PLEASANT EVENT

Olive Chapter, Order Eastern Star, Held Special Meeting Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon and evening proved to be quite an event for the members of the Masonic fraternity of this place.

Olive Chapter, O. E. S., held a special session Tnesday afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Swegels were initiated as members of the Chapter. At 6 o'clock the members of the O. E. S. entertained at supper the members of Olive Lodge, F. & A. M. and Olive Chapter, R. A. M., and their wives.

The evening session was opened with a grand march by the officers of the O. E. S., and the square and comof the officers.

Winifred Bacon rendered two vocal Friday at 7 p. m. solos which were highly encored.

The supper that was served by the members of Olive Chapter, O. E. S., was the best that has been served in the Masonic hall in a number of years.

A Successful Entertainment

The operetta, Snow White, which was given by the pupils of St. Mary's school in the auditorium last Sunday Mr. Herman Mohrlock were united evening was exceptionally well rendered. The hall was filled to its capacity and was suitably decorated for the occasion. The scholars of the school who took the various parts on the program were well trained and did unusually well. The musical numbers that were rendered between the different scenes were well executed and highly appreciated by those present. Of the many entertainments that have been given by St. Mary's school the production of luncheon was served at the close of Snow White was without a doubt the best that the pupils have ever given.

SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE

Interesting Meeting and Good Attendance Last Friday.

The one-day Farmers' Institute that was held in the Sylvan town hall at this place last Friday was well attended and was both instructive and entertaining. The forenoon session was called to order at 10:30 by Chairman R. M. Hoppe. The state speaker, A. B. Cook, of Owosso, gave a talk on the subject of "the farm horse, its breeding and care." The discussion was led by O. C. Burkhart.

The afternoon session was called to order at 12:30 and the following fifteen-minute program for each subject was carried out:

Invocation, Rev. J. W. Campbell. Introductory remarks, R. M. Hoppe. Growing clover for hay and seed, A.

Princess Theatre.

For tomorrow, Friday evening, The Princess offers a two reel attraction that is sure to please. "In the Wilds of Africa" is a thrilling animal story with many sensational happenings, and in the cast are many of the animals owned by the Universal Film Co. Among the performers are a chimpanzee, a lion and an elephant. Worderful things have been accomplished by the trainers of these dumb beasts of the jungle and they give a good account of themselves in this Miss Dorothy Dunbar, sweet singer of late popular songs will be an extra added attraction at the Princess on Friday and Saturday. Miss Dunbar will change her songs each night, and among those she will sing are "Peg O' My Heart" and "You'll Have to Get Out and Get Under."

"Romance."

Charles Dillingham, whose special production of "Romance" is to be given on Friday, February 20, in the Whitney theater, Ann Arbor, says that never before in a managerial career covering more than 20 active years has he known a more difficult task than he faced when he undertook to make up the cast of this play. The characters call for specialists in the acting; they call for players who are versed in the art of modern realistic acting, and at the same time know and can practice the art of what might be termed perfervid romance. Moreover, two of the characters, although they speak throughout in clear English, must possess intimate knowledge of the purest Italian, so closely are the types studied by the playwright. One of these characters is a brilliant, beautiful young Italian singer-the toast of fashionable New York, and the idel of the patrons of grand opera. The other is her old companion, herself an ex-singer and broken, disappointed woman, not old, but lacking the spark, although retaining a keen memory of the triumphs that were hers when she sang the great Mrs. Emma Burns, a 75-year old roles of Verdi and the other Italian Monte in Dexter village by Deputy Sheriff Wyman. The body was frozen stiff and the physician gave heart trouble as the cause and that she had probably been dead for 48 hours.

