NYAL'S KIDNEY PILLS

It doesn't matter who made the first kidney pills—it matters much who makes the best. We think NYAL'S Kidney Pills (50c) are best and help the most cases. We sell all sorts and give you what you want, but we hear more good reports from Nyal's than from all the rest put together. They relieve aching back, cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. Come to our store—The Nyal Store—when you want things right.

GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE

A special representative from the factory will show you why the Majestic bakes so perfectly and heats all the water wanted with the minimum of fuel. Hot coffee and biscuits served.

ONE WEEK ONLY

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, TO SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1913

CHILDREN'S SOUVENIR DAY—MONDAY, FROM 3 TO 5 P. M.

150 Majestic Birds Free

The first 150 boys and girls who present to the Majestic Range Salesman at our store, between 3 and 5 p. m. Monday, written answers to the following questions, will receive a Canary Bird Souvenir.

1—What range is your mother now using?
2—Do you know anyone feeding a new range? Who?
3—Why is the Great Majestic the most durable range made?
50-CENT ARTICLE FREE—The one giving nearest and best answer to the last question may select any 50-cent article from our stock in addition to the souvenir.

You can have worlds of fun with the Majestic Bird—it imitates the canary to perfection.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, IS WALKING CAKE DAY

DON'T MISS THIS WONDERFUL EXHIBITION—The Majestic Walking Cake will be baked in a Majestic Range Air-tight Oven, this morning. In the afternoon, about 2:30, twenty-five ladies will stand on two 12-foot planks placed on the cake, and crush it flat. In five minutes it will rise to its natural height, when it will be cut and served to all present.

Drop in any day during Exhibition Week and have a cup of coffee and biscuits free.

UNREASONABLE CHARGES

Waterloo Telephone Company Severs Connection With Chelsea Exchange.

The demands of the Michigan State Telephone Company for service from Chelsea have become so unreasonable and unfair that the farmers north of Chelsea have been at last compelled to break away from connection with them, and last Monday night the common council granted the Waterloo Telephone Company the right to use the village poles to get into town with their wires. It appears the Waterloo Company was willing to pay the Michigan people their usual charge of $4.00 per subscriber for all users who switched into Chelsea but the Michigan people wanted a toll charge of ten cents for all messages from Waterloo station and from all Chelsea subscribers who wished to call Waterloo, and also insisted on a cut off the would drive Chelsea patrons of the Michigan to reach Stockbridge via Jackson, (the Michigan Co. having no direct lines to Stockbridge) and a toll charge of from twenty to twenty-five cents.

Chelsea subscribers will notice they are now paying fifteen cents to talk with Gregory and the Michigan would dearly like to hold them up for this amount on all northern business. However the Waterloo Company has direct lines to Stockbridge, and Railroad Commission or no Railroad Commission, as long as the Michigan has no direct competing lines they should be allowed to do the toll business.

We understand the Michigan Company claims that even if the village authorities allow the Waterloo people to come into Chelsea with their lines the Railroad Commission will stop them, but inasmuch as the Waterloo Company has no intention of competing with a local exchange, and as the Michigan State has no outside lines paralleling the Waterloo Company lines, we don't believe the state Railroad Commission would be so subservient to the Michigan State Telephone Co., nor so unfair with a little brief authority, as to prohibit a farmer community from doing business in Chelsea and thereby drive them to Stockbridge where they already have connection.

Mrs. Carrie T. Hodgman.

Mrs. Carrie T. Noyes-Hodgman died Saturday, November 15, 1913, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Jenkins, of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Hodgman was born in Washington, Macomb county, Michigan, on November 6, 1847, and was a daughter of David W. and Maria Bostwick Noyes. She was a resident of Ann Arbor for many years, coming there with her parents when a young girl. On December 21, 1882, she was united in marriage with Joseph Hodgman, of Pinckney, and resided there until the death of Mr. Hodgman in 1893, since which time she has made her home with her niece, Mrs. Charles Jenkins, who recently moved to Ann Arbor from Lansing.

Mrs. Hodgman is survived by three brothers, Kirke Noyes, of South Haven, Beeri Noyes, of Mason, and M. J. Noyes, of this place. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of her niece, Rev. F. B. Bachelor, pastor of the Ann Arbor Baptist church officiating. The remains were taken to Mason Tuesday morning for burial.

Stamp Your Letters.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blaklee has just issued the following announcement:

"Postmasters at rural delivery offices and rural carriers are directed to bring to the attention of patrons that it is the desire of the Department that all first-class mail matter deposited in rural mail boxes shall be stamped before being so deposited."

"When it is not practicable, coins left in such boxes for the purchase of stamps should be deposited in coin-holding receptacles and not enclosed in envelopes, wrapped in paper, or left loose in the boxes."

Saved His Foot.

H. D. Ely, of Bantam, O., suffered from horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctor advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. He then wrote: "I used your salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Best remedy for burns, cuts, bruises and eczema. Get a box today. Only 25c. Recommended by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co. Adv.

Princess Theatre.

In speaking of the three part drama "When Sherman Marches to the Sea" which is to be shown at the Princess Saturday evening, the Universal Weekly says: "Memories of Civil War days were brought back to the residents of Hollywood when the actors and actresses used in Director McRae's company were staging his latest pictures, 'When Sherman Marched to the Sea.' Lee Morris, as General Sherman, was so well made out that an old Civil War veteran from Sawtelle who happened to be passing, stopped and told Mr. Morris that he was the exact likeness of the famous general. Later it developed that the veteran had been with Sherman on his historical march. The presence of several troops of cavalry, detachments of the blue and gray, negroes and women of the South on the grounds of an estate, made a realistic setting for the interested spectators. Don't fail to see this picture at the Princess Saturday evening. A special selected solo by Mrs. Mildred Miller is also on the program."

Makes a Denial.

Nathan S. Potter, sr., of Jackson, one of the owners of the Michigan Portland Cement Co., of Four Mile Lake, against whom Mrs. May Millen, of Ann Arbor, started a law suit, as reported in the last issue of The Standard, is credited with having made the following assertion:

"I have no other statement to make than what is apparent on the face of the report published, that this action is attempted blackmail. I have no business relations with Mr. and Mrs. Millen, whatever."

New Grange Organized.

A new Grange was organized in Ann Arbor last Friday evening by P. M. Broesamle, of North Sylvan Grange, county Grange deputy, assisted by G. T. English, of Lafayette Grange. Carroll Hill was elected master of the new Grange, H. G. Barnham, overseer, Oscar McDougall, secretary, and S. C. Buell, lecturer.

The new Grange has a charter list of twenty members and as the charter will not be closed for several weeks there is every indication that it will have a bright future.

Farms Changed Ownership.

One of the largest real estate deals ever recorded in Chelsea took place last Saturday when Mrs. Anna Sears sold her farm in Lima to Martin Merkel, of Sylvan. Mr. Merkel sold his farm in Sylvan to R. B. Waltrous, who in turn sold a portion of the Merkel farm to George W. Gage.

Seven hundred acres of choice farm lands changed ownership and represents an investment of over $40,000. The sales were conducted through the agency of R. B. Waltrous.

"The Red Rose."

At last we are to see a real bona-fide Broadway musical comedy success, when John C. Fisher presents "The Red Rose" at the Whitney theatre, Friday, November 21. The book and lyrics were written by Harry B. and Robert B. Smith, the scores by Robert Hood Bowers and was staged by R. H. Burnside, the noted stage director of the New York Hippodrome. John C. Fisher, the producer of "Florodora," "The Silver Slipper," "San Toy" and many other musical successes is in charge of the production. With all these well known people associated with a production, it promises to be a real gem and judging from the unusually heavy advance sale, the theatregoers are aware of the facts in the case.

Eva Tanguay.

Eva Tanguay, the cyclonic comedienne, is coming to the Whitney theatre, Ann Arbor, Monday, November 24, matinee and night.

Eva Tanguay, known everywhere as the highest salaried artist in vaudeville, has a bounding ambition and is cyclonic to the popular mind only because she wears a wealth of blonde hair unconventionally and interprets most of her songs in a nervous tempo, due entirely to the superabundance of youth and vitality. Eva Tanguay is making her second tour of the country at the head of her own company. During her forthcoming engagement she will appear in the gorgeous production of "Salome," in which she out-gardened Mary Garden, and she will also interpret in her own individual way, the songs especially written for her by her own private author and her own private composer, all of which, by the way, are written solely about herself. Eva Tanguay has in her supporting company some of the best acts ever seen in the highest class vaudeville theaters of this or European countries. Mail orders now for both matinee and night.

Auction Sale.

There will be a public auction of the personal property of the late Mrs. Stanish, at the home on west Middle street, commencing at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 22. Terms, strictly cash. Matt. P. Swickrath, administrator. Adv.

Nervous and Sick Headaches.

Torpid liver, constipated bowels and disordered stomach are the causes of these headaches. Take Dr. King's New Life Pills, you will be surprised how quickly you will get relief. They stimulate the different organs to do their work properly. No better regulator for liver and bowels. Take 25 cents and invest in a box today. Recommended by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. BANK WRECKER IS SENTENCED

JUDGE SMITH FIXES PRISON TERM FOR JOSSMAN AT PONTIAC.

ASSISTANT CASHIER MORRISON
ARRAIGNED.

Court in Passing Sentence Expresses Belief That Influential Friends Will Secure Early Release of Prisoner.

Pontiac, Mich.—Ralph E. Jossman, defaulting cashier of the E. Jossman State bank at Clarkston, was Monday morning sentenced in the circuit court to a term from seven to twenty years in Jackson prison. Jossman pleaded guilty a week ago to diverting funds of the bank. He admitted having taken approximately $212,000 of the funds in the bank. The affairs of the bank are now in the hands of a receiver.

In sentencing Jossman Judge George W. Smith severely censured the banker but stated that influential friends would undoubtedly be able to secure his release after serving a short sentence.

Jossman had nothing to say why judgment should not be pronounced upon him and took his sentence coolly. He smiled afterwards.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Clyde R. Morrison of Detroit, former assistant cashier of the insolvent Jossman State bank at Clarkston, which charges him with having made a false entry in the bank books. The officers charge that Morrison knew of the manipulations of Cashier Ralph E. Jossman and that he aided and abetted him.

Morrison was arraigned in Municipal court and demanded an examination. The examination is set for November 23. He furnished bail in the amount of $5,000.

