Mrs. Kate Judson Taylor.

Mrs. Kate Judson Taylor was born in Sylvan, in December, 1844, and died at her home in St. Louis, Michigan, Wednesday, March 31, 1915.

She was united in marriage with George Taylor in 1879, and they resided in Chelsea until 1890, when they removed to St. Louis. At an early age she united with the Methodist Episcopal church of Chelsea, and was ever an active and efficient worker in the church, Sunday school and society and also the W. C. T. U. up to the time of her last illness. For several years before her marriage she was a teacher in the Chelsea union schools. Her husband died five years ago.

She leaves two sisters and two brothers, Misses Mary and Gertrude Judson, of Kalamazoo, Thomas Wilkinson of this place, and Frank Judson, who resided with the deceased at St. Louis.

The funeral services were held at the Chelsea Methodist church Friday afternoon, Rev. G. H. Whitney officiating. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery. Boys from her former Sunday school class here acted as pall bearers.

Well Deserved Promotions.

The board of directors of the Kempt Commercial & Savings Bank held a meeting Monday afternoon, at which they promoted John L. Fletcher to the position of cashier, to succeed the late Geo. A. BeGole. Mr. Fletcher has been connected with the bank since 1906, and for the past few years has filled the position of assistant cashier.

Howard S. Holmes, who has held a responsible position in the bank for several years, was chosen as auditor. This is a new officer in the bank.

Dor L. Rogers was tendered a position in the banking office, which he has accepted and will enter upon his duties the last of this week or the first of the coming week.

The promotions of both Messrs. Fletcher and Holmes are well deserved recognition of their ability and their friends are congratulating them upon their success.

Easter Services.

The services at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart on Easter Sunday were very beautiful and impressive. The sanctuary boys in their handsome robes assisted at the high mass. The altars and sanctuary were beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and waxen lights. The singing under the direction of Sister Gonzaga, was very fine.

High mass was sung by the pastor, Rev. Father Considine, at 7:30 a. m., during which Rev. Father Purcell, professor of Philosophy at Assumption college, Sandwich, preached a very eloquent sermon on the "Resurrection of Christ." The church was crowded to the doors at this mass.

After the second mass at 10 a. m., celebrated by Rev. Father Purcell, at which a large congregation was present, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given, and the services closed with the singing of the Te Deum by the entire congregation.

Facts in Michigan's History.

There are but few men in the history of Michigan for whom can be claimed a record of service to the state as great as that of Alpheus Felch, who was governor from January 5, 1846 to March 4, 1847.

Mr. Felch was born in Maine in the year 1804. He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1827 and six years later settled in Michigan. He served the state as a member of three legislatures, as banking commissioner, auditor general, supreme court justice, university regent, governor and U. S. senator. In addition, he was a member of the commission for the settlement of Spanish and Mexican land claims in California.

There is no record in the state's history of a man who served the interests of the people with higher purpose. Mr. Felch died in Ann Arbor, on June 13, 1896, at the age of 92 years.

LETTER FROM STATE CAPITOL

BILL ESTABLISHING PROHIBITION IN LUMBER CAMPS PASSED.

APPROPRIATIONS PASSED

Measure to Replace County Boards of Supervisors By Commissioners Fails in Lower House.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing—Michigan's widening arid territory was further extended Tuesday night by the action of the house of representatives in passing Senator Damon's bill to prohibit the selling, giving away or delivering of any intoxicating liquors in lumber camps, yards, mills or along logging roads.

Representative Charles Culver, of Detroit, had the bill amended to bring within the scope of its penalties any person found with the liquor in his possession in the restricted territory.

The bill now goes back to the senate for action on the Culver amendment.

Several appropriation bills for state institutions were disposed of in rapid order. These bills provided appropriations for: The Traverse City State hospital; the state board of fish commissioners, for extra help for the attorney general's office, the Newberry State hospital, the Kalamazoo State hospital, the Michigan State Normal college, and to provide for a Michigan exhibit at the "half-century of Negro freedom celebration." An amendment to the act creating the Michigan Historical commission, entered by Representative Charles A. Flowers, was passed. Forty-seven votes were not enough to pass Representative Noble Ashley's joint resolution proposing an amendment relative to abolishing boards of supervisors and establishing boards of county commissioners instead.

Representative Roy M. Watkins' bill to permit the doubling of the $15,000 a year appropriation for the national guard armories, until the quota due Grand Rapids is exhausted, was passed.

A bill by Representative Place to provide for the publication of the records of Michigan soldiers and sailors was passed, as was Representative Harry Whiteley's amendment to provide for an arrangement by the state with Crawford county for the construction of highways leading to the National Guard maneuver grounds.

The house Tuesday night passed the Robertson bill to provide for the naming and numbering of state and county highways and for the placing of signs.

Lansing—Senator Walter still wants the legislature to pass a bill providing for stenographic reports of the legislative proceedings. Early in the session he introduced a bill along this line, which was passed by the senate but killed in the house. Last week he introduced it again and will try and get it through the house before the close of the session, three weeks away.

Senator Foster introduced a bill to authorize the attorney-general to prepare a measure for the revision, consolidation and classification of the insurance laws of the state.

Senator Covert would increase the salary of the circuit court stenographer in the sixth judicial circuit to $1,200 per year.

A bill introduced by Senator Odell, of Shelby, would change the judicial circuits of the state in several sections. The bill provides that the eleventh judicial circuit be composed hereafter of the counties of Chippewa, Schoolcraft, Luce, Alger and Mackinac. This adds the county of Mackinac.

The twenty-sixth circuit would be changed to include the counties of Alpena, Presque Isle, Alcona and Iosco. The present circuit is composed of Alpena, Montmorency and Presque Isle. The thirty-third to be changed to include the counties of Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego and Montmorency. The present circuit is composed of Cheboygan, Emmet and Mackinac counties. The thirty-fourth to be changed to include the counties of Arenac, Crawford, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Roscommon and Oscoda. The present circuit includes the counties of Arenac, Crawford, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Otsego and Roscommon.

Lansing—The "slush fund" has been put out of its misery. The final stroke was delivered at the end of the evidence taken by the special investigating committee Thursday evening when the author of the much discussed "slush fund" article asserted that he never had intended to convey the information even that money was being used improperly to foster the case of the railroads before the legislature.

He stood pat on his original statement that Rep. Wiley had used the term "slush fund" and volunteered a clean bill of health for the railroads with regard to corrupt practices. He declined to be drawn into a discussion of newspaper advertising ethics.

A. W. Towsley of the Ann Arbor, head of the railway committee, was recalled and submitted figures of the contributions and expenses of the legislative campaign. The rumors of fabulous retainers was quieted by the showing that $6,000 would cover all the attorney fees, travelling expenses, clerk and stenographic expenses for the entire session. For publicity, a total of $6,209.60 has been paid and incurred in unpaid obligations. The total cost of the campaign as shown by the report of the treasurer for the railway committee will be $15,283.33. It was testified the amount paid the Lansing State Journal which carried the now famous Cunningham interview advertisement would aggregate $733 and had been paid.

The report showed $10,401.60 already had been subscribed by the railroads; $3,280.80 spent for publicity, $2,873.73 for salaries, rents, travelling expenses, etc., and $4,247.07 remains on hand of the $10,401.60. The unpaid obligations bring the total to the $15,283.33.

Mr. Towsley asserted there had been no misleading advertisement and argued the question on specific cases with one or two members of the committee.

Senator Tripp's bill to repeal the mortgage tax law and to fix the legal rate of interest at six per cent was beaten in the senate Thursday afternoon by a vote of 22 to 8. Senator Tripp and Murtha made the fight for the passage of the bill, while the attack was successfully directed by Senators Verdier and Taylor. In the course of his remarks Senator Tripp declared that Senator Taylor was opposing his bill because he was the holder of 45 mortgages.

To this Senator Taylor declared that he owned but five mortgages and he would willingly donate the other 40 to the Belgians or the Michigan railroads if Tripp could substantiate his remarks.

