wife of Zanobi del Giocondo, from whose name the painting is also known as La Gioconda.

The subtle, baffling expression is of a kind that the artist particularly delighted in, and here brought nearest to perfection. Leonardo in 1506. It is said that he worked on it for four successive years and used to have music played while his model was sitting in order that the expression which he wished to render might not disappear from her face.

Francis I. of France bought the painting from the artist for 4,000 gold florins, and ever since it has been in the possession of France. Until it was stolen recently it was one of the most renowned treasures of the Louvre gallery in Paris.

It has inspired numerous authorities on art to rapturous outbursts of praise, among which the most celebrated is that of the English critic, Walter Pater.

Don't Cough Yourself Into a Serious Condition. To neglect a cough or cold always a hazardous act. A cold so often goes down on the lungs, and the cough that follows may easily be a symptom of bronchitis, pleurisy, or even pneumonia.

Coughing frequently follows attacks of la grippe, and if severe and persistent, is a tax on the system that weakens the vital resistance. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an effective medicine for coughs and colds, is a perfect demulcent and may be relied upon for quick relief.

A man named A. R. Ellison, Taylor, Wis., writes: "I make a point of recommending Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to all those needing a certain and safe cure from coughs and colds." For sale by all druggists. Advertisement.

ALFALFA. Alfalfa should be grown on every farm. Make a beginning—start now.

BARNYARD MANURE.

Eighteen Loads to the Acre—Keep Down the Weeds, Apply Lime, Plow Fairly Deep, Then Plant Potatoes or Beans the First Year—This Man Got Five Tons of Hay to the Acre.

By Chas. A. Johnson, Sparta, Mich. "I have raised alfalfa successfully for six or seven years, and am going to sow another field this spring. My advice to beginners is, be sure that the land is well drained, as alfalfa will not stand wet land; it does not make any difference what the soil is—clay or loam, or even sand, if you follow directions.

Barnyard Manure.

Put, say 15 to 18 loads of barnyard manure per acre and plow it down fairly deep, then plant corn, potatoes, or beans the first year, and don't let any weeds or grass grow with crop; next spring put on about one and one-half or two tons ground limestone per acre, and 200 or 300 pounds good commercial fertilizer per acre, and disk and harrow same well into the soil, then apply about 800 pounds soil per acre from an alfalfa field, or better still, where sweet clover has been grown, and sow same on a cloudy day and disk or harrow at once well into the soil.

Work the Land Thoroughly.

Work the land well until about the 1st of June, then sow the seed broadcast, 12 or 15 pounds per acre; cover with spike tooth harrow, or if ground is real mellow, a weeder will do, and watch it grow; the first season you can get one crop of hay, but I generally just clip twice; the next year you will get three big cuttings, or about five tons per acre. Sure, it pays! Yours for successful alfalfa growing!

ALFALFA CAMPAIGNS.

How the Expenses are Met—Part Taken by the Local People—Assistance Given by the Extension Department.

Alfalfa campaigns are conducted on a co-operative basis between the local people of any community or county, and Prof. P. G. Holden, director of the Agricultural Extension Dept., International Harvester Co. of N. J. Where campaigns are contemplated it is required, first, that a request be made to the Agricultural Extension Department for assistance in carrying on the campaign.

What the local people will provide:

- (1) Expenses (meals and lodging) for the alfalfa speakers and staff upon their arrival and during the campaign. (2) From 10 to 20 automobiles for each day of the campaign to carry the alfalfa crew and invited guests; one auto truck to carry literature, baggage, charts, and other equipment. (3) Arrange for meeting places and publish schedule of same. (4) Local advertising. (5) Photographer, if possible.

The agricultural extension department will provide:

- (1) Advance men to assist in organization work. (2) Lecturers. (3) Literature. (4) Special educational articles for newspapers and farm journals pertinent to alfalfa culture, object of campaign, etc. (5) Field men to follow up the preliminary work and aid the people in any community where sufficient interest is shown to warrant it.

ALFALFA EQUAL TO BRAN.

I Believe a Ton of Alfalfa Properly Cured is Worth as Much as a Ton of Bran—How I Got a Start With Alfalfa.

By J. D. Bacon, Grand Forks, N. D. "In 1911 I planted on the 18th day of July with a nurse crop of one bushel of barley to the acre, about eight acres to Montana-grown alfalfa. I got a splendid catch, and in the fall cut off the top of the barley, leaving about one foot of stubble and alfalfa on the ground. Last year I cut three crops, taking off a little more than four tons per acre in the three cuttings. I believe if I had it to do over, I should only cut two crops, leaving the third one to catch the snow for the winter.

