Herman Esch.

Herman Esch, whose sudden death was announced in the Standard last week was quite well known in Chelsea where he worked for some time. For the past few weeks he has been with a wood sawing outfit and Wednesday afternoon the crew moved to the home of Fred Hutzel, of Lima, where they expected to commence work the next morning.

When Mr. Esch left the Hutzel home he stated that he was going to the home of his father, but that he would return in the morning. He was in the best of spirits on Wednesday, and it is supposed that returning to the home of his father and not caring to arouse the family, who had retired, went to sleep in the loft over the shop where he was found dead Thursday morning, by one of his brothers. His death was caused from heart trouble.

The deceased was 29 years of age and had lived all of his life in Freedom. He is survived by his father, John Esch, two sisters, Mrs. William Keener, of Lodi, Mrs. George Hartman, of Scio, and four brothers, Albert, William and Louis Esch, at home and John Esch, of Lodi. The funeral was held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the residence and at 11 o'clock at St. John's church, Rogers' Corners, Rev. G. Eisen officiating.

The Senior Class Play.

The Senior Class announce that they are preparing a rare treat in the production of "At the Sign of the Jack O'Lantern" to be given on Monday, March 23. The parts are being taken with a great deal of ability and rehearsals go on apace. The cast is as follows:

Harlan Carr.....Earle Schumacher
Dorothy Carr.....Josephine Miller
Dick Chester.....Donald Bacon
Elaine St. Clair.....Alma Widmayer
Mr. Holmes.....Clara Riemenschneider
Ebenezer Holmes.....John Dunn
Mrs. Dodd.....Veva Hadley
Israel Skiles.....Walter Hummel
Harold Vernon Perkins.....
.....Roland Kalmbach

Mrs. John Schiller.

Mrs. John Schiller, for nearly fifty years a resident of Freedom, died Friday night, March 6, 1914, at the age of 85 years. She was stricken with paralysis about a month ago which the cause of her death.

She is survived by five sons George Schiller, of Ann Arbor, John Schiller, of Lyndon, Michael, Charles and William Schiller, of Freedom, four daughters Mrs. F. W. Schumacher, of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Louis Lamborn, Mrs. Arthur Lumley, of Detroit, and another daughter who is a resident of Cleveland. The funeral services were held Monday forenoon from Zion church, Rogers' Corners, Rev. E. Thieme officiating.

Stubborn, Annoying Coughs Cured

"My husband had a cough for fifteen years and my son for eight years. Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured them, for which I am most thankful," writes Mrs. David Moor, of Saginaw, Ala. What Dr. King's New Discovery did for these men, it will do for you. Dr. King's New Discovery should be in every home. Stops hacking coughs, relieves lagrippe and all throat and lung ailments. Money back if it fails. All druggists. Price 50c. and $1.00. Recommended by L. P. Vogel, H. H. Fenn Co. and L. T. Freeman Co. Adv.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Happenings in Chelsea Forty Years Ago This Week.

Married, Edward A. Avery and Miss Alice M. Congdon.

The editor of the Herald had his wood stolen, was out of meat, patience and at the elbows.

Two hundred sixteen votes cast at the village election. Orrin Thacher elected president, and James L. Gilbert and Chris. Klein tied for trustee. Lots were drawn and Mr. Gilbert won.

St. Patrick's Day Celebration

St. Patrick's Day will be appropriately observed next Tuesday by the members of the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart. The ladies of the church will give one of their famous suppers in St. Mary's hall from 6 to 8 p. m. The tables will be in charge of Mesdames John Farrell, C. E. Whitaker, John Young and Martin Merkel with a capable lot of assistants. A fine array of speaking talent has been secured. Eloquent addresses will be given by Rev. J. R. Command, of Trenton, Rev. J. F. Hallissey, of Hudson, Rev. T. F. Halley, of Dexter, and Hon. Frank DeVine, city attorney of Ann Arbor. Fine vocal and instrumental music will be given by excellent talent, and St. Mary's orchestra will discourse delightful music during the banquet. The tickets have been placed at 50 cents, and the proceeds will be for the benefit of St. Mary's school. The elegant banquet, the fine program of Irish songs and melodies, and the splendid hit of eloquent speakers should attract a large attendance to honor St. Patrick, the national apostle of Ireland. The committee in charge extend a most cordial invitation to attend. Rt. Rev. Monsignor DeBever of Dexter, will be the guest of honor on St. Patrick's Day.

Will Interest Germans

As one of the features of the annual meeting of the Schoolmasters' club in Ann Arbor, Wednesday, April 1st, the birthday anniversary of Bismarck, the great German statesman, will be celebrated by the Germans of Ann Arbor and Washtenaw county.

Arrangements have been made to bring Consul General Alfred Geissler, the German empire's representative at Chicago, who has been in the diplomatic service for 24 years. He will speak on "Cultural Relationships Between America and Germany." President H. B. Hutchins of the University of Michigan will also speak on "The Ideals of Citizenship." The meeting will be held in Hill auditorium. While in Ann Arbor Mr. Geissler will be entertained at the home of Regent J. E. Beal.

Coming to America 12 years ago as a representative of his native land Consul General Geissler spent the first four years in Washington, later being transferred to Seattle, and is at present in Chicago. While at the University of Berlin he studied law and afterwards passed the state examinations of Prussia for admission to the bar. However, the diplomatic service appealed to him more than the practice of his profession, and he decided to enter it. He is thoroughly acquainted with his subject, and his address will no doubt be most interesting to everybody, and especially to Germans.

The visit of Consul General Geissler is deemed of enough importance to warrant the issuing of invitations to Germans of surrounding counties, and in many other parts of the state.

Communication

The impersonations given by Mr. Abbott at the Sylvan Theatre Friday evening were among the best ever seen in Chelsea. His representations of the automobile girl, and the suffragette were excellent and kept the audience in an uproar. Mr. Abbott is a clean, earnest, conscientious young man of high character and culture. His work is mirth producing and elevating and free from all that is objectionable. No committee will have occasion to regret having placed Mr. Abbott on its program. He has worked in nearly every state in the union, has been very successful on Lyceum bureau and Chautauqua programs in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago etc. We want to see him again.

Three farm horses handsome and perfect in every way, weights from thirteen hundred upwards, warranted to be alright, will be sold March 24, on the farm of James S. Gorman.

RESUBMIT GOOD ROADS

The County Roads System to be Voted Upon at the Spring Election.

The board of supervisors at their special session last Thursday afternoon voted to resubmit the county roads system to the voters at the spring election which will be held on Monday, April 6. The question called forth a lively debate at the meeting, especially so, by those who were opposed to having the system submitted to the electors again.

For the last two or three months petitions asking the supervisors to have the question voted on again, have been circulated in all parts of the county and were freely signed. The county road system has been voted upon twice before in Washtenaw county. The first time it was defeated, but at the election last spring the measure was carried by a small majority.

Find Relics In Rubbish

No one knows how long they had been down there, but Saturday university officials rescued from a pile of rubbish in the basement of the administration building of the university two old U. S. flags and two banners, one of which was the tattered and torn banner of the First Michigan state troops, and the other of which was the class banner of 1871.

The first, a blue field with elaborate paintings covering its face, was something over six feet square, and will be sent either to the capital at Lansing, for their collection, or else loaned to the G. A. R. society in Ann Arbor.

The other, though smaller, is no less elaborate. The class of '71 was President H. B. Hutchins' class, and he was class orator that day. "Did you carry the banner?" he was asked and quick came the answer, "I did not. I was trembling too much to have carried it if they had offered it to me."

At the next reunion of the class of '71 the class banner will have its place in the festivities.

Parcel Post Service

Orders have been received at the postoffice which will still further increase the benefits of the parcel post service. Miscellaneous printed matter weighing over four pounds will be admitted hereafter at fourth class rates this change going into effect at once. Printed matter four pounds or under will go at the third class rate which is one cent for each two ounces or fraction, as in the past. Heretofore printed matter over four pounds could not be sent through the mails. After March 16 books weighing over eight ounces will be classed under parcel post and books under eight ounces will continue as third class matter.

Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary.

On Saturday, February 28, 1914, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Weber celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The children, grandchildren and a few immediate relatives of the couple spent the day at their home. In the evening they were pleasantly surprised by the members of Cavanaugh Lake Grange, of which organization Mr. and Mrs. Weber are charter members, and in which, despite their advanced age, they take an active interest.

After a short program consisting of song, pray by chaplain, reading of poem by Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider, song by Miss Catherine Notten, R. M. Hoppe in a few well chosen words presented a gold coin to the bride couple. Refreshments were served and a few hours spent in pleasant social converse.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber were both born in Germany, coming to this country in early youth and locating in Washtenaw county. With the exception of a few years spent at Whitmore Lake they have always lived in this vicinity. Over fifty years ago they united with the German M. E. church of which they are still consistent members.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber have six children, Henry, of Whitmore Lake, John, of Grass Lake, Mrs. Helen Guthrie, of Chelsea, Mrs. Carrie Richards, of Waterloo township, Mrs. Manfred Hoppe and Miss Nora Weber, of Sylvan. Friends and relatives unite in wishing them many more years of joy and happiness.

Princess Theatre.

Manager McLaren announces an unusually strong vaudeville act for Friday and Saturday. He has been fortunate in booking one of the best sister teams on the stage. They are known as the "Reno Sisters" and do a song and dance act. An entire change of program each night and the price of admission remains the same 10 cents.

OAKLAND

The Car With a Conscience

You are looking for a car that is easy to buy, economical to maintain, a car that has stability, originality and style, designed according to present day automobile engineering ideas.

You want your car to be a present day design in every way and made by a company that is financially sound. The OAKLAND and the FORD are strictly qualified and gaining all the while and it's up to you to pick the price you want to pay.