Mrs. Burns lived alone and had not been seen by her neighbors for several days, and they finally called the officer who made the discovery. Her husband has been dead for several years. Mrs. Burns has been a resident of Dexter for 60 years. Apparently death came just as the deceased had sought to rise and summon aid.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Sanders, of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption, after having pneumonia. He writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds or lung trouble." Good for children's coughs. Money back if not satisfied. Price 50c. and $1.00. Recommended by H. H. Fenn Co., L. T. Freeman, L. P. Vogel. Advertisement.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a lowpriced powder in your hand and read the ngredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

ANOTHER REQUEST FOR REPRE-SENTATIVE WIRED TO GOVERNOR.

COMMITTEE TO PROBE CHARGES AGAINST SOLDIERS.

Report Made Several Months Ago By Judge Murphy of Detroit is Admitted in Evidence.

Hancock, Mich.-Another invitation to the state of Michigan to be represented at the congressional inquiry in progress here was extended Tuesday by Chairman Taylor in a telegram to Governor Ferris after counsel for the strikers had given notice that witnesses would be introduced to show "a series of outrages committed by the militia and the officers in command" while they were here on strike

Counsel for the mining companies said that state officials should be notified if an investigation of the militia was to be undertaken.

Chairman Taylor replied that he already had extended an invitation to the governor to be represented at the hearings here, and that it had been declined. He agreed, however, that due notice should be given the state authorities before any evidence reflecting upon the state's troops was heard.

The strikers Monday concluded that portion of the case in which they of. Polkinghorn Draws Shorter Sentence Than Others-Thos. Raleigh Jumps Bail and Escapes Punishment.

Houghton, Mich.-The jury trying John Groff, James Cooper and Arthur Davis, Waddell-Mahon detectives, and Deputies James and Polkinghorn on the charge of second-degree murder in the Seeberville case, returned a verdict of manslaughter Sunday afternoon against all defendants except James, who was declared not guilty, by order of Judge Flannigan. Clemency was urged by the jury in the case of Polkinghorn.

The five were charged with killing two strikers August 14. Thos. Raleigh of New York, the sixth defendant, jumped $10,000 bail and escaped.

Judge Flannigan Monday morning sentenced Cooper, Davis, Groff and Polkinghorn to Marquette prison, recommending a maximum of 15 years for the first three and 12 for the last, because of the jury's recommendation for clemency in his case.

Home Destroyed Sunday Night, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kemp Lose Lives.

Rochester, Mich.-Mr. and Mrs. James Kemp, an aged couple, lost their lives from burns received when their home was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin about 11 o'clock Sunday night.

The home, formerly a one-story frame store building located near the Michigan Central station, was discovered on fire.

The aged couple was found uncon sclous just inside the door, having evidently been overcome while trying to escape. Mrs. Kemp expired without regaining consciousness and Mr. Kemp died at 11 o'clock Monday. Both were nearly 75 years old and had resided here half a century. Mr. Kemp was janitor of two churches. They recently purchased the build-

Flint, Mich.-The engine of Pere Marquette passenger train No. 7. bound from Detroit to Saginaw, Monday evening, left the rails two miles south of here. There were three seriously injured. They are: Fred Germer, the engineer, of Saginaw; Geo. Barnes, the fireman, of Saginaw, and George Beveridge, the expressman, of Saginaw. Beveridge was caught between the safe and a heavy trunk and badly crushed about the body.

A freight train which went south a short time before the wreck occurred is believed to have been responsible for the accident. The condition of the roadbed for half a mile north of the place where the passenger train left the rails indicates something dragging from the freight train had torn loose some of the track fastenings so that the rails spread when the heavy passenger engine struck them.

NINTH CAVALRY MAKES CATCH NEAR BORDER.

Bandit Choses Flight Into America in Preference to Certain Death at Hands of Mexican Persuers.

El Paso, Texas-Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit charged with responsibility for the Cumbre tunnel disaster, in which 10 Americans and 41 others lost their lives, and six of his followers, were captured 38 miles south of Hachita, N. M., Tuesday by American troops.

The arrest of the bandit and six of his men was reported Tuesday afternoon from the Alamo Nuevo wireless tower of the United States army to the commanding officer.

