Simple Tests Telling Quality of Textiles

There are a great many tests that may be used to determine the genuineness and value of materials, but only a few that are practicable for the home.

If the buyer is not absolutely sure that the material in question is as represented it is best to ask for a small sample and apply some of the home tests before making the purchase.

For instance, to ascertain if a material is all linen and not mixed with cotton, apply a drop of water. The moisture spreads rapidly on linen, but will remain unabsorbed on cotton for some time. However, this is not always a safe test, as cotton and linen are often heavily sized with dressing which prevents the water from being absorbed. Another test for cotton and linen is a drop of glycerine. Linen will become transparent, but cotton will not be affected. Crushing in the hands will show the difference between cotton and linen, as linen wrinkles more than cotton. Sizing may be discovered by rubbing the materials between the hands to see if the dressing will come out. Washing also will remove the dressing and reveal the true nature of the material.

Cotton and wool mixtures when moistened wrinkle more than pure wool materials.

In examining materials it is well to know that cotton fibers are short with fuzzy ends, while linen fibers are long and have even ends. Wool fibers are short, kinky and stiff. Silk fibers are long, straight and lustrous.

The nature of the material may also be ascertained by burning a small sample. Cotton burns quickly with flame. Linen burns in the same way, but does not catch so readily, as it has less oil in the fiber and less air in the woven cloth. Wool burns slowly, giving off an odor like burnt feathers and leaving a gummy residue. Silk burns more slowly than wool and with less odor and leaves a crisp ash.

Mrs. Joseph Schatz.

Mrs. Joseph Schatz died Monday morning, January 1, 1917, at her home, 404 Garfield street, aged 77 years, three months and 29 days. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Paul's church.

August Mensing.

August Mensing, formerly of Chelsea, died early this morning at Samaritan hospital in Detroit where he had been taken Sunday night, from pneumonia. The body will be brought to Chelsea on this evening's train.

Mrs. Anna E. Sears.

The body of Mrs. Anna E. Sears, who died Thursday afternoon at her home in the Cutting apartments in Ann Arbor from an attack of acute indigestion, was brought to Chelsea this morning on the 8:52 a. m. train and the funeral was held from the Congregational church, of which she had been a member since the early 60's, this afternoon at two o'clock.

Miss Anna E. Congdon was born in Norwick, Conn., June 6, 1837, and came with her parents to Chelsea in 1856. She was united in marriage to Thomas S. Sears, December 27, 1858, and for many years they resided on the Sears farm just outside the east corporation line of Chelsea, now owned and occupied by Martin Merkel.

Mr. Sears died many years ago, leaving a large estate and since that time Mrs. Sears had spent much of her time in travel. Since the sale of her farm property to Mr. Merkel she had made her home in Ann Arbor and seldom visited Chelsea.

Mrs. Sears leaves to mourn her loss one brother, Alfred R. Congdon of Ypsilanti and one sister, Mrs. George Reynolds of Waltham, Mass.

They Like "Jim's" Pigeon Loft.

The American Pigeon Keeper for December contains the following regarding the visit of a representative of the publication to Chelsea:

We made a flying visit recently to the lofts of Mr. James Geddes of Chelsea, Michigan, who owns one of the finest loft buildings we have ever had the pleasure of going through, eight in number, each with its separate flight, equipped with running water, cement floors, etc. Mr. Geddes is a true fancier, who loves his birds for the enjoyment he gets out of them. He is owner of Los Angeles Prince, a fantail cock winner of the grand champion prize at Los Angeles, December, 1915. We also saw several youngsters bred from Los Angeles Prince, which are a grand lot, besides fans. Mr. Geddes breeds jacobins, pouters and hen pigeons as well as several varieties of bantams.

Four County Officers Retire.

Four county officers relinquished their offices, Saturday, after a period of four years of faithful service, one being our fellow townsman, George W. Beckwith, who is now ex-county clerk. Others whose terms of office have expired are: William H. Murray, judge of probate; William A. Seery, register of deeds, and Henry Paul, county treasurer. They are succeeded by the following new officials: Edwin H. Smith, county clerk; Emory E. Leland, judge of probate; Perry L. Townsend, register of deeds, Leo Gruner, county treasurer.

Infirmary Bonds Bring Premium.

The sale of the bonds, authorized at the election last April for the erection of a new county infirmary, was made Friday to Cummings, Prudden & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, at a premium of $501.50.

The bonds were written at a four and one-half per cent rate and are for short periods. One runs for one year, a $10,000 slice, another for two years and a third for three years. The fourth slice of the total $40,000 issue runs for four years.

The premium bids follow:
Cummings, Prudden & Co., Toledo, $501.50.
Walling Lerchen & Co., Detroit, $377.
Detroit Trust Co., Detroit, $281.
Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago, $236.
Spitzer, Rorick company, Toledo, $214.

Work on the new building will be started some time in the early spring and it is expected the infirmary will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

Washtenaw Convict Paroled.

Among the 36 prisoners in state institutions paroled Friday by Governor Ferris was Alpheus Poole, formerly of Ypsilanti who was sentenced May 20, 1909, in the Washtenaw circuit court to from 10 to 20 years in Jackson prison. Poole was convicted of having murdered his wife. He has served almost eight years of his sentence.

HOLLIER CLIMBS 8,500 FEET ON HIGH

Lookout Mountain, Denver, Easy for Chelsea Made Car.

While on a tour of the Rocky mountains and the Pacific coast territory recently, Fred H. Lewis, president of the Lewis Spring & Axle company of this place, drove one of the Hollier Eightys up Lookout mountain near Denver, making the entire climb of 8,500 feet on high gear. Mr. Lewis also climbed Mount Wilson, near Pasadena, California, with a Hollier Eight. In each instance the regular five-passenger stock model was used.

Speaking of trade conditions in the west, Mr. Lewis said: All through the western country there is a far greater demand for medium priced cars than ever before, and this demand is constantly growing at a surprising rate. The greatest call is for cars selling "around a thousand dollars." Either eight or six cylinder motors are being asked for by the prospective buyers, particularly those who have previously been car owners.

Light as Chaff

It Smelled Like It.

The Swedish jitney driver drew up beside the road, jumped out and, with wrench in hand, crawled under the auto. Taking advantage of the stop, the only passenger, a German, proceeded to eat a lunch consisting mainly of Limburger cheese. Suddenly the driver emerged from beneath the machine and, with bulging eyes and a hand on his nose, stood staring at the auto.

"What's the matter?" inquired the German innocently between mouthfuls of cheese.

"Ay don't know," said Ole. "But Ay tank the engine bane dead."—Country Gentleman.

Marshaling a Parade.

An old Irishman, long desirous of official dignity, was finally appointed marshal in a parade. Veterans, bandsmen and school children were lined along the streets of the town, patiently waiting the signal to start.

Suddenly Mike, on a prancing charger, dashed up the street.

After inspecting the dignified procession he gave his horse a quick clip. Then, standing up in his stirrups, he yelled with a voice filled with pride and authority: "Ready, now! Every one of ye kape step, wid the horse!"

Six For One.

Which is the strongest day of the seven? Sunday, because the others are week days.