We realize that all prospective buyers do not want the same model or the same price car any more than they all want the same clothing or any other thing. We have a wide range in models, body designs and price.

Fours and Sixes $500 to $2600

Our line has been selected with the greatest care respecting future factory service and future worth of the car we sell today.

COMPARE—The SILENT, SMOOTH RUNNING Oaklands and the STURDY FORDS of your acquaintance with cars that COST MORE and have DONE LESS; than you will have discovered why the FORD is the UNIVERSAL CAR and just what the slogan THE CAR WITH A CONSCIENCE means.

SPECIFICATIONS?—Yes we have them on every model and more detailed than any one else. We give them under each model briefly here. We cheerfully give them in detail to anyone even to the size of all bearings and diameters of crank shaft, cam shaft, drive shaft and axle shaft.

SPECIFICATIONS—HOWEVER DO NOT MAKE AN AUTOMOBILE. The value of a lawn mower is not judged by its size or its weight, nor a mule by the length of his ears.

MOTOR CAR VALUES (to the owner) are based on what the car will DO ON THE ROAD 365 DAYS IN THE YEAR, how much it costs to do it, and howlong it will perform without developing those annoying RATTLES and POUNDING sensations and making those distressing noises common to so many cars.

Listen to the OAKLAND NORTHWAY MOTORS that have been in the service of Chelsea owners for two and three years, compare them with all the others, then decide which you'd rather drive and care for. We sell our cars for what they have proved themselves to be. We believe in their worth, we are confident of their all round dependability. They are the strongest and most economical cars made.

Prices, $500 to $2600

The Oakland Cars.

Messrs. McLaren and Freeman, agents for Washtenaw county, have arranged with the Palmer Motor Sales Co. to handle the Oakland Cars in Chelsea and vicinity.

In commenting to The Standard upon this arrangement L. T. Freeman sees first-class service to owners of Oakland cars who will thus secure all the advantages of an up-to-date garage service. He also says that the question of power in the 1914 Oakland cars received as much attention as any other thing during the past year. The new cars have hill-climbing power that places them in the front ranks on such roads as the hills of Pittsburg, Pa., Pittsfield, Mass., the White Mountains of N. H. and the Adirondacks of N. Y.

The experimental cars were tested in such a way as to fully convince anyone that they are equal to every emergency. All of the cars were taken on long eastern trips over mountainous country just to prove their hill-climbing ability. Trips were made as far south as Wheeling, W. Va., and as far east as Pittsburg, New York and Boston and north to the White Mountains. Four days were spent on the hills in and around Pittsburg. All this was done for proving beyond any doubt the power of the different models.

HIS REASON

The Westerner—Where I came from the birth rate is less than the death rate.
The Easterner—It isn't possible.
The Westerner—Why ain't it?
The Easterner—If it were true, there'd be people dying that had never been born.

GREGORY—Rev. and Mrs. George McTaggart, who have been with the Baptist church of Gregory for the past six years, has resigned to accept a call to the Baptist church at Rollin.

VERIFY IT

The Proof Is In Chelsea Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Chelsea citizen is in itself strong proof for Chelsea people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Chelsea citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved weak kidneys and now states the result was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Glenn H. Barbour, barber, S. Main St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "A few years ago I suffered from dull pains across my back and kidneys brought on by constant standing. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and caused me annoyance. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began taking them. They helped me at once. Doan's Kidney Pills regulated the kidney action and put a stop to the pains in my back. I gladly confirm the public statement I gave some years ago, recommending this remedy."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Barbour had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

JACKSON—Jack Cox, who for years conducted a saloon on Francis street and later a blind pig, will spend the next forty-five days in jail at least. Cox was sentenced by Judge Parkinson Monday morning for violation of the liquor law. The court imposed a fine of $100 and $50 costs, and also forty-five days in jail, which will keep him behind the bars for some little time after the April election. In case he does not pay the fine he is to be imprisoned until he does, but not to exceed six months.—Patrol.

END HEARING IN COPPER COUNTRY

CONGRESSMEN FINISH TAKING TESTIMONY IN UPPER PENINSULA.

SHERIFF DENIES PART IN DEPORTING MOYER.

Hearing of Evidence Regarding Charges Against State Militia are Begun by the Committee in Chicago.

Houghton, Mich.—The congressional committee, investigating the copper miners' strike, Saturday night ended its hearings in the copper region. On Monday the committee hear witnesses in defense of the Michigan National Guard in Chicago.

The committee questioned Sheriff Cruse concerning the Moyer deportation. He declared false the assertions that he was connected with the affair or paid Moyer's and Tanner's fare to Chicago.

Chairman Taylor said he believes congress will adopt legislation forbidding the transporting of "gunmen" from state to state.

A vast amount of testimony was heard Saturday in defense of the sheriff by Congressmen E. T. Taylor, Switzerland and Howell, while Congressmen S. N. Taylor and Casey examined a score of witnesses concerning the Calumet Christmas eve disaster. Their testimony was given merely to get it into the records, as it was almost wholly the same as these witnesses gave at the coroner's inquest.

Prosecuting Attorney Lucas called but five witnesses to combat the testimony to support the federation contention that the panic resulted from a cry of fire by a man who wore a Citizens Alliance pin. The verdict of the coroner's jury, clearing the Citizens Alliance of all blame, was also included in the records.

Witnesses for Sheriff Cruse told of the south range raid, participated in by Alliance members and the seizure of guns and ammunition in Union hall. Calumet and South Range justices were called to refute the charges that the courts were not open to the strikers excepting to prosecute them, showing the court records to the committee. Marshal Trudell of Red Jacket showed a large bundle of clubs, blackjacks and guns taken from rioting strikers.

All present prisoner in the county jail testified that prisoners are not mistreated.

Committee of business men and other citizens Saturday night appeared before congressional committee and offered resolutions commending the Michigan guard, signed by 6,011 leading people of Houghton and Keweenaw counties and asked that the resolutions be entered into the records as well as other lists now in circulation. Twenty thousand signatures are expected.

MAY NOT HAVE BUILDING.

Michigan Panama Exposition Meets in State Capital.

Lansing, Mich.—The Michigan Panama Exposition commission, appointed by the governor to devise ways and means to raise $60,000 that Michigan may be represented at the exposition, met in the executive chamber Saturday. Several plans are under consideration.

The legislature last winter turned down an appropriation bill intended to defray the expenses of having Michigan represented. Unless popular subscriptions can be obtained, it is altogether likely that Michigan will not be represented at the exposition. All but four states, including Michigan, have made arrangements to be represented.

ITEMS OF STATE INTEREST

Len Remille, 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Remille, was drowned in Grand river at Saginaw Saturday, when he ventured out too far on thin ice. He was with a boy about his own age at the time.

Amos Rolfe, 45, was caught by a shaft in Middleton's mill in Mikado township, Alcona county, and whirled to death. The body was horribly mutilated. A widow, six children, ranging from 13 years to nine months, and a blind father survive.

The parents of Fred Gerow, who was electrocuted at Saginaw, were given $375 by an arbitration committee of the industrial accident board. William B. Sutter against the Bliss & Van Auken company was settled in a like manner.

The state won its case at Battle Creek against the Mackinac Transportation Co. to collect general taxes amounting to $10,000 and assessed against the car ferries Chief Wawadum and Sainte Marie II.

At a "boosters' meeting of the Port Huron Business Men's association a plan to have each business man subscribe $100 to an industrial loan fund was advocated. A total of $100,000, to be raised, would be loaned to new industries at a low rate of interest as an inducement to erect plants here.

BRITISH CABINET YIELDS TO DEMANDS OF ULSTER

PREMIER HERBERT ASQUITH.

London—Premier Asquith and his cabinet Monday yielded to the demands of the anti-home rule forces of the Ulster counties of Ireland. In a formal address to the house of commons the premier outlined the provisions of a home rule compromise by which the people of Ulster province may escape the dominancy of a Dublin parliament. By the terms of the compromise the counties of Ulster province will be allowed to say whether they desire to be excluded from the operations of the home rule or Ireland bill.

MUCH TIMBER LEFT IN STATE

Recent Survey by Commercial Club Shows Vast Resources in Houghton and Keweenaw Counties.

Calumet, Mich.—That upper Michigan's timber resources are still of vast extent, notwithstanding that lumbering operations have been in progress for more than half a century, is indicated by the results of a survey just completed for the Copper Country Commercial club. The survey covered only Houghton and Keweenaw counties. It is estimated that in Houghton county there are 384,790 acres of standing timber and that this acreage contains timber to an amount sufficient to produce 3,460,000,000 feet of lumber. The timber holdings in Keweenaw county, outside of those of the mining companies, comprise 91,000 acres, from which, it is figured, it is possible to obtain 819,000,000 feet of lumber. The estimate in neither case includes cordwood, pulpwood, cedar poles or railroad ties, of all of which there are vast quantities, nor does it take into consideration 80,000 acres of timber lands withdrawn from the market by various corporations.

CRIME CASTLE BUILDER DEAD

Portland Carpenter Takes Poison Because He Couldn't Sleep.

Portland, Mich.—Patrick Quinlan, who was said to be one of the few men who might have explained the mysteries of "Holmes' Crime Castle," which was famous in the annals of Chicago crime, is dead at his home near here. Before his death he told physicians he had taken poison.

Quinlan was a carpenter and was employed by Dr. J. J. Holmes to build the structure. The police held him for a time as a possible accomplice. "Trap-doors, false partitions and numbers of wires were part of the equipment found in the 'Castle'."

"He couldn't sleep" was the reason given by relatives for Quinlan's suicide. Fall Fifty Feet—Slightly Hurt. Ann Arbor, Mich.—Falling 50 feet from a crane in use on the power plant for the University of Michigan, George Rachier and Joe Ellis, steel structural workers, escaped almost without injury. Rachier was only slightly bruised and Ellis sprained both ankles. Rachier is ready to return to work, but Ellis will be kept in the hospital for a week. A breaking chain caused their fall.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS.