Despite the determined opposition of the Wayne county contingent the Smith bill relative to a tax on automobiles passed the house, but a majority of the senate committee on taxation oppose the measure and a move will be made to take it from the committee and have the proposition fought out on the floor of the senate. Senator Louis Kelley, chairman of the senate committee on taxation appears to be the only member of the committee in favor of the bill. Senator Hanley is from Detroit and as he is a member of the taxation committee he is doing all in his power to beat the measure. Senator Roberts and Senator Smith, who are members of the senate committee on taxation are not favorable to the proposition and if Senator Tripp joins the opposition, Senator Kelley will stand alone.

On third reading the senate passed Senator Gansser's bill providing that permanent headquarters for the department commander of the Spanish war veterans shall be provided in the capitol building. After considerable debate the senate passed the Gansser-De Land bill amending the workingmen's compensation act. Opposition to the clause which provides that the attorney-general should defend the action of the industrial board in any litigation arising from its decisions was returned, despite the protests of Senator Verdier.

Rep. Place's bill which permits civil war veterans who have sufficient money to pay their expenses, to become residents at the Michigan Soldiers home. Under the present law a veteran who is possessed of sufficient money to live outside the home is not admitted. The bill will be sent to Governor Ferris for his signature.

Several new bills made their appearance in the senate Thursday afternoon. Senator Woodworth asked for an appropriation of $40,000 for the Michigan State Agricultural society to be used in paying premiums at the annual state fair, during the next two years.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed by Senator Walter which would require judges of the supreme court to pass upon the constitutionality of all bills before they are enacted into law by the legislature. Senator Walter also introduced a bill providing for a stenographic report of the house and senate proceedings. Senator Foster introduced a bill calling upon the attorney general to revise and codify the insurance law of the state.

In a speech of not to exceed fifty words, Rep. Sheridan Ford of Detroit killed the Read anti-tipping bill in the house, Thursday afternoon. The bill had progressed to the order of third reading and just before the vote, the Detroit man rose and was recognized.

His talk was one of the oratorical gems of the session, all the more remarkable for its brevity. It was based on the simple text that "generosity is one of the best investments of life." With this as a foundation he literally talked the bill to death in ten seconds. It was defeated by an overwhelming vote.

Rep. Warner's bill amending the law protecting boarding house keepers had a narrow squeak in the house Thursday. Several objected and urged its defeat but it passed by a vote of 60 to 31. This bill provides that action must be begun against violators of the law within a limited period and is designed to prevent the law and the criminal courts being used as a collection agency.

Rep. A. E. Petermann of Calumet, chairman of the general taxation committee of the house is author of the new utility corporation tax measure recommended by the state tax commission and the governor in his inaugural message.

DRY FORCES MAKE IMPORTANT GAINS

ELECTIONS IN MICHIGAN ADD SEVERAL COUNTIES TO ARID TERRITORY.

REPUBLICAN TICKET WINS

Little Interest Shown in Contest for State Officers in Election Monday. Vote is Very Light.

Lansing—The entire republican state ticket was victorious at the polls on Monday. The vote was very light all over the state. The only fight of any consequence was against Junius Beal, of Ann Arbor, in the race for university regent, but it was unsuccessful. The election so far as the state ticket was concerned was apathetic and featureless.

The successful candidates are: Justice of the supreme court—Aaron V. McAlvay, Lansing; Flavius L. Brooke, Lansing.

Regents of the university—Junius E. Beal, Ann Arbor; Frank B. Leland, Detroit.

Superintendent of public instruction—Fred L. Keeler, Mt. Pleasant.

Member state board of education—Fred A. Jeffers, Painesdale.

Members state board of agriculture—William H. Wallace, Bay Port; I. Roy Waterbury, Highland.

Dry Counties Are Increased.

The greatest point of interest in Monday's voting was the test of strength between "wets" and "drys" in sixteen counties. This was a sweeping victory for local option, twelve of the counties voting to expel the saloons, two voting to remain wet and the result doubtful in two.

The "drys" not only held Eaton, Genesee, Lenawee and Sanilac, which were already arid, but also captured Berrien, Calhoun, Emmet, Kalamazoo, Leapeer, Mason, Oakland and Tuscola, which had been "wet."

The "wets" carried one county by a decisive majority, Grand Traverse, which voted 2,282 Yes and 2,713 No, and made a gallant fight for Chippewa, winning by a majority of 37.

Berrien furnished the surprise of the day by flipping into the "dry" column, by 200 majority.

Counties already "dry" before the election Monday were: Alcona, Allegan, Antrim, Barry, Benzie, Branch, Cass, Charlevoix, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gladwin, Grant, Hillsdale, Ingham, Ionia, Isabella, Kalamazoo, Leapeer, Livingston, Mecosta, Midland, Missaukee, Montcalm, Newaygo, Oceana, Osceola, Oscoda, Roscommon, Sanilac, Shiawassee, St. Joseph, Van Buren, Wexford—total 34.

Counties which remained "wet" and the majorities are: Grand Traverse, 431; Chippewa, 61.

"Dry" counties that remained "dry" and majorities are: Eaton, 1,600; Genesee, 554; Lenawee, 1,688; Sanilac 900 (estimated.) It will require the official canvass to determine the results in Alger and Oakland, both of which are claimed by the drys.

Statistics of Accident Board.

Lansing—The industrial accident board furnishes these statistics for the quarter ending April 1: Number of employers that came under the act during the quarter, 1,099; employees, 15,714; accidents reported, 7,139; accidents embracing compensation period, 3,106; accidents causing temporary total disability, 3,953; accidents causing permanent partial disability, 1,183; fatal accidents, 73; compensation paid, $298,614.81; medical and hospital bills paid, $34,741.13.

State Wide Bill Reported Out.

Lansing—The Straight bill, submitting state-wide prohibition to a vote of the people in 1916, was reported out favorably by the senate liquor committee Friday. Senator Straight, father of the bill, is chairman of the committee.

The purpose of the bill is to continue local option with the state, instead of the county, as the unit. Certain clauses of the Pray bill are included in the measure.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS

Dr. W. H. Hale, formerly of Jackson, is now Gen. Francisco Villa's personal physician at Columbia, Mexico. The bill providing that full-paid firemen in cities be given one day's leave in every four and a 30-day furlough each year was killed by the house Friday. The vote was 29 to 43. The objection raised to the bill was that firemen's furloughs should be left to cities. Two years ago a bill for a like purpose was passed, but it applies only to Detroit firemen.

State Fire Marshal John T. Winship announced that May 3 will be annual clean-up day. Gov. Ferris will make an official proclamation to induce the fire warden's action.

Mayor William Sparks, of Jackson, had to appear in police court because he tested the watchfulness of the police officers under his supervision and found them on the job. He removed the license plate from his automobile and left it standing downtown Saturday night. He promptly received a summons to answer to the charge of violating the automobile law.

RESULTS OF LOCAL OPTION ELECTION

Table with columns: County, Previously, Monday's result, Dry, Wet. Lists results for 16 counties including Alger, Berrien, Chippewa, Calhoun, Eaton, Emmet, Gd. Traverse, Genesee, Iron, Kalamazoo, Leapeer, Lenawee, Mason, Oakland, Sanilac, Tuscola.

Miss Jennie Livingston, teacher at the Bunker School in Columbus township, has resigned, the result of a furore which followed her alleged whipping of Clair Crawford, son of one of the directors. It is declared Miss Livingston called in two farm hands to help her discipline young Crawford when he rebelled and she was unable to control him.

The construction of the new electric railroad from Almont to Imlay City has been halted near Leapeer, where all attempts to bridge over a swamp have been in vain. More than 1,000 loads of earth have already been dumped into a sink hole, but it has all sunk out of sight and the engineers are at their wits' end in efforts to make a permanent roadbed over the spot.

During the present session of court Judge Sessions has appeared on the bench every day since January 20, exclusive of Sundays and Lincoln's birthdays and frequently on Saturday afternoons.

