BODY OF WRECK VICTIM IS FINALLY CLAIMED

Positively Identified by Two Brothers From Morley Yesterday.

The body of the unknown killed in the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago interurban railway wreck here on Saturday evening, July 20th, has been positively identified as George Williams of Morley, Michigan. The identification was made yesterday by two brothers of the unfortunate man, William and Bert Williams.

After having been held in Ann Arbor for several weeks awaiting identification, the body was buried in the Potter's field on August 13th. Yesterday, after the brothers had partially identified photographs of the dead man taken before his burial, the body was disinterred and then positive identification was made.

Failure to sooner identify the body is alleged to be the fault of the Battle Creek police. Williams had been living in Battle Creek. Letters picked up in the vicinity of the wreck addressed to George Williams, 36 S. Jefferson street, Battle Creek, were returned to that address, which is a rooming house, and the landlady turned the letters over to the Battle Creek police, thinking they would communicate with the persons who had written them and so find out if they had been intended for the dead man and perhaps establish his identity.

But it is claimed that the Battle Creek officers failed to investigate the matter and the first inkling of Williams' death reached his relatives last week when a letter addressed to him in Battle Creek was returned by the landlady with a notation to the effect that she believed that Williams had been killed in the wreck near Chelsea. This led to an investigation by Williams' brothers and the identification of his body yesterday in Ann Arbor.

The body was shipped to Morley yesterday afternoon, where it will be buried in the family lot.

MICHIGAN LAGGING IN WAR STAMP SALES

Fearful She Will Be One of Thirteen States Failing to Make Quota.

Officials of the Treasury department at Washington state that from results now reported, they fear Michigan will be one of thirteen states to fail to make its quota in War Savings stamps. If on December 31, 1918, this proves to be true, it will be a disgrace to our state.

Michigan boys are in the thick of the fighting "overthere" right at this moment, giving their all, if need be, to wrest victory from the Hun.

Our own 85th Division has left Camp Custer for the battle line, carrying with them our hopes and our prayers. Are we going to leave them in the lurch? Are we going to lie down and "quit cold"? Is Michigan going to desert her sons in the face of a foreign foe? Let each one of us answer for himself,—am I doing all I can?

Are you buying all the War Savings stamps you can? Are you really making a sacrifice to do so? Are you pushing the sale of War Savings stamps to the best of your ability? Will you do all you can to help Michigan back up her boys by taking her full quota of $70,000,000 in War Savings stamps.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES.

A Teachers' institute will be held in Chelsea on Friday, August 30th, and every rural school teacher in this vicinity will be expected to attend according to an announcement issued Saturday by Evan Essery, county commissioner of schools. Competent speakers on some phase of educational activity, also a representative of the Junior Red Cross will be present.

Similar institutes will be held at other places in the county as follows: Saline, Wednesday, August 28; Manchester, Thursday, August 29th; Ann Arbor, Saturday, August 31st.

AUCTION AT COUNTY FARM.

An auction sale was held Friday at the county poor farm in Pittsfield township. The furniture and kitchen utensils used in the old buildings were sold. One walnut bed said to be over 100 years old was sold for $25. The new buildings have been occupied since August 1 last and are equipped with all the modern improvements and conveniences, including electric lights, sewer system and heating plant.

BEEKEEPERS WILL MEET.

An all-day meeting of the Beekeepers' associations of the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Markham on Friday, August 23. A basket picnic will be enjoyed at noon. The program will begin at 1:30. Several prominent speakers are expected to be present, among whom are E. D. Townsend, of North Star, Mich., and David Runing, of Filton, Mich., who is national president of the Beekeepers' association.—Ypsilanti Record.

HAMBURG BOY GOT A SUB.

Carl Richter of Hamburg is home for a 30-day furlough and wears an honor star. On his last trip as a member of a gun crew on a merchant ship he participated in the sinking of a German submarine in just 14 seconds after the undersea boat was sighted and orders were given to fire. Richter is a gun pointer and to him largely falls the honor for making a clean hit, hence the honor star.

MRS. LORA DETTLING.

Mrs. Lora Dettling, widow of the late Otto Dettling, died Thursday, August 15, 1918, at the home of her sister, Mrs. August Tirth of near Clinton, where she had been visiting for a few days. Since the death of her husband in Phoenix, Arizona, April 18th, Mrs. Dettling had made her home in Chelsea with her mother, Mrs. C. Schettler. She was 29 years of age on May 10th.