State Immigration Commissioner Carton estimates that 65,000 laborers are needed for the spring work in Michigan.

Wrenzier Kemp, aged 60, a teamster, was instantly killed when he was struck by a Pere Marquette engine at Port Huron.

The board of supervisors of St. Clair county held a meeting Thursday and a resolution was adopted which provides that the proposition to bond the county for $40,000 be voted on at the April election.

By the terms of the will of the late Robert Walsh, who was Port Huron's largest holder of real estate, and worth probably a million dollars, the bulk of his fortune is left to the children of Thomas Walsh, of that city.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

TWO IMPORTANT AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES UNITE FOR BIGGER WORK.

ALFALFA IS TO BECOME FACTOR IN MICHIGAN.

Teachers of State will be Permitted to Study Methods of Instructing Feeble Minded at Lapeer Home.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing.—At the joint session of the Michigan Corn Improvement association and the Michigan Experiment association, both organizations, which have met annually at the Farmers' Institute round-ups and Farmers' week at M. A. C., merged into what will be known from now on as The Michigan Experiment association. The merger was effected by unanimous vote as it was contended that both unions could do more in their particular field. Both associations are old organizations and have done much toward better seeds for Michigan.

The officers elected were president, Charles B. Scully, Almont; vice-president, C. Hunsberger, Grand Rapids; secretary-treasurer, V. M. Shoemith, East Lansing. These officers and D. E. Turner, Mosherville; L. L. Lawrence, Decatur, and J. Robert Duncan, Vicksburg, constitute the executive committee. It was shown by the reports of the secretaries of the old associations that there is a big demand among farmers for better seed, and the associations have distributed many of these seeds. Prof. R. A. Moore, agronomist, for the university of Wisconsin; James Kline, of Indiana, the corn expert, and Prof. A. R. Potts, M. A. C., addressed the associations at the joint sessions. Great interest, it was shown, has developed relative to the culture of alfalfa in Michigan and this crop will soon become, it is claimed, a necessary crop with corn.

The poultry demonstrations and lectures have attracted hundreds, both men and women. C. B. Cook, Owosso, who lectured to a large crowd, declared that the hen is a big farm factor and is a larger producer of profit than any other living thing on the farm. Mr. Cook produced figures, taken from experiments with his 1,000 fowls on his farm, which proved his assertions. Alfalfa was urged as "green pasture for poultry" for fowls on account of its nutriment.

Cattle judging in the pavilion and demonstration of what to do in emergencies with sick animals were features of the livestock program. Lectures were given in livestock diseases by Dr. R. P. Lyman and Dr. J. S. McDaniel. Demonstrations in horticulture with four lectures and lectures in farm mechanics were also a part of the program.

A summer school for teachers of defective children has been announced to be held at Lapeer beginning July 6. This is the first time that a school of this kind has been attempted in Michigan and Superintendent of public instruction Fred L. Keeler believes that it will be highly successful.

The board of supervisors of the new school is composed of H. A. Haynes of the Lapeer home, Dr. C. S. Berry of the department of education of the University of Michigan, Frank Cody, member of the state board of education, C. C. Peck, member of the board of control of the Lapeer home and Superintendent of Public Instruction Fred L. Keeler.

According to the estimate of Miss Adele McKinnis, who has been conducting a survey, there are not less than 9,000 feeble minded persons in the state. Some of these are enrolled in the public schools. Aside from this class are the thousands of higher mentality but who are not fitted to work side by side with normal children. Superintendent Keeler says the disadvantage to the brighter child resulting from this classification must be considered also.

The school of instruction is to be open to experienced teachers only and applicants will be required to have a certificate of recommendation from their local superintendent of schools. The Lapeer home will form the laboratory for the work and instruction will be given in the various forms of studies taught as well as in the psychology of defective children, tests for mental efficiency and other subjects needed for a thorough understanding of the work.

During the first eight months of the fiscal year of the Industrial Accident board 280 cases have been heard before arbitration committees in various parts of the state. During the same period of time about 12,000 cases were settled under the compensation act without the necessity of arbitration. This small percentage of disputes arising under the act illustrates the splendid attitude of the employers and employees of Michigan in relation of the law and the Industrial Accident board. It further illustrates the fact that when a dispute does arise as to terms of compensation or period of disability the points at issue are settled.

led in a remarkably short space of time as compared with any court procedure that can be instituted. This feature is a most important one, as it eliminates in every instance the long delay that is always occasioned in a court action. So far as the expense of conducting arbitration proceedings under the compensation act is concerned, the comparison of costs would be most interesting, the average cost to the state under the compensation act for disputed cases (exclusive of salaries of members of the board) being $13.33 for the 280 cases arbitrated since July 1, 1913. Each arbitrator receives from the state a fee of $5.00 for serving on the committee. In the period mentioned $2,805 has been paid to arbitrators. Then members of the board, acting as chairmen of the various arbitration committees have incurred traveling and hotel expenses of $928.46, making a total cost for the 280 cases of $3,733.46.

"The State Fire Marshall's Bureau has issued a large number of orders directing that fire escapes be added to public buildings or exits changed or constructed so as to comply with the law," said State Fire Marshall John T. Winslow, "and the most encouraging thing about the whole matter is that the people of the state are complying with these orders at once."

"The Bureau has during the past month received a large number of requests for information regarding fire escapes. The kind of escapes which should be constructed depends a great deal upon the character and location of the buildings, but we suggest that where possible, escapes be built of iron at least three feet in width and at an angle of 45 degrees."

As to the state immigration department which is under control of the public domain commission the report of that body says:

"There are 36,370,780 acres of land in Michigan, and nearly one-third, or nearly 9,000,000 acres is still undeveloped, a large part of which is highly suitable for farming. This large undeveloped area suggests two questions. The first: why is the undeveloped area so large? and the second: what will be the ultimate gain to the state in the expenditure of effort and money in an attempt to develop these lands? As to the first question let us consider that the best farms in the older settled communities would still be undeveloped had it not been for the fact that the passing of the lumberman and saw mill compelled the people of these communities to turn their attention to agriculture and the development of their lands, and the great northern part of the state, wherein lies the largest amount of undeveloped land, is in practically the same condition today as were the older settled communities a few decades ago. The lumber industry, which held the center of the state in Michigan for many years gradually moved northward and its operations have been so complete that there is now comparatively little timber left for further operations. The result of this is that the lumberman is seeking new fields and the men whose fathers and grandfathers spent their lives in the woods and saw mills are now forced to turn their attention to a vocation comparatively new to them—agriculture and the development of the thousands of acres left in the passing of the lumberman."

"The second question can be more easily answered than the first, and more briefly, too, as it resolves itself into a simple arithmetical problem. If only a little more than two-thirds of the total area of the state is developed, who is paying the taxes? It must necessarily be that portion which is developed rather than the undeveloped portion, and therefore is it not a good business proposition, for the state to take all necessary steps to develop the other one-third of the state and place the lands upon the tax roll and in a condition where they can share their portion of taxation?"

An order was signed by the state railroad commission authorizing the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad to issue $8,000,000 in income bonds, $6,000,000 in preferred stock and $2,000,000 in common stock. This issue has also been authorized by the state railroad commission of Ohio.

Following an inspection by Commissioner Charles Cunningham the latter part of December the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton was ordered by the railroad commission to take steps at once to repair the bridges and trestles which Cunningham and Chief Engineer Bice asserted were in a dangerous condition.

According to the members of the railroad commission the officials of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton are complying with the order as rapidly as possible and the road is being placed in a safe condition.

Application was made to the supreme court by Prosecuting Attorney Bennett of Kalamazoo county for an order requiring Judge Stewart to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue requiring the judge to certify to the county clerk the payment of certain fees which Bennett claims he is entitled to receive.

When a man becomes the owner of property after the assessment has been made, he is not eligible to fill a vacancy on a board of education, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Fellows. The state's legal adviser also holds that an adult cannot be adopted.

PRESIDENT READS TOLLS MESSAGE

URGES CONGRESS TO REPEAL THE EXEMPTION CLAUSE.

"IN VIOLATION OF TREATY"

Favoring of American Coastwise Vessels Declared by Chief Executive Also to Be Based on Mistaken Economic Policy.

Washington, March 5.—Declaring that the exemption of American coastwise shipping from the payment of Panama canal tolls was based upon a "mistaken economic policy" and was "in contravention of our treaty with Great Britain," President Wilson today asked congress to repeal the Adamson act containing the exemption clause. The appeal was made in person by the president, who appeared before the senate and house of representatives in joint session.

The president declared that all the world powers were unanimous in judgment that the exemption was in violation of our treaty obligations. Only in the United States, he said, was the exemption clause regarded as debatable or as open to question. He said he had not come to congress to deliver a personal view, but that considerations of justice and wisdom led him to believe that the proviso should be repealed without delay.

The president added that the United States "ought not to quibble" in the matter of a treaty obligation. He intimated that the Panama canal tolls question was involved in all the other foreign questions now before the United States, because he would not know how to deal with them unless the exemption is repealed.

President's Message.

The address follows: "Gentlemen of the Congress: "I have come to you upon an errand which can be very briefly performed, but I beg that you will not measure its importance by the number of sentences in which I state it. No communication I have addressed to the congress carried with it graver or more far-reaching implications to the interest of the country and I now come to speak upon a matter with regard to which I am charged in a peculiar degree by the constitution itself with personal responsibility."

"I have come to ask for the repeal of that provision of the Panama canal act of August 24, 1912, which exempts vessels engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States from payment of tolls, and to urge upon you the justice, the wisdom, and the large policy of such a repeal with the utmost earnestness of which I am capable."

Exemption a Mistake.

