The accident occurred just north of the Air Line railroad bridge. The child, whose name was Forrest, had pleaded with his father and mother to permit him to go in swimming. Sunday afternoon the parents took the boy down to the river. The child had been in the river but a short time when he was caught in the current and carried into deep water. The father jumped in and attempted to reach his drowning son, but was him-

The Annual Mad Dog Season.

The annual mad dog season is now approaching and everyone should adopt reasonable precautionary measures at this time.

The public should be informed in regard to what should be done in cases of dog bites and for that purpose the following rules have been given out by William Brady, an authority in such cases.

No matter where you live, nor what season of the year it is, nor whose dog bites you, these are the safe and proper precautions to take.

1.-Immediate swabbing of the wound with tincture of iodine. If medical attention can be had, prompt cauterization. These precautions prevents rabies, lockjaw and ordinary

2.-Capture and imprison the aniall star cast including the noted mal and employ a veterinary surgeon to watch him for two weeks for any indication of rabies. The owner of the animal should agree to pay the veterinary surgeon's fee, if not the victim should seek police or legal aid at once.

3.-If the veterinary surgeon pronounces the animal free from symptoms at the end of two weeks, then there is no danger whatever. If the veterinary surgeon is in doubt then kill the animal, pack the head in salt, Geo. HINDELANG & FAHRNER

SYNOPSIS.

Sheridan's attempt to make a business man of his son Bibbs by starting him in the machine shop ends in Bibbs going to sanitarium, a nervous wreck. On his return Bibbs finds himself an inconsiderable and unconsidered figure in the "New House" of the Sheridans. The Vertreeses, old town family next door and impoverished, call on the Sheridans, newly-rich and Mary afterward puts into words her and Mary afterward puts into words her parents' unspoken wish that she marry one of the Sheridan boys. Mary frankly encourages Jim Sheridan's attentions. Jim tells Mary Bibbs is not a lunatic—'just queer.'' He proposes to Mary, who half accepts him. Sheridan tells Bibbs he must go back to the machine shop as soon as he is strong enough, in spite of Bibbs' plea to be allowed to write. Edith, Bibbs pies to be allowed to write. Edith, Bibbs' sister, and Sibyl, Roscoe Sheridan's wife, quarrel over Bobby Lamborn; Sibyl goes to Mary for help to keep Lamborn from marying Edith, and Mary leaves her in the room alone. Bibbs has to break to his father the news of Jim's sudden death. All the rest of the family helpless in their grief, Bibbs becomes temporary master of the house. At the funeral he meets Mary and rides home with her. Bibbs purposaly interrupts a text of the house. Bibbs purposely interrupts a tete-a-tete between Edith and Lamhorn. He tells Edith that he overheard Lamhorn mak-ing love to Roscoe's wife.

Bibbs Sheridan, the physical weakling, the "queer one," and Mary Vertrees, the aristocrat, the husband-hunter, get acquainted while hearing organ music. They exchange spiritual messages on the wings of melody. Do you think this acquaintance will awaken in their breasts a mutual recognition of love's first symptoms?

pausing thoughtfully she made a gesture with her muff, indicating a large brick church which they were approaching. "Do you see that church, Mr. Sheridan?"

"I suppose I could," he answered in simple truthfulness, looking at her. "But I don't want to. I have a feeling it's where you're going, and where I'll be sent back."

She shook her head in cheery negation. "Not unless you want to be. Would you like to come with me?" "Why-why-yes," he said. "Anywhere!" And again it was apparent that he spoke in simple truthfulness. "Then come-if you care for organ music. The organist is an old friend of mine, and sometimes he plays for me. He's a dear old man. That's he, waiting in the doorway. He looks like Beethoven, doesn't he? I think he knows that, perhaps, and enjoys it a little. I hope so."

"Yes," said Bibbs, as they reached the church steps. "I think Beethoven would like it, too. It must be pleasant to look like other people." "I haven't kept you?" Mary said to the organist. "This is Mr. Sheridan, Doctor Kraft. He has come to listen

The organist looked bluntly sur-"He iss musician himself, of course."

"No," said Bibbs, as the three entered the church together. "I-I played the-I tried to play-" Fortunately he checked himself; he had been about to offer the information that he had failed to master the jews' harp in his boyhood. "No. I'm not a musician." he contented himself with saying.

