Guinea Pigs Destroyed.

Results of two years of research work in lead poisoning by Instructor Carl V. Weller of the pathology department were destroyed early Monday morning when a bulldog broke through the wire netting that guarded the window of the animal room of the medical building of the University of Michigan and killed 120 guinea pigs.

The pigs represented two generations, the first of which had been treated with lead poisoning two years ago in an effort to trace the effect, mentally and physically, of the poison through several generations. Dr. Weller had secured sufficient scientific data to enable him to make a report on the first generation, but further than that his work is completely destroyed.

The dog is being held at the police station. Fortunately for the animal he did not attempt to eat his kill.

Late Monday morning a great squealing was heard on the third floor where another dog was found trying his best to get into the cages where rats inoculated with all sorts of diseases, were caged. This time the dog was too small and only bent the wires.

Had he been able to get at the rats another two years' research would have gone glimmering.

Forty Years Ago

Happenings in Chelsea Forty Years Ago This Week.

Fred Girbach commenced the erection of a brick store building on his Main street lot.

The great drought that prevailed for several months was broken the last of the week.

A pen vender visited Chelsea the first of the week and departed with about $70 that he gathered in from the business men and citizens.

John Smith was given a sentence of 15 days in the county jail by Justice Coleman. The man was looking for post holes to dig. He borrowed two spades from B. J. Billings, Jr., and stole a bucksaw from Loren Babcock.

Tuesday afternoon as the 4:38 east bound on the Michigan Central was passing through Chelsea a traveling man undertook to jump on—but missed his hold and fell between the cars—the train was stopped and picked him up. The man was considerably bruised about the head.

Michigan District Convention.

The Young People's Societies of the Michigan District of the German Evangelical churches will hold their annual convention in the Bethlehem church, of Ann Arbor, on Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9. A good program has been arranged for each session and many of the pastors of the district will take active parts. The delegates from St. Paul's church of this place are Miss Cora Feldkamp and Julius Niehaus.

Saturday afternoon Rev. F. R. Schreiber, of Grand Rapids, will deliver an address on "An Evening With My Young People." Rev. Dr. J. Mayer, of Freedom, Rev. C. H. Wittbracht and Rev. Otto Papsdorf, both of Saline, will also take part on the afternoon program.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. A. A. Schoen of this place will have charge of the devotional exercises. Rev. S. A. John, of Ann Arbor, and Rev. J. A. Wulfmann, of Manchester, will have parts on the program.

At the evening session Rev. A. Beutenmueller, of Jackson, will read the scripture lesson and the sermon will be delivered by Rev. Paul Zwilling, of Detroit.

The pastors' conference of the Ann Arbor District of the German Evangelical churches will be held on Monday and Tuesday following the convention. Rev. A. A. Schoen of this place is the president of the district.

Announcements.

The Woman's Mission Circle of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. Bertha Coe on Wednesday, May 12, at 2:30.

The Washtenaw County Association of the L. O. T. M. M. will be held in Milan, May 12. Fifty candidates will be initiated. Pot luck dinner. The members of Columbian Hive are urged to attend.

Committees No. 5 and 6 of the Lady Macabees will give a bake sale Saturday forenoon, May 8, at the gas office building.

The ladies of the Congregational church will hold an apron sale on Tuesday, May 11.

There will be a meeting of the Macabees on Friday evening of this week.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's church will give a supper at the town hall Saturday, May 15.

The Orient Circle of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Frank Hendry Wednesday, May 12.

Clover Leaf Chapter of the Congregational church will give a supper at the church Tuesday, May 11. Everybody invited.

Landscape Gardening.

With the approach of spring would it not be a great thing for Chelsea if the majority of our citizens would determine to do a little landscape gardening this year?

What if every home should remove any unsightly shrubbery that may have been permitted to grow in their yards or along the their lot lines and replace it with attractive plants.

All of us could do this, and we feel sure we should be glad for it after the passing of a few months had the improved appearance of our laws.

The hazards of war are almost as great as the perils of an arctic exploration.

Sawyer-Hatfield Wedding.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geiger, of Clinton, Saturday, May 1, 1915, when Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sawyer, of this place was united in marriage with Mr. Earl W. Hatfield, of Ann Arbor. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Latham, pastor of the Clinton Congregational church.

A dainty wedding supper was served, after which the happy couple left for Tecumseh where Mr. and Mrs. Bert Marshall gave an elaborate dinner on Sunday in their honor. The young couple will make their home in Ann Arbor.

Attended the Funeral Services.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral service of the late John Clark, of Lyndon which was held in the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart last Saturday morning were as follows: Mrs. E. A. Gorman, daughter Mary, and sons James, Emmett and Thomas, Miss Alice Gorman, Eugene and Ethelbert Heatley and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Young, of Detroit, Mrs. James Cunningham, Miss Carrie Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Clark, of Chicago, John Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham and sons, Mrs. Pierce Cassidy and Mrs. James Lyman, of Jackson, Miss Caroline Whitaker, Mrs. William Toumey and Mrs. M. Max, of Ann Arbor.

When to Turn Clover Crop Under.

The state at which a clover crop should be turned under depends upon the soil, weather conditions and the crop that is to follow. Where corn is to be planted on crimson clover land, the clover should be turned under just when the bloom begins to appear. The crop at this stage will contain about the maximum amount of plant food. Besides, it will decay much more readily than if permitted to reach full maturity. It may be necessary to turn the clover under a little earlier, in order to get the corn planted at the proper time.

New States For Old.

Petitions are out in Washington, California, Idaho and Texas to divide the commonwealths and to create three new sovereign states. In Washington it is proposed to take the twenty counties lying in the Columbia basin east of the Cascades, add to them the narrow northern end of Idaho and form the new state of Lincoln. In California the promoters of the enterprise advocate the deletion of the southern third, allowing it to shift for itself, and the Texas senate has looked with favor upon a project to allow the Texas panhandle to start a menage of its own.

Indiana Man's Kidney Troubles Disappear

"After suffering many months from kidney trouble," writes W. R. Fox, of Noblesville, Ind., "and after having tried many remedies and prescriptions, I purchased a box of Foley Kidney Pills. They not only did me more good than any other remedy I had ever used, but they positively got my kidneys right. Other members of my family have used same with similar results."

From every state in the Union come unsolicited letters telling of satisfactory results from Foley Kidney Pills. When the kidneys become clogged up, get sluggish, and filter and strain out of the blood only part of the poisonous waste matter, the balance remains and circulates through the system, uric acid forms, and swollen, painful joints and muscles are the result.

Foley Kidney Pills cleanse and tone up the kidneys, so that backache, rheumatism, sore muscles, aching joints, annoying bladder disorders and irregularities soon disappear.

The Standard "Want" adv. gives results. Try them.

BREVITIES

PINCKNEY—The Pinckney Reading Circle have arranged for a Chautauqua to be held on July 21, 22 and 23.

STOCKBRIDGE—The citizens of this place will enjoy band concerts which will be given on the public square every Wednesday evening during the summer.

MANCHESTER—We learn that the Unterkircher children, through the death of their brother George, in California, will each get upwards of $3000 from his estate.—Enterprise.

YPSILANTI—A stranger engaged room and board with Mrs. Emma Lafave and went to bed, Friday morning, declaring he was sleepy. He departed in the afternoon with $52 worth of jewelry.

BLISSFIELD—Ten buildings are now under construction in this village. Some of them are nearly completed and others are just started. As there are still more under contemplation the indications look good for a busy summer in the building line.—Advance.

MANCHESTER—The members of the Evangelical society have extended a call to Rev. H. G. Bushong, of Detroit, and that gentleman has accepted the place. He has rented the Davenport place on Latayette street and his family will soon be settled therein.

STOCKBRIDGE—Fred Montague, of Isosco township, killed himself with a gun early Monday morning. His step father was killed in the same room several years ago. He leaves a widow and four children. Domestic trouble is said to be the cause of the suicide.—Brief-Sun.

ANN ARBOR—Prof. James P. Bird, for many years secretary of the engineering college of the university, and assistant professor of French and Spanish in that college, has accepted the professorship of romance languages in Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., and will assume his new duties at the beginning of the academic year of 1915-16.

JACKSON—The late lamented W. A. Foote left no will—at least none has been as yet discovered. Those who think they are capable of judging say he left an estate valued at $2,000,000. But he left more than this. He left a good name, an unselfish, princely record, without a flaw.—Evening Star.

JACKSON—Jasper H. Thompson has been appointed deputy warden at the prison to succeed William E. Hollingrake, resigned. Mr. Thompson has been employed at the prison as special officer. His position will be taken by H. W. Boorn, a former deputy warden, who resigned and later returned and took a position as a keeper. Mr. Hollingrake is thinking of locating in the west and engaging in some kind of business for himself.

TECUMSEH—George Dunn of Saline was in town Wednesday in the interest of his son Verne, whose trial for obtaining goods under false pretenses was held Tuesday. Dept. Smith went to Adrian for Verne who was in the jail there and he was taken to Judge Hosmer's office. His father paid the $25 to J. J. Belcher who preferred the charges, and then the fine and costs amounting to $57.50. Judge Hosmer released the prisoner who left with his father.—Herald.

ADDISON—A rustling of newspapers attracted the attention of Mrs. Alzona McMichael as she was working about her dining room, with doors open to admit the balmy spring air. She was startled to see that the cause was a big blue racer which had crawled in the open door unnoticed and was investigating the home on his own account. Mrs. McMichael rubbed her eyes to dispell the nightmare but found that she was really seeing snakes, managed to get by the reptile and notify her husband at the barn who made quick work of the inquisitive racer.—Courier.

ANN ARBOR—Edward Walker and Carl Brown were arraigned before Justice W. G. Doty Monday morning, charged with sundry violations of the fish and game laws, Deputy Game Warden Otto Rohm appearing as complainant. On the first of the charges, which was individually against the two prisoners and for taking large and small mouth black bass during the prohibited season, Walker and Brown were each fined $15 and the costs, $46 in all. A collective charge against the two for taking bull frogs for bait, resulted in conviction and a joint fine of $5 and $5.45 costs, $10.45 in all.—Times News.

QUESTION CLEARED UP

Chelsea Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

Again and again we have read of strangers in distant towns who have been cured by this or that medicine. But Chelsea's pertinent question has always been "Has anyone here in Chelsea been cured?" The word of a stranger living a hundred miles away may be true, but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

F. A. Hammond, Madison St., Chelsea, says: "My back got lame from lifting and every time I caught a hard cold, it made the trouble worse. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me promptly and removed the lameness in my back."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hammond had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

Cemented Chelsea

The Business Men Are Largely Responsible for Betterment of Business Conditions of Customer and Merchant

THE BAROMETER of a town is its business center—all rooms occupied and every merchant doing his share of the business. The bank deposits were never in better condition than they are at the present time. All kinds of farm products bring a good price, and, taking the situation as a whole, we have much for which to be thankful.

Chelsea Enjoying Steady Growth

Chelsea has never been compelled to withstand the throes of a professional boom; it has slowly yet surely and steadily been built from year to year, and is today a healthy town from every point of view.

It has schools that are the equal of any in towns of its class; its churches include almost every denomination; its homes are substantial and in keeping with a prosperous people; its banks are sound to the core and possessed of ample capital to do double the business required of them; its mercantile establishments represent every line of trade and are prepared to properly cater to the wants of people of all classes.

We will not enter into the historical concerning Chelsea; the present and the future is what most vitally concern us. This paper tells a story of far more interest than a hundred pages of past events. To tell of the Chelsea of today, to boost the Chelsea of the now, is what counts.

This Dollar Day bargain campaign is the product of the combined efforts of our business men and is a sample of what can be done when all stand shoulder to shoulder and push. Every place of note has grown through the organization and efforts of its business men, and Chelsea is proud of their untiring efforts to better the conditions and do everything possible to make a better town and give inducements that will be worthy the patronage of Chelsea and vicinity.

The Business Men's Activity

Commencing with today, let us all become boosters for Chelsea. Let us praise our village at every opportunity and strive with real might and main for a bigger and better Chelsea. Let us not feel as though we were ashamed to say we live in Chelsea, Michigan, a town that is as good as any town on earth. Let us get up and do things. If every business man in Chelsea would put forth some one effort out of the ordinary in his line during the present year he would have created more business for himself, more business for Chelsea in general, more cause for praising and boosting his town. No matter in what line of trade you are, think of something extraordinary to do in the near future, something that will attract attention to you and your business; it will not only pay you, it will also benefit and boost the city. Whatever you do, don't do nuthin'; do something. Become a booster in your own way somehow—it'll pay you.