Claims made by wire fence manufacturers at Adrian that they are subject to undue prejudice and disadvantage because Adrian is grouped with Detroit on traffic from Pittsburg, were upheld by the interstate commerce commission today. The commission held that the rate on wire from Pittsburg to Adrian should not exceed the rate to Toledo by more than one per cent per 100 pounds. The case has been pending before the commission for more than two years.

ASSOCIATION IS CLOSED BY STATE

BATTLE CREEK INSTITUTION SAID TO BE INSOLVENT.

A. C. KINGMAN GIVEN CHARGE

Officers Reassure Investors and Declare That Affairs Would Be Straightened Out Satisfactorily.

Battle Creek—The Battle Creek Building & Loan association, which has $255,000 of paid-up stock out, has been ordered closed by the secretary of state's department at Lansing, which has supervision of building and loan associations.

The Lansing officials declare that the association is insolvent and that the officers have been loaning money to themselves, and have named A. C. Kingman, former state senator, to take charge of its affairs.

That the appointment of Senator Kingman was made because of the rush of business falling upon the regular state examiner, rather than because of any irregularities of accounts, was the statement made by President W. H. Hamilton.

Mr. Kingman declares his appointment by Secretary of State Vaughan constitutes practically a receivership. Investors in the corporation were displaying some uneasiness Saturday evening, but assurances were given that the affairs of the association would be straightened out satisfactorily.

The officers are: William H. Hamilton, president; C. G. Sperry, vice-president; W. H. Finlay, treasurer; J. B. Sperry, secretary, and C. E. Wheeler, assistant secretary.

COPPER MINES MAKE RECORD

Production During March is Greatest in History of Region.

Calumet—Announcement is made that Lake Superior will furnish a production of nearly 23,000,000 pounds of copper as the result of March operations at the mines and smelters. This is a record.

Every company in the district increased its production during the month, spurred on by the fact that from 15 to 17 cents was bid for the metal and that big companies in the Arizona and Butte camps were striving to get into the market with increased outputs. Every pound of copper manufactured during the month was sold far in advance and brought, however, prices far below present quotations, some as low as 13 1/4 cents. Present sales are for copper that will not be produced for another two months.

An increased production is again expected for the month of April, unless there comes a decided slump in the quoted prices for the metal. The smelters are rushing the copper east as quickly as possible.

Celebrates Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Ann Arbor—Celebration of the culmination of a quarter of a century of usefulness occurred at noon Saturday when members of the Woman's league of the university gathered at luncheon at Barbour gymnasium. It was an event of more than ordinary significance, as this league of women, in the 25 years it has been in existence, has done many things for the betterment of conditions among women students at Michigan.

ITEMS OF STATE INTEREST

Clay C. Clark, Ann Arbor railroad agent at Boone who disappeared early last week and who is alleged to have taken $500 of the company's money, was arrested Saturday at Elsie.

Governor Ferris has signed the Morford bill to prohibit the use of cigarettes by minors. The latter may not even have cigarettes in their possession and are subject to penalty if "caught with the goods," as are any dealers who sell to them.

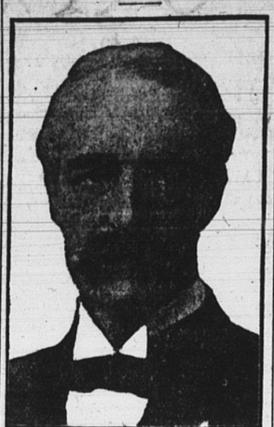

Charging that the contracts for paving material were awarded before the special assessment rolls for the improvements were approved, Robert J. Corner, a taxpayer, has obtained an injunction restraining the city of Flint from purchasing any more material.

The Saginaw county jail may be quarantined unless certain improvements are made at once. Three cases of typhoid recently developed there and the jail is in a bad condition. The state board of corrections and charities has suggested the possibility of its condemnation, and the state board of health has announced it will act unless conditions are remedied.

The barking of a dog awakened guests at the Elkston hotel, Charlevoix, early Tuesday, and all escaped injury in a fire which practically destroyed the hostelry. The loss is estimated at $50,000, with $30,000 insurance.

To prevent losses to the state university through students leaving without paying their health service fees, as occurred last year, the regents at their meeting Thursday passed a rule that no students may receive credits as long as the fees are not paid.

GERMANY EXPELS ENVOY OF U. S. FROM BELGIUM

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Washington—Germany has expelled Gifford Pinchot, a special diplomatic agent of the United States, from Belgium, according to advices reaching the state department here Monday evening. Mr. Pinchot, who was formerly chief forester of the United States, went to Belgium to represent the government in work for the relief of Belgian sufferers.

When he reached Antwerp, the dispatches to the state department say, he was not permitted to proceed and was later informed that he must leave the country.

The only reason given for the action of the German authorities is that they objected to Mr. Pinchot because his sister is Lady Alan Johnstone, wife of the former British minister to Denmark. Germany is said to hold that all diplomatic agents of the United States in Belgian territory controlled by Germany must be persons who have no connection with her enemies.

QUICK JUSTICE FOR MURDERER

Man Kills Intended Bride and Starts Life Sentence Within Day.

Saginaw—As she was singing "In the Good Old Summer Time" and was happily anticipating a happy marriage Thursday night, Mrs. Grace Steinhauer, a widow, 39 years old, was brutally murdered by her husband-to-be, Robert Smith, 40 years old, of Cleveland, at the home of Mrs. Florence Banfield, Lincoln avenue, Thursday afternoon.

Smith, it is alleged, while Mrs. Steinhauer's back was turned, drew a razor from his pocket and cut her throat from ear to ear.

Apparently in the excitement which followed, Smith was forgotten. The woman was rushed to St. Mary's hospital where she died three hours later. Smith left the Banfield home, and calmly walked to the county jail where he greeted the turnkey with, "Hello Joe, I just killed a woman and this is what I used." Then he displayed a razor with two deep nicks in it. The missing bits of steel were found in Mrs. Steinhauer's throat by physicians at the hospital.

Soon after Smith was locked up he made an attempt to hang himself. He tore a blanket in strips and fastened the blanket about his neck. Before he had strangled himself the turnkey found him, and until after the trial he will be kept under guard.

Smith, during a grilling by Chief of Police Baskin and prosecuting attorney B. J. Vincent, refused to tell why he killed the woman.

He finished serving a sentence in the county jail Wednesday as a vagrant. It was there that he met Mrs. Steinhauer, who had been confined there for treatment. Mrs. Steinhauer was released 20 days ago and when she departed it was fully decided that they should be married April 1.

Smith was arraigned in police court Friday morning, waived examination and was immediately taken before Judge Gage in circuit court. He pleaded guilty and received the life sentence. Within twenty-four hours after committing the crime Smith had started to serve his sentence in Jackson prison.

THOMPSON WINS RACE IN CHICAGO

ELECTED MAYOR OVER SWEETZER BY PLURALITY OF 140,000.

WOMEN AIDED IN VICTORY

Republican Candidate is Supported by Progressives and Independents in Bitterest Campaign of City.

Chicago—William Hale Thompson, Republican, was Tuesday elected mayor of Chicago over Robert M. Sweetzer, Democrat, by an indicated plurality of 140,000.

The election was the culmination of the most intense and bitter campaign in Chicago's history. In sections of the religious question was the chief cause for the bitterness. The campaign was marked by great rallies, riots, street fights, breaking up of rival meetings, destruction of property and sharp alignment of the voters on the religious question.

The vote was the biggest ever cast in a municipal election in Chicago, about 85 per cent of the 750,000 registered voters were cast. Of this number approximately 200,000 were cast by women. The total registration of women was 282,433.

Thompson owes much of his success to the women who for the first time, were permitted to vote for mayor. The returns indicate that he was given 66 per cent of the women's votes. His woman watchers and lieutenants worked unflinchingly in the tough wards, despite the taunts and insults of river-rats, hoboes and bums.

The big plurality given Thompson carries in with him the entire republican city ticket. This ticket was made up of Republicans, Progressives and Independents.