The capture of the bandits took place near Alamo Nuevo ranch, west of El Paso, on the New Mexico-Mexico line, after the bandits had crossed into New Mexico. Closely pressed by the Mexican troops to the border as a last resort, Castillo, like others before him, chose flight into American territory rather than capture at the hands of the rebels.

Cold Cured by Cold. "Without having gone anywhere near either pole," writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle, "I have had my experience of the fact that intense cold outside stops the cold in the head. We were six men, essaying the ascent of the Grand Combin, in the Alps (over 14,000 feet). From our first attempt we were driven back by a thunderstorm and a stay of some hours to dry in the hut with the stove going woke up all the microbes. When we returned to the hut next day from the valley there were at least four severe colds among us, with sneezing and sore throats. On the third morning we traversed our peak, slowly cutting snow and ice steps in weather memorably bitter even for that height. On the other side it suddenly occurred to me that I had no 'cold' left and the others made the same discovery." SCHOOL TEACHERS. Also Have Things to Learn.

"The troubles were constipation, flutterings of the heart, a thumping in the top of my head, and various parts of my body, twitching of my limbs, shaking of my head and, at times after exertion, a general "gone" feeling, with a toper's desire for very strong coffee. I was a nervous wreck

While din-ing at a Washington hotel he detects a ing at a Washington hotel he detects a variet in the act of robbing a beautiful young lady. She thanks him for his serv-ice and gives her name as Miss La Tossa, a Cuban patriot. Later he meets her at le and gives het at a Cuban patriot. Later he meets her at a ball. A secret service man warns Holtos that the girl is a spy. Miss La Tossa leves for her home in Cuba. Holton is ordered to follow her. They meet on the Tampa train. Miss La Tossa tells Holton she is a Cuban spy and expresses doubt regarding the sincerity of the United States, Holton is ordered to remain at Tampa to guard the troop transports. He saves the transports from destruction at the hands of dynamiters and reports to Admiral Sampson for further duty. Holton is sent to Ceneral Garcia's command in the guise of a newspaper cormand in the guise of a newspaper corto Admiral Sampson for further duty. Holton is sent to General Garcia's command in the guise of a newspaper correspondent to investigate Cuban plots against the American troops and to learn the plans of the Spanish navy. He detects a trusted Cuban leader in the work of fomenting trouble among the Cubans in the interests of the Spaniards. Holton is seized by friends of the spy and later ordered executed as a spy. He escapes and saves the American troops from falling into a Spanish ambush. He learns from General Garcia that the spy is Jose Cesnola, one of the most trusted leaders. Holton takes part in the battle at San Anan. Disguised as a Spanish soldier he enters Santiago, goes at night to the home of Miss La Tossa, where he overhears a discussion of the Spanish plans by leading army and navy commanders. He learns that the Spanish fleet will leave the harber at Santiago on July 2. Holton escapes and arrives in sight of the American fleet in time to see the admiral's flagship sail away. After frantic signaling he is answered by the Brooklyn. He warns Schley of the intentions of the Spanish fleet. CHAPTER XII.-Continued.

Two or three faint cheers drifted shoreward, but for the most part there was silence. Boats manned by American sailors were about all the Spanish vessels, which, having left the harbor so proudly and so defiantly but a little while before, were now merely smoking, burning wrecks.

In a word, he thought it advisable to oppose to the utmost extremity the advance of the Americans. the trenches got into action with their Krags and the Spaniards responded. The result was a spirited session, which ended as abruptly as it began. The next development was the inevitable flag of truce trailing toward the Spanish lines, borne by messengers from Shafter sent to inquire of Toral if he had not yet changed his mind about holding out.

As Holton could see no special reason why the Spaniard should have changed his mind, he was inclined to regard the truce business as a joke, a sentiment which most of the officers shared with him. Toward noon he made his way along the lines, and, eventually, he located the Cuban contingent.