Fountain Head of True Civilization

The church is well represented in Chelsea, few denominations not being in the list. This is well, for churches are the varied streams flowing from the fountain head of true civilization. On these streams float to us the commerce of the ideal, the intellectual and spiritual world. A great English statesman has said, that "to abolish the churches from London means the maintenance of a greater army of police." Cut down the churches in the land today and there will grow a forest of jails, prisons and penitentiaries. A churchless community is a Christless community; a Christless community is a Godless one, and a Godless community is pandemonium. We cannot measure the blessings of the church by its direct influence. Its reactionary effect in ten thousand directions has blessed the race. We talk of civilization, but both morality and civilization are blooms rooted in the church. Sunshine needs no stump speech to win for the church the right of way in the world. Facts speak louder than words. The man who opens his history sees all too plainly that this world is not the same it would have been had not Christ come among us. The great river of Christianity has been divided into irrigating streams, the better to accomplish the work of watering the world.

DOLLAR DAYS

HERE is the combined effort Chelsea's business men to give their patrons a banquet of bargains. Never before did you see the commercial interests of this town so united and of one mind to give their patrons a feast they will never forget. Here are lines of merchandise at prices that you could not duplicate if you bought in carload lots. Here is a "pricefest" that simply snows under any trading mart this side of New York, and it is only on special sale days that prices will stand a comparison. All merchants in their line have done their best to make this first DOLLAR DAYS CAMPAIGN a winner and a long remembered event. Come to Chelsea on $ Days and see what a $ will do.

Friday and Saturday,
May 14 and 15

Two Big Dollar Days

The Biggest Trading Event in the History of Chelsea to Take Place on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

DOLLAR DAYS COMING! A chance to reduce the high cost of living by judicious buying is offered to the public—an opportunity to be effective on two days only—Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15, 1915. If bargains offered by Chelsea merchants on those two days were offered all the year around, the Chelsea merchants would be put out of business. Dollar Days means more than an opportunity to spend the dollars. They mean a chance to save—for the prices offered are so much below the value of the goods offered that purchasing on these two days will mean a big saving.

The fact that one hasn't the dollar in his possession, how ever, need not discourage anyone. Borrowed dollars will be accepted just as readily as any others. And for what better purpose could money be borrowed than to take advantage of such an opportunity as will be offered? Money borrowed at six per cent and used to buy necessities at a discount of fifty per cent would surely be money well handled.

The dollar is the selling unit, and whenever it is possible the goods to be sold are marked down to that figure. Many articles are on sale, however, which it would be ridiculous to price as low as a single dollar. Every store has thousands of bargains of this kind, and in almost every case each hundred cents expended does double duty.

Dollar Day sales will not be productive of complaints. Merchants have expressed a desire to keep the name of this big event above the reputation earned by many sales. Shoddy goods and last season stuff is not displayed nor is it being offered in any of the dollar bargains. The goods offered are of latest; the values fully what they are claimed to be; the sale is bonafide.

Remember—this isn't a one-store sale—it is a co-operative, trade stimulator, fostered by every store in the town.

All Dollar Day merchants have advertisements in this mammoth bill. This is news worth reading, as Dollar Day advertisements relate to the pocketbook.

Every wise person in Chelsea and vicinity whose wants are not all satisfied should sit right down and read the advertisements in this big bill and make a list of the items they will purchase on the two big Dollar Days, Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15. IT IS NOT TOO EARLY NOW TO DO THIS. AND AFTER YOU HAVE MADE YOUR SELECTIONS, YOU HAD BETTER BE ON HAND THE FIRST DAY, AS A GREAT MANY OF THE RARE BARGAINS HERE ADVERTISED WILL NOT LAST LONG. All customers or shoppers should visit the stores of Chelsea early Friday, May 14, before the best bargains are selected and sold out.

Now Come the Big Spring Sales

There's a NEW GREENSEASON just breaking through to the light. There's a new TINGLE in the air, a new STIR RING in the blood. The very advertising pages are crying SPRING. All the BLIZZARDS and all the RAINS in the world can't stop it now. The EARTH and everything UPON it is calling for NEW things to wear. Even the OLD HOUSE is calling for a NEW COAT, and everything inside of it is just as eager to be RENEWED. New FABRICS are beginning to BLOSSOM OUT in the aisles of many a store—such wonderful fabrics that have been growing silently in all the great looms of the world!

Every Women and Home is Interested

And now all this GREAT HARVEST OF NEW BEAUTY has been gathered and is waiting for you in every store in Chelsea. Who wouldn't go to such an EXHIBITION? Who wouldn't be eager for such a RECEPTION? But the ADVERTISING NEWS contained in this big bill tells the story far better than any editorial can tell it. For there is the REAL NEWS, the CONCRETE news of all that has been PREPARED for you. Turn to it NOW. Get the spirit of the NEW SEASON in your blood. Go to the stores in Chelsea and PREPARE for the first warm days of SPRING.

The Business Men Are Largely Responsible for Betterment of Business Conditions of
Customer and Merchant

THE BAROMETER of a town is its business center—all rooms occupied and every merchant doing his share of the business. The bank deposits were never in better condition than they are at the present time. All kinds of farm products bring a good price, and, taking the situation as a whole, we have much for which to be thankful.

Chelsea Enjoying Steady Growth

Chelsea has never been compelled to withstand the throes of a professional boom; it has slowly yet surely and steadily been builded from year to year, and is today a healthy town from every point of view.

It has schools that are the equal of any in towns of its class; its churches include almost every denomination; its homes are substantial and in keeping with a prosperous people; its banks are sound to the core and possessed of ample capital to do double the business required of them; its mercantile establishments represent every line of trade and are prepared to properly cater to the wants of people of all classes.

We will not enter into the historical concerning Chelsea; the present and the future is what most vitally concern us. This paper tells a story of far more interest than a hundred pages of past events. To tell of the Chelsea of today, to boost the Chelsea of the now, is what counts.

This Dollar Day bargain campaign is the product of the combined efforts of our business men and is a sample of what can be done when all stand shoulder to shoulder and push. Every place of note has grown through the organization and efforts of its business men, and Chelsea is proud of their untiring efforts to better the conditions and do everything possible to make a better town and give inducements that will be worthy the patronage of Chelsea and vicinity.

The Business Men's Activity

Commencing with today, let us all become boosters for Chelsea. Let us praise our village at every opportunity and strive with real might and main for a bigger and better Chelsea. Let us not feel as though we were ashamed to say we live in Chelsea, Michigan, a town that is as good as any town on earth. Let us get up and do things. If every business man in Chelsea would put forth some one effort out of the ordinary in his line during the present year he would have created more business for himself, more business for Chelsea in general, more cause for praising and boasting his town. No matter in what line of trade you are, think of something extraordinary to do in the near future, something that will attract attention to you and your business; it will not only pay you, it will also benefit and boost the city. Whatever you do, don't do nuthin'; do something. Become a booster in your own way somehow—it'll pay you.

Fountain Head of True Civilization

The church is well represented in Chelsea, few denominations not being in the list. This is well, for churches are the varied streams flowing from the fountain head of true civilization. On these streams float to us the commerce of the ideal, the intellectual and spiritual world. A great English statesman has said that "to abolish the churches from London means the maintenance of a greater army of police." Out down the churches in the land today and there will grow a forest of jails, prisons and penitentiaries. A churchless community is a Christless community; a Christless community is a Godless one, and a Godless community is pandemonium. We cannot measure the blessings of the church by its direct influence. Its reactionary effect in ten thousand directions has blessed the race. We talk of civilization, but both morality and civilization are blooms rooted in the church. Sunshine needs no stump speech to win for the church the right of way in the world. Facts speak louder than words. The man who opens his history sees all too plainly that this world is not the same it would have been had not Christ come among us. The great river of Christianity has been divided into irrigating streams, the better to accomplish the work of watering the world.

DOLLAR DAYS

HERE is the combined effort Chelsea's business men to give their patrons a banquet of bargains. Never before did you see the commercial interests of this town so united and of one mind to give their patrons a feast they will never forget. Here are lines of merchandise at prices that you could not duplicate if you bought in carload lots. Here is a "pricefest" that simply snows under any trading mart this side of New York, and it is only on special sale days that prices will stand a comparison. All merchants in their line have done their best to make this first DOLLAR DAYS CAMPAIGN a winner and a long remembered event. Come to Chelsea on $ Days and see what a $ will do.

Friday and Saturday,
May 14 and 15

Two Big
Dollar Days

The Biggest Trading Event in the History of Chelsea to Take Place on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

DOLLAR DAYS COMING! A chance to reduce the high cost of living by judicious buying is offered to the public—an opportunity to be effective on two days only—Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15, 1915. If bargains offered by Chelsea merchants on those two days were offered all the year around, the Chelsea merchants would be put out of business. Dollar Days means more than an opportunity to spend the dollars. They mean a chance to save—for the prices offered are so much below the value of the goods offered that purchasing on these two days will mean a big saving.

The fact that one hasn't the dollar in his possession, however, need not discourage anyone. Borrowed dollars will be accepted just as readily as any others. And for what better purpose could money be borrowed than to take advantage of such an opportunity as will be offered? Money borrowed at six per cent and used to buy necessities at a discount of fifty per cent would surely be money well handled.

The dollar is the selling unit, and whenever it is possible the goods to be sold are marked down to that figure. Many articles are on sale, however, which it would be ridiculous to price as low as a single dollar. Every store has thousands of bargains of this kind, and in almost every case each hundred cents expended does double duty.

Dollar Day sales will not be productive of complaints. Merchants have expressed a desire to keep the name of this big event above the reputation earned by many sales. Shoddy goods and last season stuff is not displayed nor is it being offered in any of the dollar bargains. The goods offered are of latest; the values fully what they are claimed to be; the sale is bonafide.

Remember—this isn't a one-store sale—it's a co-operative, trade stimulator, fostered by every store in the town.

All Dollar Day merchants have advertisements in this mammoth bill. This is news worth reading, as Dollar Day advertisements relate to the pocketbook.

Every wise person in Chelsea and vicinity whose wants are not all satisfied should sit right down and read the advertisements in this big bill and make a list of the items they will purchase on the two big Dollar Days, Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15. IT IS NOT TOO EARLY NOW TO DO THIS. AFTER YOU HAVE MADE YOUR SELECTIONS, YOU HAD BETTER BE ON HAND THE FIRST DAY, AS A GREAT MANY OF THE RARE BARGAINS HERE ADVERTISED WILL NOT LAST LONG. All customers or shoppers should visit the stores of Chelsea early Friday, May 14, before the best bargains are selected and sold out.

Now Come the Big Spring Sales

There's a NEW GREENSEASON just breaking through to the light. There's a new TINGLE in the air, a new STIR RING in the blood. The very advertising pages are crying SPRING. All the BLIZZARDS and all the RAINS in the world can't stop it now. The EARTH and everything UPON it is calling for NEW things to wear. Even the OLD HOUSE is calling for a NEW COAT, and everything inside of it is just as eager to be RENEWED. NEW FABRICS are beginning to BLOSSOM OUT in the aisles of many a store—such wonderful fabrics that have been growing silently in all the great looms of the world.

Every Woman and Home is Interested

And now all this GREAT HARVEST OF NEW BEAUTY has been gathered and is waiting for you, in every store in Chelsea. Who wouldn't go to such an EXHIBITION? Who wouldn't be eager for such a RECEPTION? But the ADVERTISING NEWS contained in this big bill tells the story far better than any editorial can tell it. For there is the REAL NEWS, the CONCRETE news of all that has been PREPARED for you. Turn to it NOW. Get the spirit of the NEW SEASON in your blood. Go to the stores in Chelsea and PREPARE for the first warm days of SPRING.

NEWS and GOSSIP of WASHINGTON

Vice-President Now Has a Nice Flag for Himself

WASHINGTON.—Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall has a flag of his own and it is an official banner. This means that every time he visits an American warship and is piped over the side he will enjoy the pleasurable emotion of knowing that the V. P. flag is fluttering from the masthead.