One daughter, Emma, three years of age, her mother, Mrs. C. Schettler, one sister, Mrs. August Tirth of Clinton and one brother, Pvt. Oscar F. Schettler, Paris Island, S. C., are left to mourn their loss.

Brief services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tirth this afternoon, and from St. John's church, Rogers Corners, at two o'clock.

CLARENCE STIPE WOUNDED.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stipe of Ann Arbor, formerly of Chelsea, have received a letter from their son Clarence saying he was in a base hospital and slightly wounded, but that he was recovering rapidly.

Clarence is a graduate of the Chelsea high school and a member of Co. E, 126 Infantry. He left for overseas duty in January. He was Co. Gas N. C. O., in charge of the company's protective apparatus.

LAUDS RED CROSS SERVICE

Sgt. E. J. Quirk, Well Known Here, Writes From Abroad.

In a recent letter to a Detroit friend, Sergeant E. J. Quirk, company C, 126th Infantry, praises the work of the Red Cross in France. Sergeant Quirk is well known to many in this vicinity, his mother being formerly Miss Barbara Doll. He says:

"The states, I mean the people at home, are certainly doing their bit and they are not wasting their money when they give to the Red Cross. In the big towns the Red Cross has some rest canteens where one can get a real feed and forget his travel rations."

The impression prevails among the Michigan boys the war is destined to end soon, for Sergeant Quirk says: "We figure that if the Hun offensive fails, as it surely must, the war will be finished by September."

It would appear from Sergeant Quirk's letter there have been extensive changes in the personnel of the Michigan guard, and that while still bearing the Michigan brand, is not altogether representative of the state, for he says "there are few of the old guard in the outfit now. While I was away in a hospital my outfit was filled up with men from Oregon and Kentucky."

WANTS TO BE UNDERTAKER

Minister Would Quit Saving Souls To Bury Human Bodies.

The high cost of living and inadequate recompense to meet rising expenses may deplete the ranks of the ministry if we accept as evidence the following story in Saturday's Ann Arbor Times-News:

He is a minister in the Methodist church, living not a thousand miles from Ann Arbor and the University of Michigan, and he wrote a letter, which was received by Registrar A. G. Hall today, stating that for 15 years he had been a minister, but that he could no longer live on the salary which the church paid, and must look for some other profession.

After a careful study of what recompensation the different professions promised, he said, he had hit upon undertaking, and he wanted to make application for enrollment in the embalming course at the University of Michigan. "I have never had the prescribed four years of study in a high school," he wrote Registrar Hall, "but I have had a theological course, and I would like to present my theological credits for admission."

AMERICANS NOW HOLDING ENTIRE AISNE FRONT

German Aviators Attack U. S. Red Cross Base Killing Three Doctors and Four Men Whom They Were Attending
—Two U. S. Aviators Meet Death.

Paris—Gradually the famous Lys salient in the region west of Arras is giving way under pressure of the British. Again Field Marshal Haig's forces have compelled the enemy to seek ground to the eastward where he will be more secure from shells of big guns that for several weeks have been firing criss-cross over the entire salient, working havoc among defenders of the insecure line.

Likewise Germans are being given no rest by the Franco-British forces north and south of the Somme and French and Americans along the Vesle and Americans in Lorraine also are harassing them by artillery fire and local attacks. Nowhere has the enemy had the better of an encounter.

Over a front of four miles, between Baillat and Vieux Berquin, on the Lys sector, the British have forced back the Germans to a depth ranging from 1,000 to 2,000 yards, taking the village of Outtersteen and 400 prisoners. A little to the south along the Lys river, near Merville, the British also have advanced their line, and still farther south, between Arras and Albert, Germans have been under pressure of further terrain near Bucquoy.

While as a whole the German line between the Somme and the Oise rivers is holding, notwithstanding terrific pounding it is receiving from Allied guns, the British have drawn nearer the road leading from Chaumes to Roye, between Chilly and Fransart, placing Roye in greater jeopardy by attack from the north.

At the same time to the south of Roye, over the four-mile front, between Beuvraignes and Canny-sur-Matz, a violent artillery duel is raging between the French and Germans. It is in this region the French are endeavoring—and in their initial efforts they have met with considerable success—to carry forward their two fold purpose of outflanking both Roye and Launoy by a drive eastward in the direction of the road leading south-eastward from Roye to Nogon.