Y. M. C. A. Conference at Saginaw.

Saginaw, Mich.—Coach J. A. Macklin of the Michigan Agricultural college will deliver an address before the eleventh annual boys' conference of the Y. M. C. A. of Michigan, to be held in Saginaw, November 29, according to announcement of the committee in charge. The athletic director, whose team upset every calculation in football this year, will be the big attraction at the Saturday night meeting, speaking on the subject, "Clean Athletics." Motion pictures of the Michigan-Cornell football game are to be shown.

J. A. Van Dine, secretary of boys' work for the state association, reported unusual interest in being manifested in plans for the meeting this year. Advice from various sections, he said, indicated that large delegations will attend.

Kalamazoo and Ann Arbor are preparing to make a strong pull for the boys' conference in 1914.

Postpone New Charter Election.

Bay City, Mich.—After having voted November 3 to hold a special election December 10 on the question of a general revision of the charter and to elect charter commissioners at the same time, the council Monday night rescinded all its former action and directed the mayor to appoint a committee of five members of the council and five citizens to prepare amendments to the charter to be submitted to the voters at the April election.

The council made no provision in its annual budget for meeting the expenses of the charter revision.

Dentists Meet in Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich.—Between two and three hundred delegates attended the convention of the Southwestern Michigan Dental association. Dr. F. W. McDonald, of Detroit, was the first speaker, his paper dealing with "Malocclusion of the Teeth." Dr. S. J. Lewis, Kalamazoo, led the discussion. A paper on "Dental Materia Medica and Pharmacology," by Dr. C. A. Burbridge, of Grand Rapids, and discussed by Drs. E. T. Loeffler, Ann Arbor, and W. A. Griffin, Detroit.

President Hutchins, of the U. of M. has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend a convention of the National Association of State Universities.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Davis and daughter, of Venice township, Shiawassee county, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jeffers, of Flint, are floating down the Ohio river in their own steam yacht. The boat was shipped to Cincinnati and the families embarked there. They will journey down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans. Then they will proceed along the coast to Havana, near Pensacola.

State Veterinary Surgeon Dunphy has been here making an investigation of cholera among hogs around Petoskey. He found that the swine were infected only in instances where they had been fed refuse from hotels and boarding houses.

SELLING MICHIGAN POTATOES

Lew Shank, the eccentric mayor of Indianapolis, is again fighting the commission merchants of his city and incidentally the high cost of living by shipping in Michigan potatoes to be sold under wholesale prices.

FACTORY FOR STUDENTS

Attendance at University Can be Increased if Employment for Young Men Could be Found.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"One thousand more young men of the state of Michigan would attend the university each year if they could only be assured permanent work for their spare hours by which they could earn school funds."

This statement was made by a member of the working students' committee. The two employment bureaus find it very difficult to find jobs enough to go around here. Most of them are waiting table for board, tending furnace for rooms, or doing odd cash jobs about the city. A city no larger than Ann Arbor cannot furnish continuous work for several hundred students.

A number of plans have been suggested. A factory of some kind seems the most plausible. It would need to be one that would not be compelled to depend upon rush order work, for the amount of labor would vary greatly from day to day. Some days there would be several hundred workers every hour, while other days, such as periods before examinations, the numbers would undoubtedly dwindle to almost nothing. The idea is to have the kind of work such that a student can drop into the factory at any hour of the day he happens to have some spare time, work as long as he likes at so much per hour, and quit when he wishes to. The main thing to plan for it to always have work for all at any time.

The product will need to be something for which there is a steady demand, and which can be sold as fast as finished. A basket factory has been suggested as meeting these requirements. Another suggestion has been a cement block factory.

Prisoners Escape and Are Recaptured.

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Three prisoners being held at the Dickinson county jail made a sensational escape Sunday evening. They used a stair railing to pry open the bars. Two were caught at Pembine, Wis., as they were boarding the late Soo train and the other was caught in a local hotel the next morning. Smith and Hoven, the first two, took part in a free-for-all fight last week and several were stabbed. Zane, the other man, is alleged to have forged checks on the I. Stephenson company. This makes the second delivery made in the same manner within a few months.

Road Bee At Alanson.

Alanson, Mich.—Alanson is a village of only 600 population and is located about 10 miles northeast of Petoskey, but does things toward good roads. A call was sent out for volunteers one day, and the next day men, women and children were on the job—men with teams and road scrapers, women with picks and shovels, boys with hoes and girls with water pails. When night overtook the workers they had completed about a mile of good road which in the morning was nearly impassable.

All of the old officers were unanimously re-elected at the meeting of the Hillsdale county W. C. T. U. at Reading.

Horace Robinson, 35 and married, a telephone lineman, of Saginaw received 20,000 volts of electricity. He made his way down the pole and then dropped over unconscious. He was revived by a pulmotor.

George McNeal, 25, a farmer of Chippewa township, Isabella county, was shot and killed by Charles McCall, one of his own hunting party near Garnet, in the upper peninsula. He was mistaken for a deer. McNeal lived long enough to exonerate McCall from any blame. A widow and four children survive.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

PURITY OF ONLY ARTICLE OF DIET FURNISHED PUPILS
IMPERATIVE.

WATER SHOULD NOT BE JUDGED
BY APPEARANCE.

C. L. Glasgow in Discussing Grade Crossings Says It Is Matter of Vital Importance in This Fast Age.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing, Mich.—"One of the most important points to be looked after in the sanitation in schools is the pure water supply," says Edward D. Rich, sanitary engineer of the state board of health. "This is the only article of diet furnished to the pupils by the educational authorities, and upon its purity will depend the danger to its users of infection by intestinal diseases, chief among which may be mentioned typhoid fever."

"Responsibility for a pure water supply rests heaviest upon those in charge of rural schools and upon the boards of education in small towns having no public water supply delivered in pipes. In the case of large cities some municipal officer is charged with the duty of maintaining the purity of the city water and the school board may generally rely upon him for proper results. But in instances where the school has its own supply its safety too often depends upon the mere opinion of some citizen or member of the board and not upon positive evidence obtained by actual test of the particular water, made with systematic regularity."

"It is difficult to eradicate from the mind of a layman the idea that if a drinking water looks good, tastes good and smells good it must of necessity be good. How fortunate would humanity be if the germs of diseases which infect drinking water were large enough to be readily seen and thrown out of it before taking them into our systems. Unhappily such is not the case, and turbidity and color are no indications whatever of the germ content. In fact it has often happened in the laboratory that of two samples, one dirty and perhaps ill smelling, and the other clear and sparkling, the first has proved by far the safer of the two. Let us all try to rid ourselves and our neighbors of the fallacy that appearance is a guarantee of purity."

"In Michigan the water supply for the rural school, and generally for that of a small village, is taken on or near the school grounds. Only rarely will it be possible to utilize springs for this purpose. Wells may be divided into classes depending on the geological formation in the locality; shallow wells from 10 to 50 feet or more in depth and deep wells, those more than 100 feet deep. Deep wells are almost always put down by driving a pipe or drilling a hole into which a tight casing is inserted later. If the formation is such that one or more strata of clay or other impervious layers are passed through and the casing tightly fills the hole through these strata the chances of contamination are very materially reduced. If ledge rock is encountered near the surface through which it is necessary to drill, it is more difficult to protect the deep seated water from being polluted by surface drainage finding its way through fissures in the rock to the well."

"It is almost impossible to predict with any certainty the distance from which a well may draw its supply. This is especially true of wells in rock or in soils susceptible to cracking or uneven density. Contamination has been known to travel long distances from sources of infection through underground passages more or less open."

"Proper care of an outdoor closet at a school is one of the most difficult problems educational authorities have to deal with. If such toilet facilities must be used the only course to pursue is a liberal use of earth and strong disinfectants with weekly cleanings. A much better arrangement is now possible for cases where no sewerage is possible. There has lately been put on the market a chemical closet which can be installed in the school building without objectionable features, and all advantages of the indoor water carriage system realized. By the use of this outfit greater convenience and neatness is obtained. But most important of all, the possibility of contamination of a water supply is removed."

Before Corporation Counsel Lawson, of Detroit, prevents the state from collecting the tax of 50 cents per horse power on automobiles as specified under the terms of the new law passed at the last session of the legislature, he will have to beat Attorney General Fellows in a hard legal battle, as Fellows is prepared to go into court and prove that the bill is unconstitutional.

Under the provisions of the new bill it is expected that the tax from automobiles will bring half a million dollars into the good road fund of the state next year. Wayne county will be the hardest hit under the new law as there are 10,000 licensed motor vehicles in that county. Kent, Ingham, Jackson and the other automobile centers of Michigan will also have considerable property taken off the local tax rolls.

Secretary of War Garrison will soon investigate the military department of the M. A. C. for the purpose of learning what benefit the government is deriving from the $120,000 appropriated to it annually for military training of students.

C. L. Glasgow of the state railroad commission is making an extensive study of grade crossings and he says that no object engaging the attention of the railroad, utility or public service corporations is of more vital importance to the general public than the protection of street and highway crossings.

"The safeguarding of human life is not to be compared with gain resulting to our people from a rate reduction, a lowered passenger fare or the safety of a stock and bond issue," said Commissioner Glasgow.

"This is a great age and a great country. In foreign countries where life is lived at a more moderate rate, regulations are in force resulting in an interference to traffic that our people would not tolerate. When this country was new and the railroads so necessary to its development and growth, permission to construct grade crossings was freely given by local authorities as the demands of business required additional trains and the population increased and the use of these crossings greatly multiplied. The danger to the public increased in proportion yet in view of the rapid increase in the value of property, the expense of constructing crossings other than at grade became enormous and except where insisted upon by railroad companies continued the construction of the least expensive crossings. The public against accident at such crossings by installing bells or gates or by stationing flagmen, but human judgment and mechanical devices fail and the slaughter of humanity continues."

