DODGING TREES IN ARMY AEROPLANE

Nephew of Mrs. F. R. Shepherd
Has Thrilling Experience
at Love Field.

Mrs. F. R. Shepherd received a letter the last of the week from her nephew, Maurice Owen, a Cornell university student who is taking a course of instruction at the army aviation camp at Love Field, Dallas, Texas. He has made an enviable record there and was allowed to do "solo flying" after only four hours and ten minutes of instruction. The usual time is nine hours. He spent eight months in Chelsea about two years ago and also visited here several weeks last summer and has many friends in this vicinity. The letter was written January 20th, and is as follows:

I got your dandy letter day before yesterday and, since Sunday is letter writing day, I'll answer it.

We have had some beastly weather for about a week and a half. It's been so muddy on the field that it has been impossible to fly. The "ships" get stuck in the mud.

The ninth was the last day I was up and I had a little bad luck. I got over the buildings of the post when my engine started to miss-fire and finally choked and stopped. I had just "taken-off" and was headed away from the field and so didn't have altitude enough to make the turn to get back on the field and miss the buildings, so I picked out an open field nearby and started down to it.

The wind was at my back and I was going like everything. Just before I hit the ground I saw a tree just ahead of me and it was sure coming in my direction with some speed. To keep from hitting it I pulled back on the elevator and "zoomed." I shot up and over the tree all right, but so close that I raised up in my seat as I went over to try and lift the "ship" a little higher.

This place was the only possible place I could pick out as I had the buildings on my left and a lake on my right.

After I got over the tree I came down again and got on the ground all right, but it was down hill and with the wind I kept going—with a woods right in front of me. I never wanted to have a brake pedal under my foot so bad in my life, but I didn't have one so I kept on going. I managed to get the wing into the first tree I came to instead of the fuselage, so I got away with only a bloody nose, but the wing was wadded up like a piece of paper.

I was called before the board, but when I told them about it they had nothing to say. But I sure banged up a good $10,000 ship something wicked. They just got it out of the shop yesterday.

I think I told you when I wrote before that we were quarantined on account of the measles. The first case was just after Christmas and we have been here ever since, and will be for at least two weeks more as a couple more fellows came down with them yesterday.

That makes five cases during the past week and still the medical department does nothing. We even offered to furnish the stuff and fumigate the place ourselves, but the C. O. said "no," and that we were so dirty about the barracks that we brought it on ourselves so I guess the disease will have to run itself out.

But we try to keep things clean, though it's rather hard when there's only about two feet between every other bunk, especially when you consider the mud we have, with no sidewalks.

I do wish that you would not worry about me. It is far from being like home here, we have many discomforts to contend with. For instance, I haven't been comfortably warm for two weeks I guess, but I'm healthy and as far as real danger is concerned I think I can truthfully say that there is no more here than at home.

Mother has me worried too. I try, in my letters, to make her realize that there is no reason for worry, but I know she does and I'm afraid that she will put herself back where she was a couple of years ago.

I'm wild about this flying game, but if I thought my staying in it would cause mother too much anguish, I'd quit tomorrow. It would probably cause unfavorable comment but I think I could put up with that to save her.

It's a great game though, not nearly so sensational as a thought it would be; but there is something about it that grips a fellow and makes him like it.

Of course it's much worse for you people who have to stay at home than for us, because you can't see what is taking place. It's the uncertainty of not knowing what is going on that must be hard.

It's nearly dinner time so I'll stop now as we have to dash for the mess hall as soon as dinner is announced, or we don't get any. The last man gets the poorest dinner or perhaps none at all.

Now don't worry about me any; I'm playing the game as conservatively as I know how, so you won't have to worry. Write again soon. Maurice.

NINETY-THIRD BIRTHDAY.

Friday was Uncle Robert Foster's 93rd birthday. He felt rather lonely and said he guessed everybody had forgotten him. After dinner he made his usual trip to the postoffice and came home with his hands full of letters and birthday cards; then he felt better; but still said, "Such days are lonesome like, you know." Later when about thirty-five of the neighbors took possession of the house, bringing a fine supper with them, he changed his mind. All enjoyed a pleasant evening, Uncle Robert having the best time of any one there. At nine o'clock the company went home leaving a purse of $11 with Uncle Robert.

On Sunday his cup fairly ran over when the Methodist Sunday school showed its love and appreciation by presenting him with another purse. His friends hope to help him celebrate several more birthdays.

PEAT FUEL IN MICHIGAN

Detroit Free Press Correspondent
Says It's "State Hope."

John H. Dunneford, staff correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, in an article in yesterday's issue of that paper, says that "peat as fuel is state hope." The article also discusses the coal deposits of the state, also certain small gas wells. Regarding the peat marshes, Mr. Dunneford says:

"Peat is found from one end of Michigan to the other, the great cranberry and tamarack swamps of the northern country giving the most abundant amounts. But in the north country wood is so cheap and plentiful that no attempt has ever been made to utilize the peat. In southern Michigan efforts to use it have generally failed, perhaps more because of the cheapness of other fuel than for any lack of fuel qualities.