ILLINOIS DRYS GAIN GROUND

Election Tuesday Adds Three Counties to Arid Territory.

Chicago—The "dry" forces voted 100 more saloons out of Illinois in the local option elections Tuesday, and by wiping out certain "wet" spots added three counties to those already completely "dry" (a total of 45 out of 102 in the state).

The "wets" retain the largest cities where local option was an issue at the polls. Danville, Murphysboro and Kankakee remain "wet" by larger majorities than at the previous elections. At no point in the state did "dry" territory go "wet".

JOHNSON LOSES HIS TITLE

Big Negro Defeated at Havana by Jess Willard, of Kansas.

Havana, Cuba—Jack Johnson lost the heavyweight championship of the world to Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy, in the twenty-sixth round of a prize fight here Monday. The big negro showed all of his old time speed and skill in the early rounds but his blows lacked force to knock out his opponent. The new champion is ten years younger than Johnson.

Bulgars Attack Greek Town.

London—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Saloniki says:

"The Bulgarian irregulars who were driven back from the Serbian border later descended on the Greek town of Doiran (about 35 miles north of Saloniki), and Greece is rushing important reinforcements thither and to other frontier points prepared for any eventualities. "Another band of 200 Bulgarian irregular troops tried to cross the Greek frontier, but was dispersed with the aid of a machine gun and left numerous dead or wounded on the field."

WHERE ADAM LIVES, but EVE is EXCLUDED

MONASTERY OF SIMON PETER.

WHERE the white cowed peak-head of Mount Athos rises into the serene turquoise sky and looks down its slopes, solemnly verdured by dark forests and garden beds of olive, myrtle and rose, is the most remarkable republic in all the world, into whose arcaic confines came again the call of war—the world's greatest of wars.

This dominion, at all times on a military footing to repel its one great, human enemy, has passed through many wars with private invaders, not to mention the invasion of curiosity of the Byzantine empress, who insisted upon visiting the place to the mortification and scandal of the good men—so there is small wonder that Father Bulatovitch, once a grim soldier, volunteered to go forth and fight for the czar.

Mount Athos is on the peninsula of Saloniki, which territory Greece wrested from the Turks in the last war, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. There are twenty monasteries in the republic, eleven villages and 250 hermitages. The population is composed of more than three thousand monks and as many lay brothers, who are called as "wordlings." There is an army of fifty Albanian guards stationed at the capital, Karyas, to see that no woman enters. And so rigid is the bar against the weaker sex that not even the female of any animal may be admitted.

Is a Romantic Garden Spot.
Think of this garden spot, where, despite the iron impress of celibacy, there are romance and poetry in the very air! There is mystery, too, for, looking from the sea, the cloak of the dense forest that lies over the titanic shoulders of the holy mount is full of blue and black shadow and silence; then, grimly medieval, clinging to the side of the elevation, even in the bright sunlight losing none of its impressive character, is the "mysterious monastery" of Simon Peter.

Mount Athos might have still drowed in the serenity of its recent dream picture days had not Father Bulatovitch, who at one time held a commission in the army of the great white czar, been stirred by the martial spirit and declared his willingness to go to war. He had been an officer of the guards and as abbot of a monastery brought something of the military discipline there.

He made it clear he did not intend giving up his religious orders, but, in imitation of the crusading monks at the time of the Tartar invasion in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, would head his troops with his uniform covered by his priestly vestments. He may be fighting now, or he may have been mustered in at last for the long twilight march.

But even the monks who have been trained in the paths of peace are not unfamiliar with war. They have it as an inspiring tradition, for all of these monasteries in the beginning were armed forts to repel the invasion of pirates. The Russian monastery, four hours by muleback from the capital, is the best example of this defensive style.

Mount Athos a Place of Thrills.
"As you approach," tells a recent visitor, "you are impressed and bewildered by that strange fortress sanctuary, with its bristling array of bastions, towers, turrets, redans and parapets, all stained, riddled and crenelated by the action of time and tempest. As far as the eye can see there is no opening anywhere along the whole expanse of walls. Wooden galleries project beneath the roof, but they are of comparatively recent construction, having been added since the pirates ceased to harry the holy mountain. They are painted a defiant blood red. The whole mass of masonry clings acrobatic-like to a rock, which is covered with luxuriant verdure."

In this curious republic there are Russian monks and Greek monks and Servian monks and Bulgarian monks. Though peaceful in general effect, Mount Athos has been a place of thrills. Not long ago the Bulgarians made an effort to seize the Servian monastery Hilendar and annex it for their own monks. The matter caused intense indignation in Belgrade, and was adjusted with some difficulty by the governing council of monks at Karyas.

For these men, rugged through long years of clean living and wholesome work, are of the stuff of ancient conquerors, despite the transforming spirit of the church. It would be interesting to know just how diffuse among them is the old crusading spirit as shown by the action of Father Bulatovitch, who believes he will be fighting for a holy cause.

Karyas an Eveless Eden.
The Saloniki steamer puts into the small port of Daphne, but even though a woman landed there in disguise and were not discovered, she could not consider herself really in the forbidden precincts of the Eveless Eden. The envied objective is Karyas, the capital, on the eastern slope of the mountain, a gem of a settlement, almost hidden among gardens and olive yards, a scattered mosaic on a field of green. And yet in this garden there is no note of the appealing cadences of a woman's voice, no sound of childish laughter, not one touch that would tell of the presence of Eve.

That there may be no invasion the army of fifty Albanian guards watch night and day. Women have endeavored by various ruses to enter, but invariably have been discovered and turned back. But who was the Byzantine empress to whom the chronicler refers who insisted upon the forbidden visit and who lived to regret it? You naturally settle upon Theodora, the wife of Justinian, who, having been at one time a performer in the circus and much given to adventure, is likely to have undertaken such an exploit simply because it was forbidden.

A story is told, also, of an American girl in Greece who essayed it, and nearly succeeded, but for the cleverness of a monk who was endowed with some of the subtle craft of Sherlock Holmes. She went about to prepare for the adventure with painstaking deliberation. She practiced for days walking after the real masculine style, assisted by the young man who was to accompany her on the mission. She could smoke a cigarette like a man; but considering this as not being absolutely convincing, she mastered the cigar, and then, with a heroic effort, conquered the pipe.

American Girl's Exploit.
Her voice was a deep contralto, and when she was at last ready for the adventure she was as perfect a young man as one would expect to see out for travel and instruction. The party landed at Daphne without the disguise being discovered.

On arriving at Karyas one reports to the prefect, who is in charge of the Albanian guard. One of these soldier monks watched the proceedings with keen interest. There was nothing in the manner of the disguised girl to excite suspicion—she was playing her part to perfection—but this fierce looking soldier cleric must have received some subtle intuition that the enemy was at hand.

Referring to be absolutely certain, he said nothing while the routine was being gone through. But as the party was about to go out into the single street of the capital he suddenly pointed to the floor and exclaimed in perfect English:

"Be careful, please!"
The girl instinctively made a motion as though to gather up her skirt had she been wearing one. That motion discovered her. She was escorted back to the little seaport with less pomp than is due to an empress.

Wars may sweep the earth with fire and steel, and women bear the bitterest penalties of the loss, while they rise to the supreme heights of heroism and self-sacrifice—being angel to friend and foe alike; but there, at Mount Athos, she can have no part either in its peace or its peaceful wars. For she is the enemy, the insidious foe urged to invasion by the most powerful of feminine motives—curiosity.

Against her the army of the guard and the army of the isolated faithful are unceasingly on guard. And we, who are in the high fever of life, in the full consciousness of what misery, suffering and crime such an obvious thing as sex may encompass—who of us can say, with anything of verity, that these earnest men of Athos are not entirely and supremely happy in their Eveless Eden?

Optimistic Thought.
It dawns not the sooner for all one's early rising.

Grand Rapids.—Park Congregational church celebrated its seventy-ninth anniversary. By a peculiar coincidence just 79 new members were added to the church membership.