"I milk from 50 to 60 cows to which I feed considerable bran and mill feed, and I believe a ton of alfalfa properly cured and saved is worth as much for feeding milk cows as a ton of the bran, which costs on an average about $20."

Editor's note:—While this is true in North Dakota, three-cuttings can be made throughout the corn belt, and still have sufficient growth to protect it from freezing out during the winter.

Money in Alfalfa.

A. P. Grout of Winchester, Illinois, who has grown alfalfa for twenty years, says: "Alfalfa will pay 6 per cent interest on $1,000 an acre land; it is equal to wheat bran as stock feed; one acre of alfalfa is equal to six acres of timothy; where corn will net $15.80 per acre, alfalfa will net $50 per acre. Every farmer should grow some alfalfa."

NEWS and GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON

President Seeks His Relaxation at the Theater

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson finds his greatest relaxation and rest from work in going to the theater. Like President Taft, Mr. Wilson enjoys an evening at the theater as the most complete diversion from official cares. It seems to make little difference to President Wilson whether the play is good or not, he is easily amused and entertained, maintaining a certain good-natured responsiveness to whatever happens to be on the boards, until even a lawyer who comes to Washington chiefly as the ambition to "play to the president," because he never fails to appreciate the effort from the classic production to the noisiest slapstick.

The theater-going habit of President Wilson recalls the various modes of former presidents in finding recreation or diversion from the hard day's work in his office. President

Van Buren walked and rode and played checkers for recreation. Andrew Jackson loved to smoke his old corncob pipe and was a patron of the cockpit and owned lots of birds.

John Adams, who came into the White House before it was quite finished or ready for occupancy, was serious to moroseness, and was all but a recluse. President William Henry Harrison had the habit of going to the market for the vegetables and meats of the White House table, and on rainy mornings when the market was dull and damp, he took the cold which resulted in his death.

President Hayes rode little, walked less, and read the greater part of his leisure time. Jefferson's cost, French and Italian wines and Madras were one of the features of his administration, and President Madison thought that champagne was the most delightful of all wines when taken in moderation, but that more than a few glasses produced a headache the next morning. Consequently President Madison served champagne only at his dinners every Saturday night, when the margin of an idle Sunday might allow for the headache the next morning.

Picturesque Costumes No Longer Worn in Capital

INTEREST in the personnel of the diplomatic corps is revived as the autumn advances and diplomats return from their summer outings. The lamentable thing for sightseers is that the legations are becoming so thoroughly Americanized that there is no novelty now in their appearance on Washington avenues. In former days the Turks, Persians, Siamese and even the Japanese kept to their native costume and made a most notable attraction in social affairs; now, however, they appear like everyone else, in evening hats and frock coats, while their ladies wear exquisite Paris "creations." As one western visitor remarked, about all that is left of the national costumes is the Turkish ambassador's fez—which is nothing extraordinary now that the American Shriner is often seen wearing it when remaining over after a convocation.

Formal social invitations from the lady of the White House will soon be forthcoming. They are embossed in Gothic type and delivered by messenger and tradition has it that they are "commans" and that previous engagements do not count—but this is only tradition. At the Turkish embassy the "command" cannot be obeyed, for religion forbids the Turkish women to appear in public. The exception comes when a member of the legation, as for instance, Ali Kull Khan, the secretary of the Turkish embassy, chances to have as his wife an American woman.

It is interesting to witness the informality of ambassadors as they chance to meet. After the summer a little group of diplomats were overheard discussing the delights and pleasures as well as the discomforts of the various American summer resorts. The coming season promises to be a lively one in Washington, and the diplomatic corps will take part in the merriment.—National Magazine.

How "Uncle Jere" Rushed into Fray; Is Not Sorry

CONGRESSMAN JEREMIAH DONOVAN of Norwalk, Conn., the representative from the Fourth district, and affectionately known by some as "Uncle Jere," as his predecessor was affectionately known by some as "Uncle Ebb," is a genius in the line of making his presence felt wherever fate locates him. It was so when he was a member of the state senate. No one ever knew when the serenity of that body would be stirred and bounded out of the window by the candid Jere. Even Stiles Judson, who was so often the instrument used by Jere to pry the lid off the box of hidden explosives, didn't know.