Along the Vesle river front, where Americans and French are holding the line against Germans, there has been considerable reciprocal artillery shelling, but with the weight of gun power and of shells resting with Allied troops. They gave the enemy two shells for one.

An indication the German line immediately in front of the French and Americans is likely held is the fact American patrols at various points have penetrated sectors to the enemy's barbed wire and trenches without encountering infernal fire.

In Lorraine, where Americans captured the village of Frapelle, near St. Die Saturday morning, they have pressed on and gained more ground notwithstanding heavy bombardment by the enemy.

2 American Planes Go Down in Fight.
With the Americans on the Vesle—Troops on this front, near Fismes, saw a spectacular air battle among the clouds Sunday morning while waiting for the cooks to dish up "chow." The fight began at 11 o'clock, when five American planes, flying down to the line on a patrol, were attacked by eight Germans just south of their lines.

Suddenly, amid the circling, we saw two planes crash together, apparently hanging suspended in the air for two or three seconds, and then fall apart, plunging earthward. It was easy to observe as they started to fall that the wings on one side of one plane had been completely clipped off. Both fell in the wood southeast of Fismes.

We learned later both were Americans. The other Americans withdrew and our anti-aircraft batteries threw a heavy fire on the Germans. A report came later from the front line that one German was hit and apparently brought down out of control near Fismes.

6,050,000 Yanks in France July 1, 1919.
Washington—Figures compiled in high official quarters indicate a program calling for a force of 6,050,000 Americans overseas by July 1, 1919. The following summary from official figures show the make-up of the overseas forces next summer, according to the present program: Men under present draft, 2,500,000; men under new draft, 2,300,000; enlistments, regular army and national guard, 800,000; marines, 50,000; navy, 300,000; grand total 6,050,000.

Allied Losses Small in Recent Drives.
London—Proportion of German losses to those of the Allies since August 8 is greater than at any other period of the war. It was announced in London. It is said the total Allied casualties probably will not be as large as the number of Germans taken prisoner.

France Given $200,000,000 Loan.
Washington—France has been given a loan of $200,000,000 by the treasury, bringing the total credits to France to $2,065,000,000. Total loans to the Allies now are $6,692,940,000.

Michigan Men Can Vote if Registered.
Lansing—Attorney General Groesbeck has rendered an opinion to Secretary of State Vaughan to the effect that any Michigan voter in the state or Federal service may vote by mail at the primary, providing he is properly registered under the Absent Voters' Law. This applies to those who are not in the military service as well as men in the Army and Navy who are still in this country. Many state employees in the capitol are planning to vote by mail at the primary.

Be Qualified For Full Military Service From Those Registering.

Washington—Provost Marshal General Crowder has announced that plans already have been made for registering 13,000,000 additional men to estimates will be brought under the selective service law when congress enacts the pending bill extending army age limits to include men between 18 and 45 years. From this number approximately 2,000,000 qualified for full military service are expected to be secured.

So urgent is the need for additional man power, General Crowder said, that the draft machinery is being put into shape for the great task ahead without waiting for final action by congress. Men of the new draft will be needed by October 1, and in order to get their registration day will have to be held not later than September 15, and if possible September 5 will be fixed as the day.

When the 13,000,000 men are enrolled, nearly 25,000,000 will have been registered since the United States entered the war. Some 10,000,000 were enrolled the first registration day, June 5, 1917, another 600,000 last June 5, and several hundred thousand more are expected to be enrolled August 24.

"Preliminary steps have been taken by the provost marshal general," said General Crowder's statement, "to provide for the registration of those men who will be affected by the act which congress expects to shortly pass extending age limits of the selective draft."

"State headquarters, local boards and other officials in the various states have been advised to hold themselves in readiness to proceed promptly with their work as soon as congress has acted and the president, by proclamation, has fixed the date of registration."

"Until the legislation is actually passed it cannot be stated with exactness, of course, what the new age limits will be. But, because of the urgency of the situation, it is essential that as much of the preparatory work as possible be done at this time in order that the administration may promptly avail itself of the new law. To that end now as in the past, the utmost reliance is placed on the American people to supply the necessary co-operation and team work."

"The situation is urgent because by October 1, class one, under the age limits of the original act, will have been entirely exhausted. Unless there is to be a very serious interruption in the flow of American troops to the camps and thence across the seas to France, class one must be replenished at the earliest possible moment by aviation men, both below and above the present age limits of 21 to 31. There is, literally, no time to be lost."

GOVERNMENTS COAL NEEDS UP

Shortage of BI-Production Denied Factories Where Other Can Be Used.