Coldwater.—Bert Lathrop, Union City, young man jailed on a charge of embezzlement from the Jackson produce company, of which he was agent, was released. He and his friends made good the shortage.

Caro.—Mrs. Elizabeth Millner, aged eighty-seven, was burned to death here when her clothing caught fire as she was pouring kerosene into the kitchen stove.

Port Huron.—Prosecuting Attorney Stewart has asked that an injunction against John Hintz, a saloonkeeper of Port Huron township, be made permanent.

East Jordan.—East Jordan's independent military company is endeavoring to be admitted to the Michigan National Guard to replace the Manistee company which was recently mustered out.

Lansing.—State Banking commissioner Frank W. Merrick reported that since January 1, state banks and trust companies showed a net gain of $8,605,963 in aggregate business.

Port Huron.—George Pilky, farmer near Sarnia, was gored by a bull. The occurrence was such a shock to his son, William, that the young man died. The father has a good chance to recover.

Lansing.—Figures for the first quarter of 1915, issued by the industrial accident board, show that there were 73 fatal accidents which came under the jurisdiction of that body. In medical bills, $34,741 was paid.

Onaway.—Fire destroyed C. M. Bullock's elevator here, causing a loss of about $6,000. Mr. Bullock's son was badly burned about the face and neck in attempting to get into the stable from which the horses had already been taken without his knowledge. An overheated stove caused the fire.

Jackson.—Mayor William Sparks, who was arrested on a charge of operating his automobile without displaying the required license, pleaded guilty in police court and was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.35. The mayor subjected himself to arrest to test the efficiency of the police department.

Flint.—Mrs. John Morse was severely burned about the face and hands and her home destroyed by fire when gasoline with which she was cleaning clothes caught fire. Persons attracted by the flames were too excited over Mrs. Morse's condition to call the fire department until it was too late to save the building. The principal loss was sustained by William Bull, with whom the Morges boarded.

Houghton.—Clyde W. Nicholson of Detroit, a student in the Michigan College of Mines here, has been elected to membership in Tau Beta Phi, the national honorary engineering society. Nicholson, who has been two years at the College of Mines, was graduated from Detroit Eastern high school in 1909 and received his A. B. degree from the University of Michigan in 1913. He is a member of the Theta Tau fraternity.

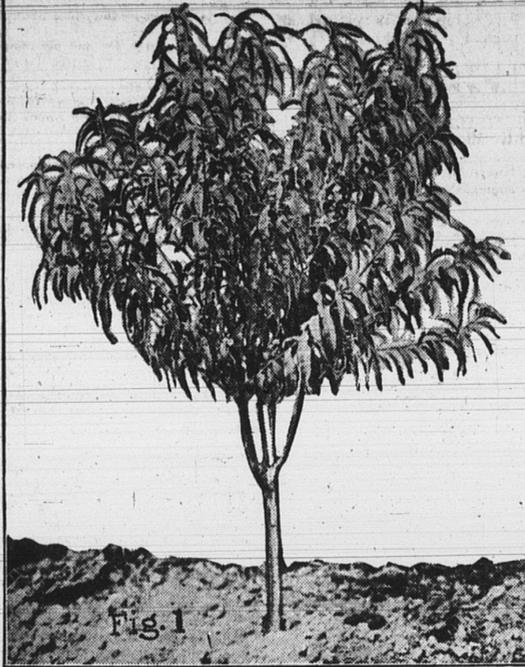

Pittsburgh.—Rather than comply with a court order and move his house, which is alleged to be on a public highway, Chris Lieberman, a Civil War veteran, has spent 14 months in the Allegheny county jail, and says he will remain there during the rest of his life unless the order is revoked. Many friends of the aged man, including Congressman W. H. Coleman, have pleaded with him to obey the order, but to all he replies that his conscience forbids him to remove the house. Lieberman is a model prisoner.

Detroit.—Joseph R. Lorkowski, cashier of a branch of the Federal State bank, was shot and probably fatally wounded in what is believed to have been an attempt to rob the bank. George Dimont, a foreigner, presented a Chicago bank book and demanded payment on it. Lorkowski's refusal precipitated a fight in which the cashier reached across the counter and struck Dimont on the head just as the latter drew his revolver and fired, the bullet entering Lorkowski's stomach. Lorkowski and Dimont, who was also injured, were taken to a hospital. Another foreigner who accompanied Dimont escaped.

Saginaw.—The much-discussed law's delay had little to do with the case of Robert Smith of Cleveland, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Grace Steinhauer of this city, to whom he was to have been married. Smith was serving his sentence less than twenty-four hours after killing his victim.

Marshall.—Head Lineman Vanderbilt of the Michigan Central telegraph system, while traveling near here on a gasoline speeder, was overtaken by a fast train. He saved himself by rolling down an embankment. The speeder was wrecked.

WHEN PEACH TREE SHOULD BE PRUNED

A Peach Tree of the Muir Variety in Its First Season's Growth—Fig. 1.

The principal reasons for pruning a peach tree, according to a recent bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture, may be summed up as follows:

- (1) To modify the vigor of the tree.
- (2) To keep the tree shapely and within bounds.
- (3) To make the tree more stocky.
- (4) To open the tree top to admit air and sunshine.
- (5) To reduce the struggle for existence in the tree top.
- (6) To remove dead or interfering branches.
- (7) To aid in stimulating the development of fruit buds.
- (8) To thin the fruit.
- (9) To make thorough spraying possible.
- (10) To facilitate the harvesting of the fruit.

The most successful fruit growers habitually prune their trees as a general proposition. In doing so they usually follow more or less closely some system, although they may have no clear-cut conception of just what their plan involves. There are, therefore, wide differences of opinion and practice, and trees often produce abundantly under practically all systems or with no pruning whatever.

Obviously the pruning which a tree receives the first two or three years after it is planted has much to do with its future. Mistakes in forming the head or the results of neglect during the early years in the life of a tree are practically irreparable. On the other hand, if the tree is well formed and properly pruned during its first years, the foundation for a good tree is established; subsequent errors in pruning, if they occur, may admit of correction without permanent harm to the tree.

A question frequently asked is, "When is the proper time to prune peach trees?" In general, the answer to this inquiry is, During the dormant period, preferably in late winter or early spring, just before growth starts, except in regions where bleeding from wounds is likely to occur. In such regions it should probably be done in early winter. But conditions and the object of the pruning must be considered in each case. If the pruning operations are very extensive, economic requirements may make it necessary to prune throughout the winter whenever the weather is suitable for men to work in the orchard. If the fruit buds are endangered during the winter by adverse temperatures, it will be advisable to delay pruning as much as economic conditions permit until settled spring weather arrives. This is especially advisable if heavy heading in of the previous season's growth is involved, since the proportion of live buds may determine the extent to which the cutting back should be carried.

A limited amount of summer pruning can usually be done to advantage. The trees should be observed constantly throughout the season of active growth. Whenever a branch is seen which is so placed that it obviously will need to be removed at the annual pruning for the shaping up of the tree it is well to take it off at once. Then, too, it frequently happens that a single branch in the top of a tree will grow considerably faster than any of the others, thus making the tree unsymmetrical if its growth is not checked. A slight heading in as soon as such a tendency is apparent will usually keep the top well balanced.

The pruning of a peach tree at the time of planting it has already been discussed. A tree well along in its first season's growth is shown in Fig. 1. It will be observed that the top is formed of four main branches. This tree shows evidence of having received attention during the earlier part of the season. Only those branches which were of importance in forming the top have been allowed to develop. The exact number of branches which may be used in forming the head is not an arbitrary matter. From three to five or six branches are permissible, if they are well placed and properly distributed on the main stem of the tree. The branches that form the head of the tree shown in Fig. 1 start from points on the trunk which are rather too close together. If there was more space between the branches where they join the trunk there would be less danger of the limbs breaking down in later years from the weight of heavy loads of fruit.