"The general public are by no means exempt from criticism as shown by the annual reports of the interstate commerce commission containing statistics showing the number of people killed at crossings by carelessly using the right of way of the railroad as a public thoroughfare. It is therefore apparent that impatient, insistent Americans refuse to be restrained in their mad rush, either by flagmen or mechanical devices and it is up to us to devise and suggest such reasonable conditions as will protect the wild automobile driver, the careless pedestrian and the thoughtless child from injury or destruction by railroad trains at crossings. While it must be conceded that the several devices now in use are a great aid, it must also be as freely conceded that in order to properly and entirely remove the danger at least within the corporate limits of cities and villages where there is any great amount of traffic, the grade at such crossings should be separated. This involves considerable expense and as the public share in the benefits they also should share in the expense. Different states have placed the authority to order such separation of grades and the apportioning of the expense in the hands of different authorities and many states have failed to take any action whatever. I believe that the laws in the several states relative to this subject should be uniform."

In all probability the matter of grade crossings will be taken up for consideration by the next legislature. If an attempt is made to force some of the railroad companies into line a bitter battle may be expected in the state capital.

Weeds, which the state of Michigan has been endeavoring by law to eradicate, are to be fought by the Michigan Agricultural college by educating public school students to recognize the noxious plant growths and aid in killing them.

This campaign of education will be forwarded under the direction of Dr. E. A. Bessey, head of the department of botany at M. A. C., who has made preparations for commencement of the work.

The botany department is making up cases of 100 small bottles, which will contain the seeds of practically every weed known in Michigan. These cases will be forwarded to any school of the state on request, to enable instructors to communicate weed information to the students.

It has been estimated at the college that weeds cause hundreds of thousands of dollars damage each year throughout the state, but by properly educating citizens to know the harmful plants, it is thought that much can be done in the future towards lessening the loss.

Rev. A. R. Mitchell, of Algonac, has been called to the pastorate of the Episcopal church at Ionia to take the place made vacant by Rev. J. E. Wilkenson, when the latter went to Manistee two years ago.

E. D. Townsend, the largest bee keeper in Michigan, has decided to move his bee colonies in various parts of the state to points within a four-mile radius of North Star. A large share of these colonies was formerly at Cadillac and Charlevoix. Townsend has more than 800 swarms. He formerly resided at Remus.

Three women have entered M. A. C. to study agriculture, the first of their sex in the history of the college, and perhaps in Michigan for that matter, to take up scientific farming. They are Miss Nellie G. Clark of Gladwin, Mrs. Mary Goodrich, town of Penton, and Miss Ethel Arlington Fielding of Chicago.

Ward H. Parker, county agriculturalist for Genesee county, has been released and the Genesee County Crop Improvement association has disbanded because of lack of co-operation on the part of farmers. Out of 3,000 farmers in the county, only 200 were members of the association.

GEN. BLANQUET TAKES CHARGE

President Takes Up Residence in Old Fortress at Outskirts of City.
Keeps Watch On Congress.

Mexico City.—International complications were overshadowed by the reported discovery of a plot among Gen. Huerta's former followers to bust him from the presidency. In this connection there were four developments during Monday night and Tuesday.

General Huerta took up his residence in the old fortress of Chapultepec, on the outskirts of the city. From presidential quarters in the fortress the dictator ordered the arrest of many of his political foes.

General Blanquet, minister of war, took practical possession of the national palace. Blanquet's own men were detailed there as guards, replacing those selected by Huerta when he took office.

Officers and soldiers of the federal garrison threatened to mutiny because they have not been paid.

General Huerta is keeping close watch over all the congressional leaders. This was shown when he detailed an officer of his military household to act as bodyguard for General Francisco Ponce, chairman of the senate. This officer is in reality a spy and all of Ponce's movements are immediately reported to the dictator.

Significance is attached to troop movements which took place during Monday night. Part of General Blanquet's old Twenty-ninth regiment was sent to the national palace. This regiment took part in the battle of Mexico City when Madero was overthrown and the men through long years of close association, have become deeply attached to their leader.

To Help Michigan Strikers.

Seattle, Wash.—The American Federation of Labor convention Tuesday adopted unanimously a resolution introduced by John Mitchell demanding that congress investigate the copper workers' strike in Michigan.

The text of the resolution was at once telegraphed to Washington.

The federation also pledges itself to aid the strikers and a committee was named by President Gompers to take up a collection.

The international officers will also ask the various unions of the country to vote strike benefits for the support of the families of the miners.

Harry Is Arrested Again.

Concord, N. H.—Judge Aldrich Tuesday ordered the rearrest of Harry K. Thaw, an action which follows the governor's decision to permit the extradition of Stanford White's slayer. The decision of the court was for a formal one for the purpose of clearing the record, and immediately precipitated a row among the attorneys over the custody of Thaw. The new arrest was, as a consequence, delayed pending the discussion of the technicalities involved.

Senate to Give Tea Set.

Washington.—A solid silver tea set, costing $1,000, was selected by a committee composed of Senators Martine, Overman and Bacon, as a wedding present from the United States senate for Miss Jessie Wilson. The set is of colonial design and comprises a water kettle, one tray, a chocolate pot and ice cream dish, two caskets and four candlesticks.

MICHIGAN BREVITIES

Muskegon.—G. G. Humphrey of Freeport township dropped dead in Muskegon Heights while unloading potatoes.

Memphis.—By sucking carbolic acid through a straw, Mrs. Herman M. wards, sixty-eight, ended her life here. She had been ill for some time.

Charlotte.—Mrs. Phillip Gullie, a well known resident of Charlotte, hanged herself in a barn. She was 40 years of age.

Holland.—Burglars entered the residence of A. Visscher, Prof. Wyand Wickers and W. J. Garrod and escaped with jewelry and silverware valued at $700.

Kalamazoo.—Suit was started in municipal court for 65 cents. Lloyd Tawh, a tailor, asks this amount of Arthur Adams, alleging that it is due him for a cleaning job.

Menominee.—Harold Enderby, fourteen years old, was killed while hunting in the woods near Grover, when his gun accidentally discharged. His body was in the woods three days.

Calumet.—The two young sons of Alexander "Remillard" of Lake Linden died and two others are seriously ill, one dying, while the mother is also sick as the result of eating poisoned canned corn beef.

Pontiac.—While his wife, fifteen years old, has gone back to her parents in Rochester, Glen McIntyre, aged sixteen, arrived here to begin a three year term for burglary committed over a year ago. He was at that time given another chance by the judge, but was soon in trouble again. They were married in Windsor, Ontario.

Flint.—Six hundred pounds of "imitation fruit jam," and 35 pounds of unwholesome raisins shipped by a Chicago firm to Hardy's bakery, this city, were condemned by Deputy State Food Inspector R. E. Woodruff and City Food Inspector Frier and ordered sent back to the shippers.

Grand Rapids.—After firing two shots at Mrs. Clara A. Whitney and one at herself, Matthew Herman of Dor, a Lake Shore brakeman, eluded officers for five hours, before he walked through the city in broad daylight and surrendered himself to Police Sergeant Steckle. In police court he admitted an attempt to take Mrs. Whitney's life, saying he was enraged at seeing her with another man.

Grand Rapids.—Francis M. Potter, seventy-seven years old, a veteran newspaper writer and publisher, died at his home here. Mr. Potter was the founder of the Tribune at Charlotte, which he published for 12 years. He also founded the Vermontville Hawk, now the Echo. He was connected with the Tribune in Detroit for four years and with the Herald in this city for 12 years.

East Lansing.—High school students in Michigan are to be aided in the study of weeds by the Michigan Agricultural college botanical department. Doctor Bessy, head of the department, is preparing samples of 100 common weeds that grow in this state. These will be placed in small glass bottles and sent to all the high schools in Michigan for exhibition and study by the botanical departments.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Militiamen Spurn Department's Plea to Be Cooks

WASHINGTON.—Biscuits and pies! These two delightful edibles are proving obstacles to the United States war department, and it all comes of the efforts of the authorities to get brave and gallant militiamen interested in the art of cooking.

Recently congress supplied funds to be used in instructing militia officers in the art of mixing dough and preparing pie crust so it could be cut with an ordinary knife. War department heads expected their action would meet with popular approval, and that the militiamen would crowd one another in their haste to take up domestic science.

They were sadly mistaken. Not a single officer volunteered. In fact, there was a marked hesitancy on the part of the men to become cooks. Schools for bakers and cooks, maintained by the war department with a view to teaching the men sanitary food values have gone without pupils as a consequence.

Much speculation as to the attitude of the militia officers has been indulged in by the department heads, with little satisfaction. Some have ventured the opinion that four and dough might soil their glistening uniforms, and the fact that they are employed in the kitchen might lessen their majesty in front of the fair sex at social events. The government as an inducement has offered to keep secret the list of men who apply for kitchen instruction, and as to the other objection, aprons would, of course, be provided while the pupil mixes dough.

Aside from the ability to mix flour and water, the military requirements for entrance to the "Biscuit College" demand that a budding officer-cook must be of sound health and good moral character. Incidentally in setting forth the requirements, the militia division bars officers above the rank of colonel.

The appeal for officer-cooks, however, is genuine, and if there is any militia member in Cleveland who is anxious to excel in the finest art the world has known, confer a favor upon a perplexed war department and write at once.

United in Wedlock in Capitol Grotto Grounds

RECOLLECTIONS of what blissful effect entrance to the little sylvan grotto in the United States capitol grounds, with its music of rippling water and its sweet seclusion, had "when love was young," came to the front in the minds of hundreds of married and single Washingtonians the other day, with the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wilson Scruggs, the latter formerly Miss Florence Leger, had been married in the grotto.

Cupid simply reversed his tactics regarding the grotto, which is sometimes known as "The Temple of Romance" in the cases of the Legers. Ordinarily—one might say in all cases heretofore, in all romances at least—the little love god has lured the prospective lovers to the grotto, and there sowed the seed of love or driven home his darts to the gurgling sound of the little fountains within the retreat and the nestling of the ivy that covers the bower. Instead of beginning this last romance there he established a precedent and brought it to a culmination in the precincts of the little place.

Out of the myriad of brides and grooms that annually visit the capitol and saunter through its grounds at least nine out of ten couples pause on entering the ideal love-making bower, reconnoiter to see if anyone else is within dangerous proximity, and then—well, everybody who has been there knows.

Mrs. Scruggs, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Leger of this city, conceived the idea of being married in the popular little grotto. In company with Leland Leger, her brother, and the Rev. Dr. Thompson, pastor of the Waugh M. E. church, the couple went to the grotto and were quietly married. Following the ceremony the couple and the bride's parents and two brothers went to Great Falls on a little picnic. Mr. and Mrs. Scruggs will make their home in Mississippi.