CHAPTER XV.

That "mystery about planos" which troubled Bibbs had been a mystery to Mr. Vertrees, and it was being explained to him at about the time Bibbs scribbled the reference to it in his notes. Mary had gone upstairs upon Bibbs' departure at ten o'clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Vertrees sat until after midnight in the library talking. "She needn't to have done that about

"You don't know anybody that knows the family."

"Yes. That is-well, in a way, of course, one of the family. That Mrs. Roscoe Sheridan is not a-that is, she's rather a pleasant-faced little woman, I think, and of course rather ordinary. I think she is interested about—that is, of course, she'd be anxious to be more intimate with Mary, naturally. She's always looking over here from her house; she was looking out of the window this afternoon when Mary went out, I noticed-though I don't think Mary saw her. "Yes, so do I," she returned, promptly. "It isn't really a thing we should be considering seriously, of course. Still-"

"I should say not! But possibly-" Thus they skirmished up and down the field, but before they turned the lights out and went upstairs it was thoroughly understood between them that Mrs. Vertrees should seek the earliest opportunity to obtain definite information from Sibyl Sheridan concerning the mental and physical status of Bibbs. And if he were subject to attacks of lunacy, the unhappy pair decided to prevent the sacrifice they supposed their daughter intended to make of herself. Altogether, if there were comedy, they must have died anew of laughter!

CHAPTER XVI.

Mrs. Vertrees' opportunity occurred the very next afternoon. Darkness had fallen, the piano movers had come. They had carried the piano down the front steps, and Mrs. Vertrees was standing in the open doorway behind oorway

"No. Good heavens!" "And the only thing I could think of was that something must have happened to them, and I just dashed over -and it was only your piano!" She broke into laughter again. "I suppose you're just sending it somewhere to be repaired, aren't you?" "It's-it's being taken downtown." said Mrs. Vertrees. "Won't you come in? Id really-"

"Thank you, but I must be running back. My husband usually gets home about this time, and I make a little point of it always to be there." "That's very sweet." Mrs. Vertrees descended the steps and walked to-

Women who are well often ack "An the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letter?"

In answer we say that never havewe published a fictitious letter or name, Never, knowingly, have we published an untruthful letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pink. ham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering,

To Save Meteorites.

The South African Journal of Science records the steps that have been thus far taken at the suggestion of the South African Association for the Advancement of Science, to obtain legislation in various countries relative to the preservation of meteorites in the interests of science. The committee of sections A and C of the British association adopted the following resolution at the Australia meeting: "That in view of the fact that meteorites which convey information of worldwide importance are sometimes disposed of privately in such a way as o deprive the public of this information, the council be requested to take such steps as may initiate international legislation to the matter."

The Wheat Yield Tells the Story of Western Canada's Rapid Progress The heavy crops in Western Canada have caused new records to be made in the handling of grains by railroads. For, while the movement of these heavy shipments has been wonderfully rapid, the resources of the different roads, despite enlarged equipments and increased facilities, have been strained as never before, and previous records have thus been broken in all directions. The largest Canadian wheat shipments through New York ever known are reported for the period up to October 15th, upwards of four and a quarter million bushels being exported in less than six weeks, and this was but the overflow of shipments to Montreal, through which point shipments were much larger than to New York. Yields as high as 60 bushels of wheat per acre are reported from all parts of the country; while yields of 45 bushels per acre are common.

Thousands of American farmers have taken part in this wonderful production. Land prices are still low and free homestead lands are easily secured in good localities, convenient to churches, schools, markets, railways, etc. There is no war tax on land and no conscription. Typewriter Service in Rural Communities

The typewriter is coming into more extended use in rural communities because of the assistance it renders to all classes of people. Here are a few examples of the possibilities of service:

The Farmer: Think of the possibilities of selling produce by the means of typewritten letters sent out to customers? Typewritten letters give the sender a business standing with the people who receive them and also enable the keeping of carbon copies of the correspondence, which many times does away with misunderstandings and lawsuits.

The General Store Merchant: More prompt and courteous treatment is likely to be accorded his orders and correspondence with the City jobber and manufacturer if his letters are typewritten.