"One thing is certain—most of the peat in central southern Michigan cannot be used until well dried, and a number of experiments have shown that a true fuel peat, capable of use after natural drying has not been found. On the other hand, these experiments have been few and conducted generally by men without technical knowledge. An attempt to establish a peat industry—mechanical compression and artificial drying—was made by a company near Chelsea, but was not successful. There is a big deposit in Monroe county, but its value is questioned.

"It has been suggested that vast quantities of the peat might be used if compressed into briquettes with a slack coal mixture. The question is one for the technical men and engineers and its solution has not been attempted."

The National Process Fuel company of Chelsea has been experimenting along the line suggested in the preceding paragraph for several months past and has succeeded in turning out a very fair quality of peat-slack briquette, but so far its work has been entirely of an experimental nature and the briquettes have been prepared in small lots only.

It is confidently asserted by those interested, however, that briquettes will be produced in large quantities during the coming summer.

MISS LIZZIE HAMMOND.

Miss Lizzie Hammond died Sunday, January 27, 1918, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fannie Naekel, following an illness of several weeks. She was 44 years, six months and five days of age.

Miss Hammond was born in Chelsea, July 22, 1873, her parents being Elijah and Janette (Beam) Hammond, and her entire life had been spent in this village. She is survived by four brothers, William H., Finley A., and Eddie B. Hammond, all of Chelsea, Elmer E. Hammond of Detroit, and two sisters, Clara A. Hammond and Mrs. Fannie Naekel, of Chelsea.

The funeral was held this afternoon at two o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. Naekel, Rev. P. W. Dierberger conducting the service. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery.

ON HIS WEDDING TRIP?

Julius Barth, bachelor and good farmer, left Saturday on an extended western trip and some of his friends insist that it is to be a wedding trip. However that may be, Julius would neither deny nor confirm the rumor when we interrogated him shortly before he departed, but a merry twinkle in his eye might mean most anything.

We have it on good authority, however, that Julius will first visit a sister, Mrs. George G. Gordon, in Ft. Madison, Iowa, and that later he will visit another sister, Mrs. Michael LaVer, in Goldfield, Nevada, and a brother, Gus Barth, in Parma, Idaho. He also expects to visit in Salt Lake city, Los Angeles and San Francisco and will probably be away two or three months.

LETTER FROM DON CURTIS

Is in Government Aviation Service
At Vancouver, Washington.

J. S. Cummings received a letter yesterday from his nephew, Don Curtis, former Chelsea boy and well known in this vicinity, who enlisted in the government aviation service some time ago as a line man in the signal service division. Don is now at Vancouver Barracks, Vancouver, Washington. The letter, written January 22d, follows:

Just received your letter and was glad to hear from you. Your letter had to go through a lot of "red-tape" before reaching me. You see I have been moved four times so far. I also just received a card from mother and I notice that both letters are dated January 7th. Haven't received any papers yet; maybe I shall before long.

I like it up here much better than in Texas even if it does rain most of the time. I just came in from guard duty yesterday. The government is building a big saw mill here for getting out aeroplane parts and it is kept guarded all the time as the I. W. W. is very strong here. They do not take any chances and the guards have strict orders to halt once and then shoot to kill. We do not carry rifles, but have side arms, pistols, etc.

I do not expect to be here long as I came up here to get into the woods as a lumber-jack. I took my trade test and got a foremanship out of it in San Antonio. Hope it holds good up here in the woods for if so I will not have to do any guard duty. It is no fun to walk a beat all alone for two hours at night in the woods.

Tell Aunt Eva that the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. are both doing their bit all right and if it was not for them the soldier boys would not have much of a time. We all appreciate their good work.

I was over in Portland a few days ago and I think it is a fine city. I saw a big Oakland automobile electric sign and it made me think of you. I sent Grandma a little book of scenes and you can all look at it too.

I must close now and write to mother. I am feeling fine and hope you and Eva are the same.

Don.

MEN SENT ABROAD LACKED CLOTHING

NEWS REACHES PUBLIC THROUGH PUBLICATION OF CONFIDENTIAL TESTIMONY.

REP. McCORMICK CREATES STIR

Baker Was Told of Clothing Shortage, According to General Sharpe.

Washington—Disclosures regarding American army affairs at home and abroad were made through publication of confidential testimony given recently before the senate military committee in executive session.

Statements of nearly all the witnesses heard behind closed doors except Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance, were given in the usual printed report of committee proceedings.

One that created something of a stir among members of congress and in official circles generally was that of Representative McCormick, of Illinois, who back from a visit to the Allied battle fronts, told the committee Allied officials were apprehensive regarding co-ordination of American war management.

In the confidential testimony of General Sharpe, he defended the decision to send General Pershing's expedition to France sooner than had been planned, and the calling into service of more men than had been provided for.