"In my own judgment, very fully considered and maturely formed, that exemption constitutes a mistaken economic policy from every point of view, and is, moreover, in plain contravention of the treaty with Great Britain concerning the canal concluded on November 18, 1901. But I have not come to you to urge my personal views. I have come to state to you a fact and a situation."

"Whatever may be our own differences of opinion concerning this much debated measure, its meaning is not debated outside the United States. Everywhere else the language of the treaty is given but one interpretation, and that interpretation precludes the exemption I am asking you to repeal."

Consented to Treaty.

"We consented to the treaty; its language we accepted, if we did not originate it; and we are too big, too powerful, too self-respecting a nation to interpret with too strained or refined a reading the words of our own promises just because we have power enough to give us leave to read them as we please. The large thing to do is the only thing we can afford to do, a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood. We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation."

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other meetings of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

RUSSIAN OFFICER MURDERED

Slayer at Arms Factory Then Throws Himself Into Machinery and Is Crushed.

St. Petersburg, Russia, March 5.—Captain von Stahl, chief of works at the shrapnel tube factory of the Putiloff armament works, was brutally murdered by one of the foremen. The murderer then threw himself into the electrical machinery and was crushed to death. There has been a strike at the Putiloff works and Captain von Stahl's attitude toward the strikers is supposed to have been the cause of the tragedy.

Noted Southern Woman Dead. Chattanooga, Tenn., March 5.—Mrs. Mary Ambler Coleman, aged eighty-four, mother of Lewis M. Coleman, United States district attorney for the eastern district of Tennessee, died here. Mrs. Coleman was a granddaughter of Chief Justice John Marshall.

MANY DIE IN FIRE IN ST. LOUIS CLUB

GUESTS ON UPPER FLOORS ARE CAUGHT IN TRAP AND FEW ESCAPE.

TWO MEN KILLED TRYING TO ESCAPE BY LEAPING.

Destruction of Missouri Athletic Club Is Marked by One of the Greatest Fire Tragedies of the Year.

St. Louis.—Thirty-five guests lost their lives early Monday morning when fire destroyed the Missouri Athletic club and the Boatmen's bank. Seventeen others were injured.

H. C. Henley, chief of the St. Louis fire prevention bureau, was told by a man who claimed to be an employee of the club that the fire was caused by the breaking of a gas pipe in the kitchen. The kitchen was on the third floor.

The fire, was virtually out at 6 o'clock at night, after burning 10 hours, and a systematic search for bodies was begun. Searchlights were used.

The building, a seven-story structure, was destroyed, part of the walls falling and only the shell remaining.

The guests on the upper floors were trapped and their only chance of escape in most cases was to climb down red-hot fireescapes, or jump to the roofs of adjoining buildings, 10 feet away. Two died trying the leap.

CONFESSES KILLING COMPANION

John Hammond Tells of Shooting Charles Bottsford.

West Branch, Mich.—John Hammond, arrested in connection with the slaying of Charles Bottsford, Tuesday confessed to Sheriff A. O. Guilford, Prosecuting Attorney Bennett, and Bill Hammond, John Hammond's brother. He said they quarreled over their work and Charles threw a stick of wood at him. He then shot and killed him with a shotgun. When he saw that he was dead he ate supper first and then dragged the body to the barn and set fire to the barn. The two men lived together on a farm near here.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Note That Was Signed by Webster and Clay

WASHINGTON.—What always charms one about Washington is to realize that, after all, men are human, and that no dignity or distinction can eliminate the spirit of democracy on which the republic is founded. To walk along and have a chat with Chief Justice White and find that the man who has written decisions of historic moment from which there is no appeal retains an interest in everyday affairs and wears a fuzzy hat, and about the some sort of clothes, shoes and neckties as any other man, only serves to emphasize his real dignity. The chief justice is as simple as he is dignified. He loves to spend his vacation days at the old home in Louisiana, where neighbors and friends still hail him with the affectionate greetings of the days when he was forging his way to the front as a promising young lawyer.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer in 1914. In a bank the other day was shown a note indorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to indorse a note with him for $500.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster, "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1,000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the compact, and the two set out for Banker Riggs, signed the note with due solemnity, and secured the proceeds. As they swung out across the threshold on to the avenue and divided the money, Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Riggs wanted our names on that note?" "It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay, "perhaps he desired some memento to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid by the present generation."

The cancelled note is today a valued souvenir worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers.—National Magazine.

Bachelor Member of House Embarrassed by Plea

REPRESENTATIVE MOSES KINKAID of Nebraska, a bachelor, was embarrassed in the house the other day. He was almost obliged to agree to get married in order to secure the passage of a bill providing that the marriage of a homestead entryman to a homestead entrywoman shall not impair the right of either to a patent, after compliance with the law for one year.

Mr. Kinkaid said the present laws are an impediment to marriage in the public land states, and that this condition of affairs should be no longer tolerated.

"The gentleman from Nebraska has a good deal of nerve to call this bill up," suggested Representative Mann of Illinois. "He says it is against public policy to prevent marriage, while the gentleman all his life has been preventing one marriage that ought to take place."

Mr. Kinkaid blushed and stuttered and then exclaimed haltingly: "I think I can make up for this omission, dereliction, or lack of opportunity, by helping to promote a law of this kind."

"If I thought this bill was designed in any way to permit the gentleman to join his affairs with some entrywoman I should certainly favor its passage," returned Mr. Mann. "I doubt whether the gentleman can make up for his own failings in this manner."

"I do not stand in the way of marriage of worthy widows, widowers, bachelors, or maidens," responded Mr. Kinkaid.

"I suggest an amendment including our Nebraska friend," observed Representative Madden of Illinois.

"I would be included," said Mr. Kinkaid, smilingly.

"We should like to help the gentleman get married," said Mr. Mann.

"I will accept all help gratefully," replied Mr. Kinkaid.

The bill was passed.

About the Easiest Thing in the World to Say

"ASK Washington," is the phrase that makes the corps of correspondents at the national capital ill. It is the easiest thing in the world to say, and sometimes entails endless labor. It means that somewhere in this country a paper is going to press, and some one on that sheet wants to know, for instance, what was the color of President Arthur's eyes.

"Ask Washington," says the managing editor, and the telegraph editor clicks off the message.

The Washington correspondent gets the query. It may arrive in the middle of the night, or it may arrive even later, but he has to answer it in order to preserve the inviolate reputation that a Washington newspaper man can answer any question in the world. Somebody in this town will remember the color of those eyes, and the paper will have it.

That is not an extreme example, either. Didn't one Washington bureau get a query not long ago, in the "wee sma" hours of the morning, asking the number of steel missiles aboard one of the battleships. How would you like to get that problem put up to you at 1 a. m. with the understanding that the answer had to be fired back instantly?

Another query, from a Canadian paper, asked for the number of employees out of work in nearly every big city in the Union, the cost of clothes and food in all those cities and the probable effect on general business. Another query asked a correspondent here, "Who is Coup d'Etat and where is he from?" The correspondent had been using French in his political stuff. One of the most famous queries came from a yellow sheet in a big city. It read:

"Something in the air. Send 500 words."

The paper had a hunch that something was doing, and wanted to stir up the bureau.

Senator Martine "Glad to Meet" the Ambassador

SOCIAL affairs in congressional circles under the present Democratic regime lack the formality which characterized republican gatherings of a similar character under preceding administrations. At least that is what society people in Washington say, and they are telling a good story on Senator James E. Martine of New Jersey to illustrate their point.

At a reception given by the senator not long ago, so the story goes, members of the diplomatic corps, with their gold braid and medals of honor, mingled with the more modestly dressed civilians. Senator Martine was circling the room, greeting his guests in his bluff, hearty way, when his glance happened to rest on the Spanish ambassador, gaily caparisoned in uniform of his rank.

"Who in thunder are you? Where in thunder do you come from?" said Senator Martine in his characteristically explosive manner.

Somewhat abashed by the senator's frank question and boldness of expression, the ambassador managed to stammer out:

"I am Senor Don Juan Riano y Gayangos, chamberlain to his majesty the king of Spain, and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from that country."

Senator Martine's nerve never has been known to fail him in an emergency and it stood him in good stead in this instance.

"Well, by god, sir," he replied, extending his hand cordially, "I'm glad to meet you."

CUNNINGHAM ASKS MANY NEW LAWS

STATE LABOR COMMISSIONER FILES ANNUAL REPORT WITH GOVERNOR.

WANTS FORTY-FOUR HOUR LAW FOR WOMEN.

He Would Have Counties Empowered to Maintain Free Agencies for Benefit of Unemployed Workers.

Lansing, Mich.—Labor Commissioner James Cunningham, in his annual report filed with Gov. Ferris Monday, suggests a number of new laws he would like enacted at the next session of the legislature, among them an amendment to the 54-hour working law for women so as to include all classes of labor.

At the last session of the legislature an effort was made to amend the 54-hour law and it nearly resulted in a repeal of the entire statute. Mr. Cunningham also recommends that the bill providing for a semi-monthly pay day shall be extended to all state employees.

Mr. Cunningham also stands for a law that will hold parents and guardians responsible with the employer where minors under their charge are working without permits. He would also require the owners or lessees of public halls in which women and children congregate to furnish special officers to be in constant charge when the hall is thus engaged.

Some time ago Mr. Cunningham asked the aid of the county clerks in obtaining jobs for the unemployed and he wants a law passed empowering boards of supervisors to establish and maintain free employment bureaus. A law requiring sanitary soap and towels in all schoolhouses in the state is recommended.

Mr. Cunningham wants an eight-hour work day for all minors, and favors the passage of a law creating a board of mediation and arbitration to settle industrial disputes.

TWO OLD FLAGS ARE RESCUED.