In The Home: The boy or girl who is intending to follow a business career can secure no better start than a knowledge of typewriter operating. Children who learn to use the typewriter learn spelling at the same time. The housewife finds it a great convenience in writing recipes and for general correspondence.

The Minister: No Clergyman should be without a typewriter. It is of great assistance in preparing sermons and writing the many letters that a pastor has to write.

HILLSDALE-While bringing a cow to market Saturday, Alvin Houtz, a farmer living near Reading, was pulled off the wagon seat by the animal and fell beneath the wagon. His team became frightened and the wagon wheels passed over his chest, breaking two ribs, which punctured his lungs. Houtz died Saturday night.

BELLEVILLE-Last Saturday Chas. Freeman brought to this office a curiousity in the shape of a new breed of an animal. The speciman resembles the ordinary ground mole with the exception that it was darker in color, smaller and the fur much coarser. Its fore feet were like those of the mole only smaller and the hind feet were like those of the com-Mr. and Mrs. J. S. SAFE AND SANE FOURTH IN STATE

PRISONERS HEAD BAND AT MAR. QUETTE IN PREPAREDNESS MARCH.

IONIA RAISED PATRIOTIC FUND

Two Automobile Accidents at Port Huron and Other Interesting Views in State.

"A safe and sane Fourth" is reported from all parts of the state. The most unusual occurrence, perhaps, in all the Fourth of July celebrations was at Marquette, where the prison band, which has not appeared in public for several years, headed a preparedness parade.

At Muskegon the celebration was to be the explosion of a ton of dynamite to dredge the river, but experienced men to handle the explosive could not be found. Four thousand people were disappointed. Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris made a speech over the telephone to a few people.

Prisoners Lead Parade.

Marquette-The feature of the preparedness parade part of the Fourth of July observance, was the appearance at the head of the column, of the Marquette prison band, which was requisitioned by the committee, because above that of 1915. one of the other bands had disappointed it. It was the first time in years band were no less than eight life prisoners. The shortest term man among the 23 bandmen has a sentence of from two and a half to five years. The men were on honor, and were accompanied only by Deputy Marden Catlin, and one officer, who went along jum. to make the arrangements and to oversee transportation.

They were greatly pleased with their experience, particularly with the fruit belt, at Coloma Wateryliet, Berapplause which was given them by rien Springs, Sodus, Benton Harbor the crowds.

WILL COMPLETE SOIL SURVEY

Year By U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The soil survey of Calhoun county, which was commenced last season, will be completed this year by the U. Cruz. S. Department of Agriculture, As soon as possible after the field work is finished the Federal Department will publish a report of this survey. This report will be accompanied by a large map showing in colors the location of the various kinds of soils with reference to roads, schools, churches water-courses and other features of the county. The nature of the soils, their adaptability for various crops and suggestions for the most advantageous use of fertilizers will also be discussed in detail, together with full information on existing agricultural conditions. Several months will be required to prepare the report and map after the survey has been completed.

DOCUMENT HANDED TO SECRE-TARY OF STATE LANSING BY MEXICAN AMBASSADOR.

PROMISES TO END BANDITRY

Withdrawal of Troops From Mexico Would Go Far Towards Removing the Causes of Friction Says First Chief.

Washington-The long expected note from the Carranza government has reached Washington. It arrived at the Mexican embassy and will be presented to Secretary of State Lansing by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador-designate. In striking contrast to the beligerent tone of previous communications from Mexico City the new note, according to the statements of embassy officials, is decidedly conciliatory and is characterized by an apparent desire on the part of the Mexican authorities to reach an amicable understanding with the American government.

It concedes, according to members of the embassy staff, the contention of the United States that conditions along the border by reason of the bandit raids. have been intolerable and extends strong promises on the part of the Mexican government to restore order and protect American territory from further raids.

Furthermore, it is said, the note does not specifically renew the demands for a withdrawal of the American forces, but, contending that the presence of the troops on Mexican soil contributes to the unsettled conditions, suggests that their withdrawal $7.50@7.75; milkers and springers $65 would go far towards removing the cause of friction and difficulty.