Some of the statements in secret session of Major Generals Greble, O'Ryan and Wright, after their return from the French front, also were made public. General Greble said that in October the Allied artillery was unquestionably superior in effect to the Germans and that General Pershing's men were well clothed and equipped.

All of the testimony of General Crozier was ordered kept confidential.

Mr. McCormick, in his statement, said that for the American and Allied armies to break through the western front, they must have 25,000 more big guns—and that it is impossible for the Allies to make them.

"The French," he said, "cannot make the guns." "Every man who is in France," he declared, "is needed to be making guns for France or to be on the line. We have shipped the steel to them. I can only say—and I quote the man who won the battles—that it is impossible to have too many guns."

"We ought to get 25,000 as the mark and 20,000 as a minimum. We ought to get the best information possible and not merely through the normal military channels, because, as Lloyd George's secretary," said the general, "has always tended to underestimate the number of guns necessary."

SAYS 14 SPIES HAVE BEEN SHOT

Colonel Thompson Makes Charge That News Is Being Withheld.

New York—Fourteen German spies, captured in this country, have been shot. This announcement was made by Colonel C. S. Thompson, of the executive committee of the American Defense society.

Colonel Thompson, while refusing to give details beyond the statement that two of the executed men were from Detroit, said he assumed personal responsibility for the accuracy of the announcement and authorized its publication.

See Baby Burns in Cab.

Saint Ste. Marie—The four-month-old daughter of Robert and Mrs. Metcalf was burned to death, when an over-heated stove set fire to the baby carriage in which she was sleeping.

Mrs. Metcalf was in the kitchen preparing dinner. Their four small children were left in the front room. When the smell of smoke brought Mrs. Metcalf from the kitchen to investigate, the room was in flames. A neighbor woman rescued the three older children, with but slight burns.

MEXICANS INVADE EL PASO

SLIGHTLY WOUNDED IN ARM BY ACCIDENTAL EXPLOSION, SAYS CABLE REPORT.

DISPATCH GIVES NO DETAILS

Brief Announcement Made By Baker Says That Two Other U. S. Officers Were Also Slightly Hurt.

Washington—Major-General Leonard Wood, in France on an observation tour, was slightly wounded Sunday by an accidental explosion, which killed five French soldiers and hurt two other American officers.

Secretary Baker announced the accident in this statement: "A cable dispatch from the headquarters of General Pershing states that an accidental explosion killed five French soldiers and slightly injured Major-General Wood in the arm, Lieutenant-Colonel Charles E. Kilbourne in the eye and Major Kenyon A. Joyce in the arm."

Details of Accident Lacking. It is understood the message was brief and gave no further details.

General Wood's tour would carry him both to the front and to the American training camps behind the lines, but there is no indication as to where the accident occurred.

All divisional commanders have been or will be sent to Europe for brief periods.

General Wood, commanding Camp Funston, Kansas, went over several weeks ago.

McADOO CUTS RAIL EXPENSES

All Lobbyists, Needless Lawyers and Passes Eliminated.

Washington—William G. McAdoo, director of railroads, Sunday night issued peremptory orders to all railroad officers and directors to cut off immediately from the payrolls all legislative railroad lobbyists, supernumerary lawyers, useless railroad literary associations, political payments and all passes, intrastate as well as interstate.

Several million dollars will be saved within the first year by this drastic step, it is estimated.

This order means that not only the $25,000 a year lobbyist, but the numerous persons employed to boost the individual railroads will be reduced in number. Only those in the latter class that can be of service to the roads will be allowed to remain.

Thousands of lawyers throughout the country will be affected. Large staffs have been maintained in places where the director-general believes they have been unnecessary. The order chops off all political subscriptions or efforts to support any man or party in any election.

Perhaps the greatest evil has been the matter of passes. No one will be allowed to ride free hereafter.

BLAST KILLS 8 NAVY WORKERS

Seven Others Hurt By Explosion—No Evidence of Plot.

Newport, R. I.—Eight men were killed and seven injured by an explosion at the United States naval torpedo station at Newport Sunday. There is no evidence of a plot.

The explosion started a fire but it was soon under control. The deafening report caused great excitement in the city, and fears were expressed for the safety of 200 girls employed near the station, which is located on an island in the harbor. They were not in danger, however.

The explosion was in a small concrete magazine, largely underground, used for loading detonators.

LITTLE RAILROAD PAYS WELL

Insignificant Mileage and Rolling Stock, but its Services Are Very Much in Demand.