Washington—Shortage of bi-production coal, essential to steel production, including the smokeless variety, essential to the navy, has reached such alarming proportions that the government may have to avert so-called lesser essential industries more drastically than contemplated when the fuel need of war industries first made restrictions on consumption necessary.

The fuel administration is now taking wherever it can be found every ton of this grade of coal from those industries, which may use other grades, including steam coal, just as well.

With the government steel requirement approaching the 23,000,000 ton mark for the remainder of the year, and many blast furnaces threatened with a shut down through lack of bi-product coal, the fuel administration and war industrial board are joining forces not only to stop private hoarding, but to develop additional coal fields.

France Given $200,000,000 Loan.

Washington—France has been given a loan of $200,000,000 by the treasury, bringing the total credits to France to $2,065,000,000. Total loans to the Allies now are $6,692,940,000.

Michigan Men Can Vote if Registered.

Lansing—Attorney General Groesbeck has rendered an opinion to Secretary of State Vaughan to the effect that any Michigan voter in the state or Federal service may vote by mail at the primary, providing he is properly registered under the Absent Voters' Law. This applies to those who are not in the military service as well as men in the Army and Navy who are still in this country. Many state employees in the capitol are planning to vote by mail at the primary.

ENEMY MARINE CHIEF DISMISSED FOR FAILURE TO SINK U.S. TRANSPORTS

ADMIRAL VON CAPELLE.

Amsterdam—Vice-Admiral Behncke has been appointed state secretary to the German admiralty, says the Weser Zeitung, Bremen. He was formerly vice-chief of the naval general staff.

Vice-Admiral Behncke succeeds Admiral von Capelle in the office of state secretary to the admiralty, or minister of marine, as the office is customarily designated.

Admiral von Capelle took over the ministry of marine, March, 1915, succeeding Admiral von Tirpitz. There have been recent reports of von Capelle's impending retirement, dispatches from Berlin on August 6 declaring that his resignation might be expected soon. A few days previously, Admiral von Hollendorff, retired as head of the German admiralty staff, shortly after he had made apology for failure of German submarines to sink American transports.

Groups of Czechs about the docks were vociferous in their welcome of the Americans, who will be kept aboard ship until arrival of other transports.

The transport bearing this first contingent of Americans lay fogbound outside the harbor for five hours.

10 U. S. VESSELS U-BOAT VICTIMS

Lost Amounts to $14,250,000; While
Premiums Amounts to $32,000,000.

Washington—Only ten ships operated by the shipping board have been sunk by submarines, and their loss with that of all others due to ordinary marine perils is but a fraction of the total premiums paid for marine and war risk insurance.

Estimated losses of all kinds suffered by the emergency fleet corporation, which conducts the insurance bureau, amount to about $14,250,000, while approximately $32,000,000 in premiums had been set aside.

Four former German vessels, valued at $6,750,000, and five commandeered ships, worth $2,350,000 fell by the sting of the German sea wasp.

SHIPPING TOLL CUT 50 PER CENT

Entente Tonnage Sunk in 1918 Half
That Lost in 1917.

Paris—Allied and neutral shipping sunk by enemy submarines during July amounted to 270,000 tons compared with 534,839 tons sunk in July, 1917. This radical decrease in losses is doubly significant when the increase in merchant marine navigation resulting from the American ship-building effort is considered. The Entente nations constructed during July a tonnage in excess of 250,000 tons that destroyed during the month by enemy operations.

Wilson Bars Alien Escape.

Washington—Freedom of departure of aliens from this country, as a result of which a number of dangerous enemy aliens have escaped from the authorities since the United States entered the war, will not be permitted after September 15, under a proclamation signed by President Wilson and an executive order, both of which were made public by the state department. The proclamation and executive order put into effect the alien control law passed by congress last May.

Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

Learning Just Who the "Fresh Old Guy" Was.

It was at a dance at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, when some candles dripped and made quite a puddle of grease on the floor. A gentleman, standing at the door immediately took out his knife and his handkerchief and began scrubbing up the congealed grease, when a very fresh young gentleman in our "set" tapped the gentleman on the shoulder and said: "Say, old gentleman, you're interfering with our Paul Jones. Suppose you cut that out."

"I was afraid some of the young ladies might slip," courteously answered the "old gentleman."

"Well, they won't," answered "Freshie." "Besides, you're not running the hotel." The "old gentleman" had gathered up all the grease by this time and, giving no answer to the last remark, left the room.