The V. P. flag is a snow-white square of bunting, on a field of which is a blue bird representing the eagle in the coat of arms of the United States. This makes the V. P. flag the reverse of the president's flag, which consists of the coat of arms of the nation on a blue field. This is the first time in the history of the American navy that there has been prescribed for vice-president a distinctive flag to be displayed on naval vessels while he is on board one of them.

It remained for Secretary Daniels to provide Mr. Marshall with a flag. It grew out of the fact that Vice-President Marshall was going to San Francisco to represent President Wilson at the Panama-Pacific exposition. When the president arranged for himself to be represented in this manner, and plans were made for the vice-president to be received on board the armored cruiser Colorado, the flagship of Admiral Howard, it occurred to Secretary Daniels that a more fitting reception in the attendant ceremonies should be accorded him than those previously prescribed. Hence the new flag.

This new flag has now been permanently prescribed for the vice-president in the future and will hereafter be displayed on ships of the navy whenever the vice-president is on board.

The ceremonies attending a visit of the president to a ship of the navy include the manning of the rail by the crew, hoisting his flag, and firing a salute of 21 guns upon his arrival, and hauling down his flag and firing a second salute upon his departure from the ship. The honors given the vice-president were formerly the same as those given the president, except that the rail was not manned by the crew and the salute of 19 guns was given only upon his departure, and the national colors were displayed during the salute.

What National Bird Reserves Do for the Farmer

IT is believed in Washington that the farmers in many parts of the United States have little idea of the extent to which the federal government goes to protect them and their interests from harm. Department of agriculture officials have often cried out against the wanton slaughter of birds, declaring that these birds were necessary to keep down the insect pests and thereby protect the farmers' crops, but they have not stopped at this. Without much ado, they have been selecting the quiet, isolated nooks of the country as bird reserves, as places where the birds could go and under the protection of the authorities rear their young in security and comfort.

At the present time there are 74 such bird reserves scattered throughout the entire country, and especially on the lonely islands that are found along the different coasts. These reserves have been created through reference from the interior department to the president, who signs executive orders declaring the place to be a reserve. Immediately these places come under the general law which makes it unlawful to kill birds, take their eggs or to willfully disturb the birds. A maximum fine of $500 and a sentence in jail for six months are provided for violations of this law.

The bird reserves now existing are being administered under the direction of the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture. During the last year nine new bird reserves were established, scattered between Alaska and Porto Rico; two new ones in Alaska, one of which, in the Aleutian islands, was established not only for the purpose of protecting native birds, but also for the encouragement of propagation of fur-bearing animals, reindeer and food fishes. Other bird reserves established during the year were in Arkansas, Alabama and Mississippi and also the Canal zone.

"Mystery" of Chimney of the British Embassy

ANOTHER "mystery" of international politics was uncovered in Washington recently by an American newspaper man. Fired by memories of the romance and intrigue in "Washington during the Russo-Japanese war and by a knowledge of the "secret service" now going on in connection with the devious route of Mexican politics, but steadied by the dignity of that solemn, imposing, red-brick pile, the British embassy, at the corner of Connecticut avenue and N street northwest, the reporter linked arms with luck and inquired at the embassy:

"What happened when you had your chimney fixed?"

Said chimney is in the chancellery, between that building and the residence next door. The chimney wouldn't draw, and, therefore, there was not enough fire to warm the chilled secretaries and attaches.

Hundreds of Washingtonians who had whispered to one another the story of how a bricklayer was employed to block up an opening in the chimney, and how a set of dictaphone wires was found there, were doomed to read an unravelment of this "mystery" of international politics that is amusing rather than important. Here it is as it came from one of the embassy attaches:

"What happened when we had our chimney fixed? Why, the fire burned all right. What did we find? Why, we found an awful lot of dust and soot. Charley is going to get a scolding for letting that chimney get so dirty."

"A Dictaphone Easily Could Be a Diplomat's Delight."

What Becomes of the Holes in Postage Stamps

ONE who passes by the bureau of printing and engraving in Washington may often see on a concrete platform a number of barrels being roughly "headed up" and loaded into wagons. If he takes a peek into one of the barrels he will see that they are filled with most peculiar looking stuff which he will be at a loss to identify. It is composed of very small particles seemingly of all the colors in the rainbow.

If the passer-by asks one of the workmen what the queer stuff is, he will be told "Just holes," and further inquiry reveals that it is composed of the tiny disks made by the machines through which the sheets of postage stamps are run for perforation. They fall into baskets and being of no use whatever, are barreled up and carted to the city dump.

The bureau of printing and engraving turns out a barrel and a half of these "holes" every week day, which means nine barrels a week and 468 barrels a year. It is needless to say no one ever counted the number of "holes" in a barrel, but as the bureau prints 12,000,000,000 stamps a year and there are 21 perforations for each stamp, or a total of 252,000,000,000 for the year's output, it is evident that each of the 468 barrels contains approximately 536,468 holes.

FAMOUS CASES ON COURT CALENDAR

TERM AT ANN ARBOR TO BE ONE OF UNUSUALLY INTERESTING TRIALS.

TWO BIG SCHOOLS INVOLVED

Slander Suit Against President of Normal and Action For Damages Against U. of M. to Be Tried.

Ann Arbor.—The calendar for this term of circuit court will be a lively one.

On the docket is the $10,000 slander suit against President Charles McKenny, of the Michigan State Normal college, brought by Mildred Everest, a former student. The $30,000 damage suit brought against the regents of the University of Michigan by Miss Mary Bancroft, of Detroit, alleged improper care while at one of the university hospitals when she was a student nurse there, is also on call.

In the criminal docket is the case of Milton Starks, charged with the burglary of the Sigma Nu fraternity house, and of George McCauley, alleged to be the instigator of the burglary.

The suit brought by Earl Klein, mechanic for Robert Burman, of automobile racing fame, against the city of Ypsilanti, for injuries alleged to have been received in that city, was dismissed, Klein not appearing.

DROWN AT HARBOR BEACH

Boat Capsizes and Two Are Rescued While Two Are Lost.

Harbor Beach.—When they tried to change places in their small rowboat while row fishing inside the harbor piers here, Monday afternoon, four men capsized. Two of them, Frank and Stephen Coaster, of Detroit, were saved by the coast guard, and Edward Smith, 26 years old, and Joseph Smith, 16, were drowned.

The coast guard lookout watchman reported that he saw three of the men stand up in the small boat, evidently to pass each other. The boat suddenly turned over.

One of the men sank immediately. The other held to the upturned bottom until the power lifeboat had covered half of the distance to their rescue.

Stephen Coaster held on until rescued, Captain H. D. Ferris, keeper, and the coast guard, with four sets of grappling irons, found the bodies of Smith and Schulte two and one-half hours after the accident.

MANY FIRES DURING APRIL

Report of Marshal Terms Record Epidemic of Incendiarism.

Lansing.—Michigan experienced an "epidemic of incendiarism" during April, according to the monthly report of the state fire marshal made public Monday. Twenty-two fires of mysterious origin were investigated by representatives of the fire marshal's office. Seven persons were arrested on the charge of arson. The number of incendiary fires was the greatest in the history of the state, says the report.

Seven persons lost their lives and 15 were seriously burned during the month, the report states. The careless use of gasoline and kerosene was chiefly responsible for the fatalities, bonfires, burning grass and other causes following in order.

Three towns, Brutus, Collins and Hillman, were practically wiped out. Two hotels and two churches were destroyed.

Plans for Grand Trunk Shops.

Port Huron.—Plans for the new Grand Trunk shops here have been received by Superintendent James Coleman.

The plant of the Port Huron Engine & Thresher company, purchased by popular subscription, will be remodeled. The main building, to be used as a passenger car shop, will be 96 feet wide and 700 feet long. The Thresher company is moving to its new plant at South Port Huron. The industries will eventually employ about 1,000 men.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS

Fire originating from an overheated melting pot in the Daily Commercial office caused $10,000 damage to the plant of Three Rivers' only newspaper Thursday night. The paper was recently purchased by William Schumaker.

The refusal of the supreme court to grant a new trial in the matter of the estate of Leonard Rowland, eccentric Leonard man, guarantees the establishment of a trust fund of $30,000 for the benefit of needy orphaned children of Oakland county.

The trading tug Junior K. was destroyed by fire at midnight while lying at the mouth of the Saginaw river. Carelessness in the handling of gasoline was said to be the cause. One of the crew was burned about the hands. The loss was $1,600, with no insurance.

MICHIGAN NEWS BRIEFS

Flint school children will have, free of charge, the services of all Flint dentists in a dental clinic.

W. P. Bates, of Hillsdale, has perfected and obtained letters of patent on a combination harvester which cuts and threshes grain with one operation.

Walter Anderson and Lawrence Smith, of Leland, young fishermen, lost their lives Friday in Lake Leelanau, near Provost, when their boat upset about a mile from the shore.

The faculty of Hillsdale college has elected Howard Hicks, '15, to the scholarship in the University of Michigan offered to Hillsdale college, Miss Grace Cone, '14, has been chosen alternate.

Burns caused the death of Mrs. Margaret Reddington, 86 years old, of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Reddington was lighting an oil stove when her dress caught fire and before help could be called, she had been fatally burned.

Lester Dehn, 19, Battle Creek pressman, fell under a Michigan Central freight train at Albion Friday and was fatally mangled, dying five hours later in the city hospital. He was the youngest of a family of nine children.

George R. Niendorf, a switchman, was instantly killed at 9 a. m., Monday, by a Pere Marquette tank car, at Saginaw. His foot became caught in the rails at the Wadsworth street crossing, at the easterly city limits, and he was run over.

Charles Rosenbluh and Albert Fisher, confessed "key burglars," attempted a delivery from the county jail at Saginaw Sunday night. It failed and Rosenbluh was sentenced Monday to five years in Marquette. Fisher has not been sentenced.

Two loads of guests were taken from a wedding in a boarding house in the foreign quarters in Battle Creek and hauled to a police station as the first local option law violators. All were released later, except the proprietor of the boarding house.

Among the Hillsdale college seniors who have accepted teaching positions are: J. Roy Struble, high school at Charles City, Iowa; Audley Calkins, principal of the high school at Scottville, Mich.; Miss Marguerite Madery, teacher of Latin and German at Reading.

The initial step in a movement to merge the Bell and the United Home Telephone lines in that part of the state is being taken in Muskegon by representatives of the Michigan State Telephone Co., of Detroit, appraising all of the telephone lines in Muskegon.

Donors of $16,000 for a road between Birmingham and Pontiac have agreed to have only one and one-third miles of the highway built this year. Residents of outlying sections of the county protested that to build the entire road would have deprived them of needed highway improvements.

William E. Hollinrake, who has been deputy warden at the state prison since last December and connected with the prison in other capacities for many years, has resigned on account of ill health, and will leave for California. He will be succeeded by Casper H. Thompson, special officer at the prison.

David Arnold, of Bowne township, was killed by Pere Marquette train near Elmdale. Baskets of eggs he carried were found beside the track, and it is believed he fell in a faint. Two trains passed over him before the body was found. Arnold lived a hermit's life in a little shanty, and was 72 years old.

A bulldog, by killing 120 guinea pigs, destroyed the results of two years' research work by Instructor Carl W. Weller, of the pathology department of the University of Michigan. The dog broke through the wire netting that guarded the window of the animal room. The dog is being held at the police station.

William F. Brownhill, 16 years old, of Grand Haven, charged with highway robbery, was sentenced to Jackson to serve from five to 15 years, with a recommendation of the minimum sentence. Brownhill, with Frank Dawson, are alleged to have held up and beaten John Kemp, bridge tender at Holland.

The board of trustees of Olivet college has elected as president of the board A. W. Shaw, who will begin at once a re-organization of the college. Next year courses of a more practical nature, embracing commerce and industry, are to be introduced. Extensive repairing and rebuilding of the college buildings is to begin at once.

Archie Alger, an employee at the Buick plant at Flint, was drowned while fishing four miles north of town Sunday afternoon. He was with William Schlock, and when their boat capsized both of them seized it by the side and tried to climb on it. It was turned over again. Schlock managed to make his way to shore, but Alger was drowned.

The affairs of the Battle Creek Building & Loan association Friday night were officially placed in the hands of Attorney W. S. Powers. His recent appointment as conservator was approved by Secretary of State Vaughan.