A railway whose total length of track does not exceed a quarter of a mile, and whose rolling stock consists of but two battered lorries, and yet earns a handsome profit every year, is an enterprise worthy of notice, observes the Wide World. It is at once the shortest and best-paying railway in the world. The official title of this unique line is the Grand Island railway. Built of strap iron laid on wooden rails on top of wooden ties, it stretches across Grand Island a strip of land a quarter of a mile long lying in the center of the Athabasca river in northern Canada. On either side of the island, and running its full length, is a dangerous rapid. The right channel, however, can be navigated by scows. Along the river passes a large quantity of trade goods for the fur posts in the great wilderness beyond, while in a like manner millions of pounds' worth of furs are brought out to civilization every year by means of the river. Although the scows can negotiate the rapid, there is always the risk of their capsizing, which means the loss of valuable goods or furs. At either end of this island, however, the water is fairly quiet, offering an excellent passageway for the conveyance of goods while the scows are coming down "light" through the rapid. It was this fact that brought the Grand Island railway into being about half a century ago. The rolling stock, as already stated consists of two old lorries, and upon these goods are loaded at the upper end of the island. The lorries are then propelled by hand to the lower end.

People making use of the railway must not only load the cars themselves, but haul them to the other end of the island. The charge is $2.50 a ton. Sometimes, on the trip "out," boats are carried across, when the charge is $10. The fortunate owner of this queer little railway makes an income of several thousand dollars a year, and declares that since its inception it has returned $1,000,000 in profits.

Met His Waterloo.

Though hardly a physical hero, the vicar had a stern sense of duty. That is why, when some doubt arose as to the safety of the church spire, he decided to become a steeple-jack, for the time being, in order to see for himself what was the matter with it.

So pleased was he at having accomplished this quite easy feat that he was never tired of talking about it. His sensations on that memorable occasion were dragged into every sermon, Sunday school class, boys' club meeting and stray conversation, until the entire village was sick to death of it.

It was on a certain market day that he met his Waterloo. To a group of farmers he was going, once more, through his experiences.

"And," he was saying, "when at last I reached the very pinnacle and found myself gazing at the bronze weathercock—what do you think I did?"

"Dunno," muttered one old farmer. "But I know what you ought to have done."

"And what was that, pray?" queried the vicar.

"You ought to have apologized to the bird for doing it out of the job of crowing!"

A Cinch.

"How can you lie in bed on a fine Sunday morning like this?" asked Mrs. Dunwalte.

"I won't go into particulars as to how I can do it," replied Mr. Dunwalte, drowsily, "but I assure you, my dear, it is one of the easiest things I ever did."

Proof of It.

"Indeed, he is. Why, that boy's filled out his questionnaire without even looking at a lawyer."

WHERE HE DREW THE LINE

Driver of Balky Horse Would Not Stand for Any Witticisms Directed at Quadruped.

A horse attached to a milk wagon deliberately tied up Herald square traffic recently by lying down in the middle of Sixth avenue and beginning what threatened to be a day-long siesta, mused a New York writer. The driver went about his arrangements deliberately. Evidently the horse's sleep-walking proclivities were as a primer to him. The principal ingredient of his preparations was a carefully selected torrent of language, and this soon brought an admiring crowd. But, as always in a crowd, there are those who know better. "Pull his tail," advised one, who wouldn't have dared do it himself. "Ever try building a fire under him?" suggested another. "Make a noise like a carrot," said the third wise man. And then came the blow that shattered the serenity of the driver. "Aw, get a real horse," sneezed an individual. Then it was that the driver turned and lunged savagely about him. By the time the police arrived to scatter the crowd the driver already had it in flight. And to the police he explained in fierce tones his creed of loyalty: "Dey can kid me all they want, see? But when dey tries to start something 'bout the horse—then I call 'em. I won't stand for no man to kid me horse. See?"

RECALLS OLD HANGING DAYS

Interesting Book Contains Chronicles of Executions During Period of Stern and Swift Justice.

"The Hangman's Record" is a unique English work of reference, unknown to the general public. Between its covers are chronicled most of the crimes for which their actors paid penalty at Newgate, Tyburn or the Tower. From 1601 down to 1910, every execution worth noting is noted—sometimes in so quaint a style as to render the reading more humorous than morbid.

Names famous and infamous figure in its index, from Charles I. the Gunpowder Plotters, Captain Kidd and Jack Sheppard, down to Rt. Rev. Doid, author of "The Beauties of Shakespeare," who, in spite of many influential friends, suffered for forgery at Tyburn in 1777.

One Matthew Clark paid the death penalty for killing his lady love white in the very act of kissing her. Margaret Dickson comes off better. After her execution, while on the road to the burial place, the driver, in quest of refreshment, stopped at a wayside inn. Thereupon Margaret reappeared, sat up in her coffin, and was subsequently able to firmly establish her innocence of the crime of which she was accused.

QUESTION ALL MUST ANSWER

Time Comes When Every Man Will Be Asked as to the Harvest He Has Reaped.

Earth shows her harvest in pride of fullness or regret of bitter poverty; what is ours—who also have had our year? As the old phrase has it, "What fruits have we brought forth? Man is not bound to the seasons as tilled land is and needs no barn to gather his soil in when autumn comes; but, with the same plainness, he either does not yield the values by which mankind truly lives. When fall closes down on summer's parting, the greatest and the least of us have it impossible to patch up a darning either helped or hindered the permanent welfare of our race. Man's own business is to increase justice and kindness; to make more of patience, humility and courage; to see to it that evil loses and that good is strengthened in the unending conflict of those forces. For the soil's harvest home it is either tares or wheat; there is no fallow ground. The sowing is unseen of others, and the reaper, also, but the care and thought that go to the growing of the crop are touch the same. But man's own harvest is infinitely and eternally more important than that which he wrests from the field.—Collier's.