The Uncle Jere of the Connecticut state senate is the same Uncle Jere who has attracted the attention of the nation by his occasional attacks on fellow members in congress. He was in action in the house of representatives a few days ago. He lit out, as the saying is, for the Progressive members of that body. Mr. Murdock, who was discussing amiably upon the subject of government by caucus. Uncle Jere took issue with the gentleman and denied that the caucus system was the fault of the legislative system at Washington, that the real fault was absenteeism, and as Mr. Murdock is a Chautauqua favorite, the blow landed in a vulnerable place. In a second there was an uproar. After sparring for a while with indignant congressmen, charging a Kentucky member with being rarely seen in his seat, Uncle Jere slung this out and the storm abated: "Well, they ought to resign and go home if they don't want to stay here on the job."

Uncle Jere is the sure Bernard Shaw of American politics. It is suspected that Uncle Jere plunges in where angels fear to tread, just to satisfy himself that the angels lack pip. But he is never sorry.

Prominent Men Lay Success on Hickory Switch

VICE-PRESIDENT MARSHALL, at a discussion on corporal punishment claimed the leadership of the hickory switch league with a percentage well over 500. Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila bay, occupies the cellar position with a percentage of .000043.

The vice-president attributes much of his success in the world to early spankings.

"I cannot recall," he said, "any specific case just now, but I got in round numbers about 500 licks. I never got spanked in the graded school, though. Mine were all of the home talent variety, personally conducted by my mother, a good old-fashioned Presbyterian who believed in a liberal use of the rod."

Secretary Daniels got his worst "licking" for celebrating too highly the birth of his country. Back in 1876, on the Fourth of July, he was assigned to hoe in the garden of the old homestead down in North Carolina. That was too much for his patriotic spirit and he rigged up his cannon, with which he intended to glorify the day, and shot the garden into fragments. The whipping was a result.

"If there is any good in me, I lay it first to baptism and second to the strap," the Rt. Rev. W. T. Russell said. "I don't care to make a confession to the public but I was virtually hammered into shape."

Admiral George Dewey declares he was never "licked" by the enemy either at home or abroad.

"I have been mildly chastised, like all other boys," the admiral said, "but I cannot recall any specific time that I was spanked."

NOT A VAIN BOAST

By GEORGE ELMER COBB.
"Go tell that to the marines—foot soldiers won't stand it!"

The little spare man with soft, dreamy eyes and the face of a poet bowed in a deprecatory manner and left the noisy mess-room of the Kimberly diamond mines.

One man among the group arose and followed him. He was bronzed, poorly dressed, a generally down-and-out expression in his general appearance, but behind it all was the restless ambitious soul.

"Wait a moment," he spoke, laying a gentle detaining hand on the man who had preceded him.

"What is it you want?" inquired the latter, lifting his stooped shoulders somewhat and turning his face up to the other.

"I heard your story in yonder."

"Well?"

"And I believe it. You want some one to share your venture. I am your man, if you will accept me."

A great calm and soft content overspread the features of the man addressed. He simply put out his hand to clasp that of the other.

"They laughed at me in yonder," he said; "I, who located the big Rhodes claim and have spent ten years in the district. I am still John Brazelton, expert—I still know when I see a bit of glittering spar and a real diamond, even a mile away. There is one at Dykeman's Gulch. I have seen it and it is mine. You heard my story and believe it, you say. Then we become partners."

"To the extent of my limited means—a bare $200, all—I have in the world."

"It is more than sufficient. All we need is a wagon, a team of mules, some tackle and provisions."

"And then?"

"Patience and riches!"

Bruce Beresford led his new partner to his room. As they entered it a mid-faced, blue-eyed man arose from polishing a rifle and some pistols at a little table.

"This is my friend and to be trusted. He is Vaclav Polski," introduced him, with high glowing hopes of returning with a competence.

Beresford had invested in the Black Hills and lost, then in California. Alaska tempted him to endure its rigors to no profit. He had gone next to Australia. He had landed at Cape Town, penniless. Through hard work in the diamond mines he had accumulated enough to carry him back home. It would be a dreary return. He had lost out. He was an unsuccessful man. And Ethel!

Just after his arrival he had come across a poor fever-stricken wretch, homeless, friendless. This was his present companion, or rather his pensioner, Vaclav Polski. The young man had been a crack target performer with a show that had become stranded. He had been abandoned to his misery and poverty.