Many Undraped Scarecrows in Military Service

CAPT. Harold W. Jones, of the Army Medical Corps, has made an investigation of the physical characteristics of recruits accepted for the army since the Civil war, as shown by the medical records and according to these records it seems that the standard of recruits is deteriorating.

The measurements of 500 recruits were examined, and it is shown that the percentage of strong men enlisted is by far the lowest at the present day, only 33 per cent. as against 57 per cent. in 1875. The men considered weak at the present time are 43 per cent. as against 19 per cent. in 1875.

Attention is called to the fact that the percentage of foreign-born recruits has fallen from more than 60 per cent. to about 9 per cent., and it is suggested that many of the recruits obtained years ago were hardy German and Irish emigrants of stocky build, which may account for the great difference in the percentage of strong men in the army now.

Many recruits from the country districts of Louisiana, Alabama, and Mississippi are found to be ill fed and under weight, and Capt. Jones states that the universal custom of waiving several pounds under the minimum weight "gets many an undraped scarecrow into the service."

Capt. Jones further says: "We must take the figures cautiously. As I have said, I think there is no doubt that we are getting a different type of man in the service today from what we got years ago. He may be just as good and he may have more brains, but he does not seem to have as much brawn. Whether the present-day recruit would last as well under the old conditions of hard frontier service, with sanitary conditions far inferior to those of the present time, is hard to say, but I think it doubtful if he would. The high percentage of strong men in 1875 to 1879 may be due to the fact that recruiting, at least in this part of the country, was not very active then, and the army could pick its men, accepting only the hardiest and the best."

Real Babies Engaged for School Girls to Nurse

GENUINE experience in housework, housekeeping, cooking, and care of babies is to be part of the domestic science course of the grade school girl of Washington. Real babies are to be loaned for the course, and what's more—real babies are to be furnished for demonstration purposes. These plans for making the school courses in domestic science more practical and instructive are owing to impetus given by Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, who is prominent in all social service endeavors in the capital.

The present prospect is for two of these houses. One is a modern cottage connected with the Noel house. The other is an alley house, under the supervision of Neighborhood house settlement.

Girls taking the domestic science courses in the schools will hold classes at these houses a number of times each week, when they will be given the opportunity to do all kinds of housework under the eyes of capable instructors. They will keep the houses clean, make the curtains, the bedding, the towels, and various other articles that enter into the composition of the regular home.

They will be taught to cook food upon the regulation stove, to keep the larder properly supplied, and the dishes and pots and pans in correct condition and arrangement. And, then, the demonstration baby!

This baby, Mrs. John P. S. Neigh says, will be borrowed for the occasion. For the Neighborhood house classes it will be borrowed from the day nursery connected with the settlement. Upon this baby all the mysteries of caring for its kind, and for making them healthy and happy, will be demonstrated.

OBTAINING MULES FROM LIGHT HORSES.

A Pair of Farm Mules That Are Worth Upward of $600.

It is foolhardy to use the best mares for raising mules. There are too few of them to keep up the horse supply. There are plenty of poor or unsound mares that will rear good mules, said W. A. Cochel, head of the department of animal husbandry at the Kansas Agricultural college, to a class in horse production, recently.

The best mule is produced from a light type of horse, Professor Cochel said. A good mule-producing mare has a big head; is rugged, roomy, comparatively heavy bone, a good big foot, and is upstanding. The jack should be as high as possible, have a Roman nose, coarse bone, a big foot, and long ears.

A mule eats in an irregular manner, and it is almost impossible to fatten him. They do better if fed in a lot than in a stall. On farms where it is necessary to have hired men it is best to let them work mules, because of the smaller danger of injury or loss due to bad driving or feeding. Mules are easily fattened in a small lot, and do not fight, but they do not fatten in a large lot because they are too restless.

A careless or ignorant man can be successful in breeding mules, but he would fail with horses. But a careful man will be more successful with horses than with mules. A Kansas farmer cannot afford to work good draft geldings, but should work draft mares, mules or geldings that are still increasing in value.

The average value of mules in all states except one is from one to eight dollars more than the average value of horses in the same states. The exception is Rhode Island. There is always a good market for mules. They are freer from blemishes and unsoundnesses and less susceptible to disease. They live longer than horses at heavy labor and can be driven by ignorant help with less danger of loss. They can be sold at any age, and can take better care of themselves than horses.

EXCELLENT NOTES OF THE SHEEPFOLD

Weed Out Every Individual Animal That Is Not Young, Thrifty and of Good Build.

(By E. L. VINCENT.)

Look round for a better head for your flock of sheep than you ever had before. Be willing to pay the cost. It will all come back.

Let your breeding stock be the best on the farm. Weed out every individual that is not thrifty, well built and young.

I was talking the other day with a man who has a special arrangement with a butcher downtown to take so many lambs every week at a certain specified price per pound. That man has no trouble to dispose of his surplus stock. He takes the matter by the right handle. Get your market, then work for the lambs.

Never buy a ewe with great long hoofs. The longer her hoofs the fewer teeth she is apt to have, and toothless sheep are the poorest property a man can have on his farm.

In picking out lambs for the home flock, select those that have short legs and stocky bodies, with good straight backs. A good backbone is a great thing, in any creature, even a man.

You will have plenty of offers for the best lambs; but if you are smart, you will keep enough of them to make your flock good and growing better every year. Prices do not count when it comes to building up a flock. The best flock master is the kindest man.

Long-legged sheep never ought to be used as breeders.

"Sell your wool on a rising market. It is when the tide goes out that we drop our bundle."

Mutton and meat of lambs advances in price about forty per cent., usually, between the farm and the man who eats it. If you can get a bit nearer to the last man, you can save him some money and yourself a good lot. Can't you do it?

The public market is the best way so far devised for cutting out the long string of middlemen that are eating the people up alive. More and more cities and large towns are adopting that plan. More should do so, and do it soon.

It is not generally known that the old stoves called "mammas" that the Egyptians used as incubators, date back to remote antiquity. Even before the French Revolution the Paris markets had incubator chickens, thanks to an apparatus which was invented in France in 1777.

USING COMMON SENSE IN THE HOG LOT

Cement Drinking Trough for Live Stock.

Do you know of anything on the farm that will run into money faster than hogs when around 6 or 7 cents per pound?

It increases the feeding value of corn to soak it from 24 to 47 hours, but the hogs will relish an occasional feed of dry grain.

An armful of green cornstalks will add relish to the hog's ration, but it should not be fed regularly until the corn in the ear has hardened beyond the possibility of frost.

Some farmers cut off the tails of their pigs because they claim that it takes ten ears of corn to raise one tail, there, they amputate in the interest of economy.

The man who breeds hogs with high ideals of perfection cannot succeed unless he keeps an active record of his breeding operations. He needs a blank book for the purpose and must pay the most careful attention to entries.

The sprayer and a good solution of lice-killer is just as essential in hog raising as houses and fences.

GOOD JOKES

THE REASON.

Too Late.

He waits for Opportunity To knock upon his door: If e'er she does, she'll probably find Him dead upon the floor.

Made No Difference.

Two women mutually confiding their grousches. One woman, a sweet little soul; the other, a self-assertive body. "You can't think how this high cost of living affects us," confessed the one. "Why, my bills for clothes alone are more than twice as large this year as they were last year." "Mercy!" gasped the other. "I don't see how your husband can afford it!" "That's the answer—he can't," retorted the first. "But he couldn't afford it last year. So what's the difference?"

Bright Side.

"He always tries to see the bright side."

"What's happened?"

"He was run down by an automobile yesterday and almost killed, yet the first thing he said when he regained consciousness was, 'Gee whiz! after fifteen years I've got a chance to cash in on an accident policy!'"

Logical Results.

"Boss," complained the famous twirler, "I'm all run down!" "I don't wonder," sharply answered the manager of the team. "You've been trying to save your arm by pitching without winding up."

TALKS ALL THE TIME NOW.

Sure.

The church may get a frequent dime, But Satan never hollers; For he knows that most of the time He gets his toll in dollars.

Sympathetic.

"Did you attend the suffrage meeting, Mrs. Winter?"

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Gadson, but I'm afraid I was not en rapport."

"I'm so sorry. I was telling Henry only the other day that this hot weather is going to make everybody sick."

Those Days Are Over.

"That young Englishman who came over recently showed me a funny sight today."

"What was that?"

"Showed me a trunkful of glass beads he brought over to trade to the Indians."

Easy to Believe.

"Statistics say there are 70,000,000 people in the world. Seems incredible, eh?"

"Not to me. I think I tipped fairly that many while on my vacation trip."

Naturally.

"I told the actress that her face was made up horribly."

"What did she do?"

"She changed countenance."

Every Comfort.

"Sim Waffle certainly runs an enterprising store."

"How now?"

"Sets out cushioned crates for the loafers to roose on."

Singular.

"Here is a rather unusual story of a disaster written by a young newspaper man."

"Why is it unusual?"

"He doesn't refer a single time to 'Death's grisly toll.'"

DARKEST AFRICA.

The lovers lingered long. At their feet the noble Zambesi hurried onward to the sea. It was in Darkest Africa, but they were not afraid of the dark.

"No," she was cooing, softly but firmly, "I cannot marry you on any other terms. Papa says I'm worth three yokes of oxen and a tame elephant, and I cannot become your wife for any less."

"All I have in the world," he protested wildly, "is one yoke of oxen."

For a moment no sound was heard save the ripple of the water. She first broke silence.

"I think—" Her voice trembled, and her glance was bent shyly upon the ground.

"Papa is willing to let me be a sister to you for one yoke of oxen." But he only groaned.—Puck.

A Painful Reminiscence.

"Yes," confessed the imprisoned confidence man. "I have had moments of deep regret. I remember on the occasion of my first arrest—I was barely nineteen years old—" He paused for a moment.

"Yes?" put in the good old clergyman, sympathetically.

"I was bitterly disappointed to find that not a single newspaper referred to me as 'young' in years but old in crime."—Puck.

ACCOMMODATED HIM.

Do Their Own Talking.

Now graphophones are pretty good To have upon one's shelves, In such lines, be it understood, The goods speak for themselves.

A Good and Valid Reason.

"I wish this fellow wouldn't send you so many chocolates," said the other suitor.

"Why?" simpered the girl. "Are you jealous?"

"No; but I prefer to eat marshmallows."

Appropriate.