TWO CUSTER UNITS ARE QUARANTINED

6,000 MEN ORDERED QUARANTINED WHEN NEW CASES OF MENINGITIS APPEAR.

SMALLPOX WELL SCATTERED

Health Board Plans Energetic Move to Stamp Out the Disease Throughout State.

More than 6,000 men of the 58th division were ordered into quarantine following the appearance of three new cases of spinal meningitis. There are now nine cases of the dreaded disease at the base hospital.

Two infantry regiments, the 337th and the 338th and the depot brigade, are affected by the new order which provides that the men cannot leave camp and cannot attend military classes or otherwise mingle with those from other organizations. It is stated by the division surgeon that the disease was brought into camp by men sent here from Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Previous to the arrival of these men there had been but four cases. One death had resulted, one man found to be a carrier had been isolated and the remaining two patients were on the road to recovery.

Within less than two weeks after the newcomers were given quarters, however, new cases developed, slowly at first and then rapidly. Wednesday, the health report showed six cases and when Thursday's report announcing three more was received at headquarters, the quarantine order was immediately issued.

Simultaneously with the issuance of the order, a search was begun in the three organizations where cases have developed for possible meningitis carriers. There are fortunately infallible tests and these will be given to every man in the three commands.

Complete quarantine had not been adopted and will not be favored. The army considers the old method of confining in one place, all those exposed to a communicable disease to be little short of barbarous. The men will therefore be permitted on their drill grounds as usual and will carry on their work in the vicinity of their barracks. They will have the freedom of certain Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. buildings which will be set aside for their use so that their work and pleasures really will not be disturbed to any appreciable extent.

Smallpox May Hinder Next Quota.

Smallpox, it is feared by the Michigan war preparedness board and others interested in raising the next quota of soldiers, will interfere with furnishing the men sadly needed by the national government.

Therefore Dr. R. M. Olin, secretary of the state board of health, is receiving active support in his campaign to stamp out rapidly the disease, which has 675 persons in bed today, and others quarantined. Of the cases in Michigan, 500 are scattered over the state, and 175 are in Detroit. Lansing has not a single case.

The outbreak is attributed by Dr. Olin to widespread mild smallpox a few months ago, which was generally diagnosed to be chicken pox. Health officers, who have not been as vigorous in enforcing the safeguards provided by law, are being called on the telephone as rapidly as complaints are received and ordered to "quit monkeying and get down to business."

Another factor in the situation, in the opinion of Dr. Olin, is the inroads made on health officers and inspectors by the draft.

The active head of the health service of the state is planning to send inspectors in various sections of the state, first into Sanilac, Huron and St. Clair counties. In some places school authorities have been ordered to refuse admission to schools to children who are not vaccinated.

Tuberculosis Survey Saving to U. S.

The tuberculosis survey of the 85th division at Camp Custer, recently completed, saved the government more than $500,000.

The tuberculosis experts examined 21,620 officers and men. Of these 97 were found tubercular or with tuberculosis tendencies and ordered discharged.

The Canadian government, after three years, has determined that a tubercular soldier if retained in service costs his country $5,846. The same figure it is said, would apply in the American army. On that basis the 97 rejects would have cost the United States government $514,640.

The actual cost of conducting the examination was less than 30 cents per man examined. The expenses were $5,000 representing the salaries of the examiners during the two months' long test. For every dollar spent the government saved $193.

Ice Shortage Predicted.

Food Administrator Prescott predicts an ice shortage next summer. He says that the demands of war are rapidly exhausting the supply of ammonia one of the chief ingredients in the manufacture of artificial ice and that ice makers are going to have a hard time to get anywhere near a normal amount of this drug. "The surest and most satisfactory means of providing ice for the warm weather of 1918 is to harvest and store a supply of natural ice at once" said Mr. Prescott.

Many Hotels Must Get Licenses.

Immediate action will be taken against all persons, corporations, firms and associations, who manufacture for sale bread in any form, cake, crackers, biscuits, pastry or other bakery products (excepting however, those whose consumption of any flour and meal in the manufacture of such products is, in the aggregate, less than ten barrels a month), who fail to procure a federal license. Announcement to this effect has been made by State Food Administrator Geo. A. Prescott. This includes hotels, restaurants, other public eating places, and clubs, who serve bread or other bakery products of their own baking.

Application for license must be made to the United States Food Administration. License Division, on forms prepared by it for that purpose, which may be obtained on request.

The State Food Administrator says certain merchants do not appreciate the fact that the United States is at war and that the war must be won by food conservation and economy of prices. He asserts that there are certain examples of actual profiteering and warns dealers that these cases will be handled, if necessary, with promptness and severity.