During the dormant period between the first and second year, the first year's growth, provided it has been thrifty and vigorous, should be headed back rather heavily; perhaps one-half or two-thirds of the growth should be removed.

The effects of not heading in are shown in Fig. 2. The trees here shown are making their second or third season's growth. They were not well headed in at first, and no heading back has been done since they were planted. Besides, the soil is lumpy and in poor tilth and the trees are making a weak, slender growth. Had they been well headed in, the growth would have been much more stocky, even though the trees were small, and they would be in much better condition to sustain the weight of a crop of fruit than they can possibly be under the system of management that has been followed.

The United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., will send interested fruit growers, free of charge, its farmers bulletin (No. 632) on "Growing Peaches," which gives in detail much information on the pruning of trees, renewal of tops, thinning, interplanted crops, and special practices.

Governor Knew What He Was Doing When He Told Anecdotes of Ancient Vintage.

The governor of a southern state came to his office with a friend one morning to find a number of men waiting in the anteroom. Pausing an instant, he told a story that was a decided "chestnut." When he got inside the private office the friend said: "That was a horribly old one you sprung on those fellows."

"I know it," chuckled the governor, "but did you notice that one that laughed?"

"Well, I noticed that three or four did."

"Those," said the governor, "are the fellows who won't get in to see me. They are the ones who have favors to ask."—Rebboth Sunday Herald.

Preventing Premature Burials.
The fear of being buried alive always has been, and is, so widespread that the French Academy of Science some years ago offered a prize equal to $7,500 for the discovery of some means by which even the inexperienced might at once determine whether, in a given case, death had ensued or not. A physician, obtained the prize. He had observed the following well-known signs: If the hand of the suspected dead person is held towards a candle or other artificial light, with the fingers extended and one touching the other, and one looks through the spaces between the fingers towards the light, there appears a scarlet red color where the fingers touch each other, due to the blood still circulating; it shows itself through the tissues which have not yet congealed. When life is entirely extinct, the phenomenon of scarlet spaces between the fingers at once ceases. The most extensive and thorough trials established the truth of his observation.

His First Sweetheart.
Her name is Milly. I haven't said anything about marrying her yet—not to her or anybody—but I've carried her books three or four times and I hit her in the back of the head with a soft snowball, and I guess she likes me, too. She threw a snowball back at me when I hit her and then, when I washed her face for her with snow, she just said: "Oh, George, you mean thing!" as if she might be willing to marry me sometime if I got nerve enough to ask her when we're grown up. I wonder how a fellow gets nerve to ask them. I don't think I'll ever have.—Ellis Parker Butler, in the American Magazine.

A Good Job.
The professional joker entered the office one morning in fine humor. "Say, Bill," he shouted to his friend at the next desk, "I heard of a job that would interest you. It takes only a few hours in the evening and pays good money."

"Fine!" said Bill. "Tell us about it."

"Well, you just go down to the aquarium and see my friend Mr. —. He'll fix it up for you. But be sure to bring a trap along."

"A trap?"

"Sure. You'll have to have a trap. The job's catching mice for the catfish."

No Uncertainty.
"The Eskimos have a very peaceful life."

"Yes. They know pretty well what kind of weather it is going to be without waiting for any tips from the ground hog."

RATHER ROUGH ON FATHER

Daughter's Remark Might Have Been Construed Unkindly by the Casual Listener.

Since Fred had become a sophomore, and was therefore a college "man," he had given himself patronizing airs toward Sister May, who had been his guide, philosopher and friend during boyhood. Vexed by his haughtiness, she was unmercifully quizzing him the other evening at dinner.

"Has our 'man' made up his mind," she inquired, "as to what profession he will honor after a while?"

"Why, yes, little one," Fred responded, with his most aggravating smile. "I have made up my mind to be a doctor, like grandfather and father."

"You a doctor!" May sniffed scornfully. "I'd like to know why not—if I get my diploma?" asked Fred, still annoyingly calm.

"Well, you'll never be a great surgeon, like father," May insisted.

"Again, why not?" Fred smiled condescendingly.

"You a surgeon like father!" May cried, vehemently. "Why, you big softy, you couldn't even kill a fly!"

Nobody but father caught the significance of the remark, and somehow he didn't mention it.

"Two fairs for one fare"

San Francisco and San Diego

It's an unspoiled wonderland, through which the Santa Fe runs. You see the Colorado Rockies. You see ruins of old cliff dwellings and present-day Indian pueblos in New Mexico and Arizona. You see the Petrified Forest, with its thousands of fossil trees. And that superlative of scenic wonders, the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

Of course, you are planning to join the thousands who will visit San Francisco and San Diego this year. Displayed in the exhibit halls is a collection of industrial and art objects that may never be duplicated. Up-to-date farming is shown by processes and products.

The Santa Fe is the only transcontinental line having its own rails all the way. It is the only line reaching both Exposition cities. It is the coolest in summer. It offers you the most perfect roadbed and track in America—new, solid steel equipment, specially ventilated, powerful engines, courteous employes and Fred Harvey dining-car and dining-room meals.

At frequent intervals, specially conducted tourist-car parties will be organized. So when you are ready, buy your ticket over the Santa Fe—every hour will be a relaxation every mile will have its delightful impression. The journey plus the two Expositions—will be a liberal question. About one fare for round trip. Exposition tickets on sale daily until November 30, 1915.

Send for two fascinating picture-books of the Expositions and the Santa Fe route. I can help you plan an economical winter-trip through California.

You can cook three ways with this NEW PERFECTION with the insulated oven. By adjusting the flame you get the quickest kind of quick heat for fast baking, or the slow steady kind you need for baking bread and roasting.

The insulation keeps the heat in the oven and out of the kitchen. This saves fuel all the year 'round and is a blessing in the summer. A spacious cabinet top warms up the dishes, there is ample room behind the burners for keeping food hot.

Burns oil—clean, convenient, economical. Why carry coal and wood in and dirty ashes out when with a NEW PERFECTION all you need is matches. Price amazingly low—this splendid range and fireless cooker combined costs very little more than a good fireless and less than any coal or wood range that would begin to do the same work.

FINDING A NEW LIFE

By EGBERT WARRING.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)

Within the space of a brief flitting minute, Doctor Abernathy spoke half a dozen words that pronounced the seeming doom of Walter Thorne. Within an hour the young man in question had analyzed the situation and was philosophically resigned to it.

Within the week Thorne saw a new name on the glittering plate glass windows, paid up all his debts, sent to his uncle in another city the capital he had supplied to start him in business, and gave up his elegant club.

Walter was sorry, but resigned. He counted up his resources, all liquid, and amounting to some twenty thousand dollars.

He had donated half of that to a school for indigent juveniles. Five thousand dollars he had sent to a poor, remote relative. He calculated that $1,000 would be abundant to die on, and the other four went in indiscriminate charity.

Walter finally settled on the Ozark mountain region as a final destination. He approached it by slow stages. The last 100 miles he made on foot. He felt weary at times. The lack of hope and ambition gave him a motiveless sensation. One thing he noticed, however: He was eating with an appetite now, a rarity for ten years past.

One evening he was belated by a storm between towns. He remained within the shelter of a mountain cave till the rain had passed on. It was a railroad junction. It was to view a novel and unaccustomed spectacle.

Local freight trains were standing on different tracks, headed in various directions. Lanterns were flashing everywhere, and the scene was one of extraordinary activity. All kinds of vehicles were standing beside the cars, unloading their contents, long, low boxes, nailed tightly and handled with care.

"What is in those boxes?" Walter ventured to ask.

"Strawberries," was the explanation. "Within eighteen hours they will be on the home tables of every big city in the middle West!"

Then Walter knew that he was at the main shipping point of the greatest berry producing section in the country.

One old woman with only two cases carried them to the cars with the aid of her aged husband. Two boys had carried their boxes in a little wagon to which was attached two dogs. Walter experienced renewed interest as he saw a common hand cart appear. A girl navigated it, a strap running harnesslike from the propelling handles across her shapely shoulders.