Polski was just recovering from his illness. His gratitude, his fidelity towards Beresford was touching. Evenings now he earned little coin collections exhibiting his remarkable marksmanship to idle groups about the mines. He insisted on bringing all his earnings to Beresford. All he asked was to be allowed to remain with the only friend he had ever known.

Two weeks to a day after leaving the mines the little party of three arrived at Dykeman's Gulch. They camped in the valley.

"We have arrived at just the right time," declared Brazelton hopefully. "When the moon has risen two hours we shall see."

The man did not boast in vain. It was shortly after eight o'clock when the moon, clearing a lofty ledge, cast its full ruflescence upon the face of the great steep bluff.

"It is there—see! look! I have not deceived you!" shouted the exultant expert, as way up the cliff there shot out a thousand rainbow-tinted threads of light.

"If we could only mark the spot," murmured Beresford. "But I can at least make a geometrical computation," and he prepared to adjust an engineering instrument with which he had provided himself.

Bang!

Beresford turned, startled—bang! bang! bang! bang!—and so a dozen times. He viewed Polski standing with his repeating rifle directed forward.

"It is done!" cried the skilled marksman. "I have marked a circle directly about the focus of light."

"But the marks will not show in the daytime?"

"Plainly," declared the ingenious fellow. "I shot chalk bullets."

And with the dawn the adventurers saw way up there aloft an unmistakable series of plain white marks, denoting the center of the diamond glow.

It was the intrepid Polski who insisted on being lowered over the cliff. It was he who brought aloft a dozen radiant gems by a freak of nature planted far out of ordinary human reach.

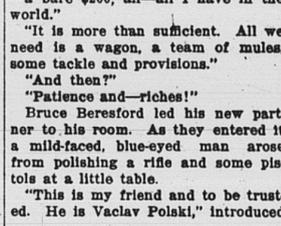

A fortune for each of the three adventurers lay in the precious jewels.

"See," cried Brazelton, as he held the largest of them in his fingers, "a king's ransom. Oh, it is the most beautiful thing in the world!"

"Except Ethel!" breathed Bruce Beresford fervently, "and Ethel means home, friends, happiness and love!"

And Vaclav Polski kissed the hand of his almoner and friend, tears of joy in his faithful eyes, and asked only to go back to civilization and hope with him.

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

Beresford. "Now, then, Mr. Brazelton, tell your story over again."

It was a strange, extravagant narrative, but it was told on that strange South African realm of Croesus, where stranger stories had been told. In few words the gem prospector related his story. In a lonely mountain gulch 200 miles away, while camping at night he had awakened to have his eye fixed hundreds of feet up the perpendicular cliff side upon a great liquescent mass of prismatic light.

Just at that phase of the moon, just at that hour the lunar rays rested for perhaps fifteen minutes across a surface, small but distinct, studded with sparkles of prismatic brilliancy.

"Diamonds!" pronounced the old expert positively. "Imbedded in the petrified clay, thrown there by some upheaval of nature they shone down—a promised fortune. Then the glow passed with the shifting moon rays."

"You could not fix the spot?" questioned the interested Beresford.

"How could I? Why, I dared not move to lose the focus I might not later regain. I waited a month. Again the same celestial and terrestrial conjunction, the glow. Even if I could succeed in settling upon the exact spot, I could not climb to it up that sheer perpendicular wall of rock. By a descent from overhead with the assistance of others only could I hope to succeed. I have come to the diggings—I have found my man—you."

"And Vaclav," added Beresford, with a fond glance at his room-mate, who flashed back at him a look full of reverence, dog-like devotion and love.

The plans for proceeding to Dykeman's Gulch were talked over and Beresford pledged himself to the enterprise. He sat meditating over this, his latest move, for a long time. He had spoken truly when he had said that it would take his last dollar, and now a brief cloud crossed his face as he reflected how much that meant to him.

Two years previous he had left home and pretty Ethel Rayner to seek his fortune. The dull old village was too slow for him. With $2,000 left him as a legacy by a favorite aunt he had bade his fiancée good-

WACHITA FROM BIG RIVER

By E. ECKMAN.

Dreadfully the hours passed, and the noise of the storm was only broken by the occasional howls of predatory beasts.

It was after midnight when Mrs. Holdness heard the door shake as though something had fallen against it. Opening it quickly she found her son John upon his knees, reaching for the latch; and in his arms, half dead and half dragged, was the form of a young Indian girl.