Any person who, without a license, or whose license shall have been revoked, knowingly engages in or carries on any business for which a license is required by the Food Administration shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

From information received at the Food Administration headquarters it is evident that only a few Michigan hotel and cafe proprietors have applied for their licenses, but they must secure licenses if they intend to continue in business.

Custer Has Over 1,000 Aliens.

Although the Eighty-fifth division at Camp Custer has in its make up more than 1,000 aliens, the question of their disposition is causing Major-General Parker no worry.

It is believed that they will make proficient loyal soldiers. The alien question has been a delicate and trying one in some divisions, and hundreds of men have been interned for the duration of the war because it was believed they would be unsafe.

"Foreigners come to this country because they are dissatisfied with conditions in Europe," said the general. "At a time like this, when they adopt America, they often incur the enmity of friends at home. Nevertheless, some of these so-called renegades make the strongest patriots."

"One-third of the signers of the declaration of the independence were foreign-born. In the Indian war we had no hesitation in employing scouts to fight against their own tribe. We did the same thing in the Philippines and these scouts fought their own people more fiercely and were more cruel than our own people."

"It is foolish to naturalize men whom we cannot trust. Of course, there will be exceptions. We will attend to any such in this division. I cannot say what we will do with them. That is up to the department at Washington. Many have been interned."

CAMP CUSTER NOTES

One day each month has been given over entirely to athletics.

The cement road, the main road of the cantonment, has been closed to all mounted men.

Military police have been instructed to report all officers and men who fail to salute properly.

A $15,000 club house exclusively for soldiers is to be established in Battle Creek by the war recreation commission.

Homing pigeons will be supplied to all regiments. Commanders have detailed men for instruction in handling the birds.

Soldiers who discontinue their Liberty bond allotments will be reimbursed the amounts already paid to the government.

W. J. Sherman, a Y. M. C. A. worker who has spent the past three years in France, delivered a series of lectures in "Y" buildings.

Out of its immense amount of musical talent, Camp Custer is developing a 25-piece orchestra. John B. Archer, director of community singing, will direct the rehearsals.

There are now in the division between 600 and 700 Negro soldiers, and Gen. Parker has issued a statement commending the condition of this force as to discipline and training.

Orders have been received from Washington, and transmitted to the division, that all company, troop and battery officers, which includes all below the grade of major must be present at assembly in the morning. This order curtails the privileges of married officers who have been several evenings a week at home with their families in Battle Creek. Assembly call is sounded at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Under orders from headquarters, regular stations have been established in the camp for jitneys. A scale of prices has also been established.

When Camp Custer soldiers start overseas each select will be ordered to prepare a postcard address to his nearest relative and to be mailed the moment he arrives in France.

The 338th infantry has chosen the University of Michigan's battle song, "The Victors" as its regimental march. The 340th infantry band will no longer hear no response to it plays "On Wisconsin."

WAR BREAD MUST NOW BE USED HERE

WHEAT FLOUR SUPPLY MUST BE CONSERVED TO FEED ALLIES AND ARMY OVERSEAS.

ALL DEALERS MUST COMPLY

With Sales of Wheat Flour Retailers and Wholesalers Will Sell Equal Amount of Substitute Flour.

Washington—The American people went on a war abroad diet Monday as a part of a war rationing system prescribed by President Wilson and the food administration. "Victory bread" the food administration calls it.

The reduced rations are asked for the purpose of creating a larger export surplus of food for the European Allies. Curtailment of consumption will be accomplished largely by voluntary effort, but force will be employed wherever permitted under the food control act.

Rationing System Plan.

The rationing system, as presented by the president in a proclamation and by Food Administrator Hoover in a list of regulations, forms the food administration's 1918 food conservation program, of which the chief features are:

A baker's bread of mixed flours, beginning Monday with a 5 per cent substitution of other cereals for wheat until a 20 per cent substitution is reached February 24.

Sale by retailers to householders of an equal amount of substitute flours for every pound of wheat flour purchased at the time the wheat flour is bought.

Sale by millers to wholesalers and wholesalers to retailers of only 70 per cent of the amount of wheat flour sold last year.

Two wheatless days a week—Monday and Wednesday—and one wheatless meal a day.

One meatless day a week—Tuesday—and one meatless meal a day.

Two porkless days a week—Tuesday and Saturday.

Substitutes Are Urged.

Manufacturers of macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, crackers and breakfast foods, pie, cake and pastry will be permitted to buy only 70 per cent of their last year's purchases, and are asked to perform a patriotic service by using substitute flours.

Flour will be sold through the regular channels and in such a manner that each community will receive its equivalent share.

The food administration will purchase for the army and the Allies, it was announced recently, 30 per cent of the flour output and out of this store will fill emergency requirements if stocks run low in any part of the country.

Wheat millers are required to produce one barrel of flour of 196 pounds from 264 pounds of wheat, which represents a 75 per cent flour. No patent or special flours may be manufactured, although whole wheat flour may be made as usual.