"Dicks is one of those facetious fellows who, instead of saying 'he's had his lunch,' invariably says 'he's had his beans.'"

No matter what he really did eat?"

"Yes. And while I hate slang, in a case of this kind I don't think it would be much of an exaggeration to call Dicks' head a 'bean.'"

By His Wit No Longer.

"Say, what's Bill Smithers doing now? Still living by his wit, as he always did, huh?"

"Nope. Bill's made a change for himself and settled down to hard work. Runs the funny column in the Afternoon Squeak."

Bound to Be.

"I see where a man makes a good living writing obituary notices."

"Umph! I dare say he's, a facile liar."

Sure.

"Otherwise he couldn't live up to his favorite motto."

"And what's that?"

"De mortuis nil nisi bonum."

So Light.

"Miss Gadders," said the young man, tentatively, "if I should stumble and fall into this lake, would you be alarmed?"

"Oh, no, Mr. Blathers," answered the young woman, with a yawn. "Your head would keep afloat."

Matrimonial Amenities.

He (during the quarrel)—Then, by your own account, I didn't tell you a single truth before we were married.

She—You did one; you said you were unworthy of me.

Impossible.

"Your conduct should always be open with your wife."

"How can I be when she is always shutting me up?"

The Humorist's Wife.

"Before I submit them to the editors I let my wife read over all the jokes I write," said the humorist to the inquiring friend. "The bad ones, of course, I don't send, and thus save stamps."

"What an odd process! I thought it was settled that woman has no sense of humor. Your wife must be a treasure."

"She is. The ones she doesn't see the point to I have a standing contract for from three magazines at $5 apiece."

Genius "Key West."

Yes—it's another. Professor Van Dusen was vainly trying to unlatch his front door with a cigar, to the amusement of a friend who had accompanied him home to talk over the fourth dimension.

"Look here, man," said the friend when he could talk without betraying his amusement, "do you know what you're trying to open that door with?"

The professor looked, then gave a start of dismay.

"Gracious!" he blurted out, "I must have smoked my latch key!"

Is Your Body Poisoned?

Well kidneys keep the blood free of uric acid, a deadly poison that is constantly forming inside the body.

Slimy kidneys allow the uric acid to accumulate, causing rheumatic attacks, headache, dizziness, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, dropsy, and heart disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills restore the normal blood-filtering action of the kidneys. This drives out uric acid and ends uric acid poisoning.

AN ILLINOIS CASE.

"Every Picture Tells a Story." Charles Eyster, R. Walnut St., Waukegan, Ill., says: "I had rheumatism and kidney trouble for years. The pain started in my back and went to my limbs. I was laid up for months and doctors said they could not help me. On a friend's advice, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the first box relieved me. Half a dozen boxes fixed me up in good shape."

Good News for the Girl with Ugly Hair.

Don't mourn over it! Don't envy others because they have beautiful hair. Begin right now to give proper intelligent care and attention to your hair—and then let others envy you. Use Harmony Hair Beautifier, a delightful liquid hair dressing that is just what it is named—a hair beautifier.

To make the hair glossy, soft and silky—to make it easier to put up in smooth, wavy folds, and "stay put"—to restore to your hair the well-known appearance you want it to have—to overcome the unpleasant, oily odor of the hair and leave instead a delightfully dainty, fresh rose fragrance—Harmony Hair Beautifier will please you, or your money back. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives a rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler-tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is held at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the photograph. Helen declares that if she can induce him to run, she will be a Covington. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to win. Hearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as a second spot. That Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, glass club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to dissuade Speed with the ladies and the cowboys. Speed and Glass put in the time they are supposed to be training playing cards in a secluded spot. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the human, declares the trainer will go back to his place. A telegram comes from Covington saying he is in jail at Omaha for ten days. Glass in a panic forces Speed to begin training in earnest. The cowboys force Speed to eat a diet of very rare meat. Miss Blake asks a cake for Speed and is offended when Larry refuses to allow him to eat. Covington arrives on crutches. He says he broke his toe in Omaha. Mrs. Knap, engaged to Covington and in love with Jack Chapin, exposes Speed to Helen because Speed had failed to prevent Covington from joining the party. Speed decides to cripple himself, but Skinner, the Centipede runner, appears with a proposition to race. Glass attempts to escape at night, but is captured. Fresno gives Gallagher, the Centipede foreman, $500 to beat Speed for him. Helen Blake hears of it and bets $500 on Speed.

"I haven't got you. My name is Skinner."

"Nix on that moniker," Glass smiled, indulgently. "I had a man in that Sheffield Handicap six years ago."

"You're in bad," asserted the cook steadily, "but assuming that my name is Long."

"I didn't say your name was Long," I called you 'Whis'. Glass chuckled at the point as he scored it. "Now some in, be good."

Skinner darted a look toward Gallagher and the Centipede men gathered about the thrilling phonograph, stopped and tied his shoes, and breathed softly:

"Spiel!"

"This little feller I'm trainin'—does he win?"

"Without an upward glance, Skinner inquired:

"Did the man you trained for the Sheffield Handicap win?"

"Never mind that. Does this frame-up go through?" It happened that Speed, drawn irresistibly, had come forward to hang upon every word, and now chose this moment to interrupt.

"It's all right, Mr. Skinner—" But Skinner leaped to his feet.

"Don't try anything like that!" he cried in a terrible voice that brought Gabby Gallagher striding toward them.

"What's goin' on here? Are they tryin' to fix you, Skinner?"

"Not a bit like it," Glass protested.

"This Little Feller I'm Trainin'—Does He Win?"

stoutly. "I only asked him which side he'd rather run on, and now he calls for police protection."

"Don't try it again, that's all!" the cook warned, sullenly.

"I reckon I'll take a hand in this!" Gallagher was in a fine rage, and would have fallen upon the offender had not Stover stopped in his path.

"I reckon you don't!" he said easily.

The two glared at each other, and were standing thus when Speed and his trainer moved gently off. They made their way to the house in comparative silence. "I—I made a mistake," said Wally.

"You've been jabbed like you was a cary," said Glass. "There ain't but one thing to do now. Go into the house and change your clothes, and when you get ready to run, get ready to run for your life—and mine."

Over on the race-course Gallagher

"Who's goin' to send these y're athletes away?"

"I am!" announced Willie without hesitation. "Bein' perhaps the handiest man present with a weapon, I'm goin' to start this journey." He looked his foes squarely in the eyes. "Has anybody got objections to me?" The silence was flattering, and more loudly now, so that Skinner might hear, he added: "If your man tries to beat the gun, I'll have him wingin' his way to lands celestial before he makes his second jump."

Gallagher acknowledged the fairness of this proposition. "This race is goin' to be square," said he. "We're ready when you're all are."

J. Wallingford Speed stepped out of his clothes and into his silken running-suit. He was numb and cold. His hands performed their duties to be sure, but his brain was idle. All he knew was that he had been betrayed and all was lost. He heard Glass panting instructions into his ear, but they made no impression upon him. In a dull trance he followed his trainer back to the track, his eyes staring, his bones like water. Not until he heard the welcoming shout of the Flying Heart henchmen did he realize that the worst was yet to come. He heard Larry still coaching earnestly: "If you can't bite him, trip him up," and some one said:

"Are we ready?"

Glass held out his hand. "Good-by, Mr. Speed."

Chapin came forward and spoke with artificial heartiness, "Good-luck, Wally; beat him at the start," and Covington followed.

"Remember," he cautioned, sadly, "what I told you about the start—it's your only chance."

"Why don't you fellows think about the finish of this race?" faltered the runner.

Then, in a voice broken with excitement, Helen Blake spoke, holding out her hand for a good-by clasp. "Dear Mr. Speed," she said, "will you try to remember this?—remember to run before he does, and don't let him catch up to you. If you do that, I just know you'll win."

This magnificent display of confidence nerved the athlete, and he smiled at her. He wished to speak, but dared not trust himself.

Gallagher was calling: "So he went to the starting-point, whence he surveyed the course. There it lay, no more than a lane leading down between ranks of brown-faced men whose eyes were turned upon him. On the top rail of the corral perched Willie, revolver in hand. The babble of voices ceased, the strident laughter stilled, Speed heard the nervous rustle of feminine skirts. Skinner was standing like a statue, his toe to the mark, his eyes averted.

"You'll start here and run a hundred yards out yonder to the tape," Gallagher announced.

"I refuse!" said Speed firmly.

For one breathless instant there was a hush of amazement, then a cry of rage. Still Bill Stover hurried the nearest man out of his path, and strode forward, his lean face ablaze. He wheeled and flung up his hand as if to check some hidden movement of Willie's.

"No violence yet, Willie! What d'you mean, Mr. Speed?"

Speed uttered what he knew was his final joke on earth. "I mean that I refuse to run straightaway. I'm an all-around athlete, and I must run all around something."

Amid shouts of confusion, those who had taken position along the course came crowding back to the starting-point. Willie wrapped his legs about the top rail of the fence and drew a second revolver, while the two foremen bellowed indistinguishable threats at each other. Chapin lost no time in withdrawing his guests out of the turmoil, but Helen kept her place, her face chalky but her eyes very bright.

"What are you tryin' to hand us?" roared Gallagher.

"Still Bill was quick to take a cue. "Don't get hectic!" said he. "There's nothin' in the articles about runnin' straight. Let 'em run around the corral."

But at this suggestion every voice seemed to break simultaneously.

"Humpty Joe ran straightaway," declared Gallagher.

"Yes, an' he kept at it," piped Willie. "I favor the idea of them runners comin' back where they start from."

"Listen, all of you," Speed announced. "I am going to run around and around and around this corral. If Mr. Skinner chooses to accompany me, he may trail along; otherwise I shall run alone."

"Never heard of such a thing!" Gallagher was dancing in his excitement, but Skinner calmed him by announcing, curtly:

"I'll beat him any way he wants to run."

"You couldn't beat a run," retorted

Wally, and Glass suddenly smote his palms together, crying, "Blanky!"

"I forgot the rug!"

"We don't want no argument afterwards. Does the Centipede accept its fate?" Still Bill glared at the faces ringed about him.

"We do if Skinner says so."

"Twice around the corral," agreed Skinner. "But no accidents, understand? If he falls, I keep going." Instantly there ensued a scramble for grand-stand seats; the cowboys swarmed like insects upon the stout fence of the corral.