By a strong effort he staggered to his feet and rewrote the girl into the middle of the room. Then he sank utterly exhausted upon the floor.

"I'll—be all right in a minute, mother," he gasped. "I'm—tired out, that's all. It was awful. I—never expected to see home—again."

His mother bent over him, but he motioned her away. "Look after the girl first," he expostulated; "she needs more than I. I found her on the trail. She was lost, and had fallen in the snow."

"Why didn't you leave her?" piped a shrill voice from overhead. John looked up quickly. His little sister Peggy's eyes were staring at him through the trap door.

"Oh, I couldn't do that, Peggy," he said, rebukingly. "I never thought of such a thing."

"I'd 'a' left her," declared the child, stoutly. "Injuns killed Uncle Tom and stole our doggie. I wouldn't have nothing to do with 'em."

Mrs. Holdness had been chafing the girl's hands, and now rose.

"She's coming to," in answer to John's inquiring look. "I'll give her something hot to drink, and then put her to bed. I think she'll be all right in a few days."

It was late the next morning before John awoke. When he went down the ladder he found the Indian girl sitting by the fire. Instead of being the dark, angular featured Indian girl he expected, she was fair and beautiful, with blue eyes and golden hair.

"We waiting to see you!" she said, gravely. "Want to 'ank you for last night. Not many do like you, you good warriors. Me Wachita, from big river country. Panther Leap my father."

Mrs. Holdness started, and involuntarily shrank away.

"Panther Leap kill, burn, destroy," she said, coldly. "Hate paleface. Me, Wachita, only daughter. What you do now? Better left in snow," to John.

Mrs. Holdness' hesitation was but momentary.

"You are not an Indian?" she said, gently. "Your skin is whiter than my own girl's."

But Wachita threw out her hands in quick dissent.

"Me Indian," she declared, proudly; "all Indian. Panther Leap find me when baby, take care of me, good to me all the time; now me Indian."

Placing her hand kindly upon the girl's shoulder, Mrs. Holdness gently forced her back to her chair.

"You are sick and tired," she said, soothingly. "You mustn't think of leaving here for a week or two. You won't be able. And you ain't to blame for what your father does."

"What you do when me get well?"

"Why, send you home, of course," indignantly. "You don't suppose we'd harm you on account of somebody else, do you?"

"Me not know," she said, simply. "Me never see much of paleface."

Three weeks later Wachita suddenly announced her intention of returning home.

"Then I shall go with you," declared John. "You are not strong enough to go alone."

"No, no," she remonstrated, hastily; "you must not go. Me not want you to go. Me plenty strong. You paleface, me Indian. We two hate each other, fight, burn, kill, destroy. No ood together."

"All talk, Wachita," he declared. "You're not an Indian—and if you were it wouldn't matter; I should come for you just the same. I'm willing for you to go and see Panther Leap, for he's been good to you; but within a month I shall come and ask him to let me marry you. If he attempts to kill me, all right, I shall try to defend myself; but I will come just the same. I don't believe you hate—"

But Wachita had darted away with an imperious motion for him to stay behind.

Ten days later he was trailing a bear through a thick underbrush when he heard a sudden rustle at his side, and turned to see Wachita.

"Me come back to be your squaw, John," she said. "Me fight hard, but no use. When me sure, me tell Panther Leap. He plenty mad; but he been good to me all the time, be good now. Two days mad, then he say it will of Great Spirit, and he not war in paleface any more."

PLATE-GLASS SHELVES BEST

Have Many Advantages, Which the Good Housekeeper Will Be Quick to Recognize.

Plate-glass shelves are much used over wash basins in bathrooms, as they look well and are easily cleaned. If you use one, be sure to set it on a slight angle, sloping toward the wall, so that articles placed upon it will not slip off into the wash basin and break it. A small washer placed under the lower arm of the brackets will give the desired slope.

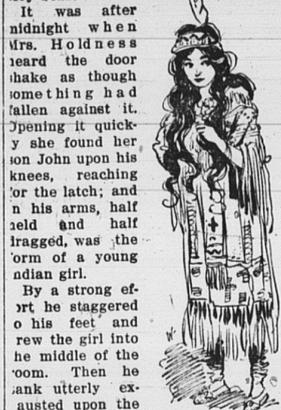

When washing a saucer a little borax put into the last rinsing water is very good to make the saucer glossy when ironed.