Fully 12,000 men are benefited by the 10 per cent increase in wages granted by the Calumet & Hecla to the employees of its mills and smelters and three of its 11 subsidiary companies. The increase puts the wages back onto the same basis as before the strike of two years ago.

AMERICAN SHIP REPORTED SUNK

STEAMER GULFSLIGHT VICTIM OF SUBMARINES NEAR SCILLY ISLANDS.

CAPTAIN DIES FROM SHOCK

British and French Steamers On Same Day Sent to Bottom By German Under Sea Craft.

London.—Three merchant ships—one American, one French and one British—were destroyed Saturday, with some loss of life, by German submarines operating off the Scilly Islands and the Irish coast, according to reports received here Sunday.

The ships were the American oil tank steamer Gulfslight from Port Arthur, Tex., for Rouen, France; the French steamer Europe, from Burry for St. Nazaire, with a cargo of coal, and the British steamer Fulgent, destination and cargo unknown.

The Gulfslight which left Port Arthur April 10, was torpedoed at noon Saturday off the Scilly Islands, according to a dispatch received by the Central News agency. Her captain died of heart failure as result of shock and were drowned. The other members of the crew were taken off by a patrol boat and landed. The vessel was towed into Crow Sound and beached.

The Gulfslight, a steel vessel of 3,202 tons, was built at Camden, N. J., in 1914, and was owned by the Gulf Refining company. She was 383 feet long, 51 feet beam and 30 feet deep.

The Europe, according to a dispatch from Penzance, Cornwall was attacked Saturday morning near Bishop's rock, off the Scilly Islands. The submarine first signalled the crew of the Europe to leave their ship. When they had done this, the submarine shelled the steamer, which failed to sink.

Lumber Company Wins Point.

Grand Rapids.—A verdict for the plaintiff to the amount of $2,700 was handed down by Judge Sessions in United States district court Saturday morning in the case of the Mitchell Bros. Co., of Cadillac, Mich., vs. Emanuel J. Doyle, United States internal revenue collector.

The case arose over the alleged unfair taxation of lumber under the income tax law of 1909. In making the tax returns for that year, the Mitchell Co. deducted from its income the market value of timber stumpage, claiming that it could not be assessed, as it was part of its capital stock.

Daughter-in-Law Gets Verdict.

Flint.—A verdict for $12,000 was given by a circuit court jury to Mrs. Grace Smith, who has been suing her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Smith, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dehull N. Travis, for $100,000 damages for alienation of the affections of her husband, Henry Smith.

In the trial of the case it was brought out that Mrs. Smith, senior, had struck Mrs. Smith, junior, during a quarrel. For this blow the younger woman sued the older one for assault and battery some time ago and was given a judgment of $5,000.

Appropriations of 1915 Session.

Lansing.—Of the $20,834,457.13 asked in appropriations in the 1915 legislature, there was allowed $16,758,985.15 for the biennial period.

The 1913 legislature allowed in appropriations $14,718,748.89. The increase this year, $2,040,236.26, is about 14 per cent.

Part of the increase is accounted for by the doubling of the mill tax for the Michigan Agricultural college. The amounts for better roads were also greatly increased. A $600,000 deficit in the highway department also had to be made up.

Elks at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids.—Grand Rapids will be host to the Elks of Michigan at the annual state convention early in June. Assurances of large representations have been received from many of the larger cities.

After the parade, June 4, the delegates will be guests of the Grand Rapids lodge at a ball game between the Chicago Cubs and the Grand Rapids Central league club.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRE

During March, 257 persons in Michigan died from tuberculosis, according to the monthly vital statistics report, an increase over the number of deaths in February. Pneumonia was the only disease which caused more deaths during March than tuberculosis, its total number of victims being 554. There were 4,186 deaths from all causes in March, and 6,639 births.

Seventeen prisoners in the Kalamazoo county jail were turned free Saturday morning, because the county was then "dry." The men had been sentenced at various times by Judge Glen Failing to serve until after the county went "dry."

A meteor fell near Maple Ridge, Arenac county, Wednesday night, striking only a few feet from the front door of Charles Seilman's residence, making a hole in the ground 42 inches in circumference. The meteor has not been found although men have dug for it.

CHICAGO'S NEW MAYOR TO RAISE PLAY GROUND FUND

DETROIT Stockyards Quarantined. Hoof and Mouth Disease.

WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON.

Chicago, Ill.—William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, plans to raise a $10,000,000 fund for the establishing of public playgrounds throughout the city, it was announced Monday.

It is expected a large part of this sum will be raised by contributions from public-spirited citizens.

Two hundred thousand dollars already have been pledged.

The city spends about $1,200,000 annually on playgrounds and the mayor expects to use this amount solely for the site, contributions being devoted to improvements and maintenance.

PEACE DAY PROCLAMATION

Governor Sets Aside Tuesday, May Eighteenth, As Occasion for Fostering Good Will.

Lansing.—Governor Ferris issued the following proclamation on Friday:

Peace on earth, good will to men is fundamental and imperative in every civilization that calls itself Christian. War is a confession of weakness, at best a necessary evil. It is not yet a thing of the past because brute instincts that should be regulated and directed are allowed to run riot. War is a destroyer; peace is a builder. There has never been a war in which selfishness was not the direct or indirect cause. If therefore follows that armament does not prevent war; standing armies and great navies do not prevent war. Preparation suggests war. Teach men the arts of peace, train men in the arts of peace, and war will disappear from the face of the earth. Temper, unregulated, is the vice of vices. It takes more courage to meet the requirements of peace than war. Few men are great enough to be always kind, always just, always patient. Most men find it easy to be ugly, hateful and devilish.

This year of all years in the history of the world commands us to be men, to be great in the arts of peace, to know the sacredness of life, to know the destruction of fatherhood and motherhood; the destruction of home; the perpetuation of poverty; hell on earth.

We now spend $290,000,000 a year on "preparation for war." Isn't this the time to spend one per cent of this amount on the preparation for peace?

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, ask that the people of Michigan set apart Tuesday, May eighteenth, as Peace day. Let the Grand Army of the Republic, the Spanish-American War Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sunday Schools, the Churches, the Fraternal organizations and the people generally, hold such exercises as will stir the emotions of love and good will towards all men. Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this thirtieth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, and of the Commonwealth the seventy-ninth.

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS, Governor.

COLEMAN C. VAUGHAN, Secretary of State.

ITEMS OF STATE INTEREST

A coroner's jury in the case of Cecil Cogsdill and his daughter, Harriett, who were killed when a Detroit United States night train struck their automobile returned a verdict that father and child had come to their death by accident.

The legislative investigation of the alleged slush fund a few weeks ago cost the state of Michigan approximately $400. Vouchers are being drawn for the payment of the witnesses and the stenographers' fees.

Charles Stevens, a resident of Fenelon since the early sixties, was killed by a westbound Grand Trunk special freight train Saturday. Stevens had been in Holly, a few days, and was walking home on the tracks when he was struck. He was a laborer, 59 years old and single. Several relatives survive.

SYNOPSIS.

Warrington, an American adventurer, and James, his servant, with a caged parrot, the bird known up and down the Irrawaddy as Parrot & Co., are bound for Rangoon. Elsa Chetwood, rich American girl tourist, sees Warrington and asks the agent to introduce her. He tells her that Warrington has beaten a syndicate and sold his oil claims for $20,000. Warrington puts forth the parrot, through his tricks for Elsa and they pass two golden days together on the river. In Rangoon, Warrington interferes in a row over cards caused by an enemy, Newell Craig. Elsa is annoyed by Craig and stabs him with a dagger. Warrington discovers Elsa on the Singapore steamer. He avoids her. Craig is aboard and is warned by Warrington who comes to avoid Elsa. Craig stirs up evil gossip. Elsa tells Warrington of the happenings and he hunts up Craig, on murder bent. He finds him stretched out drunk on deck and turns the hose on him. At Penang Mallow, who drove Warrington from his plantation when he learned his story, comes aboard. Warrington tells Elsa that Mallow and Craig both will tell that he spent money that did not belong to him over the gambling table to Craig. Elsa asks her not to speak to him again. Mallow tells Warrington, who keeps his temper. At Singapore Elsa calls on her father's old friend the American consul general. Mallow calls and relates the steamship gossip about Elsa. Warrington also calls and sends a cable to the Andes Construction company, offering to restore the stolen money if they will lift the ban.

"And a man may break any one of these laws. I consider it horribly unfair."

"So it is. But if you wish to live in peace, you must submit."

"Peace at that price I have no wish for. This man Mallow lives within the pale of law; the other man is outside of it. Yet, of the two, which would you be quickest to trust?"

The consul general laughed. "Now you are appealing not to my knowledge of the world but to my instinct."

"Thanks."

"Is there any reason why you should defend Mr. Warrington, as he calls himself?"

The consul general's wife desperately tried to catch her husband's eye. But either he did not see the glance or he purposely ignored it.

"In defending Mr. Warrington I am defending myself. My dear friend," Elsa went on, letting warmth come into her voice once more, "my sympathy went out to that man. He looked so lonely. Did you notice his eyes? Can a man look at you the way he does and be bad?"

"I have seen Mallow dozens of times. I know him to be a scoundrel of sorts; but I doubt if bald sunlight could make him blink. Liars have first to overcome the flickering and wavering of the eyes."

"He said almost the same thing. Would he say that if he were a liar?"

"I haven't accused him of being that. Indeed, he struck me as a truthful young man. By the way, what is the name of the firm your father founded?"

"The Andes Construction company. Do you think we could find him something to do there?" eagerly. "He builds bridges."

"I shouldn't advise that. But we have gone astray. You ought not to see him again."

"It is a hateful world!" Elsa appealed to the wife.

"It is, Elsa, dear. But James is right."

"You'll get your balance," said the guardian, "when you reach home. When's the wedding?"

"I'm not sure that I'm going to be married," Elsa twirled the sunshade.

"I'm Not Sure That I'm Going to Be Married."

again. "Oh, bother with it all! Dinner at eight, in the big dining room."

"Yes. But the introductions will be made on the cafe veranda. These people out here have gone mad over cocktails. Ask look your best, Elsa. I want them to see a real American girl tonight. I'll have some roses sent up to you."

Elsa had not the heart to tell him that all interest in his dinner had suddenly gone from her mind; that when the confusion of the colonel no longer appealed to her bitter malice, she knew that she was going to be bored and miserable.

When she was gone, the consul general's wife said: "Poor girl!"

Her husband looked across the room interestedly. "Why do you say that?"

"I am a woman."

"That phrase is the City of Refuge. All women fly to it when confronted by something they do not understand."

"Oh, but I do understand. And that's the pity of it."

CHAPTER XIV.

According to the Rules.

Elsa sought the hotel rickshaw stand, selected a sturdy coolie, and asked to be run to the botanical gardens and back. She wanted to be alone, wanted breathing space, wanted the breeze to cool her hot cheeks. For she was angry at the world, angry at the gentle consul general, above all, angry at herself. To have laid herself open to the charge of indiscretion! To have received a lecture, however kindly intended, from the man she loved and respected next to her father! To know that persons were exchanging nods and whispers behind her back!

It was a detestable world. It was folly to be honest, to be kind, to be individual, to have likes and dislikes, unless these might be regulated by outsiders. Why should she care what people said? She did not care. What made her furious was the absolute stupidity of their deductions. She had not been indiscreet; she had been merely kindly and human; and if they wanted to twist and misconstrue her actions, let them do so.

Once or twice she saw inwardly the will-o'-the-wisp lights of her soul. But resolutely she smothered the sparks. The coolie stopped suddenly.

"Go on," she said.

But the coolie smiled and wiped his shaven poll. Elsa gazed at the hotel veranda in bewilderment. Slowly she got out of the rickshaw and paid the fare. She had not the slightest recollection of having seen the gardens. More than this, it was a quarter to seven. She had been gone exactly an hour.

"Perhaps, after all," she thought, "I am hopeless. They may be right; I ought to have a guardian. I am not always accountable for what I do."

She dressed leisurely and with calculation. She was determined to convince everyone that she was a beautiful woman, above suspicion, above reproach. The spirit within her was not, however, in direct accord with this determination. Malice stirred into life again; and she wanted to hurt someone, hurt deeply. It was only the time in spirit who, when injured, submitted without murmur or protest. And Elsa, only dimly aware of it, was mortally hurt.