It is explained at the embassy that the communication is intended to serve the double purpose of answering the American note of June 25, which was sent at the time of the imprisonment of the American troopers at Chihuahua and demanded statement of Carranza's future intentions and likewise of responding to the American note of June 20, which rejected the demands of Carranza for an immediate withdrawal of the Am-

At the same time it is said the new Carranza note does not refer to the orders issued by General Jacinto Trevino, the Mexican commander, to attack any American detachments in Mexico that attempt to move in any direction than towards the border, although it was concerning the authority for these orders that the American note particularly inquired.

The embassy officials in seeking to explain the conciliatory character of the communication expressed the opinion that it was written personally by General Carranza and was inspired to a certain extent by the favorable impression created in Mexico City by President Wilson's New York speech and by the fact that General Persh-A party of five Americans who at- ing's force is being gradually with-

TWENTY-ONE MILLION MEN AVAILABLE FOR SERVICE

Census Bureau Estimates That Many Men of Military Age in the United States.

Washington-A census bureau table estimates the number of able-bodied men of military age in the United States at about 21,000,000 men. The estimate is based on the assumption per cent in the population since 1910, when the total male population over 18 years, and under 46 was 19,183,000. Of this number, 14,224,000 were native whites, 2,857,000 were foreign-born whites, who had become naturalized, 2,052,000 were Negroes, and 50,000 were Indians. During the Civil war, when the population of the country, exclusive of the seceding states, was less than one-fourth as great as the total present population the number of men serving in the northern army at one time or another, was 2,500,000

There are four states, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois, where the men of military age number more than 1,000,000. In geographical subdisions the total for the northern states is 13,094,615., for the southern states. 1,970,322.

Mexican troops throughout the north of Mexico are being concentrated along sound military lines, according to close students of military affairs among officers at Eagle Pass, Texas.

BACTERIA FOUND IN UDDER

In Experimenting With Several Badille Common to Milk, Scientist Discovers New Germ.

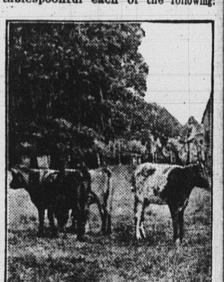

A discovery of especial interest to dairymen has recently been made by an Italian scientist named Constantin In experimenting with the several becilli common to milk, he found a new germ which has to do with the form ing of rennet and the coagulation of milk and it thrives especially well in the milk if left in a cow's udder at milking time. When the cow is not milked dry, these acid-forming basflammation likely to cause serious complications.

It is not an unusual thing for a poor ly milked cow to develop a case of caked udder or mammitis, but the eract cause of the trouble has not until organisms is entirely different from the change which occurs in ordinary fermentation and the presence of the cial set of fermentation tests for this are of especial value to the cheesa maker. The presence of the germs indicates faulty milking and an unwhole some condition of the udder. The discovery of the bacillus serves to emthorough milking.

RIDDING THE COWS OF FLIES

Simple Homemade Mixture, Spread Lightly Over Animals, Well Worth Time in Applying.

Nothing conduces more to the comfort and profit of cows on pasture than a protector against the swarms of flies that persecute all through the day and into the night. The following simple homemade mixture sprayed lightly over the animals, particularly where the flies congregate and cannot be brushed off by the tail, is well worth the time it requires to apply it daily: To a quart of kerosene add a tablespoonful each of the following:

Shorthorn Heifers in Pasture. Oil of tar, oil of pennyroyal, fish oil, carbolic acid. Beat well together. It is best and quickest to apply it with a force pump in a fine spray.

Practically Impossible for Rope to Become Tangled as Animal Walks Around Wheel.

An old carriage wheel and axie were used to good advantage in the making of the pasture stake shown in the sketch, writes W. F. Quackenbush of New York city in Popular Mechan ics. When the animal tethered to the wheel walks around the stake, it is practically impossible for the rope to become tangled, as the wheel revolves on the axle.

Miss Conley is no stranger to the officials of the court, although her admission to practice did not occur until recently. She first came into public notice about ten years ago, when the Kansas City municipal authorities sought to enforce a local ordinance to remove the Wyandotte Indian burying ground. The removal would have required the disinterment of the bodies of Wyandottes buried for hundreds of years. Miss Conley armed herself with a shotgun, and warned the Kansas City officials to keep away from the burying ground.