Hotels and restaurants are classed as bakeries and will be required to serve the new "victory bread."

SCHEIDEMANN HITS WAR PARTY

German Socialist Leader Demands Peace Before Spring.

Berlin via London—The voices of peace advocates have again been raised insistently in the central empire, following quickly on what is largely regarded as a new declaration of Germany's warlike purposes in her chancellor's speech.

The peace note in Germany was sounded by Philip Scheidemann, the socialist leader, who in his remarks following Chancellor von Hertling's speech pleaded for peace before spring came with its renewed bloodshed.

Regarding Russia, however, Scheidemann's speech was more than a plea. It was a warning that the military leaders of the imperial government would be "hurled from power" if they did not bring about peace with her.

Scheidemann insisted that there was ground for a general peace on the basis of the program laid down by President Wilson on eleven points of which an agreement was easily possible.

He was as uncompromising as Chancellor von Hertling, however, as regards Alsace-Lorraine, declaring this territory must remain German. Scheidemann's words comprise perhaps the most radical utterance that has yet come from his wing of the party in the reichstag, the majority of moderate socialists.

FOR BETTER ROADS

MAINTENANCE IS BIG SECRET

Great Folly to Spend Money in Construction of Roads Neglected After Completion.

Maintenance is the secret of a good road system. It is great folly to spend money in the construction of roads which are neglected after their completion. Unless intelligence and diligence is used in the up-keep of a system of roads their value will depreciate under ordinary circumstances faster than new roads can be constructed. It is therefore essential that after a road is once built, great care should be taken in its upkeep. There is no question that the cost of proper maintenance is many times saved in the increased economic value of the highway traffic.

Maintenance may be divided into two general classes: First, the upkeep of roads which have been constructed along standard line with minimum grades, proper drainage and surfacing material; second, the conditioning of roads that have had little, if any, constructive attention.

Highways coming under the first class are not so liable to be neglected by those entrusted with their care, and while their maintenance problem is a very important and necessary one, this class of roads represents only a lesser portion. The greater percentage of roads in the state are not improved. Inasmuch as this class of roads serve the majority of the people and this kind of road will always predominate, it is very necessary that attention be directed to proper ways and means of their maintenance.

Each year more or less construction work is being done and the mileage of improved roads increased, and while this work is going on the unimproved roads should be kept in as good condition as possible at a minimum cost.

The best results can only be obtained by the enthusiasm and local pride of the man who uses the road. He is the fellow most interested, and a small amount of intelligent attention by himself and his neighbors will show great results on their particular section of the road.

This rule applied throughout the length and breadth of any state would mean a system of earth roads that could be pointed to with pride.

PAYING FOR GOOD HIGHWAYS

Improved Roads Have Always Been Necessary Adjunct to State, Community and Individual.

Good highways are and have always been a necessary adjunct to the welfare of the state, community and individual. The argument, "Good roads cost lots of money," may in reality be true when figured in dollars and miles, but is incorrect when considered in reality. Good roads must be paid for, but they are paid for whether they are built or not. The wear and breakage on teams, harness and vehicles, and the increased cost of hauling on poor roads is costing the grower far more than the price of building and keeping in repair the very best roads. He is actually paying for the roads without getting them; and, besides, is put to much inconvenience and worry.

In short, good roads cost nothing.

Power of Money.

Money may be misused. The power it represents may be abused, says a noted writer, just as the power of the press or any other physical or social force may be abused. And the desire for money may be perverted, just as may be any other normal or healthy desire. But that is not the way to look at money any more than it is the way to look at any other power or quality of human nature that may be used either for good or evil.

The American House Manager is today a member of the army that is fighting to save democracy in the world. More than 11,000,000 managers of American homes have enlisted for the duration of the war and pledged themselves to support the fighting men by the way they buy, cook and serve food. Food will win the war, and these women will help to win it. America must send food to Europe. The armies cannot hold out if we fail to send it. Only certain foods can be shipped—those that pack the most food value into the smallest shipping space. These foods are wheat, meat, fats, sugar. We cannot eat them and send them too. We cannot eat them and send others. We must send these foods, and in order to do that we must eat other foods ourselves. The American House Manager will see to it that no food comes into her home that does not do its full duty under her management in winning the war.

HOW'D YOU LIKE TO BE A RURAL MAIL CARRIER

Government's Job Isn't The Sincere That Some Imagine.

"The rural mail carriers have a snap," we overheard a man say the other day. "They get $100 per month for about half time work. That sure beats farming according to my way of figuring."

The editor was within ear-shot and that $100 per did sound pretty good, so yesterday we tackled one of the Chelsea carriers about it, but he soon had us convinced that the $100 per isn't all "velvet."

It sure costs money to travel 30 miles and upwards per day and this particular carrier figures that it costs him $40 each month. And we believe his figures are conservative, for we have been figuring a little on the proposition ourselves.