"Elsa," said Martha, "that frown will stay there some day, and never go away."

Elsa rubbed it out with her finger. "Martha, do you recall that tiger in the cage at Jalpur? How they teased him until he lost his temper and came smashing against the bars? Well, I sympathize with that brute. He would have been peaceful enough had they let him be. If Mr. Warrington calls to-morrow, say that I am indisposed."

Martha evinced her satisfaction visibly. The frown returned between Elsa's eyes and remained there until she went downstairs to join the consul general and his wife. She found some very agreeable men and women, and some of her natural gaiety returned. At a far table on the veranda she saw Craig and Mallow in earnest conversation.

She nodded pleasantly to the colonel as the head boy came to announce that dinner was served. Anglo-Indian society had so many twists and ramifications that the situation was not exactly new to the old soldier. True, none had confronted him identical to this. But he had not disciplined men all these years without acquiring abundant self-control. The little veins in his nose turned purple, as Elsa prophesied they would, but there was no other indication of how distasteful the moment was to him. He would surely warn the consul general, who doubtless was innocent enough.

They sat down. The colonel blinked. "Fine passage we had coming down."

"Was it?" returned Elsa innocently.

The colonel reached for an olive and bit into it savagely. He was no fool. She had him at the end of a blind alley, and there he must wait until she was ready to let him go. She could harry him or pretend to ignore him, as suited her fancy. He was caught. Women, all women, possessed at least one attribute of the cat. It was digging in the claw, hanging by it, and boredly looking about the world to see what was going on. At that moment the colonel recognized the sting of the claw.

Elsa turned to her right and engaged the French consul discursively; indeed, she gradually became the center of interest; she drew them into conversation. She brought a touch of home to the Frenchman, to the German, to the Italian, to the Spaniard; and the British official, in whose hands the civil business of the Straits settlement rested, was charmed to learn that Elsa had spent various week-ends at the home of his sister in Surrey.

And when she admitted that she was the daughter of General Chetwood, the man to whom the Indian government had cause to be grateful, upon more than one occasion, for the solidity of his structures, the colonel realized definitely the seriousness of his crucifixion. He sat stiffer and stiffer in his chair, and the veins in his nose grew deeper and deeper in hue. He saw clearly that he would never understand American women. He had committed an outrageous blunder. He, instead of dominating, had been dominated by three faultfinding old women; and, without being aware of the fact, had looked at things from their point of view. A most inconceivable blunder. He would not allow that he was being swayed less by the admission of his unpardonable rudeness on board than by the immediate knowledge that Elsa was known to the British official's sister, a titled lady who stood exceedingly high at court.

"Miss Chetwood," he said, lowering his voice for her ears only.

Elsa turned, but with the expression that signified that her attention was engaged elsewhere.

"Yes?"

"I am an old man. I am sixty-two; and most of these sixty-two I have lived roughly; but I am not too old to realize that I have made a fool of myself."

Interest began to fill Elsa's eyes.

"It has been said," he went on, keeping the key, "that I am a man of courage, but I find that I need a good deal of that just now. I have been rude to you, and without warrant, and I offer you my humble apologies." He fumbled with his cravat as if it had suddenly tightened. "Will you accept?"

"Instantly," Elsa understood the quality of courage that had stirred the colonel. But ruthlessly: "I should, peace and the peace of others."

Elsa forgot those about her, forgot her intended humiliation of the man at her side. He denied that he was an individual, but he was one, as interesting a one as she had met in a very long time. She, too, had made a blunder. Quick to form opinions, swift to judge, she stood guilty with the common lot, who permit impressions instead of evidence to sway them. Here was a man.

"We have gone far afield," she said, a tacit admission that she could not refute his dissertations. This knowledge, however, was not irksome.

"Rather have we not come to the bars? Shall we let them down?" in the civil and military life on this side of the world there are many situations which we perform must tolerate. But these, mind you, are settled conditions. It is upon new ones which arise that we pass judgment. I knew nothing about you, nothing whatever. So I judged you according to the rules."

Elsa leaned upon her elbows, and she smiled a little as she noted that the purple had gone from his nose and that it had resumed its accustomed rubicundity.

"I go on. A woman who travels alone, who does not present letters of introduction, who . . ."

"Who attends strictly to her own affairs. Go on."

Imperturbably he continued: "Who seeks the acquaintance of men who do not belong, as you Americans say."

"Not men; one man," she corrected.

"A trifling difference. Well, it arouses a disagreeable word, suspicion. For look, there have been examples. It isn't as if you were an isolated case. There have been examples, and these we apply to such affairs as come under our notice."

"And it doesn't matter that you may be totally wrong?"

His prompt answer astonished her.

"No, it does not matter in the least. Simmered down, it may be explained in a word, appearances. And I must say, to the normal mind . . ."

"The mediocre mind."

"To the normal and mediocre mind, appearances were against you. Observe, please, that I did not know I was wrong, that you were a remarkable young woman. My deductions were made from what I saw as an outsider. On the Irrawaddy you made the acquaintance of a man who came out here a fugitive from justice. After you made his acquaintance, you sought none other, in fact, repelled any advances. This alone decided me."

"Then you were decided?" To say that this blunt exposition was not bitter to her taste, that it did not act like acid upon her pride, would not be true. She was hurt, but she did not let the hurt begot her sense of justice. From his point of view the colonel was in no fault. "Let me tell you how very wrong you were indeed."

"Doubtless," he hastily interposed, "you enveloped the man in a cloud of romance."

"On the contrary, I spoke to him and sought his companionship because he was nothing more nor less than a ghost."

"Ah! Is it possible that you knew him in former times?"

"No. But he was so like the man at home; so identical in features and build to the man I expected to go home to marry. . . ."

"My dear young lady, you are right. Mediocrity is without imagination, stupid, and makes the world a dull place indeed. What woman in your place would have acted otherwise? Instead of one apology I offer a thousand."

"I accept each and all of them. More, I believe that you and I could get on capitally. I can very well imagine the soldier you used to be. I am going to ask you what you know about Mr. Warrington."

"This, that he is not a fit companion for a young woman like yourself; that a detracting rumor follows hard upon his heels wherever he goes. I learned something about him in Rangoon. He is known to the riff-raff as Parrot & Co., and I don't know what else. All of us on shipboard learned his previous history. And not from respectable quarters, either."

"If I had been elderly and without physical attractions?" Elsa inquired sarcastically.

"We are dealing with human nature, mediocrity, and not with speculation. It is in the very nature of things to distrust that which we do not understand. You say, old and without physical attractions. Beauty is of all things most drawing. We crowd about it, we crown it, we flatter it. The old and unattractive we pass by. If I had not seen you here tonight, heard you talk, saw in a kind of rebellious enchantment over your knowledge of the world and your distinguished acquaintance, I should have gone to my grave believing that my suspicions were correct. I dare say that I shall make the same mistake again."

"Did you learn among other things what Mr. Warrington had done?"

"Yes. A sordid affair. Ordinary speculations that were wasted over gaming tables."

Warrington had told her the truth. At least, the story told by others coincided with his own. But what was it that kept doubt in her mind? Why should she not be ready to believe what others believed, what the man himself had confessed? What was it to her that he looked like Arthur, that he was guilty or innocent?

"And his name?" She wondered if the colonel knew that also.

"Warrington is assumed. His real name is Paul Ellison."

"Paul Ellison?" She repeated slowly. Her voice did not seem her own. The table, the lights, the faces, all receded and became a blur.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

She Nodded Pleasantly to the Colonel.

however, like your point of view in regard to what you consider my conduct."

"Is it necessary?"

"I believe it would be better for my understanding if you made a full confession." She did not mean to be relentless, but her curiosity was too strong not to press her advantage.

"Well, then, over here as elsewhere in the world there are standards by which we judge persons who come under our notice."

"Agreed. Individuality is not generally understandable."

"By the mediocre, you might have added. That's the difficulty with individuality; it refuses to be harnessed by mediocrity and mediocrity holds the whip-hand, always. I represent the mediocre."

"Oh, never!" said Elsa animatedly. "Mediocrity is always without courage."

"You are wrong. It has the courage of its convictions."

"Rather is it not stubbornness, willful refusal to recognize things as they are?"

He countered the question with another. "Supposing we were all individuals, in the sense you mean? Supposing each of us did exactly as he pleased? Can you honestly imagine a more confusing place than this world would be? The Manchurian pony is a wild little beast, an individual if ever there was one; but man tames him and puts to use his energies. And so it is with human individuality. We of the mediocre tame and harness and make it useful to the general welfare of humanity. And when we encounter the untamable, in order to safeguard ourselves, we must turn it back into the wilderness, an outlaw. Indeed, I might call individuality an element, like fire and water and air."

"But who conquer fire and water and air?" Elsa demanded, believing she had him pocketed.

"Mediocrity, through the individual of this or that being. Humanity in the bulk is mediocre. And odd as it seems, individuality (which is another word for genius) believes it leads mediocrity. But it cannot be made to understand that mediocrity ordains the leadership."

"Then you contend that in the hands of the stupid lies the balance of power?"

"Let us not say stupid, rather the unimaginative, the practical and the plodding. The stubborn person in the world is one with an idea."

"Do you honestly insist that you are mediocre?"

"No," thoughtfully. "I am one of those stubborn men with ideas. I merely insist that I prefer to accept the tenets of mediocrity for my own

USUAL METHOD OF PROPAGATING CHERRY

A Cherry Orchard in Bloom.

The common method of propagating the cherry is by budding one-year-old seedlings. The two commercial stocks most commonly used are the Mahaleb and Mazzard. The first is a native of southern Europe and the latter a strong variety of the sweet cherry of eastern Europe and western Asia. It is not sufficiently hardy for severely cold seasons.

On account of the severity of the winters in the Northwest, however, these two stocks cannot endure in that climate and in fact there is no really satisfactory stock now being used. But the cherry may be top grafted, same as the apple or the plum, but the work must be done early in the spring before the sap begins to flow and while the scions are dormant.

An orchard site must be well drained, and the soil should be light. Elevated sites should be chosen which are less liable to frost than a valley or low land. It is also wise to plant near bodies of water or large streams, as they afford the same protection as elevation.

In rich, black soils cherries tend to overproduction of wood and produce but few buds. The uplands along streams are still well adapted to cherry culture.

Sod lands should be cultivated two or three seasons before planting and it should finally be as well prepared as for a crop of potatoes.

The trees should be planted at least 20 feet if set square, or 15 feet apart in rows with the rows 25 feet apart. On very rich soil these distances should be increased somewhat.

Cultivate for the first five years by growing potatoes, beans, beets, carrots and squashes. Oats, wheat or field corn should never be grown in the cherry orchard under any consideration. After the first five years if the soil of the orchard is rich and the trees are growing too fast, seed to clover, orchard or timothy grass and maintain the sod for three or four years. Never permit a heavy bluegrass sod in the orchard, but always mulch the trees heavily.

If the soil is of medium fertility and not subject to washing, keep the orchard cultivated but grow no vegetable crops after the fifth year. Plow shallow or disk in the spring, keep the soil well stirred until the middle of summer and then seed to a cover crop, using cowpeas, vetches and soy beans and crimson clover.

For land that is rich enough and does not need any additional nitrogen, sow oats or rape.

In shaping the young tree for planting, the work should be done to get low-headed trees. Trunks of low-headed trees are seldom affected with sun scald and the fruit can be gathered by standing on the ground.

Cherry trees are quite free from insects, the most serious being the plum curculio, which is the cause of the so-called wormy fruit, but this seldom becomes so troublesome on the sour cherries that it requires treatment.

Spraying with lead arsenate or paris green just after the blossoms fall will be beneficial.

Leaf spot, a fungous disease, causes great injury to cherries. The English Morello and varieties of that type are most subject to its attacks. In some sections the trees are entirely destroyed by it, it attacks the leaves, causing a small brown spot about an eighth of an inch in diameter, and later the leaves turn yellow and drop from the tree.

The only satisfactory remedy is to spray with bordeaux mixture or copper carbonate. Spraying must be done early before the trees have blossomed. If sprayed while the cherries are beginning to color, the bordeaux will stain the fruit, but copper carbonate will not.

To prevent ravages by birds, the planting of June berries and Russian mulberries along the outside of the orchard, proves of great value, as the birds will eat these in preference to the cherries. In Europe the trees are covered with nets, and these can be used in this country with success where the orchard is small, as the expense of nets is great.