Tattered Banner of First Michigan State Troops Found in Rubbish.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—No one knows how long they had been down there, but Saturday university officials rescued from a pile of rubbish in the basement of the administration building of the university two old U. S. flags and two banners, one of which was the tattered and torn banner of the First Michigan state troops, and the other of which was the class banner of 1871.

The first, a blue field with elaborate paintings covering its face, was something over six feet square.

The other, though smaller, is no less elaborate. The class of '71 was President H. B. Hutchins' class, and he was class orator that day. "Did you carry the banner?" he was asked, and quick came the answer, "I did not. I was trembling too much to have carried it if they had offered it to me."

Accidents of Two Months.

Lansing, Mich.—Outside of the railroads and mining companies, Wayne County, for the months of January and February reported to the state industrial accident board 43 per cent of all accidents, fatal and non-fatal.

Of the accidents, fatal and non-fatal, including the railroads and mines and all other industries, payments during that period were made to injured employees amounting to $144,628. In fifty per cent of the cases reported the medical expense incurred in caring for these accidents amounted to $27,276.

Jackson Prison is Self-Supporting

Adrian, Mich.—"Jackson prison is a self-sustaining institution, and with one exception it is the only prison in the United States which operates without a deficit."

This is the statement of Edward Frensdorf, of Hudson, member of the Jackson prison board Saturday, who also claims that a deficit of $91,600 annually had been wiped out.

"At the time that I became a member of the board, under the Warner administration we were losing annually nearly $100,000. Now we are self-supporting," said Mr. Frensdorf.

W. A. Miller and John H. Haloney, guards at Jackson prison, have filed claims with the industrial accident board for compensation for injuries received when they were attacked by convicts two weeks ago. Joonen Widnesuk, a trammer employed by the Quincy Mining company, has asked compensation for injuries caused by the explosion of a dynamite cap.

Lingerie Ribbons Embellish Undermuslins

NARROW satin ribbons plain or dotted, and wider weaves of the same kind, are pictured here made up into ribbon ornaments to be pinned or tacked to petticoats, nightdresses, corset covers, etc.

Wash ribbons of excellent quality, from one-half inch to two and a half inches wide, are used for these handsome ornaments. They are furbelows, pure and simple, serving no purpose of utility. But they are a feature of lingerie styles present and to come.

The narrow ribbons are made up in rosettes like those shown in the picture. Pendant ends are tied in tiny butterfly bows, or knotted loops are knotted at the center. At the back these little rosettes are to be sewed to very small safety pins, and with them pinned to the petticoat or nightdress or combination. Flower forms are simulated in the rosettes and pendants in bows of this kind, or a bolt of ribbon is made up to two plain rosettes joined by a short length of ribbon, as shown in the picture.

For lace-trimmed petticoats the rosette of dotted ribbon an inch and a half wide, shown at the left, is the favorite design. The satin surface, when the ribbon is of good quality, which stands much wear without becoming soiled. The decorative ribbons need not be laundered, but may be cleaned with gasoline.

A very handsome garniture is made of about four yards of ribbon two inches wide in plain satin, and is shown at the right of the picture. This is to be worn with one of those lace nightdresses in which the deep yokes are all of lace or net. Many of them worn over a petticoat make attractive negligees, and the adjustable ribbon decoration comes in very handy for embellishing them.

A large blanket-bow of wide, dotted satin ribbon, made for the baby's carriage blanket, is shown at the center of the picture. It requires at least four yards of ribbon about five inches wide to make it full enough, and five yards is not too much, for there is a cluster of four small, knotted loops at the center and two knotted ends at the back.

Made in the same way, of narrow ribbon, is a single rosette. This is one of those separate, small pieces which millinery may use where she will, on a cap or gown or petticoat—wherever a little touch of color will add something to the charm of lace-trimmed and dainty garments.

Girdles for Dancing Frocks

THE liking for broad girdles that swathe the waist and extend them selves below and above the normal waist line is fostered by the new dancing steps. These require so much freedom of the whole figure that the successful management of the waist becomes a matter of great importance.

Two-piece gowns, especially, must be provided with girdles which more than cover the waist line. Then, if the various dips and whirlings and glides which have captivated the dancing world cause the waist and skirt to part company the broad girdle hides this disarray.

Two new designs, among those known as "Tango girdles," are pictured here. One of them is made of velvet ribbon in a delightful reddish yellow nasturtium color, combined with a cream-colored gauze ribbon with small pink roses and green foliage embroidered on it. The combination is a thing of beauty in colors.

In making this girdle an edge of the gauze ribbon is basted to the underside of the velvet ribbon for that portion that extends above the waist. The short standing loop is made of the two ribbons also basted together. Stitches are carefully put in and invisible, on the right side of the velvet ribbon.

There is a hanging end of velvet ribbon with a ruffle of the gauze ribbon basted along one side. This end is finished with a small bow tied in the

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 601 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Standing on one's merits is good, but moving on them is better.

High Hats.

The enormous height of the millinery of 1914 led Jane Cowl to remark:

"I know a man whose wife said to him the other day:

"Oh, dear, there's that old Christmas tree lying in the back yard over a month now, I don't know what on earth to do with it."

"Can't you put it on your new hat?" her husband asked."

LIFE'S ROAD

Smoothed by Change of Food.

Worry is a big load to carry and an unnecessary one. When accompanied by indigestion it certainly is cause for the blues.

But the whole trouble may be easily thrown off and life's road be made easy and comfortable by proper eating and the cultivation of good cheer.

Read what a Troy woman says:

"Two years ago I made the acquaintance of Grape-Nuts and have used the food once a day and sometimes twice, ever since.

"At the time I began to use it life was a burden. I was for years afflicted with bilious sick headache, caused by indigestion, and nothing seemed to relieve me.

"The trouble became so severe I had to leave my work for days at a time.

"My nerves were in such a state I could not sleep and the doctor said I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I saw an adv. concerning Grape-Nuts and bought a package for trial.

"What Grape-Nuts has done for me is certainly marvelous. I can now sleep like a child, am entirely free from the old trouble and have not had a headache in over a year. I feel like a new person. I have recommended it to others. One man I knew ate principally Grape-Nuts while working on the ice all winter, and said he never felt better in his life."

The Chelsea Standard

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, East Middle street, Chelsea, Michigan.

O. T. HOOVER.

Terms: $1.00 per year; six months, fifty cents; three months, twenty-five cents. To foreign countries $1.50 per year. Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application.

Entered as second-class matter, March 5, 1908, at the postoffice at Chelsea, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

WANT LOWER TAX RATES

The mixed results in Monday's village election, as to president and board of trustees, show conclusively that ten dollars per thousand is about as much as people will stand in the way of village taxes, and this amount should certainly provide enough revenue to run Chelsea in low pressure times. This is especially true as the electric light and water works plant collects enough revenue from our citizens for service to pay the running of the plant and interest on the bonded indebtedness.

It is in times of non-expansion, where there is no great amount of extensions in way of lights and water mains to be installed, we can't pay bonds maturing and expenses of running a village the size of Chelsea with $12,000, exclusive of cost of street lighting and water mains that are taken care of by revenues of the plant, something is wrong with the management, and no member of the common council, of any party, will be returned unless he is squarely on record for a reduction in the tax rate.

Teacher's State Examination.

A state examination will be held at the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction F. L. Keeler in Lansing during the week of March 23 to 27. Applicants will be required to write an examination in 20 subjects and the certificates granted on this examination qualify the recipient for life in the schools of Michigan. Only teachers of at least two years experience are qualified to receive this certificate. The eight grade examinations will be held May 14 and 15.

Why have farmers given up raising sorghum? Years ago a considerable quantity was raised in this and neighboring counties. At the prison in Jackson a plant to manufacture molasses will be installed and farmers are signing contracts to deliver cane at the prison to be made into molasses. Some California Fruit.

Frank Leach on Wednesday of this week placed a basket of choice California fruits on display in the show window at Schatz's barber shop. Most of the fruit was grown on the farm of Stephen Laird at Santa Ana, California, and some of it was gathered by Mr. Leach when he visited the home of the grower. The collection is attracting considerable attention, and the Chelsea friends of Mr. Laird are glad to learn of his success as a fruit grower.

AN UP-TO-THE-MINUTE CAR

Manufactured by THE CRESCENT MOTOR CO., of Cincinnati

We do not claim to have the ONLY CAR on the market. There are hundreds of cars, and good ones, too, built and sold daily. But this

WE BELIEVE

Of all the cars manufacturee in the world today, when the CRESCENT MOTOR CO. placed upon the market their 1914 Models they offered to the public for the money, than was ever offered before by any concern. Compare our specifications with any car you may choose. In the first place we would call your attention to the GENERAL APPEARANCE of the Ohio Cars. Could there be more beautiful BODY LINES than are shown in this car?

More Real Automobile Value

For upwards of ten years past the Capital Savings & Loan Association has issued Preferred Stock, and it has paid semi-annually out of the earnings a dividend of 4% per cent per annum.

During that time there has been a steady growth of the business and the assets have been nearly trebled. By reason of the association's continued prosperity and its greater earning capacity it HAS NOW BEEN GRANTED AN INCREASED DIVIDEND.

THE ABOVE RATE TO 5 PER CENT, dating from January 1st, 1914.

The new rate applies to the Preferred Stock in the amount of $100,000,000 issued after this date. These dividends are paid to the investor on or about the 1st of each January and July.

Twenty-four years in business, assets over $500,000,000.

THE OVERLAND 79

Touches the Pocketbook Lightly, yet is At Home in the Best Society.
You think they are Different. But are they?

Investigate and See

Too many people are fooled or misled by taking bare automobile prices as a positive indication of the Intrinsic Value of a car. This is exactly the wrong way to go about it. Because one article is priced higher than another it does not follow that that article has a greater value.

But How Are We to Know This?