Yet he appeared to have something on his mind; and after welcoming the navy man he turned to his brother general and continued a conversation which the officer's arrival had evidently interrupted. Holton, not wishing to appear as an intruder, moved to one side.

The soldiers were sullen and regarded the new-comer with evident dislike. He tried to engage several of them in conversation, but with no success.

To a sergeant, who had turned his shoulder upon him, he said with some impatience:

"There will be no peril in returning with me. We Cubans," he grimaced, "have a secret route into the city which has always been kept open. It is open now. You must come with me; my sister has news of great importance you must hear."

Holton needed no great incentive to accompany the other. At sunset he proceeded to the spot suggested by young La Tossa, and found him already mounted and holding another pony by the bridle.

"You are on time," he said. "This is your horse, and I suggest we start at once."

For an hour they rode in silence, outside the little settlement called Sevilla. Here the young Cuban dismounted, and Holton did likewise, looking inquiringly at the boy. The latter smiled half mockingly, and Holton, advancing to him, placed his hand upon his arm, while he regarded his hand ruefully upon his shoulder. "You needn't crush my bones in," he grumbled. "Of course it's true." Holton leaped upon the pony.

"Not now." was the laughing reply. We must stay here until it is dark." Young La Tossa pointed toward a crumbling building.

"Garcia will not be there, nor Rabi nor Castillo." Holton laughed.

"Then," he declared, "the meeting will not amount to much."

"Do not be fooled," was the warm rejoinder. "It will amount to a great deal. You know-or do you?-the condition of your army. Sickness is beginning."

"Yes, but a majority are well, and I myself know the straits of the Spanish army, for I have been in Santiago. I myself have informed General Shafter that Toral can muster at most not and finally paused in a copse of woods more than twelve thousand men, if that."

"Yes, yes," she responded, tapping her foot impatiently. "I do not come here to argue, Mr. Holton. I tell you only this: Toral has not surrendered, because he knows of the threatened revolt of the Cubans against your men. He is waiting for that to happen, and will take what advantage may be gained from the result. This may be serious. There are six thousand Cubans immediately upon the field. Their attack upon the American flank, coupled with the attack of the Spaniards upon the front, will drive your countrymen to the sea."

Holton shook his head. "Why, Miss La Tossa, this deed is suicide for your country. It can mean but one thing-the wiping out of the Spaniards and the Cubans, and in the end the very colonization you dread. For if this happens I cannot see but the United States will have the best sort of object-lesson to show that the last thing of which you are capable is self-government."

"Well, Garcia then?" "A fight with the Cuban ranks would be almost as bad."

"That is true. What then?" Holton thought a moment. Then he looked up.

"I will go to the meeting," he announced.

"You! It is impossible. An American officer! No, it cannot be!" "Then, what?" Holton's voice was

HAIR ORNAMENTS OF RICH DESIGN IN FAVOR TODAY

THERE is no abatement in the liking for ornaments for the hair. There is a good deal of talk about the return of the high coiffure, but the last few years have shown women the beauty of well-chosen, and well-designed hair ornaments, and no coiffure can put them in the background without a good deal of a struggle.

The famous French dressmakers, realizing the scope their genius might have in hair ornaments, have turned their attention to designing some of wear. After unfastening the glove it might be no doubt of the superiority much beauty.

In other classes he had excellent winnings, but the big victory was the sweepstakes for the best steer. This victory proved that Manitoba-grown bariey and oats, and prairie hay, had properties better than any contained in corn, which in the past has been looked upon as being superior to other grains in fattening and finishing qualities. Not only this, but Glencarneck's victory proves that the climate of the prairie provinces of western Canada, in combination with rich foods that are possessed by that country, tends to make cattle raising a success at little cost. Other winnings at the live stock show which placed western Canada in the class of big victories were: Three firsts, seven seconds, and five other

In 1913 at the International Dry Farming Congress at Tuisa, Okla., Canada won the majority of the world's honors in individual classes, and seven out of the sixteen sweepstakes, including the grand prize for the best bushel of hard wheat, The grand prize, a threshing machine, was won by Paul Gertack for best bushel of hard wheat, which weighed 71 pounds to the bushel, and was of the Marquis variety.