"Not exactly fresh, but careful of his guests; that's all," answered a friend. "His guests?" repeated "Willie."

"Yes," answered the man; "that happened to be Mr. Boldt, the owner of the hotel."

And then didn't "Willie" fade away! —Young Ladies' Journal.

AMERICAN PEOPLE GREAT SPENDERS

Millions of Dollars Thrown Away for Trifles That Ought to Set Nation Thinking.

SOME WAYS MONEY GOES

Postcard and Cheap Souvenir Take Big Sum Every Year—Billions Spent for Needless Telephone Calls and Telegrams.

By EDWARD MOTT WOOLLEY.

It seems inconceivable that in this rich and wonderful land of ours it should be necessary to conduct mighty selling and advertising campaigns in order to raise money to crush our enemies—cruel and dangerous enemies who are bent on throttling the very liberty on which our country has been built. If we really felt the impulse, we could raise six or eight billion dollars spontaneously and without the glare of salesmanship and publicity; and we would do it so easily that Germany and her allies would stand against our overwhelming resources and purpose.

The trouble is that even yet we do not realize the tragedy that is over us. The war has not sunk into the American consciousness. With a million or more of our boys in France, and the casualty lists coming home every day, we still lack the pulsating fervor of intrepid courage—the courage that wells within one and stirs the soul.

Fighting Impulse Needed.
The one unquestionable evidence of courage is the willingness to sacrifice. A man who sees his child in deadly peril is instantly ready to sacrifice everything, even his life. It takes no argument to "sell" to him the need of courage. He gets it from within. The fighting impulse dominates his every instinct. What we most need in America today is fighting impulse. Once we get it the doom of Germany, as a menace to ourselves and to the world, will be sealed. If we had this valiant, undaunted determination we could raise, this coming year, not merely six or eight billion, but as many billions as our country might need. Let us search our hearts, therefore, and discover why it is that brass-band methods are needed to sell us Liberty bonds. It seems all the more incredible that such should be the case when the money we are asked to contribute is merely money saved for ourselves.

Indeed, we could put through this fourth Liberty loan without even feeling it directly. I am not talking here about great sacrifices. With merely trivial and passing inhibition we can make this fourth loan a glorious manifestation of Americanism.

Never was there such a nation of spenders—we literally throw money to the winds. Cash runs out of our pockets into a hundred channels of extravagance. Tempted at every turn by something that appeals to our pleasure-saturated instincts, we hand out the dimes, quarters and dollars. We work hard, most of us, and we play hard. Many of us play with an amazing abandon that scarcely reckons the cost. And we gratify ourselves not only at plays, but we satisfy our luxury-loving tendencies and our vanity in many of the things that enter into our daily lives.

Let us consider here merely the millions that go for trivial things that do not count as permanent investments either for utility or luxury.

Millions Spent for Cards.
For instance, take our post card mania. This habit, which perhaps we would not criticize in times of peace, is almost universal. A dealer estimates that 50,000,000 people spend an average of a dollar a year on the cheaper kinds of cards, and an additional sum of a hundred million dollars on postage. But on the fancy cards and more expensive sets, sold largely to tourists, the estimate is $200,000,000. In addition to the postage, including the cards that are kept by the purchasers, it is probable that the total is half a billion dollars. Many men have made fortunes in this business. I know of one former vaudeville manufacturer who retired with a lot of money.

It is certainly inconsistent that this great sum should go for such a trivial purpose when the nation is involved in this mighty war that calls for cash everlastingly. Here is one expenditure that could be eliminated almost wholly until the war is over. Besides this amount put into Liberty bonds might mean something, worth while to the people themselves.

Then there is another class of souvenirs that masquerade as merchandise and absorb an astonishing amount of money. Travelers and tourists especially waste their cash upon these things, and immense quantities are sold to the people everywhere. The bulk of this stuff is useless junk—at least in war time, when conservation is the high need. Why spend our money these days for fancy baskets, card trays, wooden clasp articles, knick-knacks, trinkets, popguns, stuff and whim whams? The souvenir stores in Atlantic City, Asbury Park, Coney Island, Revere Beach near Boston, Venice near Los Angeles, and similar establishments take more than a hundred million dollars out of our pockets every summer. One small town concern in Atlantic City sells a hundred thousand dollars worth, on which the net profit is over fifty thousand. There are factories that turn out this sort of product in vast quantities, and much of it is fraud stuff. Woodcar articles are reputed to be made from trees that grow on historic spots, but are really bogus. Strings of beads are manufactured by the mile and sold to the public as the work of Indians. The same is true of moosehorns, toy canoes and the like.