Assuming that one could use a Ford car for each trip and the route was covered 300 times each year, our estimate runs as follows:

Depreciation and repairs on car for one year	$200.00
Tires, on basis of 3,000 miles per set, for total mileage of 9,000, 2 extra sets	150.00
Gasoline, average 2 gallons daily at least	120.00
Oil, grease, etc.	10.00
Interest @ 6%	28.80
Total expense	$508.80

Now deducting this expense from the total yearly salary, $1,200, leaves $691.20, which divided by 12 gives a monthly wage of $57.60, not such a princely sum for a married man with family in this time of high prices.

There is an old saying to the effect that figures won't lie but that liars will figure. However, we've tried our best to be truthful in this instance and we submit that the rural mail carrier's job is no such sinecure, as some would have us believe.

NEIGHBORHOOD BREVITIES

Interesting Items Clipped and Culled From Our Exchanges.

DEXTER—Four boys, sons of John Hacy, had a narrow escape from injury Sunday at the old Peninsular raceway while going home from church in a cutter. The horse, which was blind, was going along at a good gait and pulling hard on the bit when one of the reins broke. This brought the strain on the left rein and the horse went over the railing and down onto the ice in the raceway, in which there is but little water. Neither boys nor horse were injured but the cutter was badly wrecked.—Leader.

WILLIAMSTON—The steam heating boiler in the Crossman & Williams Bank building, was blown up last Sunday by letting cold water into a hot boiler and the bank and other occupants of the building have been making use of kerosene stoves since that time.—Enterprise.

BROOKLYN—Mrs. Emma Goodrich, an elderly widow, was found dead in bed Sunday morning at the Bettis home, three miles east of Brooklyn, where she had been acting as housekeeper for Burt and Frank Bettis for a number of years. She had not been ill and doubtless was seized with heart failure as she slept. Frank Hay of Alpena and Mary Wood of Rives Junction are brother and sister of the deceased, and the funeral arrangements will not be made until they arrive.

EATON RAPIDS—A number of people from this section, particularly farmers, are making trips to Albion and hauling coal across country from the mine near that city, to help out in the fuel shortage, which is not showing any considerable improvement, so far as this city is concerned. Those who are using the Albion coal are very well pleased with it, but the matter of getting it hauled is a hard proposition because of the roads being so badly drifted with snow.

Prefers Chamberlain's.

"In the course of a conversation with Chamberlain Medicine Co.'s representative today, we had occasion to discuss in a general way the merits of their different preparations. At his suggestion I take pleasure in expressing my estimation of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have a family of six children and have used this remedy in my home for years. I consider it the only cough remedy on the market, as I have tried nearly all kinds."—Earl C. Ross, Publisher Hamilton County, Republican-News, Syracuse, Kan. Adv.

Mentally Unbalanced, She Trudged Miles Through Drifted Snow to Death.

The body of Theresa O'Brien of Whittaker was found frozen early yesterday morning by an Augusta township farmer, Jennings Campbell, when he went down to his mail box. The woman had been mentally unbalanced for several years and occasionally wandered away from home. She disappeared some time Saturday morning and probably wandered for hours before she became exhausted and finally sunk down in a stupor at the entrance of a lane leading to the Campbell farm house, about five miles from Ypsilanti.

The body was identified by the unfortunate woman's uncle, Daniel O'Brien of Ypsilanti.

WHEAT-CORN YEAST BREAD.

Wheat-corn bread is more nutritious than bread baked with wheat flour alone. Thousands of American families today are using this mixed flour bread, and in so doing are enabling America to provide more wheat flour for the allies. Here's a tested recipe for this bread: "Take one and a half cups of milk, water or a mixture of the two; one-half cake compressed yeast, one and a half teaspoons salt, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon of fat if desired, one cup cornmeal and two cups wheat flour.

Put one and a half cups of water, the cornmeal, salt, sugar and fat (if used) into a double boiler and cook twenty minutes. The water is sufficient only to soften the meal a little. Allow the meal to cool to about the temperature of the room and add the flour and yeast mixed with the rest of the water. Knead thoroughly, make into loaf, place in pan of standard size, allow to rise until nearly fills the pan and bake 45 or 50 minutes. It is hardly practicable to use a greater percentage of cornmeal than this even in emergencies, for bread so made differs very little from baked mush. Less cornmeal can be used and in such a case the general method given above may be followed.

It is possible to make a yeast raised corn bread without first cooking the cornmeal. In this case not more than one cupful of meal should be used to four cupfuls of flour. In other respects the bread is mixed and baked as in the above recipe.

LINER ADS EFFECTIVE.

One of the most effective forms of advertising is in the "liner" or classified column where an investment of a few cents is certain to give prompt results. Tribune liner ads are always run under the heading, "Wants, For Sale, To Rent," in the same position on the front page where they are easy to find and invariably catch the eye. Only five cents the line for first insertion, 2 1/2 cents the line for each subsequent insertion. Next time you want to buy something, or have something for sale or rent, try a Tribune liner.