Shantung silk is popular for outdoor coats, and is usually lined with ninon. These coats are fascinating when trimmed with lace of deep ecru, of white or cream.

When matches are scratched upon light paint or woodwork, they leave an unsightly mark. This may be removed by rubbing the stain with a cut lemon.

To remove finger marks from varnished furniture sweet oil is very good, but kerosene used on waxed or oiled furniture gives better results.

An extremely pretty dress of natural colored linen is made with a panel extending from the round neck to the hem in front. The neck and sleeves and finished with a scallop, button-holed, while a wide black velvet girdle gives the long waist-line effect. It is slipped through buttonhole openings either side of the panel and fastens in a bow with ends in back.

RECIPES THAT SAVE MONEY

Writer Shows How Same Effect May Be Obtained With Less Expenditure.

What may be done in the way of economical cutting of recipes may be seen from the following:

Coffee Cake (original recipe)—One and one-half cups of brown sugar, one cup of molasses, one egg, one-quarter pound of citron, one teaspoon of soda, two pounds of raisins, one teaspoon of cloves, one-half cup of butter, one cup of strong coffee, four cups of flour, one tablespoonful of cinnamon.

This was changed to read as follows: One and one-half cups of brown sugar, one cup of strong coffee, one-half cup of butter (part butter and part lard), one cup of raisins, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of cloves, two teaspoons of baking powder, two heaping cups of flour.

Baked in a loaf this cake, without eggs or milk, was delicious.

A recipe for cornbread read like this: Two heaping cups of cornmeal, one cup of flour, 2 1/2 cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoons of sugar, two teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt, two eggs.

The eggs were omitted from this recipe and either sweet or sour milk was used, soda being substituted for baking powder.—Pictorial Review.

Novel Ice Cream Freezer.

An ice cream freezer has been brought out by an English firm, which, it is claimed, begins delivering a continuous supply of ice cream within thirty seconds after the turning process is begun. The operation is directly opposite to that of the ordinary freezer, the ice and brine being placed in the cylinder, and the cream in the case, so that the lower part of the cylinder is submerged in it. A thin film of cream is frozen to the cylinder as it revolves, and is scraped off and deposited in a receptacle by means of the small chute.

Barberry and Orange Preserve.

Boil together until soft four quarts of barberries and 12 large, sour apples, adding no more water than necessary. Let drain over night, and for each pint of juice allow one pint of sugar. Put juice over fire with juice of two oranges, a little of the thin orange peel (but none of the white part), and one-half pound seedless raisins. Boil until orange peel and raisins are soft, then carefully skim these out. Add the sugar, which should first be thoroughly beaten in the oven, and boil about fifteen minutes.

Pickled Beets.

Pickled beets are made by selecting half-grown beets and boiling in lightly salted water until tender. Remove the skins without putting in water, as is usually done, so that the bright red color can be retained. Have ready enough boiling-hot vinegar to cover the beets allowing one pint of sugar to each quart of vinegar, and a tablespoonful of mixed spices. Fill, sterilized, wide-mouthed jars as full as possible of the beets, pour in the boiling vinegar and seal.

Emergency Dessert.

Make an ordinary one-egg gingerbread, bake in two thin layers or bake in one and split. Fill with grape or currant jelly and cover top with whipped cream. Serve while the gingerbread is warm. This is fine, quick, easy to make and economical.

Fruit Stains on Linen.

Smear the stains over with some pure glycerine. Leave the linen for an hour, and then wash in warm, soapy water. Repeat a second time if necessary.

Good Duster.

After washing dusters, dip them in kerosene and dry in the open air. This makes an excellent so-called "dustless" duster. Dry mops may be similarly treated with good effect.

Zoological Question.

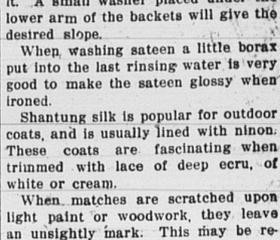

What animals do we find in the daily papers?

The gnus (news).

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

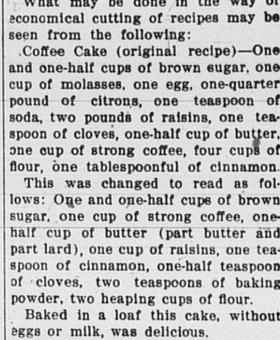

Here is her own statement. Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty to tell all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

you have the slightest doubt, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.