At best the bulk of these goods is rubbish, and our outgo for this purpose might well be cut off entirely during the war. To do this requires absolutely no sacrifice. The people engaged in this business will simply have to do what so many of us have already done, adjust themselves to war.

Aside from souvenirs, we are nation spenders for actual merchandise that is inferior or worthless. There is a great class of people to whom cheapness or flashiness appeals, rather than utility and economy. A dealer in cheap goods told me that he netted $25,000 a year from merchandise that was practically worthless. He found it easy to appeal to the spending instincts of his customers.

Unnecessary Phone Calls.

Not many of us ever stop to think of the immense amount of money that is spent for unnecessary telephone calls. Wherever you go the telephone booths are occupied, and when you catch fragments of the conversations you usually find them unimportant. Reginald calls up his best girl to tell her he still loves her, Maude calls Al-gernon to thank him for the chocolates. No matter how trivial the occasion, our first impulse is to step into a telephone booth.

If five million people would save one five-cent call a day it would mean a total of over ninety million dollars a year. Doubtless several times this sum could be saved very easily by the general public on local and long-distance calls. We are lavishly extravagant in the use of the telephone. I know of business houses that talk several times a day between New York and Chicago, incurring tolls on each occasion that run from five to forty dollars or more. If there is one thing that the Americans haven't learned it is economy of talk—which in these days of war need might well mean millions of dollars in Liberty Bonds. The telephone wires are heavily overtaxed, anyhow.

Then there is the telegraph. We have this habit, too. With a little planning we could commonly use a three-cent stamp instead of a ten-word message. One large wholesale house requires all its traveling men to report daily by telegram, an expenditure that might be eliminated. The telegraph tolls of some of the large industrial and commercial establishments are so big that they seem incredible.

The night letter is, in a measure, a luxury, at least we could do away with the social phase of it and much of the domestic. I happen to know one business man, who on his frequent and long absences from home, gets a night letter from his wife every morning and sends one each night. Nor are these messages confined to fifty words, but often run several times that length. Baby had the collar; Freddy fell downstairs and skinned his knee; Jennette had her hair washed.

I happen to be acquainted also with a young man who revels in night letters to his fiancée. They are replete, too, beginning like this: "Darling Sue—I love you more than ever. I couldn't sleep last night thinking of you. Do you love me still?"

A certain business man, the head of a large concern, goes away at intervals to rest for a week or two, but insists on having a night letter every morning, narrating the substance of the previous day's business. These messages run into hundreds of words every day.

I would not belittle the night letter; but in the present stress we need to curtail whatever part of this expense may be unnecessary, and loan the money to the government.

The Taxicab Mania.

We Americans also have the taxicab mania. There is a very large class of men and women who ride in cabs habitually, and let go immense sums in the aggregate. They take taxicabs to go a few blocks. In a group of twenty leading cities there are about four hundred thousand of these vehicles, and if each of them absorbed ten dollars every day in unnecessary fares the aggregate would be over fourteen million dollars a year. What would be the total for the whole United States? It is a luxury to jump into a cab whenever one wants to move about, but these are stern times and we need to be more iron-minded. The boys in France do not ride in cabs, and the money we waste on this form of luxury might better go into gas masks for them.

We American men saturate ourselves with many kinds of soft indulgences—as in the barber shops. These places in the high class hotels, as well as the better shops outside, take from us immense sums for what? Here is a typical list: Shave, 25c; haircut, 50c; shampoo, 35c; bay rum, 15c; face massage, 35c; manicure, 50c; shine, 10c; tips, 20c; total $2.40. It is not uncommon for men to go through the whole list, and to pay additional money for hair tonics and other fancy frills.

When we analyze this list we find that the only item really necessary is the haircut—and perhaps the shine. Men can shave themselves at a cost of two or three cents, and save perhaps half an hour in time. Our soldier boys cannot indulge in these effeminacies. Many of them, in those good old days of peace, were in the class that patronized these shops, but today they are made of more Draconian stuff. Why should we ourselves indulge in these costly habits when the nation calls for cannon to back our troops abroad?

If a million men spend an average of 50 cents a day unnecessarily in barber shops we have a total of $182,500,000, under the actual figures, taking into consideration all classes of people. In the less exclusive barber shops one finds a continual stream of men, of the moderate salary class, who indulge in the items I have enumerated. We might guess the total ought to be at least half a billion dollars.