Exercising a constitutional right, she later appeared in the Supreme court, and read a brief in opposition to the removal of the burying ground. The court decided against her. Then she took up the study of law, and having completed her legal education and being duly qualified, she sought admission to the Supreme court bar here.

Tunnel to Transport Currency From Printery

THE main tunnel from the site of the central heating, light and power plant at Fourteenth and Water streets southwest, along Fifteenth street and terminating at Pennsylvania avenue probably will be so constructed that it can be utilized for a traction system on which will run, automatically, small cars to carry paper currency and other securities between the treasury department building and the bureau of engraving and printing.

The main tunnel would provide sufficient room without amplification have to be laid and cars provided. The expense, it is assured on expert authority, would not be excessive.

Branch tunnels into the bureau of engraving and printing and into the treasury department, to connect the central system with this building, are part of the general plan of power distribution. These might have to be slightly enlarged to meet the needs of the suggested the injury and the stubs covered with the other hand, gives perfect satistraction line. The way would be straight along Fifteenth street, through the grafting wax to prevent the entrance faction. Coal tar is less advisable but main tunnel, with only the changes of direction to be considered, made necessary by the branch tunnels into the two buildings.

An electrically charged rail-perhaps the "third-rail" system-would give the necessary power to operate the cars without accompanying human control. The traction would probably be attached to the roof, carrying the cars up in the air, much like the cash trolleys in operation in big department stores.

The cars, as the plan is now suggested, would be of steel, in the form of strong boxes or chests, and securely fastened, so that the boxes could not be opened except with the proper opening appliances at either end of the line in hope of their recovery, it is best to entrance of other insects, like carpenthe custody of the proper authority.

Marine Hospital Service Tells About Jiggers

F YOU are sick these summer days you may be told you have the "harvest disease." Your friends may ascribe it to errors of diet, overexertion, poisoning; but according to the official bulletin of the marine hospital service you probably have been jiggered. In other words, you have been stungstung by the jigger, or harvest mite. The bulletin on the jigger, which has served to divert attention in official circles for the moment from the war in Europe and the fact that the income tax is overdue, warns against confusing this harvest mite with the "itch mite," which has been with the human the "strow mith the human the strow mith the human the "straw mite," which the hospital discovered" and is "acquiring somewhat of a reputation." "The adult jigger is harmless," are the reassuring words of the bulletin to the man who has been jiggered, but the baby jiggers are the ones that are now coming to the cities and biting us. If you are sensitive about having been jiggered you may say you are differing from "trombidiosis." The treatment prescribed and the manner of its application is familiar. Father has used it successfully on Sister Mary's beau since the beginning of time, and the family bulldog has applied the same treatment to tramps. The bulletin advises an attack upon the "disappearing extremities" of the pest.

"The sufferer can almost invariably point with exactness to the burrowing sites, and frequently the disappearing extremities of the intruders may be observed."

Then your duty is plain. "A needle sterilized by boiling may be used to pluck the invaders from their dermal intrenchments."

The leopard moth in its adult form has a spotted appearance, the semitransparent white wings being thickly dotted with blackish, dark blue, or greenish spots. There are also large black spots on the thorax and dark cross bands on the white abdomen. The moth laysaits eggs, either singly or in groups, faring the summer, usually selecting crevices in the rough bark of trees as a convenient place to deposit them. The larvae or caterpillars hatch about ten days afterward and at once penetrate the living wood. As they feed, they burrow tunnels which frequently encircle completely the tree or branch. When the larva has grown too large for the branch in which it is feeding, it crawls out and moves to one more suitable. As the insect remains in the larva stage, feeding in this way, for nearly two years, it is capable of doing a great deal of damage before it transforms to the pupa or chrysalis stage. This it does in May or later, and some are more healthy than hen hatched

Muffins

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine. When muffins are on the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat or eggs and they would be served more often if this meal were not prepared so hurriedly that there is no time to make them. If K C, the double raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them. One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded tea-spoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 tea-spoonful salt; 1 cup sugar; 2 cup melted butter or lard; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk. Sift dry ingredients together three times.

Add to this the unbeaten egg, melted shortening and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven slow until the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.

Graham Muffins

1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 to 2 level tablespoonfuls sugar; teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 11 cups milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins. Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins.

To get 88 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illus-trated. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.