The sour varieties are almost universally grown throughout the Northwest, as they are hardier, more productive and less liable to injury from insects and fungous diseases. The principal sour cherries are divided into four groups: the Montmorency, Morello, Braune and Vladimir.

These groups embrace many varieties. The Montmorency group is characterized by the fruit being light red, with light flesh and colorless juice. The trees are inclined to be spreading. The Montmorency variety is the type of the group.

The Morello group bears a dark-colored fruit and has dark flesh and juice and ripens late. The trees are small and variable in form. These trees are also subject to fungous diseases.

The Brunseller Braune group consists of Russian varieties with dark red fruit and colored flesh and juice. The trees are large, upright, compact and vigorous.

The Vladimir also consists of Russian varieties. The trees are very compact with slender, drooping branches, giving the tree a weeping appearance. The fruit is dark colored, flesh firm and colored, and the juice is very highly colored.

TWELVE GOOD SILO REASONS

One Great Obstacle, the Cost, May Be Partly Overcome by Constructing Pit Affair.

Shall I build a silo?

This question is being asked by the more enterprising farmers and ranchmen all over the West.

The cost of the silo is the greatest obstacle, but if this stands seriously in the way a pit may be dug and finished at a cost not exceeding fifty to one hundred dollars for material. Pit silos are very satisfactory and are certainly to be desired rather than to have no silo at all.

Twelve good reasons why the farmer should provide himself with a silo are given by T. B. Woodward of the dairy division, United States department of agriculture, in Farmers' Bulletin No. 556. Every one of them touches some spot of vital importance to the feeder.

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.
3. Corn silage is a more efficient feed than corn fodder.
4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.
5. Crop can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized for making hay or curing fodder.
6. More stock can be kept on a

A Battery of Silos on a Pennsylvania Dairy Farm.

given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.

7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
8. Silage is very palatable.
9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.
11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.
12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

Almost anything in the way of forage crops may be put into the silo and will keep until it is needed.

DAIRY NOTES

Abuse generally educates the cow to kick.

Peanuts make a splendid crop on the dairy or hog farm.

A good dairy cow is the most profitable piece of property on the farm.

Keep the cows clean and you will not have so much trouble with stringy milk.

The income of the dairy is the most constant and systematic income of the entire farm.

For dairy cows the temperature of the barn should not fall below 40 degrees or rise above 60 degrees.

The good milker is the cow that turns the most feed into the largest flow of good, rich, healthful milk.

The young calf's digestion is very easily upset. Be careful that it is rightly fed and kept in clean quarters.

Leave all other work to a trouble, a cow that appears to be in trouble, whether it is your cow or your neighbor's.

Carelessness is one of the most common causes of failure on the dairy farm. Look to your work and to the details every day.

Miss Erma Duffin, Aged Twelve Years, and Her Exhibit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The little young lady shown in the photograph is one of the Canning club prize winners at the state fair in Salt Lake City. Her name is Miss Erma Duffin, and she won third place with her exhibit. She canned all manner of vegetables, fruits, meat relishes, catchups and pickles, although she had never put up a quart of fruit before this year.

No exhibit of adults came anywhere near being in competition with the work of the children," writes a state leader in Utah to the United States department of agriculture.

ABOUT PUMP REPAIRING

When placing a new leather on a

RED JACKET SO-EASY-TO-FIX

The valves are easily removed through the base of the pump as the illustrations show. The cost is little more than the price of the repair. You can do it. The only tool needed is a monkey wrench.

Compare this with the time, trouble and expense of removing ordinary pumps from the well, to make the same repair. You see it's not the cost of the leather but the cost of putting it on.

This and other economical features of 'So Easy-To-Fix' pumps will be explained at your request.

A FEW STRAY EPIGRAMS.

BY S. M. S. P.

We meet now and then one whose place in the world has never been questioned.

We occasionally meet a class of people that seemingly would enjoy the environment of a Sodom and Gomorrah. We do remember of reading of one woman who did look back upon them.

An intense interest in our fellow creatures outlives any amount of snubbing.

If we are happy we must hold the lamp of our happiness so that it will fall on some shadowed heart.

Some women declare unhesitatingly that one man friend is worth a dozen women friends. A man is never spiteful or treacherous. Other women with equal force remind one of the proverbial fickleness of men and how a new face and a brighter manner often drive completely away old time honored friendship. Probably like all assertions, either way the truth lies between the two assertions.

As I look out my window this morning I see rugs flying and brushheaps burning and conclude that it's "cleaning up time." The men of the household are delighted of course, and make arrangements to have a great deal of business away from home about this time.

The merit of authors is sometimes measured by the amount of criticism that anything they write receives, and many have been assailed by such a storm of that superabundant product that it secures place on the ladder of fame. The very fact that they have received the marked disapproval of a class of success-hating people is merely an assurance that they have stepped on sore spots on some one's feet.

If only men would give to the living some of that which they bestow so lavishly upon them when they are dead, what a different world this would be. Even a little of that which is sculptured on the cold marble, would, if breathed from the warm lips, have made many a husband and wife would give all they have if they could only send to their dead ones an expression of love, which might so easily have been made in life. And how many sons and daughters would send messages unsaying things which should never have been said, and saying many things which were, alas, never left unsaid. Oh, let us give a few more posies while our friends are yet alive! Express our love more and more freely and scatter more kind words as we go along.

No Use to Try and Wear Out Your Cold It Will Wear You Out Instead.

Make Your Dollar Do Duty of Two Dollars or More at These--Chelsea's First--Dollar Days

Cemented
ChelseaThe Business Men Are Largely Responsible for Betterment of Business Conditions of
Customer and Merchant

THE BAROMETER of a town is its business center—all rooms occupied and every merchant doing his share of the business. The bank deposits were never in better condition than they are at the present time. All kinds of farm products bring a good price, and, taking the situation as a whole, we have much for which to be thankful.

Chelsea Enjoying Steady Growth

Chelsea has never been compelled to withstand the throes of a professional boom; it has slowly yet surely and steadily been built from year to year, and is today a healthy town from every point of view.

It has schools that are the equal of any in towns of its class; its churches include almost every denomination; its homes are substantial and in keeping with a prosperous people; its banks are sound to the core and possessed of ample capital to do double the business required of them; its mercantile establishments represent every line of trade and are prepared to properly cater to the wants of people of all classes.

We will not enter into the historical concerning Chelsea; the present and the future is what most vitally concern us. This paper tells a story of far more interest than a hundred pages of past events. To tell of the Chelsea of today, to boost the Chelsea of the now, is what counts.

This Dollar Day bargain campaign is the product of the combined efforts of our business men and is a sample of what can be done when all stand shoulder to shoulder and push. Every place of note has grown through the organization and efforts of its business men, and Chelsea is proud of their untiring efforts to better the conditions and do everything possible to make a better town and give inducements that will be worthy the patronage of Chelsea and vicinity.

The Business Men's Activity

Commencing with today, let us all become boosters for Chelsea. Let us praise our village at every opportunity and strive with real might and main for a bigger and better Chelsea. Let us not feel as though we were ashamed to say we live in Chelsea, Michigan, a town that is as good as any town on earth. Let us get up and do things. If every business man in Chelsea would put forth some one effort out of the ordinary in his line during the present year he would have created more business for himself, more business for Chelsea in general, more cause for praising and boosting his town. No matter in what line of trade you are, think of something extraordinary to do in the near future, something that will attract attention to you and your business; it will not only pay you, it will also benefit and boost the city. Whatever you do, don't do nuthin'; do something. Become a booster in your own way somehow—it'll pay you.

Fountain Head of True Civilization

The church is well represented in Chelsea, few denominations not being in the list. This is well, for churches are the varied streams flowing from the fountain head of true civilization. On these streams float to us the commerce of the ideal, the intellectual and spiritual world. A great English statesman has said that "to abolish the churches from London means the maintenance of a greater army of police." Cut down the churches in the land today and there will grow a forest of jails, prisons and penitentiaries. A churchless community is a Christless community; a Christless community is a Godless one, and a Godless community is pandemonium. We cannot measure the blessings of the church by its direct influence. Its reactionary effect in ten thousand directions has blessed the race. We talk of civilization, but both morality and civilization are blooms rooted in the church. Sunshine needs no stump speech to win for the church the right of the world. Facts speak louder than words. The man who opens his history sees all too plainly that this world is not the same it would have been had not Christ come among us. The great river of Christianity has been divided into irrigating streams, the better to accomplish the work of watering the world.

DOLLAR DAYS

HERE is the combined effort Chelsea's business men to give their patrons a banquet of bargains. Never before did you see the commercial interests of this town so united and of one mind to give their patrons a feast they will never forget. Here are lines of merchandise at prices that you could not duplicate if you bought in carload lots. Here is a "pricefest" that simply snows under any trading mart this side of New York, and it is only on special sale days that prices will stand a comparison. All merchants in their line have done their best to make this first DOLLAR DAYS CAMPAIGN a winner and a long remembered event. Come to Chelsea on $ Days and see what a $ will do.

Friday and Saturday,
May 14 and 15Two Big
Dollar Days

The Biggest Trading Event in the History of Chelsea to Take Place on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

DOLLAR DAYS COMING! A chance to reduce the high cost of living by judicious buying is offered to the public—an opportunity to be effective on two days only—Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15, 1915. If bargains offered by Chelsea merchants on those two days were offered all the year around, the Chelsea merchants would be put out of business. Dollar Days means more than an opportunity to spend the dollars. They mean a chance to save—for the prices offered are so much below the value of the goods offered that purchasing on these two days will mean a big saving.

The fact that one hasn't the dollar in his possession, how ever, need not discourage anyone. Borrowed dollars will be accepted just as readily as any others. And for what better purpose could money be borrowed than to take advantage of such an opportunity as will be offered? Money borrowed at six per cent and used to buy necessities at a discount of fifty per cent would surely be money well handled.

The dollar is the selling unit, and whenever it is possible the goods to be sold are marked down to that figure. Many articles are on sale, however, which it would be ridiculous to price as low as a single dollar. Every store has thousands of bargains of this kind, and in almost every case each hundred cents expended does double duty.

Dollar Day sales will not be productive of complaints. Merchants have expressed a desire to keep the name of this big event above the reputation earned by many sales. Shoddy goods and last season stuff is not displayed nor is it being offered in any of the dollar bargains. The goods offered are of latest; the values fully what they are claimed to be; the sale is bonafide.

Remember—this isn't a one-store sale—it is a co-operative, trade stimulator, fostered by every store in the town.

All Dollar Day merchants have advertisements in this mammoth bill. This is news worth reading, as Dollar Day advertisements relate to the pocketbook.

Every wise person in Chelsea and vicinity whose wants are not all satisfied should sit right down and read the advertisements in this big bill and make a list of the items they will purchase on the two big Dollar Days, Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15. IT IS NOT TOO EARLY NOW TO DO THIS. AND AFTER YOU HAVE MADE YOUR SELECTIONS, YOU HAD BETTER BE ON HAND THE FIRST DAY, AS A GREAT MANY OF THE RARE BARGAINS HERE ADVERTISED WILL NOT LAST LONG. All customers or shoppers should visit the stores of Chelsea early Friday, May 14, before the best bargains are selected and sold out.

Now Come the Big Spring Sales

There's a NEW GREENSEASON just breaking through to the light. There's a new TINGLE in the air, a new STIR RING in the blood. The very advertising pages are crying SPRING. All the BLIZZARDS and all the RAINS in the world can't stop it now. The EARTH and everything UPON it is calling for NEW things to wear. Even the OLD HOUSE is calling for a NEW COAT, and everything inside of it is just as eager to be RENEWED. New FABRICS are beginning to BLOSSOM OUT in the aisles of many a store—such wonderful fabrics that have been growing silently in all the great looms of the world.

Every Women and Home is Interested

And now all this GREAT HARVEST OF NEW BEAUTY has been gathered and is waiting for you in every store in Chelsea. Who wouldn't go to such an EXHIBITION? Who wouldn't be eager for such a RECEPTION? But the ADVERTISING NEWS contained in this big bill tells the story far better than any editorial can tell it. For there is the REAL NEWS, the CONCRETE news of all that has been PREPARED for you. Turn to it NOW. Get the spirit of the NEW SEASON in your blood. Go to the stores in Chelsea and PREPARE for the first warm days of SPRING.