You ask. That's simple; ask some real questions. Find out some actual facts; make some specification comparisons, and then it is the easiest thing in the world to sum up the intrinsic value of any car made.

Why is it that you seldom see any of our competitors advertising their specifications?

Are they afraid or ashamed? Be that as it may, here are the facts—

FOR INSTANCE

The $950.00 Overland has a motor that is as large and as powerful as in most $1,200.00 cars—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland has a wheel base as long as on most $1,200.00 cars: 114 inches—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland is roomier, has greater leg stretch and more actual comfort than most $1,200.00 cars—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland has tires as large as on most of the $1,200.00 cars—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland has electric lights throughout the same as $5,000.00 cars—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland has just as complete and just as expensive equipment as most $1,500.00 cars—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland is manufactured just as carefully as any car—

Compare and See

The $950.00 Overland has Hyatt and Timkins bearings, as good as any priced car has—

Compare and See

The Overland has the Gray & Davis engine starter. Who has any better?—

Compare and See

And such greater value for less money is possible on account of the enormous production, economical manufacturing facilities, with only one motor, one chassis, one wheel base, and the largest manufacturing facilities in the world of this type of car—

The Overland Automobile.

You're looking forward to your new car with pleasurable anticipations. You expect it to add to the joy of living—to your own good health and long life.

Have you given thought to its appearance and the prestige of its name?

A proper pride in your possessions is a worthy attribute. By no means neglect it. If you do you'll have to swallow it every time you are asked what car you drive for are passed on the road by an acquaintance.

Good taste, to be sure, if not purse limitations, forbids extravagant, gaudy freakishness. But there is the happy medium, the golden middle-ground, the car that touches the pocketbook lightly and yet is at home in any society.

The Overland is an automobile that commands itself to the man who considers prestige and appearance as well as price, the car that ride proudly besides its most costly brother and yet causes no conscientious pang over extravagance. A. G. Faist would be pleased to demonstrate the Overland for you at any time.

Settle Civil Suit.

Ann Arbor Times News: A civil suit which has been pending for two years and in the adjudication of which the trial justice intervened, was settled out of court Tuesday.

Two years ago Mrs. Olive Winslow sued Ben Widmayer for breach of a lease. The action was brought in the court of Stephen L. Gage, of Sylvan. The justice was called to a higher court while the case was pending. An appeal was later taken to the circuit court, and the case was on the docket for trial. Tuesday Attorney Carl A. Lehman caused the case to be stricken from the docket, a satisfactory settlement having been arrived at.

We Have Faith In This Stomach Remedy

A woman customer said to us the other day, "Say, you ought to tell everyone in town about Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. I would myself if I could." That set us to thinking. So many people have used them and have so enthusiastically sounded their praises both to us and their friends, that we had an idea you all knew about them. But, in the chance that some of you who suffer from indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia, or some other stomach complaint, don't know about them—we are writing this.

They contain Bismuth and Pepsin, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe and comfort the stomach, promote the secretions of gastric juice, help to quickly digest the food and convert it into rich, red blood, and improve the action of the bowels. We believe them to be the best remedy made for indigestion and dyspepsia. We certainly wouldn't offer them to you entirely at our risk unless we felt sure they would do you a lot of good. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets do not relieve your indigestion, check the heartburn, and make it possible for you to eat what you like whenever you like, come back and get your money.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only at our store. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, and $1.00. L. T. Freeman Co. Adv.

PRINCESS THEATRE

COMING ATTRACTIONS

The offering at the Princess on Friday evening will be a sensational western story "The Struggle," produced by the 101 Bison people on their great ranch in California, it is said to be different than the regular run of western pictures, in that while it contains a lot of thrills they are so produced that they are not offensive in the least.

Speaking of the feature picture "The Reformation of Calliope" which is to be the feature of the Saturday night program at the Princess, the critic of the Motion Picture World says: "This nicely worked out two-reel production is based on a short story by O. Henry. Calliope is a bad man who gets to be worse, until he begins shooting people too wantonly, when the sheriff of a western county and his deputy start after him to run him down and kill him. They meet with him at a railway station in which he and the sheriff had a gun fight, interrupted by the sudden appearance of Calliope's mother, who has come from the East to see him. She thinks he is a good man, and in order to keep her faith in him whole, the sheriff and Calliope call off their fight. Afterward Calliope reforms and shows his good will to remain good by capturing some bank robbers. The film shows good material throughout. It makes a desirable offering. Adv.

Announcements.

There will be a meeting of the Chelsea Cornet Band at the village power house, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, March 18. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. Alling of Japan will give an address at the M. E. church this evening on the work of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society in that country. The service will be in the lecture room.

A special meeting of the K. of P. will be held on Monday evening of next week. The third degree will be worked in amplified form. It is expected that visitors from out of town will be present and a good attendance is requested.

The Central Circle of the M. E. church will sell fried cakes in Foster's store on Saturday, March 21.

A Real Nerve and Body-Building Medicine.

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run-down, tired, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It makes you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, weak, run-down or ailing, we offer personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, we are sure that once you have used it, you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. L. T. Freeman Co. Adv.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the pride of every housekeeper. It is hard to keep a stove nice and shining unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It does not rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times as long as the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish a fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it.

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other polish you have ever used before, your dealer authorized to refund your money. But we are sure you will agree with the thousands of up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the best stove polish ever made.

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary polish. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and fireplace bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Use with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for all ware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It is equal for use on automobiles.

HOLTON OF THE NAVY

A STORY OF THE FREEING OF CUBA

By Lawrence Perry
Author of "Don Merriweather," "Prince or Chauffeur," etc.

Illustrations by Ellsworth Young

SYNOPSIS.

Lieutenant Holton is detached from his command in the navy at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war and assigned to important secret service duty. While dining at a Washington hotel he detects a waiter in the act of robbing a beautiful young lady. She thanks him for his service and gives her name as Miss La Tossa, a Cuban patriot. Later he meets her at a ball. A secret service man warns Holton that the girl is a spy. Miss La Tossa leaves for her home in Cuba. Holton is ordered to follow her. They meet on the Tampa train. Holton tells her that she is a Cuban spy and expresses doubt regarding the sincerity of the United States. Holton is ordered to remain in Tampa to guard the troop transports. He saves the transports from destruction at the hands of dynamite and reports to Admiral Sampson for further duty. Holton is sent to General Garcia's command in the guise of a newspaper correspondent to investigate Cuban plots against the American troops and to learn the plans of the Spanish navy. He detects a trusted Cuban leader in the work of fomenting trouble among the Cubans in the interests of the Spaniards. Holton is seized by friends of the spy and later ordered executed as a spy. He escapes and saves the American troops from falling into a Spanish ambush. He learns from General Garcia that the spy is Jose Cesnola, one of the most trusted leaders. Holton takes part in the battle at San Juan. Disguised as a Spanish soldier he enters Santiago, goes at night to the home of Miss La Tossa, where he overhears a discussion of the Spanish plans by leading army and navy commanders. He learns that the Spanish fleet will leave the harbor at Santiago on July 3. Holton escapes and arrives in sight of the American fleet in time to see the admiral's flag ship sail away. After frantic signaling he is answered by the Brooklyn. He warns Schley of the intentions of the Spanish fleet and witnesses the destruction and capture of the enemy's vessels. Holton learns that Schley has received a message from President McKinley declaring that the war was instituted for the sole purpose of freeing Cuba. He learns that a meeting of dissatisfied Cubans is to be held that night to plot against the American army. He saves Miss La Tossa the president's message. He spies on the meeting and hears Cesnola attempt to inflame the Cubans against the Americans. Miss La Tossa denounces Cesnola and reads McKinley's message. Garcia and his soldiers place Cesnola under arrest. Later he is ordered executed. The Spanish forces surrender and Shafter enters Santiago.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Frightful Revelation.
Holton's ride back to the city was the most forlorn he had ever taken. In the flash of a hand he had been lowered from the heights of ecstasy to the depths of despair. A beautiful dream had been lived out, and the bitter realities of waking had come.
As he sat before his tent thinking, a man passed in front of him, holding his broad sombrero in his hand. As Holton glanced at him curiously his face lighted with recognition.
"Pierre!" he cried, rising. "What do you want?"
The Cuban nodded to him gravely.
"Can you come with me, Lieutenant Holton? It is very important."
Holton, without replying, accompanied the Cuban.
The two hurried along until at length the Cuban stopped in front of a long, rambling, one-story building, evidently used at one time as a barracks for the Spanish soldiers. He leaned down and took off his shoes, motioning Holton to do likewise.
Realizing that the situation was rife with importance, the American sat down and complied without a word.
Then, rising in his stocking feet, Pierre took from his pocket a key, unlocked the door, and entered, motioning Holton to follow. After they were both inside, the Cuban closed the door and locked it, withdrawing the key and placing it in his pocket again.

"She has not arrived yet," remarked Pierre. "I am happy. I feared it would be too late."
"Too late for what? Who did you expect to find here?" whispered Holton, almost irritably.
For answer Pierre squeezed his arm and silently pointed out to the night.
Following the man's finger, Holton saw the form of a woman alighting from a pony. As his eyes strained he recognized Miss La Tossa.
By her side was a man and, as his face turned toward the building, Holton gasped and whispered hoarsely to his companion:
"That is she!"

Americans as a man would speak to the woman he loves, with the whole truth in my heart. I have talked, since I saw you this morning, with scores of high officers, and I can tell you that what I have already said to you is the whole truth.

"Cuba is certainly and surely to be left to the Cubans. England, France, Germany, Italy—all great countries have been officially assured by the state department that it is to be. But first, order must be restored here and the wheels of government set going. To that end General Wood is to be appointed military governor, and in good time every single American soldier will leave this island. There is no doubt about that. Ah, Miss La Tossa, believe me! For, as God is my judge, I have spoken only the truth.