In the district in which the wheat was grown that won this prize, there were thousands of acres this year that would have done as well. Scholarship For Advertising. Five hundred dollars has been given anonymously, by a Michigan business man for the establishment of a scholarship prize to students, men or women, in the University of Michigan who are interested in advertising. The gift will be continued three years, and, if successful, the donor will add sufficient funds to found a course of advertising in the university. The scholarship, which has been approved by the regents, is be-lieved to be the first of its kind in the country, and professional advertising men are being consulted as to the best manner of administering it.

The award will be made for the first time about May 1, and will probably be divided among the two or three leading contestants.

Scholarship For Advertising.

Five hundred dollars has been given anonymously, by a Michigan business man for the establishment of a scholarship prize to students, men or women, in the University of Michigan who are interested in advertising. The gift will be continued three years, and, if successful, the donor will add sufficient funds to found a course of advertising in the university. The scholarship, which has been approved by the regents, is believed to be the first of its kind in the country, and professional advertising men are being consulted as to the best manner of administering it.

The award will be made for the first time about May 1, and will probably be divided among the two or three leading contestants.

Prisoner Sends Pictures to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson

MASHINGTON.—When President Wilson reached Washington after his vacation on the gulf coast, he found awaiting him two pencil portraits, one of himself and the other of Mrs. Wilson. There was also a story, the like of which he had not met with every day since he entered the White House of the letter which accompanied them revealed by the philanthropists, and that was absolute secrecy as to the prisoner's name and the details of his crime.

The convict's letter to the president was as follows: "To the President of the United States.

"Your Excellency: It is not a desire to present a work of art which prompts me to send you this picture, for I realize there must be many crudities, owing to the fact that I never took a drawing lesson in my life; rather is it a token of highest regard and sincerest esteem which have been engendered within one of your humblest admirers.

"This picture and that of Mrs. Wilson are the only ones I have ever attempted; there were no mechanical aids-just the naked eye. All the work was done with an ordinary lead pencil, and to it were devoted the leisure moments of three months. It was executed in a cell whose dimensions are 3½ by 7 by 6 feet. The cell was illuminated by an 8-candlepower lamp, and the enlargement was made from a newspaper print, which accompanies the pictures.

"In view of these things it is hoped the crudities shall be overlooked, and each line and plane will testify to the respect and veneration in which the president is held by an obscure young man so low down in the social scale. Respectfully,

Nettleton Declares Mustache Will Have to Go

OHN GILBERT NETTLETON, secretary to Congressman Martin B. Madden of Chicago, is having a hard time convincing his friends in the capital that he is the said Nettleton. The difficulty is all due to a small and a very black mustache. Here is the history of the hirsute adornment.

THICKLES ME

Mr. and Mrs. Nettleton had tired of conventional vacations. They wanted something out of the ordinary, and so they engaged passage on a lumber boat on the great lakes last summer.

The itinerary took the vessel to many places, with most of the time passed in open lake. Shaving seemed a loss of time and somewhat of a useeffort. Therefore the captain and Mr. Nettleton decided to let their whiskers grow. Eventually they made Duluth and with the usual longing of she well knew was an old photograph good sailors, couldn't resist going ashore. Whiskers, by that time lux- of the dead wife of her employer and uriant, were sacrificed, but the mustaches were left on. By the time Chicago his son, taken many years since. The was again reached Mr. Nettleton's facial attainment had become a matter of pride. He has nourished it tenderly ever since. But, alas! It will probably have to go after all.

"It is either the loss of my mustache or of the kisses of one of my dearest friends," said Mr. Nettleton. "And I guess it will have to be the mustache. When three-year-old Paul Henderson, Jr., Mr. Madden's grandson, was making the round of the family the other night, kissing them good night, he overlooked me.