LAWS PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE

SUMMARY OF NEW LAWS PASSED ON BY GOVERNOR UP TO FIRST OF WEEK.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT MAY 20

Lawmakers End Labors After Enacting Three Hundred and Thirty-three Measures—Many of Small Importance.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing—May 3.—Although the epiphany of the 1915 legislature will not be penned until the gavel falls on the day of final adjournment, May 20, the monument, in the form of 333 laws, has already been erected.

Governor Ferris is the master craftsman who is putting the finishing touches on the legislative masonry bulid since the lawmakers assembled in the state house early in January. The chief executive has already signed 124 bills passed during the four months that the legislature was in session and he must complete his task before the final adjournment is taken.

Governor Ferris is not relying entirely upon his own judgment in this matter. Any bills involving points of law or constitutional questions are sent to the attorney general's department and they are returned with a letter from the state's legal advisor setting forth any changes or amendments with suggestions as to their approval. In a similar manner bills pertaining to insurance laws are referred to the insurance commissioner. The dairy and food commission is given an opportunity to review any bills making changes in the food laws and so on down the line.

Several bills passed the senate to give the employees more money, but the house assumed the attitude that strict economy was necessary and the clerks who are desirous of additional compensation will have to wait at least two years more.

The full crew bill, the car limit bill and other measures introduced at the request of the lobby representing the railway employees were killed. However, the railroad representatives fared little better than their workmen. The house frowned upon the attempt to boost passenger rates and have driven the transportation companies into the courts where an attempt will be made to establish a straight three cent fare.

The farmers and the labor unions can glean but little comfort from the deliberations of the 1915 legislature. Most of the pet measures fostered by the grange, including the Torrens system of land transfers and a bill providing for a guarantee of bank deposits, went down to defeat.

The "blue sky" law, the "loan shark" bill, the teachers' pension bill and the judiciary act constitute the really important measures passed this session. Numerous bills making technical amendments to the present statutes were passed. Following is the list of bills already signed by Governor Ferris:

HOUSE BILLS

By Representative Croll—A bill authorizing common councils in cities of the fourth class to establish by ordinance central registration places.

By Representative Hoffman—A bill making a technical amendment to the State highway law.

By Representative Deprate—A bill requiring railroad construction companies to provide sanitary quarters for laborers. Under the provisions of this law laborers employed in railroad construction work will not be compelled to eat and sleep in the crowded quarters where they bathe and change their clothes.

By Representative Empson—A bill providing that any person may purchase state tax lands at any time except during the annual tax sale at the county treasurer's office and for fifteen days prior thereto by paying to the auditor general the amount for which the same was bid off to the state, with interest on the same at the rate of one per cent per month or fraction thereof from the first day of the month in which such lands were bid off to the state, together with the other taxes which have been returned to the auditor general and remain a lien on such lands at the time the purchase was made.

By Representative Empson—A bill requiring the auditor general making his statement of the taxes to be raised for state purposes to make a separate statement showing the amount of unpaid state tax due from each county in the state.

By Representative Empson—A bill requiring the various state officers to file their bonds in the office of the auditor general and requiring the auditor general and secretary of state to make provision for the safe keeping of these bonds.

By Representative Symonds—A bill requiring teachers in rural schools to have at least six weeks training in the state or county normal before being eligible to a teacher's certificate.

By Representative Foote—A bill providing that graded school districts having a course of at least ten grades with one teacher, devoting his entire time to the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades, shall not be obliged to pay tuition of its pupils to a twelfth grade school until such pupils have finished ten grades of work in their own district.

By Representative Moore—A bill providing that where renovated butter is used or sold, a sign shall be conspicuously displayed to inform the fact that the butter thus used or sold is renovated butter.

By Representative Croll—A joint resolution providing for the submission of an amendment to the constitution authorizing drainage districts to issue bonds for drainage purposes.

By Representative Palmer—A bill to repeal an act passed by the legislature of 1869 relative to the election of United States senators.

By Representative Moore—A bill providing that county agricultural agents or farm commissioners shall assume the duties of live stock sanitary agents in the suppression of hog cholera.

By Representative Wright—A bill to repeal a local fish act applying to lakes in Calhoun, Lenawee and Washtenaw counties.

By Representative Warner—A bill making an amendment to the state banking law so that state banks can become member banks under the federal reserve act.

By Representative Olmsted—An amendment to the highway law providing that ten per cent of the freeholders of a good roads district must petition the supervisors of a county before the supervisors can submit a proposition to issue bonds or raise money for addition roads.

By Representative R. L. Ford—A bill to abolish a rural high school in Genesee county.

By Representative Person—A bill making a deficiency appropriation of $28,146.25 for the Michigan Agricultural College. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Peterman—A bill authorizing townships containing ten or more election precincts to raise by vote of the taxpayers the sum of $5,000 for contingent or ordinary expenses of the township.

By Representative Biggerstaff—A bill appropriating $159,298.80 for Jackson prison for the purchase of farm lands and repairs to the buildings. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Nelson—A bill requiring banks acting as depositories for school funds to give proper bonds, and providing that the school treasurer shall not be liable in case the bank fails.

By Representative Wolcott—A bill making it unlawful for the owners of fowls or animals to permit their stock to run at large in cemeteries.

By Representative Amon—A bill providing that sections of hospitals or asylums leased for commercial purposes shall be taxed, and that the portion of the building or property occupied for the purpose for which the asylum or hospital was incorporated, shall be exempt from taxation.

By Representative Place—A bill authorizing the managers of the Michigan Soldiers' Home to accept veterans not dependent upon charity, when the applicants for admission pay in advance for their support, such sums as the board of managers may designate.

By Representative Koehler—A bill to provide for the incorporation of cremation companions and associations.

By Representative Penny—A bill providing for the payment of a bounty of five cents on rats.

By Representative Rice—A bill to regulate rate making companies and to prevent discrimination in the sale of insurance.

By Representative Biggerstaff—A bill authorizing the board of control of the Michigan State Prison to sell certain lands in Jackson county and to use the money for the purchase of prison farms.

By Representative Haviland—A bill making an appropriation of $3,000 to repair the Fort Gratiot turnpike in St. Clair county. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Place—A bill requiring city or village councils or township boards, upon petition of five taxpayers to purchase a suitable metal marker for the grave of any soldier, sailor or marine who served in the army or navy of the United States. This bill was ordered to take immediate effect.

By Representative James D. Jerome—A bill to provide for certain requirements in deeds and instruments affecting real estate in which there are male grantors to entitle the same to record.

By Representative Hopkins—A bill making it a misdemeanor to trespass upon private property where foxes or other fur bearing animals are kept for breeding purposes when notices forbidding trespassing have been posted upon the property.

By Representative Watkins—A bill making an appropriation of $15,000 for the armory building fund. This act was given immediate effect.

By Representative Penny—A bill amending the state labor law so that permits issued to children to work shall be returned to the judge of probate, superintendent of schools or other officer issuing the permit, when the child leaves the place of employment where he was given permission to work.

By Representative Nank—A bill providing for the organization of mutual insurance companies to do a general automobile insurance business.

By Rep. Wood—A bill authorizing the board of state auditors to examine and audit bills of the city of Jackson for water furnished by the city to the Michigan State Prison. The accounts against the state are of long standing and the auditors are authorized, if the accounts are found to be correct, to make a settlement with the city. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Warner—An amendment to the law relative to the protection of boarding house keepers that provides that complaint against a person for jumping a board bill must be made within ten days in order to obtain a conviction.

By Representative Olmsted—A bill making a technical amendment to the highway law.

By Representative Olmsted—A bill amending the drain laws that provides that drain orders due March 15 that are not paid shall draw interest at the rate of six per cent.

By Representative Wiley—A bill providing that no judgment or verdict shall be set aside or reversed of a new trial granted by any court in any civil or criminal case, on the ground of misdirection of a jury, improper admission or rejection of evidence or for error as to any matter of pleading or procedure, unless in the opinion of the court it appears that there has been a miscarriage of justice.

By Representative Whiteley—A bill requiring soldiers of the Michigan National Guard to obtain an angler's license before taking fish from Portage lake during encampments at the state military site in Crawford county. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Palmer—An amendment to the bill for the protection of frogs providing that a person receiving frogs from outside the state during the closed season, shall exhibit the receipt of bill of lading for the shipment, when such request is made by a deputy game warden.

By Representative Flowers—A bill making an appropriation of $8,000 for general expenses of the attorney general's department. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Wells—A bill providing for the appointment by the state board of agriculture of a person to investigate market conditions in Michigan.

By Representative Daigneau—A bill making it unlawful to remove gravel or sand from a lake frontage without the consent of the property owner.

By Representative Martin—A bill making an appropriation of $15,000 for the erection of an armory at Owosso. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Matthews—A bill providing that cheese factories, etc., must pasteurize skimmed milk before returning it to farmers.

By Representative Ross—A bill making a deficiency appropriation of $10,000 for the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium. This bill received immediate effect.

By Representative Clark—A bill giving township boards the authority to spend from the contingent fund the sum of $200 per year for the improvement of cemeteries.

By Representative Ashley—A bill authorizing the state accident fund to furnish medical and hospital attendance.

By Representative Person—A bill increasing the mill tax for the Michigan Agricultural College from one-sixth to one-fifth of a mill. This bill was ordered to take immediate effect.

By Representative Olmsted—A bill making an appropriation of $13,500 for the State Psychopathic Hospital. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Biggerstaff—A bill making an appropriation of $89,000 for the Kalamazoo State Hospital. This bill was given immediate effect.

By Representative Biggerstaff—A bill appropriating $305,000 for the Western State Normal School. This bill was ordered to take immediate effect.

CHINA PREPARES FOR JAP ATTACK

TROOPS ARE CONCENTRATED FOR DEFENSE OF PEKIN.

RESISTANCE WILL BE WEAK

Government Seems to Expect That Japanese Will Make War on Account of Refusal of Ultimatum.

Pekin—Military preparations are being made for the defense of Peking, according to Chinese officials, whose statements have been corroborated in other circles.

The government is making no preparations elsewhere than at the capital for defense, considering that the Chinese will be unable to oppose the Japanese should they make an attack. It is asserted in high quarters that 100,000 troops have been concentrated in the environs of Peking, but with sufficient ammunition for only a brief resistance.

Special police and military precautions have been taken throughout the city, especially around the winter palace, where President Yuan Shih Kai resides. The officials declare that they are suspicious that the Japanese may attempt a repetition of the Korean coup d'etat.

The situation is considered awkward for some of the foreign legations, especially those whose countries sympathize with the Chinese, but none of them could oppose the entry of the Japanese into Peking.

Telegrams received here from Mukden say that the Japanese bank and postoffice there have suspended business, that the Japanese resistors have been called to the colors, and that other civilians are concentrated in the railway zone.

Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, the United States minister here, expresses the opinion that the missionaries and other Americans in the interior are in no danger whatever. He says the Chinese government will preserve order in the regions over which the Chinese hold control.

In spite of the belief which had prevailed in China for many years that Japan coveted control of the country, considerable surprise was caused by the report that Japan intended to issue an ultimatum to the government, as an outgrowth of China's refusal to concede all of Japan's demands.

LICENSE TROUBLES AT YALE

City Officials Are Mandamused By Applicant They Refused.

Yale—city officials are having a troublesome time with their liquor licenses this spring. The town is legally permitted to issue two licenses and these were awarded to J. D. Paisley and J. W. Harrington. Leslie Silverthorn, proprietor of the North End hotel, was refused a card.

Harrington failed to deposit his $500 with the county treasurer on time and forfeited his license. Silverthorn asked for this card, but was refused and the council went further, passing an ordinance placing the part of the city where his place is located in a restricted residence district.

The city officials have been mandamused by attorneys for Silverthorn and must appear in Judge Law's court May 10, when the whole matter will be reviewed.

Treasury Reaches High Mark.

Lansing—At the close of business last month the state treasury had reached high water mark for the year, with $8,917,161 on hand, but within three months this will be practically all gone. Over $6,000,000 is in the primary school fund and will be distributed July 1, and the numerous deficiency appropriations for the various state institutions will eat up nearly all the rest.

Within a short time all state funds now on deposit in state and national banks, amounting to over $9,000,000, will be called in.