"One moment," as she essayed to speak. "Losing you is a price too great for me to pay—even when it involves saving my countrymen. No, I cannot lose you—and live. I do not wish to live. And so—you have not believed me. Every look, every word of yours tells me you regard me as a liar. So be it."

He moved away from the push-button and folded his arms.
"You are now at perfect liberty to press that button. I shall not interfere. I shall stay here and die with you. That is my wish. Life means nothing now for me."

A cry of horror broke from the girl. She stood staring, surveying the two with staring eyes. Her gaze at length fastened upon Holton, standing there, his arms folded, his broad shoulders heaving, his dark, handsome face turned to her with an expression of great tenderness.

Something in his eyes, something magnetic, the power of his great love for her, the intensity of his emotions riveted her gaze to his face. Slowly, in spite of herself, she crept toward him, fascinated.

With a Low Cry the Girl Sprang to Him.

"Ranee! How my arms have ached for you! How my heart has bled for you! Ranee! Come!"
With a low cry the girl sprang to him. In his powerful arms he caught her. She looked up at him and kissed her. Her hands caressed his face. She drew his head down once more to her lips.
And thus in the darkness, with potential death all about, love, the conqueror, triumphed.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Day of Peace.
Ten minutes, perhaps, had elapsed when Pierre, who had thoughtfully wandered away down the tunnel, reappeared with a warning "Ahem!"
Holton, exalted to the seventh heaven of happiness, glanced at Pierre, and then striding to the Cuban, he seized him by the arm and led him forcibly into the tunnel again.
"Now then, Pierre," he laughed, "you stay here until I call, or I'll set you down on some of this dynamite and press the button."
So saying, he returned to Miss La Tossa and gave such an account of himself as a young man very much in love with a beautiful young woman may be expected to give.
A little later they made their way out of the building. Her pony was still standing where she had hitched it, but Cesnola and his horse were gone. At least, Holton assumed that Cesnola

INNOVATION MAY NOT WORK

Weak Human Nature Likely to Spoil Laudable Move Made by an Eastern Railroad.

In announcing a breakfast car service for commuters an eastern railroad evidently seeks to discourage the reprehensible practice of sprinting for the morning train, and the still more reprehensible practice of missing it. But there appears some danger that the innovation may fall of its laudable purpose, remarks the Newark Star.

The average commuter's last moments is too deeply ingrained to be broken. The time saved by not breakfasting at home will be devoted to 40 extra winks. As it is now, when Mr. Rowson Lot, of Lonesomehurst, hears the chugging of his train leaving the next station up the road it is the signal for him as he struggles with his necktie to yell down stairs, "Maria, have Bridget pour the coffee. Under the new order of things the same sound will be the reveille for him to jump out of bed and shed his pajamas. And then, too, what about the card playing contingent? How can the commuter expect to reach his office in a proper frame of mind for business if he has been wasting upon breakfast the time consecrated to the regular morning game? Pinocle and panache are plainly incompatible.

Misapplied Force.
The force expended by dissatisfied persons on efforts to escape their surroundings would often pluck the string out of the incongruities of their situation, and track them to the whole lives of honey.—Samuel Johnson.

had gone from the fact that his horse had departed.
As they walked to the girl's pony, though, Holton, with a sudden exclamation, leaned forward. There, almost at his feet, lay the body of a man. The girl saw it almost at the same instant.

"What is it?" she asked tremulously.

"A man," was the solemn reply.

Holton lighted a match and bent over the body. Then he straightened up as though he had been struck in the face.

"It is Cesnola," he whispered breathlessly.

"Cesnola!" She bent down until her face was close to the dead man, and her hand, reaching out, came in contact with a knife. This she withdrew, and, standing up, trembling, she held it toward Holton.

"You must get rid of this!" she cried.

"Rid of it! Why?"

"Because it is Pierre's knife."

In a flash Holton saw it all. Pierre, coming out had seen the spy waiting for the explosion. Filled with hatred for the man who had led his beloved Ranee into this situation, he had promptly paid off the score.

"Give me the knife," Holton wrapped the thing in his handkerchief, and in good season contrived to place it where it would never be found, which is getting a bit ahead of the story.

In the meantime the two wended their way toward headquarters, Holton leading the horse, the girl walking very close to his side. The recent ordeal, coupled with the discovery of the body of Cesnola, had unnerved her, and occasionally a dry sob broke from her lips.

Holton decided that, more than anything else, she needed lights, good cheer, and good food. So they went to the Venus restaurant, and there, amid all the brilliancy of its military patrons, the blushes returned to the girl's cheeks and the laughter to her lips.

After their meal Holton and the girl set out for the La Tossa estate, the girl on her pony and Holton on a horse he borrowed from one of the general's aides.

When they reached the estate it was nearly midnight. Ranee was delighted to find awaiting her a message from her father in Havana, assuring her that he was well, and that through force of circumstances he would remain in that city until the result of the present campaign was determined.

The girl wept over the letter as she handed it to Holton.

"Poor, dear father!" she cried. "I trust he is happy—as happy as—"

Holton crushed her to his breast.

As to the war, but little remained. The fleet of Cervera had been wiped out, and thus shorn of sea power, there was really little use in resistance on land. So it came about that peace was agreed upon by commissioners of the two countries.

It was on this day that Holton, with a long leave of absence, and many flattering official papers in his luggage, stood on the deck of a great transatlantic liner, looking down upon the crowd assembled on pier and bulkhead to wave farewell and Godspeed to friends and relatives who were hurrying to the continent to spend the last brilliant days of the waning summer away from the scenes of bloodshed and disease.

Close by his side, with her arm tightly locked in his, was a girl so radiant that she attracted the attention of everyone who passed the little group. She had just kissed her father good-by and he was turning to leave the ship.

"And you, Thomas," he said, "will not be selfish. You will let my daughter come to me on the estate frequently."

"As frequently as she wishes," laughed Holton, "when I am doing my two years' sea service."

The father laughed and waved good-by. But just before the ship sailed they made out his figure dashing to the end of the bulkhead.

"Father!" cried the girl, "what is it?"

Senior La Tossa held aloft an evening newspaper.

"Peace!" he cried. "Peace has been declared."

"She turned to Holton.

"Peace," she smiled.

Holton pressed her arm.

"Was there ever anything but peace anywhere in all the world?" he whispered.

(THE END.)

PEACEFUL HOME.

An enthusiastic young minister who followed one of the old type in a sleepy country village was thumping the rostrum a good deal, and disturbed a spider which had found peaceful refuge in one of the crannies for many a day.

Wandering up the aisle homeless, it was met by another spider, and the tale of woe was imparted.

"I can't stand this new minister thumping and jumping about. I have lived in the pulpit for many years, but can't stay there any longer."

Said the second spider, actuated by a fine spirit of charity:

"Come along with me. I haven't been disturbed for fifty years. My home's in the collection box at the door."—London Sphere.

As He Got It.

A newly married lady was being interviewed by the reporter of the local paper just after the ceremony.

"And after the honeymoon where do you intend to settle down?" was his final question.

"At the old manse," said the bride, as she hurried away.

The reporter thought it sounded a bit familiar, but he decided to use it, so when it appeared in print the report finished up: "After the honeymoon the happy couple intend to live at the old manse."

SHINING EXAMPLE.

Hook—Can a woman keep a secret? Cook—Of course she can. I knew a girl at a mountain resort who kept her engagement a secret for two seasons, and then married another man.

Terp and the Tango.

Another Muse has met her fate. Though once a merry prancer, Terpsichore is out of date. She is no tango dancer.

Descriptive.

"The last man that came by asking for work," said the farmer, "was one of them writin'-chaps."

"Did he say he was?"

"He didn't need to; I knowed it without tellin'; he looked as lonesome as a sheddin' owl settin' on a graveyard gate post, an' as hungry as a possum up a 'simmon tree that had jest ben hit by lightning!"

She Was Particular.

"Are you sure this is a good cantaloupe?"

"Reasonably so, madam."

"Is it sweet and ripe, of good flavor, with not too many seeds?"

"I think it's all that."

"Hasn't been picked too long, has it?"

"The grocer finally got her 15 cents."

"I'd hate to try to sell that woman an automobile," said he to the clerk, wearily.

OUT OF SIGHT, OUT OF MIND.

Elephant—I wonder why the giraffe never has his shoes shined?

Hippo—I asked him about that and he said he was so far away from his feet that he hadn't seen 'em since he was a little feller.

Emphasizing the Difference.
"A millionaire said he remembers quite well when he had to work hard for one dollar a day."

"And I guess every time he remembers it he touches a button and orders some additional luxury, just to make the contrast with his present affluence all the greater."

The Way.

"So you've been married a year. How do you find your husband?"

"By phoning all the cafes in the neighborhood, usually. How do you?"

GOOD WORD.

Mrs. Smithson—The people on the first floor called on us last week.

Mr. Smithson—Well, I guess it's about time to retaliate.

Reversed Lever.

Many a cloud a silver lining has. This should illuminate the shroud; But we get mixed and find that many a silver lining has a cloud.

Counting the Cost.

Patience—Have you been vaccinated lately?

Patience—Yes.

"Does it cost much?"

"Does it? Why, say, Fred couldn't hug me for over three weeks!"

Rather Embarrassing.

Myrtle—I was never so embarrassed in all my life.

Mabel—What happened?

Myrtle—Last night Tom begged me for two hours for a lock of my hair—one that dangled cutely over my right ear.

Mabel—Silly. Why didn't you give it to him?

Myrtle—And ruin my new $3 switch? I guess not.

Queer.

"There's something queer about this automobile accident."

"What is it?"

"Each of the drivers admits that he was going more than twelve miles an hour at the time."

EASIEST WAY.

She—Wilson never quarrels with his wife.

He—She spends nearly all her time abroad.

She—Yes; they get along together by living apart.

The Child's Gift.