"When I reminded the young man, he acknowledged the oversight, but he pointed to my prized mustache, and declared in a lisping voice that it tickled. He compromised by kissing what my friends know to be a high forehead, noted for its scarcity of hair.

"I guess the mustache will have to go."

Always Eating Something at the Food Bureau

THEY are always eating something down at the bureau of food hygiene. Incidentally they study out mathematically the different ingredients which can best be combined with a certain brand of nutriment to make a pleasant dish, and the result of these experiments are duly set forth by Uncle Sam in his official cook-books. One time they started on tomatoes. They succeeded in doing things to tomatoes that the most imaginative tomato on earth never anticipated. They achieved stews that were wonders, and everybody duly performed the rite of gastronomy, fletcherizing the food and giving comfortable consideration to the progress of digestion.

It may not be supposed that this is mere idle experimenting. The result of the bureau are published broadcast by the newspapers and millions of people in the United States follow, without knowing it, the advice to these two scientists in matters of food. They are given chief credit for the recent popularity of mutton-not lamb, but good old English mutton.

It was Dr. Milner's idea that if more people would eat full-grown sheep instead of lambs the supply of meat in the United States would be perceptibly increased. Coming from old English stock himself and appreciating the value of proper recipes for cooking mutton, which has a peculiarly strong odor, he set out to carry the ideas into effect.

That he was wonderfully successful was subsequently attested by requests he received for copies of the book which he put out through the department.

BY GEORGE ELMER COBB. "Only a stenographer."

Eunice Graydon recalled the careless remark with the sweetest smile in the world. In the first place the words implied a decided compliment, for her appearance must have attracted attention in order to create the discussion in question between two callers at the office of Robert Larned. the amount of her savings.

Only a stenographer! but a good one, and under what auspicious enan employe by Mr. Larned, the tears so?" her beautiful eyes and she was proud and content as any queen.

She was a woman to attract attention anywhere. Past early girlhood, she was still lovely and graceful. Her kindly eyes, her gentle, womanly dignity, her helpful earnest disposition, all these had won for her the respect of her employer and of every other person in the office.

The two men callers decided not to wait to see the proprietor. It was early in the morning. Eunice always came down early. There was a mission of almost reverence involved. She busied herself always first about the desk of her employer. It was to place his swivel chair conveniently, to see that not a speck of dust was apparent on the clear glass base, to arrange his papers, to ventilate the room just right.

She did not know if in his grave, abstracted way Mr. Larned ever noticed these little attentions. She hoped not, but sometimes she wondered if this interest was at its base a tribute of warm devotion-perhaps Eunice hummed a sweet home tune as she moved about her duties. She was thinking of a near vacation when she would go home and see her dear mother. How proud she would be to tell her that she had saved up nearly five hundred dollars! And all this joy and comfort and independence because she had been so fortunate as to with the best of men!

Eunice had her precious savings in her pocket at that moment. She had drawn them from the bank the previous afternoon, intending to ask Mr. Larned to invest them for her.

"Oh, dear! dear!" she murmured felicitously, "it seems as if nobody in Larned tenderly. ful and happy as I," and her eyes Mr. Larned," murmured Eunice. grew liquid as she moved two small

"You saw-oh, do not misconstrue me!" cried the agitated Eunice, losing all control of herself amid her profound embarrassment. "You father has been my best friend. I owe so much to him that I was overcome by the old law books than any other gratitude. I-I could not help it."

"Dear Lady," said Alan Larned gravely and with the greatest defert he amusement of his associates, ence, "I take your devotion to my father as I know he fully appreciates that the declaration was insufficient it and as a sad reminder to me of because the offenses were not stated how unworthy of his confidence I have properly.

The young fellow's eyes filled with tears at this exhibition of a warm, sincere sympathy. He blurted out his wretched story-money lost in gambling, threats of exposure over claims held by a grasping loan shark.