"Then you'll start and finish here. Once you'll pass we'll stretch a string to yonder post, and the first man to bust it wins. Who's got a string?"

"Mr. Gallagher, won't you use my sash?" Helen quickly unfasted the long blue bow of ribbon from her cotton gown, and Gallagher thanked her, adding:

"Moreover, the winner gets it!"

For the first time, then, Skinner addressed Miss Blake.

"Haden't you better make that the loser, miss? The winner gets the coin," and the sash came in a flashing smile from the sky-blue eyes.

"Then the loser gets the ribbon!" Gallagher announced loudly, and made one end fast to the corral. "Which I call have some treatment for Mr. Speed, an' only wish we might retain it at the Centipede as a remembrance. Are the runners ready?"

Those near the starting-point gave room. Skinner stepped quickly out from his blanket, and stamped his spikes into the soil; he raised and lowered himself on his toes to try his muscles. Speed drew his bath-robe from his shoulders and thrust it toward his trainer, who shook his head.

"Give it to Covington, Bo; I won't be here when you come back."

"Get on your marks!" The starter gave his order.

Speed set his spikes into the dirt,

"I'm Goin' to Shoot Twice This Time!"

brought his weight forward upon his hands. He whispered something to Skinner. That gentleman straightened up, whereupon Willie cried for a second time:

"On your marks!" and again Skinner crouched.

"Get set!"

The crowd filled its lungs and waited. Helen Blake buried her nails in her rosy cold palms. Chapin and his friends were swayed by their heartbeats, while even Fresno was balanced upon his toes, his plump face eager. The click of Willie's gun sounded sharp as he cocked it.

Into the ear close by his cheek Speed again whispered an agonized—"Don't forget to fall down!"

This time the cook of the Centipede leaped backward with an angry snarl, while the crowd took breath.

"Make him quit talking to me!" cried Skinner.

Gallagher uttered an imprecation and strode forward, only to have his way once more barred by Still Bill Stover. "He can talk if he wants to."

"There is nothing," in the articles to forbid talking. If I wished to, I could sing. Yes, or whistle, if I felt like it."

"On your marks!" came the rasping voice of Willie as Wally murmured to Skinner:

"Remember, I trust you."

Skinner ground his teeth; the tendons in his calves stood out rigidly.

"Get set!"

Once more, the silence of death wrapped the beholders, and Willie raised his arm.

Speed cast one lingering farewell glance to the skies, and said, devoutly: "What a beautiful, beautiful day!"

Now the starter was shaking in an agony of fury.

"Listen, you!" he chattered, shrilly. "I'm goin' to shoot twice this time—once in the air, and the next time at the nearest foot-runner. Now, get set!" and the speaker pulled the trigger, whereupon Speed leaped as if the bullet had been aimed at him.

Gen. Booth's story of his career. General Booth thus epitomized his career: "When I started my work I gave up the friendship of the people as the better class. I gave up the hope of wealth and I abandoned ambition. Now I have found that I gave up. Had I wished it I could be wealthy. My publications have brought me thousands of pounds, but every cent of it has gone back as it came, for the betterment of the conditions of humanity, for making people happy. Similarly, I have the best friends in all classes, and so far as ambition is concerned, if I am not the best known man in the world, I am prayed for the most."

NO ARBITRARY POINT IS SET FOR WAIST LINE

I T isn't often such a substantial and necessary adjunct of feminine apparel as the waist line is allowed the restless perambulations this season has permitted; and it seems no nearer becoming a settled and stationary affair than it did three months ago. Indeed, its restlessness appears to be daily increasing.

Candidly there is absolutely no stating where the most fashionable waist line is. Sometimes it rises high up under the bust at empire height, while again it is discovered dipping low down, fully three and even four inches below its normal position. In fact, in some instances there is no waist line to be discovered at all, except perhaps a faint suggestion at the sides where the supple draping of the bodice might be guessed to follow the supposed line of the conventional waist.

This shifting panorama of waist positions is a most comfortable laxness for women in general. For the woman who is long bodied the high waist line is a welcome subterfuge, while, on the other hand, the woman who is long from the waist down can wear the dropped line at the belt most becomingly.

One extreme example of the waist line vagaries was illustrated rather sensationally in a suit shown not long ago, when the belt line both rose and fell in alternating fashion. The suit was of pale blue serge with an extravagantly beuffed tunic of sea blue satin. Beaded pendants falling from the shore jacket were the only trimming. High in the front, the jacket closed and the tunic rose, both dipping together at each side and then rearing high again at the back. The effect was decidedly bizarre and not to be called handsome by any stretch of the imagination.

Plain Handsome Matched Set

I T would be hard to improve upon this plain and handsome matched set, including turban and muff of brocade, trimmed with fur, which is pictured here. There are any number of fabrics suitable for such sets—satin with raised velvet figures, crepe woven in the same way, velvet plain and in the various brocades, crepe with satin figures, poplin, tursals, mattalases, etc.

These sets (matching or harmonizing in color with the suits having a small coat and waistcoat) serve to make up a quite pretentious costume. Muffs are large, as a rule, although there are exceptions, to this. They are flat and soft. Fabrics elaborate in themselves are best made up in plain designs like that which is set forth in the muff shown in the picture and in the turban as well as the muff.

Many of the muffs made of fabrics trimmed with fur are not made over a regular muff bed. Between the outside fabric and the lining of silk or satin, an interlining of wool padding provides warmth without too much bulk, so that muffs will be soft and slippy," as is the order of the day in fashions.

This universal slippiness is rather attractive, after all. Worn by youthful and vigorous persons it falls in 99 cases out of 100 to be convincing. For it is supposed to convey the idea of a fashionable lassitude and disposition to repose—"that tired feeling," in fact, translated into a style. Now, if there is one thing more than another which the American woman does not possess—it is the before mentioned tired feeling. Her restlessness is softened by the easy-going clothes of today. Let us hope that if they do not reflect her, she will reflect them to a certain degree, in a needed quiet of manner.

The very ample muff we were talking about bespeaks comfort. A wide border of fox fur trims it at the sides, and there is no other ornamentation, for which sensible development the designer deserves a vote of thanks from her feminine friends.

It is tucked together at the side, leaving an opening for the hands. There is a "shirred-on" pocket on the lining, which will accommodate a handkerchief or two, a small purse or a vanity case. One pocket is a convenience, but several are a delusion. Things always get in the wrong pocket, and can never be found quickly.

The turban consists of a band about the head, which supports a small dome-shaped frame of buckram, like a rather high skull cap. The top of this is covered with a small piece of the brocade velvet. There is a wide, bias puff about the brim and crown, with its fullness disposed in plaits laid wherever necessary to get the proper adjustment. The puff managed in this way falls to the right side. A graduated band of fur, wider at the front, where its narrow end is fastened under the turban and terminates under the pair of short, full ostrich half plumes which are used for trimming.

This turban and muff will prove a safe choice for almost any wearer, so far as becomingness is concerned. They are equally well adapted to fabrics for day or evening wear. Better than all, in them is solid comfort as well as style and real beauty.

FRENCH OMELET VERY GOOD

Slightly Different From the Usual Combination, but is Excellent Breakfast Dish.

Use more yolks than whites of eggs, to insure the proper tenderness. The pan should be small and thin, to secure a thick omelet and quick cooking. For a small omelet, take two whole eggs and the yolks of two more; beat with a spoon until a full more; beat with a spoon until a full spoonful can be taken up, add three tablespoons of water, one-fourth a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper, and when well mixed turn into a hot omelet pan in which a tablespoonful of butter has been melted. Move to a hot part of the range for a few seconds, then with a thin knife or spatula separate the cooked portion from the side of the frying pan and shake the pan back and forth in such a manner that the cooked portion may rattle on the pan and leave space for the uncooked egg to run down upon the hot surface of the pan. When cooked to a creamy consistency throughout begin at the side of the pan next the handle and roll the omelet over and then upon a hot plate. Serve at once.

FOR CHAFING DISH SUPPER

Those Fond of Cheese Will Find This a Meal Exactly Suited to Their Taste.

Into a chafing dish put half a cup of milk—add to this half an onion chopped fine—a red and a green pepper seeded and cut in small pieces, a large juicy tomato, skinned and cut in small pieces, together with a teaspoonful of salt and three lumps of sugar. Let these boil slowly for ten minutes. Add to this a cupful of cheese and when it is thoroughly melted pour in a well beaten egg—beating all the time until the mixture is smooth. Have ready sufficient toast beautifully browned and serve a large spoonful on each square of toast. Elve people can be served with this quantity. It makes an appetizing supper dish, and one which will often be called for by those who care for cheese.

Cream of Lima Bean Soup.
Cook one pint lima beans in slightly salted water until perfectly tender. Press through a colander, add one quart milk, put through a food chopper one or two onions, as the flavor of onions is desired. Rub together one tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoons flour. Add to the mixture, heat, stir constantly until smooth, and add a dash of peppers. Salt to properly season. Serve hot. I find a vast difference in lima beans. Some turn dark in cooking and flavor is objectionable, but those that remain light in color when cooked are very palatable.

Waffles.
Two cupfuls sifted flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoonful salt, two tablespoonfuls butter, three eggs, one and one-half cupfuls milk.
Mix the dry ingredients and sift together several times. Cut in the butter as in biscuits. Separate the eggs, beat yolks and mix with milk; add this to the dry ingredients, beat well, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. The batter should be of pouring consistency; if too thick add milk, then cook in hot buttered waffle irons.

Fish Souffle.
Make a cream sauce of one large teaspoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of flour and one cup of milk. Have ready one cup of cold fish (any kind) in small pieces, beaten yolks of two eggs, and salt. After making the sauce add the fish and eggs; if desired add a drop or two of table sauce. Let it cook a minute, let cool and fold in the whites beaten stiff. Have ramekins or buttered dish ready, place in hot water in a pan and bake 20 minutes. These will be light and delicious.

Codfish Salad.
Put a piece of white codfish to soak over night. In the morning pour off the water, put on fresh cold water and let come to a scald. Try, and it still salt, repeat, as it wants to be tender and soft like fresh fish. Pick up, mix with it some chopped lettuce, line a dish with crisp leaves, cover with the mixture and pour salad dressing over it.