To have our shoes shined we spend at least $100,000,000 a year and a million more than the market price for shoe laces because we wish to avoid the trouble of putting them in ourselves. Some of this expense undoubtedly is necessary, but while the war lasts we need not be ashamed of any form of Spartan economy. We can be tight handed and rigorous with our nickels and dimes without being open to the charge of stinginess—provided we use the money for government needs. We can shine our own shoes for a tenth of this hundred million dollars. There are in New York a number of men who have grown very wealthy from the shoe-shining business. Among them are some large tenement owners—one reputed to be worth millions. There are more than fifty thousand bootblack places in the United States, some of them employing a dozen or more men. The majority of these bootblacks are within the fighting age, at least they ought to be doing some sort of war service, instead of shining shoes—while American blood runs so freely on the other side.

Women Big Wasters.

But when it comes to this kind of self-pampering women spend far more money than men. Figures secured from one large department store give some interesting sidelights on possible economies. Its sales of toilet goods last year ran about 1.3 per cent of its total sales. Thus for every million dollars in sales its customers buy $13,000 worth of toilet articles. Apply this rate to all the stores in the United States and you have a total of manumdered millions. The term toilet goods is very elastic, including both necessary and unnecessary articles, but the conscientious war saver no doubt would class one-third of these items as partly dispensable, such as perfunctory certain soaps, powders, rouge, toilet waters, so-called beauty compounds, and the like.

America's women are highly scented. We live in an atmosphere redolent with ambrosia. From almost every woman one passes on the "parade" streets of the cities there comes an aura of roses, or perhaps violets. Our girls demand scents, in infinite variety, not only in perfunctory itself, but in hundreds of products. Merely to gratify our sense of olfactory luxury we spend tens of millions of dollars annually. Yet in France the husbands, brothers and sweethearts of our women and girls are sweating and fighting in noisome places amid the stench of disease and death. The odds they get are of gunpowder and blood. Surely we can spare some of our perfunctory money in the cause for which we sent them abroad.

If it were possible to estimate the money spent by women in New York alone for hairdressing and beauty culture it would undoubtedly run into the tens of millions. One hairdresser in the metropolitan district states that within eighteen months, or since America entered the war, he has built up a business that nets him seven hundred dollars a month.

A woman proprietor of a so-called beauty establishment says that fifty customers bring her a revenue of $30,000 a year, that she realized a clear profit of $20,000 on powders, creams and perfumes, that she sold sets of cosmetics at seven hundred dollars each. Thousands of women pay fancy fees for hair waving, tinting and bleaching. One concern announces twelve colors, ranging from black to golden blonde. Much money also goes for removal of freckles, wrinkles treatment, face bleaching and so on. The manure bill in New York is enormous, and the chiropody outgo large. These places are furnished in the utmost luxury. If only we could impress on women of this class the dreadful hardships our American youths are undergoing in the great cause!

The lesson ought to sink home to all women in America, who in greater or lesser degree, let their good money go for such futile vanities.

It is estimated that a million men and women throughout the country are giving to the Turkish baths an average of a dollar a day. Thus we have a total of $305,000,000 a year. To this we can add perhaps half as much for massage, attendant fees, special treatment and incidentals.

Nothing is commended, but most of us, at least those who have the Turkish bath habit, can take our ablutions at home. The soldiers in Europe don't have Turkish baths. We imagine we need them here. We eat big dinners and fill ourselves with rheumatic deposits, poison ourselves by gormandizing. We contract colds because our systems are too badly clogged to throw off the germs. It is when we are stuffed with rich viands and all sorts of luxuries that we turn to the Turkish bath for relief. Why not discipline ourselves during the war and transfer all these millions of dollars into the fund that is going to beat autocracy and the German peril?

I have touched on merely a few of the items of unnecessary outgo. The list might be extended indefinitely. But there ought to be enough here to set us thinking, and we can make the extensions ourselves. There is no use denying the fact that the people have not yet put themselves on a war basis financially. We are still wasting millions on trifles. The war would be over now if we had taken ourselves in hand at the beginning.

REACHED END OF PATIENCE

Rookie Felt He Hadn't Enlisted in Army to Be Made Permanent Bird-Tender.