"How much is it?" asked Eunice fearsomely, and her face brightened as Alan named a sum approximately

"I am going to help you," she said simply, "and, oh, I am so glad that vironment! As Eunice recalled the it is in my power to do so. "I was going to invest some money," interrupted Eunice. "I shall do sowith you. I am not afraid that you will repay me. Take it, dear," and she proffered her savings unostentatiously. "Because of your father, because I shall think of you and pray for you. Oh, do not forfeit the

Not a word of all this to Mr. Larned. The trustful father knew not of the abyss his son had escaped, nor of the loving hand that had guided him to a haven of hope and courage. And this proved true. Naught but pleasing news came from the boy after that. And then at the end of a year Eunice received a remittance covering her generous loan, with interest.

Alan Larned wrote, blessing her. He told her of a new life, where he had developed a literary ability that was earning him a liberal income. And at the end of his grateful letter were four words: "I have told father."

It was two days after that when Mr. Larned called Eunice into his private office. There was a strange expression on his face, but he said in his usual tone:

"Dictation, please. Miss Graydon, address a letter to your mother." Eunice started, but wonderingly began the letter.

Speaking in a Washington club the other night of overcoming difficulties, Congressman John M. Nelson of Wisconsin told of the happy thought of little Gladys.

Some time ago, according to the congressman, little Gladys sat watching her mother ironing some whitefrocks. The day was very warm and mother was rather weary. "Mamma," finally asked the youngster, "isn't it awfully hard to iron?" "Yes, dear," answered the tired parent, with a gentle sigh, "sometimes"

TO SCHOOL AT M. A. C. IN MARCH. ONE WEEK COURSE WILL BE FOR BOTH MEN AND WOMEN.

Banking Commissioner Doyle Gives Out Figures Showing Gain in Business of Banks and Trust Companies.

[By Gurd M! Hayes.]

Lansing, Mich.-For a week, March 2 to 7, the State Agricultural college is to be turned over to farmers of Michigan, who for six days will be given an opportunity to go to college. The scheme is one hatched by the state department of farmers' institutes, of which Prof. L. R. Taft is the head. Somewhat similar round-ups have been held in past years, but that planned for March will be of much broader scope. It will attract 10,000 farmers and their wives and sons and daughters to M. A. C. On Prof. Taft will devolve the task of directing the week's activities.

The round-up will take the form of a short course in agriculture. Practical lectures on every phase of farming will be delivered in the college class rooms by members of the M. A. C. faculty for the benefit of the oneweek students. There will be talks on rural social problems, dairying, soils, horticulture, live stock, farm mechanics, and in fact upon every phase of agricultural industry.

A new feature of the institute will be one for women. This course will include lectures on such subjects as "Identification of fabrics," "Detecting adulterations," "Care of children, "Home decorations," and "Physical exercises for women."

During the week the Michigan Experiment association and the Mich!gan Corn Improvement association will also conduct sessions in East Lansing.

The department of farmers' institutes, which is in charge of plans for the week's assembly, is distinct from the college itself and in no way represents the college, but for a week each year the two unite for the round-

Since October 21, 1913, the net gain in aggregate business of the 455 state banks and six trust companies is $6,-296,867.98, according to the report of gage. Banking Commissioner E. H. Doyle.

Since the October report commercial loans and discounts have decreased $432,678.81. Commercial bonds and mortgages have increased $204,353.52, while savings bonds and mortgages have increased $849,940.54, making a total decrease in loans of $584,415.25. Commercial deposits have increased $5,415,850.94 since the October report, while savings deposits have increased $880,817.54, making a total increase in deposits of $6,-296,668.48.