Round Steak Cooked in Gravy.
Get one pound round steak, cut thin. Cut into several pieces and brown on stove with a little butter or clean grease. Bacon is good. Do this about nine o'clock for noon dinner. Then cover with water and set back on range, letting it cook until nearly 12 o'clock. Turn once between and salt it. Then thicken the gravy and turn over meat. Add more water as it cooks.

Tomato Oysters.
Slice green tomatoes and take out the seeds. Lay in salted water for 20 minutes; then take out and drain. Dip each piece in beaten egg, seasoned with salt and pepper, and roll in flour or fine bread crumbs. Fry a nice brown in good drippings or vegetable fat. Serve with a dish of creamed macaroni or curried rice.

Cress Salad.
Pick, wash and drain two heads lettuce and break into pieces, mix with some watercress, shredded celery and a few leaves of mint; put in a salad bowl, sprinkle with salt, pepper, sugar and lemon juice, and pour over a salad dressing; garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs and pickled beet root.

FACE ITCHED AND BURNED

883 No. Union St., Aurora, Ill.—"My ailment started with a little pimple and it always itched and burned terribly. I scratched it and in a few days my face was all covered with sores. It ran up to my eyes and the day after I could not see out of my right eye. I was unable to get any rest. I couldn't go to bed, being afraid of getting the clothing all soiled, although I had my face all bandaged."

"I was given two jars of salve but it kept getting worse. It was something like a running sore because every time I used some of the salve I had to wrap bandages around my neck to keep the water and pus from running down my body. I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days I received these and washed my face with the Cuticura Soap and put on some Cuticura Ointment and the next morning my face felt cool and somewhat relieved. After using the sample I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drug store. I followed this treatment just twenty-six days and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was cured." (Signed) George Miller, Jan. 1, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Advt.

Chinese Artist.
In the fourth century A. D. there lived in China an artist, who was also a poet. His name was Ku K'ai-chih. In London there is a painting, a long scroll, which for at least a thousand years has been treasured as his work; and though that cannot be proved, it is in all probability a painting by his hand. One day, we are told, he instructed to a friend a chest full of paintings which he had collected. For better security he fastened the lid of the chest and sealed the fastening with a seal. The friend, however, coveted the paintings, and hit on the simple expedient of removing the bottom of the box and so abstracting them. When the box was restored to Ku K'ai-chih, he broke the seal and found it empty. But he suspected no theft and expressed no surprise. Beautiful paintings, he said, communicate with supernatural beings; they have changed their form and flown away, like men when they join the immortals—Laurence Binyon, in the Atlantic.

FAMILY OF FIVE All Drink Coffee From Infancy.

It is a common thing in this country to see whole families growing up with nervous systems weakened by coffee drinking.

That is because many parents do not realize that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which causes the trouble. (The same drug is found in tea.)

"There are five children in my family," writes an Iowa mother, "all of whom drank coffee from infancy up to two years ago."

"My husband and I had heart trouble and were advised to quit coffee. We did so and began to use Postum. We are now doing without medicine and are entirely relieved of heart trouble. (Caffeine causes heart trouble when continually used as in coffee drinking.)

"Our eleven-year-old boy had a weak digestion from birth, and yet always craved and was given coffee. When we changed to Postum he liked it and we gave him all he wanted. He has been restored to health by Postum and still likes it."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be boiled. Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage. Instantly. Grocers sell both kinds. "There's a reason" for Postum.

'Long About Thanksgivin' Time

S. E. KISER

Ain't it splendid to be livin', 'long about this time o' year, just around about Thanksgivin', with the mornin's crisp and clear, With the children's cheeks a-glowin', with the future lookin' bright, And the shops and mills a-goin' like red blazes, day and night!

Ain't it bracin', ain't it cheerin', when the colts kick up their heels, To approach the corn crib, hearin' turkeys gobblin' for their meals? Don't it make a fellow kinda satisfied with life and glad, When it's got so hard to find a thing that's goin' to the bad?

Ain't it fine to feel the nippin' of the brisk breeze at your nose, When the old dead leaves go zippin' down the lanes in scraggly rows, When you've hay to feed the cattle, when you love your fellow men, And you've money you can rattle in your trousers, now and then!

Ain't it fine to wake from dreamin' of the home your boyhood knew And to find the glad sun beamin' just the way it used to do, Long ago, about Thanksgivin', when you'd energy to spare, When your pa and ma were livin' and the days were always fair!

TURKEY FOR TEN

THANKSGIVING ain't different from any other day," snapped Mellicent, making the most of the creek in her rocker. "What's the use of having a turkey when you've got only a red-bird appetite?"

"It ain't just the turkey itself," replied Mrs. Della Wyatt, with a knowing shake of her head, "though it's surprising how plumb crazy the kiddies are after drumsticks. Land of love, if Mr. Burbank could only produce centipede gobblers! But it's what the turkey stands for, Mellicent."

There was a moment's silence, then the creek reassured itself. "Maybe there is—when you've got sons and daughters and grandchildren to sit around the table and look for it," mused Mellicent; "but I'd like to know what's backing up a Thanksgiving turkey when you ain't got any folks to reunite for a family dinner?"

Mrs. Wyatt put her knitting into her work bag, with a sigh. "I've got to stop in at Johnson's to buy some chestnuts for the stuffing," she explained, "an apology for her glance at the clock and abrupt leave-taking. "What did I do with my hat? Oh, here it is on the chair. Mellicent, do you remember Angelina Snow?"

Mellicent nodded, her mouth bristling with five hat pins, as she stood with both hands toward the open fire.

"You made me think of something," she told me once—my left elbow's caught there, Mellicent. Angelina had the blues terrible bad one morning."

Mellicent Jancey's practical, active nature had no time for sentimentalism, but the morning after Mrs. Wyatt's visit, strange thoughts—with twinkling eyes and wistful smiles—kept peeping out at her from behind the routine of daily duties, and at noon she suddenly dropped broom and dustpan, dressed with trembling fingers, and rushed to the door, and darted from the house—bearing the excited expressions of an archangel, and wearing two gloves for the same hand.

In the gathering twilight of that Thanksgiving eve Miss Mellicent's heart throbbed excitedly, and the next morning Mrs. Wyatt dashed into the dining-room.

"I wanted you from first, Mellicent," she panted, without preface, "but it made thirteen at table, and it never occurred to me until an hour ago that I could count Jessie's twins as one just as well as not. You'll come, of course?"

"I'm sorry, Della, but I've a previous engagement—with a Thanksgiving turkey of my own."

"You bought one, after all? But, Mellicent, it will be so longsome eating it without any of your own folks here."

"I'm to have some of my own folks—ten of them!"

"Why, Mellicent, only yesterday you told me that there wasn't a living soul related to you this side the Rockies, and—"

"That was before you taught me how to find them, Della. There, don't be frightened. I've not lost my mind. You remember about Angelina Snow? I got to thinking of the uglier lives than mine, Della. Of the two dear Misses Prescott worrying over money matters ever since they lost so much in that mining venture, of my little dressmaker, who was the petted darling in her home back east and has to work for her living among strangers out here, because her lungs are weak and she can't live anywhere else; of poor, fastidious Mrs. Adams, who can only afford a third-class boarding house; of—I won't go on, but they're all invited, and they've all accepted."

She rose, and as she turned toward Mrs. Wyatt the freigher revealed a face radiant with happiness. "I can't talk things out the way you can, Della," she concluded, with a gay little laugh, "but just you come into the kitchen with me and see my Thanksgiving turkey!"—May C. Ringwalt, in Los Angeles Times.

Always Cause for Gratitude.

If you seek, you will find cause for gratitude. If you find your heart callous, stony and rebellious, beware! It is a pitiable stage at which to arrive. It practically marks the end of your journey along the road to tomorrow.

Remember that to give thanks is a good thing. Never fail to appreciate the natural beauties and joys around you, and from the grateful attitude of mind and soul you will receive reflected benefits. Open your heart to the good that lies around you; make it your own, as it has been intended that you should. And be thankful.

Individual Spirit.

Although a national observance, the spirit of Thanksgiving must ever be individual. Otherwise it must be mere form and ceremony, lacking that heartfelt gratitude, that spontaneous impulse which springs unbidden from the grateful heart.

Cruel Comment.

"Women, you know, claim to belong to the golden age."

Vegetarian's Thanksgiving

I'm thankful for the celery, The canned pears and the onion stew; I'm thankful for the beans; to me The turnips look inviting, too; The sweet potatoes give me glee, The parsnips gladly I assail, But best of all things is the rich Aroma of the turkey which I am permitted to inhale.

With proper thanks I break the crust That Fortune lays beside my plate; I shun the oysters, for I must Not carelessly be tempting Fate; The giblets all aside I thrust, To me they are of no avail; I prove my strength while gazing at The rich and juicy mince pie that I must not eat, but may inhale.

Why We Give Thanks.

Thanksgiving to God is fitting, because we have countless reasons for it. God is our father, and he fills all our days with blessings. There is never a moment when we have not something new for which to praise him. There is blessing in everything he does for us and sends to us. We should be most ungrateful if we did not give thanks unto God. Prayer should not be all clamor for new favors, it should be full of recognition of mercies and good things. It is good, also, to give thanks, because it makes our own lives sweeter, truer and more beautiful. Joy is beauty. Praise is comedy. One who does not give thanks lacks the highest element of loveliness. Ingratitude is dark and somber; praise is light and beautiful. Giving thanks also makes us greater blessings to others. Praising people scatter inspiration wherever they go. They make others happier, braver, stronger. Our days should be full of praise and song. Then God will be pleased with our lives and this world will be made sweeter and better.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

DAILY

WINTER CARE OF THE CALF

First Essential is to Separate Young Animals From Older and Stronger Stock—Need More Feed.

The first essential to calf-raising in the winter is to separate the young animals from the older and stronger stock.

Some farmers, in fact, most of them, allow cattle of all shapes and sizes to run together, but where this is done, the larger ones naturally crowd the smaller and weaker members out of the most comfortable parts of the winter quarters—even forcing them to spend the severest portion of the night exposed to the rough elements.

Such a course is unprofitable for two reasons, to say nothing of the suffering to which the helpless calves, with their susceptible constitutions, thus are subjected.

They will require more food to keep their bodies warm and offset the detrimental action of the severe cold.

Then, no matter how much they are fed, the exposure stunts their whole general system to such an extent that their delicate tissues and organs never will develop as they would if a steady, undisturbed growth had been maintained from the start. An undesirable fatty or stock animal is thus developed.