A western bishop, just back from France, where he spent some time at the front, tells the following anecdote as illustrative of the fighting spirit of the American soldier:

"Again and again, whenever his regiment had any orders for activity, it fell to the lot of one 'Yank' to take charge of a crate of carrier pigeons for one of the officers. Always the same private was selected for the monotonous, unexciting task. It became a standing joke in the regiment, and the pigeon tender became more and more disgruntled. At last, on the eve of a battle, he again received orders to take charge of the pigeons. He could contain himself no longer. With an air of absolute resolve he walked boldly to the tent of the commanding officer and very firmly placed the crate of pigeons at the door. On the crate was a note:

"Here! take your d— birds—I am going to fight."

JUDGE DECIDES STOMACH REMEDY A GREAT SUCCESS

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy, and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chamberlain, who uses EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronounced endorsement of the value of EATONIC. Written from Washington, D. C., to the Eaton Remedy Co., he says:

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."

Tribune liner ads continue to render good service, even to juvenile members of the community. A Sharon township baby recently lost its little crocheted bonnet in Chelsea and a wise mother put a "lost" notice in the liner column of Friday's paper. A number of local citizens will donate the use of their automobiles for the purpose of bringing the detachment to Chelsea. H. D. Witherell is in charge of the arrangements for this feature.

STANDARD SCHOOLS.

Michigan has 519 standard schools. Allegan county leads with 62. Other counties with ten or more are: Berrien, 11; Cheboygan, 14; Dickinson, 16; Genesee, 13; Ingham, 10; Ionia, 10; Iron, 10; Kent, 15; Mason, 24; Muskegon, 17; Newaygo, 16; Oakland, 25; Ottawa, 30; Saginaw, 11; Van Buren, 16; and Wayne 12. Miss Muriel Webb is home from the U. of M. hospital where she has been taking treatments.

LINER ADS EFFECTIVE.

One of the most effective forms of advertising is in the "liner" or classified column where an investment of a few cents is certain to give prompt results. Tribune liner ads are always run under the heading, "Wants, For Sale, To Rent," in the same position on the front page where they are easy to find and invariably catch the eye. Only five cents the line for first insertion, 2 1/2 cents the line for each subsequent insertion. Next time you want to buy something, or have something for sale or rent, try a Tribune liner.

Summer Complaint.

During the hot weather of the summer months some member of almost every family is likely to be troubled with an unnatural looseness of the bowels, and it is of the greatest importance that this be treated promptly, which can only be done when the medicine is kept at hand. Mrs. F. F. Scott, Scottsville, N. Y., states, "I first used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as five years ago. At that time I had a severe attack of summer complaint and was suffering intense pain. One dose relieved me. Other members of my family have since used it with like results."—Adv.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.—Adv.

TO THE PUBLIC

Being a candidate for a public office, I feel it my duty to inform the electors what they may expect of me in the event that I am successful in being nominated and elected. I have been in business in the City of Ann Arbor for 18 years, and I have always given my business my closest personal attention. I have endeavored to deal honestly with all. If I am elected Sheriff of Washtenaw county, I shall give to the office the same kind of attention I have given my own business in the past. I will go into the office without being under obligation to any one or to any faction. I have made no promises as to the appointment of any deputies, and will appoint only those whom I feel will be a credit to the county. I will endeavor to safeguard the finances of the county, and will try to the best of my ability to give the taxpayers value received. If this is the kind of an administration you desire, go to the polls on August 27th and express your choice.

Early Purchases Mean Economy

Early in the year we placed big orders for fall merchandise. This merchandise is now arriving, and is being placed on sale. It is priced very low, and later we will not be able to replace much of it in the wholesale market at the prices we are now offering it to you for.

We need room and the balance of our late summer stocks is being closed out at greater reductions than we ordinarily give.

SUITS AND COATS

We have bought good suits and coats for fall in all wool materials. Many of these materials will not be replaced until the war is over. It is dishonorable to present qualities that are not dependable. A merchant is in duty bound to protect the confidence that people place in him. A patron gives money of honest quality to the merchant, and he in turn must give honest merchandise in exchange. That is the attitude which prompts us to offer only merchandise of known good quality. Special prices.

TRANSPORTING OUR TROOPS.

The world has been astonished at the great number of American soldiers transported to Europe in the last half year. The number now approximates 1,500,000, and the loss of life in transporting them has been almost infinitesimal.

The success with which we have moved our troops from the scattered camps in this country and across

5,000 miles of ocean to the battle front is great evidence of American efficiency. We have not only surprised our enemies; we have surprised our friends and ourselves.