Compared with the corresponding report issued a year ago commercial loans and discounts have increased $5,145,113.92; savings loans and discounts show a decrease of $406,360.05; commercial bonds and mortgages have increased $880.867.18; savings bonds and mortgages have increased $8,737,-457.63, making a net increase in loans for the year $14,457,080.68. As compared to the report of a year ago commercial deposits have increased $16,-922.071.57 and savings deposits, $6,-

The total cash reserve amounted to $26,099, it is the first time that the state's 893.61 or 7.54 per cent. The reserves legal department has rendered a rulare divided as follows: savings legal ing on the proposition. reserve $38,814,918.61 or 17.79 per cent; saving cash reserve $13,505,-186.56 or 6.19 per cent; commercial legal reserve $32,523,887.44 or 25.63 per cent; commercial cash reserve $12,504,707.05 or 9.85 per cent. The total cash reserve is $16,685,659.18 over the requirements of the banking

Based on savings deposits of $218,-068,076.53, the law requires mortgage and bond investments of at least $107,-551,894.75. Commissioner Doyle says the mortgage and bond investments exceed the requirements of the law by $37,880,783.29. The savings investments, together with the savings reserve, exceed the savings deposits by $8,250,404.31.

The United Home Telephone company with exchanges in Ludington, Muskegon, and adjacent villages wins out in its fight with the Michigan State Telephone company who sought to prevent the company securing the authorization of the state railroad commission to build a toll line of some 15 miles in length which line would parallel the line of the Michigan State from Scottsville to Manistee. The independent company desired the auson that the Michigan State refused physica connection. At hefor the ratio d com

In his opinion in the case which grants the United MANY MICHIGAN FARMERS TO GO Home authority to construct the line, Chairman Hemans of the commission says that the telephone statute of the state contains provisions designed to promote the physical connection of the lines of contiguous telephone systems. He says that it would be futile to require that companies should connevt their circuits and then leave each free to parallel the lines of the other, but inasmuch as the Michigan state refused to give the independent company physical connection and toll service the commission can do nothing more than grant the request of the will also be used by the Postal Tele-

ACTIVE AGENTS OF DISEASE

Cows Having Tuberculosis of Udder Give Off Tubercle Bacilli in Milk -Why Hogs Are Condemned.

(By H. PRESTON HOSKINS, Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St.

Milk may convey the active agents of some of our transmissible diseases. Cows having tuberculosis of the udder give off tubercle bacilli in the milk. This milk may be sent to a creamery and there be mixed with the milk coming from a large number of herds, which may be free from tuberculosis.

All the milk is then contaminated. Hogs are frequently fed on skim milk from creameries, and this may be the reason why so many hogs are condemned by the meat inspectors every year for tuberculosis. During the year 1912 the bureau of animal industry condemned 42,267 hogs and parts of 314,581 other hogs as tubercu-

MORE GOOD EATINGS.

Here is a good recipe for a fine date cake: Cream one cup of butter, add one and a half cupfuls of sugar, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, one cupful of dates chopped fine, two and a fourth cupfuls of flour, one cup of chopped nuts, one teaspoonful of vanilla and a pinch of salt. Bake in a long tin and cover with frosting.

Bean Bread.-Soak a quart of navy beans in cold water over night, then parboil with a pinch of soda until the skins roll up. Wash well, cook until soft, season with salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of peanut butter. Mix into them a cup of graham flour and mold into two loaves. Bake slowly until solid. Eat either hot or cold.

Eggless Prune Cake.-Take two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of brown sugar, one cup of sour milk, on teaspoonful of soda, one-balf teaspoon of cinnamon, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cloves, and one cupful of chopped prunes. Sift two cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and stir all together until well mixed. Bake in a loaf and cover with boiled frosting.

Virginia Sweets.-Cut sweet potatoes in slices and lay in a baking dish a layer well sprinkled with flour sugar, salt and bits of butter; add another layer, season and cover the top layer with a generous sprinkling of flour and bits of butter. Cover with boiling water and bake in a medium

ECZEMA SPREAD OVER BODY

Roxbury, Ohio.-"When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Wherever that matter would touch it would cause another pimple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several. The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so resiless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly.

"We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19,