Again, the farmer has not the time to watch the cattle and see that the calves get their full share of the feed. Just notice the herd some morning, if you are feeding the calves, dairy and stock cattle all together, and you will observe that the little fellows are getting only a bit now and then as they dodge about among the other cattle. Indeed, they are even very liable to be badly injured besides by some of the larger animals.

Furthermore, even if it were sensible or profitable to allow the calves to run with the older animals, they require more time in which to eat and they will do much better if rationed peculiarly adapted to their needs are given them.

In case one is handling a considerable herd of stock calves they should be placed in separate quarters from the others. Even the lot in which they exercise or have their feed racks for forage, should be arranged so the larger animals will not have access to it.

Individual feed troughs or boxes cannot be furnished in a case like this, but long troughs should be provided, their size being sufficient to permit all the calves to eat without crowding some way, as the larger ones soon acquire the habit of cheating the smaller and weaker ones out of their feed.

Where one is raising only a few calves, especially if they are for the dairy herd, they should be housed as above advised, and in addition they should be trained to the halter. Teach them to stand tied in their stalls and to lead anywhere desired.

DAILY

Milk the cows quietly, quickly and on time.

Provide comfortable quarters for milch cows.

As a rule the best market is your home market.

Give a balanced ration—clean, wholesome and appetizing.

Clean the dairy stable in summer just as regularly as in winter.

Apply intelligent labor to your dairy and watch the income increase.

Oats and pea hay is a nutritious and valuable feed if cut at the right time.

Weed out the unprofitable cows by use of the Babcock test and the scales.

Milk the cows clean every time if you would keep up a uniform flow of milk.

The dairy cow is naturally of a quiet disposition and should be quietly handled.

Sunshine, pure air and clean stables are necessary for successfully managing a dairy.

The market for other stock may fluctuate, but a good milch cow always brings top prices.

The cow disease, tuberculosis, is nothing more than cow consumption. Fear barn ventilation helps it along.

ANOTHER GOOD YEAR IN WESTERN CANADA

MANITOBA, SASKATCHEWAN AND ALBERTA HAVE SPLENDID CROPS.

The results of the threshing throughout Western Canada shows a more wonderful yield than usual of wheat, oats, barley and flax, all of which was harvested and threshed in perfect order. Not only was the average yield excellent over the entire country, but the quality was of the highest standard. Without going into figures, it is sufficient to say that wheat graded almost universally very near the top. Reports are to hand showing yields of wheat from many fields which averaged forty bushels per acre, and weighing 65 pounds to the measured bushel. Oats were very heavy, running from fifty to one hundred and fifteen bushels to the acre. Barley also was a very heavy yielder and kept up the reputation of Western Canada as a producer of that cereal. In many parts of the country the yield of flax exceeded the earlier expectations, but in other parts, there was some loss on account of winds blowing off the boll. Hundreds of farmers who have only been in the country three or four years, with but little means when they arrived, will, out of the crop of this year, clean up all their indebtedness, and be able to put something aside for further improvements on their farms and homes which are now freed of incumbrance. The writer has just heard of the experience of a man in the Battleford district that is worth repeating. He went to the district seven or eight years ago, with no money, worked for a time, got a team of horses, did some freighting and homesteaded a quarter section of land. He now owns 480 acres of land, clear of all incumbrances, and has wheat, oats, barley and hay, as well as a good number of horses, cattle and hogs, feeding rough grain to the stock. He is a firm believer in mixed farming. The fifty dollars that he first earned in the country has now increased to $25,000. He has never had a crop failure. Instances of this kind could be repeated over and over again.

There is a Dane, named Key, east of Saskatoon, whose oats this year went 110 bushels to the acre, and his wheat 40 bushels. He has paid off the mortgage on his farm, and now contemplates a trip to Denmark, to visit his old home. He has no more cares or worries, but is anxious to have more of his people settle in that part. It is not only the farmer with limited means and small area of land who is doing well, and has done wonderfully in Western Canada this year, but the man with means, the man who is able to conduct successful farming on a large scale and many opportunities offer for such in Western Canada, also has increased his bank account handsomely. A farmer in Southern Alberta raised 350,000 bushels of grain in 1913, and made almost a fortune out of it. In Saskatchewan and in Manitoba it is to be heard the same story of what has been done by the farmer working a large area, which he is able to do successfully, by the use of improved farm machinery, enabling him to cut hundreds of acres a day, and plow the land immediately with large traction outfits. No better recommendation could be given the country than the fact that during the past year, upwards of 400,000 settlers arrived in Canada, the greater number of whom went to the farm. There are still many thousands of homesteads still available, capable of producing such crops and maintaining such herds as has made rich men out of the thousands whose experiences could be reproduced were it necessary.—Advertisement.

35 Bushels Per Acre

Was the yield of wheat on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as fifty bushels per acre.

As high as one hundred bushels were reported in some districts for oats, fifty bushels for barley, and from ten to twenty bushels for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country five years ago from Denmark, with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 350 acres of land. In 1913 he had a crop of 300 acres, which will realize him about four thousand dollars.

His wheat weighed 68 pounds to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.

Ask for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates of representatives of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada.

ical hit of three continents, which will be presented at the Whitney theatre, Saturday, November 22, matinee and night, with the New York company, headed by Victor
Morley, has a rather peculiar history.
It was originally produced in London about four years ago at George Edward's Royal Adelphi theatre and remained at that playhouse for two entire years. The title role was taken by Miss Gertrude Miller who in private life is the wife of the composer, Lionel Monckton, while Joseph Coyne played the leading male role of Tony Chute. Of course, when the news of his success reached New York, all the American managers who make a practice of bringing English successes to this country sent their emissaries to see "The Quaker Girl" and reports on its chances as an American show. One and all these dramatic scouts reported that the piece, while dainty and entertaining and exceedingly tuneful, was far and away too quiet for American audiences accustomed as they are to ragtime and general burlesque entertainment. So in spite of the London success of this play, the American rights were not sought until later Henry B. Harris, who had never produced a musical show, took a chance and bought the rights. The result was amazing. The company which is coming to the Whitney theatre, Saturday, November 22, played one solid year in New York, ten weeks in Chicago, 12 in Boston and 8 in Philadelphia, and is now packing theatres in the larger cities.Notice to Hunters.We, the undersigned freeholders of Ordinance No. 51 read by the clerk.

ORDINANCE NO. 51 OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA.An ordinance relative to the use of streets and other public places. The Common Council of the village of Cheelsea ordains:
Sec. 1. That whenever any snow shall fall or drift on or across any sidewalk in any street or other public place of this village, the owner or occupant of the lot, building or other premises adjacent to or abutting upon said sidewalk, shall remove the said snow or cause the same to be removed within the periods of time herein limited, to-wits: Snow that has accumulated in or during the night time shall be removed by eight o'clock a. m. next morning;
snow falling or drifting during the day shall be removed within two hours after the same shall have ceased to accumulate; and in case of a protracted snow or wind storm, the snow shall be cleared away from time to time during the day so that a convenient passage shall be kept and maintained open for travel, the said removal being effective as often as once in every four hours.Sec. 2. That whenever any ice shall form on any sidewalk in any street or other public place in this village, the owner or occupant of the lot, building or other premises adjacent to or abutting upon the said sidewalk shall, if practicable, immediately remove said ice, or cause the same to be removed;
if any interester shall be unable to remove the same, the said owner or occupant shall immediately cause said ice to be strewn upon said ice in such a manner and in such quantities as to prevent the said sidewalk from being slippery and dangerous to pedestrians using the same, and the said ice shall be removed at the earliest moment thereafter. The use of sawdust or ashes for and instead of salt or sand is hereby expressly prohibited.Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the village marshal to take cognizance of any violation of the provisions of this ordinance, relative to the removal of snow and ice from sidewalks, streets or other public places. And whenever the said marshal shall learn of any sidewalk in any street or other public place
in this village being obstructed or covered with ice or snow contrary to the regulations herein contained, the said marshal shall immediately cause a written or printed notice to be served upon the person charged under this ordinance with the removal of said ice or snow.
The said notice shall set forth the location of the sidewalk, and the premises by street and number or other sufficient designation, adjacent to and abutting upon said sidewalk, and shall also prescribe the time after service within which the said sidewalk shall be cleared and made convenient for public travel.
The said time in each case being fixed by said marshal. Provided, that one hour shall be the time fixed for the removal of snow, slush or ice. The said notice may be served by handing a copy thereof to the owner or occupant of the premises therein designated, by leaving a copy at his or her last place of residence, or by posting a copy in a conspicuous place upon said premises, to-wits: the residence of the owner, the marshal, or any person authorized by him, serving the said notice, shall indorse the day and hour of service and the manner thereof, upon the said notice; and shall return a copy of said notice to the office of the village clerk with the said day, hour and manner of service duly certified thereon. In case the said sidewalk be not cleared within the time limited in said notice, the said marshal shall proceed forthwith to remove the said ice or snow at the expense of the village, and a statement of such expense shall be filed in the office of the village clerk along with the return copy of said notice. For the removal of snow the marshal is hereby permitted to pay not to exceed the following prices: From before premises clearing a frontage of the street of four rods or less, twenty-five cents; from before premises having a greater frontage than four rods, twenty-five cents and five cents for each additional rod or fraction thereof above four rods. The owner or occupant of any lot, building or premises adjacent to or abutting upon any sidewalk that shall have been cleared of ice or snow by said marshal herein prescribed, shall be entitled to pay the said expense of clearing, in addition, with ten per cent added therefor collection at the office of the village clerk, who is hereby authorized to receive the same and to receipt therefor in the name of the village, at any time prior to the first Monday in June next succeeding the date of the notice served in the case. Upon said first Monday in June of each year the village clerk shall certify to the village assessor a list of all the charges remaining unpaid for the current year, and the village assessor shall enter the said charges upon the tax roll as a special assessment against the respective lots or parcels of land specified in said list, and the said charges shall be added to the total of the village taxes levied upon the said lots or parcels of land for the same year, and shall be a lien upon the same, according to the provisions of Section 2778, of the Compiled Laws of 1897. And such further proceedings shall be had as are further permitted by said Section 2778.This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after twenty days from legal publication.
All ordinances or part of ordinances conflicting or inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.
Approved November 17, 1913.