TELEGRAPHIC FLASHES

London—Neil Forsyth, widely known manager of the Royal opera, Covent Garden, was drowned Thursday while fishing with his wife in the river Spey, near Grantown, Scotland.

Tokio—Three attempts to float the American steamer Minnesota, which is aground at the entrance to the Inland sea of Japan, have failed. The Minnesota ran on a rock April 14.

London—The British admiralty announced Friday that the German steamship Macedonia, which escaped from Las Palmas, Canary islands, a few weeks ago, has been captured and is being taken to Gibraltar.

Chicago—Negotiations between bridge and structural iron workers and the contractors were called off suddenly Friday afternoon, and the workers had orders not to return to their jobs Saturday. The order to strike affects 1,200 men.

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Wider-Brimmed Sailors for Summer

The sailor hat made its entrance into the assemblages of early spring millinery with a straight and narrow brim and many novel oddities of trimming. So much enthusiasm was developed for this trim little favorite in headwear that many variations in its shape were launched, and the public soon showed a preference for the wider brimmed kinds. It would be hard to predict just where the limit will be set in width of brim, for already big "cartwheel" sailors of black tulle have captivated the fancy of women whose approval spells success for any style that they adopt.

But sailors of a conservative width of brim are, of all hats, the most satisfactory for summer wear. They fit the head and shade the eyes. Little variations in the size and shape and height of crowns adapt this even-brimmed hat to different faces. Oddities and novelties of trimming make a new and attractive chapter in the story of the sailor.

Three examples of the most successful types are shown here. They are representative and destined to last out the season with an ever increasing following of admirers. For the summer outing and for the tourist they provide the best of all round hats.

The hat of millan at the left of the group, has a crown that rises toward the left side and is rather small. It is trimmed with a scarf of silk and a feather rosette having a long, slender quill thrust through it. At the right the shape has a round crown trimmed with a plain band having a fancy edge. A very long curled quill is thrust through both band and crown and sweeps across the front.

The third sailor is made of hemp and has a large, square crown. The brim of hemp is rather narrow, but a second brim of crepe underlies it and doubles its width. A plain band, corded at each edge, lies flat against the crown. A wide quill follows the curve of the brim, on which it is posed flat.
Two flat bows of ribbon, one near the front and one over the quill, carry out the severely tailored effect that is in keeping with the shape.

Corset Covers, Pretty and Easy to Make

Two pretty and inexpensive under-bodies, or corset covers, are pictured here that were selected from a great number made of similar materials, as the best of their kind. One of them, shown at the left of the picture, is of batiste, val lace and fine embroidery, and the other is of crepe de chine and shadow lace. Both utilize narrow lingerie ribbon in their make-up.

They are unusually interesting just now because the underbodice is almost as conspicuous as the blouse of sheerest cottons or of net, chiffon or lace that is worn over it. The finest of materials are the ones most favored for fancy blouses, and they are mostly semitransparent, at their heaviest.
They merely veil the underbodice, which becomes, therefore, an important item of dress.

The bodice of batiste is made with short, full sleeves. This is an innovation that is to be recommended, because these sleeves protect the fragile materials of which blouses are made.
They are a help to the woman with slender arms who aspires to wearing the thin blouse, and they improve the "set" of the blouse and jacket on a thin figure. This is cut very simply on the regulation corset-cover lines. A band of very narrow beading, with an edging of narrow val lace, finishes the top, and a baby ribbon run through the beading adjusts the bodice to the figure.

A val insertion is let in the bodice about the top and in a lattice pattern on the body and sleeves. The sleeves are finished at the lower edge, with this insertion and a lace edge to match.
The batiste is gathered in at the shoulder and also to the band of insertion which confines it at the bottom of the sleeve. A small pattern in embroidery adorns the front of the bodice at each side of the fastening, and a strip of lace conceals small flat pearl buttons and buttonholes. Like nearly all the new models, this bodice hardly reaches to the waist line, and is finished there with beading and lace and adjusted with baby ribbon.

The bodice of crepe de chine is sleeveless and commends itself to the plump woman, for it takes up no room.

It is merely a band of shadow lace to which a tucked strip of the silk is sewed. Two shorter strips of lace form broad shoulder straps, and baby ribbon run through the edges of the lace, tying at the front and on the shoulder, contrives to manage the fit and fastening. An elastic band is run through the lower edge in a narrow hem and confines the waist, fastening with button and buttonhole.

Blouse Importance.
Smart blouses play a much more important part in the wardrobe than many women realize. A high price is often willingly paid for a tailored suit or dress, which is worn with an evident machine made, inexpensive blouse. Such a blouse is entirely out of keeping with a good costume. Proportionately, blouses do seem expensive, but when it is considered that they are what first meets the eye when the coat is removed, it is realized that they should be excellent of their kind.

The woman who can direct a seamstress or who sews herself, can make charming tailored as well as chifon blouses for less than half what they cost in the shops.—Vogue.

Clever Economies.
Prominent among the many economies practiced at the moment are clever little waistcoat effects. Many a last year's coat and bodice are being brought up to date by a series of easily adjusted waistcoats, which usually conclude in some sort of a distinctive collar. Given the simplest, plainest coat or corseage—in fact, the plainest the better—a chic note is at once introduced through one or the other of these attractive little adjuncts.

A cross-over waistcoat of striped roman silk was introduced in a last year's navy rathene coat, the roll-over collar at the back fringed with monkey fur, additions that served to invest a somewhat de mode suit with a quite particular cachet.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

their own account, and for their own sake, and without the least reference to any gratitude.

through.—Dickens.

DELICIOUS PINEAPPLE.

Pineapple is now often in the market the year round. The price is prohibitory many times; but the canned variety is stationary as to quality and price. The variety of canned pineapple now on the market is superior to the home canned because it is not always in prime condition when reaching our markets. There are so many delicious desserts, salads and fillings as well as confections that may be prepared from the pineapple that it is a most favorite fruit.

A slice of pineapple placed on a crisp inner leaf of lettuce, a ball of seasoned cream cheese filling the cavity made by removing the core, add a dressing made by thickening the pineapple juice with an egg, season with salt and a dash of lemon juice. Olive oil may be added if richness is desired or a bit of butter. The dressing is cooked.

Pineapple Sherbet.—Take a cupful of sugar, three cupfuls of boiling water and boil until thick, add the juice of a lemon, one can of grated pineapple, the white of one egg, beaten until stiff, added after the sherbet is partly frozen. The sirup makes a richer frozen dish than sugar and water.

Pineapple Dessert.—Serve one slice of pineapple to each person with a ball of vanilla ice cream on each, sprinkle with chopped nuts and the juice of the pineapple boiled, until thick, with sugar.

Another—arrange a slice of pineapple for each person, sprinkle with nuts. Take the juice from the can, heat and add one-half cupful of water,
one teaspoonful of gelatin and a tablespoonful of sugar, more if it is liked sweeter. When all is well mixed pour over the slices of pineapple and put away to cool. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Pineapple pie is another delicious dessert to be made from pineapple.
Bake a rich crust and when cool fill with grated pineapple top with a sweetened whipped cream and garnish with chopped or shredded almonds.

VEGETARIAN DISHES.

The following dishes will add variety to any diet and are especially appreciated by those who are not eating meat.

Mock Sausage
With Apple.—Pick over and soak over night one-half cupful of lima beans. Drain and cook in boiling salted water to cover until soft. Drain and force through a puree strainer; there should be three-fourths of a cupful of bean pulp. To the pulp add one-fourth of a cupful of rolled bread crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of heavy cream or butter and one egg slightly beaten. Season with salt and a few dashes of pepper. Shape in the form of sausages (making thirteen), dip in egg and crumbs and fry in olive oil. Pile on a hot platter and surround with slices of cured apple which have been fried until brown on both sides. Serve while piping hot.

Smothered Cabbage.—Chop a small
head of cabbage, removing the heart.
Put three tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and turn in the cabbage after the butter and flour are well blended, then pour on gradually a cupful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and add two teaspoonfuls of salt, a few dashes of pepper, mix thoroughly and cover tightly and cook for forty minutes on the back of the range. About five cupfuls of cabbage is used for the whole ingredients. All vegetarians will relish this toothsome dish. Its flavor is delicate and delightful.

Cheese Pudding.—Cut the crusts from a stale baker's loaf and cut slices in finger sized strips. Cover the bottom of baking dish in lattice fashion and also place pieces around the sides of the pan. Spread these with butter. Cut half pound of rich cheese in bits and put into the dish, add two eggs well beaten and a cupful of thin cream or top milk, salt, mustard, paprika and red pepper. Bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes and serve hot.

Satan and the Cerulean Deep.
"I'm in a quandary."
"What about?"
"I have two invitations to dinner, and I can't decide—"

"Which one to accept?"
"No, which one to refuse. One is to a home where a young lady has just come home from a piano conservatory, and the other is where a five-year-old boy knows a lot of recitations."—Farm Life.

Varied Program.
The women of a town down the state recently organized a literary club, and for a while everything was lovely.

"Louise," asked the husband of one of the members upon her return home from one of the meetings, "what was the topic under discussion by the club
this afternoon?"

Louise couldn't just remember at first. Finally, however, she exclaimed:
"Now I recollect! We discussed that brazen-looking hussy that's just moved in across the street and Nietzsche."

The Battles of Peace.
There are difficulties and dangers before our nation today just as great as any our forefathers faced. To meet and conquer them requires all the moral brawn and muscle this nation can muster. There are the problems of corruption in business and politics; the terrible scourges of intemperance and the drug habit, and the social evil, deadly to soul and body alike; there are the problems of moral education, of marriage and divorce, of the treatment of dependents—prisoners, defectives, paupers, etc. Any one of these left unconquered would devastate our country as no war could.—Rev. N. T. Houser.

IN A SHADOW Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis.

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms, as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.
"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an ill woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic."

"No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected."

"The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen."

"About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum.
"I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:
Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages.
Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Getting All Sewed Up.
It was several days after arriving home from the front that the soldier with the two broken ribs was sitting up and smoking a cigar when the doctor came in.

"Well, how are you feeling now?"
asked the latter.
"I've had a stitch in my side all day," replied the wounded soldier.
"That's all right," said the doctor.
"It shows that the bones are knitting."

OVERWORK AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Mr. James McDaniel, Oakley, Ky., writes: "I overworked and strained myself, which brought on Kidney and Bladder Disease. My symptoms were Backache and burning in the stem of the Bladder, which was sore and had a constant hurting all the time—broken sleep, tired feeling, nervousness, puffing and swollen eyes, shortness of breath and
J. McDaniel. Rheumatic pains. I suffered ten months. I was treated by a physician, but found no relief until I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I now feel that I am permanently cured by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

True Christian Spirit.
Notwithstanding all that I have suffered, notwithstanding all the pain and weariness and anxiety and sorrow that necessarily enter into life, and the inward errands that are more than all,
I would enter my record with devout thanksgiving to the great Author of my being, profound gratitude for all that belongs to my life and being—for joy and sorrow, health and sickness, success and disappointment, virtue and temptation, for life and death
—because I believe that all is meant for good.—Orville Dewey.

Keeps the Heat in the Oven and Out of the Kitchen

"Fireless" and Range Combined.—The secret is in the insulated oven, which seals in the heat just like a fireless cook stove. A turn of the damper does it—changing your range into the best and easiest used "fireless" ever invented. This "fireless" oven is the big, new feature of the NEW PERFECTION, the finest range you can put in your kitchen. Has a cabinet top with a spacious warming shelf and plenty of room behind the burners for keeping food hot.

3 Kinds of Cooking

This insulated oven cooks three ways.
You can adjust the flame for the quickest kind of quick baking, or the slow, steady kind you need for baking bread and roasting meats. Set the oven and turn out the flame and it keeps an even, steady heat for six or seven hours—this is your PERFECTION. The insulation keeps the heat in the oven and out of the kitchen—a blessing.

WORMS.

"Wormy," that's what's the matter of 'em. Stomach and intestinal worms. Nearly as bad as diphtheria. Cost you too much to feed 'em. Look—and are bad. Don't physic 'em to death.
Spohn's Cure will remove the worms, improve the appetite, and set 'em up all round, and don't "choke." Acts on glands and blood.
Full directions with each bottle, and sold by all druggists.