In the weird, flickering light about her she was a rare picture of earnest, healthful industry. There was a cheery token of duty and vitality in her beautiful face that enchained Walter. He asked a man who she was.

"That's Netta Oliver," was the reply. "The sweetest lassie on Beaver creek. Her father and mother are both ill, and she has buckled down to keeping the flour barrel full, like the jewel she is."

Walter stopped at a hotel that night. He could not get the face and name of the girl he had seen out of his mind. The next day he made some further inquiries about the Oliver family. He found that they were too poor to afford a horse and wagon. He pitied the girl, who night after night did the service of a beast of burden, dragging the rickety handcart over the uneven country roads. He made a whimsical resolve. Two mornings later, seated in a stout, light wagon with a sturdy horse attached, he drove into the yard of the little 20-acre farm where Netta Oliver lived.

She was among the vines, wearing a neat, cover-all apron. Her radiant eyes somewhat abashed him as he asked for her father. He found the latter and his wife seated comfortably on the porch of the little cottage, convalescing from an attack of chills and fever.

"I've heard of you, Mr. Thorne," spoke Walter. "I am an invalid in spite of health. I like this spot. Could you board me for a few weeks?"

And then Walter went on to tell that he had a little money, but that he would give the rig he had bought for a month's board.

For 30 golden days Walter Thorne found a new interest in life. He became a real worker—and a lover. Day by day the gentle, lovable Netta grew more and more precious to him. Her parents were up and about now, and the one desire of the father was to secure an additional 80 acres of land.

It would mean a fortune in time, he claimed, and then Walter was sorry he had given away his fortune.

One day Walter went to town. He proceeded to the office of the leading physician. He left it with an eager, hopeful face.

"You are a perfectly healthy man," the doctor had said. "Whatever threatened you two months ago, your new life has neutralized. Only—keep away from the wear and tear and turmoil of office life."

That evening Walter asked Netta to marry him, and she consented. He had written to his uncle, telling him of his resolve to stay close to nature. And upon the wedding eve there came a glowing response from his relative, in the shape of a generous gift that enabled Walter Thorne to begin his new life with the coveted 80 acres added to the Oliver farm.

BIG MISTAKE OF DAIRYMEN

Young Bulls Disposed of Before Thoroughly Tested—Dehorning Greatly Modifies Temper.

One of the greatest mistakes that dairymen make is that of disposing of breeding bulls while they are young and before their get is tested by work in the dairy.

Some of the very best bulls are discarded when two or three years old. This is due, in many instances, to farmers being afraid to handle them after they have reached that age. Dehorning greatly modifies their temper. If it does not completely remove all their vicious tendencies.

Horns on a bull are a constant menace and should be removed, then he need not be sacrificed before his breeding value becomes known.

We must depend upon inbred bulls if we are to secure the transmission of the qualities of our best cows to their progeny, and it is best to secure the first breeding bull by dehorning the sire back to one of his daughters.

Nucleus of Fine Dairy Herd.

In order to secure the best results the bull and the cow should have the same general conformation. In no other way can we secure prepotency than by inbreeding.

If we think there is danger of carrying the inbreeding too far and fresh blood is desired, it is not necessary to go outside the family to preserve the vitality, for the infusion of the new blood of a first or second cousin may be as fresh and vigor giving as that of one not related, and there will be no danger of losing the permanency of the established functions of the family.

MANAGING THE KICKING COW

Animal Can Be Handled Successfully If One of Front Feet Is Tied Up by Means of Strap.

If a cow kicks during milking it is said that she can be handled successfully if she is tied securely and one of the front feet held up by means of a strap reaching around her body just back of the shoulder.

Slip a common snap on the strap and let it hang down below her belly. Buckle the strap closely, then take a small strap with a ring on it and buckle around the cow's right front leg just above the hoof. Then draw her leg up, and snap to the ring. As soon as she steadies down she may be milked without the milker being in danger of being kicked.

In the course of time the strap can be dispensed with and the cow, having been used to being milked without causing trouble, will no longer kick.

REASONS FOR COW TESTING

Enables Farmer to Discard Animals Not Paying for Board—It Is Plain Common Sense.

A few of the many reasons for cow testing are: It enables the farmers to eliminate cows that do not pay for their board.

It gives many a good cow from the shambles. It is an encourager of good feeding and good care.

It gives the farmer an opportunity to build up a good producing herd.

It increases one's interest in dairying as a business rather than as a means of labor merely.

In short, it is plain common sense.

Be Kind and Gentle. Care includes kindness, regularity in feed, water and milking, as well as the quarters. But above all be kind and gentle. If you have a cow that it is not possible to be kind to (and there are a few such unregenerates) better fit her for beef, than to worry along with her because the profit will not be nearly so much as with a cow responsive to kindness, aside from the worry they are to the milkers.

Warts on Tests. The ordinary, small, scabby wart is generally quite easily cured by smearing it with pure olive oil, sweet oil or carbolic vasoline. If, after treatment of this sort for several weeks, the growth does not disappear, it may be necessary to cut it off with a pair of sharp scissors and touch the sore with a stick of caustic potash. This treatment should be followed up with olive oil or vasoline applications.

THE UNEXPECTED

"Did you hear about Scootleigh?"

"No."

"He woke up in the night and went to the wall cupboard for the bottle of Jamaica ginger. He was in such a hurry he didn't stop to feel for the electric light button, but chanced it."

"Dear, dear!"

"He grabbed a bottle that he thought was the right one and took a swallow of the stuff."

"My, my!"

"It burned him painfully."

"Oh, that's too bad! What was it?"

"The Jamaica ginger."

HIS PROUD TITLE

It was a very small pupil who astonished his father, a practitioner of medicine, by propounding the following question:

"Papa, do you know what the great Napoleon's nickname was?"

Wishing that his son might have the pleasure of bestowing this information, his father evaded a reply by asking another question:

"What was it, son?"

His state of mind can be imagined when the little fellow proudly responded:

"He was known as the Little Corpuscule."—Youth's Companion.

METHOD IN HIS MADNESS

"Do you realize that your long sermons are rather tiresome?" asked the young parson who was new at the game.

"I do," replied the wise parson, who was beginning to carry weight for age. "That is why my congregation gives me such long vacations."

SOME HARD KNOCKS

Woman Gets Rid of "Coffee Habit."

The injurious action of coffee on the hearts of many persons is well known by physicians to be caused by caffeine. This is the drug found by chemists in coffee and tea.

A woman suffered a long time with severe heart trouble and finally her doctor told her she must give up coffee, as that was the principal cause of the trouble. She writes:

"My heart was so weak it could not do its work properly. My husband would sometimes have to carry me from the table, and it would seem that I would never breathe again.

"The doctor told me that coffee was causing the weakness of my heart. He said I must stop it, but it seemed I could not give it up until I was down in bed with nervous prostration.

"For eleven weeks I lay there and suffered. Finally husband brought home some Postum and I quit coffee and started new and right. Slowly I got well. Now I do not have any headaches, nor those spells with weak heart. We know it is Postum that helped me. The Dr. said the other day: 'I never thought you would be what you are.' I used to weigh 93 pounds and now I weigh 158.

"Postum has done much for me and I would not go back to coffee again, for I believe it would kill me if I kept at it. Postum must be prepared according to directions on pkg., then it has a rich flavor and with cream is fine."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost per cup about the same.

One of Several.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, is that a wild man across the street?

Paw—Something like that, son. He is a member of the state legislature who voted against free lunch, and today he had to give up real money for the food he consumed between drinks.

SUFFERED FOR FOUR YEARS.

Mr. J. M. Sinclair of Olivehill, Tenn., writes: "I strained my back, which weakened my kidneys and caused an awful bad backache and inflammation of the bladder. Later I became so much worse that I consulted a doctor, who said that I had diabetes and that my heart was affected. I suffered for four years and was in a nervous state and very much depressed. The doctor's medicine didn't help me, so I decided to try Dodds Kidney Pills, and I cannot say enough to express my relief and thankfulness, as they cured me. Diamond Dinner Pills cured me of Constipation."