Now please accept this little gift; I hope your love 'twill win. I'll send you something worth more when My looked-for ship comes in.

Suitable for Umpires.

"Ball players are going into vaudeville right along."

"They are."

"I'm an umpire. I wonder if I couldn't break in?"

"Why not? You'd be just the man to open the bill, while the orchestra is tuning up and the audience is banging the seats. It's a thankless job."

Merely an Episode.

"My wife killed 32 rattlesnakes this morning," remarked the old farmer, "down in the meadow lot."

"Why that was a fearful experience," gasped the tourist.

"It was kind of annoying, anyway. She wasn't out after rattlesnakes. She was after huckleberries."

The Duke.

"It cost $1,000,000 to land the duke for Helen."

"Goodness! All that money for nothing."

Um-m!

"I come from the Sahara Desert."

"Then I suppose you are accustomed to flat life."

Avoiding Comparison.

"What is your objection to me as a son-in-law? My character is beyond reproach."

"That's just it," said Mr. Oldspate. "You don't suppose I want to go through the rest of my life having you held up to me as a shining example!"

LIFE IN CAZAR'S CAPITAL

THE difference in time between St. Petersburg and Berlin is exactly 61 minutes, but the kind of time you have there depends entirely on what you want.

Karl R. Kitchen writes in the World's Magazine.

St. Petersburg presents greater contrasts in its life than any city in Europe. There is no middle class, which means you can dine well for 60 or 70 kopecks (20 or 35 cents) or for 20 or 30 rubles ($10 or $15). The 60 kopeck dinner never gets into the 30 ruble place, as he sometimes does in New York—or in Berlin for that matter.

The "Hallroom Boys" kind of sport does not exist in the czar's capital.

The result is that Petersburg (no one in Russia ever says St. Petersburg) has the most elegant and certainly most costly night life in the world. It is impossible for pokers to pick in its gay restaurants, which, by the way, do not open until 11 p. m. Even the possession of a bank roll, the usual qualification for admission to sanctuaries of pleasure, does not always suffice here. Birth and social position come before everything else in the city on the Neva.

In Petersburg it is not fashionable to "dine out," as it is in New York. If you have a letter of introduction to a Russian, it matters not whether he is an aristocrat or a merchant, you will be invited to his home at 6:30. I had a very difficult time persuading my Petersburg host to take dinner at a restaurant. It was not until I had been at his house three times that he consented to dine with me at Nemenchinsky's just off the Nevsky Prospect.

We arrived there early, for we had tickets for the ballet at the Marinsky opera, which, like every other theatrical entertainment in this city, begins at eight sharp. After we had shed our wraps we proceeded to the buffet, where instead of a bartender was a waiter who served up a dozen different kinds of zakuska, as the hors d'oeuvres are called.

Sumptuous Menu of Russian Meal.

A pickled mushroom or a gob of caviar replaces the cocktail in Russia.

We were the only diners in evening dress.

It is a far cry from Nemenchinsky's to the Marinsky opera house. The Marinsky is the home of the imperial Russian ballet and the imperial opera. Getting a ticket for a Caruso night at our Metropolitan is like taking candy from a blind child compared with getting a seat at the Marinsky. The tickets, which are ten rubles ($5) each, are nearly all in the hands of aristocratic families who have had the same places for generations. On Sunday and Wednesday nights, when the imperial ballet appears, the best seats often bring 50 and 100 rubles apiece. To pay 500 rubles for a box is quite the ordinary thing when a new ballet is to be given.

The Marinsky opera house is not as large as our Metropolitan; it is not as beautiful as the Paris opera, but its audience on a ballet night is the most brilliant in the world. The jewels and costly furs worn by the women make even our Diamond Horseshoe sink into insignificance. Fully one-third of the men are in gorgeous uniforms. The others, of course, are in evening dress.

Even for beauty it would be hard to surpass the feminine part of a Marinsky audience. That, however, is a matter of taste. The brilliant picture is unquestionable.

A Dozen Pavlova's Appear.

The ballet tonight is Tchaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty." It is glorious beyond description. A dozen Pavlovas are on the great stage. One hundred and ten musicians are in the orchestra. New York critics have praised the Russian ballet at the Metropolitan. In its home there is nothing to compare with it in the whole world.

It is now 11 o'clock. The ballet is over, and we emerge from the warm opera house to find it snowing—the first snow of the season. Most people forget—if they ever knew—that Petersburg has about the same climate as London. Deep snow, frosts and other such things exist only in novels of Petersburg life written by "hacks" who never lived there.

Petersburg is as up to date as any

DAIRY

FEEDING CALVES IN WINTER

Oats Are Neither Extremely Heating Nor Fattening, But Build Up Animal and Give Strength.

If the spring calves are to make a rugged and at the same time rapid growth, no greater mistake can be made than to turn them out to pasture in the fall after they have been weaned and leave them to subsist entirely upon the grass. However abundant the grass may be, it is impossible for them to keep up a plump, fleshy condition on the grass feed alone. The great business of the growing calf is to make muscle. This muscle is what gives plumpness and that fleshy appearance to a well-fed and thrifty calf. For this purpose a food is called for that is especially rich in muscle-forming material. Grass is not.

No feed will serve this purpose better than oats. Not only are oats rich in the materials desired, but that richness is not so concentrated as to make them a dangerous food. No one ever

All Ready for Their Oats.

Injured an animal of any kind by a regular feed of oats. They are neither extremely heating nor fattening in their nature, but they tend, instead, to build up muscles and give an animal strength and vigor.

As soon as the pastures fail is the time that the calves need this addition to their ration. Either bring the calves in to the stables night and morning or else take the oats to the pasture, and the gains the calves make because of this addition will pay all costs. If at any time the calves are allowed to grow thin in flesh it will take a long time of good feeding and careful attention to bring them to a thrifty condition. A growth each day in the year is what every stock raiser should aim for with his young animals.

CAREFUL WATCH ON RESULTS

Abundant Supply of Pure Water Should Be Within Reach of Cow for Large Yield of Milk.

Feed boxes and mangers should be kept clean to see that the cattle clean up their feed and are keen for the next feeding.

Keep watch of their droppings to see that no food passes through undigested. Note carefully the results of every change of feed and never make too radical changes in the ration.

Try to have each cow up to her maximum production within 30 or 40 days after she freshens.

Whether the cow is kept for milk or butter production it is equally important that she be brought to her highest production of milk regardless of the quantity of butter fat contained in the milk.

Unless she be brought to her highest production in this length of time her milk yield for that milking period will be materially decreased. Good pure water, and plenty of it, should be in a convenient place where she may have access to it at all times, so that she may drink all she wants.

When we consider that a cow needs five pounds of water to make a pound of milk, it is plain to be seen that she must have plenty of water if she is to produce a large flow of milk. Salt is another essential and cows should have plenty of it to keep them in good health.

CAREFUL FEEDING PAYS WELL

Common Cows Capable of Producing More Milk Than Now Secured—Test at University Farm.

(By T. L. HAECKER, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.)

From a careful investigation we find that our common cows are capable of producing a much larger yield than is secured from the average common cow in the state. During the past decade we have always had at University Farm, in the dairy herd, a number of common cows; that is, cows with no dairy heredity. The average yield from these common cows, for 23 years—records, is 5,000 pounds of milk, and 222 pounds of butter; which last, valued at 27 cents per pound, is equal in round numbers to $60, for butter alone. The average receipt per common cow in the state is $46.40; which shows that the average cow is yielding $14 less per annum than she might easily yield if given the same care and feed as are given the cows at University Farm.

WATERY BLISTERS ON FACE

Smithville, Ind.—"Six months ago our baby girl, one year old, had a few red pimples come on her face which gradually spread causing her face to become very irritated and a fiery red color. The pimples on the child's face were at first small watery blisters, just a small blotch on the skin. She kept scratching at this until in a few days her whole cheeks were fiery red color and instead of the little blisters the skin was cracked and scaly looking and seemed to itch and burn very much."

"We used a number of remedies which seemed to give relief for a short time then leave her face worse than ever. Finally we got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed the child's face with very warm water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment very lightly. After doing this about three times a day the itching and burning seemed entirely gone in two days' time. Inside of two weeks' time her face seemed well. That was eight months ago and there has been no return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. A. K. Wooden, Nov. 4, 1912.

Banish the "Blues!"

If you have that depressed feeling it's more than likely that your blood is out of order—impoverished or poisoned.

There is only one thing that will alter your present condition—that's to restore your stomach to normal health and strength. For a weak or diseased stomach cannot make good blood. If your digestion is bad your food will not make the good blood which nourishes body, brain, heart and nerve.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to do its work naturally and properly. Stimulates the liver. The system is freed from poison. The blood is purified. Every organ is rejuvenated. Instead of the "Blues," you feel fit and strong, equal to any task or up to any pleasure.

This great remedy has proved its worth year after year for over forty years. Let it prove its worth to you. Sold by medicine dealers in tablet or liquid form or send 50c for trial box by mail.

It Pays to Buy Trade-Marked Goods

The trade-mark is the signature of the maker, and the article he is willing to put his name to it will pay you to investigate. This Trade-Mark on the bottom of a pair of shoes is a guarantee that everything has been done to make that shoe the best shoe of its kind.

No. 448 shoe shown here will bear us out in the above statement. It is made from horsehide tanned in our own tannery especially for hard wear, fitted over roomy, comfortable lasts, with two chrome leather soles, the best wearing sole leather made.

35 BUSHELS PER ACRE

was the yield of WHEAT on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as 50 bushels per acre. As high as 100 bushels were recorded in some districts for oats.

50 bushels for barley and from 10 to 20 bus. for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country 5 years ago from Denmark with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 320 acres of land, in 1913 had a crop of 200 acres, which will realize him about $4,000. His wheat weighed 68 lbs. to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.