Just That.

"The Germans are going to mobilize the elephants in a menagerie for heavy work. That's a new line, isn't it?"

"Quite so; a sort of trunk line."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Charles Fletcher in Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

So Paw Says.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, what is the difference between an optimist and a pessimist?

Paw—An optimist, son, is a man who is happy when he is miserable, and a pessimist is a man who is miserable when he is happy.

An Insinuation.

"They tell me, Mrs. Comeup, your daughter went through that reception in her honor without any faux pas."

"No such thing! She had as much of it as anybody that was there."

Not the Same.

"Have you caught any of the divine affluence from the coming of the spring?"

"No; all I've caught is the influenza."

Its Result.

"What do you think of this business of the Germans taking a Frye?"

"They are apt to find themselves in a broil."

Contrariwise.

"How did the poker scene in that gaming play come out?"

"Never got a hand."

BLISSFIELD—At last reports Henry Moan, who is charged with decamping with a horse and buggy belonging to Richard Fox, of Fairfield, with whom he lived, is still going. It has been learned that he is making his way down into Indiana, but like the lively flea, he is making some quick jumps.—Advocate.

HOWELL—At least 300 laborers from the cities, said a well-to-do farmer to our reporter, last Saturday, can get employment the year round from the farmers of Livingston county at good wages, including board and washing. That sounds good, but the next thing is to get away from the city attractions with the view of having to work.—Democrat.

The May Festival. Professor Albert A. Stanley, director of the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan, has just announced the complete program for the twenty-second annual May Festival to be held in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Michigan, May 19, 20, 21, and 22, 1915.

The University Musical Society was organized about forty years ago, and twenty-five years ago, co-incident with Professor Stanley's selection to the chair of music in the University of Michigan, re-organized, and since that time twenty-two annual May Festivals have been given in addition to many miscellaneous Pre-Festival concerts. Altogether about three hundred concerts by artists and organizations of national reputation have been given.

The May Festival will consist of four evening concerts and two matinees. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Frederick Stock will take part in all of the concerts but one, which will be devoted to a program of organ music. Choral work will be done under the direction of Professor Stanley by the University Choral Union, a supplementary chorus of school children, and a special chorus of boys.

Much Poor Wiring. From many localities in Michigan reports are being made to the State Fire Marshal's bureau of poor wiring, the wiring which caused 281 fires in the state during 1914. It only takes a short time for every home or store where electricity is used to be inspected and it may prevent much trouble in the future. Are the wires properly constructed and protected or do they run along woodwork uncovered or hang down in loose ends. Bad wiring is inexcusable.

REFLECTIONS.

According to the census bureau the United States reached the 100,000,000 population mark at 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon. All of this listens nice, but the treasury department figured things out to show that this interesting event occurred February 1st. Talking about useless expenditures of time and money, what head does this come under?

If that Detroit druggist, Seltzer, had lived up to his name and effervesced, the daily papers would have lost several columns of reading matter the last two weeks.

Johnny Maulbetsch, the "German Bullet" of the U. M. football team, will have to undergo an operation next week. It is said that he is having stomach trouble. Last fall the sporting writer told us in large letters that Johnny's main "eat" was pie, and they wanted the whole team placed on the same diet. Draw your own conclusions.

Michigan is endeavoring to catch up with Russia. At the election Monday fourteen out of sixteen counties in the state in which local option was the issue voted for the "dry" side of the question. This result has stirred up the members of the legislature and there is no doubt now that the Straight bill for the adoption of statewide prohibition will be passed.

On the move—Advance, Ark. Unanimous—Accord, N. Y.

Detroit officials took a leaf out of the election returns and the police commissioner issued orders that the saloons should be closed not later than 12 o'clock.

Apple Aphid. The following is sent out by L. R. Taft, state inspector of nurseries and orchards:

For a number of years serious injury has been done in apple orchards, especially on young trees by the plant louse, known as the apple aphid. The black, shiny eggs are laid in the fall upon the twigs near the buds. These hatch in the spring and the young lice often collect in immense numbers upon the leaf and flower buds from which they suck the sap. Later on, they are found upon the underside of the leaves, which become wrinkled and curled so that it is difficult to reach the insects with a spray. The rosy aphid, which appears at the same time, may be even more harmful since it is particularly injurious to the fruit.

The work of these insects not only results in injuring and destroying the foliage, but they may seriously arrest the development of the twigs. The lice also attack the fruit, checking its growth and causing it to become gnarled and under-sized. The clusters of apples the size of hickory nuts sometimes found on the trees in the fall show the destructive work of this insect.

Many of the eggs and young lice are often destroyed by parasites, especially when the weather is warm in the spring. The dormant spray of lime-sulphur solution used for the scale will destroy many of the eggs and the summer sprays will also be helpful against the lice, but when conditions are favorable for the development of the lice a special treatment is necessary, particularly upon young trees. This can be furnished by adding nicotine solution to the lime sulphur spray, given when the blossom buds are in the pink.

Some of the standard 40 per cent sulphate nicotine solutions, such as "Black Leaf 40," may be used for this purpose at the rate of 1 pint to 50 gallons of lime-sulphur solution, which should contain about 1 1/2 gallons of some of the 24 per cent commercial solutions. Unless the nicotine solution is used with lime-sulphur solution, two pounds of soap (preferably whale oil or fish oil) should be added for each 50 gallons of water. Care should be taken not only to spray very thoroughly so as to reach all of the insects, but liberal amounts should be applied.

When the insects appear later in the season the same treatment may be given but as the lice will be more or less protected by the foliage they cannot be as easily reached as when the blossoms buds are in the pink. The plant lice exude sticky-dew, making the leaves glossy and sticky, and since this favors the development of "sooty fungi," the leaves have a brown or black appearance late in the season.

A FEW STRAY EPIGRAMS.

Marrying a woman, and living with her day by day, may prove more of an adventure than traveling around the world.

Our ex-presidents have a good deal to say about who shall be our next president.

When a wife shows her husband her new hat and suggests how much prettier are the ribbons and stockings that should go with it, it does seem a little exasperating.

Do not allow yourselves to think or say anything that you do not wish to be true. The whole world is hungry for good. Help it to cultivate the taste.

It is one of the happiest and most consoling thoughts that we, the living, involuntarily and always turn with loving remembrance to the good of our dead. The larger they measure the larger our tribute.

It is in the details of life that character is shown. A man may go out very bravely to be beheaded if the world looks on in pity or interest, but he may be a very disagreeable companion if the cobbler has left a peg in his shoe.

Some one has said "there is nothing original under the sun." The fact is there are more parallel passages, and there is less plagiarism in the world than most persons dream of. The greater our observation and the more comprehensive our thought on books and authors lead us to conclude that it is only the critic who is forever detecting quotations or plagiarism and mistakes the meaning of the phrase original. All truth is one, one report in one way and another in different words but its the same truth only transposed.

There are two modes of measuring human power. The first and most common mode is by the valve of the works accomplished; the second and we think it the most just is by the difficulties it has overcome. The most ordinary individual observes the steam engine and knows the uses to which applied; he can listen to the plays of Shakespeare, read the great epic "Milton's Paradise Lost" and is ready to pay homage to the author as men possessed of great power. But finer discernment is needed to acknowledge the power of one who, starting from a lower level, fought his way unaided through obstacles that would have seemed to most men insuperable, to a position far above that from which he started to a position to which he could not have been elevated only by uncommon power reached by this: "The few the immortal names that were not born to die."

"Relieved Her Rheumatism"

That is what Mrs. E. A. Boyd of Corning, N. Y., says she accomplished for her baby's leg, just by rubbing it with Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh.

This was another of the "hard cases" for which this liniment is noted. The child's leg was so terribly afflicted, it would not reach the floor. The Balsam of Myrrh put it back in shape.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN CHELSEA. Such Evidence Our Readers Cannot Dispute. As we take up the Standard we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mr. Lehman does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.
